Test Of A-Bomb Called Successful

Three Ships Sunk, Many Damaged; Toll May Be Higher As Scientists Await Inspection of 'Crossroads' Fleet; Underwater Test for Bomb Scheduled Soon

By DON WHITEHEAD
Aboard USS Appachean off Bikini, July 1.—(AP)—Three of the 73-year-old target warships were sunk and eight others badly damaged in today's spectacular test of the fourth atomic bomb.

Whether the atomic bomb will force navies of the world into new construction and tactics remained the day's big question. The bomb wrought a great deal of damage to ships anchored in the lagoon but the blast did not sink a capital ship, even though they were directly under the explosion.

Admiral Blandy declined at a press conference to draw any conclusions from the test.

"That's not our job," he said. "We put facts before the evaluation board of the joint chiefs of staff and the evaluation commission of the president and they draw conclusions."

Scientists aboard the admiral's flagship said they thought today's bomb was about equal in nuclear efficiency as the one used at Nagasaki.

A recapitulation of the bomb's destructive power showed two attack transports, the Carlisle and the Gilliam, sunk. The destroyer Lamont was crippled and later went down, and the destroyer Anderson was so badly damaged it was expected to sink momentarily.

The Japanese cruiser Sakawa was listed open at the waterline and may sink.

Fires still were burning late tonight aboard the carrier Independence, which suffered the greatest damage of any vessel afloat and was listing badly.

Heavy damage, particularly topside, was done to the battleship Arkansas, the Japanese battleship Nagato, the submarine Skate, the heavy cruiser Pensacola and a tank landing ship.

President Signs Service Pay Bill

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—President Truman made July pay call sound $50,000,000 sweeter today for officers and men of the armed forces.

But he kept the fighting services pretty much in suspense on the subject almost to the last minute.

The Chief Executive waited until late Saturday before he signed into law the bill which provides a higher wage scale for those in uniform, starting with 50 per cent boost for privates and apprentice seamen and tapering down to 10 per cent for top generals and admirals.

The suspense arose from the fact that if Mr. Truman had delayed until today, the new pay rates representing an estimated monthly increase of some $50,000,000 would not have gone into effect until August.

Don Whitehead, who as an AP correspondent had previously witnessed every other manifestation of war from the beaches of Africa and Italy to the Normandy hedgerows and the bomb terror over Berlin, found Operation Crossroads to be the labor of the mountain which brought forth a mouse.

ELDERLY MAN KILLED BY HIT-RUN CAR

W. Edward Moore, 82, Victim Of Speeder; Police Arrest Mark Turnage

By CHESTER WALSH
W. Edward Moore, Sr., 82, was killed Saturday night about 9 o'clock when a speeding hit-and-run car crashed a red traffic light and struck him.

He died on the way to a hospital. His body was horribly mangled.

A witness sitting on a nearby porch heard a woman in the car scream: "I believe you've killed that man," but the car did not stop.

In less than an hour, authorities had arrested Mark Twain Turnage, 22-year-old Ayden youth, and charged him with hit-and-run driving.

The officers also arrested two occupants of the car, Robert Bruce Cos of Ayden, owner of the car, whose driver's license had been revoked, and John J. Cannon of Route 2, Halifax.

The three men are in jail, pending outcome of an inquest by Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse Monday night.

Three young women in the car, Myrtle Harris of Route 1, Winterville, and Mary and Lois Smith of near Greenville voluntarily gave information to the authorities.

A police radio car proved its worth in the case. Prompt contact with the State Highway Patrol and the sheriff resulted in quick apprehension of the alleged driver of the death car.

Deputy Cletis Jackson and State Highway Patrolman L. Lester Jones arrested the driver, Turnage, and his two male companions drove up to buy a glass for a headlight.

The officers said the car was splattered with blood and they arrested the youths. Other officers assisting.

Resort's Rentals Rocket Skywards

Miami, Fla., July 1.—(AP)—A bitter fight between money-grabbers and "hold the liners" was developing in Miami today as landlords boosted rents as much as 250 per cent following the death of OPA.

Some landlords were seeking outright evictions of tenants, declaring they did not want Miami residents as tenants and would hold their property for a "killing" in the winter tourist season.

