Truman Congress Asking For Special Legislation To Permit Entry Of European Refugees; State Presented On Palestine Problem

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman announced today he is considering asking Congress for special legislation to permit entry of European refugees, including Jews, into the United States.

A White House statement said that the United States government has not presented any plan of its own for the solution of the problem of Palestine, although the President has been exchanging views with Prime Minister Attlee of Britain on the question.

The statement said it was clear no settlement of the Palestine problem could be worked out that would be "fully satisfactory" to all parties concerned.

It added that a spirit of conciliation must be used if the problem is to be solved "in a manner which will bring peace and prosperity to Palestine."

The text of Mr. Truman's statement: "Although the President has been exchanging views with Mr. Attlee on the subject, this government has not presented any plan of its own for the solution of the problem of Palestine."

"It is the sincere hope of the President, however, that as a result of the proposed conversations between the British government and Jewish and Arab representatives a Jewish solution of the problem of Palestine can be found and immediate steps can be taken to alleviate the situation of the displaced Jews in Europe."

"It is clear that no settlement of the Palestine problem can be achieved which will be fully satisfactory to all of the parties concerned and that if this problem is to be solved in a manner which will bring peace and prosperity to Palestine, it must be approached in a spirit of conciliation."

"It is also evident that the solution of the Palestine question will not in itself solve the broader problem of the hundreds of thousands of displaced persons in Europe. The President has been giving and hopes his special attention can be entered into which will make it possible for various countries, including the United States, to admit many of these persons as permanent residents."

GOV'T GIVEN COMPLAINT OF MEAT RACKETS

Studies Reports Of Price Fixing And Artificial Shortages

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Justice Department disclosed today that it is studying complaints of price fixing and artificial shortages in meat.

An official fully acquainted with the study said that since OPA price controls on meat lapsed July 1 the department has received numerous reports of various illegal trade tactics from many sections of the country.

Some of the complaints have come from within the meat industry itself, this official told a reporter, emphasizing that many meat handlers have no part in the purportedly illicit operations.

The department's investigation is being made to determine whether anti-trust prosecutions should be undertaken.

In addition to reports of artificially created shortages and price fixing agreements, the official said other complaints being reviewed include:

1. Attempts to coerce retail meat dealers into making "tie-in" purchases. Some dealers have said they are being forced to buy unwanted products in order to get fresh meat.

2. The assertedly large scale entry of some meat wholesalers and packers into the retail business. The anti-trust division is studying to what extent this threatens the survival of independent meat retailers.

3. Withholding of hides from the market in an attempt to get higher prices. A Civilian Production Administration drive also is underway in this field in an effort to avert a threatened shutdown of shoe production.

In addition to the meat and hides inquiries, the Justice Department official said the agency is receiving "a very large number" of complaints of private price fixing agreements involving other industries producing commodities no longer controlled by price ceilings.

He declined to name these industries.

NO 'PRESSURE' ON WAA SALES

International Groups Given Priority For War Surplus

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—The War Assets Administration acknowledged today that international organizations had been given priority over American businessmen in obtaining surplus property, but denied that this was due to "pressure" by the state and commerce departments.

Eiger A. Stansfield, acting counsel for WAA, told the House Surplus Property committee that the decision had been made in "a normal way." Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) contended it constituted "a clear violation of the law."

Stansfield conceded that the priority for the international organizations—among them UNRRA and U. N.—had been established without a written legal opinion, drawing from Slaughter a declaration of "pretty sloppy work."

Stansfield contended that authority for favoring the international organizations was contained in a section of the law which permits disposal of surplus property "in the public interest."

"They (the international organizations) are necessarily clothed with public interest," he said. "We hope," injected Slaughter. Stansfield conceded that the effect (Continued on Page Four)

JEW TO DIE FOR BOMBING

Eighteen Defiant Zionists Sentenced By British Court

Jerusalem, Aug. 16—(AP)—Announcement has been made that 18 defiant and singing young Jews were sentenced to death today for bombing the Haifa railroad shops in a night attack. Four Jewish women were given life terms.

The sentences were passed soon after the outlawed Irgun Zvai Leumi had exhorted the Jews to a general revolt and the Vaad Leumi national council for Palestine Jews, asked the Jews in this stricken land to begin a non-cooperation strike Sunday.

The country still was tense over the issue of British deportation of illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus. Two small ships were reported to have brought 200 to 300 illegal immigrants to the coast before they were spotted. The immigrants were said to have been dispersed among Palestine settlers; reports could not be confirmed.

The 22 Jews were tried in absentia after they were ousted from the (Continued on Page Four)

Tells Secret Of Making Millions

New Orleans, Aug. 16—(AP)—There's no secret to making $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 in cotton—just buy the market and watch the staple go up 1200 points.

That advice comes straight, in a copyrighted interview with the New Orleans States, from Tom Jordan whose associates in the New Orleans Cotton Exchange call him one of the most important individual traders in the world cotton market.

The States quoted his own story of his success, beginning in 1941: "I went to the bank and borrowed $300 to pay my taxes. After I obtained the loan I spent the evening at Southport (a gambling section near New Orleans) and left the tables with a little over $1,500 profit."

"I drew the other $300 as an advance on my salary, giving me $2,000. I went into the market immediately and was busy that month and the next—February—buying carefully. By May I had liquidated for something over $1,000,000."

Fifteen Indians Killed In Rioting

Calcutta, Aug. 16—(AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and 250 injured today in riots between Moslems and Hindus during a Moslem League "direct action day" protest to the British plan for Indian independence.

The Moslem League, second largest political party in India, called a nationwide strike for today to start its "direct action" program. The casualties resulted from clashes in various parts of Calcutta. Of the injured, 100 were taken to hospitals by noon.

STUDY IMPORT OF WATERWAYS IN NEAR EAST

Top U. S. Officials Confer On Mounting Tension Over Dardanelles

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—The United States reportedly is ready today to advocate some "neutral" rights for Russia through the Dardanelles.

But this country is said to oppose outright current Soviet demands for a hand in the military control of that strategic waterway.

Diplomatic officials suggest that a possible step toward trying to work out the developing controversy may be a Turkish-called conference of the nations now parties to the Montreux treaty governing the straits.

At the State Department officials said there is no reason to believe there has been any change in United States policy as previously announced by Secretary of State Byrnes. The principal point of the policy in relation to Russia is that the straits should be open at all times to the transit of warships of Black Sea powers. Under the Montreux convention Turkey has the right to close the straits in time of war or other danger.

The question of how far this government should be in backing Turkey's declared opposition to Russia's demands is known to be a matter of considerable concern to top officials here. Many are hopeful that the whole issue may be ironed out amicably in negotiations among the powers.

