

ESCORT GIVEN FOR NAZIS TO BRITISH ZONETrio Protected From Re-Arrest En-Route, Verdict Upsets
Plans

Nuernberg, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Frank von Papen, Hans Fritzsche and Hjalmar Schacht, the three Nazi leaders acquitted by the international military tribunal, will be escorted to the British zone tonight or tomorrow by American military personnel, defense counsel said tonight.

All three will be taken to Hamburg, from whence Schacht will proceed to his home in Schleswig-Holstein, counsel said.

It could not be learned whether the former German financier would be provided with escort after his arrival in Hamburg.

Fritzsche, former deputy propaganda minister, sent his wife to Hamburg yesterday, and expressed hope she would be there when he arrived.

Anton Pfeiffer, chief denazification officer for Bavaria, announced he had been instructed to give the three a guarantee of "safe conduct," protecting them from arrest by German denazification courts in the American zone.

Defense counsel said the trio would leave at an unannounced time and would follow a secret route by automobile. Just what type of escort would be provided was not announced.

The protection granted the three from prosecution by courts in the American zone, Pfeiffer stressed, is temporary, covering only their departure from the Nuernberg jail and the zone.

Pfeiffer said he got his instructions from Brig. Gen. Walter Muller, U. S. military governor of Bavaria, who in turn got them from Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor in Berlin.

The Bavarian indicated that the instructions are being handed down to the Nuernberg German police who already had been armed with orders to arrest all three as soon as they left jail and bring them before the denazification court.

German Chief of Police, Wilhelm Stahle, waiting in the military police office, had not yet been informed of the new development. Counsel for the three men heard word unofficially, however, and promptly went into joint conference with U. S. security officers on the subject of transportation.

The acquitted men want to go to the British zone.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor said that the acquittal of Schacht has

N. C. Institutions
Benefit By Will

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 3.—(AP)—Bequests of approximately $6,000,000 were left to North Carolina religious, charitable and educational institutions under terms of the will of the late Mrs. Kate Bittling Reynolds.

Mrs. Reynolds, whose husband, W. M. Reynolds, was a co-founder of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, died Sept. 23 and left an estate of approximately $8,000,000, according to the will filed for probate yesterday in Forsyth Superior Court.

The Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina was bequeathed $400,000 in trust for the benefit of aged ministers; the estate's residue of nearly $5,000,000 was placed in perpetual trust, the income to be administered for the benefit of the poor and needy.

Under terms of the will, three-fourths of the income from the residue fund will benefit charity patients in hospitals throughout North Carolina. The remaining one-quarter is to be used in Forsyth County.

Mrs. Reynolds established trusts and bequeathed outright gifts to approximately 100 friends and relatives.

Position Of U. S. In China Like That Of Britain In Greece; Both Are Obligated To Preserve Peace; Position Embarrassing In International Relations

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

By GLENN BABB
(For Dewitt MacKenzie)

More and more the position of the United States in China resembles that of Britain in Greece. In each case the end of the war found armed forces of one of the Western powers in occupation of territory of an allied nation and faced with an obligation to preserve the fruits of the common victory and attempt to restore normal law and order. And in each case the occupying forces found themselves largely through force of circumstances, involved in a bloody civil war which they have fought, thus far without success, to end.

The result of these factors, and to some extent of the policies of Washington and London, has been that the Americans in China and the British in Greece have found themselves in the position of actually, if not avowedly, supporting

U. S. Rebuffed In Attempt To Slash Hungarian ReparationsRussian Bloc Out-Voted In Showdown On French Compromise Proposal For Establishing Free State Of Trieste

Paris, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The United States was rebuffed, 7 to 5, by a peace conference commission today in an attempt to slash $100,000,000 from Hungarian reparations to Russia and two other Slav countries after a Soviet delegate assailed the proposal as an unfriendly act.

U. S. State Department Representative William L. Thorpe, who said he presented the amendment in an attempt to save Hungary's economy from collapse, also sought to cut $100,000,000 from the reparations to be paid by Finland.

The American defeat quickly followed a western nation victory in the long and bitter fight over Trieste in the Italian political and territorial commission.

Only Australia, Canada, New Zealand and South Africa supported the U. S. move to reduce Hungary's payments to Russia, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia from $300,000,000 to $200,000,000. The commission adopted the Russian-backed provision under which Russia is to get two-thirds of this total, Yugoslavia, $70,000,000, and Czechoslovakia, $30,000,000.

Bulletins

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Truman said today the federal budget will be in the black at the end of this fiscal year next June 30, for the first time in 16 years.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Cordell Hull's condition continues to be "most critical," the navy reported today in a bulletin from Bethesda, Md., naval hospital, where the former secretary of state suffered a stroke Monday.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Director Edgar L. Warren of the Federal Conciliation Service reported that some progress was made today on union security problems which are holding up settlement of the maritime strike. He did not elaborate.

London, Oct. 3.—Arab delegates to the London Palestine conference have asked for creation of an independent, democratic state in the Holy Land by Dec. 31, 1948.

Power Failing In Pittsburgh Area

Pittsburgh, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The lights of the nation's 10th largest city were flickering and faltering today as a power strike, which had an estimated 70,000 workers idle, went into its 10th day.

New hopes of an early settlement were held out as company and union negotiators, after a joint conference late last night, met again today. Both they and the U. S. media who met with them were described as being in a jovial mood when the night parley broke up.

Street lights in the Golden Triangle grew dimmer as carbons burned out of the arcs and were not replaced. The stuck Duquesne Light Co., estimated about half of the lights already had failed and said it had no workers available to service them.

All street lights on Penn Avenue between Nesley and Station street, in East Liberty, were burned out. Six theaters in the area agreed to keep their marquees lit throughout the night for the protection of the street.

Guam And Aleu-

Pearl Harbor, Oct. 3.—(AP)—A new U. S. policy in the Pacific calling for a strong Aleutian base near Siberia and extension of its outpost 3,000 miles westward to Guam was announced today.

The policy was made public at a press conference by Adm. John H. Towers, commander of the Pacific fleet, who conferred only Monday with President Truman and high navy officials in Washington.

