Truman Outlines Palestine Views

Calls For Immigration Of Displaced Jews Into Palestine In Cable To Attlee; Makes Bid For Liberalization Of Immigration Laws; Would Recommend Plan To Congress

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—An official spokesman for the British Foreign Office said tonight Truman "regretted" President Truman's recent announcement on Palestine and felt it would prejudice further negotiations on the Holy Land's future.

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—President Truman called today for an immediate substantial immigration of displaced Jews into Palestine.

In a Yom Kippur Day statement, which he cabled to British Prime Minister Attlee, the president outlined his own views as follows:

"1. In view of the fact that winter will come on before the conference (Palestine conference in London) can be resumed, I believe, and urge that substantial immigration into Palestine cannot await a solution to the Palestine problem and that it should begin at once. Preparation for this movement has already been made by this government and it is ready to lend its immediate assistance.

"2. I state again, as I have stated on previous occasions, that the immigration laws of other countries including the U. S., should be liberalized with a view to the admission of displaced persons. I am prepared to make such a recommendation to the Congress and to continue as energetically as possible collaboration with other countries on the whole problem of displaced persons.

"3. Furthermore, should a workable solution for Palestine be devised, I would be willing to recommend to the Congress a plan for economic assistance for the development of that country."

The president's statement, released by Press Secretary Charles G. Ross—with the announcement that its contents were cabled to Attlee, expressed Mr. Truman's deep regret that the meetings of the London Palestine conference are not to be resumed until December 16.

The president said that in the light of the terrible ordeal which the Jewish people of Europe endured during the recent wars and the crisis now existing, I cannot believe that a program of immediate action along the lines suggested above could not be worked out with the cooperation of all people concerned.

He added that the administration will continue to do everything it can to this end.

(Mr. Truman's statement coincided with London reports that the Jewish agency and the British government were near accord on proposals providing for general amnesty for prisoners seized during the war.)

Hull's Condition Said Grave, Restful Night

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, 73, at Bethesda Naval Hospital, spent a more restful night last night but his condition continues grave.

A 9 a. m. report from the hospital today said:

"Mr. Hull spent a more restful night than usual. His condition is still grave."

A hospital bulletin last night said Hull, who suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Monday, "has lost ground during the day and his condition is considered grave tonight."

The midnight bulletin two hours later reported there had been no change.

Byrnes On War Risks

In Address, Byrnes Points Out That Nations Too Avid In Pursuing Own Political And Economic Objectives Risk War; May Have Been Aimed At Russia

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. (For DeWitt MacKenzie)

Some languages are "difficult to translate into English, and among them is the diplomatic, but Secretary Byrnes' speech in Paris yesterday certainly is open to the interpretation he is reminding Russia that any nation in too avid pursuit of its own political and economic objectives is running the risk of war.

As reported here the other day most world statesmen do not think that Russia wants war—but many of them are afraid she will eventually reach for something, in the belief that she can get it without war, and then find herself mistaken.

Byrnes didn't actually mention Russia in the same breath with his definition of what will cause war, but here is the way he put it:

SEVEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF REFINERY

Thunderous Blasts Rock Plant; Heavy Casualty Toll From Flames

Marcus Hook, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Seven persons were killed and upwards of 140 others injured by a thunderous explosion which tore through a unit of Sun Oil Company's $13,000,000 aviation gasoline refinery seven hours before subsiding early today.

Sun Vice-President Arthur E. Pew, Jr., estimated damage to the world's largest alkylation plant at $300,000. He said "a packing gland which failed, caused gas to escape and flash," touching off the series of explosions felt 20 miles away in Philadelphia.

Boiling up in huge clouds of smoke lit by darting tongues of fire the blaze swept unchecked for four hours after the first blast at 6:11 p. m. yesterday. It was then gotten under control but not extinguished until this morning.

Many of the injured were volunteer firemen. The heaviest casualty toll occurred when flames, racing out of a pump room, reached a 125-foot fractionating tower. It went up with a roar, the shock rocking the countryside for miles.

All of the deaths occurred in hospitals here and in nearby Chester Pa. Many others of the 69 admitted to hospitals were reported in critical condition.

Nineteen of the fire victims were reported in critical condition and hospital authorities said several are not expected to live. In addition a Marcus Hook policeman was reported in critical condition after he was struck by an automobile while directing traffic after the fire.

