

WITNESSES IN EWING TRIAL GO ON STAND

Say Defendant Seemed Drunk; Said 'I Liked To Got Her This Time'

Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The state is scheduled to continue summoning witnesses this morning in the trial of Wall C. Ewing, local businessman and politician, on charges of the first-degree murder of his wife, Mrs. Douglas Sutherland Ewing who died last March 13.

Mrs. Ray Bray, the seventh state witness who said that she had nursed Mrs. Ewing about six years ago, told of going to the emergency room of Highsmith Hospital here, and hearing Ewing say: "I liked to get her this time—I'm afraid I got her this time."

First witness called to the stand was Dr. J. W. Gainey who said that he was called to the Ewing home late in the afternoon of March 12. Dr. Gainey said that he found Mrs. Ewing unconscious and her body covered by "quite a good many bruises."

Dr. Kasper Kaufman and four nurses testified that Ewing talked hysterically at the hospital, that he disturbed other patients, and that he apparently was drunk. The nurses reported that Ewing slapped his wife "rough" while telling her: "Snap out of it, Douglas—you've been like this before. Snap out of it."

Defense cross-examination attempted to show that Ewing was trying to revive his wife, Mrs. T. C. Bynum, night supervisor of the hospital, testified that "slapping of the face is an old-fashioned method of making a person recover consciousness."

The defense sought to show that if Ewing caused the death of his wife that he was too drunk to know what he was doing. It further sought to show that Mrs. Ewing received her injuries by falling while she was under the influence of sedatives.

Dr. Gainey, in examination by the defense, denied that in visiting Mrs. Ewing on the afternoon of March 13 that he had made a diagnosis of Mrs. Ewing's suffering from an overdose of sedatives.

Dr. Kaufman, however, said the pupils of the eyes of Mrs. Ewing "were contracted," and said that was a symptom of excessive sedatives.

Ewing was quoted by Dr. Kaufman as saying that Mrs. Ewing received her injuries in a fall.

Two nurses—Mrs. Gladys Livingston and Mrs. Fred Kennedy—said Ewing told them the injuries were the result of an automobile accident. Mrs. Kennedy told of finding Ewing with his clothes removed and attempting to get in bed with his wife. He explained, Mrs. Kennedy testified, that he thought that he was at home.

Is War Inevitable?

Parisians Feel World War III Already Is In Sight; Politics Of East And West Are Irreconcilable; Future Depends On Russian Goals Says Analyst

Relman Morin, Associated Press chief of bureau in Paris and a reporter of vast experience, tells us that "the peace conference appears now to be headed for failure and French, both those who know and those who only feel, are more profoundly depressed today than at any time since the last gun fired in Europe."

"They feel World War III already in sight," continues Morin. "They feel it may not come this year or next year but there is little doubt any longer among people in Paris that it will come. There is no longer any doubt here about the totally irreconcilable policies of Russia and the bloc of Slavic nations which stand with her on the one hand and those of the west on the other."

Now of course Morin isn't predicting war. He is just doing a job of objective reporting about what Paris feels. He leaves it to us to fit this information in with our own observations. For if we are awake these parous days (and heaven help us if we are not) we will have been studying this crisis which presents the greatest problem with which the world is faced.

Prison Recaptured After Break

Two of the seven shown were caught before getting out of the ditch and the others were recaptured in the immediate vicinity. Two men are still at large.

BENDIX RACE WON BY MANTZ

Californian Flies 435.6 MPH Average With Mustang

Cleveland, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Street racing cross-country at a scorching speed averaging 435.6 miles an hour, Paul Mantz, Burbank, Calif., flier and virtually grew up with aviation today held the winner's share of the Bendix trophy race prize—with an assist from "movie stunting" that showed him a way out of a jam.

The 43-year-old pilot's speed was more than 150 miles an hour faster than the former record for the 2,045-mile dash from Van Nuys, Calif., to the national air races.

The previous record was set by Frank Fuller in 1939 when he averaged 282 miles an hour. Jimmy Doolittle, who lived to bedevil the axis with bombers, won the first Bendix in 1931 with an average speed of 223 miles an hour.