Towers declared that Guam, 3,331 miles west of Pearl Harbor, would be turned into an outpost as strategically important as the Hawaiian naval base—long the symbol of U. S. Navy might in the Pacific.

The admiral said the new Pacific policy would be to concentrate permanent naval installations in Alaska, the Aleutians, Hawaii and in the Marianas, which includes Guam.

This would include permanent facilities for surface warships as well

Berlin, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Industry and public transport of Berlin were crippled today by a 15-minute strike of union workers protesting against the acquittals and sentences among the international military tribunal verdicts at Nuernberg.

The strike was called by the leadership of the Left Socialist Unity Party and union officials. The demonstration was particularly effective in the Russian sector.

Key Legislators See Hard Time For Revised Military Training Program

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Rough voting in Congress for the army's revised universal military training plan is predicted today by key legislators.

Most of the new lawmakers in Washington shied away from even comment on the controversial issue—just as they usually have in the past.

But nearly all those who would discuss it—friends and foes alike—agreed that many a hot debate would break out over the problem once Congress resumes business next January.

The controversy was reopened yesterday when Secretary of War Patterson outlined the revised training plan to the American Legion convention at San Francisco.

His proposal, in general, called for:

1. A year's training for all physically fit youths between the ages of 18 and 20, with six months of it in military camps and the remainder available in civilian and alternative training.
2. Trainees to have civilian, rather than military status, thus being under a special code of conduct and responsible to a civilian organization such as the present select service system.

BARUCH REPLY

tiations

New York, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Bernard M. Baruch, United States delegate to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, stood firmly today on a sharp demand that Henry A. Wallace correct publicly the "mistakes" that Baruch said Wallace made in criticizing the United States atomic control plan.

Speaking with deep feeling at a news conference last night, the 75-year-old elder statesman declared that Wallace had admitted personally to him last Friday in his office that he was in error and then had not signed a statement acknowledging the asserted error which was prepared later by representatives of Baruch and Wallace at his direction.

Baruch made it clear that the United States delegation could not consider any modification in the "fundamental principles" of its plan, which was attacked at length by Wallace in a letter on foreign policy written last July 23 while Wallace was then Secretary of Commerce.

The United States delegate repeated with the direct authorization of President Truman, a long memorandum to the President answering Wallace's letter point by point. He also released the statement which he said Wallace did not sign; an alternate statement submitted to him by Wallace which he rejected, and a telegram dispatched by Baruch to Wallace late yesterday charging that the "errors" are "seriously dangerous to the delicate negotiations now under way" and that they "create confusion and division among our people."

Wallace was not available for comment in Washington last night. However, an associate said Wallace

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The American Legion convention turned today to consideration of the controversial "on the job training" issue, while still fresh in the minds of the delegates was the renunciation by Gen. Omar N. Bradley of their national commander's position on the subject.

Bradley, head of the Veterans Administration, roundly scored Legion Commander John Stelle in an address to the convention late yesterday.

Stelle has accused Bradley of breaking faith with the veterans in approving a $200 ceiling for "on the job" veterans training.

In his speech, Bradley retorted that Stelle was attacking a law enacted by Congress, which prevents a privileged minority of veterans from profiting unfairly by the GI Bill.

Reminding the convention that the Veterans Administration is "first an agency of the government," he added that so long as he is administrator the agency will do nothing to surrender the welfare of this nation to the special interests of any minority.

New Price Raising
Said Key To ChaosStalin Echoed By Byrnes "No War"Cites Serious Conflicting Views Among Allies; Decrying War Said Not Enough; U.
S. To Continue Strong Policy

Paris, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes declared today that "the conflict of viewpoints among the allies" is serious, but he echoed a recent statement by Prime Minister Stalin that there is no immediate danger of war.

Byrnes spoke at a luncheon of the American Club in Paris.

"After every great war which has been won by the combined efforts of many nations, there has been a conflict among the allies in the making of peace," Byrnes said in his prepared address. "It would be folly to deny the seriousness of the conflict in viewpoints among the allies after this war."

"To ignore that conflict or minimize its seriousness will not solve the conflict nor help us along the road to peace."

"To exaggerate that conflict and its seriousness, on the other hand, only makes more difficult the resolution of the conflict."

"I concur most heartily in the view recently expressed by Generalissimo Stalin that there is no immediate danger of war. I hope that his statement will put an end to the unwarranted charges that any nation or group of nations is seeking to encircle the Soviet Union or that the responsible leaders of the Soviet Union so believe."

He added the hope that Stalin's words would dispel "the unwarranted charges that the United States is seeking to use its possession of the atomic bomb as a threat of force against the Soviet Union."

However, Byrnes said, American foreign policy will continue to follow a strong line.

counted By Scientists And Officials

Atlanta, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Japanese scientists who developed and successfully tested an atom bomb three days before the war ended are now prisoners of the Russians in Moscow, the Atlanta Constitution said in a copyrighted story in today's issue.

The author, David Snell, a former reporter for the paper who recently returned from service with the twenty-fourth criminal investigation detachment operating in Korea, said the Russians had brought prisoners on the captured scientists to learn the "atomic know how."

Snell said he obtained his story from a Japanese officer who represented himself as head of counterespionage at Japan's atomic development project at Konan, Korea.

This officer, Snell wrote, declared that the Japanese, destroyed their machinery, secret papers, and partly completed bombs only hours before the Russian army swept into Konan.

"This story may throw light on Stalin's recent statement that America will not long have a monopoly on atomic weapons," Snell said in the Constitution's story.

At Tokyo, U. S. Army intelligence officers today joined both American and Japanese scientists in scoffing at Snell's account.

"It is a complete lie," commented Japan's foremost nuclear physicist, Dr. Yoshio Nishina.

"Most unlikely" was the terse comment of U. S. Army intelligence in Tokyo.

Japanese militarists, Dr. Nishina added, "were always lying and saying things without foundation. There was no such experiment in Chosen (Korea). However, there was a fertilizer factory in Konan."

Movie Actors To Ask Arbitration

Hollywood, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Movie strike violence today shifted to a heretofore unpicketed studio—Republic—where a car trying to enter the gate was flipped over by some of the hundreds of milling unionists.

Only a few pickets appeared at the seven major studios originally involved in the labor dispute. Even at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, scene of most of the fighting in the current strike, less than a dozen men were "on the bricks."

