PRICES CLIMB TO NEW HIGHS

Early Reports Show 15-18 Cents Higher Than Yesterday's Opening.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Border belt tobacco prices climbed again today on the basis of unofficial early reports from second day's sales on the market.

At Clarkton the range was reported 15 to 18 cents higher than on yesterday's opening, when 228-912 pounds brought an average of 48.98. The average was estimated this morning at 60 cents. Offerings were light but the quality was good.

Some tobacco sold as high as 72 cents at Lenoir, where an early top of 65 cents was recorded. The quality was described as excellent.

Kingstree said better grades were selling up to 54 cents a pound, with inferior grades ranging from eight to 15 cents. About 350,000 pounds were on the floors.

At Darlington, early sales were averaging an estimated 55 cents. Nearly 1,000,000 pounds were offered. Many sales were recorded at 61 and 62 cents a pound.

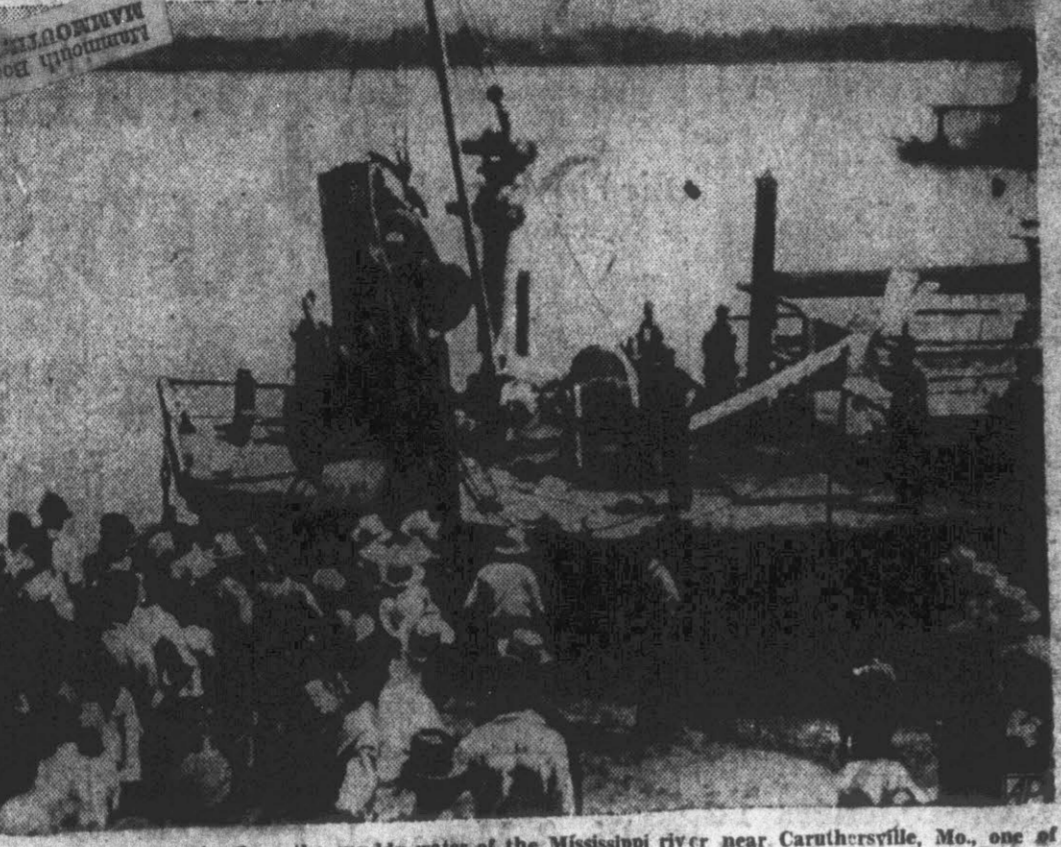

At Lenoir, early sales were averaging an estimated 55 cents. Nearly 1,000,000 pounds were offered. Many sales were recorded at 61 and 62 cents a pound.

Deathtrap Raised After Ferry-Barge Crash

Citizens Seize Ballots In Election Night Gun Battle

Athens, Tenn., Aug. 2.—(AP)—A bi-partisan group of former GIs their election to McMinn County offices conceded by a leader of the opposition, brought quiet to bullet-ridden Athens today after a bloody night of gun battles around a now battered jail.

At least 18 persons were injured, six seriously, in the election day strife which began yesterday afternoon and continued until 3 a. m. today when a score or more deputized officers surrendered their hold on the two-story brick prison building.

Before complete order could be restored, several automobiles were overturned or stripped, and near riots swept over this town of 7,000, suddenly bereft of formal law enforcement from county agencies.

A mobilization of state guardsmen was cancelled and a spokesman for the GI forces said they would maintain order until a mass meeting Monday when it was hoped some provision for filling county offices would be made.

In Washington, Attorney General Tom Clark ordered an investigation today of the gun battle. The civil rights section of the Justice Department was directed to determine whether federal laws were violated.

The battle of the jail, pocked and battered from bullets and homemade bombs tossed by GI sympathizers, was a direct outgrowth of the bitter political campaign waged by the veterans to overthrow the Democratic organization of State Senator Paul Cantrell, in power for a decade.

Armed sheriff's deputies moved two ballot boxes to the jail Thursday afternoon, shortly after the polls closed at 4 p. m., and trouble long brewing, burst into the open.

VALIDITY OF GEORGIA VOTE IS ATTACKED

Constitutionality Of County Unit System Questioned In Suit.

Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 2.—(AP)—A suit was filed in Federal District Court here today attacking the constitutionality of Georgia's county unit primary election system and seeking to block the nomination of W. T. Tammidge for his fourth term as governor.

