Russian Veto Is Big Stick In UNO

Gromyko Veto Threat Times To Smother Majority-Approved Proposals On Spain; Evatt Terms Proceedings Scandal; Spanish Issue Still On Agenda

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
New York, June 27—(AP)—Delegates to the United Nations Security Council were agreed today, after a confused and acrimonious debate, that the Spanish issue remains on the agenda and that the veto has become an over-powering weapon in their deliberations.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko demonstrated that any question brought before the council can be knocked out by the single vote of any one of the "Big Five" permanent members. He wielded the veto three times last night on British-Australian proposals concerning the Spanish question.

The council's longest and bitterest session adjourned at 9 p. m. (EDT). Australian Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt challenged the validity of the method by which the veto was exercised in unprecedented fashion by Gromyko and declared the debate lasting five hours and 49 minutes constituted a "scandal."

Throughout the protracted argument, in which Gromyko raised the question of parliamentary courtesy in a clash with Council President Francisco Castillo Najera, of Mexico, the details of the Spanish issue were almost completely overshadowed.

The Soviet delegate engaged in running arguments chiefly with Evatt and Castillo Najera and used the veto to kill a resolution and a separate amendment on which he had been outvoted by the majority.

Evatt, who clashed with Gromyko frequently in the final sweltering hours of debate when the session turned into a grim game of slapping amendments onto rival amendments, took a grave view of Gromyko's use of the veto.

It was pointed out that under an agreement reached among the big powers at San Francisco last year, any one of them may offer a proposal and, if it is defeated, may revive it by calling for a vote as to whether it is substantive or procedural. On the latter question a single Big Five power may invoke the veto by voting the matter is substantive.

Russia last night exercised the veto on these majority-approved questions:

- 1—The British-Australian proposal to keep the Spanish case on the agenda without specifying a date for its revival and including provisions calling attention of the rights of the General Assembly to act.
- 2—The council president's ruling that the previous issue was procedural and not subject to veto.

MOLOTOV PLAN REJECTED BY U.S. - BRITAIN

Proposed Compromise On Trieste Also Meets French Disapproval

Paris, June 27—(AP)—The western allies rejected last night two Russian counter-proposals for the disposition of disputed Trieste, and leaving the foreign ministers council still deadlocked today on the most difficult phase of the Italian peace treaty.

The Russian suggestions, offered by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov as a compromise following his rejection of a French plan to internationalize the Adriatic port proposed (1) that Trieste be made an autonomous district under Yugoslav sovereignty, or (2) that the city be placed under the joint sovereignty of Italy and Yugoslavia.

Both plans were turned down by the United States, British and the French foreign ministers on the grounds that they were unworkable. That they ignored the fact that Trieste is ethnologically Italian and that the ethnic principle was accepted as a yardstick by the ministers in London last September.

While the outcome apparently left the council as far from agreement as ever, some British circles indicated that they were heartened by Molotov's maneuver, which they interpreted as a sign of Russia's willingness to bargain. These quarters predicted that two or three days more of private conversations might bring agreement.

Molotov's proposals were presented at a special night session which was called at the request of the Soviet foreign minister and which (Continued on Page Four)

V-2 Rocket To Reach New Altitude Record

White Sands, N. M., June 27—(AP)—The Army and Navy teams up today in an effort to launch a German V-2 rocket 100 miles or more in altitude and obtain scientific data from that record height. In a test May 10, the rocket went up 71 miles.

In five previous launches, the V-2 plummeted down at 2,400 miles an hour, burying itself so deep in the ground that recovery of instruments was impossible. This time an explosion will throw the instruments clear at the top of the flight.

She charged "extreme cruelty." Reynolds (left) sits in solemn mood in the court room during the trial. He did not reply to her testimony. (AP Wirephoto).

"No News-No Cash" Policy Gains Favor

Powerful House Support For Proposed Amendment To UNRRA Appropriation; Action Aimed At Russia's News Ban

Washington, June 27—(AP)—A "No news-no cash" policy that would hit Russia's powerful House support today as an amendment to the proposed $465,000,000 UNRRA appropriation.

Ostensibly directed at any nation imposing censorship on news dealing with the relief agency's activities, the amendment is aimed primarily at the existing situation in the Soviet Union, according to its supporters.