Today's action followed a meeting of the Screen Actors Guild last night, at which a proposal that actors observe the picket lines of the conference of studio unions was "overwhelmingly" rejected. The meeting was told that a delegation of movie stars will fly to Chicago next week to lay before an AFL convention a demand that machinery be set up to arbitrate such disputes.

The group will include Robert Taylor, Walter Pidgeon, Robert Montgomery, Edward Arnold, Gene Kelly, George Murphy, Dick Powell, Ronald Reagan, Jane Wyman and June Allyson.

Queries; No Big Three Meeting Planned

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Voicing accord with Secretary of State Byrnes' foreign policy speech in Paris today, President Truman told his news conference he has given no consideration to another Big Three meeting.

Mr. Truman said he discussed Byrnes' Paris speech with the secretary over the phone and that he is in accord with what Byrnes had to say.

This was the President's most detailed comment on foreign policy issues in a conference which produced many questions touching on international affairs.

These questions and answers occurred:

Was Bernard Baruch's letter assailing former Commerce Secretary Wallace's statements on American atomic policy cleared with the President? Mr. Truman said no. It was not cleared, that the matter is one between Baruch, United States member of the United Nations Atomic Control Commission, and Wallace.

Has the President given any consideration to another Big Three meeting? He said he had not.

Is there any progress to report on Mr. Truman's efforts to get the British to admit 100,000 Jews into Palestine? The President had no comment.

Could he discuss the purpose of Ambassador Bedell Smith's sudden mission from the Paris Peace Conference back to his post in Moscow? The President had no comment.

Does he contemplate saying anything himself on foreign policy issues? Mr. Truman said no, the issues seemed to have been pretty well discussed.

Could he say whether he discussed with Admiral John H. Towers recently the plan of Pacific base

White House & State Dept.; President Respected

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—News conferences, like lamb stew on a chilly evening, are a welcome dish these days. This is the dreary season in Washington.

When Congress is here, news always tumbles in bursting bundles out of the Capitol where somebody is always mad at somebody and never pleased with things as they are.

But Congress is away now and won't be back till January. So news from the Capitol comes only in dribbles.

There still is news here, of course. And much of it is of first rank importance because it affects the entire country. But still, it only comes in jerks.

So battalions of newsmen gladly and hopefully trudge around to the news conferences. Looking for green pastures and as tidy item.

The best and most far-reaching conferences, now as at any other

Steelman Reports On Reconversion Progress; Is Against Round Of Wage Increases At Present; Says Spiraling Prices
May Stifle Demand And Precipitate Depression

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Reconversion Director John R. Steelman said today a "further rapid price rise" might stifle demand for goods and "precipitate an early and severe price collapse, with serious economic and social consequences."

Steelman also spoke out bluntly against a general round of "large" wage increases at this time.

He said these could benefit "only special groups," and generally would do so "at the expense of fellow workers throughout the nation."

Declaring that the national economy is simultaneously in a position of great promise and of great danger, Steelman set forth "two great problems" which he said America faces:

For the long range, to "maintain our economy at full production and full employment."

In the meantime, to "prevent runaway inflation."

"If prices keep on rising and precipitate a wage-price spiral, business and agriculture will find themselves priced out of the market and into a depression," Steelman asserted in his quarterly report to President Truman and Congress.

His report said also:

1. Production of consumer durable goods, such as automobiles, refrigerators and washing machines, is just beginning to hit its stride but "there is some indication that the bloom is off" the market for clothes and other soft goods. The "at-any-price" psychology is being tempered by some consumer resistance to high prices and poor quality.

2. If consumer or business spending now at extremely high levels "should" falter, the government must be prepared to readjust its policies to promote an increase in consumption. "Public works programs should be blueprinted and ready to go," and tax and other fiscal policy would require readjustment.

3. To arrest such a decline in spending, the first and most salutary action could be taken by business itself in reducing prices—wherever possible—without reducing wages.

Crystal Gazers'
Signals Crossed

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The administration apparently got its signals crossed today on when the meat shortage will ease.

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, in his quarterly report to President Truman and Congress, says this:

"x x x We are plagued with shortages of some types of food, and for some items the shortages will become worse this winter. This is especially true of meat."

Just a week ago Mr. Truman predicted there will be more and better meat "in the near future."

Questioned about these different views, an official of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion told a reporter "there doesn't seem to be any real conflict" in the two statements.

The official said Mr. Truman had "hedged" his forecast by saying, for example, that a bigger meat supply is dependent on how many cattle move to feed lots this fall.

But Steelman did not qualify his statement, the reporter noted. He said flatly that the meat shortage "will become worse this winter."

Mrs. J. J. Perkins and Mrs. Jesse Moye, II, were co-hostesses at a coca cola party on Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Perkins to honor Miss Jean Harrington whose marriage to Mr. John Miller, Jr., will take place on Friday, October 11.

The house throughout was lovely with decorations of dahlias in fuchsia and yellow combination. In the dining room the table was centered with a bowl of beautiful yellow dahlias. Coca colas with sandwiches, cheese rolls, cakes and other dainty refreshments were served.

To their honoree the hostesses presented gifts of crystal.

Athenum Book Club
Mrs. C. H. Edwards delightfully entertained the first fall meeting of the Athenum Book Club at the lovely country home on Tuesday, October 1.

After a delicious three course luncheon, the new president, Mrs. John Winsted, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Dink James and Mrs. Knott Proctor, who gave an interesting and informative talk on the life of Stephen Foster. After the talk, they delighted the assembled members and guests, with several vocal selections, songs of Stephen Foster, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Davenport.

After the new books were distributed and discussed the meeting adjourned.

Guests for the afternoon were Mesdames Dink James, Paul Davenport, Will Moore, Sam White, B. D. Moore and Mrs. R. T. Moore of Mt. Holly, sister of Mrs. Edwards.

The Memorial Baptist Church at Fourth and Greene streets is having its annual open house for the Baptist students of East Carolina Teachers College this Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The reception will be held at the pastorial across the street from the church, 309 Greene street, after which a program of games and fun will be enjoyed at the church.

All Baptist students and those who prefer the Baptist Church are invited. Meeting the students will be deacons and their wives, the officers and teachers of the Sunday school, and the members of the W. M. S.