Tammidge won the nomination under the county unit system in the July 17 primary. He received a majority of the county unit votes but in the popular vote trailed young James V. Carmichael who had the blessing of Governor Eli Arnall.

Nomination in the Democratic primary is tantamount to election in one party Georgia.

The suit, filed by Charles S. Reid, former chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, and John L. De Jr., Atlanta attorney, was on behalf of Mrs. Robert Lee Turman of Fulton county, and Bullen B. Gosnell of DeKalb county.

The suit contended that the primary law in Georgia which provides for the county unit system of nominating state officials, was in conflict with the 14th amendment to the Constitution of the U. S.

It asked that Secretary of State Ben Fortson, chairman Lon Douthett of the State Democratic Executive Committee and Miss Grace Cunningham, secretary, be enjoined from enforcing in the recent primary.

Mackenzie King Asks Big Four To Speed Treaties

Proposes Ministers of Russia, Britain, France And U. S. Hold Meeting Of Their Own While Conference Is In Progress To Consider Changes In Writing Peace.

Paris, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada proposed before the 21-nation peace conference today that the council of foreign ministers of the four principal powers speed the writing of the peace by holding a meeting of their own during the conference.

King said: "I would like to see the four great powers willing to consider and consider promptly any changes in the foreign ministers' proposal contained in the five draft treaties before the conference which are seriously suggested by strong arguments. I should like to see any suggested changes considered by them before the vote is taken."

Under the present procedure changes suggested by the conference have to be approved by the foreign ministers of Britain, Russia, France and the U. S.

The foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, Jan Masaryk, in an obvious reference to Hungarian minorities within his country, declared the Czech people would not accept renewal of pre-war treaties for protection of minority groups.

Under pre-war treaties, Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia practically enjoyed autonomy. Since the end of the second World War Czechoslovakia has insisted upon rejecting rid of both German and Hungarian minorities, who contributed to breakup of the country after the Munich agreement in 1938.

Many of the smaller nations, led by New Zealand, lined up against a decision of the foreign ministers of the four principal powers—Britain, U. S., France and Soviet Russia—to rotate the chairmanship among themselves, but the issue did not reach a vote.

When Hector Muenell, speaking for the British, called on the proponents of a single chairman to offer a proposal.

MCKELLAR IN EASY VICTORY

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, the 77-year-old dean of the upper house won democratic renomination and a sixth term in Washington yesterday in a statewide primary election marked by bloodshed and violence.

Based on the position of the Democratic organization of Edward H. Crump in Shelby County (Memphis) the veteran McKellar rolled up a margin of nearly two to one against his chief opponent, CIO backed Edward Ward Carmack.

The Shelby county vote was an avalanche for McKellar but he outdistanced Carmack in the rest of the state as well. Democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

An Associated Press tabulation of almost complete unofficial returns gave McKellar 146,556; Carmack 88,303; Byron Johnston 1,656; John R. Neall, 775, and Herman H. Ross 1,855.

Also assured of renomination was incumbent Democratic Governor Jim Nance McCord, who ran on a coalition ticket with McKellar and also was supported by the Crump organization.

McCord swamped his opponent former Governor Gordon Browning 144,174 to 96,670 on reports from 1,785 precincts. Browning made the race at the urging of friends despite his job as a Lieutenant Colonel on the staff of the War Relocation Authority.

ENDORSES N. C. MEDICAL PLAN

School And Hospital Approved By Advisory Committee.

Raleigh, Aug. 2.—(AP)—A special advisory committee today endorsed a majority recommendation of the National Committee for Medical School Survey that a proposed four-year medical school and related hospital be placed at Chapel Hill.

The National Committee made its report two weeks ago after a prolonged tour of the state. It asserted that Chapel Hill was the logical place for the school and hospital and added that it would contribute much to the good of the state.

A minority report, however, said that such a program was not needed in North Carolina, and that the medical schools of Wake Forest College at Winston-Salem and Duke Hospital were doing the job.

The special advisory committee is composed of the past presidents of the American Medical Association, the North Carolina Medical Association, and the North Carolina State Board of Health.

TRUMAN OK'S OVERHAULING

President Signs Bill Today Reorganizing Congress.

Washington, Aug. 2.—(AP)—President Truman signed into law today a bill calling for an extensive overhaul of the legislative machinery in Congress and including a $2,500 pay boost for members.

The measure raises the yearly salary of legislators from $10,000 to $12,000. It also retains a $2,500 annual tax-free expense allowance. Another provision, permits members past 62 years to retire on pension after six years service, if they contribute to a civil service retirement fund.

Among several precedent-breaking changes in congressional procedure is one provision slashing the number of senate committees from 13 to 15 and house committees from 48 to 19.

Other key provisions include: 1. Adjustment: Congress would adjourn each year from at least August 1 to January 1 to show members more time at home.

2. Lobbyists: Congressional lobbyists would be required to register their names, employer, and expenses so the legislators could keep a better check on them.

Witness Tells Of Incidents Prior To Actual Fighting; Saw Election Watchers Thrown Out Of Polling Place And Gun - Wielding Deputy; Armed Men Drove Off With Ballot Boxes.

Athens, Tenn., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Four members of my staff and I yesterday witnessed the first suggestion of election violence here which later flamed into a full-fledged gun battle between opposing political factions.

We experienced a taste of the trouble ourselves when a big deputy sheriff demanded the films our photographer had shot of a blocked polling place in Athens. The photographer handed him a blank plate and we were able to get away with the picture.

