Reparations By Italy Renounced

U. S. Will Make No Claims On Defeated Enemy; Spokesman Says Axis Powers Will Not Pour Help Into Italy Only To Have It Go As Reparations To Other Countries

Paris, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The United States renounced today any claim to reparations from Italy "in the interests of international stability," but its spokesman in the Italian Economic Commission said the United States did not propose to pour help into Italy only to have it go out as reparations to other countries.

The spokesman, Willard Thorp estimated that 20 billion dollars of the United States' total war cost of more than 335 billion dollars could be attributed to the Italian campaign.

Since the war the United States has sent more than one billion dollars worth of credits into Italy to help its civilian economy, he said, as well as paying the Italian government more than $100,000,000 for army occupation costs which it might have demanded that Italy pay.

Thorp said he realized some countries could not afford to be as generous as the U. S. in reparations, but he insisted that Italy not be a temporary transfer point through which American assistance to Italy would merely pass to other nations. "We bent every effort to provide supplies during the war to our allies," he said, "but we are not at all interested in paying reparations for our ex-enemies."

The U. S. also asked the peace conference to demilitarize Bulgaria's border facing Greece. This statement was read by Jefferson Caffery, American ambassador to Paris, in the Bulgarian political and territorial commission. The peace conference legal and drafting commission virtually eliminated Bulgaria's proposal for a "court of honor" to try a "war court of human rights" today by ruling 14 to 2 that the proposal properly belonged to the United Nations and not in the peace treaties. Only Australia and New Zealand voted to have the court clause, that would guarantee certain fundamental freedoms, inserted in the treaties. Russia, White Russia, Poland, the Ukraine and Greece abstained. The Australian delegation immediately served notice it intended to raise the issue again. ARABS REJECT JEWISH CLAIM

Hits Partitioning Of Holy Land For Sake Of "Immigrants"

London, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Paris Bey El Khoury, president of the Syrian chamber of deputies, declared today the Jewish problem was of world wide concern and that a solution could not be found in Palestine alone. Speaking for the Arab delegation to the London conference on the future of the Holy Land, Paris bey said no part of Palestine should be cut off to make a home or state for a body of immigrants belonging to different nationalities. His speech rejecting Zionist claim to Palestine was in reply to an address made when Clement R. Attlee opened the talks yesterday. "The Jewish problem, as such," Paris Bey declared, "is a world concern, and therefore requires world wide solution. Palestine has nothing to do with this problem, nor can any solution be found in Palestine." Agreeing with Attlee that it was not impossible to solve the problem, he added: "The national solution dictated by common sense is that the rights of the people of Palestine should be recognized to live securely in their own country and determine their fate in the same way as all other people; and that the application of the usual democratic principles (Continued on Page Two)

Truman Talks Merge Plans For Services

Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Army-Navy merger foes were cheered today by a hint that President Truman has shoved aside suggestions for beginning unification by executive order rather than waiting for congressional action. The ranking civilian and uniformed heads of the two departments—Secretaries of War Patterson and of Navy Forrestal, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz—were summoned to the White House for an hour's conference with Mr. Truman yesterday. Later, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross announced there had been "a broad discussion x x x with a view to working out the unification legislative program to be presented to the next Congress."

Passing Of A King

At One Time The Collapse Of A Throne Meant Democracy; End Of Bulgarian Dynasty Now Accepted As A Victory For Communist Dictatorship In Balkans

By GLENN BARR (For Dewitt MacKenzie) The end of a dynasty used to be an event of great dramatic appeal and political import. The toppling of the Coburg dynasty in Bulgaria in Sunday's debacle barely made front pages for a day or two. Of course the verdict in the voting conducted by the Communist-dominated government was a foregone conclusion; it followed the totalitarian pattern and held no surprises. But the passing of a royal house with such scant notice illustrates how far the world has changed its political values in the last generation. The collapse of a throne three or four decades ago—when the tide began to run against monarchy—was hailed by democrats and liberals around the world as a victory

COAL MINERS RESUME TALKS WITH OWNERS

John L. Lewis And Operators Meet To Discuss Private Contract

Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—John L. Lewis resumed negotiations with soft coal operators today without any immediate new demands as a basis for returning the mines from government to private operation. Lewis and his committee of 20 United Mine Workers leaders met for less than two hours with the negotiating committee of bituminous coal operators at the request of Adm. Ben Moreell, Federal Coal Mines Administrator. Admiral Moreell offered a basis for reaching a private contract, patterned after but not identical with the government's contract which brought an end to the paralyzing 66-day strike last May 29. Lewis told a news conference after the brief session that the miners were waiting for the operators to make an offer to replace the existing government agreement. The UMW leader, in good humor, told reporters this does not preclude possible new demands later. He said "this represents our position down to this time." "We still would like to know what (Continued on Page Four)

SEAMEN URGE BIG WALKOUT

Ask 24-Hour Work Stoppage If WSB Rejects Demands

By The Associated Press A 24-hour work stoppage by all American labor was urged today by the joint strike committee of the AFL seamen in the event the wage stabilization board should reject the union's wage demands. Telegrams urging such a stoppage were sent to Philip Murray, president of the CIO, and William Green, president of the AFL. The seamen, whose walkout has bottled up the nation's ports, also asked the two national union heads to withdraw their representatives from the WSB if it returned an unfavorable decision on the seamen's demands. Max Korenblatt, chairman of the joint strike committee, said in New York the group met until early this morning, discussing and drafting the telegrams, which he said were approved by John Hawk, vice president of the Seafarers International Union. The text of the telegrams asking for the work stoppage read: "Continued refusal by the wage stabilization board to approve the increases secured by the SIU-SUP in free collective bargaining can only be regarded as an attack upon labor's fundamental rights everywhere. We, therefore, urge that a 24-hour work stoppage be called by all American labor in the event the WSB does not reverse itself. The telegrams asking for withdrawal of labor representatives from the WSB said: "We urgently request that you withdraw the AFL (or CIO) representative from the wage stabilization board if that body refuses to approve wage increases secured by the SIU-SUP through free collective bargaining with employers. Further participation by labor members on such a board can only be interpreted as approval of a bureau which is depriving labor of its fundamental right as guaranteed by law."