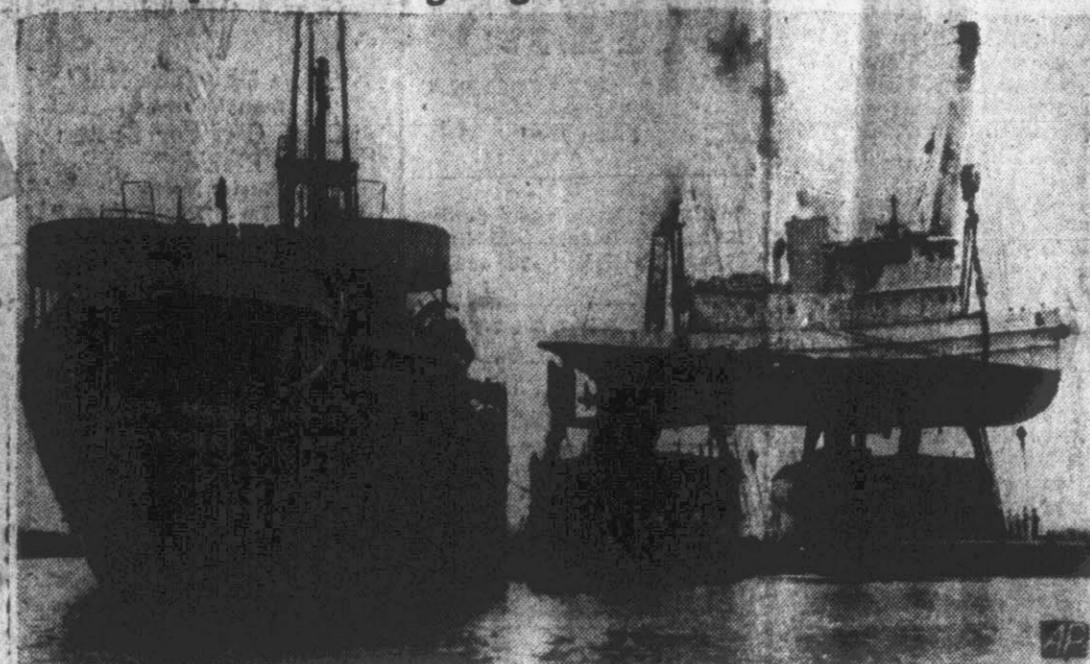

A 20-unit Miami Beach apartment house announced a blanket rental increase from $50 to $150 a month.

By telegram, other apartment tenants received notice that their rents would be raised from $36 to $95 a month, effective today.

Meanwhile, Max Goodman of the Miami Beach Tenants League urged tenants receiving eviction or rent raise notices to refuse to be bullied.

On the brighter side of the picture, Miami's two biggest department stores pledged in full-page advertisements that they would not mark up their prices from present levels and would set prices "even lower, where possible."

Ship Loads A Big Tug For UNRRA Use in China

Bidault's Plan For Trieste Considered

Ministers Renew Effort To Clear Way For New Peace Talks; Internationalization Of Port Is Basis Of Compromise

Paris, July 1.—(AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers council today tackled the critical problem of Trieste again in a renewed effort to clear the way for fixing the date of a 21-nation European peace conference demanded by Secretary of State Byrnes.

Under the compromise agenda adopted Saturday at the suggestion of French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, the council scheduled consideration of the Yugoslav-Italian frontier question—including the future of the port city of Trieste, Italian colonies, the peace conference and German questions in that order.

The new attack on the knotty question of Trieste was expected to be based on the Bidault compromise plan under which the Adriatic city—demanded by both Italy and Yugoslavia—would be internationalized for at least 10 years under United Nations guidance, but with mixed Italian-Yugoslav and Allied control.

Italian Premier Alcide De Gasperi sent a last appeal to the council yesterday asking that Italy be heard before any action was taken on Trieste, where five American soldiers were injured yesterday while helping to quell riots by Pro-Italian residents.

"In critical hours for my country," De Gasperi's message said. "I beg you not to neglect this last appeal. I send you, trusting to your equity, and pressed by the anguished anxiety of all Italians."

He said the French compromise proposal "transforms radically the approach to the problem" and would cast aside principles recognized in the Atlantic Charter.

Hopes For FEPC Bill Die Today

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—FEPC, long the storm center of congressional debate, passed out of official existence today with no comeback hopes for this year.

The Fair Employment Practice Committee, like OPA, died at midnight and even its staunchest supporters conceded that Congress will do nothing toward reviving it this year. They saw it an issue again in 1947, however, and probably in subsequent years.

In a somber final report to President Truman, the six members of the committee asserted that an "unchecked revival" of racial discrimination is destroying wartime gains in fair practices.

They said nothing short of congressional action can remedy the situation they see developing. And they foresaw "civil discord" if denial of equal opportunity to racial groups becomes permanent.

The committee members presented the summary of their view in handing their resignations to Mr. Truman last night. The President strongly favored permanent continuation of the agency, but his urging failed to move Congress to enact the necessary legislation.

Congressmen Gather To Honor Roosevelt

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—Congress honored the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt at a solemn session today and heard John G. Winant praise the nation's wartime leader as one who "played a great part in great events."

Senate and House assembled in joint session in the House chamber for memorial services. President Truman sat in the well of the chamber in front of the rostrum.

Other high general officials, and some of the men who served in the Roosevelt cabinet were on hand, too. So were representatives of foreign nations.

TRIESTE, July 1.—American troops armed with rifles and carbines broke up tonight a mob attacking Communist Party headquarters as rioting raged through this disputed Adriatic port city for the second successive day. There was no sign that the violence was subsiding.

LONDON, July 1.—Prime Minister Attlee told the Commons today Britain intends to seek a settlement of the Palestine question along lines of the Anglo-American Commission's report.