High School News

The Greenville High School Dramatics are presenting "Ca'line," a one-act play, in the gymnasium on Friday, October 4, during the lunch period, 8:30 to 9:30.

Mrs. Howard Mims, the Dramatics' director, stated that this was one of the first Carolina folk plays that has been presented in several years.

"Ca'line" was written by Bernice Kelley Harris, and is concerned with typical country people. The play will be very comical and entertaining to the townspeople as well as to the students.

Betty Jo Wilson will play the part of Ca'line, Jim Haney will play the part of Charlie Banks, while Ella Banks, his wife, is played by Lina Worthington. Willie Lewis will play the part of Lam Wilder, and Preacher Young is played by Guy Evans, and Rosamond Nicholson plays the part of Miz Johnson.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduce the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Four-H Boys Make Money On Pullets

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 3—Approximately 1,100 pullets at nine special 4-H poultry sales, held jointly under the auspices of the State College Extension Service and the Sears Roebuck Foundation, have brought $2,600 and 12 additional sales are yet to be held.

These are top pullets, selected from flocks of 100 baby chicks each, that were grown out by 210 contestants in 21 counties.

Next week's sales will be held as follows: October 8, Wayne County at Goldsboro and Lenoir at Kinston;

October 9, Greene County at Snow Hill and Johnston County at Smithfield; and October 10, Cumberland County at Fayetteville.

The purpose of the contest is to teach 4-H boys and girls the best methods of feeding out baby chicks and developing the best type of pullets.

Important Meeting Next Monday Night

The following letter sent out to many persons in the county who are interested in music, especially singing, will be of interest to them:

Review Accomplishments; Ty Wagner Cited For Service

The Pitt County Chapter, American Red Cross held its regular Board meeting in the Alderman's Room, City Hall Building, September 30, 1946. The meeting was well attended by the chairman of the different services.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. John Fleming, Chairman after which he led the group in prayer.

The various chairmen gave reports of their work. Mr. W. F. Young Disaster Chairman, gave a most impressive description of the tornado which struck Grifton in May, 1946. Mr. Young stated that eight families were registered with the Pitt County Chapter, Southeastern Area, spent $2,560.48 for aid to stricken families. Mr. Young explained to the board members that all money spent by Area was contributed direct from Southeastern Area Headquarters.

Home Service reported a total of 250 cases for the month of September. 44 Army, 18 Navy, 184 Veterans and 4 Civilians. A brief description of the various types of work done in Home Service was given.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore reported in the absence of Mrs. J. H. Thomas Chairman Production and Knitting that this committee had been inactive during the summer months. However, at this time plans were being made for an extensive knitting program during the winter months. Mrs. Moore made a plea that each board member solicit knitters for this period because of the continued large obligations of the American Red Cross to supply knitted garments and of the large supply of wool on hand.

Mrs. John Warner, Chairman Volunteer Nurse's Aides stated that 6 girls graduated from a Nurses Aid Course in June; 3 members from the first class were active, and one transfer from New York. Since June 1946, these Aides have given 957 hours of volunteer work in the Pitt General Hospital. Mrs. Warner reported that our Aides are most efficient and at all times pleasant and professional.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, J. R. C. Chr. stated that Miss Tony Beasley from Southeastern Area was in the Chapter last week and helped make plans for the JRC work for this year. Mrs. Proctor plans to visit each school in the county beginning the week of the 14th and at that time will distribute enrollment materials and 500 gift boxes which are to be filled and sent to the children overseas.

Mr. Fleming advised the Board that the Pitt County Chapter had been requested to write the History of Its Activities since Pearl Harbor ended in singing, especially community singing, is invited to attend the meeting at the high school next Monday night.

the delay in opening the lunch room, also the need for playground equipment.

The business being completed everyone was invited to the lunch room for refreshments. Teachers formed an informal receiving line to meet and greet the parents. Hostesses served buffet style and a pleasant hour of "getting to know your neighbor better followed."

INSIDE JOB

Salt Lake City, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The U. S. Employment Office adopted a new line of persuasion in urging women to take part-time clerk jobs in labor-short Salt Lake City.

It advised that clerking was the best way to get first hand information on what merchandise is available.

WRECK CLAIMS SECOND VICTIM

Gordon Stroud Of Fountain Died At Hospital Tuesday Night

By CHESTER WALSH
The automobile wreck last Sunday which caused the death of Miss Allie Louise Harris, 22, of Falkland, when a car driven by D. H. I. Owens, 24, of Falkland, turned over several times after avoiding striking a mule on the Falkland-Greenville highway, claimed "another victim" Tuesday night at 11 o'clock when Gordon Stroud, Jr., 48, of near Fountain, died at Pitt General Hospital without regaining consciousness. His body was taken to the Farmville Funeral Home in Farmville.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse and State Highway Patrol Cpl. John Laws said the death was not reported to them until 24 hours later. An inquest will be held as soon as the driver of the car and other occupants are able to testify, the coroner said. Miss Harris was buried last Tuesday.

Funeral services for Mr. Stroud were held at the home of his parents near Fountain this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Wiggs, pastor of Afton Free Will Baptist Church, near Fountain, officiated. Burial was in the Fountain cemetery.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stroud, Sr.; two brothers, Allen and Linwood Stroud of the home; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Williams of Wilson, Mrs. Jesse Deans of Falkland and Mrs. Joe Moore of Falkland.

Two persons were fatally injured in the wreck, two others seriously and one painfully, when a car driven by D. H. I. Owens of Falkland turned over three times after avoiding striking a mule on the highway about 12 miles from Greenville. Owens, the driver, received a broken back; his brother, Patrick Henry Owens, owner of the car, suffered a broken shoulder and other injuries, and Miss Margaret Stokes, 16, of Falkland, the only occupant not thrown out of the vehicle, was the least injured. She received cuts and bruises, Cpl. Laws said.

Strength
FOR THE DAY

WILL THE MIRACLE OCCUR?
In 1701, a distinguished Englishman wrote to Pepys—famous for his diaries—that the nation had never been "so atheistical, false and uncertain, covetous, ungrateful, lewd and self-interested, impudently defecting and uncharitable" as at the time when he was writing.
And he felt that without "a miraculous undeserved providence" there would be "a total dissolution of the government and constitution."

