PRE-ELECTION ARMISTICE IN DEMO'S PACTS

National Committee In About-Face On Support By Wallace- Pepper

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Democratic National Committee today achieved at least a pre-election armistice with Henry A. Wallace and Senator Pepper of Florida, the party's severest critics of administration foreign policy.

First the committee announced it will handle arrangements for their campaign speeches on behalf of the ticket in the November elections.

Then Rep. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, chairman of the Committee Speakers Bureau, predicted that President Truman will run in 1948 and that both Wallace and Pepper will support him.

Just one week ago Sparkman, referring to Wallace and Pepper, had told a reporter:

"We don't want to send out anyone as a speaker who is going to call Secretary Byrnes a reactionary or say he is all wet, or anyone who is going to urge independent voters to stay home."

But last night Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the National Committee and Sparkman announced jointly that they had discussed the campaign with Pepper and that he will speak in support of Democratic nominees in various parts of the country.

"We are counting on him to be very helpful," they added and he "agrees with us that it is vital to the future welfare of this country to return a Democratic Congress on November 5."

Hannegan had said Thursday the committee would invite Wallace to address Democratic groups which wanted to hear him.

Committee officials said the question of whether Wallace and Pepper have official sponsorship is not a factor. If a party organization wants either to speak, the committee will ask them to accept.

Sparkman's declaration that he believes President Truman will be re-elected came later during a radio interview.

"What about a Wallace-Pepper ticket?" he was asked.

"They have both said they are (Continued on Page Two)

Thursday was a perfect sunny Indian Summer day. Friday was equally clear during the forenoon but scattered rain squalls prevailed during the afternoon.

Pressure On Turkey Renewed By USSR

Moscow, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Russia renewed her demands upon Turkey today that both nations join in organizing a defense of the vital Dardanelles gateway to the Mediterranean without the aid of any outside powers.

In disclosing a note replying to Turkish rejection on August 22 of such a Soviet proposal the Russian foreign ministry said:

"Despite the point of view expressed by the Turkish note the Soviet government maintains the opinion that only by joint means can Turkey and the Soviet Union secure freedom of the straits, and also security in the straits."

"Refusal by Turkey of joint defense of the straits with the Soviet Union deprives the Black Sea powers of the possibility of guaranteeing the security of the region."

Greece, An Outpost King's Return May Provide Test Of Give-And-Take In Battle For Influence Between Britain And Russia; Inside Meaning Of Monarch's Re-Instatement

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The return of King George of Greece from exile to his strifetorn kingdom may provide the test of exactly how much "give and take" there is between Russia and Britain in their battle for zones of influence—a conflict in which America also has interests to safeguard.

Greece long has been John Bull's key outpost on the edge of the Balkan Peninsula. This hardy, little state—whose topography is more perpendicular than horizontal—sticks into the side of the Balkans like a plum in a pudding. All the rest of the Peninsula, excepting Turkey, is solidly within Russia's new zone of influence.

Strategic Greece therefore becomes a mighty atom in the Russo-British maneuvering for position and right now it is a flaming match in a powder plant.

The question is whether Moscow

U. N. Scientists Say Atomic Energy Control Is Possible

Findings Based On Available Scientific Facts; Commission Avoids Recommending Any Specific System Of Controls

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Scientists of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission declared today that effective control of atomic energy, which the world is seeking to harness for peace, is possible on the basis of available scientific facts.

The finding was made public when the United Nations released a 22-page report adopted unanimously Thursday by the scientists who make up the commission's scientific and technical committee. The report will be submitted to the commission's committee No. 2 (political) at a meeting here next Wednesday (10:30 a. m. E. S. T.).

"With regard to the question posed by Committee 2, 'whether effective control of atomic energy is possible,' we do not find any basis in the available scientific facts for supposing that effective control is not technologically feasible," the report said.

Having thus discharged the task assigned by the political group, the scientists added:

"Whether or not it is politically feasible is not discussed or implied in this report, nor is there any recommendation of the particular system or systems by which effective control can be achieved."

The report was the first international finding on atomic energy to be approved unanimously and was hailed by Bernard M. Baruch, U. S. member of the commission, as a "forward motion" in the commission's deliberations.

The scientists, by failing to make recommendations, however, did little to resolve the sharp differences between the U. S. and Russian plans for controlling atomic energy. At present, the U. S. and Russia still are far apart on the problem of the veto right as applied to atomic control, on methods of inspection and control, and on just when existing stocks of atomic bombs will be destroyed and their manufacture stopped.

In the chapter on clandestine activities, the report noted that the clandestine manufacture of atomic weapons from nuclear fuels diverted from stocks or from plants producing such fuels would be difficult to discover because the operations could be carried out in comparatively small installations which could easily be concealed. It was pointed out that larger and more complicated installations were required if it were desired to divert materials in the earlier stages of production or from undisclosed mines.