BERLIN, July 1.—Mahshall MacDuffie of New York, who has resigned as chief of the UNRRA mission to the Ukraine, explained today that he had quit in protest against U. S. House of Representatives action to prohibit the use of relief funds in any country where American newspaper correspondents are not free to report on the use of the funds.

Philadelphia, July 1.—(AP)—Michael Reiter, 47, a wealthy New York dress manufacturer who lives at Forest Hill, Long Island, escaped here today from two men who had abducted him in New York in his own automobile.

The harrowing five-hour ride ended with a desperate fight for freedom when the car stopped at a Philadelphia filling station.

While one of his captors was filling the radiator, Reiter grabbed a revolver from the second and pulled the trigger three times but the weapon failed to fire. The thug smashed Reiter's face with his fists and Reiter jumped out of the car.

The man who had been filling the radiator scooped up the revolver, jumped into the car and sped away. So quick was the whole incident, William Bailey, the attendant, did not realize what had happened until Reiter struggled to his feet.

After treatment for leg and face wounds, Reiter told police he had taken his wife and child to a summer resort at Mahopac, N. Y. 30

Administration Pressing For Acceptable OPA Bill

Immediate Increases In Some Food Prices Seen

Prices On Other Consumer Goods Fairly Stable At Present; Industrial Leaders Plead For "Hold-The-Line" Policy

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Reports from most of the cabinet indicated today (Monday) that the expiration of government price controls at midnight last night would bring immediate increases in the prices of many food items despite the pleas of some industry leaders for a "hold the line" policy.

Definite increases were predicted for meat, milk and sugar—10 per cent for meat, two cents per quart for milk and one cent a pound for sugar.

Prices on most other consumer goods appeared to be stable, at least temporarily, as many department and chain stores said they would affect no immediate price increase.

The vast A and P chain said its 3,000 stores in 37 states will not increase prices today and the company said it will take absolutely no advantage of the fact that the price control has been removed.

Another bar to an inflationary spiral in food markets was an announcement by the Agriculture Department that it would pay no more than yesterday's ceiling prices to obtain wheat and meat for famine relief.

Many sources predicted that the full force of inflationary tendencies would not be felt until the effect on Congress of the President's veto message and the country's reaction could be determined.

In Chicago, the Board of Trade directors ordered removal of "staples" on corn, barley, and oats, but retained the five cents a bushel price for fluctuations in all grain prices.

A spokesman for the meat packing industry said the situation was "confused" and "uncertain" but Ralph Weller, president of the Chicago Live-Stock Exchange, said "our duty is to sell at the highest price obtainable."

In the S. S. markets, prices on the nation's commodities list held steady.

Steels, motors, coppers, rubbers and most others rose $1 to more than $3 a share in early dealings in industrial shares.

Cotton futures at New York had jumped better than $3 a bale and went up the $5 a bale limit at New Orleans.

A firm hold-the-line attitude was evident, however, in New York City, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark, Boston and elsewhere—at least until Congress has a chance to restore some system of price control.

Philadelphia, July 1.—(AP)—Threats of retaliation came from the Jewish underground as British troops held 2,000 persons for investigation today following sweeping weekend security operations during which four persons were killed and a number were injured.

The secret radio of the Jewish resistance movement, The Voice of Israel, trumpeted that "Britain has declared war on the Jewish community" and added ominously: "We will return it."

In Tel Aviv, leaflet bombs were exploded by the Jewish extremist organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi spreading pamphlets which charged that Palestine Jews had had their "Pearl Harbor" because they had been "attacked by the British at the moment of mutual negotiations."

The pamphlets urged immediate formation of an underground Jewish government and unification of all Jewish resistance groups, including Irgun Zvai Leumi and the "Stern gang" of extremists.

At the same time a high Jewish source in Tel Aviv announced that meetings had been called throughout Palestine to consider a retaliatory "passive resistance" movement similar to those undertaken by Nationalists in India.

Philadelphia, July 1.—(AP)—Not who killed Cock Robin? But: Who killed OPA, the President or Congress?

We'll hear arguments over that question a long time, if Congress decides to let OPA stay dead. It died last midnight.

But the end of OPA, if it remains ended, will have a double effect: 1. The economic. It touches all of us.

2. The political. It may reach into the 1948 presidential election. Take the economic first.

Even with OPA operating, prices had been rising. OPA let them. It had to. So we've been in the midst of inflation, a fairly mild inflation.

If OPA were continued as much weaker agency, it might have been able to control inflation a bit, or slow it down, maybe.

Without OPA, the sky's the limit on prices and rents and wages. That could mean uncontrolled inflation. OPA was to have ended last midnight unless Congress voted to continue it. It is voted in a bill it sent to President Truman.

Mr. Truman vetoed it, asked Congress to pass a better measure, giving OPA more strength than the bill gave. Of that vetoed bill, he said in effect:

House Leaders Express Belief Representatives Would Vote Extension Of Agency To July 20 To Permit Framing More Permanent Bill; Outlook In Senate Poor

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—The administration pressed for quick House action to revive OPA, but Senate prospects were bleak.