BRITISH PLAN BREAD RATION

Program Starts In July; Churchill Asks For Debate

London, June 27—(AP)—Great Britain will ration bread and flour next month, a measure avoided during the last two wars.

John Strachey, minister of food announced in the House of Commons today that the program allowing the British a basic nine ounces of bread daily would start July 21. Meat rations were raised slightly, allowing Britons to buy meat worth 28 cents a week, rather than 24 cents.

PRESIDENT IS UNDECIDED ON HOBBS ACTION

Gov't Agencies Polled For Opinions On Laws Controlling Labor

Washington, June 27—(AP)—The Hobbs anti-racketeering bill hasn't actually reached President Truman's desk, he said today, adding that he won't decide whether to veto or sign it until it does come to him.

Right now, he told his news conference, various government agencies are being polled for their opinions on the measure which the Senate passed and sent to the White House Saturday.

The Hobbs bill, banning union interference with the movement of farm produce in interstate commerce, previously was given to the President as a section of the Labor labor disputes bill. He vetoed that legislation.

Simultaneously, Chairman Murray (D-Mont.) proposed to the Senate Labor Committee that a presidential commission, rather than any congressional group, undertake the projected long-range study of possible new laws.

The reason, Murray told reporters, is that many members of Congress are being tagged either pro or anti labor. Also with election campaigns ahead, he added, any legislative inquiry this summer or fall might run into political implications.

The word that further labor measures are out of the picture for the rest of this session came after a House rules committee decision yesterday to postpone indefinitely any action on a bill to boost minimum wage levels.

It followed, too, efforts by a group of lawmakers to agree on some suit-able plan which would meet with presidential approval. This attempt failed, and one of the group, (Continued on Page Six)

Fight In Senate Holding Up Vote

TRUMAN HARD PUT FINDING CAPABLE MEN

Washington, June 27—(AP)—As the Senate labored over a strip-down OPA, President Truman said his news conference today that he is trying to persuade Chester Bowles to carry on as economic czar.

There have been repeated reports that Bowles will quit unless a very strong price control agency is continued until inflationary threats disappear.

Mr. Truman did nothing to minimize these reports—in fact, he said Bowles has been trying to resign ever since he took office.

The president, who declared the world food crisis is not over, said it was unfortunate that the OPA legislation had been debated so long. He will decide when he receives the measure, he said, whether to take to the radio and tell the country how he feels about it.

Once again the chief executive said the pay salaries paid by the government are making it difficult for him to fill vacancies.

His letter criticizing Senator Tobey (R-NH) for resisting the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley as undersecretary of the navy came up. Tobey, who said he was amazed, read the letter in the Senate yesterday. He said Tobey's unwarranted attacks on Mr. Pauley, almost ruined a good public servant.

The Pauley nomination was withdrawn.

Mr. Truman, in reply to questions said:

- (A) His letter to Tobey speaks for itself.
- (B) He used to consider presidential letters confidential.
- (C) He has not received any more "Macedonian cries" from Tobey and probably will not.

Australian Wants Pacific Island Base

Melbourne, June 27—(AP)—Sir Thomas Blamey, former Australian army commander, declared today that Australia, not the United States, should control the big naval base built by the United States on the Island of Manus in the admiralty group.

Australia holds a League of Nations mandate over the island on which the United States spent millions of dollars during the war. Its control now is being negotiated between Australian and United States officials.

Blamey said Australia is the only country in the Pacific which would be menaced if Manus were out of her control and added cryptically that "history shows that nations with great power have great difficulty in restraining themselves from using it."

Blamey now holds no official position.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, June 27—(AP)—The House expects to take up the loan-$3,750,000,000 to Britain next week. The Senate already has approved it. The House probably will do so, too.

When both houses have okayed it, we'll be able to give Britain the money. This is an important part of this government's postwar plans and for this reason:

In return for the money, Britain agrees to end some of her trade practices which hurt American trade. She agrees to join this country and others in helping improve world trade.

Better world trade would mean better business for the United States since it would mean bigger markets in which to sell American goods.

We don't turn all of the $3,750,000,000 loan over to Britain in a lump sum. Between the time Congress approves and Dec. 31, 1951, Britain can borrow all or any part of it.

She can't borrow any of it after that date, if she hasn't borrowed all of it by then. The money actually borrowed will be called the principal of the loan. The interest on it will be slightly less than 2 per cent.