Search For Site Of Plane Wreck

Greenville, S. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—A search party from Greenville Army Air Base left Waynesville, N. C., for a wild inaccessible spot at Rattlesnake Cove on Campbell Creek 14 miles west of the town where the wreckage of an army C-75 which disappeared Jan. 31, 1914, has been located, army officials said from Waynesville this morning. The army spokesman said the wreckage had been "pinned" in a few hundred yards from a remote logging road. Bodies of three men believed to have been in the plane have not been located but the search party was confident of finding them, the spokesman said. The plane disappeared while on a flight from Norris Field at Charlotte, N. C., to Nashville, Tenn. After several days of fruitless search the quest was abandoned until a hunter identified as Mr. Smithers, found a portion of the plane's wing. Preliminary search party from the air base here found other wreckage later. A 15-man party is now engaged in the search but arrived at Waynesville too late yesterday to be guided to the scene by Mr. Smithers, who had early this morning brought the other pieces of wreckage into Waynesville.

EWING'S CASE GOES TO JURY

Judge Parker Stresses "Circumstantial Evidence"

Fayetteville, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Judge R. Hunt Parker told the jury in Cumberland Superior court today that it could return one of four verdicts in the case of Wall C. Ewing, prominent local politician who is being tried on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife. The jury, the judge said in his charge, could return a verdict of first degree murder which carries the death penalty, or of second degree murder, or manslaughter, or of acquittal. After explaining what constitutes the various degrees of murder, the judge began an exhaustive review of all testimony presented since the long-drawn trial began on August 27. The state's case, the judge said, is based on circumstantial evidence, and in order to convict the defendant, the evidence "must point unerringly toward the defendant's guilt and exclude any rational hypothesis of innocence." Closing pleas were made to the jury yesterday. The defense stoutly maintained that the state had failed in its charges of murder, which the defense claimed, were based on "circumstantial evidence." The defense further told the jury that Ewing (Continued on Page Six)

Find False Weights In Selling Of Leaf

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Director C. D. Baucom of the State Division of Weights and Measures said today he had received a report that stones weighing from 6 to 15 pounds had been found in four baskets of tobacco sold on warehouse floors in North Carolina. He declined to say where the violations occurred and added that he could not say who put the stones in the baskets. Deductions were made by buyers, however. On conviction of such weight violations, he said, the guilty person is subject to a fine of $5,000, or imprisonment from 30 days to a year, or both.

Legal Action Taken In Evicting Red Raiders

London, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A process server in black coat and striped trousers climbed through a ground floor window of Duchess of Bedford house today and served an eviction notice on 1,000 squatters barricaded within the building, a luxury apartment block in London's fashionable West End. Stanley Henderson, secretary of the squatters' committee and a leader of the Communist-sponsored movement to commander crused dwellings, said he had been summoned to appear in court next Tuesday. "It is between us and the Ministry of Works," he added. "I don't fully understand it. I am now going to get legal advice." The squatters had posted sentries behind barred doors to resist eviction efforts of the labor government. Court action to evict squatters also was taken at Birmingham where Sam Blackwell, secretary of the Midlands District Communist party said "we will fight the squatters case to the last ditch." The seven-story Duchess of Bedford house, in a secluded section of genteel Kensington, was vacant when the squatters moved in as a "direct action" move in the British housing shortage. Similar siege conditions were developing at the 25 or more other vacant buildings which squatters seized in widely separated areas of greater London. The Duchess of Bedford house privately owned but leased by the government, was the headquarters. A scattering of spectators stood across the street from the buildings from which only a single child emerged to walk a dog. A gaunt man in tweeds, commented: "It's revolution, nothing else. Seizing property, defying law and order—I never thought I should see it in England." When two government employees reached the house seeking to remove furniture, they were refused admission by a sentry who shouted "no body gets in or out." One government man said he was threatened with an iron bar. Two husky women were posted as sentries in Fountain Court, an eight-story apartment building on Buckingham Palace road where 63 families swarmed in last night in a Commando-like swoop over an iron fence. Bill Carrist, a Communist official told reporters: "The responsibility for turning homeless families into the streets will be that of the government. The squatters will not raise one finger to help them."

CIO Seamen Threaten To Join AFL Union In Strike

AFL TEAMSTER UNION DENIES N. Y. BLOCKADE

Did Not Approve Stopping Trucks Of Other Unions; Blames "Revolt"

New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—AFL teamster headquarters—in response to an appeal from Mayor William O'Dwyer for a speedy end to the 11-day old walkout of New York and New Jersey truck drivers—denied today the striking unionists had authorized the stopping of trucks of other local unions. The announcement was contained in a wire to the mayor over the name of Daniel J. Tobin, international president of the AFL teamsters, from Indianapolis. Union spokesmen said however, Tobin was not in Indianapolis. They refused to say where he was. "Officials of local 807 have not authorized the stopping of any trucks of other local unions," the telegram said, replying to the mayor's charge that local 807 members were intimidating truck drivers in other locals, anxious to negotiate a settlement of the dispute. This development came as Mayor O'Dwyer went into a conference with Michael J. Cashal, ranking boss here of the international brotherhood of teamsters. Cashal stamped the walkout of 25,000 fellow unionists as the worst rank and file revolt in the teamsters' history. "It's a rotten mess," he declared. "I can't know what to do. I don't know what plan would work or who the would listen to." O'Dwyer last night condemned the strike in equally harsh terms. Declaring that striking local 807 was completely out of the hands of its officers, O'Dwyer said in a telegram last night: "Unless you or an authorized representative of the international brotherhood assume responsibility, and take control of this union and negotiate terms for the settlement of the strike, it is very possible that bloodshed and injury will result. Failure of the international to act will lay all future consequences at your doorstep." (Continued on Page Five)

Will Testify

Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Rep. Andrew J. May's attorney informed the Senate War Investigating committee today that barring "complications or delays" his client will be able to testify in a war contracts inquiry here by September 25. May, Kentucky Democrat who heads the House Military Committee, was scheduled to testify July 25 but failed to appear because of what his physician described as a bad heart condition. He later went to his home at Prestonsburg, Ky., where he has been recuperating.