But some express belief privately that the Russians are dead set on obtaining military bases in the Dardanelles and may be extremely reluctant to compromise on anything less.

There was diplomatic speculation that the question of America's attitude may have been the subject of an extraordinary White House conference late yesterday.

At the meeting with President Truman were Under Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Secretary of War Patterson and these leaders of American armed forces:

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations; Vice Adm. Forrest Sherman, deputy chief; Gen. Carl Spaatz, army air forces commander; Gen. Thomas T. Handy, deputy chief of staff and Maj. Gen. Lauris Norstad, director of plans and operations for the War Department.

VESSELS SAIL GREAT LAKES

CIO-NMU Strike Described Not Yet Fully Effective

Cleveland, Aug. 16—(AP)—The CIO National Maritime Union had succeeded in freezing a portion of Great Lakes shipping today but the big majority of vessels were still operating.

Whether the strike would spread throughout the 400 American-flag cargo vessels on the five lakes and shut off huge movements of coal, iron ore, steel grain, and oil will still be uncertain on the second day of the walkout.

The union is mainly demanding a shorter work-week, and is calling on non-union crews to join in the struggle. Most crews on the lakes are non-union.

Latest developments were: 1. Union president Joseph Curran and his lieutenants were moving their strike headquarters from Cleveland to Detroit today. Before leaving, a union spokesman said "well over 40" ships were strike-bound. He said a more precise figure would be available later.

2. The Lake Carriers' Association announced in Cleveland that only seven of the 316 cargo vessels operated by its member companies were strike-bound last night after one whole day of the walkout. This (Continued on Page Four)

Connally Leaves For Peace Talks

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—Declaring that Russia has "maintained an unreasonable position" at the Paris peace conference, Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, boarded the liner Queen Mary today to sail for France to assist Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at the conference.

The senator talked to reporters aboard the liner and ended his conference by saying: "We cannot settle international difficulties like a bunch of fussy schoolboys."

Household Items Given Price Hike

OPA Marks Up Prices Of Radios, Stoves, Washers And Many Other Products By $150 Million A Year; Agency Preparing Still More Bad News For Consumers

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—OPA hung a price-hike tag of well over $150,000,000 a year on radios, stoves, washers and many another household item today—and ground out still more bad news for consumers.

On top of price boosts ranging from 3 to 12 percent on 20 groups of mainly home essentials, the agency announced:

1. An immediate increase of one to two cents for draught and bottled beer served in bars, restaurants and hotels.

2. New price ceilings for used automobiles made this year or in 1945.

3. White sidewall tire ceilings: 1.25 percent higher than maximum prices on other tires.

4. Higher prices for stationery and book paper.

In addition, OPA officials said that ceiling increases for virtually all kinds of building materials will be announced soon, as required by the new price control law.

In announcing the increases yesterday on a long list of consumer goods, OPA Administrator Paul Porter stressed that they were required by new pricing standards "laid down by Congress."

He was referring to a provision of the new act which requires OPA to restore dealer profit margins to the level of last March 31.

The price boosts covered virtually the entire field of so-called consumer durable goods except refrigerators. Prices on those will be raised about 2.5 percent soon.

Here are average retail increases which will go into effect as soon as dealers receive new shipments:

Radios and electric phonographs, 3 percent; washing machines, 7 percent; vacuum cleaners, 7 percent; small electrical appliances, such as toasters, irons, space heaters, coffee makers and shavers, 4 percent; household chinaware, 7 percent; box springs, 12 percent; electric stoves, 9 percent; gas stoves, 5 percent; coal, oil and wood stoves, 5 percent; aluminum cooking utensils, 5 percent; metal bed springs, 4 percent; metal cots and double-deck beds, 3 cents; window shades, 10 percent.

Clocks and non-jeweled watches, 6 percent; portable typewriters, 5 percent.

Other increases included 3.5 percent on bicycles; 8 percent on dry (Continued on Page Four)

Mongrel Is Hero To Six Children

Asheville, Aug. 16—(AP)—mongrel dog called "Spot" enabled six young children to flee from their burning home in rural Cowan's Cove early yesterday.

Wilma Parker, 16, told officers of the Buncombe county sheriff's office how Spot came to her bed barked, then jumped through a window pane.

Wilma awakened to find her room filled with smoke and flames licking along the low ceiling. She awakened her 14-year-old brother Devey and they carried four younger sleeping children to safety.

The officers arrived to find the children huddled along a roadside, wide-eyed with fright, watching the smoldering ruins of their three-room home.

Wilma was in tears as she patted Spot and said that with a dog like that she guessed "we can get along."

Officers said the children's father was employed away from home and that their mother recently had left home.

Prospects Of Misery

China On The Verge Of Still More Suffering; Spread Of Fighting Engenders More Wholesale Misery Than Is Known In Europe; No Hope Of Easement

By GLENN BABB (For MacKenzie) The fighting, which still is not called civil war because peace negotiations continue fitfully and a truce is supposed to be in effect, has spread over most of the country north of the Yangtze river. The Communists hold nearly all Manchuria, nullifying the Nationalists' hopes that when Japan was evicted that would become the industrial backbone of the nation and its main hope for economic progress. The battles extend over nearly all the northern provinces, before the war and Japan's campaign of plunder the most highly developed and richest between the great wall and the South China Sea. Great sections of the 450,000,000 Chinese people face the prospect of death by starvation or war.

Nothing in Europe's sufferings is on such a vast scale as China's plight and of the few reasons Europe can hope for better times at (Continued on Page Four)

Gardner Considered As Head Of Atom Controls

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman is said to be considering today elevating G. Max Gardner from undersecretary of the Treasury to chairman of the new domestic atomic control commission.

While associates reported that Mr. Truman had made no final decision, they said it appears Gardner, 64 years old lawyer and textile manufacturer from Shelby, N. C., who has served the administration in several posts, now tops the list of those mentioned to head the new board.

As chairman, Gardner would step into a powerful post from the spot as second man at the treasury, to which he was appointed this year. A former governor of North Carolina, he once served as chairman of the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

Infantile Paralysis

Dreaded Disease Is On The March In United States; 1946 Is Second Worst Polio Year In American Medical Records; Here Are The Few Known Facts

By FRANK CAREY (For Marlow) Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—If you have a child under 10 years of age, the chances are only three in a thousand that he will suffer a severe attack of infantile paralysis even during an epidemic.

There is one chance in a thousand and he will be crippled for life. The risk of a severe attack lessens sharply after a child passes 10. Beyond 20 there is only about one case in every 100,000 population, even during extensive outbreaks.

These facts about infantile paralysis—or poliomyelitis—are set forth in "Hospitals" magazine by Dr. Howard A. Howe of the poliomyelitis research center, Johns Hopkins University.