Scores of company employees and firemen injured in the blaze were treated at nearby hospitals and released but 40 were hospitalized at Crozier Hospital, 27 in Chester Hospital and two in Delaware hospital at Wilmington, Del.

Alex Petrovich of Boothwyn, a fire victim, said it was horrible "Men were screaming, their clothes afire."

Meanwhile, tankers loading and unloading gasoline at the company's wharves along the Delaware river.

Churchill Renews Federation Call

Blackpool, Eng., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Winston Churchill renewed today his call for a United States of Europe, declaring "all the burden" of restoring world peace "should not be thrown upon the United States of America."

"Why should we not also have a United States of Europe?" the former prime minister asked in a speech after receiving the freedom of the city of Blackpool.

"Why should this continent be a mangled victim and dependent for success upon the generosity of other lands?"

"The United States of America has definitely declared herself as abandoning the policy of isolation, and of watching vigilantly and sharing effectively in the guidance and restoration of Europe and the peace of the world."

"All that has to be done is that some 250,000,000 people have to wake up one morning and say we wish to be happy, free and prosperous, and will only give our votes to the political parties who will vote for a United States of Europe."

issimo Stalin that there is no immediate danger of war. I hope that his statement will put an end to the unwarranted charges that any nation or group of nations is seeking to encircle the Soviet Union or that responsible leaders of the Soviet Union so believe.

"I do not believe that any responsible official of any government wants war. The world has had enough war.

"The difficulty is that while no nation wants war, nations may pursue policies or courses of action which lead to war. Nations may seek political and economic advantages which they cannot obtain without war."

U. S. - Britain Charged With Breach Of Faith

Angry Russian Accuses Violation Of Big Four Agreement; Italian Reparations Fought Over In Paris Proceedings

Paris, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Russia in angry words today accused the United States and Britain of violating their Big Four agreements by voting for an Australian amendment to set up an international commission for supervision of Italian reparations payments.

The Italian economic commission of the peace conference, which still must fix the amount Italy is to pay neighboring allied states, passed the amendment, 12 to 3, with France, China and the Soviet states opposed.

Under the amendment, an international body consisting of the Big Four and countries receiving reparations would supervise payments other than those to Russia. These would go to Yugoslavia, Albania, Greece, Ethiopia and Poland.

A. A. Arutunian of the Soviet Union, visibly angered, declared that the United States and Britain had violated an agreement to a section of the Big Four Foreign Ministers' treaty draft.

American Delegate Willard Thorp and British Spokesman Glenvil Hall both protested that the amendment was a new article and not a change in an agreed iron portion of the draft.

At one point Australia removed the name of the Soviet Union from the list of members of the proposed body after Russia protested that she was not concerned with non-Russian reparations. When this led to further protests, Australia reinserted Russia's name, a "electoral maneuver."

The Australian amendment, as originally worded, would have given the chairmanship of the commission to the United States on the ground that the United States is a non-claimant of reparations and a European power had a better "perspective."

Arutunian, terming this contrary to the interests of the Soviet Union and other countries concerned, accused Australia of acting by prearrangements with other powers.

Utilities Requests Smaller Bond Issue For Improvements

By CHESTER WALSH

A delegation from the Greenville Utilities Commission appeared in session at the City Hall last night and requested the board to call a special meeting of the board to consider a bond issue of $1,250,000 for water and sewerage improvements and for improvements at the water and light departments.

L. B. Garris, Roy Martin, Kinchen W. Cobb and Supt. Martin Swartz and Clerk Larry Brown represented the commission. It was explained that the original request for $1,250,000 of bonds had been reduced because some of the materials could not be procured for several years.

Mayor Boyd ordered a joint meeting of the two boards at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Pitt County authorities made application to the city to hook up with the municipal police radio station at the City Hall and install radios in sheriff's cars. It was proposed that the county pay for part of the station installation and to share in the expense of maintenance. The matter was approved subject to approval by the County Commissioners.

Mayor Boyd will appoint a special committee for drafting an ordinance to zoning the city.

Several applications were made to extend the proposed street paving program and to open certain streets in the city. It was stated that some new streets will be opened as soon as the city can procure a heavier grade.