RAIDS REVEAL HIDDEN HOARD

Gems And Precious Metals Were Secreted By Nazi Agency

Frankfurt, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Surprise raids throughout the American and British occupation zones of Germany have uncovered millions of dollars worth of precious stones and metals hidden by the Nazis shortly before Germany surrendered, United States army headquarters announced today. The diamonds, gold, silver and platinum found in the raids were dispersed in hiding places by the Nazi government agency "Reichs-Stein Furer Edelmetalle" (Reich agency for precious metals) in an attempt to keep them from falling into allied hands. A spokesman for the United States army intelligence division said it was "conjectural but conceivable" that the hoard might have been designed to finance a resurgence of German Nationalist movements. About $2,500,000 worth of precious stones and metals were found in less than a fourth of the total number of places raided, the spokesman said. A total of 367 different places were raided in the two zones, and the $2,500,000 dollars yield came from the first 79 places to be raided, he said. The army spokesman said the clue to the hiding places came from the typically German detailed records. (Continued on Page Six)

INDIAN FEARS RUINOUS WAR

Moslem Head Wants Meetings With British Leaders

Bombay, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Moslem League head, believes that India stands on the verge of ruinous civil war if war is fought with knives, stones and torches, the only weapons available to the Indian masses. "The only way to avert the coming strife," he declared in an interview last night, "is by prompt, sincere and skillful diplomacy. The recent bloody communal disturbances at Calcutta and Bombay in which hundreds were killed, said Jinnah, whose league has refused to participate in the interim government charged with bringing independence to India, were "undoubtedly symptoms of the nearness of civil war all over India and of the pattern that such a civil war might follow." "This," he continued, "is the sort of situation which breeds world wars." Jinnah repeated his willingness to enter into negotiations for a "fresh start" on settlement of the Indian problem and complained of the way previous negotiations had been handled. "We dealt with underlings in the negotiations with the cabinet mission and the Viceroy," he said, "and these have led India to the present dangerous position. Now, therefore our remedy must lie with those at the top of the British Government. The underlings have brought us to the point where we face two choices and only two. One is the choice of civil war which would ruin Hindus, Moslems and the nation alike and from which I hope we can be spared, although we are nearer to it than most persons seem able to realize and willing to admit. The other choice is a peaceful settlement through negotiation among leaders of this country and highest authorities in Britain. This would have to be a conference in which the good of the people instead of face-saving of individuals would be the paramount consideration. It would need to be carried out in calm surroundings with sincere determination, honesty and skill."

CHINESE REDS REFUSE OFFER

Kai-shek Truce Rejected; Unmarked Planes Reported

Nanking, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The Communists today rejected Chiang Kai-shek's latest truce proposal as unsatisfactory, dooming any immediate hopes of a political settlement of China's mounting civil strife. General Marshall, U. S. special envoy, communicated the Generalissimo's undisclosed terms for a nationwide armistice in a two and a half hour conference with Gen. Chou En-Lai, No. 2 Chinese Communist. Then Communist spokesman Wang Ping-nan reported: "We continue to demand unconditional cease fire. We will not accept any other conditions. The situation remains serious." The Communist reaction appeared to doom to the discard the Stuart committee of five, which never has met. U. S. Ambassador Stuart, its chairman, had hoped it would lay the groundwork for creation of an all-party state council. Communists refused to sit on this (Continued on Page Four)

Rails For Yugoslavia

Longshoremen And Congressmen Have Protested UNRRA Aid For Yugoslavia Since The Shooting Down Of U. S. Airmen; Here Is UNRRA's Explanation

By JAMES MARLOW Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—They had been set aside for CIO protests have been made—by longshoremen and congressmen—against sending steel rails as UNRRA relief to Yugoslavia. The reason: Five American airmen in an American plane were shot down over Yugoslavia in mid-August, ten days after another airplane had been forced to crash land. The longshoremen want proper action against Yugoslavia before it gets relief. But UNRRA—the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration—has approved shipping the rails to Marshal Tito's government. So has the State Department which is demanding satisfaction for the shooting from the Yugoslavs. Here is UNRRA's explanation: The rails are worth about $357,000. Will Call Walkout Unless WSB Reverses Decision For AFL Workers And Extends Same Benefits To CIO Men; Wage Stabilizers Meet For Decision Of A Lifetime

By MAX HALL Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The Cio Maritime union threatened today to join AFL seamen on strike unless the Wage Stabilization Board reverses its denial of higher pay for the AFL workers and also extends the same benefits to the CIO men. President Joseph Curran of the CIO Maritime group voiced the threat as WSB met to make its decision on a reversal and the CIO-dominated committee for maritime union held at strategy session. Along with these moves, there were these other capital developments in the maritime crisis: 1. Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters there was "no news" and no White House action on the strike. 2. The AFL formally demanded that the WSB reverse its August 2 decision that a wage increase for AFL seamen would have to be held to the $17.50 monthly granted CIO workers earlier. The AFL is holding out for WSB approval of the ship operators' offer of $22.50 extra for west coast seamen and $37.50 for east coast. 3. AFL President William Green reportedly was polling the 15 members of the AFL executive council whether to withdraw its members from the WSB. The union has one of the labor members on the board. 4. A demand for withdrawal of both CIO and AFL members was made by the AFL seamen's strike committee in telegrams to Green and CIO President Philip Murray. The committee also urged a nationwide 24-hour work stoppage if the WSB refuses to do an about-face. WSB Chairman Willard Wirtz told reporters during a noon recess that there would be no statement from the agency or any member until late in the day at the earliest. An industry member said the board had "hopes" of announcing its decision at 5 p. m. (EST) press conference but that this was not certain. The AFL's formal demand for reversal of WSB's ruling was laid by (Continued on Page Four)

Yugoslavia Asks Action On Ship

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Yugoslavia called on the United Nations Economic and Social Council today to take immediate action to restore to her 167 Yugoslav vessels which she reported held in the U. S. zone of occupation on the upper Danube. The Yugoslav delegate, Stan Kravovic, made his demand as the council opened its third session—take up a crowded agenda which included such issues as future coal for refugees. He spoke after U. S. Representative Ernest Penrose proposed that the Yugoslav item on the agenda be broadened to permit full discussion of other questions regarding the Danube. Apparently interpreting the U. S. proposal as a move to postpone discussion of the Yugoslav appeal, Kravovic said he was opposed to it. Chairman Andrija Stampar of Yugoslavia explained that the United States did not seek to postpone discussion but only wanted to broaden it. Soviet Delegate Alexander Petrov said "it seems that the United States intends to raise the question of navigation on the Danube" and that "this would drop the Yugoslav question."