Howe acknowledges there is small comfort in them. "For that one child in a thousand (who may be crippled for life)," he says, "poliomyelitis still is a great tragedy."

"In 1944, the severe polio epidemic permanently handicapped some 5,000 American children—too large a number for any nation to regard complacently."

"Why do adults rarely suffer a severe or recognizable attack?" Dr. Howe says that science believes the vast majority of people must have had a mild case of infantile paralysis and gained a practical immunity without ever being aware of it.

"Thus persons apparently immune to severe attack themselves may harbor for a time the organism that causes the disease and possibly convey it to others."

Howe says it is virtually certain that the disease is transmitted by "human contact." But it is still (Continued on Page Four)

For five years Mr. Campbell and his family have lived in Greenville. His wife and son will continue to live here until suitable living quarters can be obtained in Dunn.

Committee Plan Local Housing

By CHESTER WALSH
Mayor Jack Boyd has appointed 12 representative citizens on the Mayor's Emergency Housing Committee to make plans for providing homes for returned war veterans. The city's chief executive took this step after a conference Wednesday with Russell G. Broadus of Raleigh, locality expeditor for the National Housing Agency. The federal housing representative will meet with the committee in the courtroom of the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. He will outline plans for eliminating much red tape in procuring building materials for houses for ex-GIs in this locality.
Jane H. Rose is chairman of the committee. Other members are W. T. Kover, Tom Wilson, W. H. Woodard, W. W. Lee, N. O. VanNortwick, Jr., W. B. Shoe, A. B. Stallworth, H. L. Hodges, Jr., Larry Averette, Lewis Tebeau and Ed Waldrop.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baker and children were here for a short while Tuesday.

Alvin McArthur, Jr., will be home Saturday from E. M. I. for several days before the fall term begins.

Red Oak News

Well folks, we have had our picnic! It looked one time as if we were not going to have it, but Wednesday was a lovely day and so about 100 people from tiny tots to old folks rode by truck and cars over to the picnic grounds and swimming pool at Farmville. The children and the older boys and girls enjoyed the slides, swings, see-saws, etc., while the older ones got a big kick out of watching the youngsters enjoy themselves. Many went in swimming. About 6:30 a bountiful picnic supper with plenty of tea was served to a hungry bunch of folks.

After supper, two of our neighboring clubs, Farmville and Ballards joined us and enjoyed some community singing led by Mrs. B. L. Tyson and her daughter, Mrs. L. W. Edwards. Mrs. Fields of the Farmville club gave a most enjoyable talk on "Club Work in Pitt County." After singing "Goodnight, Ladies," everybody departed for their homes, tired but happy.

MINISTER AND WIFE GRATEFUL TO RETONGA

Mrs. Bates Could Eat Only Soft Food And Says She Almost Lost Hope Of Feeling Better. No One More Appreciative Of Relief Retonga Gave, She States

Grateful for relief from almost unbearable suffering from nervous indigestion, along with kindred distresses, the Rev. B. C. Bates, highly respected minister of Austell, Ga., Route 1, and his beloved wife, have joined the thousands gratefully praising Retonga.

"I don't believe anyone could have suffered worse distress than I did from gas bloating and gassy heartburn," said Mrs. Bates. "Solid foods seemed heavy as lead in my stomach, and I just forced down a little soft food like soups and broths. I lost weight and felt high-strung. Strong laxatives became a habit and my muscles ached until I could hardly stand it. I hardly knew what a good night's sleep was and most mornings I felt so worn out that my housework just had to go undone. My husband also suffered badly from acid indigestion. I almost lost hope of ever feeling much better."

GLAMOR SHOP IDEAL PLACE

Modern Ready - To-Wear Store Opening Here

The Glamor Shop, which opens its modern and ideally equipped ladies' ready-to-wear store and children's shop at 406 Evans street, (the building formerly occupied by the A & J Store), next week will be one of the most progressive and up-to-date stores in Eastern Carolina. R. C. Leibe, Jr., general manager of Glamor Shops, Inc., of New York City, said today in an interview here.

The Glamor Shop will feature nationally advertised merchandise and specialize in large size dresses for ladies and special lingerie. The manager, Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, and the staff of clerks are all local people. Miss Louise Miller, headquarters specialist, is here directing the organization and will remain in Greenville long enough to perfect all arrangements. Then she goes elsewhere for similar duties. The corporation has stores at Goldsboro, Rocky Mount and Washington. Glamor Shops are also being opened this week at Henderson, N. C., and Sumter, S. C., Manager Leibe said.

The executive pointed out that his corporation exclusively employs local people in its stores; that the company's policy is to participate in local activities and contribute generously to community projects.

"We came to Greenville because we believe it's a progressive and growing city. We like the people and in opening a Glamor Shop here we expect to do our part toward making Greenville the shopping center of Eastern Carolina," Mr. Leibe said.

"The store will be air-conditioned. Modern and convenient fixtures will be used, and we have installed into our employes that we intend to make the Glamor Shop a cheerful place, where extensive stocks will be displayed to best advantage and expert fitting and high values at reasonable prices will be features," the executive said.

Filling Station At Bethel Was Robbed

Rev. N. C. Brooks, Jr. To Preach In City

By CHESTER WALSH
Rev. Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., new pastor of Earle Street Baptist Church, Greenville, S. C., will preach at Memorial Baptist Church here Sunday morning and the following Sunday. Rev. Richard Hardaway and family are on vacation.

Mr. Brooks is a son of N. C. (North Carolina) Brooks and Mrs. Brooks of this city. He graduated from Wake Forest and the Southern Baptist Seminary. He has an unusually good record as a minister and a fine reputation as a man among his fellow-workers. He was formerly pastor at Bryson City and later was state director for young people's work in North Carolina.

He was pastor at the First Baptist Church, Waynesboro, Ga., and from there was called last July to the Earle Street Baptist Church in Greenville, S. C. He had previously served as associated pastor of a church in Knoxville, Tenn. He has a magnetic personality and is an eloquent speaker. The Greenville (S. C.) News recently gave the Rev. Mr. Brooks a distinctive write-up on the front page and accompanied it with a photograph of him. The Georgia Biblical Recorder, official Baptist publication, recently paid fine tribute to the minister in an editorial.
Mr. Brooks will arrive here with his wife and three children tomorrow about noon. After a brief rest they will go to a cottage on Pamlico River and return here for the morning service at Memorial Baptist Church at 11 o'clock.

REV. B. C. BATES

"No one could be more thankful for the relief Retonga brought them. I now relish my food, feel much stronger and am regaining lost weight. I sleep restfully and hardly ever notice any aches or pains, and strong laxatives are not needed now. Both of us heartily recommend Retonga. It is grand."
Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Bissette's Drug Store—Adv.