The trouble grew from the bitter political campaign waged between supporters of a bi-partisan all-GI ticket of candidates for local offices and those of a slate put forward by state senator Paul Cantrell, a king pin in the Democratic organization here for ten years.

As we stood on a crowded sidewalk across the street from a polling place which had been closed to start the ballot counting, we saw the plate glass door of the polling place shattered by the impact of the bodies of two election officials stationed there by the GI ticket.

The two youths, James Ed Vestal and Charles Scott, were still on their knees in the street when Deputy Sheriff Windy Wise strode out of the broken door, a shiny pistol in his hand.

"My God, here it comes," breathed a woman near me.

The veterans rose to their feet, raised their arms above their heads and walked slowly away toward the crowd across the street, their backs to the deputy who had been joined by other deputies.

STOREKEEPER VICTIM CAR

Harvey H. Laughinghouse Killed Last Night At Cox's Mill

State highway patrolmen said today that Harvey H. Laughinghouse, 43, storekeeper on Route 43, at Cox's Mill, was instantly killed when a car driven by Plymouth Frank Clark of the Clay Root section, struck him about 6:45 last night. Cpl. John Laws said Laughinghouse was crossing the highway in front of his service station, became confused by traffic approaching from both directions, and stepped into the path of the oncoming car. The officer said there was no evidence of criminal negligence and no arrest was made. Patrolman J. H. Chadwick assisted in the investigation.

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse, after viewing the body, ordered an inquest to be held at the City Hall in Greenville next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at Cox's Mill at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Walter B. Nobles, Pres. Will Baptist Minister of Winterville. Burial will be in Greenville cemetery in Greenville. Members of the Greenville Tribe of Red Men will have charge of the services at the grave.

Active pallbearers will be Lister Mills, Durwood Stanley, Luke Stanley, Marvin McLawhorn, Johnny McLawhorn, William Harvey Mims, Henry Dixon and Norwood Bradshaw.

Mr. Laughinghouse spent all of his life in Pitt county. He was a farmer until he opened a filling station here.

Four Month Promissory Note for $5,000 Honored In 1941 At Munition Maker's Request Was Never Repaid.

Washington, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Elsha Walker, senior partner of the New York firm of Kuhn-Loeb, informed Senator Mead (D-NY) today that in 1941 he lent $5,000 to Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky) at the request of munitions-maker Murray Garsson. Walker said he still has not been paid back.

The New York financier conferred here with Mead, who is chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Afterward, Walker told reporters that prior to the maturity of the note, he had written May about it and had received a reply from May "that he had given the original note as an accommodation to Mr. Garsson and that some renewal note would be paid in a few days."

"In view of Mr. May's statement," Walker said, "I took up with Mr. Garsson the matter of paying that note. Up to the present time, however, it has not been paid."

Walker said that he had the details of the case before Mead because he "thought the committee should have all the facts" concerning the relations between Garsson, one of a munitions combine which has been under investigation, and May, chairman of the house military committee.

Garsson first approached him in the spring of 1941, Walker said, asking him to participate in the acquisition of "some manganese properties in West Virginia."

He said he told Garsson, after investigation, that he was not interested, and that "at about that time or shortly thereafter, Mr. Garsson told me that he needed $5,000 and asked if I could advance that amount."

New Ideas In Treaties

Inclusion Of Basic Human Rights Is New Aspect To Problem Of Treaty-Writing; Definitions Of Rights Composes Big Barrier For Workable Peace

BY J. M. ROBERTS, Jr. (For MacKenzie)
has been added to the formula by which the delegations are seeking peace. The Debt and Credit clause of the five draft treaties follow the lines of traditional postwar settlements.

But also included among the rules laid down for the conduct of defeated nations is a new clause embodying an idea which has become general only in comparatively recent years—that if, as now demonstrated, wars are to involve whole peoples rather than merely the military castes of nations, then the roots of war can be found, and eradicated, among the people.

Lobbyists Out In Open

Congress Passes Anti-Lobby Act Forcing Registration All Lobbyists, Reporting Where Money Comes From, Where It Goes; Bill Avoids Loopholes

Washington, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Congress passed today an act to make lobbyists come out in the open. Anyone—individual or organization—who tries to influence congressmen must read this act carefully.

It is so worded that it may cover people who at this minute don't consider themselves lobbyists. Briefly, the act requires a lobbyist to register with Congress as a lobbyist. He can keep right on lobbying, but he must register. (His identity as a lobbyist will then be open to the public.)

Tidelands Veto Seen As Binding

Washington, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Congress showed signs today of accepting President Truman's veto of the so-called "Tidelands Oil Bill" without even the formality of a vote to override.

Legislative leaders said privately the house may simply agree to refer the veto message to committee. With adjournment at hand this would have the effect of killing the long-disputed bill.

Mr. Truman sent it back to the lawmakers yesterday with the declaration that the supreme court, not congress, should decide the issues involved.

War-Time Congress In Hurry For Adjournment

Washington, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The 79th Congress, which teamed with Presidents Roosevelt and Truman in carrying the burdens of war but balked on many home-front matters, sped toward final adjournment today.

With an eleven-hour compromise worked out to freeze the social security tax, a last-minute flurry over a world court proposal was the only threat to plans to adjourn at the end of today's session.

The House already has voted for final adjournment today but the Senate has held up on the suggestion.

Barring an emergency that would cause the President to recall it for a special session, the 79th Congress will not meet again once it closes the books, for the Congress that convenes in January will be a new one, the 80th.

The fact that a new Congress will be elected in November was one of the compelling reasons that prompted the body to take its longest vacation in eight years. All 435 House seats and 32 of the 96 in the Senate will be filled, and members seeking re-election want ample time to campaign.