Accused Slayer Caught By Posse

Keyser, W. Va., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Mark McCauley, 30, who had eluded bloodhounds and a 200-man posse more than 24 hours after the killing of two West Virginia police officers, was arrested last night as he walked towards the house where the slayings took place. Two members of the posse—Owen D. Hughes, a game warden, and Andrew Landis of Keyser—were searching for the Davis, W. Va., coal miner in the hill country near Emoryville when they saw the figure of a man approaching along the moonlit road. They waited until he was within 30 yards before turning the spotlight of their car on him. He made a break, but after a short chase, surrendered. He was within 150 yards of the house when apprehended, police said. McCauley was taken to the Harrison County jail at Clarksburg. Mineral Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin said he would be held on a murder charge for action of the October Grand Jury. State Trooper R. R. Kerrickoff and Rankin said McCauley stated orally after his arrest that he had committed the killings.

ed by a picnic dinner spread under the shade of the old trees at 12:30 o'clock. Then after an hour of fellowship together, we will assemble in the church for an hour of community singing, impromptu speeches from members of the congregation and recognition of other churches. Now, if you plan to attend this home coming day at Red Oak, be prepared to stand on your feet and say a few words, for the chances are, you will be called on in the afternoon session.

Now, this is meant for you. If you are interested in what the Red Oak folks do and interested in our neighborhood, you are extended an invitation to come and enjoy this day with us. Come and bring your returned service boys with you and let's make this a day long to be remembered in the annals of Red Oak Church.

The ladies of the church are requested to bring sweetened tea along with a well filled picnic basket.

Eight members of Circle No. 1 of Red Oak met last evening at the home of Mrs. H. R. Allen. Mrs. Ola Kittrell was elected chairman of the group, Mrs. H. R. Allen secretary and treasurer and Mrs. B. L. Tyson, reporter. The project selected by this group is the improvement of the church grounds and the building of a house to shelter our electric pump. Mrs. H. R. Allen will see that the lawn is mowed this week, and we are going to strive to complete the pump house before our next meeting.

It was decided to have the Sunday school purchase four small electric heaters for some Sunday school rooms. We are looking forward to a good year's work from the two circles.

Circle No. 2 will meet with Mrs. Amos Evans next Friday night, September 13th, at eight o'clock. All young ladies and matrons under the age of thirty-five are expected and urged to attend. Come on girls, we know you are younger than we are, but circle No. 1 doesn't intend to let you get too far ahead of us. Be at Mrs. Evans' next Friday night.

So many of our folks have taken nice trips this summer. Some have been reported, others have not.

Mr. Alton Kittrell has returned from a visit in Virginia, Nags Head and Roanoke Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Simmons have returned from a week's visit at Mrs. Simmons' sister, Mrs. L. A. Stokes, in Oak Ridge, Tenn. While gone, they went to Chattanooga, Look Out Mountain and Rock City, Ga., in Georgia. Mrs. Simmons is one of our most active church members, and we are glad that she and her husband could have this wonderful vacation.

Our revival services begin next Sunday morning at our home coming day services. Dr. Haney of Greenville will do the preaching. His first sermon will be Sunday evening at 7:45 and the services will last through Friday night of the following week. An invitation is extended to our friends of all denominations to attend. Let's make this the best revival we've ever had.

That was such a lovely service at the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville recently when 26 people were baptized. They were new members of the Mt. Pleasant Christian Church.

Congratulations to the members of the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville. Your church looks so beautiful with its new coat of paint and lovely lawn. We are looking forward to the state convention which will be held there in the near future.

The youthful Worker's Club will meet Thursday night of this week, September 13th, at 8 o'clock in the club center. All young people of the Red Oak and Piney Grove communities are invited.

Grifton School Problem Solved

By CHESTER WALSH

The State Board of Education at a regular meeting in Raleigh on September 5, adopted the following resolution relating to the attendance of certain Lenoir county children at the Grifton school in Pitt county and copies of the resolution were sent to school authorities in both counties:

"That the Board of Education of Pitt County be notified that appropriate action be taken at once to stop unauthorized attendance of pupils by means of private transportation from the Contentnea School District (in Lenoir County) to the Grifton School in Pitt County."

Transporting of Lenoir County pupils to the Grifton School was not authorized by the Pitt County Board of Education, it was stated today. It appears that Lenoir county children have been transported to the Grifton School by private conveyances.

A similar controversy in 1934 was settled by an order of the State Board of Education, and it was understood that the matter was closed. The Pitt County Board of Education is opposed to having children from other counties attend the Pitt County schools, it was stated.

Air Schedules Will Continue

By CHESTER WALSH

E. Johnston Dees, local manager for South East Airlines, Inc., informed the Reflector today that a story appearing in state papers today stating that the airline would discontinue its plane schedules in all eastern Carolina cities, except Rocky Mount, was incorrect.

Manager Dees said W. V. Tenge, president of South East Airlines, authorized him to say that the present schedules are being continued. Two flights are being made daily from the County-City airfield. One plane arrives here from Charlotte at 4:35 p. m. and goes to New Bern. The planes returns here at 5:40 p. m. for Rocky Mount, Raleigh-Durham, Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

One of the company's airliners is out of commission at this time. A flat tire on the plane caused an accident in a takeoff at New Bern, some days ago and damaged the ship. It is being repaired.

THE MATERNAL INSTINCT

By Dorothy Staley

Chapter 14

Lillie called Pud from the bar and when he came in, he stared at the girl for a moment, and then raised his eyes to Lillie's. "Why, that's—Lillie shook her head. "This young man," she said quickly, "got in a lit argument today and he got the best of it because he didn't know as to do. So I said you would win him."

"Sure," Pud said, dropping down on one knee beside the small figure. "I'll gently over his arms and shoulders and legs as August Bradford might have felt a horse he was making of buying."

"Nice," he said, standing up and smiling and frowning. "Now, look, my, you put up your hands like this, see?"

Lillie restrained a smile as the small figure squared off in exact imitation of the big one.

"Now, you put your feet this way," Lillie said, pointing to Pud's feet. "Not this way, nor this way," Lillie said, pointing to Pud's feet. "I don't want you to slip, but this way you can brave yourself." Pud looked back to show him. "This way I can cock your knees and get on your toes, so, so, so you hop and see?"

The lesson went on rapidly and at the end of it, Pud said, "Gosh, Lillie's a natural. Wish I could have a girl to train."

Rodney looked up at Lillie, "That's natural?"

"Come on," Lillie said, "I'll tell you in the car."

When she let him out at the corner of the Bradford Street, she said, "I hope you won't be in trouble for long so late."