The miracle occurred two years later. In 1703, John Wesley was born. He lived to a great old age and was active to within six months of his death. He was a clergyman of the Church of England, yet he became so troubled by the unspiritual-ity of the Church in general and the selfish wickedness of his day, that he organized societies, with the English Church known as Methodist Societies. After Wesley's death, these Societies became the Christian denomination which bears that name, but Wesley lived to see England morally and spiritually transformed. An "undeserved providence" had come to the English people.
The birth of a baby, and later the consecrated personality of that baby grown to manhood, transformed the spiritual life of a whole people.
Never in human history has there been such spiritual chaos as there is today. Will another John Wesley arise? Let us hope and pray that God will be as good to America in the twentieth century as He was to England in the eighteenth.

WASHINGTON LETTER

CALIFORNIA ARAB WIFE
By JANE EADS

Washington — From the land of civilized women came to Washington recently 14 men and a blonde young American woman with a baby in her arms.
The men were Saudi Arabians, members of an economic delegation headed by their illustrious minister, Sheikh Abdul Aziz Al-Sudayman. This man, aside from being minister, is one of the founders of Saudi Arabia.
He has fought at the side of his king, Ibn Saud, in war and peace since 1901.
The woman, the former Marinette Litwinski of Long Beach, Calif., is the wife of handsome Ali Al-Reza, youngest son of one of the wealthiest merchants in Jidda. The two met when they attended the University of Southern California.
Their child, Hamida, is 17 months old.

This was the first marriage of an American girl into a Saudi Arabian family. It created a lot of curiosity.
Sheikh Al Reza helps his father run a Ford agency and a business in pearls, harem silks, perfumes and frankincense. He and his wife live in the large family home in the city and Ali Reza's new place outside the wall.
The new house is blue-green in color and very modern. The desert lies behind it, the water out in front. In the patio there is a constant trickle on the fountain tiles.
Although any Moslem can have four wives if he wishes, Ali Al Reza has only one.
The king has a Number One wife, who is more or less on the permanent list. His Number Two and Number Three wives are political Wife Number Four is described as being "on the affection side." Political wives are chosen from the big tribes that make up the out of hand. The king marries a daughter of the tribe. This makes for good will. When she has a boy child, the boy stays at the palace, the king divorces his mother and she goes back to her tribe.
There are no hard feelings about this. She can marry any time because she's been the wife of the king, and the tribe is very proud that one of its members is a royal prince.
Ibn Saud is described as a "fine family man." He has 37 sons and nobody seems to know how many daughters.

of their family.
This is a great step for the wife of Ali Al Reza to be permitted to travel with the 14 men of the delegation. She never wears a veil or headscarf. She wears her hair in a long bob.
The men in the group were attired in their native costumes on arrival at the airport.
Most of these men came from Jidda, which is the diplomatic capital of Saudi Arabia, on the Red Sea. The real capital is Mecca, open only to Moslems.

Twins In Trouble ...

liti, declared last week that he considered "the earliest withdrawal of all American forces from China" vital to peace.
It is true that large quantities of American weapons and other supplies have reached China, both before and since the fall of Japan.
American vessels carried tons of thousands of his troops to Manchuria and thereby facilitated his campaign against the Communists in that rich, strategic territory. But it is also true that the United States has worked mightily and in spite of great discouragements to end the Chinese civil war, and has brought heavy pressure on Chiang Kai-shek to convince him of the necessity of coexisting with the Communists and admitting them to a regime that would be truly representative of the Chinese people.

Conferences ...

question right off the cuff, as he has had a habit of doing, it may get him in trouble, as it has, unless he's very sure of the answer he gives and how he gives it.
Secretary of State Byrnes has the top State Department conferences when he's in town. But he's in Paris now at the peace conference. Undersecretary of State Anderson has the big conferences.
Byrnes is tense, in spite of his years in Congress and his time on the Supreme Court.

All through the Byrnes and Anderson conferences, the questions usually are prefaced with the title
"Mr. Secretary." For example: "Mr.
Secretary, what is the position of this country on so and so?"
Two men—and, in fact anyone else (below the president) who has a news conference—leaves himself open to a strenuous grilling when he steps into the conference room.

and such an adverse effect on allied plans to try Nazi industrialists on sacking charges that Justice Robert H. Jackson intends to outline the problem to President Truman.

Byrnes ...

"Just because war is not now imminent, we must take the greatest care not to plant the seeds of a future war. We must seek less to defend our actions in the eyes of those who agree with us, and more to defend our actions in the eyes of those who do not agree with us."
The secretary declared his belief that nobody wants war today, but he said Germany is not enough.
"The difficulty is that while nations want war, nations may pursue policies or courses of action which lead to war. Nations may seek political and economic advantage which they cannot obtain without war," Byrnes declared.
The major portion of his speech was devoted to his views on the future control of Germany. He emphasized in some respects his recent speech at Stuttgart and the 9-year treaty that he proposed last spring for keeping Germany disarmed and demilitarized.
The United States, he said, "is firmly opposed to a struggle for the control of Germany which would again give Germany the power to divide and conquer."
"It does not want to see Germany become a pawn or a partner in a struggle for power between the East and West."

For that reason, he continued, he proposed the 40-year treaty among the four big powers could be renewed according to the necessities of peace and security at the time when it expired.
This plan, he said, would insure that the Ruhr could never become the arsenal of Germany or the arsenal of Europe.