Even as they began leaving for their homes, many members felt they might be recalled into special session after the November elections. Should the Republican Party make good its boast that it will win control of the House in the new Congress, they feel certain that President Truman will make one final effort to win approval of some of his domestic legislative proposals from the Democratic 79th.

Many of those proposals already have been rejected by the 79th which often ignored the expressed wishes of the chief executive.

But on the other hand, it went down the line with both Mr. Roosevelt and his successor on international issues and on matters dealing with the war, which was in progress on two fronts when the Congress first convened on January 3, 1945.

The political "honeymoon" between the new President and Congress ended abruptly in September 1945, when Mr. Truman submitted a 21-point major legislative program. The rift widened as the President broadened the program with later requests.

In all, the President asked for 32 pieces of legislation. Congress approved 10 of them, rejected 15 and compromised on 7.

Garsson he said, asked him to deliver to him the check for the amount of the loan, "made out to the order of Mr. May." He did this, Walker said, but only after he telephoned May in Washington "and he confirmed that Mr. Garsson was authorized to deliver the note and receive the check." The veterans and their sympathizers then started toward their headquarters down the street, followed by at least seven deputies. The seven were disarmed, taken into the garage, beaten and then tossed into cars and hurried off to an unannounced destination. About an hour and a half later, a group of armed officers went to the rear entrance of a building house the second of the town's three polling places. Big Fire Burns Half Newport Businesses

Newport, N. C., Aug. 2.—(AP)—An early morning fire destroyed almost half of the west side of the business district of this Carteret town today, with a loss unofficially estimated at $100,000. All the buildings burned down were of wooden construction, and they were entirely consumed. They included the ABC store, the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Office, Bell Brothers Grocery, Sam's Cafe, and Garner and McCain Grocery. Fire trucks from Morehead City and New Bern were rushed to the scene but were unable to save the burning structures. The cause of the fire was not learned.

Looking over his nose-pinches glasses in the direction of the British delegation, Molotov said, "I cannot understand those who voted for it in the foreign ministers' council now coming here to vote against it." MacNeil had said: "We want to get on with our work... and quit making speeches. I hope as we go along we will be able to throw aside our suspicions and prejudices and get on with our job." The officers stood there several minutes, it seemed, looking warily around. Then a big sedan drove up, loaded with armed guards. As they watched, a deputy sheriff went into the polling place and returned with the ballot box. The car sped away to the jail, a block away. The veterans and their sympathizers then started toward their headquarters down the street, followed by at least seven deputies. When the crowd was in front of a garage, the GI's suddenly turned and engulfed the armed deputies. The seven were disarmed, taken into the garage, beaten and then tossed into cars and hurried off to an unannounced destination. About an hour and a half later, a group of armed officers went to the rear entrance of a building house the second of the town's three polling places. They lifted bodily an automobile which had been driven up close to block the entrance and went in. In a moment they returned with the ballot box and, guns in hand, carried it to the jail. One of the main leaders of the GI's forces in the battle of the lists in the garage was Otto Kennedy, Republican member of the County Election Commission and a grand-

by JOHN ROEBURT

Chapter 14

The house on One Hundred and Thirtieth and Third lay a-moulding under the El. It was a dowdy, two-story tinder-box plastered with peeling posters. The windows facing the street were boarded up. The Elared past and the frame dwelling as a careening prize fighter reacting to throw in the towel.

Red chuckled. "Two to one you bet a bum steer, Jigger."

"What do you expect, Red? An open auditorium with a man in front, telling through a megaphone? It sounds to reason that Birdie would be a first-class introvert in his place of residence and location. His place looks deserted enough to be densely populated with reefer enthusiasts."

"How you going to get in?"

Jigger thumbed. "Front door, all right, I'll reach the first landing up the fire escape and through that window. The window looks shut, but I can pry like a end in an emergency."

Red's face was lethal. "Count me in, Jigger. I'd hate to be caught in the act of burgling an empty house. It's too classically futile and would warp my outlook for life."

"You wait out here and watch the cab, Red."

The downstairs door was double-locked on the inside. Jigger put his shoulder to it until the blood leaked his cheeks, but the door wouldn't budge.

The fire escape grated rust underneath. The first-story windows were happily desolate of panes. Jigger cupped his hand cautiously in the knob of one, turning it gingerly. It was locked. It was a simple lock and Jigger fitted his skeleton key to it. The second one did the trick.

There was a touched-up and polished photomaton snapshot in a imitation leather frame, perched in a peeling highboy bureau. It was unmistakably Birdie Nevers under Jigger's fountain-pen flashlight.

Jigger ransacked the bureau drawers. The drawers were mainly chaos of worn-out shirts, ties, pants and accessories. An abutting closet, doorless, with a velvet drape screening it, produced an almost new Gladstone bag. It had weight and was securely locked.

Picked for flight Jigger played his searchlight in a final summary inventory. There was nothing else.

A voice in a falsetto pitch squaled through the paper-thin wall. Jigger reined to a halt, listening. It was a woman, probably Birdie's woman, in the front part of the house.

Jigger crossed the narrow hall, reading erratically to avoid the squeaky floor planks. He deposited the Gladstone in an obscure corner of the fire escape, hidden from interior view against the wall, and returned to buck Birdie's woman.

Jigger rapped with genteel restraint, then nimbly—a beat higher in tempo—then peremptorily. The door opened and an over-wrought haridiah squinted murderously at him.

"Who are you to be breaking down my door?"

Birdie's woman was big and fleshy with lidless eyes. Her face was a montage of puffs, her chin a wart punctuating cheeks and neckswell.