Senator Daniel (D-Tex.), who conducted an eight-hour filibuster against compromise OPA legislation last week, blocked Senator Wagner's (D-N.Y.) effort to introduce a resolution to restore the price control agency until July 20.

Democratic Leader Barkley (D-Ky) and Speaker Rayburn predicted after a conference with President Truman, that the House will vote a 20-day extension, pending framing a more permanent bill.

Any such House action would be meaningless, however, unless the Senate went along, too. Barkley held out no hope of early Senate action.

O'Daniel told reporters he will "object to everything that attempts to resurrect OPA."

Barkley said that instead of a temporary measure "I hope we can work out something acceptable that will extend the OPA for a year." He declined to predict how soon that would be done, if at all.

OPA Administrator Paul Porter told a news conference that "we will make every effort to reestablish June 30 ceilings, no matter how long it takes to get a statute."

Early reports indicated relatively few price advances as OPA ceilings were removed across the country, but rents promptly shot up in many areas.

House Republicans drafted a separate measure to reimpose OPA rent ceilings. They worked it so that it would outlaw increases announced in the wake of OPA's death.

Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.), author of an OPA amendment to which Mr. Truman objected in vetoing an extension bill, urged in a statement that business men and landlords hold down prices and rents in what he called "the critical test and the golden opportunity for free enterprise and state and local rights."

Wherry said: "Whether we continue to operate as free enterprisers will depend upon industry, business, and especially you, who control the rental property of the United States."

Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach called on management and labor to "avoid hasty action" and exercise "restraint" until national stabilization policies are restored.

AFL President William Green, however, said Congress had "burned the only bridge" of return to peaceful postwar production.

For 45 minutes, congressional leaders talked with President Truman over the situation created by the end of OPA last midnight after Mr. Truman vetoed an extension bill which he called "impossible."

Rayburn said he expected the House to pass a resolution restoring price controls for 20 days. Such temporary action, pending permanent legislation was asked by Mr. Truman in his veto message.

Meanwhile OPA is dead!

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
For Dewitt MacKenzie
Regardless of later revelations which may show that any personnel aboard the ships at Bikini would have died and that the instruments which make fighting ships of steel hulks were destroyed, first impressions of the atom bomb test will remain strong, and the world-wide feeling that something supernatural has been added to war is likely to be diminished.

Don Whitehead, who as an AP correspondent had previously witnessed every other manifestation of war from the beaches of Africa and Italy to the Normandy hedgerows and the bomb terror over Berlin, found Operation Crossroads to be the labor of the mountain which brought forth a mouse.

Comparing the results of course, with what had been expected. As for the extremists who have foreseen the destruction of civilization in a few minutes in event of another war, they seem to be about as far ahead of their time as were those who, prior to World War I, had similar visions regarding airpower that turned out to be something terrific, all right, but still not decisive in conjunction with other weapons.

The failure of the fourth atomic bomb explosion to destroy ships wholesale, to "blow Bikini out of the water," to vaporize the ocean or cause earthquakes and tidal waves is no more than was expected by a great many experts who already knew some of the bomb's limitations. But their pre-test statements seemed to have little effect against the great mass of "end-of-the-world" propaganda which has been showered on people since last August.

The political results may be unfortunate. Those who have been working desperately for peace may be deprived of an important weapon, although it is not necessarily a corollary that anything done under the sway of the atomic hysteria would have been the best thing, or even effective at all. A sane realization that weapons of destruction have been developing with ever-increasing speed for many years, that war has become totally unprofitable for winner or loser, that atomic power carried by long range guided missiles is a climax beyond which man dare not venture, may be just as helpful in the long run.

ject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, June 30.

The Golden Text was from Isaiah 55:1: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; come, buy wine and milk without money and without price."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. If ye love me, keep my commandments, and I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever; Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him; but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you." (John 14:1-15, 16, 17).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our Master said, 'But the Comforter shall teach you all things. When the Science of Christianity appears, it will lead you into all truth. Christ's Christianity is the chain of scientific being reappearing in all ages, maintaining its obvious correspondence with the Scriptures and uniting all periods in the design of God.'" (Page 271).

New Bern Club Rallies To Split Double Header

Bears Come From Behind To Eke Out 8-7 Win In First Game, Drop Second To Greenies on Alamo's Two-Hit Pitching; Playing Two Games Here Tonight

The Greenies lost the first game yesterday's double-header to the New Bern baseballers after battling an imposing 7-3 lead at the close of the eighth inning. A four-run rally in the ninth tied the score for the Bears; and in the extra inning they came through with another run to win the game.

The six-inning nightcap went to the Greenies as Joe Alamo held the opposing batters to two hits and one run. Two walks and singles by V. Blackwell and Payne produced the two winning runs in the ninth.

HERE'S WHERE WE STAND

on new car deliveries

War manufacture is done—reconversion finished—the General Motors strike settled—and shipment of new Buick automobiles has started.

The pent-up demand for new cars is enormous—far more than can be met for some time to come. And at the same time the supply of money seems plentiful and there is a willingness in some cases to use it to gain advantage over someone else.