Mantz, flying a North American P-51 Mustang salvaged from military surpluses, fell just short of doubling Doolittle's speed, but his four hours, 42 minutes and ten seconds elapsed time from Van Nuys was only 33 minutes behind an army air force jet-propelled plane which flew the same course at 493.5 miles an hour.

Race pilots already were talking about flying jets next year, although they recognized the difficulty in getting engines which even now are scarce for the military services.

Jacqueline Cochran, war time leader of the WASP and the 1938 Bendix winner—only woman ever to take the $10,000 first prize—finished in second place with an average of 420.8 miles an hour.

Her position was not finally determined until after her informal pretest over being given third place disclosed an error of 41 minutes in calculating the time of William F. Eddy of La Jolla, Calif., who was first announced as the runner-up with an average of 424.9 miles an hour.

Miss Cochran, wife of financier Floyd Oglum, said she had watched (Continued on Page Four)

Nuernberg, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's top henchmen, led by hollow-eyed Hermann Goering, made their last pleas today before the international military tribunal which has heard almost incredible testimony of Nazi cruelty and terror for the past nine months.

While the 20 co-defendants sat in the prisoner's box, Goering opened the string of last-minute speeches by shouting his innocence over and over again in an impassioned 10-minute plea.

Gaunt, white-faced Rudolf Hess followed Goering. Unleashing a storm of abuse, Hitler's one-time deputy attacked the entire procedure.

The old courtroom, remodeled for the trials which started Nov. 20, 1945, was packed to the doors for the wind-up of the drawn-out case against the one-time Nazi leaders charged with high crimes against humanity. The court was expected to recess tonight to write its verdict, expected in about two weeks.

The once arrogant Goering kept his sharp, peering eyes averted from the four-power allied court as he read his last words of justification for his conduct.

In a high, strong voice the former Reichsmarshal made an appeal "for the German people" regardless of what fate lay in store for himself.

He sought to ameliorate any guilt for himself, however, by declaring that the prosecution had failed to show by documentary proof where and how he could have known everything that happened under Hitler, even though he admittedly was the number two Nazi.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, who followed Hess, defended his conduct as foreign minister with the declaration that Germany sought much the same things as the United States, Britain and Russia—"the only difference is that they think in terms of continents, we in terms of corridors."

"In 1939, I met Stalin in Moscow and he didn't seek a peaceful settlement," he said. "The conduct of the man in 1839 was not considered a crime against peace."

The gist of the other defendants' pleas:

Feld Marshal Wilhelm Keitel: "It is not my intention to minimize that which took place." He put the blame on Hitler as the head instigator of the orders. . . . when an order was given by the fuhrer, he said, "I acted according to my duty as I saw it."

Ernst Kaltenbrunner: Claimed he learned of concentration camp crimes "only to the smallest extent." He contended he was kept in the dark about the anti-Jewish program, but commented, "the anti-Semitism of Hitler as we know it was barbarism."

Alfred Rosenberg: "Adolf Hitler drew more and more unto himself people who were not my comrades but my enemies. Ours was a struggle for a noble idea."

Hans Frank: Bitterly accused Hitler as "the main defendant" and berated his cowardice for committing suicide "when his people needed him." Declared that Germany lost the war "because God has spoken His judgment over Hitler." (Continued on Page Three)

GREEKS AWAIT SUNDAY VOTE

Ban Political Meetings; Observers Ready To Watch Polls

Athens, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Political meetings were banned throughout Greece today on the eve of a plebiscite expected to return King George II to his throne after five years of exile.

Royalist leaders predicted victory by a large majority. Their communist opponents, on the other hand, have accused Britain and the U. S. of meddling in Greek affairs, and the Moscow press has charged that the plebiscite was fraudulently rigged.

British and American observers prepared to fan out across this country to watch the voting. U. S. Ambassador Leland Morris said the U. S. Mission to Greece would be supplemented by 25 American officers from Germany and Italy.

Russia rejected an invitation to send observer there for the referendum.

British troops, stationed in Greece will be confined to their barracks from 5:30 p. m. today until 6 a. m. Monday.

Police and members of the Greek gendarmerie will not be permitted to carry arms on election day and the sale of intoxicants has been prohibited during the referendum.

Observers said that charges against Greece by Russia and her satellites had given impetus to the Royalists' campaign.