Attorney John Barker presented a claim for $75 damage to a truck owned by one of his clients that was damaged when a shifting engine struck it near the site of the city's new storm drainage project. He stated that the city and railroad were jointly responsible. This was referred to an insurance company Leroy Brown, representing the

VIENNA MEET EFFORT FAILS

On-The-Spot Danube Query Blocked By Boycott Threat

Lake Success, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A threatened Russian boycott appeared today to have blocked U. S. efforts to force an immediate conference in Vienna to take up the question of free navigation on the Danube River.

U. S. Delegate John G. Winant pushed a resolution through the United Nations economic and social council in the closing hours of its three-weeks session late last night calling for such a conference before November 1, but Russia served notice she would not attend.

Two other Danubian states, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, also opposed the U. S. move, indicating they also would refuse to attend the proposed conference.

Dr. Stampar of Yugoslavia, council chairman, raised a technical point, which might prevent any action being taken to call the meeting. He said that under the rules of the U. N. no international conference could be called without prior consultation with the United States to be invited.

He said the U. S. resolution, approved by a scant margin of 8 to 5 with five others abstaining, would be turned over to Secretary General Trygve Lie to take action "according to the rules."

Talmadge Admitted To Florida Hospital

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Governor-Noncinate Eugene Talmadge of Georgia entered a hospital here early today in what was described as a critical condition but several hours later was reported as improving.

The physician attending the 63-year-old Talmadge said he was suffering with stomach hemorrhages. The patient has not undergone an operation and none is planned, the doctor said. The hospital earlier had issued the following bulletin:

"Governor Talmadge was admitted to St. Vincent's Hospital early this morning. His condition was critical upon admission but he improved with treatment and his condition is satisfactory this morning. He will be under observation for several days."

Aviation Officials At A Loss To Explain Crash

By HOWARD COWAN

Gander, Nfld., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Aviation officials were at a loss today to explain the crash of a Sealin-bound American Overseas Airlines plane in which 39 persons lost their lives yesterday in the Newfoundland wilderness.

A board of investigators from the Civil Aeronautics Administration awaited the arrival of a U. S. Coast Guard helicopter in which they planned to visit the scene of the crash which occurred about 10 minutes after the doomed plane took off from Harmon Field near Stephenville. The disaster was the worst in commercial airlines history.

A rescue party of U. S. Army personnel and a doctor, who rushed to the scene soon after the crash occurred, reported that all 31 passengers and eight crew members were burned beyond recognition. The passengers included six children ranging from three months to 17 years old and their mothers. Nine of the 12 women aboard were en route to join their husbands—most of them with occupation troops aboard.

The four engine DC-4 crashed and burned about 12 miles from Harmon Field, where it had made an emergency landing due to bad weather at Gander airport, sprawling international air terminal on the other side of the island.

The giant Skymaster, which began its journey from New York, had landed at Harmon Field at 3 p. m. (EST) Wednesday to refuel and give the crew a 12-hour rest. Under normal weather conditions it would have refueled at Gander airport but the base was closed in by rain and fog.

Wallace, Baruch Feud Over Atomic Control

GIVE DREARY FORECAST FOR MEAT EATERS

Supply Unlikely To Match Demand Until '48 Says Agriculture Dept.

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Agriculture Department economists said today meat supplies are unlikely to match demand before 1948, and by then people may not be able to afford as many steaks and roasts as they would like.

That doubly discouraging forecast for meat-hungry Americans came in the price decontrol board suspended at least until next week a third decision on the future of culling prices for milk and other dairy products, now free of OPA jurisdiction.

The Agriculture Department's Bureau of Economics explained its prediction of a slackening meat demand by saying that consumer incomes are expected to turn downward in late 1947 or early 1948.

Furthermore, the agency said the demand for meat and other foodstuffs at a record peak—may decline as consumer spending shifts to non-food items, such as automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators and clothing, as supplies of those goods become more abundant.

The bureau said meat output during the remainder of 1946 may be (Continued on Page Eight)

CORN HARVEST BUMPER CROP

Assures Country Firm Base For Future Food Production

Chicago, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A bumper crop sufficient to provide 25 bushels for every man, woman and child in the United States was labeled "secure" today by grain experts.