Britain doesn't have to start pay-

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. (For MacKenzie)

Just as was feared at San Francisco by those who insist that any lasting peace is going to involve surrender of certain sovereign rights by all the nations, the Russian idea of how the veto is to be used in the Security Council has come to overshadow any other issue before the United Nations.

Great Britain and the United States supported the veto idea in the beginning because they were not in position to submit their policies to the complete control, by mere majority vote, of an organization which they wholeheartedly supported but which was yet to crystallize.

They had no idea—and agreement on this point was stressed in a statement of policy—that the veto would ever be used as a means of control by one power of every step in the council's procedure. It was hoped—although the smaller nations and many observers strongly suspected that things would develop just as they have—that the veto would be only a last ditch insurance that no power would be forced to act against its best interests or against the opinion of its people in truly vital matters, such as use of armed force.

There was strong doubt that the U. S. Senate would approve any charter which would commit the United States, in advance, to act in vital situations without the approval of Congress.

A veto has been exercised during council deliberations on whether the subject in hand is, in its substance, subject to the veto. If it stands, it means that any member of the Big Five can veto anything—can even prevent discussion of any subject.

This was never the general intention at San Francisco, and all of the delegates know it. But the Russians seem to be intent, above everything, on establishing precedents in the council which, when applied to whatever develops later, will give them a freedom of action superior to all previous commitments.

This is a serious problem. It is still true, as argued at San Francisco, that use of the veto in this fashion can completely hamstring the peace organization and nullify the entire weight of world opinion at any time.

There are peculiarities in the situation, however, which prevent (Continued on Page Four)

Greenies' Steamroller Hits Kinston Eagles In 8-4 Win

Pick Up Half Game On Fourth Place In Goldsboro; Big Third Inning Decided Outcome; Opportunity Knocking As Locals Play Doubleheader In Kinston Tonight

The win for the Greenies was their sixth straight win and gave them a total of eleven wins out of the last fourteen games. The Greenies gained a half game on the fourth Goldsboro Bogs as the Bogs split a twin bill with the Wilson Tobs.

Kinston started the ball rolling in the second frame last night when they scored a singleton, McDowell singled, Winkel walked, and Rightenburger singled to bring home McDowell. The Greenies tied the score at two-all in their half of the second when Wall doubled and Ranweiler hit to shortstop Bell who errored the ball with Wall scoring on the play. Greenville's big mning was the third when they tallied six runs as twelve men went to the plate to face Lefty Gaudin, Kinston hurler. M. Blackwell singled, Carlson reached first on a fielder's choice with Saunders dropping the ball in an effort to catch M. Blackwell at second. Smith singled with M. Blackwell scoring on the hit and then Red McDowell, Kinston catcher really proved to the fans that he had a mighty good arm as he heaved one clear over second base with Smith and Carlson scoring on the play. Payne singled. Wall singled with Payne advancing to third; Ranweiler walked to load the bases and then Rex Benton singled scoring Payne and Wall, and then Parise doubled to bring home Ranweiler.

Greenville's final tally came in the seventh when Parise doubled and came home on Carlson's single. Kinston scored one run in the fourth when McDowell doubled and Piestrak singled to left field with Parise letting the ball get away from him to allow McDowell to score. The Eagles then put across two more runs in the eighth when Piestrak and Rightenburger walked. Earl Smith threw the ball wild to second allowing each to advance a base, and Lefty Gaudin doubled to bring them home. Greenville goes to Kinston tonight

Park Right

State highway patrolmen are doing an excellent job directing parking of cars at the baseball park to keep traffic lanes open. Club officials and fans praise their good work. The patrolmen are seeking better cooperation from motorists who arrive late for the games and park "double" to block traffic. A number of them have been cited to magistrate's court for traffic violations and the costs in the case are about $6 or $7. The patrolmen dislike to tag a car at the ball park, but orders are to keep traffic lanes open, Cpl. John Laws said. They cannot be everywhere at the same time. Frequently when traffic moves from the park some late-coming motorists have parked "double" to slow up outgoing traffic.