Chinese Await Reply To Communist Note

Nanking, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek's answer to new Communist demands was awaited today as government troops in Jehol province, continuing their drive against Red strongholds, seized Lungwa, 40 miles north of captured Chengteh.

General Marshall, special American envoy, brought to the government's summer capital, at Kuling, a demand from Communist General Chou En-Lai that the Generalissimo guarantee issuance of a general cease-fire order and abandon his insistence on Communist evacuation of key areas.

Babson Discusses Next Ten Years

Babson Park, Mass., August 31.—The usual Business Forecasts are as follows: Two or three years of good business, carrying us to about 1950, after which there will be a severe slump. Under this theory we could have a good stock market for 12 more months; but the stock market usually turns downward before business turns. Such a forecast is on the assumption that the Democrats will squeak through in 1948. If, however, 1948 should give a Republican victory this should lengthen the period of prosperity, full employment and high wages.

Perhaps Forecasters Are Wrong

The above, however, does not recognize that the whole world is in the throes of a people's revolution. It assumes that the old market rules are still reliable: This may be, or may not be, true. Perhaps, Peace Conferences may upset business and stock market traditions as well as

PROTESTS U. S. FOLLOWING OF BRITISH LINE

Rep. Sabath Asserts Officials Help Britain To America's Detriment

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) protested to the State Department today that "anglophilic officials" there are supporting British foreign policy "to the detriment of our international relationships."

In a sharp letter to Undersecretary Dean Acheson, Sabath, dean of the House and chairman of its rules committee, declared:

"We are being committed more and more to a policy of aiding and abetting Great Britain in securing and sustaining her vast colonial empire, and even of helping her to establish new zones of influence."

By making the letter public, Sabath reopened a row of last week between Acheson and Bartley Crum, a member of the Anglo-American inquiry committee on Palestine.

Crum contended that "middle level" officers of the State Department had circumvented presidential policy in handling the Palestine immigration issue. Acheson hotly denied it.

"The accusations made by Mr. Crum are credible to me, and they are not new," Sabath's letter said.

He added there was no foundation for "fantastic charges" by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) and others that the State Department harbored many Communist sympathizers, but said:

"Unfortunately, it is a fact that there were a few who allowed themselves to be seduced by Nazi and fascist ideologies, and there have always been some who were completely subservient to British influence."

Sabath suggested to Acheson "that you should, without unnecessary delay, satisfy yourself as to what is actually transpiring within the office of the assistant secretary of state for European, Far Eastern, Near Eastern and African affairs."

As chairman of the House rules committee, Sabath is one of the key administrative leaders on Capitol Hill. Recalling that he voted for the $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain only at "the President's urgent request," and after making a speech against it, Sabath told Acheson:

"My fears have been increasingly confirmed by subsequent events that Great Britain had and has no intention of maintaining the spirit of the loan agreements."

Brazilians Riot In Price Protest

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Rioting which stemmed from Brazil's economic crisis killed one person and injured 100 as mobs moved through downtown streets smashing window last night.

Spontaneous attempts to renew the demonstrations today were foiled when merchants, after opening their shops briefly, slammed steel shutters across the store fronts. Police at the same time were busy dispersing crowds.

Plate glass from store fronts was scattered throughout the business section of the Brazilian capital. The mobs, protesting against high living costs, attacked movies, grocery stores, music shops and even funeral parlors.

Troops occupied strategic points at midnight, but later returned to barracks.

Police who fired several volleys and released tear gas to subdue the rioting, said the adult participants were releasing pent-up anger against consumer goods costs by smashing shopkeepers' windows.

Possibly the least known and appreciated jobs performed by Coast Guardsmen in war and peace are those required of men on ships assigned to the International Ice Patrol and weather patrol.

OPA CONTROLS GO OFF FOODS

Farm-Food Products Freed Today; Fix Livestock Prices

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—OPA controls will go off another batch of farm and food products late today while the livestock industry makes the shift from free prices to new ceilings effective at midnight.

Following close upon OPA's announcement of the higher-than-June 30 livestock prices the Department of Agriculture made ready to announce its first list of "agricultural commodities in short supply."

All products not on the list automatically go off price control at once, under terms of the new price control law.