Corn has won its race with frost grain men asserted, and is now out of danger—assuring the country a firm base upon which to build its cereal meat and dairy food production next year.

C. N. Ralvin, statistician for James E. Bennett and Company, grain firm, predicted a record-breaking crop of 3,328,398,000 bushels on the basis of October 1 conditions reported by grain dealers, millers and other correspondents in the growing territory.

"The great bulk of the corn crop is now beyond frost damage," Ralvin said, "and the crop generally will be of excellent quality. This is in sharp contrast with last year when much soft corn was harvested."

Ed Boerner of Harris, Upham and Company said the high quality "will add considerably to the feeding value of the crop."

In its weekly review, the weather bureau agreed with Galvin, stating "Corn is now mostly safe and is in good to most very good condition especially in the main belt." Only two to three percent of the acreage in Iowa, a major producing state, is not matured.

Harvesting of some early corn in the Midwest already is under way. The first car arrived here yesterday from Indiana. It sold at auction for $1.90 a bushel. Grain men said the harvest would be completed by Christmas.

Miners Insist On Wider Contract

Atlantic City, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Twenty-eight hundred shouting delegates to the United Mine Workers Convention refused today to make anything less than a nationwide contract with soft coal operators, and authorized a policy committee to determine new wage demands.

A majority of bituminous operators had indicated a willingness to accept the contract which the miners now are working for the government.

John I. Lewis, president of the UMW (AFL) had said earlier that the decision on whether to come to terms with part of the industry would be left to the convention.

Both Agree On Dangers Confronting UN Efforts To Set Up International Controls; Wallace Blames Baruch, Following Elder Statesman's Blast At "Errors" In Criticism Of American Atomic Energy Policies

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Grave danger confronts United Nations efforts to set up international atomic controls, Bernard M. Baruch and Henry A. Wallace virtually agreed today.

But they bitterly disputed the cause. Wallace, ousted secretary of commerce, blamed Baruch. He declared that with nations already launched on a frantic atomic bonfire, Baruch has adopted a stubborn and inflexible approach to negotiations.

Baruch, American member of the U. N. atomic energy commission has blamed Wallace. He asserted the "error" cabinet officer perpetrated "errors" and caused public confusion in his criticism of the United States control plan.

VA DEBATE IS BITTER ISSUE

Stormy Session Disrupts Legion Scheduled Program

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—(AP)—American Legion dissatisfaction with government handling of veterans' affairs, aggravated by personal exchanges between Veterans Administration Commander John Stiel, was still a bitter issue today as the organization came to the final sessions of its annual convention.

Stiel yesterday repeated his own charge that Bradley had "broken faith" with the veterans and demanded Congress be convened immediately. (Continued on Page Eight)

No Disturbances At Tarboro Mill

Tarboro, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The State Highway Patrol continued to stand by today awaiting developments at the strike-bound Hart Cotton Mills after reports of "minor disturbances" yesterday morning.

L. Lester Jones of Greenville, commanding officer of Troop A of the State Highway Patrol, reported "all quiet" and the "situation well under control" this morning, as negotiations over wage demands continued.

Jones said that several non-union workers were reporting for work today, as union members continued their picket lines.

Mayor Rawls Howard called Governor Cherry to find out what I had to do in case I wanted assistance from the State Highway Patrol.

Governor Cherry directed Motor Vehicles Commissioner T. Boddie Ward to make the Highway Patrol available only if the situation should get out of hand of Tarboro police.

N. C. Food Dealers In Pica For "Decontrol"

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Decontrol of beef and veal, because of a federal report that these meats are in "plentiful supply" was urged upon President Truman and Agriculture Secretary Anderson today in telegrams sent by the North Carolina Food Dealers Association.

J. B. Vogler of Charlotte, secretary of the association, also announced that E. N. Grover, former OPA's meat enforcement officer at a pain in the back of his neck but, Washington, was urged to come to Charlotte and personally observe the black market in meats.

Textbooks Shortage

Students Hampered By Scarcity; Reasons Given—Record Enrollments, Paper Shortage, Book Cloth For Binding Scarce, And Lack Of Printing Time

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—American college students this year face a shortage of 4,500,000 textbooks that they need for school.

That estimate, and the rest of the information here, comes from the American Textbook Publishers Institute.