BOYS LEAGUE BASEBALL

The Cardinals from the Eastend fought an uphill battle yesterday morning at the stadium to overcome a stubborn W. Greenville aggregation by the score of 10 to 8. The Indians looked as if they would make a runaway of the game in the first inning when they scored six runs but the Cards kept fighting and went ahead with two runs in the seventh. Errors played a big part in the downfall of the Indians. The losers outthit the Cards. Robinson for the winners was the only player for them to get two hits. Stockes, Philips and Hendricks led the hitting for the Indians.
Cardinals 2 3 1 2 0 0 2
Indians 6 1 0 0 0 1

The Wildcats from Training School stayed in their slump and lost another one yesterday morning to the Giants from Third St. by the score of 26 to 3. It looked for a time that the Wildcats would fall to score, but in the sixth they bunched their four hits to get three runs. In the meantime the Giants had two big innings to make the game a runaway.

Tucker for the losers got two doubles. Briley for the Giants got 3 singles and a double. Stonham, Brewer, Vainwright and Larry Flye got two hits for the Giants.
Giants 2 0 9 3 1 1 1

Strength FOR THE DAY

THEY DIDN'T CALL JOE

All railroads employ what are known as wheel tappers—men who, when the train stops, go about with a hammer tapping the wheels to see that they are without flaw. Many a wreck has been avoided by the watchfulness of certain wheel tap-pers, and not a few wrecks have occurred because someone was careless in this regard.

A friend of mine asked a wheel tapper some time ago: "Why are you tapping the wheels?" "Well," replied the worker, "when I tap them most of them sound 'ping'.
Once in a while I find one that sounds 'pong'. Then I call Joe."

A man worked for many years in a candy factory sorting nuts and according to grade dropping them into certain pipes at the edge of his bench. Someone asked him if he knew what became of them. He replied that he had not the faintest idea.

America is the renowned land of opportunity and enterprise. Most of us know personally at least a dozen men who started with nothing and ended with large fortunes, and scores of others—perhaps hundreds —who have risen from nothing at all to financial security and positions of trust. But you can bet that these men knew what their work was all about. They darted ahead of their fellows because they had purpose. Also they had curiosity.
Their imagination worked overtime.
They were full of schemes for guiding their enterprises to triumph.

Such men bear the names Carnegie, Ford, Edison, Firestone, Kaiser, and several million Smiths and Joneses thrown in for good measure.

WASHINGTON PAYBOOK

By JAMES C. MUNN

Washington—Senators and the House members have agreed that the membership of the House of Representatives does all right in this respect.

Fact is, the House is a well-dressed body. The distinction is achieved without the presence of a single member who might correctly be termed a "clothes horse." Good taste in attire generally prevails.

Only exception is that occasionally a member will sport a tie that verges on flashiness. For example, Rep. Pittenger (R-Minn.), sometimes dazzles with a brilliant crimson four-in-hand that evokes sly digs from his colleagues.

It's a toss-up as to who is the best-dressed representative. Eugene Keogh (D-N.Y.) has plenty of gallery support for the title. So do Les Arends (R-Ill.), Joseph Clark Baldwin, R-N. Y., and Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.).

Single-breasted suits are generally more favored than double-breasted. Leading proponent of the latter is Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass.). His Bay State colleague, Majority Leader McCormack, habitually wears a single-breasted.

Four-in-hand cravats are far more favored than bow ties. On a typical day recently, with most of the members present in the House chamber, the margin was easily four-to-one in favor of the four-in-hands.

New York's James W. Wadsworth (R.) is a consistent bowtie man. He also favors plaid suits, as does another New Yorker—Democrat John J. Delaney.

Day in and day out, gray, appears to be the most favored suit color. Blue and brown follow in that order.

Sports jackets of tweed or flaunel, with contrasting trousers, are becoming increasingly popular. Edwin Arthur Hall (R-N.Y.) is seldom seen dressed otherwise. Neither, for that matter, is another New York Republican, Walter G. Andrews.

Not infrequently, Roy Woodruff (R-Mich.) appears on the floor in a sports jacket of a color best described as burnt orange. Woodruff like Pittenger with his crimson tie, doesn't mind a bit when he's "kidded" about the shade.

The World Today

The United States from seeking a complete revision, or elimination of the veto power, and which make the attack on it by Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, disturbing.

In an address written before Russia's use of the veto three times in one day during the Spanish argument, Sir Alexander said the Russian attitude toward the veto would tie up the council and make it an "all or nothing body."