As soon as the Agriculture Department list is put out OPA will start telling consumers farmers and processors which individual items are affected and which are not.

To avoid upsetting commodity markets, agriculture officials planned to withhold the announcement until the day's market operations are ended.

The only reliable indications to date are that certain canned goods will be decontrolled—OPA already has removed ceilings from soup—and that fats, oils and sugar will be the security list.

Dairy products also will be listed in short supply, but this does not mean that ceilings will go back on milk and butter. These products are under jurisdiction of the three-man price control board, which exempted them from ceilings on August 20.

The meat industry braced itself for the restoration of newly announced livestock ceilings at midnight, packers' ceilings next Thursday, and butcher shop ceilings Sept. 9.

OPA Administrator Paul Porter, who had hoped vainly that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson would permit him to roll prices back to June 30 levels, rigidly followed Anderson's higher recommendation in fixing the new ceilings last night.

Release All But One Of Fifteen Germans

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Col. C. F. Fritsche, deputy U. S. army intelligence chief in Europe, disclosed today that all but one of 15 Germans arrested on suspicion of Soviet-sponsored espionage in the American occupation zone of Germany have been released from jail.

Col. Fritsche said the only one still in custody was Walter Kazmarek, alleged leader of the Russian-sponsored clandestine organization known as "Free Germany."

Britain And Russia Clash Over Greek Referendum; Postpone Decision On Taking Up Inquiry Of Tomorrow's Election

Lake Success, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Soviet Ukraine's bitter charges against Greece and Great Britain were hanging fire today as the United Nations security council went into its Labor Day weekend holiday without having decided as to whether the case is worthy of a hearing.

The indicated opposition at yesterday's session posed the question whether the necessary seven votes could be mustered to have the case heard at all.

The next session was set for Tuesday after Great Britain and the Soviet Union clashed sharply last night over the entire question and the council itself refused immediately to seat Dmitri Manuilsky, Ukrainian foreign minister who flew here from the Paris peace conference to present his Russian-supported case.

Also denied a seat was Ambassador Vassili Dendramis, Greek representative, but the pre-voting arguments centered on Manuilsky.

Manuilsky was particularly emphatic in comments on the stand taken by Sir Alexander Cabogan, British delegate; Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens of the Netherlands, and Alexandre Parodi of France. He contended their opposition to hearing him yesterday was contradictory.

Presidential Yacht Rolls In Heavy Seas

With President Truman, En Route to Hampton Roads, Va., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Presidential Yacht Williamsburg bounced about today in the heaviest seas President Truman has encountered since he began his vacation cruise two weeks ago.

The accompanying navy ship, U. S. S. Weiss, rolled about 25 degrees, but the Williamsburg's broader beam kept her a little more steady.

The seas were whipped up by a series of rain squalls and stiff winds. A prediction of continued squalls throughout the day made it unlikely would be able to take his usual sun bath.

At 7 a. m. (EST) the Williamsburg was 320 miles out of Norfolk.

The Puzzling Veto

Veto Powers Of The Big Five Were Agreed Upon In Self Defense; However, Its Use Up To Present Has Hampered Discussions Of Vital Importance

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The debates in the Security Council of the United Nations drone through all the fog of diplomatic double-talk and then—bang! a veto.

This veto upsets a diplomatic appletart. So the diplomats go to work on something else. And then after a while, bang! a veto. Start again.

By this time, after months of reading about the council doings, people must be wondering: what and when and how is a veto? That question stumps some of the diplomats, too.

Italian Frontier Adjusted In France's Favor; Romania To Pay Russia $300 Millions With Oil Financed By Anglo-American Interests Over Eight Year Period

Paris, August 31.—(AP)—Four-power recommendations that Romania pay Soviet Russia 300 million dollars in reparations and that the Italian frontier be adjusted in France's favor in the Mont Cenis Plateau region were adopted by the peace conference commissions today.

The transfer to France of the upper Tine, Vesuble and Roya valleys, the largest French territorial demand from Italy, also was approved. The Vesuble and Roya alleys contain the towns of Tenda and Briga, with a combined population of about 4,000.