MRS. LEROY TAYLOR

The Arthur Methodist Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday afternoon, August 11, at five o'clock when Miss Lucye Blanche Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Strickland of Bell Arthur, became the bride of LeRoy Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Taylor of Greenville. The church was decorated with tall baskets of pink gladioli and palms with pink candles. The Rev. R. W. Bradshaw of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church in Greenville and Rev. Key Taylor of the local church officiated. A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Bruce Strickland, Miss Beulah Rasberry, cousin of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly" and Herschel Tyson, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely white brocaded wedding gown with fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a finger tip veil and carried a bouquet of white asters and gardenias.

After the rehearsal Saturday night Mesdames J. E. Wilkerson, W. L. White and O. L. Erwin entertained the wedding party at a cake cutting at the Home Economics college.

Mr. Brooks will arrive here with his wife and three children tomorrow about noon. After a brief rest they will go to a cottage on Pamlico River and return here for the morning service at Memorial Baptist Church at 11 o'clock.

Police Officer Did Good Turn For Man

If you had lost your wallet with $117 in currency in it and with much anxiety went on a search for it, possessed of an idea that there was about one chance in a hundred that the finder would return it you would have a thrilling experience if someone promptly returned the valuables to you.

Well, that's what happened Wednesday to T. E. Dickerson, farmer who lives on the Falkland highway. He said he lost it between the post-office and C. R. Dennis' grocery store, opposite the courthouse.

Policeman Roscoe Dennis, on duty in that neighborhood, found the wallet with the $117 in it and returned it to Dickerson, who was profuse in his expression of gratitude and demonstrated it to the officer. Dennis declined to accept a reward, but Dickerson insisted, and came to the Reflector office to tell his story.

Incidentally, Chief Jim Fanner has developed an efficient and soldierly police force during his year here, and many of the officers are ex-servicemen.

Buddy Eakes Died Kinston Hospital

James H. (Buddy) Eakes, 16, died at Memorial General Hospital in Kinston Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock after a few days illness. Funeral services will be conducted from the home near Ormondsville Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Burial will be in the Ayden cemetery.

He was born and reared and spent all of his life in Greene county. He attended Maury High School and Saints' Delight Free Will Baptist Church near Ormondsville.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Eakes of the home; six brothers, Clifton, Bobby and Donald Eakes, all of the home; Casper and Harvey Eakes of near Ormondsville, and Raymond Eakes of near Greenville; five sisters, Carrie Lane, Joyce and Fay Eakes, all of the home; Mrs. Woodrow Turnage of near Hugo, and Betty Lillian Eakes of Baltimore, Md.

The bride's mother was pinned in white eylet with a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of black crepe with white and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home after which the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to unannounced places. Upon their return they will make their home in Greenville.

Call Warehousemen To Special Meeting

Henderson, Aug. 16—(AP)—Fred S. Royster of Henderson, president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association, has called meetings of the Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association for tomorrow at Wilson and of the middle belt group for September 7 at Henderson. Speakers will explain the stabilization corporation setup and marketing regulations for the season.

On tomorrow's program are Royster, former Governor J. Melville Broughton, attorney for the Bright Belt Association; James E. Tilgner of Washington, assistant director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture tobacco branch; and two officials of the stabilization corporation, Carl T. Hicks of Walstonburg, president, and E. Y. Floyd of Raleigh, secretary.

HARD OF HEARING?

We proudly present the amazing NEW MICROTONE America's most advanced all-in-one hearing aid. A basically new three tube electronic circuit discovery is the secret of MICROTONE's astonishing compactness and brilliant performance. MICROTONE puts chassis and batteries in one tiny unit, making it the smallest we know of on the market.

BIG FAMILY—Heide III, cocker spaniel owned by S. H. Simoneau of Cocon, Fla., expects proud of her litter of 13 pedigreed pups. Dog fanciers say any number over 10 is considered exceptional. Heide is six years old. The feeding situation was relieved by Heide's daughter, which had a litter of five at the same time and helps out at meal time.

Circus Wild-Animal Man Hails From India via Europe

NECKPIECE OF FUR (Y). Champion's docile pose with Damoo Dhotre is in contrast to his natural jungle fierceness.

From the Orient to America by way of Europe. Such, in one sentence, is the history of Damoo Dhotre, whose control over an array of jungle cats will highlight the all-new, post-war version of the famous Sparks Circus at the Old Fairgrounds, near the ball park. Damoo was just 10 years old when he joined his uncle's circus in Poona, India. He developed into a full-fledged circus performer of many and diverse talents, but it was in the art of animal training that he revealed his greatest gift. He first started working with wild animals when he was 13, and by the time he was 17 he was "breaking" lions and tigers to perform. His reputation as a wild animal man spread abroad, and in 1939 he was invited to France to join the staff of Alfred Court, undisputed master of European circus trainers. It was the chance of a lifetime, and Damoo took the first boat on which he could book passage to Europe. But the clouds of war were gathering when he reached France. After he had appeared with circuses in Belgium and England, the outbreak of hostilities made it clear that Europe was no place for Court's magnificent mixed groups of jungle beasts to remain. Through mine-infested water, they were brought to America, Damoo with them. In the five years since then, they have set a new standard for wild animal presentations in this country. Incidentally, Damoo was diverted from his jungle charges for nearly three years by service in the U. S. Army, from which he emerged last year with full American citizenship. The animals Damoo presents in the Sparks Circus are black and spotted leopards from Asia and Africa, black jaguars from Ecuador and pumas from Panama, recognized as the fleetest-footed, most ferocious fighters of all jungle cats. This exciting offering is only one of myriad features of the exhilarating two-hour program, embracing the cream of the world's choicest circus talent. Performances are given afternoon and night, starting at 3 and 8 p. m., with doors opening one hour earlier to permit a leisurely visit to the menagerie and horse fair.

Strength FOR THE DAY

IS A RELIGIOUS REVIVAL
COMING?

In these modern times when an apparently triumphant spirit of materialism seems to have the world in its grasp, we might almost despair of a religious revival which would return men's minds and hearts toward God.
But actually, a religious revival might be closer than we imagine.
A study of history shows society
... by vacillating between two poles—the religious and the material. An apparently decisive swing in one direction eventually loses force and is offset by reaction to the opposite pole. The decaying paganism of the First Century A. D. was followed by a world adoption of Christianity and a mass repudiation of things secular. The worldliness of the 13th, 16th, and 18th centuries gave rise to tremendous religious revivals. As their power in succeeding centuries seemed to decline it was offset by repeated paganistic and evangelical movements.
Today even these movements seem to have died out. But this is no necessarily a cause for despair. If the sequences of history have any meaning, this apparent triumph of materialism is really the threshold of a new era. And since the power of reaction is always equal to that of the action which produced it, this new religious era should be one of the greatest in world history.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—In its red and blue uniforms, the Marine Corps Band which began playing at the White House at a New Year's reception in 1861, will start out this fall on its first concert tour since Pearl Harbor.
Probably the busiest band in the country, it has played at just about every state function since the earliest days of the republic. At the White House it has played in the east room, behind the potted palm in the main foyer and in the rose garden. It has played for all visiting royalty, other international bigwigs and movie stars, and at private parties.