In the 1945-46 school year about 10,180,000 books were shipped to schools.

But the 1946-47 year is a record-breaker for enrollment, with an estimated 18,000,000 textbooks needed. Only about 13,500,000 will be available.

Here are reasons for the shortage given by the Institute:

1. Shortage of paper.
2. Shortage of book cloth in which textbooks are bound.
3. Lack of printing time.

During the war, textbook publishers were allowed only 75 per cent of the paper they used in 1942. They

The "errors," Baruch charged, are "gravely dangerous to the delicate negotiations now underway."

While President Truman put the whole controversy down as a matter between Baruch and Wallace, the government actually appeared to be caught between its international negotiations and the domestic controversy which the highly personal charges of the two men seemed certain to arouse.

Wallace, whom the president removed from the cabinet last month because of his split with Secretary of State Byrnes over Russian relations, had the latest word in the row with Baruch.

In a statement last night, Wallace declared that atomic energy negotiations in the United Nations have reached an "impasse" on two basic points of disagreement, which he attributed indirectly to Baruch's "stubbornness." The two points, he said, are:

1. Whether the U. S. should continue its production and stockpiling of atomic bombs during the negotiation of a treaty leading to full international control.
2. Russia's refusal to agree to an international system of inspection to control atomic energy production.

Beyond these, Wallace said, the U. S. has insisted unnecessarily on the great powers giving up their veto over atomic energy control matters despite Russia's flat refusal to do so. This, Wallace argued, has served as a barrier to the successful negotiation of an international atomic energy control treaty.

Charging Baruch with preoccupation with procedures, Wallace said the New Yorker is unable to distinguish the fundamental, critical issues from procedural questions and asked: "When are you going to get down to business, Mr. Baruch?"

Furthermore, he said sharply something is wrong about such atomic control proposals. "They have not solved the problem."

Wallace also called into question again the main course of American relations with Russia—the basis of his dismissal from the cabinet—by declaring that the root cause of atomic energy difficulties is the absence of attitudes of mutual trust and confidence between the United States and Russia.

While the row has only just developed into bitter personal feuding between Wallace and Baruch, it had its origin in a letter the then secretary wrote Mr. Truman on foreign policy July 23.

At that time Wallace criticized the atomic control plan which Baruch was presenting to the U. N., saying that under it this country offered no assurance to Russia or other nations as to the exact conditions under which the bomb would be given up.

Wallace made the letter public last month, shortly before the president asked his resignation, and (Continued on Page Four)

Heart Attack Fatal To Barney Oldfield

Beverly Hills, Calif., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Barney Oldfield, former famous automobile racing driver, died of a heart attack at his home here today. He was 68 last January.

His wife, Mrs. Bessie Oldfield, found him dead in bed this morning. She reported he was alive and apparently well when she arose and left the room to get the morning paper. When she returned a few minutes later, she was unable to arouse him.

The former speed driver contrary to the expectation of his friends, planned yesterday, friends said, at a pain in the back of his neck but, refused to have a doctor called, saying he would visit his physician today.

are still able to get only about that much although their need is vastly greater.

Magazines have been using a lot of paper, with new ones appearing, and the old ones getting fatter. The textbook publishers have been having trouble getting enough paper cloth from manufacturers, some of the delay there being caused by labor disputes.

Most textbook publishers don't print their own books but get outside printing firms to do it for them. So they have to schedule printing time.

When they lose their scheduled time, because of delays caused by such things as paper shortage, they have to re-schedule. This means delay.

Train held up—Last Tuesday a crew and conductor on a working train got hilarious at Parmie and thought they would somewhat change the general routine of their usual avocation. Filling up they started at this end of the road. Arriving at House they concluded to make a short stop and take in the city, the result of which the conductor received a thrashing from the agent at that place. Deeming their surroundings a little warm they concluded to come further on. In the mean time orders from headquarters came down the line to stop the mad career. At Winterville the signal to stop was displayed without effect. Here again the signal to hold up met their gaze and they stopped. The agent here promptly called a halt and here the train remained until the next day. The conductor and crew when last heard from were looking a job. So endeth a happy spree.