He wrinkled his nose in an impudent grin. "Nobody will miss me today. It's grandmother's bridge day and Miss Turner's day out and no one home but cook."

Lillie bit her lip and thought of the next day she went to August Bradford.

This time when Lillie gave her the office girl said "Oh, yes, Mrs. O'Dell," and tried not to stare. Inside August Bradford's office, Lillie came right to the point of what was on her mind.

"Yesterday," she said, "I met Rodney on the street, and I had no difficulty in getting him to go home with me. Now there's just this much out of it, Mr. Bradford. If he would talk off with me when I asked him, he would probably go off with any one."

She saw the incredulous look in August Bradford's eyes and she rushed on before he would have a chance to interrupt her. "Now I've just this to say about it. Somebody, or maybe more than one somebody, in your household isn't giving at child the proper time and attention, and I just want you to know that if anything happens to him, I'll hold the whole Bradford family responsible. I want him raised the way my sister would have done it, and want him trained right."

August Bradford answered quietly, "Thank you, Mrs. O'Dell. I shall do my best to see that your wishes are carried out."

Lillie said no more, but turned to leave the office. At the door August Bradford's voice stopped her, and she turned around. "I doubt, Mrs. O'Dell, if Rodney would have gone off with just any one, so don't worry about it." Lillie frowned, and he said hastily, "I don't mean that he will not be more carefully supervised—and mothered—at home. I mean that we all have certain innate feelings which assert themselves at odd moments. There was such a strong attachment between you and Rodney's mother that I think Rodney probably sensed the relationship between you and himself."

"See here," Lillie answered. "I have no intentions of Rodney's knowing us or anything about us. I'm perfectly satisfied that you people should have him and raise him, and my family won't interfere in any way, provided you people do a good job. If you don't—"

"I understand," Mr. Bradford interrupted, "and I appreciate your attitude." Lillie left the office swiftly, noting as she closed the door of August Bradford's office behind her that the girls working in the railed-in enclosure stopped talking and began to peck frantically at their typewriters.

Two weeks after Lillie's visit, Lindbergh flew the Atlantic and Pud hung the "Lone Eagle's" picture over the bar where his father had hung that of Teddy Roosevelt. Two weeks after that Pud was dead.

He died quietly and as unobtrusively as he had lived. He woke one morning and awakened Lillie, asking for something for indigestion. Lillie got him baking soda and sat beside him, holding the glass while he drank it. He turned his head and said, "Thanks, hon," and slumped against her shoulder and died.

After the funeral, Sweet William asked her what she wanted to do. Lillie had looked up at him with the perpetually dazed expression she had those days. "Do?" she asked. "What is there to do? Pud loved this place as he loved me. I'll just keep on with the Washington House for Pud. He would like that."

Bill rubbed his chin. "I don't know, Lillie. It's not exactly a business for a woman."

"No?" Lillie said. "Then I'll make it one."

But Lillie needed more than the easy management of the Washington House to keep her occupied. So she had added food, and then a man with an accordion to walk among the tables. The Washington House was growing, and on the first anniversary of Pud's death, Lillie, in a moment of sentimentality renamed it "Pud's Place."

Lillie was wasting no time in amenities. "I hear a great many things," Lillie said. "You need money. How much?"

He shrugged his shoulders slightly. "A quarter million at least."

"I was afraid of that," Lillie answered. "I have thirty thousand toward it. Who are the men who should loan you the rest?"

"Prentiss Gail."

Lillie raised her eyebrows. "Senator Gail?"

"He nodded. "Dan Somerset. Philip Hanson. Bill Bellows."

"Lillie was silent for a moment. "Make me a list," she said.

August Bradford drew a pad and pencil toward him. He tried to smile as he handed her the names. "I've made a lot of mistakes in my time," he said, "but I've never underestimated two things. The power of the press, nor of a woman."

"Don't ever underestimate the power of this one," Lillie answered. "Beside we have one thing in common."

Not until long afterwards, long after the Bradford mills had touched the bottom of the depression and come up, long after her money had and that which she had "persuaded" some others to loan August Bradford had been repaid, did Lillie ever think how strange it was that August Bradford had not asked her the why or wherefore of her coming to his aid, but had simply let her walk into his office and take command. She wasn't spending too much time, though, trying to solve riddles. "We both knew," she concluded. "It was for Rodney."

Lillie repeated her visit to August Bradford early in 1937. The mills were moving, the bank had come through the Bank Holiday, but August Bradford still owed more than a hundred thousand on his personal notes. Going into his office this time, Lillie decided that she and August Bradford were much alike. They wasted no time with preliminaries or niceties. They got down to business.

As soon as the door was safely closed behind the secretary who had brought her in, Lillie said, "Rodney's ready for college this year?" August Bradford nodded, and Lillie laid a roll of bills on his desk. "I'm seeing him through."

"All August Bradford said was "Thank you, Mrs. O'Dell." They shook hands silently and as Lillie said to herself later, "That was that." Rodney went off to Harvard.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

BEYOND RICHES

Bramwell Booth, son of the founder of the Salvation Army, tells the story of an interesting conversation he had one day with Cecil Rhodes, the man who acquired wealth and fame for himself and glory for England by developing the natural resources of Africa.

Booth and Rhodes were traveling by train. Noticing that Rhodes was downcast, young Booth asked him: "Are you a happy man, Mr. Booth?" "Happy?" said Rhodes, "I happy? Good God, no. Then he continued: "I would give everything I possess if I had the religious faith your father has or could believe what he believes." Rhodes died a few years later one of the richest men in the world, his praise on everybody's lips because of what he had done as an empire builder.

Wealth and prominence do not count for much if one does not have peace of heart. Many a man envied by the world as did the mighty empire builder. He has had everything the general run of men prize but not the thing which every man at the center of his being wants most, namely, to be at peace with himself and with the universe in which he lives.

Only devotion to religion brings that. Millions and millions of men do not repay the man who lacks this peace.

A CONTAGIOUS DISEASE

The farcical attempt of the Government to enforce a stable economy through Boards, Laws and Rulings has shown its futility in the developments of these last few months.

It would appear that the Government has assumed a task without the ability to carry it through. No amount of law-making, appointing of Boards or arbitrators can enforce an economic stability unless people acknowledge the authority of the decisions made and accept the responsibility for seeing to it that the laws are obeyed. Such is not the case. Unions are now actively striking against the Government, and with the return of OPA controls over meat, producers refuse to market their stock, and the consumers are expecting Black Markets to fill the gaps.