Jigger spoke with sly unctious: "I was a dear friend of Birdie's. I've always wanted to meet you."

Birdie's woman heaved into an immense tenderness. Her hand lumbered toward Jigger, scalling his shoulder. She clamped him into the room, her immensity ripping all over him.

"Birdie was a good man. Best man!" The saline flood started and stopped. Her eyes wavered across the room into a spotted mirror.

Jigger deliberated a line of interrogation, but could only think of limericks about fat ladies. The rigors of completing a fabric of strategies and deceit that might elicit a lead or clue from this antediluvian source was a tyranny even four grand was no compensation for. Jigger perched one foot on the rung of a straight chair, profoundly silent.

Someone yelled from the bedroom, "Who you talking to, Blossom?"

The lidless eyes were white. "Mind your own business. I'm talking to a friend of Birdie who was a better man 'n you."

The man in the bedroom, yelling, enunciating clearly, each word an exclamation point. "That cheap punk, Birdie. He was born a bum. He lived a bum. He died a bum."

Birdie's woman became lively. He was a better man 'n you."

The exclamation points darted horizontally: "Birdie was a cheap punk. You could buy him for a nickel. Even a nickel was over-paying him—the way Birdie messed up a job."

Birdie's woman's eyes were damp again. "I loved my sweet Birdie. Yer not half the man Birdie was." The tears now loped down her cheeks.

Jigger decided to scam. Another day, perhaps, when he was girded for it, he would prime Birdie's woman for a copious flow of facts.

Birdie's woman stopped crying and bridled. "Birdie would be alive if not for you turnin' his head with new ideas. Birdie was doin' fine until you came around."

The man in the bedroom screamed at Birdie's woman. His voice hammered the room and the El roared by again.

A small pause, then: "Who did you say you were talking to, Blossom?"

There was a commotion by someone getting out of bed and flinging about the room getting dressed.

Jigger said with a wink that hinted a rendezvous perhaps some day. "I'll scam outa here. See you later, huh?"

Comprehension was slow in Birdie's woman, but her head went up and down.

Ask Sinking Of Poison Gas Ship

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 2—(AP)—The American freighter Francis L. Lee, with 300 tons of German mustard gas aboard, was held in tow at the entrance to Charleston harbor today while local officials awaited War Department action upon protests against its being sent here for disposal of its poison cargo.

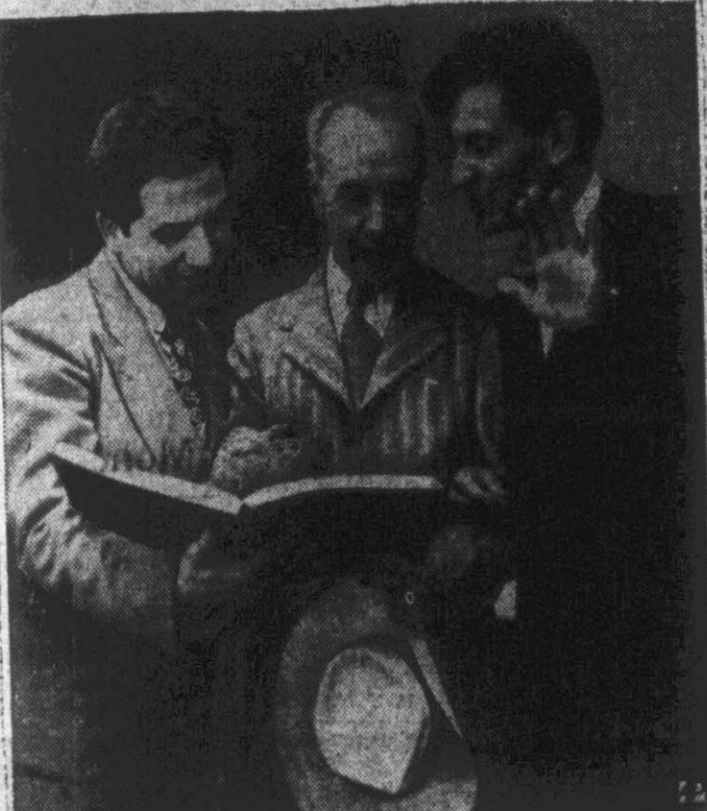

The ship came here from Mobile under tow, without master or crew aboard. It was intercepted at the sea buoy off the harbor by an army tug. Meantime a coast guard statement said it had been refused permission to anchor in the harbor.

Mayor Edward Wehman, Jr., wired Senator Maybank and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers of this district, at Washington, protesting the plan to unload the vessel here. He suggested that it be taken out to sea and sunk.

George German, president of the local longshoremen's union, announced that members of his organization would refuse to unload the Francis L. Lee. He said 72 longshoremen had been burned by the gas while attempting to unload the ship at Mobile.

HOLD FATHER FOR INCEST

William L. Buck Ordered Held For Grand Jury Hearing

By CHESTER WALSH

In Magistrate H. L. Jenkins' Court today William Russell Buck, 37-year-old white tenant farmer of the Pactolus section, charged with incest, was given a preliminary hearing and ordered held under $3,000 bond for the grand jury in Superior Court August 26. Buck is in jail.

Myrtle Ruth Buck, his 17-year-old daughter, testified that her father was the father of her baby born about two months ago. She said her father had been having illicit relations with her for about three years.

When she learned that she was to become a mother she went to a friend's home and remained there until the baby was born, she testified.

Judge Albion Dunn is counsel for the defendant.

Authorities said Buck has four or five children. He and his wife and children live on the Haywood Dairy farm in the Pactolus section.