In her demand, agreed to by the Italian political and territorial commission, France said she wished to move the frontier to the crest of the Alps for military reasons and asserted that the valley dwellers were ethnically French.

The economic commission for the Balkans and Finland unanimously approved the Romanian reparations plan after a week of debate which had touched upon Romanian oil.

Article 22 of the Romanian treaty, as approved by the commission, would give Romania eight years from Sept. 12, 1944, in which to pay up. It is provided that payment will be made in commodities such as oil products, grain, timber, sea-going and river craft and sundry machinery.

A South African amendment to force Romania to pay her reparations by fair prices according to world standards was set aside for further study, along with a most favored nation clause in the Romanian treaty.

Russia opposed the amendment and Britain and the U. S. favored it. American sources said the significance of the amendment was that Romania was paying reparations with oil from fields which in pre-war days were largely financed by Anglo-American interests.

The Romanian case was the second Russian reparations demand approved by a commission this week. The Italian economic commission adopted the four-power draft article slightly revising the sonic Lodge and the Sheldermine French-Italian frontier which will give France the Gran Scala hydroelectric plant on the Mont Cenis plateau. France agrees, under an annex to the treaty, to furnish Italy the electric power she needs.

NEED OF WATCHFUL PREPARATION

Wise men live their lives as if they expected to die tomorrow. The wise businessman tries to keep his affairs in such order that his family will be amply provided for and his business have some chance of survival if he should die. Young men with vision early take out life insurance policies. There is a eulogy among some people that if they make a will, it will hasten their demise. This is sheer nonsense. A wise man not only makes a will early in life but revises it every few years in view of changing conditions. A wise man keeps his financial affairs in such order that they can be handed over to the executors of his estate entirely untroubled.

BABSON

If so, now is a time—during this "international scare" of 1946—to buy securities as it was smart to buy stocks during the depression scare of the 1930's; and again during the "estate collapse" of a few years ago. On the other hand, unless the Big Four get together to give the world a world government and eliminate militarism, we are headed for World War III.

The world now, within five or ten years and would surely result in wiping out the big cities of the world—New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles would be smashed in the first 24 hours of the war. Hence, I say we are headed either for great prosperity or else a terrible chaos.

What Shall U. S. Investors Do? For once the people of our small rural communities, especially in the South and Central West, away from large cities, are in an enviable position. They need now only invest in a diversified list of well-selected investments which—like certain chain store companies—have their assets distributed in several hundred inter-communities. Then if world peace comes, they should greatly profit thereby; while if chaos comes they will have saved their lives.

People of large cities should also have their funds in such securities as above outlined. These securities should be kept in atomic bomb-proof safe deposit vaults or else in a vault of some safe rural bank. Photostatic copies of wills and important contracts should surely be deposited with some safe country bank. If chaos comes, corporations having most of their assets in large cities will probably suffer; but securities indicated above should be fairly safe.

Buy a "Little Home in the West" Investors living in large cities, however, should buy something more than stocks and bonds. They should now build a small house, with land sufficient for a bit of a garden, in some small community in the central west or south where relatives or friends now live. I believe in life and fire insurance, but the most important insurance today for city dwellers is to learn a trade and to have a safe refuge to which they can run if world conditions get too bad.

War Inevitable?

It's Hard To Splice Hot Wires

onto them, then war certainly is inevitable. From the western viewpoint Russia thus far hasn't shown much of the spirit of Sir Walter Raleigh in spreading its cloak to save my lady peace from muddying her feet. Probably Moscow feels the same about the west.

However that may be, postwar history clearly records that the Soviet Union has been absolutely inflexible in its drive to enlarge and Sovietize its zone of influence. The program has been carried out by unilateral action—all talk and no give. In this way Moscow has extended its domination westward into Central Europe, and has overrun most of the Balkans. And it also is reaching in Asia.

This expansion now has arrived at a particularly explosive stage. Russia is aiming at control of the Bosphorus Straits—strategically one of the most important waterways in the world. It is of vital interest not only to Turkey, which now controls it, but to Britain, America and other western countries. Moscow also is trying to oust John Bull from guardianship of Greece—also remaining foothold which any western power has in the Balkans.

The danger doesn't lie in any one's desire for further conflict. It rests in rash gambling to achieve one's ambitious effects.