Greed plays a large part in the dissatisfaction we see around us. Labor and Industry show beautiful charts and graphs... one side "proving" that wages have decreased since the end of the war and how prices have gone up; their opposite numbers clearly "prove" that wage scales are higher than ever, virtually matching the rise of the cost-of-living index. Both "graph-makers" claim similar sources for their statistics... it must be clear that there's misrepresentation on one or both sides.

Inflationary prices bound the poor white-collar worker; and the Vets, through their GI-loans are given the expensive luxury of building a $5,000 home for only eight or nine thousand dollars (if they're lucky). And still, more unions ask for higher wages! Industries say that if higher wages are granted, the cost of production rises and they must ask for higher prices. With higher prices, Labor finds their gains have been erased and demand more pay... the disease is infectious, it affects everyone, and the dizzy see-sawing goes on and on until the greed of the short-sighted ones lead them to a maze of self-destruction.

WASHINGTON LETTER

A BRIGHTER CAPITOL

By JANE EADS

Washington—A crew of painters, plumbers and engineers will soon be swarming all over the inside of the Capitol building on the first big job of touching up the place since the start of the war.

A total of $30,000 will be spent. Cloak rooms, gallery walls and both press galleries will get a fresh coat of paint. The main corridor on the Senate side, the basement floor corridor on the House side and various rooms occupied by Senators and Representatives will also be painted.

All-11 elevators will be overhauled and new cables put in. New bronze revolving doors will be installed on the Senate and House sides and new plumbing will be put in. Proposed remodeling work in the chambers themselves has been postponed until the summer of 1947.

David Lynn, architect of the Capitol, told me a critical scarcity of the essential building materials and labor conditions are the cause of the deferment. He says there is little likelihood that contractors could live up to fixed delivery schedules necessary to complete the job within a restricted period. Congress reconvenes in January. In the meantime, in the face of increased costs, Congress will be asked to increase substantially appropriations for carrying out the work, which were limited in previous acts at $1,446,000. Alterations and improvements of the Capitol include the reconstruction of roofs over both chambers. In 1940 a network of temporary steel trusses was put up to support the ceilings, which were considered hazardous. Plans call for some pretty fancy decorating in both chambers, new acoustical equipment, air conditioning and modern lighting.

On the Senate side, colored marble will be used for columns flanking the vice president's rostrum and for the base and sub-base around the chamber. Decorative panels in the four corners of the room and the door trim will be of a lighter marble. The cornice will be of marble and the clock of bronze. The vice president's desk and desks of clerks and reporters on the floor will be faced with marble.

In the House chamber the flag will be placed behind the speaker's chair, as at present. But it will be framed in a columned motif and flanked by sculpture symbolizing the nation's law-making body. Also the oil paintings of Washington and Lafayette are to be placed on the same wall, centered between the doors and suitably framed. New comfortable, upholstered and noiseless seats will be installed on both the floors and galleries of both sides.

Mr. Lynn says of all this: "The scheme of decoration has been studied to harmonize with the architecture of those portions of the Capitol building of the period

UNRRA Explains...

Italy, Austria, China, Finland, Hungary, the Philippines—received help from the others. Those others, including the United States, contribute funds to UNRRA to buy supplies for the needy nations. The U. S. puts up about 72 per cent of the total. It has contributed $2,700,000,000. There is—in each country receiving aid—an UNRRA mission headed by a man who is not a citizen of the country where the mission is stationed.

When one of these nations asks UNRRA for help, the mission in that country checks on its requests to see that they are legitimate. The requests then go to UNRRA's bureau of supply, in this country. This bureau is made up of the heads of the various divisions in UNRRA, such as the shipping division, the surplus property division and the five relief supply program divisions.

(Those five programs are: Medicine and sanitation; food, clothing, textiles and footwear; agricultural rehabilitation, like tractors, seeds and farm animals, and industrial rehabilitation, like trucks, locomotives and steel rails. Representatives of various UNRRA nations head those supply program divisions.) This bureau of supply checks the requests of the various governments asking help, decides how much each can get, and sets up priorities, that is, it decides what nation gets what kind of help and when.