Miss Joyner Will Remain In County

By CHESTER WALSH

Farm women of Pitt County will be glad to know that the Home Demonstration Club Program has been recognized as one of the best in the state when their home demonstration agent, Miss Verona Lee Joyner, was recently offered a position as district agent for the North Carolina Extension Service. After careful consideration Miss Joyner declined the offer to remain in Pitt County to continue to build a bigger and better program. Should she have accepted this offer she would have been one of five district home agents for the state. She would have supervised the home demonstration and 4-H Club program in 16 counties of the lower Piedmont and Coastal Plain areas of the state such as Edgecombe, Nash, Wayne, Lenoir, Wilson, Greene, Pitt and others.

The State Extension Office recognizes the work in Pitt County as a pattern for North Carolina. Under her leadership the work has grown until Pitt County can boast over 30 Home Demonstration and 4-H Clubs. Miss Joyner and her assistants now work with more than 3,000 farm families. Due to the growth of the program Pitt County and North Carolina Extension Service recently appropriated money for a second assistant home demonstration agent in order that the work might continue to expand.

Before beginning work in Pitt County as Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Joyner taught vocational home economics in the Farmville High School and at that time served as critic teacher for East Carolina Teachers College. She is a home county girl—the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Eli Joyner, Sr., of Farmville, N. C.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CONCERNING VACATIONS

When shall I spend my vacation? This is an important query in a year when accommodations are hard to secure.

But a more important question is: "How shall I spend my vacation?" The word "vacation" comes from a Latin word which means "to make empty." To take a vacation means, therefore, to empty one's life of all the things which formerly filled it—to change one's way of living, to sweep clean the mind and soul of all their former preoccupations and allow new interests to come in and have their way with us for a while. The chief advantage of a vacation lies in the change it brings into the pattern of our daily activities. The air may be as good as in the city or village where we happen to live as it is at some resort where we pay plenty for room and board. The advantage comes in a change of scene, a change of faces, and best of all a change of interests.

Most people do not realize the overwhelming necessity for rest which Nature puts upon us. We need only look at the human heart, however, to see it demonstrated. Here is a muscle which is active from the moment we are born until the moment we die. Yet between every beat there is a complete pause. If the heart did not get this respite, no human being would live longer than a few hours. Nature requires us to rest every night. God has commanded us to rest every week. Common sense requires that we empty our lives of their former employments for a season every year.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—A new food factor has been found by nutrition workers and food chemists. It is still a puzzle to them, but it is called "nutrient X."

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, not wishing to go too far out on a limb about nutrient X, says it "appears to have the properties of a vitamin and apparently plays an important part in the palatability of foods."

Scientists define "palatability" this way: something that depends not only on the taste of food but also on the need of the body for the food and on what the body will do to the food—"if it is eaten."

The Bureau of Dairy Industry says it has found X in several milk products and in other foods and feeds—lettuce, egg yolk, beef and pork muscle, bluegrass, alfalfa and timothy hay.

The X in the diet, according to the Agricultural Research Administration, is so essential that experimenters have found this: That while rats on a diet relatively high in protein usually died if X was lacking, they lived to be 85 percent of normal on the same diet when it had X in it.

The Department of Agriculture says that efforts are being made to identify and isolate in pure form the substance or substances that constitute X and "thus add it to the known nutrients and get it out of the unknown classification."

After issuing federal charters over the past 155 years to such institutions as an innkeeper, a company, an aerial telegraph company, a military society, a target-shooting association and a girls' reform school, Congress has decided it is time to work out a policy on the subject.

The Senate has passed and is awaiting House action on a bill which would limit federal charters to non-profit corporations operated for charitable, educational, patriotic and civic reform purposes.

Judge Joao da Mero of Sao Paulo, Brazil, says the rapidly with which Washington courts can dissolve a marriage is breath-taking. There is no divorce in Brazil.

"It is easier to get an absolute divorce here," he says, "than it is to obtain a legal separation in Brazil."

A couple can get a divorce in Washington in six months. Grounds are adultery, two years' desertion and five years' voluntary separation. The judge, who is on a three-month visit to the United States to observe legal procedure, has yet to visit Reno, Nevada, the nation's most publicized divorce mill.

Mrs. Herbert M. Hanson, housekeeper for Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, is here with her husband. He is head of a Seventh-day Adventist Boys School in Addis Ababa. She says there wasn't a doily in the palace when she moved in in 1941. She just shopped around until she found some—in the finest Italian linens.

Lobbyists . . .

must register with him—to decide who must register. He says that with the help of lawyers he will try to draw up a clarification of the law and make this clarification known to the public.

Trumble doesn't share Biffle's own view. He says he has no intention of trying to decide who must register with him.

He says he believes such a decision is a job for the Department of Justice which will have to prosecute any lobbyist who fails to register. Any lobbyist failing to register can be prosecuted in federal court and, if convicted, fined $5,000 and given one year in jail.

If a lobbyist is convicted of violating the law by failing to register, then for three years he cannot do any lobbying.

If he does lobby in that period, he can be prosecuted again and, if convicted, be fined $10,000 and jailed for five years.

A lobbyist—whether an individual, partnership, committee, association, corporation or any other organization or group of persons—who receive money for the principal purpose of influencing legislation must do this:

- 1. Keep a detailed and exact account of all money received. This record must be kept by the lobbyist for two years.

2. Reports to the clerk of the House and the Senate secretary the name and address of every person contributing $500 or more to the lobbyist.

3. Report to the clerk and secretary the name and address of every person to whom the lobbyist pays $10 or more.

The reports—in No. 2 and No. 3 above—will be made a public record by the clerk and secretary.