One of the most recent of these last was a small dancing party Margaret Truman gave for her friends. Margaret wanted some "sweet swing music, nothing jumpy or loud," a member of the band said.

During the war the band gave public concerts at hospitals, military posts and cantons. In the summer it plays every Monday night at the Marine barracks and Wednesday night for the public on the plaza on the east side of the Capitol.
It also gives two radio broadcasts a week.
Nobody enjoys the band more than its leader, Capt. William F.
Santelmann. Wielder of the baton since 1940, he comes by his job naturally. His father, the late Capt.
William H. Santelmann, was leader from 1893 until 1927.

The elder Santelmann came to the United States in 1886 with a German band which toured the country. He came back to stay in 1888 and joined the Marine band, then under the leadership of John Philip Sousa.

The present Santelmann got into the band by playing the fiddle and an instrument called the euphonium.
The Marine Band was organized at Philadelphia in 1798 under an act of Congress for which Benjamin Franklin is said to be responsible.
It has grown from a handful of musicians to a band of 85 members.
Santelmann says they are looking for additional men and hope to go up to 115. The average salary is $250 a month, and the members are drawn mostly from civilian life.
Santelmann says one of the band's most exciting occasions was when it played for the king and queen of England. It welcomed the royal pair at Union Station here and later entertained them at a state dinner at the White House.

Can We Save Him From Himself?

"The king and queen personally shook hands with all of us," he says.
"We also got a big kick out of playing for President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and the combined chiefs of staff in May 1943."

President Truman told Santelmann
he "loves any simple music that is melodic," especially Johann Strauss' waltzes. President Roosevelt liked typical American music and always requested "Anchors Aweigh" and "Home on the Range."
The Herbert Hoovers liked old-fashioned barn dance music, but the Salvin Coolidges were "never particularly musical."

Santelmann himself says he likes the "long-haired" type of music—good melody of a serious nature such as Smetakovich, Stravinsky Irahms and Wagner.

Prospects Of ...

next none are present in China.
The orders for American troops and sailors in Shanghai to remain indoors during the night indicate that the threat of open hostilities is spreading even to the few islands of comparative peace and prosperity that remain. The situation also shows that the failure of one of America's most ambitious post-war undertakings, and one that in the beginning held out the greatest hopes for alleviation for human suffering, is close at hand. Our entire withdrawal is not an impossibility.

Total civil war would make China a political, economic, theological vacuum. Into such a vacuum forces contending for world leadership or domination would be certain to rush, some of them doubtless against their own desires. The bitter prospect facing China now is similar in many respects to that of the early nineteenth century. The clock may be turned back a century or more and China lose all she has striven for.

And researchers have not been able

Viruses, to grow, must be nurtured by the body cells of a living experimentation has been limited at least until recently. It was believed that the monkey was the only other living creature susceptible to polio—and monkeys are relatively rare and expensive. More recently, the "cotton" rat and the ordinary house mouse have been found to be susceptible.

No one so far has produced a safe vaccine. The most effective vaccines must contain "live" virus which is potentially dangerous.
But Howe says various researchers are now intensifying studies along that line. They have been encouraged by recent discoveries indicating that viruses may be "inactivated."

Darned Pirates!

JIGGER MORAN

by JOHN ROEBURI

Chapter 22

A'hearn was in strange good humor with a fondness in his manner that convinced Jigger the Captain's dementia praecox was ripe and ready to pop. A'hearn's pink-red eyes smiled.

"All set for Joey, Jigger?" "That's what I'm here for, Cap."

A'hearn made exuberant movements. "Then what are we waiting for?"

It was an ideal pause in which to extort something from A'hearn. "There's just one thing, Captain."

A'hearn jiggled his flesh like a sideshow performer. "What is it, my boy?"

One of Joey's men, a blond Leuner, is bivouacking at the Phoenix Arms. I want his telephone tapped—right away.

A'hearn said caressingly, "Jigger, you're a card! And as close-mouthed as a clam. Tapping the phone it is."

Jigger goldsealed the compact. "Remember, A'hearn. I want to listen in to the playbacks right away with no stalling."

They were going out the door when A'hearn said, "To show you

I'm on the square, Jigger, I'll let you in on a secret. The Department's been tapping Mr. Bill Lederer's telephone since yesterday."

A'hearn boomed a laugh like he'd split a gut.

Joey was ankle-deep in cigarette butts, stalking his cage. Jigger watched him in a long silence until Joey said despairingly, "What's the word?"

Jigger began to give Joey the works, plowing subtly: "Just by the way, Joey, why was it so necessary for you to kick the living daylight out of Munsey? Munsey's been a regular of yours since Prohibition."

Joey ignited. "I told you the last time that I had to make sure Munsey paid off. He was carrying a big bundle and he likes the nags."

"But why all the extra mayhem, Joey? Munsey was almost kaput when you got through with him."

Joey moved forward irritably, his mouth expanding. Then his voice broke and Joey fell apart.

"I had to do it—even if I killed him! The double-cross gets me crazy. It had to be Munsey!"

"The torturing had nothing to do with Munsey. Munsey paid off. You knew that before you went down to Bank Street."

Joey's head rocked. His voice was a whisper: "Yeah, I gave it to Munsey as a blind." His voice cried a little. "Munsey paid off on a bet that was never made."

"Joey, you aren't worth a wooden nickel as a man. The only other guy that checks in slips besides yourself is Lederer—according to your slip Munsey. Lederer planned the return. He paid Big Joe to keep his trap shut—or maybe just told him. With a frame-up rigged and earmarked for you, you didn't have the guts to make a direct move."

"The white thing to have done was to open up to the cops or stand off with a gun in each hand and defend yourself and your empire against attack. But you were afraid, Joey. You got to thinking how much you had at stake and it drove you nuts with fear."

"I didn't want no trouble."

"I suppose there's no use in asking you a few questions?" Joey sagged to the edge of his bed, looking vacant, saying nothing. "I suppose you won't tell me more about Lederer and what he's after and what he had to do with Herz and a lot more stuff?"

"I don't squeal," Joey said.

"Is it an ethics, Joey—or just plain terror? Are you going to let Lederer pick up all the marbles?"

Jigger rang the alarm to get the tableau over with.

"Joey, Munsey's dead and you've confessed to killing him."