This situation has created a temptation to "black-market" the scarce lines of merchandise including automobiles.

But here at Folger's, we have never charged above ceiling prices for our merchandise or services. We do not intend to start doing so now. No one can "buy" prior delivery from us.

In making our deliveries of new Buicks, the following will be our considerations:

Essential services — such as public health, law enforcement, education and other public service needs.

Returned veterans needing transportation in their occupations.

Priority of date in placing the order.

Commercial requirements of people engaged in construction or the manufacture or distribution of essential commodities.

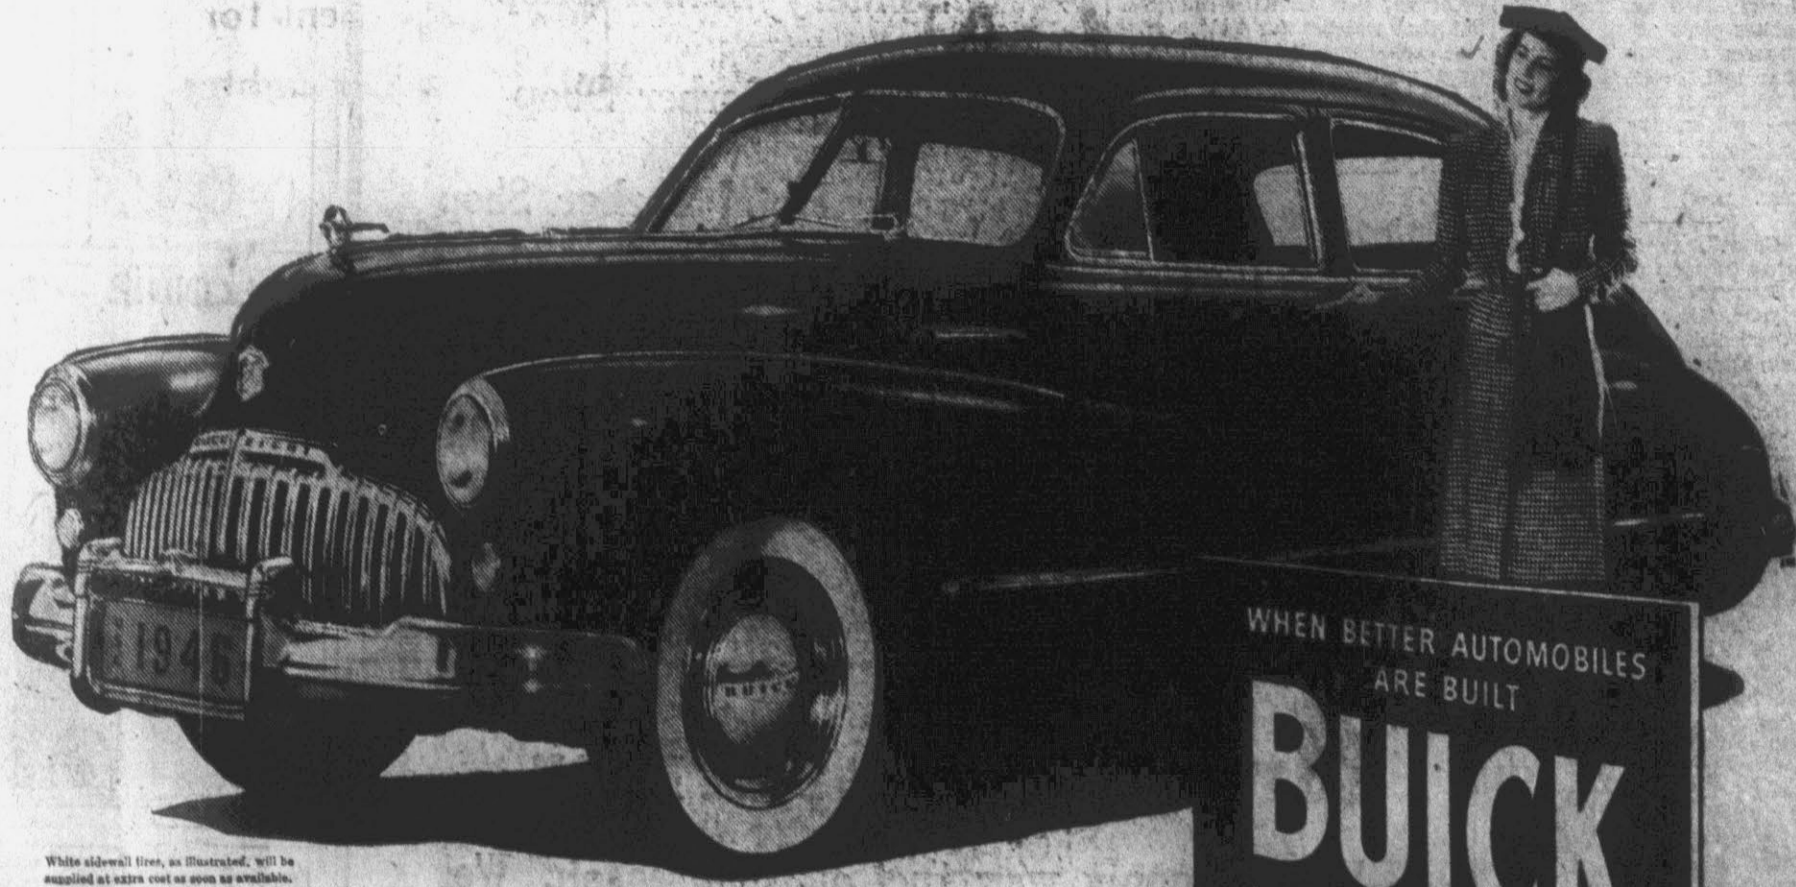

Our always-appreciated old customers.