Men who had a major share in shaping the language of the act say it is aimed at forcing real lobbyists into the open.

They say the language was left unprecise purposely in an effort not to provide loopholes.

But because the language is so general, the Department of Justice sooner or later may have to prosecute some one, or some organization—and eventually get an interpretation from the Supreme Court.

The act does make some exceptions—people who can try to influence legislation but don't have to register—but even here the language is not too clear except that it says newspapers are exempt.

Tobacco Crop Is Bought In Field

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Buyers, not waiting for the harvest, are purchasing the valuable Connecticut Valley tobacco crop in the field and are paying about 25 per cent more for it than they did last year.

The rush for the Havana seed tobacco and the equally famous Connecticut broadleaf, often called the world's costliest tobacco, was disclosed last night after a check of leading growers and brokers.

The dealing, said to have started early in the week, was reported still to be in progress, and no specific figures were available. Those interviewed said, however, that most of the Havana seed had been contracted for and some of the broadleaf also already had been sold.

Price reports ranged from 63 to 77 cents per pound. One dealer said that the top price paid for any of the 1945 crop was 60 cents per ound. The crop, aided by recent rains though somewhat adversely affected by the weather earlier in the wroging season, totals 16,400 acres.

UPPER BERTH

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 2.—(AP)—An old man taking a nap on a narrow catwalk atop a 65-foot silo in the downtown district apparently forgot to hang up the "Do not disturb" sign.

Workmen noticed him napping and called the fire department when they couldn't persuade him to find some other place to sleep.

Firemen fastened a rope around his waist and lowered him to the ground. He walked away, leaving the firemen somewhat mystified.

$220,000 CITY OF GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA STREET IMPROVEMENT BONDS

Sealed bids will be received until 11 o'clock A. M., Eastern Standard Time, August 13, 1946, by the undersigned at its office in the City of Raleigh, N. C., for $220,000 Street Improvement Bonds of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, dated September 1, 1946, maturing annually, March 1, in numerical order, lowest numbers first, $10,000 1949 to 1953, $15,000 1954 to 1959, and $20,000 1960 to 1963, all inclusive, without option of prior payment. There will be no auction. Denomination $1,000; coupon bonds registerable as to principal alone; principal and semi-annual interest (M and S I), payable in legal tender in New York City; general obligations; unlimited tax; delivery on or about September 7, 1946, at place of purchaser's choice.

Bidders are requested to name the interest rate or rates, not exceeding six per cent per annum, in multiples of one-fourth of one per cent.

Each bid may name one rate for part of the bonds (having the earliest maturities), and another rate or rates for the balance, but no bid may name more than three rates, and each bidder must specify in his bid the amount of bonds of each rate. Each rate must be bid for bonds of consecutive maturities. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest interest cost to the City, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of the premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds until their respective maturities. No bid of less than par and accrued interest will be entertained. Bids must be on a form to be furnished with additional information by the undersigned, enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Bonds," and must be accompanied by a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company, payable unconditionally to the order of the State Treasurer of North Carolina for $4,400.

The approving opinion of Massey and Mitchell, New York City, will be furnished the purchaser. In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

The right to reject all bids is reserved.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 2—(AP)—The stock market acted a bit tired today, after seven straight recovery sessions and, while assorted favorites exhibited quiet strength, many leaders stumbled.
Dealings reverted to sluggishness after a fairly active opening and trends were a trifle uneven near the close. Transfers of around 700,000 shares were among the smallest of the past several weeks.

The public is invited to worship with us Sunday, August 4, at the Good Hope Church. This church is located on the Ayden highway about 5 miles from Greenville. Sunday school at 9:30, O. C. Brown, superintendent. Sermon at 11 o'clock by the pastor on the subject, "Spiritual Foundation, Building for a Better World." At 3 o'clock Rev. E. Harris, pastor of White Oak Baptist Church, will preach the pastor's anniversary sermon. This is the 17th anniversary of the pastor. His choir and congregation will accompany him. Rev. S. Mann was fatally wounded as he sat in a truck here. He died before reaching a hospital.

Hagan, a 20-year-old resident of Effaula, Ala., stationed at the local overseas replacement depot, was arrested yesterday.

Detectives said Hagan told them he attempted to strike Mann with his pistol, a German make, when they became involved in an altercation, and that it went off accidentally.

Other witnesses, however, were quoted as saying the Negro shot the surveyor deliberately when Mann in reply to a request for a cigarette, said he had none.

Mann was a war veteran with about two years overseas service with army engineers. He is survived by his widow and two sons, in addition to his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Mann of Garner.

His body was sent to Washington N. C., for burial.

Surviving are one son, Mr. John Clark, of the home; one foster daughter, Mrs. Cathrine Sainte, of New York; one step-daughter, Mrs. Hattie Gaskins, of Baltimore, Md.; two grandchildren, Mrs. Claudia Clark, New York, Mr. James Clark, of Baltimore, Md., eight great-grand children and one sister, Mrs. Missouri King, New York.

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our father, William Brewington. We gratefully appreciate the beautiful floral tributes, and use of cars. The Brewington Family.

Interior Door Controls

To release the door latch of the new Frazer, you simply press a button in an attractive chrome-trimmed plastic panel, just below each window in both compartments. This new method of door opening is not only convenient, but it eliminates the danger of accidental opening. The beauty of the panel is enhanced by a Frazer crest in full color under plastic on the push button. A positive push-button lock in the window garnish moulding of each door is a further safeguard. It is used to lock the door when the car is parked.

Bill Herring's triple to deep center. However the Bugs threatened in the seventh frame when they loaded the bases on a single and two walks but the threat ended when Schroeder was out short to first.