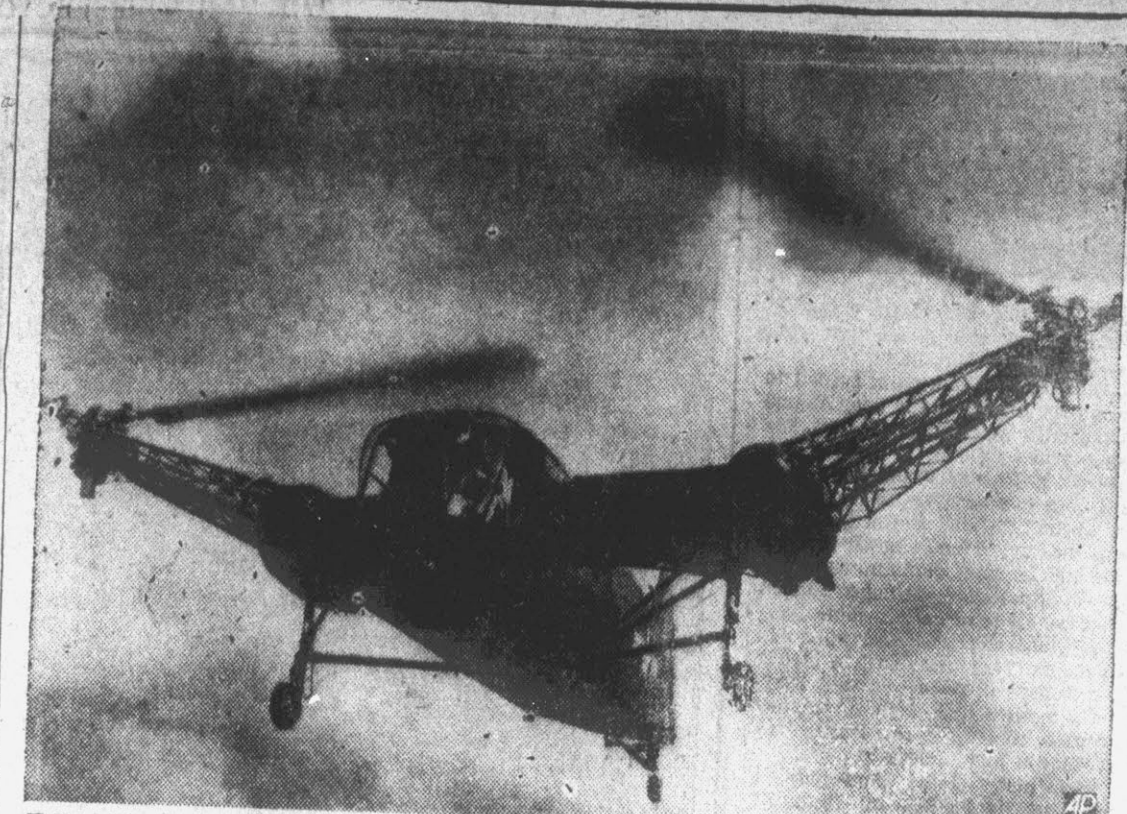

Then it makes its recommendations to UNRRA's central committee. This central committee—made up of representatives of the U. S., Australia, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Russia, Britain, Yugoslavia—acts for all 48 UNRRA nations when all 48 are not meeting. This central committee doesn't give specific approval to each item in the relief program for that nation's relief.

In this way it approved for Yugoslavia the general relief program worked out for that country by the bureau of supply. Will Clayton, undersecretary of State, is U. S. representative on the central committee. Since he approved the program for Yugoslavia, the State Department was giving its approval. When the rails intended for China couldn't be sent there, the bureau of supply ordered them sent to Yugoslavia. It could do this because it sets up priorities within UNRRA, once the central committee has approved a general program.

The six-man group met behind closed doors to debate the decision of its lifetime. As the members filed into the conference room, Walter Mason, AFL alternate member substituting for Robert Watt, reiterated that he would immediately make a motion for reversal. No other member would comment. The board had to decide: 1. Whether to accede to union and ship owners' pressure and okay a higher than pattern pay boost, or 2. To stand by its August 23 ruling that AFL sailors must be content with the smaller raise won by CIO seamen. W. Willard Wirtz, 34-year-old board chairman, said the decision may come today or tomorrow. If the board were to reverse its previous ruling AFL leaders would order their men back to work. But there were no strong indications that the panel is ready to for-

The twin engines give the plane greater reliability for safety over rough terrain, populated areas or water. The new machine will cruise at 100 m.p.h. with a load of 3,000 pounds.

CIO maritime leaders threw themselves suddenly into the rim of the spotlight meanwhile by calling a surprise meeting of the committee for maritime unity (CMU) in Washington today. Co-Chairmen Harry Bridges and Joe Curran were expected to preside.

OPA Announces New Price Lines

Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Officials reported today that flour prices will be boosted. Meantime the agency raised ceilings on work gloves and window glass, stripped controls from a score of other items and got set to hike sugar prices. The agency officials, who asked not to be named, told reporters the flour price increase is in the works but declined to confirm or deny that the advances will amount to 20 cents per 100 pounds. Window glass prices were increased by 18 per cent while the pricing of work gloves was placed under a flexible formula, which permitted an immediate raise of three cents a pair. Razor blades, baby carriages and fountain pens were among the items eliminated from control. OPA said the glove formula would allow prices to rise or fall along with costs of other cotton apparel. Price changes will be made on the 29th of each month on the basis of fabric costs on the 10th. Reports of the coming sugar price boost were confirmed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson who said at Albuquerque the increase will be announced in a day or two.

FAKE DOCTOR TRICKS NEGRO

"Dr. Kelley," Alias "Dr. C. K." Fleeces Mattie Sparkman

By CHESTER WALSH Police Chief Jim Tanner has been paging "Dr. Kelley," alias "Dr. C. K." since June 28, and the "conjure doctor" answered the call Monday when Wilmington police arrested him for alleged "film-flam" tactics in the port city. He will be tried at Wilmington and then will be brought here for trial for allegedly fleeing Mrs. Mattie Sparkman, respected Negro woman of Greenville, out of $814. He is also wanted at Whiteville. The police chief said "Dr. Kelley's" operations in Greenville were brief but profitable. Mrs. Sparkman visited the "conjure doctor," who was rooming at Mrs. Mattie Cherry's home. She said "Dr. C. K." gave her one treatment, charged her $14 and told her that he saw by the palm of her hand that she had a large sum of money in a bank. He suggested that she draw the money out, bring it to him and that he would "sleep on it overnight" and put so much "magic" on it that the currency would keep her well and contented the remainder of her life. She said she gave the film-flam artist eight $100 bills. He told her to come back next morning and get her money back. When she went back "Dr. Kelley" and her $830 (her life's savings) were gone. She notified the police. The authorities kept quiet, knowing that the film-flam game worked so easily and profitably in Greenville that likewise were noneomitted the prospects for reaching a settlement which would make possible return to private operation. It was the first inter-management meeting in nearly months. Chinese Reds... N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 11—(AP)—Stocks negotiated a speedy rally in today's market with leaders of virtually all departments retrieving 1 to 10 or more points of the recent slump. The ticker tape was as much as four minutes late during the greater part of the first hour. Prices then subsided in most cases and dealings slowed. There was another rush of buying orders in the final half hour and the recording machinery again lagged as many pivots pushed up to best levels of the day at the close. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 shares against 3,300,000 on the Tuesday relapse.

PHS GRIDDERS IN SCRIMMAGE

Nine Games Scheduled; Six Contests To Be Played Here

By DAVE CLARK
Coach Bo Farley pushed his charges through a forty-five minute scrimmage session in spite of the sweltering heat yesterday at Third Street School as Greenville High stepped up its preparation for their opening contest here with Edenton on Sept. 20th.

The Phantoms now have nine games scheduled with one open date as yet unfilled. Six of the nine contests are to be played in Greenville, thus giving the Greenville fans a chance to see plenty of football. Edenton is reported to have a very scrappy little ball club that is capable of making trouble for any of its opponents. Their lightning fast backfield is what the Phantoms will have to watch.

In yesterday's scrimmage session, fullback Jimmy Lee and speedy wingback Lewis Evans paced the first team to a 12-0 win over the second squad. Evans scored on a touchdown on a pass interception, and Lee broke off tackle for the other. Tommy Eilers and Bud Whitehurst looked good in the line. Line busting Fred Joseph paced the other team's running attack. Joseph, as usual, was very hard to stop through the line.