5. Although wage rates and straight time hourly earnings have increased since the European war ended, gross weekly earnings of all employees in manufacturing industries have decreased approximately 8.5 per cent. This now means that the average manufacturing worker earning $47.12 in April 1945, was taking home in July, 1946
$43.05 per week less.
6. Taking a different stand than the shortage of meat will become worse this winter. The President said last week that supply will improve soon, but with cattle on the outlook for tomorrow called in the next few months, it is hard to predict what may mean in the approach.
7. Clothing supply is rapidly increasing, but still not fast enough to satisfy the demand for such items as men's shirts and suits. Moreover, there is danger that prices of clothing and apparel may get out of reach of the average consumer.
8. The housing shortage is so acute that even if this year's program were to succeed (it's behind schedule), there still will be as ma-

NOTICE OF SALE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain deed of trust executed and delivered by Joshua Johnson and wife Ella Johnson to James L. Evans, Trustee, dated March 24, 1936, duly registered in Book Q-21 at page 400, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, N. C., default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness therein secured, and the owner of said indebtedness having made demand upon the said trustee for the foreclosure of the same in accordance with the terms thereof, the undersigned will on Saturday, October 19, 1946, at 12 o'clock noon before the court house door in Greenville, Pitt County, N. C., expose to public sale to the highest bidder for cash, a certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Pitt County, N. C., more particularly described as follows:

On the north side of Tar River in Pacolus Township and on the north side of the Greenville-Washington Road, about three miles east of Paco-lus, bounded on the north by the lands of John Stancill, on the east by George Williams, on the south by the lands of B. F. Parrot, and on the west by the lands of John Stancill, containing by actual survey 41.8 acres of land, and being the same lands conveyed to said Joshua Johnson by R. R. Fleming, January 1, 1906, by deed duly registered in Book T-6 at page 389, and the same described in the deed of rust from Joshua Johnson and wife Ella Johnson to W. O. McGibony, Trustee, dated June 2, 1934, duly registered in Book G-20 at page 491 and the same conveyed to Joshua Johnson and wife, Ella Johnson, by grounds of two years' separation, North Carolina Joint Stock Land and the defendant will further take duly registered in Book Q-19 at page 630, to which deeds reference is hereby directed for more accurate description.

This September 18, 1946.
JAMES L. EVANS, Trustee.

Dig Another Grave

By DON CAMERON

Chapter 11

Dexter's suite was the typical unpretentious retreat of an unattached man who spends much time elsewhere. In the living room there was a small bookcase, two top shelves filled with miscellaneous volumes and two bottom ones with magazines, scrapbooks and cardboard boxes of unclassified newspaper clippings. On the walls were a dozen or more photographs of men and women, most of them autographed. A table that served as a desk was cluttered with papers; beside it a metal stand supported a covered typewriter.

The bedroom was even plainer. Twin beds and twin carved chairs with red velvet backs and seats flanked a dresser covered with toilet articles; there were more photographs on the walls and, incongruously, an embroidered motto, in a frame: "God rest all those who sleep."

ter here." On the telephone stand between the beds, turned toward the one nearest the window, was a photograph of a woman in a crystal frame. Martin had to look a second time to recognize it as a picture of the woman who was now Clara-belle Messmer—a picture that must have been made when she was Clara-belle Dexter, and was young, slim, and quite beautiful in a beautiful in a babyish way.

Dexter noted Martin's interest and smiled wryly. "Don't misunderstand my keeping her picture, Marty; she's like a distant acquaintance now, one degree nearer than a stranger, but the person she used to be is one of the few pleasant memories I have left." He stared vacantly out of the window.

Martin, stripped to his shorts, crawled into the bed farthest from the window and fell asleep immediately.

A hand gripped Martin's shoulder. A voice called, "Marty, wake up." He opened his eyes with an effort, blinking in the daylight, but the anxious face leaning over him belonged to Dexter.

"It's a damned shame, Marty, but you've got to get up because some cops haven't got the sense of a chipmunk."

"A what?" Martin asked, still half asleep.

"A chipmunk," said someone else—and this time it was really Cloud, standing beside Dexter, looking down with alert gray eyes. "For some reason or other, Dexter doesn't like the speed and efficiency with which we're approaching the solution of our little problem in homicide."

Martin sat up, swinging his feet to the floor, throwing off sleep with the sheet and blanket. "Solution? No kidding, Cloud? You've got a lead?"

"Better than that, King. I've got a suspect who was seen going into your apartment just at the right time to push Scarle into the Great Beyond."

"Who?" Martin demanded, puzzled and disquieted.

"I didn't have to be brilliant," Cloud said. "I noticed Hans Gross' handbook of criminal investigation in your place. Remember his doctrine that the criminal makes at least one stupid mistake in every major crime?"

"Your suspect was stupid. Is that it?"

"He lied, saying he hadn't been in that apartment, not realizing that someone had seen him go in at five minutes to twelve. The medical examiner will stake his reputation that the attack, which caused practically instantaneous death, occurred no earlier than 11:45 and no later than 12:15, with midnight the most probable moment."

Dexter muttered, "Don't worry, Marty. I think it was Gross, too, who wrote about 'the poison of witness evidence.' Every smart cop and every lawyer knows better than to believe in witnesses or in Santa Claus."

"Wait a minute," Martin said. "Am I to infer that your witness saw me, Cloud?"

The detective nodded. "Joe Scarle, who runs the Palm Garden Chop House across the street from your place, started home at 11:55 the night of the murder. He's sure of the time because he usually closes at 12, but he ran out of customers a bit earlier than that. He's known you for two years well enough to let you eat on credit between paydays. He saw you going into your house as he was locking his door."

"He's crazy," Martin said. "He couldn't have seen me." But, although he had no recollection of anyone across the street from his apartment that night, he had little doubt that Scarle probably had.

Cloud shrugged. "He says he's positive. That's enough for me—that and the probability of your story about Mary Smith. It'll do till we can find out more, either from you or someone else."

"So I'm pinched."

"For the present you can enjoy our hospitality as a material witness, or we can call it protective custody if you'd prefer. I don't mind saying I hope I'm wrong in suspecting you, but that's neither here nor there."

Martin reached wearily for his clothing. His wrist watch told him that he had lain down less than an hour earlier.

He turned to Dexter. "Will you call Max Lubin and ask him to pull a habeas corpus out of his hat before they slap down a charge that will hold me without bail? I want to go into hiding long enough to catch up on my sleep."

"Leave it to me, Marty. I'll have you back here in no time if it's humanly possible. You can bet your bottom dollar that I'll stand by—and so will Doran—right till the end."

"The bitter end," Martin said. "That's what you mean, isn't it?"

COLLEGE HAS BIRTHDAY
Raleigh, Oct. 3.—Today is the fifty-seventh birthday of North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering. The college held no formal ceremony in recognition of the event but Col. John W. Harrelson, chancellor, issued a statement commemorating the efforts of founders and friends who were instrumental in the establishment of the institution which formally opened its doors as Agricultural and Mechanical College with less than 100 students on October 3, 1889.