It settled very, very slowly over

BUILDING A HOME—Leslie H. "Bud" Moore, 24, of Newburgh, N. Y., a permanently disabled war veteran, looks over the plans as workers start construction on a home for him. Newburgh residents raised a fund of $20,000 for the home as a gift to the veteran, who is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of wounds suffered in Germany in February, 1945.

Joey. His face bridled a bit but he said without punch, "What're you handing me now?"

Jigger sang, "I came in here to trap you, Joey. They say wires under your bed leading to a telephone somewhere outside. A'hearn and one other witnesses heard you confess killing Munsey."

The blood pumped into Joey's face and ears in a flash. Joey looked engaged in elementary addition. The sum total was "Munsey ain't dead. He can't be."

"Don't bet on it, Joey. Munsey died from his injuries at St. Vincent's last night."

Joey studied Jigger's face for some sign that it was all a hoax. Then he dropped to his knees, wigwagging one hand feverishly under the bed. He found the wire and ripped it away from the wall.

"You see, Joey. It was no gag."

Joey cried double-cross and went for Jigger like a guy all tuckered out. Jigger grabbed Joey's wrists and slowly put on pressure until Joey's face was contorted in agony. Then he let go and bent Joey in half with a left to the heart and broke his mouth with a right that traveled about six inches.

Joey came to and remained on the floor indifferent to his condition. Jigger got down on one knee, close to Joey. "You'll never maneuver out of this spot, Joey. Never. There are no witnesses you can bump off cheap and it's the wrong time of the century for a fix. Joey, you've got the chair staring you in the face. There was a childishness in the way Joey squinted at Jigger. "You're not even going to die like a big shot taking his jumps. I'm going to spread the word around that you squealed—and all the time on your hands and knees trying to make a deal. I'll also see that Lederer gets a big earful."

Wordlessly Joey begged him not to.

Jigger set up a howl for the guard to let him out of there.

Chapter 23

Joey lay hidden in a corner with his feet higher than his head, watching his wrists die. His teeth were in his underlip to keep his mouth from twitching. A muscular faintness was running through him, making it hard to remain neutral to the drama of his wrists. The darkness grew denser and the pain from his dying wrists began to cut through his living tissue.

Joey bit swatches from his shirt, fuming with blind strenuous activity, hardening his will as he helplessly tried to imprison death in his wrists. He groaned involuntarily and crawled deeper into the corner to keep way from every sound of voice. Joey groped bitterly to the center of the cell and slumped to the floor, his chin leaning against his throat, making crowing sounds with his mouth. Jigger began to run out. His face became absent, stiff fixed.

Dr. Wang was uneasy and trying not to lose his temper. "Jigger, this is something I don't care to discuss on the telephone. I'll meet you somewhere."

Jigger thwarted him blithely. "No good, Yang. I'm in a rush and everything's rapidly coming to a head. What's the condition of the patient?"

Wang acquiesced. "He was a mess when he came in. He'd taken quite a cuffing from your emissary. What do you expect to do with him?"

"Get him to talk."

Wang said professionally. "That won't be easy. The man has a pronounced compulsion hysteria plus being a confirmed alcoholic. He probably couldn't tell you anything if he wanted to."

Jigger got away from the impasse by being dogmatic about it. "He's got to talk. He did for a brief instant the first time I laid eyes on him. If it's humanly possible, we've got to get him to talk—and in a hurry."

Wang was excessively professional. "Don't be so confoundedly layman, Jigger. The man requires nurture, a complete psychiatric diagnosis, and virtually everything else in the laboratory. Be sensible."

Jigger stubbed his toe kicking the wall of the phone booth. "Dammit, Wang. You're a psychiatrist. You've got a beat of a loon here. Why can't you put your hokum to work and do some good. I tell you the man's got to talk. There's an even chance he knows something I've got to know."

"I'm not a magician, Jigger. Psychoanalysis is a slow searching process. It would take at least months to uncover the underlying factors that have created the patient's condition."

"Does Leeds respond to treatment? Does he cooperate?"

"Yes."

"How yes?"

"He hasn't thrashed about since the first night. He's taken food every time it was served. Er—he doesn't seem to resent me or question his surroundings particularly—Why?"

Jigger yelled, "Hold on for a second!" He paused to organize his thoughts. A psychic might miraculously do the trick. The town was full of clairvoyants, seers, voodoists, working from salons and furnished rooms everywhere from Columbus Circle to Grant's Tomb. It might be a trick a shade beyond their real capacities to get the dead to talk, but Leeds wasn't dead. Leeds was alive and for exactly those reasons, duck soup for a psychic who knew his or her stuff.

WHAT GOES ON HERE?—Kay King, 4, takes a dim view of Dr. C. A. Baer's instruments on her first visit to a dentist. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Alan King, Houston, Tex.

Again Jigger yelled, "Hold on for a second!" Quickly he classified and rejected the mess of phonies working the psychic phenomena racket—the ones he had some line on. Jigger's mind ran the Westside Manhattan circuit and stopped triumphantly at Ninety-fourth and Amsterdam. Madame Winnie! Madame Winnie could do the trick if anyone could. Winnie had done sideshow fortune telling, working her way by into a smashbang blindfold act, and finally had become the top superstitious Midtown Manhattan at fees starting at a hundred dollars a visit.

Jigger wrote the script in his mind while Wang announced that he was hanging up, spacing his threats ten seconds apart. Winnie would manipulate a revisitation of the extinct Marie Leeds, who would proceed to gently chide and then upbraid the overwhelmed and penitent sire Leeds for his waywardness and larceny. At some point of the climax, with the dippy Leeds bawling and beating his breast, the re-visiting Mrs. would catechize him on the detailed character of his evil-doing, holding out absolution and her spiritual good graces as his reward for dates, names, places, and other material evidence he would flog his memory to recount. It was a narrow margin. Leeds was bughouse because Marie was no more. Leeds had flopped beside her nightly until Koneka slugged him and spirited him away. Leeds was provenly hyper-susceptible to the merest suggestion of Marie.

Jigger spoke into the mouthpiece and Wang said hello, yes with a start Jigger read the script to Wang adding some few embellishments and whatever he could scrape up in the way of additional logic as he went along.

Wang said, "You're crazier than Leeds, Jigger, but it gives me an idea of my own. We'll try scientific hypnotism. It's happened that people under hypnosis can be made to recall incidents and attitudes from their past which have been lost to conscious recollection. A lot of psychiatrists approve and use it today; just as many more condemn it as charlatanism. I cannot guarantee results, Jigger."

It was slow sinking in. "Have you ever had any success with it, Wang?"

"Some. I've cured a few alcoholics through hypnosis. I might succeed with Leeds if I can get him to trust me. Mind you—I said might."

Jigger asked when.