Both teams made a double play in the game last night. The Goldsboro's play coming in the second frame when Milt Naron hit to first baseman Connell who threw to second to catch Smith and then was put out himself at first. Greenville's double play came in the sixth frame when Connell hit to Carlson who touched second to put out Lingle for a double play unassisted.

Greenville had only four men left stranded on bases, while the Bugs had nine left on. Met. Blackwell was the only man to successfully steal a base.

The Greenies will play the Tarboro Tars here tonight at 7:45 and on Sunday afternoon will play the Wilson Tobs here at 3 p. m.

Pasquel Declines Credit In Talks

New York, Aug. 2—(AP)—Bernado Pasquel of the fabulous Mexican Pasquel brothers believes the current owner-player negotiations prove his theory that baseball in the United States is "100 years behind the times."
 Declining to take any credit for the new deal that baseball is forcing the players in contract reforms, the mustached vice-president of the Mexican League recalled he had pointed to the sport's "antiquated" methods six months ago.
 "Why is that Philadelphia airways finishes last?" he demanded. "The pennants always go to New York, Boston, St. Louis, Chicago or Brooklyn. We do things different and move the players around to make, what you call, balance."
 Bernardo had just seen the St. Louis Cards and Brooklyn Dodgers fighting for the National League pennant. He wasn't impressed.
 "Our league leader, Tampico, can play any team you have here," he insisted, "and they don't have one big leaguer in their lineup. How can you call your series a real world series? Why the Mexican fans will just laugh at you. United States champs, yes. World champs, no. Not unless you play Mexico."

Frick Warns Against Use Of "Bean Balls"

New York, Aug. 2—(AP)—President Ford Frick of the National League said today he had instructed his umpires to warn both Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Eddie Dyer, boss of the St. Louis Cardinals, against the use of "bean balls" by their pitchers.
 In the Dodger-Card series, that ended yesterday, three Redbirds were hit with pitched balls while on frequent occasions, players from both sides were sent sprawling to the dirt while getting out of the way of close pitches.
 Frick said he did not act as a result of any protest lodged by any player or manager, but that from his own observation, he decided to caution both pilots.

BOYS LEAGUE BASEBALL

The Cardinals won another from the Giants yesterday at the Training School to cut a full game off the Giants league lead which now is only one game. The Cards had easy sailing until the last inning. They went into the seventh with a four run lead and when they had retired the third Giant batter of the inning the score was all tied up at five all. In the next inning the Cards put the game on ice for good with a three run rally of their own.
 Billy Woolfork with three hits and Eddie Farley, Milton Poley and Joe Rowland with two hits each led the winners at the plate. Glenn Scott, John Sideris and George Sideris with three hits paced the attack of the Giants.
 Cardinals 2 2 0 1 0 0 3
 Giants 0 0 0 1 0 0 4 0
 The Tigers picked up six unearned runs in the first inning of their game yesterday with the Yankees and went on to win 6 to 0. It was a pitchers battle all the way with Bobby Pyle for the Tigers and Dickie Gray having complete charge of the game. With the exception of the first inning it was three up and three down practically in every inning. Scott with three hits, one a triple led the hitting for the Tigers Joe Clark with two hits was the

 The St. Louis Cardinals old flag system of knocking down their chief rivals—which didn't pan out so well last year when they licked the champion Chicago Cubs 16 to six and still lost the pennant—appears to be paying rich dividends as the Redbirds find themselves only a game and a half out of first place today.
 In 15 engagements with the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers, the Redbirds have captured 11, including two out of three in their most recent "crucial" series which ended yesterday with a 3-1 Cardinal triumph. The Cards also hold a 7-4 edge over the third place Cubs in the current campaign.
 As for the Dodgers, yesterday was a day they do not care to remember on any shape, form or manner. Not only did they drop the game and the series to their arch-rivals, but lost the services of Pete Reiser temporarily.
 The crumby outfielder suffered a "mild concussion" after banging his head against the left field concrete wall in a vain attempt to snare a drive off the bat of Whitey Kuroski in the fifth inning. He was removed on a stretcher to the clubhouse thence to the Peck Memorial Hospital where x-rays were to be taken today.
 Reiser will be sidelined for three or four days "at least." Coming on top of the injury to second baseman Eddie Stanky, who was restricted to pinch hitting yesterday following his accidental spiking Tuesday night by Enos Slaughter, things look none to bright for only Yank to hit safely twice.

Dodger manager Leo Durocher. The game itself was a thriller with the issue in doubt until the final out. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen started for the Birds and was quickly handed a 3-0 lead when Slaughter hammered a second inning home run and Marty Marion and Del Rice singled and tripled respectively to account for two tallies in the fourth.
 For seven innings Brecheen was the complete master of the Brooks but in the eighth the Dodgers banged him for three hits and a run and narrowly missed tying the score when Joe Medwick slammed a tremendous drive to left only to have Erv Dusak make a sensational catch. With runners on first and second, Dyer had to call upon Howie Polet to get the third out as well as pitch the ninth inning.
 The New York Yankees moved back into second place in the American League by defeating the Detroit Tigers 4-2 to forge nine percentage points ahead of the Bengals.
 Cleveland made it two in a row over the front running Boston Red Sox by edging out Joe Cronin's crew 2-1.
 The St. Louis Browns lashed out an 8-2 triumph to sweep their three-game series with the Senators. Despite a grand slam homer by Philadelphia's Pete Suder, the Chicago White Sox outslug the Atlanta Braves 7-6.
 A scheduled twin bill between Cincinnati and Philadelphia and a single encounter between Boston and Pittsburgh in the National League were postponed because of rain.