Greek Leftist Band

Surrounded By Army

Athens, Oct. 3—(AP)—Press dispatches from northern Greece today reported that Greek troops had surrounded a force of 200 to 300 leftists at Naoussa, 25 miles south of the Yugoslav border, after the band had raided and burned part of the town.

The advices said the leftists, armed with machineguns and mortars, had attacked Naoussa early yesterday morning and that approximately 200 casualties had resulted in the ensuing battle. About 700 residents of the town were said to have assisted the attackers.

NICK OF TIME

Vancouver, Oct. 3—(AP)—A diaper crisis temporarily delayed sailing yesterday of the SS Marine Falcon carrying 500 volunteer Japanese repatriates to their homeland.

All other luggage had been piled on top of the vital infant equipment in the hold.

It would have taken a day to find them and restore the luggage—and neither the ship, nor the 15 babies aboard, could wait.

A wholesaler solved the problem by providing six bolts of cotton as a temporary substitute.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms.

Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through JAYNE'S P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms! If you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for P-W and follow the directions. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Pirates Stress Aerial Defense In Rehearsals

By JIM LOCHRIDGE
The Pirates are working diligently to strengthen their pass defense. In yesterday's workout, the A and B squads worked against each other in a passing scrimmage against single wingback formations the same they expect to encounter when they play Atlantic Christian here Saturday night. The game will be under the lights at Guy Smith Stadium with the opening kickoff at 8 o'clock.

Word comes by the way of the grapevine that Coach Bird has a strong team at A. C. C. and is expecting to win over the local eleven. Bobby Clark, former Wilson High School star, is one of the mainstays of the A. C. C. offense. He will be one of the fleetfooted backs the Pirates will have to stop.

Coach Johnson was pleased with the hard down field blocking of his men in the opening game. The line-men played well on defense, but will need a bit of polishing before Saturday's game. The Coach praised the offensive work of his backs. It has been a long time since local fans have been treated to such an exhibition of broken field running as was put on by Ellie Pearing in the opening game. Pete Everett, first string quarterback was injured in the P. J. C. game and it is doubtful if his services will be available Saturday night.

The gridiron at Guy Smith Stadium has been rearranged in front of the grandstands so that the capacity is more than double that of last week's game. There should be plenty of seats for Saturday's contest and no one will have to worry about standing or sitting on the ground.

More Seats For Football Games

The playing field at Guy Smith Stadium has been rearranged in order that more seats are available to the spectators.

The field now runs north and south instead of east and west, to take advantage of the permanent stands. The new arrangement now makes it possible to have seats for approximately 3,000 spectators. The home section will be on the west side of the playing field.

Tickets will be sold for future games at the middle entrance of the permanent stands and not at the gate formerly used. Every effort is being made to give the spectators good seats and a faster entrance to the games.

"When Wade And Neyland Clash"

One of the greatest football coaching rivalries of all time will be resumed in Duke stadium at Durham Saturday between Colonel Wallace Wade of Duke's Blue Devils and General Robert Neyland of Tennessee's Volunteers. Unquestionably two of the greatest gridiron mentors in the land, they will be clashing for the first time since 1940 when both put aside their football books and went into the greatest battle of them all.

PGA champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, national open titlist, had been declined by the committee since no such stipulations were made in the contract with the PGA.

Date Set For World Series By Chandler

Cincinnati, Oct. 3—(AP)—The opening game of the World Series delayed by the photo finish of St. Louis and Brooklyn in the National League, today was set for Sunday Oct. 6, in the park of the National League pennant winner.

This was announced yesterday by the office of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Walter W. Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said the commissioner would set another date should bad weather extend the St. Louis-Brooklyn play-off series into Saturday or later.

By the Associated Press
Coach Johnny Fenlon of the University of Richmond confirmed today the worst fears of the University of Maryland, whom the Spiders meet under the lights at College Park, Md., tomorrow.

"It's letting out no secret to say we intend to pass Friday night," said Fenlon. "I know we can't get through the Maryland line, but we intend to see if we can get over it."

Joe Laluna and Marion Timberlake, a pair of sweet tossers, will be ready to flip the ball over the heavy Maryland forewall.

"Attempting to get by a 222-pound line and attempting to stop a backfield which averages 203 pounds will be a novel and bruising experience for our boys," Fenlon commented. "But at least they won't be getting any bigger after the Maryland game."

Half of Maryland's practice yesterday was taken up with defense against the expected Spider aerials.

The University of North Carolina set out for Miami to meet the Orange Bowl champs in another Friday night game without Bob Mitten and Larry Klosterman, injured guards.

The Wake Forest Deacons, victors over Boston College last week, prepared a versatile attack of power passing and deception to use against Georgetown University's Hoyas in Washington, also tomorrow night.

Georgetown, playing its first season since 1942, will deploy in T formation against the Deacons' single wing.

Cochran Returns To Wake Forest

John (Red) Cochran, husky Wake Forest College halfback, cuts loose with a mighty kick in practice for the Deacons' hard football schedule this season. Red was one of the Southern Conference's top backs in 1941 and 1942. He is back at Wake Forest for his senior year after serving 34 months in Army Air Corps. He lives in Birmingham, Ala. (AP Photo).

Davidson College will show a half dozen Norfolk, Va., boys in its starting line against Wofford at Charlotte Saturday night. Guards Bill Boyd and Buddy Chandler, tackle Easy Rhodes, Ends Carl Eborn and Hal Mapes and Center Sandy Carnegie are all Virginians, and head Coach Bill Story termed Boyd the best blocker for his weight on the squad.

N. C. State left this morning by train for Saturday's game at Clemson College. Coach Bob Smith of Furman moved Henry Blanken, 200-pound freshman, to first string fullback to replace Jim Elvington, who has been declared ineligible, before leaving for the Auburn game.