"I can't rush it, Jigger. Give me another day or so to see whether I can win the patient's complete trust and confidence."

Jigger grinned to himself. "I'll be around tomorrow to see what you act. To Be Continued"

WARSHIP VISITS CANADA — A Canadian farmer and his children pause to watch the U. S. cruiser Montpelier pass the Isle of Orleans on a cruise up the St. Lawrence River.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog markets steady, with tops of 22.50 at Rocky Mount and Clinton-Warsaw, and 23.00 at Richmond.

Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 16—(AP)—Grains weakened today with commission house selling sending corn futures to new seasonal lows on declines which ranged to around 2 cents at times. Oats were off with the yellow grain, despite buying from a northwestern elevator. Corn finished 1 1/2-1% lower, January $1.31 1/2-1%, and oats were off.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—(NCDA)—Poultry and egg markets steady to firm. Raleigh—U. S. grade A, large, 49; fryers and broilers 30 to 32. Washington—U. S. grade A large, 51; fryers, roasters and broilers 32 to 36.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 35 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower. Noon prices were $1.10 to $2.50 a bale lower. Oct. 35.65, Dec. 35.78, and March 35.63. Futures closed 5 cents to $1.35 a bale lower.

N Y Stock Market

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—A few stocks on modest recoveries today but market leaders generally continued to operate in the losing ranks. Dealings picked up at intervals although sluggishness was the rule from the start. While isolated "thin" issues dropped a 4 or 5 points on meager transactions, declines, on the whole, ranged from fractions to a point or so near the close. Extreme recessions were reduced here and there. Several pivots never appeared on the ticker tape. Transfers for the full proceedings were around 700,000 shares, among the lightest since early July.

National Service Life Insurance

As originally issued, the permanent policies provided in National Service Life Insurance were: ordinary life, on which the policyholder pays for as long as he lives at a level premium; 20-payment life, on which the premiums are paid for 20 years and after which more premiums are not required; and 30-payment life, on which premiums are paid for 30 years.

In addition to these types of policies the amendments provide for 20-year endowment policies, endowment at age of 60 and endowment at age of 65. On all of these endowment policies the premiums must be paid for the indicated length of time, at the expiration of which the face of the policy may be paid to the veteran. Those veterans who have converted their term insurance to one of the previously authorized plans are permitted under the amendments to change to one of the endowment plans if they wish.

All restrictions on the choice of beneficiaries which were imposed by the original act have been removed. Formerly the insured was permitted only to designate beneficiaries who were near relatives. He may now designate any person or persons, a corporation or his estate as beneficiary in his insurance policy.

The only method of settlement previously provided was monthly income or annuity payments which were provided for a guaranteed period of 120 months or as a refund life income, paid in equal monthly installments with the guarantee that the face of the policy will be repaid. These forms of payment are still available. In addition to them the amendments provide an option under which the insured may have his insurance paid in a single lump sum to beneficiaries, or he may elect for payments to be made in equal monthly installments ranging from 36 to 240 months.

VICEROY'S MORNING RIDE—Accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Felicity Astley, Lord Wavell, viceroy of India, sets out for an early morning horseback ride in New Delhi.

Funeral Of Pitt Soldier Sunday

The remains of T-5 Clarence Woolard, U. S. Army of Occupation in Germany, who was killed in a vehicle accident in Germany last July 16, arrived in Greenville today at 4:25 p. m. The body will remain at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woolard of Beaufort county, near Leggett's Cross Roads, until Sunday afternoon when the funeral will be held at 3:30 o'clock. Burial will be in the family cemetery, near the home. Full military honors will be accorded at the grave. Rev. Dennis Warren Davis, pastor of Tranter's Creek Christian Church, will have charge of the services at the home.

T-5 Woolard is survived by his parents; six brothers, Earl, Jesse, Moe, and Willie Taylor Woolard all of the home, Nathan Woolard of Newport News, Va.; Sam Woolard of near Leggett's Cross Roads, and Sgt. Jack Woolard, Jr., Camp Lee, Va., and two sisters, Betty Sue and Essie Marie Woolard of the home.

Mr. Woolard volunteered in the army March, 1940. He was sent to Fort Bragg and from there went to Texas, Utah, California, and later to the Pacific theater. He was stationed in Australia for about 16 months. Then he was sent to Manila. He came home from the Philippines in November, 1945 having served out his enlistment. He re-enlisted at Fort Bragg after he was discharged and was sent to Germany with the U. S. Army of Occupation, where he was killed in a vehicle accident. He was a member of Tranter's Creek Christian Church.

Adopts Legislative Program For League

At a meeting of the League of Municipalities Legislative Committee at Raleigh yesterday a legislative program designed to alleviate the financial strain on North Carolina cities and towns was adopted. Mayor Jack Boyd of Greenville, a member of the committee, attended the meeting.

Limited income of municipalities in the face of greatly expanded municipal services and higher operating costs were described by Chairman Wade as the motivating circumstances behind the municipalities' efforts to increase their revenues, largely through help from the State.

The committee unanimously adopted a proposal that the league take steps to employ independent research experts to make a study of the State's tax structure with a view of enabling municipalities to press their claims for a more equitable share of privilege taxes, Mayor Boyd said.

THANK YOU for waiting for delivery of your NEW CHEVROLET
We are doing our best to see that you get your new car as quickly as possible

We want to thank our customers and prospective customers for your friendly patience while awaiting your new Chevrolet.

We know it is a hardship to wait for needed transportation; but we believe you will understand that we, and Chevrolet, are as eager to deliver cars as you are to obtain them. Unfortunately, production so far this year is far under expectations. Chevrolet Motor Division sums up the situation thus:

"Even though our rate of production normally exceeds that of any other manufacturer, we have been able to build, up to July 1, only 12.4 per cent as many cars as we had built up to that date in 1941. Production is still far below normal, because of frequent shortages of essential materials and parts. Strike after strike at the plants of our suppliers has seriously impeded our progress toward full production, and the cumulative effect severely hampers every manufacturing and assembly plant. In June we were able to build only 29.2 per cent as many cars as we produced in the same month in 1941."

While production is restricted, so in proportion—are shipments of cars to us. As production increases, we are assured of getting our proportionate share of the total—and as quickly as cars are received, we will speed deliveries to our customers.

Remember—Our CAR SERVICE is your best CAR SAVER. Keep your present car "alive" until you get delivery of your new Chevrolet by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals.

GREENIES WIN 6-5 DECISION

Greenies Keep Early Lead To Topple New Bern Bears

Mill Narron, Greenie catcher and first baseman paced the Greenville attack with three hits in four times at bat as the Greenville nine racked up a 6-5 win over New Bern.

The Greenies took an early lead and were not topped throughout the game. The Bears threatened in the eighth and ninth innings, pushing one run across in the ninth before Tommy Lee replaced Alamo on the mound and retired the side.