He was right, of course, but from the standpoint of the United States it is to be hoped that the British will confine their opposition to what they consider unwise and obstructive use of the veto, and not suggest the elimination of the veto power entirely. It is easy to consider the latter as a solution. But one thing must be borne in mind constantly.

The United States is the possessor of something which every other nation on the globe lacks but would like to have—the know-how of the atomic bomb. The United States already has been envied and sometimes hated because of her wealth and strength. She has every right to demand protection against any coalition which might threaten this position. Pending establishment of arms control which now appear far in the future, the veto power in the United Nations is chief among America's political weapons of defense.

The Nation . . .

Top government officials and the congressional committees which held long hearings on the loan say they think Britain will be able to pay back in full.

Is the loan, just as a loan, a good business proposition since the interest rate is so low?

No, says Fred M. Vinson, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court but Secretary of the Treasury when the loan agreement was worked out with Britain, but he says:

"I call it more than a loan. I say it is a contract, and I think we get benefits, at least in my judgment, greatly in excess of the amount of money we provide for them."

The congressional committees, in effect, said the same thing.

By benefits, of course, they were thinking of improved American trade when Britain, in line with the agreement, changes her trade methods and gives us a bigger and freer market.

Why does Britain need the loan?

She needs the dollars in the next few years to pay for the food and materials which the British people will need.

Getting back on her feet as a world trader will take Britain some time.

The British figure they will have to spend abroad in the next few years between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 more than they can sell abroad. To do that buying them dollars, why?

They probably could not pay for all they need to buy abroad with their own currency, pounds sterling. Other countries are loaded down with pounds sterling because of what they sold to Britain during the war when Britain was trying to save her dollars for buying other things she needed in this country. Britain got into this spot because of the war. She had to turn her factories to war work. This meant selling less abroad while buying more abroad.

She was so hard-pressed for dollars that during the war Britain sold about $4,500,000,000 of her investments in this country and so lost her income from those invest-

The session—first night meeting of the ministers since they first assembled in April—was held in an atmosphere of expectancy, heightened by French press reports that Molotov was looking for arrival of an important message from Moscow which might bring a surprise but that his government would need to agree to any settlement which was incompatible with Yugoslavia's desire for sovereignty over Trieste.

relief fund that he would offer the amendment to restrict the money to nations giving free access to visiting reporters seeking information on UNRRA activities.

If accepted, it would block UNRRA aid not only for the Ukrainian and Byelorussian republics, Dirksen said, but also for Romania and possibly northern Korea because of the difficulties that have been raised to unhampered American press coverage of the latter two areas.

Latest committee figures indicat-

Fourth of July Calls for a Picnic

"Picnic" on your own screened-in porch if you prefer, or hie to the woods for a more traditional Fourth of July picnic. Wherever you celebrate, a good variety of cold cuts will be enthusiastically received.

Assorted Cold Cuts . . . always good for a picnic

Center row: alternate slices of Certified Thüringer, Braunschweiger and Salami.

Right row: half slices of Wilson's Certified Bologna and French Brand Loaf (with pimiento and pickle added), cornucopias of Luncheon Roll Sausage.

Clip Recipe Here

Go Easy on the Bread

Hold on, there. Better not spread the bread at home this year. There's more chance of waste. Keep the loaf in its original wrapper and take along a jar of Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter and a jar of Wilson's Mayonnaise. With a choice, everybody will be happy.

Pack crisp things separately . . . raw carrot strips and celery stay crisp when packed in a covered fruit jar, or wrapped in a clean, damp towel and then in waxed paper, as you do lettuce.

Added Attraction

A pot of home-baked beans tastes plenty good on a picnic. Wrap the hot bean pot with layers of old newspapers for easier handling and to keep beans hot . . . or re-heat at the picnic if you're the ambitious "I-want-a-fire" kind. Cubes of Dor dropped through the beans do wonders for the flavor.

Dessert Ranks First

For dessert? I'll take watermelon, please. Do you want your watermelon cold, even on a picnic? Then chill it thoroughly at home first . . . keep it cold by wrapping in a damp gunny-sack. When you arrive, put one end of the sack in a pail of water to keep it damp. Evaporation cools the melon.

After-thoughts

If you're picnicking at home, have a red, white and blue plate . . . slices of tomato arranged around a pile of cole slaw on a blue plate is the easy way . . . as well as the delicious way.

Save the juice from pickled beets and use again. Good for pickling hard-cooked Clear Brook Eggs, too.