South Carolina looked for an overflow crowd of 24,000 for the Alabama game at Columbia, S. C. The Citadel worked on a few "surprises" for William and Mary at Charleston, and Duke prepared for a crowd of 45,000 at Durham when the Blue Devils entertain Tennessee Saturday afternoon. Virginia Military Institute leaves tonight for its engagement with Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

Admit Italy To Bank Privileges

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The World Bank today admitted Italy to membership and borrowing privileges, along with Turkey, Syria and Lebanon.

Approving every move of the international monetary fund yesterday, the governors of the World Bank voted to accept Italy into the $7,670,000,000 institution with only one dissent—that of Yugoslavia. Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, chairman of the governing board of both bank and fund, reported that Italy was assigned a subscription of $180,000,000 to the bank's assets.

The closed meeting of bank governors concluded their activities in the week-long conference here, but a joint session with the governors of the currency-stabilizing fund was set for later in the day for the

had not broken off his exchange on the matter with Baruch but had telephoned a suggested statement yesterday afternoon to Ferdinand Eberstadt, Baruch assistant. The Wallace associate said Eberstadt was to have called Wallace back later but did not do so.

Wallace resigned recently as Secretary of Commerce at the request of President Truman as the result of Wallace's differences with Secretary of State Byrnes on American foreign policy. He disagreed with Byrnes' policy in a speech in New York on Sept. 12. His letter of July 23, setting forth his views on foreign policy, was released Sept. 17. His resignation came shortly afterwards.

"Your national commander has elected to be spokesman for this minority group of veterans whose incomes exceed the level beyond which Congress will no longer supplement their wages in training."

As he abruptly closed his address, Bradley turned and strode from the rostrum, passing red-faced Stille as the latter came forward.

"Nobody admires guts more than I do," Stille shouted as he reached the microphone. "Anybody who wants to debate the subject can do so tomorrow when the national commander will be on the floor with the Illinois delegation."

Japan's A-Bomb . . .

At San Francisco, Secretary of War Patterson said he was sure reports of the Japanese atomic explosive were not true.

Reports to the Coast Guard also said the plane burned and the possibility of any survivors was very remote.

Aboard the giant airliner were 31 passengers and a crew of eight. Many of the women were housewives en route to Europe to join their husbands. The children's ages all ranged from three months to eleven years old.

The four engine DC-4 Skymaster was en route from New York to Berlin and plunger into the side of a rocky hill 10 minutes after it left Stephensville, Newfoundland, at 3:25 a. m. (EST). It left New York yesterday at 10:55 a. m.

The Air France captain, Jacques Charnoz, said he was at Gander, Newfoundland, 225 miles from the scene of the crash, when it occurred.

I could see the glow of the explosion before I took off," he said. "After the takeoff, we circled the wreck. The plane hit the side of a hill quite high up and was still smoking."

"It is obvious," Towers said, "that we need a base further in the Pacific. Because of the mobility and range of surface and air fleets it is necessary that we extend our Pacific outpost beyond Pearl Harbor."

"Guam fills this need and it will be equally as important, but not so large as Pearl Harbor."

The navy, the admiral added, already has begun its program of building up Guam's permanent installations.

"The navy long has hinted that Guam would bulk large in future defense plans but this was the first official intimation that it would assume such an important role."

Violence At Tarboro Cotton Mill Walkout

Tarboro, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Mayor Rawles Howard called upon the state highway patrol and Governor Cherry today to take steps to prevent violence at the Hart Cotton Mills, where a strike has been in progress for four days.

Governor Cherry, in Raleigh, instructed Motor Vehicles Commissioner T. Boddie Ward to advise the patrol to stand by in case help was needed here.

Early this afternoon, after fist fights developed at the mills property, the situation here was reported by the mayor as tense.

No arrests were made at the fist-cuffs. Thirty-five nonunion workers employed at the Hart mills open shop crossed the picket lines today, starting the violence.

Gov't Agencies Lose UMW Favor

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 3.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers Convention declared by resolution today that the sooner agencies like OPA and the Wage Stabilization Board "are abolished the better it will be for our country."

The resolution finally adopted on the subject of OPA asserted that the UMW had "many experiences with agencies created for the purpose of shackling or retarding the onward march of organized labor and the United Mine Workers in particular."

New wage demands will be acted on before the convention adjourns.

The Flavorful Pot Roast

—Always Braised, Always Praised

Finding meat on the market these days is difficult. When you can find it, however, there's nothing to surpass the savory goodness of a beef pot roast, tender and juicy inside, deep rich brown outside. Served with plenty of its own rich gravy, this family favorite will always bring you praises galore. And the only secret to its success is slow, careful braising.

The Popular Pot Roast . . . favorite for flavor

For pot roasting, there are several cuts to choose from: blade and arm roasts from beef chuck, heel or rump or round, and sirloin tip are all good. A heavy kettle or skillet with a tight fitting lid is the best type of utensil to use. First brown the beef slowly in 2 or 3 tbs. of Advance Shortening. You may want to flour it first for a richer brown. Season well with salt and pepper, then slip a rack under the meat unless you like the brownness to penetrate deeper. Add about 1 1/2 cup of water and cover tightly. Cook slowly until tender, either on top of the stove or in the oven at 300° F. A 3 to 5 pound roast will be done in 3 to 4 hrs.

The meat may need more water added from time to time during the cooking period. Add the water in small amounts though—that way you get both a richer gravy and a tastier piece of meat.

Clip Directions Here

Serve It Proudly

Good meat deserves to be served attractively. Garnish your pot roast with carrot ribbons. They're colorful, easy to make. Shave lengthwise strips from long carrots. (A vegetable peeler works fine if you have one). Wait until the strips are limp, then fold into loops and fasten with a tooth pick; chill in ice water.

Combination That Clicks

Lots of browned potatoes and whole onions (cooked with the pot roast), gravy, rose cinnamon apple rings for color; lettuce wedges with Thousand Island dressing and your favorite beverage will round off the main course. Add fresh grapes for dessert and you'll have a dinner that's a winner.

Tuck the potatoes and onions in with the roast just long enough before the end of the cooking period for them to become tender (1 to 1 1/2 hours, depending on their size).

Double Duty

A smooth combination is baked apple stuffed with cream cheese, nuts and raisins. Remove the core of the apple and fill the hole with the cheese mixture. Bake, cool, and serve with a honey French dressing. Let it play a double role—salad and dessert.

Cordially,

George Rector