Our new customers whom we hope to make fast friends.

It will be our aim to deliver new Buicks only to people who will use them themselves. Our orders are being taken "non-transferable and non-negotiable." This is to guard against black-market through individuals.

On all our transactions we shall seek only the legitimate profit. We shall give each of our customers the consideration we would expect ourselves. In this we feel we have the support of all our fair-minded friends and the public in general.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

IS SCIENCE THE FOE OF RELIGION?

People sometimes say that almost no scientist believes in religion. This, of course, is not the case. There has probably not been a time in the past hundred years when so many great scientific men believed in religion as they do today. Many of them have come forth with the statement that science can never heal the wounds of the world; that only a change in the spirit of men wrought by faith in God can do this.

Farraday, one of the greatest scientists of all times, was a devoutly religious man. In fact he belonged to a little sect known as the Sandemanians. They disciplined him severely once for missing a church service. He had been invited by Queen Victoria to take luncheon with her and had omitted the church service in order to be there on time.

Lord Kelvin was also a religious man. "Scientific thought," he wrote, "is compelled to accept the idea of creative power. Forty years ago I asked Liebig, walking somewhere in the woods, whether he believed that the trees which we saw around us grew mere chemical forces."

"No," he answered, "not any more than I could believe that a book on botany describing them could have originated by mere chemical forces."

The reason why some scientific men do not believe in religion is because they are not scientific enough. Bacon had such men in mind when he said that a little knowledge leads to atheism but a deeper knowledge leads one back to God.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JOHN CHADWICK

Washington — Americans spend millions annually in this meretricious capital indulging their fondness for rubbernecking.

An inevitable mecca for thousands of them is the Capitol building itself, with its 14 acres of floor space.

For 25 cents a head (15 cents for school children, nothing for uniformed servicemen and servicewomen) guides pilot groups through the 432-room structure that supplanted an Indian council house.

But, take it from a couple of long-time guides, the hordes of sightseers would rather gawk at a live senator than the statue of a dead hero.

Jim Cornell, now captain of guides, has been on the job for 17 years; Harry Nash, captain-elect, for 31 years. They agree that for virtually all visitors to the Capitol the major attractions are the House and the Senate, with the historic President's room a lagging runner-up.

But ask Cornell what he thinks is the most interesting thing to see, and he says, "Step outside and I'll show you."

He points to the massive bronze doors at the main entrance. In his estimation they are tops for "real workmanship." The doors, designed and modeled in Rome in 1858 and cast in bronze two years later in Munich, depict the story of Columbus.

"Look at that shredded wheat," says Cornell admiringly, pointing to a knight's finely-sculptured coat of women mail.

A missing chain in a plaque showing Columbus being led off to jail reminds Cornell that not all the tourists are above taking souvenirs where they can find them.

In the gold-mirrored President's room, he says, the hands were snatched from a clock and half the felt on the table used by presidents to sign bills cut and torn off. That was some years ago. Now there is very little vandalism. More guards have been put on and railings block souvenir collectors.

Nash, like Cornell, now conducts tours through the Capitol only on special occasions. He recently served as guide for Mrs. Truman and members of her bridge club from Missouri.

He also has acted as guide for other first ladies, for former prime Minister Churchill and his family for movie stars and other celebrities.

The Churchills, and particularly daughter Mary, he reports, were "enthusiastic." Churchill seemed to know a lot about the building.

Nash says he likes to emphasize the decorative paintings of Brumidi in the rotunda and the corridors. Brumidi, who worked in the Capitol for 27 years, was a great artist, says Nash, recalling that he restored the paintings of Michelangelo and others in the great churches of Rome.

Comments of visitors are as varied as the people themselves. Cornell remembered that several years ago one, after craning his neck in the House and Senate, expressed disappointment that a "lame duck" was nowhere in sight.

Cornell and Nash are most impressed, however, by the occasional tourists who blandly inquire: "What building is this?"

swept by a force which would have denuded a real "fish" of personnel, could it be turned out that way, prove as much or more than would the complete wreckage of the group of ships, which, admittedly, was not arranged in any sort of practicable battle formation.

The Nation

It was pretty plain the kind of OPA they wanted was the kind Congress voted for in the bill which Mr. Truman already had said was bad.

Taft said the President's words had the "aspect of a partisan political attack." He said Mr. Truman had neglected to point out that the bill had been passed by a Congress where Democrats are in the majority.