Right there the veto comes in. For if any one of the Big Five votes "no" on a matter of substance, the council and UN can do nothing. The Big Five thought this veto to protect themselves.

But is the line between a procedural matter and a substantive matter as clear and simple as outlined above? Not at all. New problems are arising all the time.

A terrific argument sprang up this week when the council faced the problem of admitting eight new nations to UN. Was this problem, in all details, a procedural or substantive matter?

So far in the council Russia has used the veto eight times. The United States diplomats say they haven't used it once. But even this isn't clear.

Some diplomats say we used a veto in keeping Albania and Outer Mongolia—two of the eight nations seeking UN membership—out of UN. We contended that in voting "no" against them there were not using a veto but there was a "no" vote.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
August 31, 1906
Because of a scarcity of houses, Greenville goes on losing opportunities to add many good citizens to her population.

The first bale of cotton of this season's crop was brought in today by a colored tenant on the farm of Mrs. Nana Brown and sold to Speight and Company. This is the same man who brought in the first new bale a year ago.
August will bid us adieu tonight and we hope the rain will go with it for a time.
Beautiful windows are being placed in Jarvis Memorial Church by the Methodist denomination and which is nearing completion. The church is a most handsome structure.

Goodbyes were said by Mrs. Ivan Bissette.

Hostess to Contract Club
Grifton.—Thursday night Mrs. Roy Jackson was hostess to members of her contract club and invited players for four tables of bridge at her home here.
Roses and dahlias were used in pretty arrangements throughout the home. During progressions high scores were made by Mrs. Josh Worthington and Mrs. Walter Patrick. They were given attractive gifts as was Mrs. Paul Clark as holder of high score among the guests. Other players were Mrs. Norwood Lockhart, Mrs. Julius Chauncy, Mrs. Wiley Gaskins, Mrs. Ben G. Tucker, Mrs. F. L. Cox, Mrs. Edna Smith, Mrs. Sam Nelson, Mrs. Carey Garris, Mrs. Edward Hart, Mrs. Paul Bradley, Mrs. Milton Hart, Mrs. Nannie McGilohon, Mrs. Harold Plake.
Mrs. Jackson served a delectable salad plate with sandwiches and iced tea.

Entertains Bridge Club
Grifton.—Mrs. J. L. Quinerly entertained her bridge club and invited guests on Thursday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Joel Patrick. Late summer flowers were used to decorate the home. Four tables were placed for the games. On arrival a delicious supper plate was

Library News

The summer, in retrospect, presents a rather miscellaneous collection of books added to the Shepard Memorial Library. They are new or ageless, they are good or better, they are masculine or feminine and for young and old. Check through them for your own evaluation and confirm this by checking them out for your pleasure or profit reading.
How many have you read?
"Land," by O'Flaherty; (It's Irish, you bet) "Great Lady" by McKay; "Dangerous Honeycomb," by Kjel-land; "Lustre in the Sky," by Walbeck; "The Lying Ladies," by Finnegan; "His Days Are As Years," by Mergendahl; "Yankee Storekeeper," by Gould; "The Four Graces," by Stevenson; "Pale Blonds of Sands Street," by White; "The Bridge of Years," by Sarton; "The World in His Arms," by Beach; "The American," by Fast; "The Great Promise," by Houston; "For One Sweet Grape," by O'Brien; "Adventures of Wesley Jackson," by Saroyan; "Road to Calvary," by Tolstol; "Time to Change Hats," by Bennett; "Our Own Kind," by McSorley; "Nicodemus," by Walcott; "The Upraising Heart," by Beresford-Hoe; "Captain Grant," by Seifer; "I Will Be Good," by Chapman; "My Country—In-Law," by Main; "Doctors of the Mind," by Ray; "Over to You," by Dahl; "Delta Wedding," by Welty; "Man Eaters of Kumaon," by Corbett; "The Case Against the Admirals," by Hule; "The Islanders," by Foster; "Mansions of Virginia," by Waterman; "A World to Win" by Sinclair; "Hawk's Flight," by Helen Hull; "General Walnwright's Story," by Jonathan Walnwright; "Mirror of Delusion," by Reinsler.
Next week's list will feature books on houses and house plans, building and beautification of them. Our day dreams may come true yet.
"Reading good books,
Giveth pleasure and profit."