FIBER STUDY SAID NEEDED

Ballentine Suggests Expansion Of N. C. Textile Research

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Lieut. Gov. L. Y. Ballentine suggested today that the N. C. State College textile school be expanded "to cover the entire fiber field, including all natural fibers and the synthetic fibers."

"Let us not be blinded by the fact that cotton is one of the principal agricultural crops in North Carolina and thereby neglect research and work in other fiber fields."

Ballentine spoke at an open house of the textile foundation, designed to promote the textile school.

He said, however, that emphasis should not be shifted from cotton to the synthetics. Instead, emphasis should also be placed upon the synthetics as part of the general program.

BIG WELCOME GIVEN GREEK KING'S PARTY

Thousands Of Cheer- ing Greeks Welcome Return Of Royal Family

Athens, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Hundreds of thousands of cheering Greeks lined the streets of Athens today in a tumultuous welcome to King George II of the Hellenes, returning to his throne after five years of wartime exile.

Fighters and bombers roared overhead as the royal party made its triumphant entry into the capital which was bathed in brilliant sunlight. The solemn monarch rode in an open car.

The twice-exiled king, who arrived last night from England, landed at the quay at Falero Bay at 10 a. m. A slow, four-mile procession took him past the masses in the heart of the city to the magnificent Greek cathedral, where Archbishop Damaskinos, now relinquishing his duties as regent, conducted a solemn deum service.

Attending the service were members of the dominant royalist party's opposition, including former Premier George Papandreu, Panagiotis Kanellopoulos and Sophocles Venizelos.

Yugoslav Objections Are Met By Drastic Proposal

Harriman And Byrnes In Paris

Paris, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A peace conference commission adopted today an American proposal to bar Yugoslavia from the privileges of a signatory to the Italian treaty if she persisted in her announced refusal to sign the pact.

The Italian political and territorial commission adopted the "French line" as the boundary between Italy and Yugoslavia, and Marshal Tito's delegation promptly announced Yugoslavia would "not sign the peace treaty with Italy nor withdraw her army from northwestern Istria."

A Yugoslav proposal to turn the whole boundary question back to the foreign ministers was voted down, and the United States quickly proposed the new amendment, stating that the terms of the treaty should "not benefit any state mentioned in the preamble as allied and associated powers unless such state becomes a signatory of the treaty."

A Yugoslav delegate vigorously attacked the American proposal as "a threat and an attempt to intimidate Yugoslavia."

"Yugoslavia has shown by its four years of fighting it will not yield to any intimidation," the delegate said.

Yugoslavia has announced a claim of $1,300,000,000 reparations from Italy. Approval of the American proposal, if upheld later by the plenary session, and the foreign ministers council, could bar the Yugoslavs from pressing this claim.

Russia and the Slavic countries voted solidly against the American amendment, which was adopted 11 to 8. Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky assailed it as "violation of the Big Four agreement" to support agreed portions of draft treaties.

OPA Predicts Meat Supply To Increase

Contends Price Control Increases Supplies Of Meat During Period Of Scar- city; Expects Market- ing Of Livestock Soon

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Geoffrey Baker, deputy OPA administrator, predicted today the meat shortage will begin to ease up in two to four weeks.

At the same time, he contended that price control on meat does not reduce the supply during this period of scarcity, but actually increases it.

Baker said in a radio address (ABC network) that "there is good reason to expect improved supplies for both beef and pork beginning with the latter part of October."

Baker said he based this forecast on expectations that fall runs of cattle and hogs to market will get underway soon.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

LIFE'S PERFECT FULFILLMENT
If a man die, shall he live again?
Throughout the ages no question has haunted the mind of man so constantly as has this one. People have always wanted to know whether death ends all, or whether they can hope that there is some life behind the thick curtain which separates this world from the next.

Briefly stated, all religion affirms the existence of life after death. For the Christian, the words of Jesus and his own resurrection from death constitute ample assurance for the faithful that death does not end all. But even the philosophers and, strange as it may seem even the pagan Greek philosopher, believe for the most part affirmed belief in immortality.

To have the belief is to be guided with certainty and assurance; to lack it is to pursue life without purpose and to be cynical about the triumph of justice and right. The fact that it is more pleasant to believe in immortality than to disbelieve it is not of course sufficient reason for faith, but the whole structure of human life seems to indicate that the life we live now is incomplete and that there is need of a more perfect order to compensate for the unmerited sufferings and injustices with which life on earth is replete.

Without immortality, life is disjunct; with it, life is amply fulfilled.