Reece said Mr. Truman had vetoed the bill to fry his "own political fish," and he pointed out that Mr. Truman's own Democratic leaders in Congress had urged him to sign the bill.

They were Senators Barkley (Kentucky) and McKellar (Tennessee) and Speaker Rayburn (Texas) and House Leader McCormack (Massachusetts).

They had told the President they didn't think it was the best possible bill but the best they could get through Congress.

By giving this advice they put Mr. Truman strictly out on a political limb for it was clear that, if he ignored his leaders' advice and vetoed the bill, the Republicans would use this against him. They did.

Taft clearly indicated the Republicans will blame Mr. Truman—not Congress—for killing OPA.

1. Congress now seems not to renew OPA but let it stay dead.
2. And if, as a result of no OPA living, we get shooting up.

For Taft said the responsibility for the "ultimate and unavoidable breakdown of price control will result directly from the President's policy, not from act of Congress."

This probably will be a huge campaign issue in the 1948 elections if OPA stays dead and inflation results. But who'll reap the political consequences?

Mr. Truman, because he thought the bill he vetoed was worse and more dangerous than no OPA at all?

Or Congress because it chose to continue an OPA which Mr. Truman and his economic advisors thought was no good?

Palestine

non-payment of taxes, a strike by all Jews in government service and "complete non-cooperation with the British" in other ways, this source declared.

Jewish lobby leaders in Palestine simultaneously labeled various labor organizations and parties throughout the world protesting the "attitude" of the British government toward Palestine.

British authorities said that the operations which they began Saturday "to restore law and order in Palestine" were virtually completed but that searches for hidden arms and explosives still were under way in a number of places. A strict curfew was imposed on Jerusalem, Haifa and Tel Aviv during the operations.

Some 25 other vessels received slight damage.

What happened to the animals which were placed aboard several of the target ships is not yet known.

Observers say animals still alive on ships at the fringe of the fleet but nothing is known of those put aboard vessels in the center of the blast area to test the effect of the atomic bomb on humans in a similar position.

An underwater test of the bomb will be held in the next three or four weeks, Admiral Horthy said, depending on how soon he will be able to make preparations and get the fleet into position.

miles above New York City, and was returning to his Long Island home.

At 36th and Madison, in the heart of Manhattan, he stopped for a red light. Opening the doors on both sides, the thugs, armed with revolvers, forced him into the middle of the front seat, warning: "This is a kidnaping and if you do anything to attract attention we will kill you."

One of the men then took Reiter's watch and a diamond ring, and $200 from his wallet. He kept a revolver hard against Reiter's ribs and asked if he had any money at home. Reiter said "No," but the kidnapers retorted: "You're going there, just the same."

At his apartment building, the driver stayed in the car, while the other pocketed his revolver and took him through the lobby and up the automatic elevator to the apartment which he ransacked, taking all the jewelry he could find.

Reiter, whose business address is 1400 Broadway, said he never got a satisfactory look at his kidnapers, at least sufficient to identify them, but said they were both husky, weighing between 180 and 200 pounds. He said he doubted the men were waiting for him but thought they were ready to hold up any motorist who stopped for the light.

Three Die Following Car Wreck Saturday

Farmville, N. C., July 1—(AP)—Funeral services for three members of a family who were injured fatally in an automobile accident near Richlands Saturday were to be held here this afternoon.

The dead were Staff Sergeant David Wooten, 31, of the army who was stationed at Wilmington, his wife, Mrs. Lucy Cross Wooten, 26, and his sister, Ethel Mae Wooten, 26, of Farmville.

The three were enroute from Wilmington to Farmville Saturday when their car collided head-on during a driving rainstorm with another automobile which was driven, investigating officers said, by James Jarman of Comfort. Jarman was injured in the wreck and was taken to a Kinston hospital.

A combination of organizations in the city called a general strike to protest the rioting. Staff Organized For CIO's Drive

Charlotte, N. C., July 1.—(AP)—Completion of staff organization for the CIO's campaign to organize industrial workers in North Carolina was announced here today by William Smith, state director.