When making deviled eggs, add 1 can Wilson's Deviled Ham to the seasoned yolk mixture of 8 hard-cooked Clear Brook Eggs.

Yours for a happy Fourth,
George Rector

Grain Market
Chicago, June 27—(AP)—Gains extending to around 2 cents were scored by oats futures in fairly active trading today. Buying was based upon the strong upturn in cotton and news reports that a senate filibuster designed to block passage of OPA extension legislation had got underway.
Deferred oats closed 1/4-1/2 higher, August 87 1/2, as late selling cancelled extreme gains. July sold throughout the session unchanged at the 88 cent ceiling. Corn was bid at $1.46 1/2 and barley at $1.35 1/2. Oats at Minneapolis advanced fractionally to ceilings and deferred rye deliveries at Winnipeg were up 5 cents.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, June 27—(AP)—A "thin" stock market rallied today behind steel, liquors, rails and specials with individual issues executing broad jumps of 5 points or so in relatively quiet dealings.
The direction was upward from the start. There was a fair amount of activity at intervals but slow-downs were plentiful. Quotations wavered after midday but revived in the final hour and many favorites were at or around their tops for the day near the close. Gains of 1 to 3 points were widely distributed. Transfers were in the vicinity of 1,300,000 shares.

Granville Countians Hear Greenville Man
Oxford, June 27—(AP)—Granville County—which once extended from coast to coast and from Virginia to Spanish Florida—celebrated its 200th anniversary yesterday. With a bumper tobacco crop approaching maturity, the county had no time for pomp and fanfare, but paused long enough to hear talks by Robert L. Hunter, Greenville attorney, and Mrs. Edith Fagan Cannady, Granville County librarian.

Mrs. Cannady traced Granville's history from the time of its origin in a local proprietorship granted in 1746.

rant ever did in the way of violence, personal humiliation, the breaking up of meetings, censoring the press and preventing the expression of public opinion is now being matched by the Communist-dominated governments in Bulgaria and Romania as I personally saw it."
The correspondent, whose most recent Balkan assignment started last August, said he had been under constant attack by the Communist-controlled press because of his dispatches.
"The newspaper Grafal now, organ of the Soviet Red Army published in Romanian in Bucharest, said Wednesday that Markham had been expelled for "repeated violations of the usage of foreign correspondents, such as misrepresenting the situation in Romania and spreading provocative rumors prejudicial to the cause of unity among the great powers."
Markham said his dispatches reported "Russian-imposed dictatorial methods of Communist-dominated governments," including "concentration camps and executions in the form of legal massacres, the victims of which are placed in unmarked graves" in Bulgaria. Bulgarian courts, he said, are "a travesty of justice and people are killed by the thousands."

NEGRO SAFE ROBBER HITS END OF TRAIL

Hosea Parker Lands In Prison On 17th Burglary; Caught In Greene County

Hosea Parker, 30-year-old Negro "axe bandit," as Fifth Judicial District Solicitor D. M. (Reddy) Clark described him in Superior Court at Snow Hill this week, came to the end of his trail of 17 burglaries, including 13 stores, two banks, a railroad depot and an ABC store, as a result of carelessly placed footprints—not fingerprints—on the floor of Taylor's store at Hookerton in Greene county, where he secured $2,300 in loot and set fire to the building.

Authorities said Parker never left a fingerprint at the scenes of his axe-burglaries. He had used acid to destroy the lines of his fingertips. The wily nocturnal bandit never used explosives in his daring safe-breaking escapades—he used axes. Safe-breaking was his specialty. Parker spotted places to burglarize in small towns where there are no night policemen. He did not use a jimmy to prize open doors or windows. He tossed a missile to break a glass, then hid and watched. If the noise attracted no attention, he made his entrance, selected an axe from the stock and proceeded to smash the safe. When an axe wore out or lost its cutting effect, Parker took another from stock and banged away until he could reach inside and secure the loot. He used 11 axes to break open a safe at Rose Hill, he admitted.

Incidentally, the "axe-bandit" is now in State Prison serving 18 years for robbing the safe in Greene County. Judge Leo Carr of Burlington passed sentence on him at Snow Hill last Monday.