Shortstop Ray Carlson collected two hits in three times at bat, and one of these was a home run.

Alamo held the Bears well under control for seven innings, but was showing the strain in the eighth when New Bern pulled in two runs. Going into the ninth, he gave up one run for one out, and with the score 6-5 Manager Payne sent Lee to close out the game without giving a hit.

Greenie plays a return match in New Bern tonight and then will play host to the Tarboro club currently leading the Greenies by half a game.

Big Season Seen For Footballers

Richmond, Va., Aug. 16—(AP)—Anticipating one of the greatest seasons since pre-war years, Southern conference football teams are beginning to bestir themselves after long months of inactivity and advance reports indicate competition this year will be fierce and the calibre of teams at a standard unparalleled in the past four seasons.

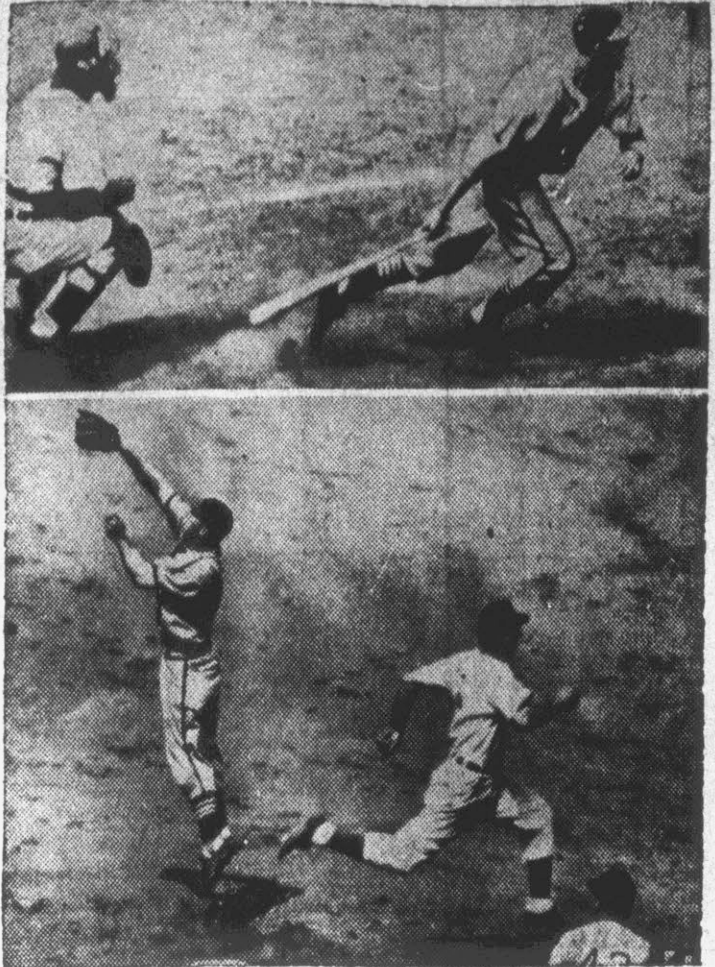

Already an advance guard of gridmen have begun practice on some Southern fields; today two other colleges—North Carolina and Furman—are scheduled to begin preliminary training exercises, and by Monday at least a half dozen other colleges will have begun the training grind.

Among teams starting practice Monday will be William & Mary Virginia Military Institute and the University of Richmond, with Washington and Lee and Virginia Tech scheduled to start the following Monday, Aug. 26. The University of Virginia, a non-conference member, also is slated to start on that date.

Coach Carl Snavely of North Carolina will start preparations this afternoon with a picked squad of 60 candidates and other candidates are expected to join later next week. Snavely is planning drills twice daily after the routine briefing of the squad today.

Sixty-four aspirants reported for drill yesterday as Coach D. C. (Pea-head) Walker took a look at what he will have to work with this year in building a new Wake Forest squad.

Musial Hits Again - And Fields, Too

Stan Musial (top) St. Lou's C. ds' former outfielder, slams out a two-base hit on his first trip to the plate in the game August 13, with the Chicago Cubs. This was his fifth hit against the Cubs in two days. Mickey Livingston is the catcher. Musial, the National League's leading hitter (bottom), shifted to first base, reaches for a high one from third base which Livingston beats out. Cubs coach is Roy Johnson (42). (AP Wirephoto)

League flag if they are able to sweep the four-game series that opens today with the New York Yankees. Although it may be another month before the Sox can make it a mathematical certainty, the ace has reached a point where a mild winning streak by the pace-setters, especially against their closest competitors, will make the Yankees and Detroit Tigers start thinking about next year.

If the Red Sox, now enjoying a 12-game lead, beat the Yankees in all four games and go on to play 500 ball in their remaining 37 contests, the Yankees will be faced with the difficult task of winning 37 of their remaining 39 games in order to steal the pennant.

Boston has 41 games left, eight with the Yankees with whom they have split even in 14 engagements. The Yankees have 43 games left.

The Yankees prepared for their Cub invasion yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Washington Senators at the Yankee Stadium 6-1 and 7-2. Homers in each game by Charlie Keller, his 21st and 22nd, helped rookie pitchers Bill Wight and Randy Gumpert gain their second and eighth victories, respectively.

Outfielder Sam Chapman ran riot in Philadelphia, hitting three home runs, to lead the Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the Red Sox.

Hal Newhouser, whose hopes of winning 30 games this year suffered a serious blow when he lost two games in succession following his 20th victory over the Chicago White Sox in Detroit to give the young Tiger lefthander a lightning chance

Durocher Modest In Predictions

Brooklyn, Aug. 16—(AP)—Leo Durocher, a character known to his Flatbush intimates as "The Lip," won't predict a National League pennant for his Brooklyn Dodgers but insists "there's nobody any better."

Leo's statement, under analysis could be construed as meaning he thinks the Brooks should win but isn't quite sure. Then again he might subscribe to the theory that the best team doesn't always win.

After sweeping four straight from the stumbling New York Giants in a series witnessed by 106,337 fans, Durocher isn't inclined to view with alarm the impending Dodger invasion of the western badlands. "After all it's only 11 games," he says. "I'll say this for the record, though, if we come back home still in first place, we're going to be awfully tough to catch. If we can break even in the west we'll be okay."

Forty Candidates To Vie For Squad Posts

James A. Johnson, Jr., of Raleigh, head coach at East Carolina Teachers College, is expecting forty candidates for berths on the Pirate squad to turn out for preliminary practices on September 1.

Otis Powell of Danville, Va., has been named playing coach for the early fall grooming. Interscholastic athletics are being revived at East Carolina Teachers College after being dormant since 1941 because of the war.