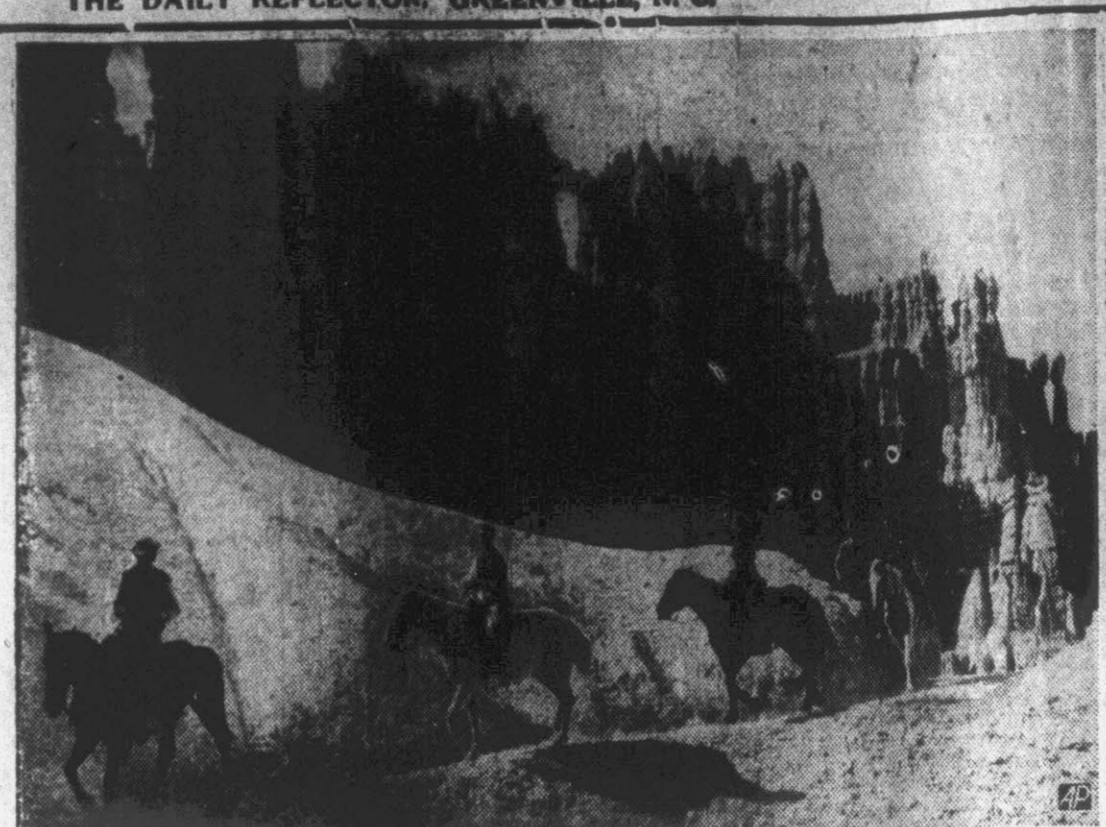

For purposes of the drive, the state has been divided into four regions, with a director in charge of each who will be responsible to Smith.

The regions have been named geographically, and the directors are William Bell, northern region; P. C. Thomas, eastern region; Draper Wood, southern region; and M. Wade Lynch, western region.

At present 44 organizers are on the North Carolina staff, Smith said, and this number will be raised to 60 within a short time.

A meeting of the eastern area staff was held in Wilson yesterday to discuss plans for organization of workers in the tobacco industry, Smith said.

The drive in the state is to be concentrated on areas of greatest industrial development, such as Kannapolis, Gastonia, Burlington, Greensboro, High Point, Thomasville and Lexington, Smith said. It will embrace textile, tobacco, furn-

Six-Man Board Will Study Atom Control

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Dr. Herbert E. Evatt, chairman of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, today named the U. S., Russia, Great Britain, France, Mexico and Australia to a special subcommittee to lay the groundwork for a plan to control the bomb.

Dr. Evatt, Australian delegate, called the six-man group into session at 2:30 p. m. (EDT) today to begin work.

In his announcement, the chairman said the subcommittee was being charged with the responsibility of considering all policy speeches made by delegates and suggesting the framework of a general plan.

The first five nations were named as permanent members of the subcommittee while Australia was seated as the country holding the chairmanship of the commission.

The Philippines were ceded to the United States by Spain in 1898.

Federal Gov't To Handle Trial

Charlotte, July 1.—(AP)—Loretta Brozek will be tried in Federal Court at Asheville this week for the kidnaping of four-year-old Terry Taylor of Charlotte last February. It was announced here today by U. S. District Attorney D. E. Henderson.

The State of North Carolina has withdrawn from the case entirely and the prosecution will be handled by the federal government. The trial will begin tomorrow or Wednesday.

Henderson said the U. S. marshal of Asheville will come to Charlotte today to take the young woman to Asheville for trial.

Solicitor Basis Whitener of the 14th district said the State withdrew because the federal authorities were better equipped to handle the difficult case.

The girl was picked up in Maryland, a few days after she had abducted the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor from their home.

The decision to remove the case from the State to Federal Court was reached this morning. After Henderson had conferred with both Chief of Police F. N. Littlejohn and Solicitor Whitener.

The case attracted nationwide interest. For a long period of time the Brozek girl was detained in Washington, D. C. When an attorney entered the case in her behalf she later discarded him and appealed to the solicitor of this district to be returned here for trial.

Outlaw Bands Attack Officials In Poland

Warsaw, July 1.—(AP)—A foreign ministry spokesman said today that outlawed armed gangs roved the Polish countryside last night beating, wounding and killing hundreds, probably thousands of voting officials appointed to direct yesterday's referendum.

The spokesman said the terroristic activity was increasing greatly with bands pursuing gangster tactics striking off the lists the names of election officials as slain and destroying voting and registration books.

The results of the referendum, it was announced, probably would be known by Wednesday with final results available within 12 days.

Francis X. Bushman starred in 424 motion pictures.