N. C. Judge Says War Trial Wrong

Dunn, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Judge Henry A. Grady of New Bern, here to preside over a two-week session of Barnet County Superior Court, declares that the trial and sentencing of Nazi war criminals to death set a dangerous precedent and offered a serious threat to world peace.

"They should have been tried in their own courts," he said. "But they were tried by their enemies. They never stood a chance of acquittal."

"Don't get me wrong," Judge Grady emphasized. "I have no sympathy for the Germans. I think they were guilty, and they ought to be hanged, but not by that court. I never heard of trying anybody for going to war before. Nothing like that has ever been done before."

"What if America should wage a war and lose?" Judge Grady questioned. "Should they hang all our leaders and generals?"

Asked if he thought the action of the World Court will have a bad effect on future peace, the judge replied, "I am afraid that it will. You never again can expect their followers and other Germans to feel kindly toward us."

Chapter 12

Sitting on bare pine planks worn smooth by the many who had been alone with their consciences in this same cell before him, Martin King learned for the first time what it was to hate a murderer.

Footsteps rang in the corridor, a key scraped and Cloud entered as the door of the cell was opened by a shirt-sleeved guard.

"Make yourself at home," Martin said. "Have a chair and put up your feet while I bake a cake."

The detective was not amused. He regarded Martin earnestly but without sympathy. He said, "Now's your chance to play fair with me, King. I know things I didn't know before. You can still tell the truth before it pops up and hits you in the teeth."

"You want me to confess. Is that it?"

"If you killed Searle, why not?"

"I didn't kill him. I don't know any more about it than you do, if as much."

"All right. You've still got some things to explain. Mary Smith, for instance."

"I told you I didn't think that was her right name."

"King, you're the biggest damned fool I've met in a long time."

Martin had an uneasy feeling that this was no exaggeration, but he grinned and said, "You talk like a city editor. Maybe you missed your calling."

"Maybe I did. Isn't it traditional in the newspaper business that no murder story can rate as tops unless it has a romantic angle? A secret love affair, with one party risking a life to protect the other, ought to fill the bill."

"Sometimes a love child helps. Martin strove to keep his tone humorous."

"That thought escaped me," Cloud admitted. "I must remember to ask Miss Ennis if there's going to be a baby."

Martin opened his mouth and shut it again.

Cloud went on calmly. "Do you want to let down your hair and tell me when you first fell in love with her?"

"When I first—?" His voice rang hoarsely in his own ears. "What the devil are you getting at?"

"She talked with me."

"What did she tell you?"

"Everything I asked her. Mostly about Mary Smith."

Martin growled. "She hasn't got a brain in her head. I told her to keep her mouth shut."

"Why?"

"Good God, isn't it obvious? Here I'm all mixed up in a homicide because you're too dumb to find the real killer. That's bad enough by itself without having a girl mixed up in it with me. That's why I invented Mary Smith, a girl you'd never be able to drag into it."

"An interesting statement, King. Extraordinarily interesting, since you trotted out Mary Smith before I mentioned that anyone had been killed. Such foresight is commendable to say the least."

Commendable? He is suicidal, Martin thought. He said, "The murder gave me an added reason for sticking to the story. The nobody's business was that it was nobody's business who I went out with. Too many people would say I was trying to get my job back by making a play for Ennis' daughter. As if I'd ever work for Ennis again under any circumstances."

"How did you happen to be out with her?"

"I wanted company to get my mind off my troubles and she seemed like a good kid in spite of her old man. I guess I had an idea I might find out more about why Ennis killed that story of mine, too; he didn't unboom himself to me wholeheartedly, and I was naturally curious as well as sore."

"Did you find out?"

"I don't think we mentioned it, as it turned out. She did talk about my losing my job and said she could probably fix things so I could go back. I told her not to bother and I meant it."

"Where did you meet her?"

This was the sixty-four-dollar question, Martin thought. What had Barbara told Cloud? They had entered Rosetti's together, but where had they started from? Not the Gold Mine Club; he had left there nearly an hour ahead of her. Besides, how did he know that she had not broken down altogether and given Cloud the whole truth about her visit to Martin's apartment and the discovery of Searle's body, so that anything he said to the contrary would only strengthen the web of lies in which he was caught?

"Not far from the Gold Mine Club," he hazarded. "A little distance down the street. I didn't want to go back into the joint after the excitement."