BUGS WIN IN BIG COMEBACK

Greenies Go Down To 9-3 Count; Many Errors By Both Sides

Goldsboro made four runs in the first inning, on four hits, a walk and an error, to take an early lead over the Greenies. At game's end the score stood, Goldsboro 9, Greenville 3.

Of the total runs scored by the Bugs, only three were earned. Numerous errors by both sides put the tally at a higher level than would be otherwise expected.

Tommy Lee, pitching for Greenville, was touched for 14 hits while the Greenies accounted for but 7 hits off Turowicz.

Goldsboro's third baseman Johnny Larrien tied up the game in the second inning with a two-run homer, and was credited with batting in a total of four runs.

Ranweiler, with two hits in three times at bat, and Merle Blackwell pulling in a single and a double for four trips to the plate, led the Greenville batters.

Greenville plays in Kingston tonight, and the Eagles will play in Guy Smith Stadium Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

FARLEY HOLDS EARLY DRILLS

Practice Sessions For Coming Season

By DAVE CLARK
Approximately 60 boys answered Coach Bo Farley's opening call here last Wednesday as Greenville High School prepared to enter the football wars once again this fall.

Although the greater part of the boys are young and inexperienced under Coach Farley's guidance they should do all right for themselves this year. Many of the boys are hefty enough to hold their own against almost any high school opposition.

Only two practice sessions were held last week, but since Monday of this week Coach Farley has been holding stiff sessions twice a day with calisthenics and skull sessions in the morning and fundamentals such as blocking and tackling, in the afternoon.

Thursday a short scrimmage was held for the first time. Two backfields alternated in running through the plays Coach Farley is using.

As the schedule now stands Greenville's first game is with New Bern on September 27, but Coach Farley is trying to schedule a warm-up contest for September 20.

Five home games, possibly six if Coach Farley can schedule it, are on tap for the Phantoms. They are with Kinston, Tarboro, Elizabeth City, La Grange and New Bern.

UN Delays . . . (Continued From Page One) to the United Nations charter and to the council rules.

When it was voted out to him that the U. S. had pointed with the British and French against the motion inviting him to the table, he smiled and said "My rebuke goes for the United States too."

The sweeping demand of Andrei Gromyko, Russian delegate, for information within a fortnight on the disposition of allied troops and air and sea bases in non-enemy countries was left untouched yesterday on the provisional agenda of the security council. The call for details, taking in such cases as British troops in Greece and U. S. troops in China and Iceland, must be voted upon by the council before it can be placed on the regular calendar.

"I guess I'm going to quit racing," she laughingly told friends after climbing out of her green P-51 with a big number 13 on the sides.

Mantz, an old time navigator who flew with the late Amelia Earhart said he found enough holes in the clouds to spot familiar cities once in a while and keep on his course. He reported his main trouble right at the start when he had trouble retracting his landing gear.

He finally solved the problem by going to 20,000 feet and shaking the mechanism with a tight loop, but he estimated the difficulty cost him 20 minutes. Nonetheless, he said his time was within ten seconds of his estimate.

HOMING INSTINCT
Los Angeles, Aug. 31—(AP)—Cab service to the door is getting to be a habit, and tiresome, for Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hastings.

For the second time in a month, a taxicab left the sloping pavement bordering their home and landed upside down at their front door.

FORM MIDGET GRID SQUADS

Younger Boys Starts Monday

Midget football will be inaugurated this fall in Greenville. Some of the younger boys who will be eligible for this squad have been working out the past ten days with the high school squad. Formal practice will be started at Third Street Park Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. An eight-game schedule has already been lined up. Greenville will be in a league with Wilson, Kinston, New Bern and Goldsboro. The first game will be played here at Guy Smith Stadium September 3, with Wilson.

All boys in Greenville who are in the sixth and seventh grades who are interested in football should be at Third Street Park Monday afternoon in the morning and fundamentals such as blocking and tackling, in the afternoon.

These rules will be rigidly adhered to for the safety of the boys.

The Pitt County Post of the American Legion recently went on record to aid in the backing of the midget football squad. Bo Farley of the high school and his assistants will be available.