WASHINGTON LETTER

A PROBLEM OF LIQUOR
By JANE EADS

Washington—To bar or not to bar a bar looms as a possible autumn controversy among members of the Women's National Democratic Club of Washington when its activities are resumed in September. Although described as merely a temper in a cocktail glass by some of the members who are staying in town this summer, the question of the bar is already the subject of considerable discussion hereabouts.

The bar was left for the club by a British commission which had rented its headquarters for the last three years. The rumor got around that the club was going to use the bar when, after redecorating, it reopened headquarters in the fall.

The president, Mrs. William H. Davis, and other board members were out of town and thus unavailable for comment. And although no action on the matter even has been considered, there has been a hue and cry from teetotaling members.

The Christian Advocate, a church publication, says in its current issue: "The individual attitude of members of the club toward social drinking strikes us as a thing quite different from establishing at its source of so much social and political influence a bar from which to dispense intoxicants."

"It taken, such a step certainly would do a disservice to the Democratic Party. Were we not told that, if given the vote, women would break the thralldom of sorrow and a century visited upon so many American homes by strong drink?"

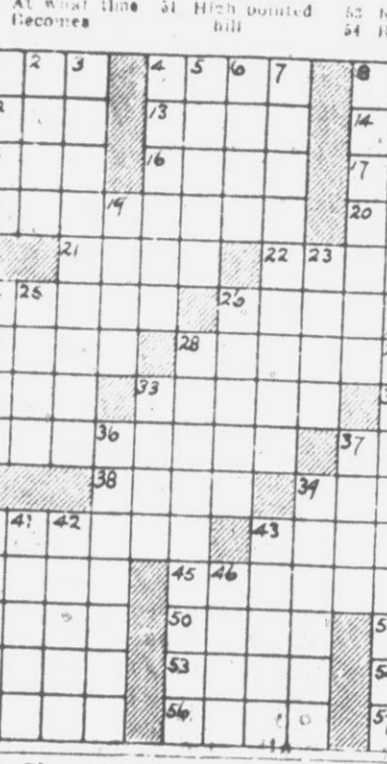

Mrs. Philip Dedson, vice president of the club, said:

"There has been a little discussion of the matter among members, both favorable and unfavorable. No real issue has been made of the matter."

RANDOLPH SCOTT IN "BADMAN'S TERRITORY"

Here he talks with Isabelle Jewell who has the role of Belle Starr in outdoor drama opening Pitt Sunday.

men, when the court sentences them, can ask the control council for mercy. The trial started last November.

BABSON

The procession stopped at the tomb where George placed a wreath of laurel, and then went on to the old royal palace. From a balcony the king, the crown prince and the princess reviewed a mammoth parade, led by a colorful royalist band from Crete, black scarves about their heads and gold-hilted daggers at their waists.

Most Athens newspapers told of the king's arrival and reception in great headlines, but the Communist newspapers treated it with reserve. One Communist newspaper carried a single column headline and another a two-column headline. The Communist press referred to the monarch as George, and did not use the title.

OPA Predicts . . .

It was on August 20 that the board restored ceilings on meat. It ruled that prices had jumped unreasonably since controls lapsed on July 1, that meat was scarce and that ceilings were enforceable in the public interest.

Those are the yardsticks for re-control set forth by Congress. Thompson said he is in agreement with President Truman that present scarcity is due to heavy slaughter of cattle and hogs during July and August when controls were off.

Pre-Election . . .

Asked whether the party had suffered great harm from the Wallace-Pepper blasts against administration foreign policy which led to Wallace's dismissal from the cabinet, Sparkman replied:

"I would rather that it had not happened, but I don't think it did the party great harm."

Yugoslav . . .

The formal Yugoslav declaration which prompted the amendment came after a debate between Vishinsky and U. S. Senator Tom Connally. Vishinsky supported Yugoslavia's demand that any preliminary decisions of the foreign ministers council must have Yugoslav approval.

Connally, who later told a reporter he believed Yugoslavia eventually would sign, told the delegates the Yugoslav attitude was "undemocratic."

A competent source estimated that there is a force of 14 Yugoslav divisions at present in the Yugoslav occupation zone on the Istrian peninsula. Allied occupation forces across the Morgan Line include one U. S. infantry division and one British armored division.

Fiber Study . . .

Ballentine said "the textile foundation of State College, a manifestation of unselfishness without parallel in the history of the South, has made it possible for our textile school to become what it is today, and to be equipped to solve the problems which will mean greater returns for the cotton farmer, better wages for labor and fair return upon risk capital of those who operate textile plants."

He said the relative low per capita income of the average citizen of the state is due, in part, to the fact that we ship such a large volume of our raw material, or semi-finished materials out of the state for conversion into consumer items.