The Negro safe-breaker entered the "last mile" of his spree of crime when he broke into Taylor's Store at Hookerton. He used three axes from stock to break open the safe. He could only get the safe door open enough to insert a hand and extract from the cash drawer 23 $100 bills, he told authorities. Parker admitted setting fire to the store in three places and left in a car. The car turned over on a curve several miles from Hookerton, doing little damage but spilling the contents of the gasoline tank. Daylight came, and Parker, with the help of a passing motorist, put the car back on its wheels, then he started toward a filling station for gasoline.

Meantime, the robbery at Hookerton had been reported, and Greene County Sheriff Kirby Cobb and his deputies, Fred Carraway, Otis Hill and W. L. Heath, cruising along the road, spotted Parker's car on the shoulder of the road. They met him two miles up the highway. They arrested him for reckless driving to give them time to investigate. Clues began to accumulate. The officers took Parker's shoes to the scene of the robbery, and compared the marks on the asbestos-strewn floor of the store where the safe had been crashed. They matched. Parker still denied knowledge of the robbery. Further search revealed 23 $100 bills wadded in the toe of one of his shoes. That was last March 14. While in jail the man refused to talk. He tried to set fire to the bedding in his cell and used parts of plumbing fixtures in efforts to seek his freedom.

In the meantime the 16 other robberies in half a dozen counties were still unsolved. When Superior Court convened at Snow Hill last Monday the evidence against him was so convincing that Parker agreed to talk. His attorney, State Senator K. A. Pittman, changed the plea from not guilty to nolo contendere. State Bureau of Investigation Agent J. L. Bradshaw and State Highway Patrolman John Evans assisted in the questioning.

The "axe-bandit" told a weird story of burglaries he had committed alone between the last week in October, 1945, and March 14 of this year, when he was arrested in Greene County.

Solicitor Clark said Parker admitted the following robberies and explained that for safety he always used axes to break them open:

Calypto—John Albritton's store, using three axes to break open the safe; loot, $1,500. H. B. Kornegay's store, using six axes on the safe to get $195 in loot; D. M. Walker's 10-Cent Store, using 5 axes; loot, $30. Rose Hill—Rose Hill Trading Company, using 11 axes from stock to secure from the safe $700.

Faison—Devon's Drug Store, using 3 axes to secure $80 in loot. Beaulville—J. J. Sandlin's Store, safe hard to crack, loot, $8.

Warsaw—Warsaw Drug Company safe impregnable; loot, a pistol and $20. Warren A. Smith's Store, using 3 axes to break safe; loot, $30.

Powellsville—Taylor's Drug Store using 7 axes to break the safe and get $1,000. Brown and Royster's Mercantile Store on two occasions. The first time Parker got $900 in loot, the second time, $140.

The Negro "axe-bandit" climaxed his Powellsville safe-breaking when he used several axes to smash the safe door at the ABC Store and made his biggest haul—$2,700.

Kelford—The lone "axe-bandit" used four axes to smash the door of the safe at the railroad depot and secured $50.

Pink Hill—Parker used three axes to smash a safe at Jones' Store and secured $40 in loot. He used five axes trying to gain entrance to a safe at Turner's Store and failed.

Kenansville—The Waccamaw Bank and Trust Company's safe was impregnable and Parker picked up a pistol and $7 in change.

Winston—The "axe-bandit" said he hardly made a dent in the safe at the Bank of Winston and left without securing any loot.

Hookerton—H. S. Taylor's Store (the last job—March 14, 1946), $2,300, using three axes from stock.

Solicitor "Reddy" Clark, in Superior Court at Snow Hill Monday complimented Sheriff Cobb of Greene County and his deputies for breaking one of the longest chains of safe robberies in this part of the state in many years.

Law enforcement officers who testified as to the safe-breakings in their respective communities were: Duplin Deputy Sheriff G. P. Powell, Bertie County Sheriff Harry L. Smith and Faison Police Chief R. M. Byrd.

The Negro "axe-bandit" secured during his long trail of safe-robberies about $10,000 in money and several thousand dollars worth of merchandise. Greene County Sheriff Kirby Cobb is continuing his investigation.

It was indicated during the trial at Snow Hill that some authorities at places where Parker committed robberies would try to have him tried there.

If Parker is tried on all of the charges and is convicted, judging by the sentence imposed by Judge Carr in Superior Court at Snow Hill—18 years—he would receive a total of 324 years for 17 robberies.