The Phantom's football schedule is as follows:

Sept. 20—Edenton (here), night game, non-conference; Sept. 27—New Bern (here), night game, conference; Oct. 4—open (here); Oct. 11—Elizabeth City (here), afternoon game, conference; Oct. 18—Kinston (here), night game, conference; Oct. 25—LaGrange (here), night game, non-conference; Nov. 1—Scotland Neck (here), night game, non-conference; Nov. 8—Roanoke Rapids (here), night game, conference; Nov. 15—Washington (here), night game, conference.

ence; Nov. 22—Tarboro (here) night game, conference.

All's been quiet in the Brooklyn bullpen where the over-worked relief artists have been waiting for a week, watching in wonder as five straight starters have gone the route.

Not since Sept. 3 when Kirby Higbe faltered in the eighth against the Phils has Coach Chuck Dressen felt the urge to wig-wag for help. Hugh Casey, Art Herring, Hank Behrman and Ralph Branca must feel they have been on a seven-day vacation in the midst of the flag fight. It couldn't happen at a more opportunity time as far as Manager Leo Durocher is concerned for the scrappy Brook skipper has been trying to restore a semblance of order to his pitching staff with the all-important St. Louis series opening tomorrow.

Rube Melton's three-hit, 8-0 shutout over Cincinnati yesterday may have clinched him a day's work against St. Louis, because he beat Howie Pollet last time the Red Birds were in town.

The Dodgers drove Ed Heusesse from the bill in the second inning. St. Louis held tight to its two-game lead by mowing down the Phillies, 4-1, in a night game witnessed by 30,088 fans. Harry Brecheen, now finding his stride after a wobbly start, allowed only six hits in defeating Blix Donnelly, a former teammate on the 1944 World Series winners.

The Boston Braves took out after the third-place Chicago Cubs and hammered them into submission, 10-2. Johnny Sain's 17th victory left the Braves only 3 1-2 games behind the Bruins.

Pittsburgh took first blood in the cellar series with New York, dumping the Giants, 7-4, to leave them only four points removed from last place.

The Boston Red Sox had to postpone their pennant clinching celebration for at least one more day when they fell before Detroit, 9-1. A win over the Tigers today would give Boston its first flag since 1918. Detroit took over second place by three points over New York when the Yankees were beaten at Cleveland, 4-2. The loss eliminated the Yanks' last mathematical possibility of tying the Red Sox.

Two home runs by Gerry Priddy on successive at bats helped Washington down Chicago, 4-2, giving Marino Pieretti a decision in his first starting chore of the season. St. Louis kept alive its hopes of topping the second division by trimming Philadelphia, 5-1.

Kinston, Wilson In Last Of Semifinals

The rubber game in the semifinals Coastal Plain League series will be determined with Kinston playing host to Wilson tonight at 7:45. Tonight's victors play Rocky Mount, regular season league leader.

Wilson won over Kinston by 4-1 last night before 3,500 fans and evened the series at three games apiece.

Wilson won last night in the third frame on a double by Bauer and a single by Carnahan.

Felding gems were offered by Wilson's Stuart and Bauer and Kinston's Bell.

Shorty McWilliams Closes Army Career

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 11—(AP)—His army career ended, halfback Thomas E. (Shorty) McWilliams headed for home today, saying he had not yet definitely decided about returning to Mississippi State College where he started before entering the U. S. Military Academy. McWilliams, first of the cadets' famed wartime football squad to resign from the corps, completed the checking out routine last night shortly after it was announced the War Department had accepted his resignation.

"I'm going home tomorrow," he said, "but I haven't yet definitely made up my mind about returning to school."

Starting Team Is Still Unknown To Duke Squad

By the Associated Press
Duke's Blue Devils, in the middle of their fourth week of fall football practice, still awaited today an indication as to the starting team for Duke's opening game of the season against N. C. State in Raleigh on September 28.

There are a number of reasons why head coach Wallace Wade is unsettled about his top men, but the principal reason probably is that Wade, back after four years of army service, still is comparatively unfamiliar with his 50 varsity aspirants.

A majority of the Wademen are veterans of last year's team, or previous years, and only three of the men ever have performed under Coach Wade.

Perhaps the only certain starter is captain-elect Bill Miltner, 1943 All-American, a cinch for one of the guard positions.

At least six men appear deadlocked for the tackle posts, and Kelley Mote of Atlanta, Ga., and Ed Austin of Portsmouth, Va., apparently are ready to start at end. The keenest fight has for the center position with Fletcher Wall, 1943 starter; Charlie Davis, 1942 starter, and two newcomers, Frank Sinkowitz, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Carl Perkinson of Asheville.

Alternating at tailback will be George Clark and Buddy Luper with Bob Gantt a fairly certain starter at blocking back. Any one of three, Leo Long, Buddy Strauss and Frank Inman, may get the fullback assignment. Winsback will be filled by Buddy Mulligan, Howard Hartley, Bettis Herlong, 1943 letterman. At William and Mary, Coach Rube McCray was concerned over the failure of the Indians' flashy tailback, Jackie Freeman, to round into shape. Injured in a scrimmage with the Camp Lee travellers, Freeman has been out for several days.

Clemson's Tigers drilled in a mild rain, getting the feel of a slippery ball, while Davidson's squad scrimmaged for an hour and a half, with freshman wingback Doug Rice turning in two 30-yard dashes.

Tony Diserio, regular end last year, joined the University of Richmond workouts, and VMI's Keydets saw the return of Billy Nofsinger who won his letter in 1944 and 1945 at end and guard, after resigning from the U. S. Naval Academy.

Washington and Lee's Generals scrimmaged yesterday in cooler weather and Ray Prater of Chat-tanooga, Tenn., registered several nice broken field gains. At Blacks-biting off his bottom lip during a fight Saturday night in Moses' store.

Police Chief Jim Tanner said they have not been able to find out from his adversary's osculatory organ. Some of the police hinted that Williams, in his wrath, chewed and swallowed it.

Holding Negro On Serious Charges

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said today that Joe Watson, Negro, arrested by Deputies Loyd Manning and Cletus Jackson on a charge of larceny of leaf tobacco from L. J. Whitehurst of Bethel is also wanted by Richmond, Va., authorities for alleged highway robbery.

The Pitt county officers arrested Watson several days ago and recovered about 150 pounds of tobacco. He is in jail awaiting trial in County Court. After his trial here Watson will be turned over to the Virginia authorities for trial on the highway robbery charge, the sheriff said.