In only one major industrial field—that of the consumer tobacco products—are we guiltless in North Carolina of this economic crime against ourselves.

He said that "in one branch, just one of the textile industry, we also have a good record. That is in the field of knitting. Only Pennsylvania has a better record. Our record of being in number one place in the manufacture of consumer tobacco products, and number two in knitting, can and should be equalled in other branches of the textile industry, for here in North Carolina we operate the largest number of cotton spindles of any state in the nation."

GREATER HIGHWAY PLANS North Wilkesboro, N. C., Sept. 28 (AP)—The state has got underway since the end of the war a highway building program that "is greater than that of any pre-war year," Governor Cherry asserted here today.

In a speech marking the opening of the Democratic party campaign in this hotbed of Republican voters, the governor said that the highway commission would "continue to maintain and keep up" the state's primary roads, but "it has definitely determined that the time has now come in North Carolina to emphasize the improvement secondary and rural roads."

TO THE CITIZENS AND BUSINESSMEN OF GREENVILLE—

I know you don't have time to read a long letter—but stop long enough to read this one paragraph. One word spoken by you and your employees to the smokers who come into your place of business during the next two weeks, calling their attention to the fact that Greenville is having an unusually good season this year, and that Greenville is the ideal place to sell their tobacco and buy their merchandise, will do more to boost our home town and also your own personal business than all of the paid advertising that we can buy. This is the best form of advertising in the world and you can't buy it—nobody can get it for you. It's up to you individually. The next two weeks is the opportune time.

Sincerely, W. L. WHEDBEE Supervisor of Sales (Reprinted at the request of the Chamber of Commerce)

Big, Heavy, New Bern Team Wins Hard-Fought Game

By DAVE CLARK

A big, heavy New Bern team served notice last night that they are one of the teams to beat in the Northeastern Conference, by beating the lighter Green Phantoms 25-0 in a hand-fought game played in New Bern.

The game wasn't quite as one-sided as the score would indicate, as the Phantoms put up a good fight before the larger, hard charging Bears. Two of the Bear scores came as a result of long passes, while the other two went across on long runs.

"Stud" Lee and Lewis Evans turned in the longest Greenville gallops of the night. Lee faded to pass on one occasion, then cut out around right end and almost scored before he was pulled down from behind. Evans took a kick-off back to the Bears' 35-yard line in the third quarter.

Fred Joseph was the most consistent Greenville ground gainer, running from full back he reeled off gain after gain, and was in a large part responsible for many of the Greenville first downs. Henry Turner, Bud Whitehurst (acting as captain), Tommy Eilers and Billy White turned in exceptionally good games in the line.

Greenville received in the first quarter, and when they couldn't gain, June Rose kicked out to New Bern on the fifty. There, on the first play from scrimmage, a New Bern back broke through the line and reached pay dirt. The extra point was low. Most of the remainder of the quarter was played in Greenville territory.

In the second period, a long pass netted the Bears six more points, and just before the half they pushed across six more making the score at half time, 18-0.

New Bern scored for the last time early in the third quarter. A long run had brought the ball to the two yard line from where a New Bern back crashed over.

Coach Farley used his first two teams interchangeably last night. Each team played about half the game.

The starting line-up was composed of Turner and White at ends, Jim Tanner and Whitehurst at tackles, Eilers and Rose at guards, Dennis Cooke at center, and Lee, Mahlon, Tucker, Evans, and Dave Clark in the backfield.

Substitutes who saw action were Paul Stokes, Sam Northrup, C. Note Jackson, Tommy Diener, Roscoe Little, Ben Robinson, Al Smith, Shelley Beard, Charles "Horse" Allen, Will McLawhorn, Fred Joseph, Jimmy Cox, Murry Cooke, Billy Goodson, Doug Guthrie and Herbert Corey.

Pirates-Trounce Visitors, 26-0

The Pirates of Eastern Carolina Teachers College scored an easy 26-0 victory last night over Presbyterian Junior College in the first game of the season.

Held scoreless in the first quarter Coach Johnson's team scored two touchdowns in the second.

Slade Phillips tore through the middle of the line for 30 yards and the first score. The second touchdown was made when Elbert Fearing intercepted a pass and raced 45 yards. Henry Andrews booted the extra point.

Going into the second half, Fearing again did some fancy running when he returned a PJC punt 49 yards to the one yard line and Grad went over for the third six-pointer. In the fourth quarter Fearing's 25-yard run featured a drive to the one-yard stripe and Pittman bulled the ball over for another and final score.

Presbyterian threatened only once, when in the first half a pass from Baker to Fair featured a drive to the Pirates' fifteen yard line.

First downs: ECTC—11, Presbyterian Junior College—7.