Cloud took his notebook from his

Pollitt (right), 44, of Council Bluffs, Ia., who rests in a hotel room. Pollitt told police that Thomas forced him to fly from Memphis, Tenn., to Bogalusa at pistol point. Pollitt said the bandage over his eye and blood stains on his shirt resulted from a scuffle with Thomas. (AP Photos).

Pilot Missing

Geoffrey DeHavilland (above), 37-year-old member of the noted British aviation family, was missing after his tail-less experimental jet plane exploded while on a test flight. (AP Wire-photo).

This is a reasonable facsimile of the note Morrie's typist wrote, but it isn't the note he dictated. Martin's memory of those minutes in Morrissey's office was clear and he reviewed it with care. "What he said was, 'I'm going to ask the law to put Richard Searle where he belongs. But right in the middle of the sentence he stopped to ask the girl—Louise, he called her—if he was going too fast, and she must have dropped those four words because of the interruption."

Cloud pursed his lips. "Maybe you are mistaken. Morrie has always been a tough customer and for quite some time I've looked forward to having business dealings with him."

"Be your age, Cloud. If he intended to kill Searle would he have written a letter saying so for publication in the Record?"

"Don't forget about the criminal's propensity for making stupid mistakes. I've seen stranger examples of it than this."

"Just the same, I'm sure of his words. Now I see why he was so anxious to get his letter back. He must have spotted the error in the carbon copy and figured it might make trouble for him."

"Before Searle's death? That sounds as if he might have anticipated it."

Martin shrugged. "Have it your own way. I wouldn't put anything past Morrie. But since he was hoping to get back all or part of the twenty-five thousand Searle had clipped him for, I should think he'd have wanted Searle to live a little longer."

"He didn't expect to get twenty-five thousand dollars," Barbara put in. "Morrissey couldn't have hoped for much more than a tenth of that."

Dad offered to settle Richard's debts for ten cents on the dollar and made it plain that he wouldn't go higher. Twenty-five hundred wouldn't be too much for Morrissey to sacrifice if he had a good reason for wanting Richard out of the way."

Cloud's glance rested speculatively on the girl. "I'm certainly glad you dropped in, Miss Ennis. That's the most helpful hint I've had yet."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

NOW THE APPOINTED TIME
Someone has said that there is no time but the present. The past is irrevocably gone; the future has not yet arrived. The only time we know, the only time in which we can live, is the present.

Such being the case, we waste our time and make ourselves unhappy when we keep regretting the past or dreaming about the future. A few past mistakes can be corrected and where this is so, we ought to let no time pass until everything wrong and maladjusted has been made right to the extent that we can make it right. But most of the past is closed so far as any alteration of ours can touch it. The best advice is that of St. Paul: "Forgetting the things which are behind, and stretching forward to the things which are before, I press on." Relax your hold on the past—past regrets, lights, offenses, injustices. Let the dead bury its dead. Forget it and go forward.

As for the future, no one but God Himself knows what that future will be. What appears golden may turn out to be leaden; what appears terrifying may turn out to be joyful. Anticipated sorrow may be the opening portal of great joy. What appear to be the dark skies of summer may have fair clouds in their soon.

The present is rich with possibilities of joy which few of us appreciate. Happy those people who lay hold on these possibilities as they turn up with the passing minutes. The time to be happy is now.

WASHINGTON LETTER

MEXICAN BASED AIR SCOUTS COVER THE HURRICANE ROUTES

By JANE EADS
Washington—Through an arrangement with Mexico, the U. S. Weather Bureau's hurricane warning service is being considerably improved.

The hurricane season is at hand so this is good news to residents along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, where hurricanes are likely to strike if and when they blow inland.

The new service is an important wartime development. Mexico is permitting us to use airfields strategically located in the hurricane area. Our airplanes may be dispatched to observe the position and intensity of storms and to radio back all necessary data.

The Bureau has a special hurricane teletype circuit which connects its offices on the Gulf Coast from Brownsville, Tex., to Key West, Fla., and on the South Atlantic from Key West to Charleston, S. C. All stations receive simultaneously all messages sent by any other station on the line. The three hurricane forecast centers—Miami, Washington and Boston—are connected to the teletype circuit.

Warnings, advisories and bulletins are issued frequently from one or more of the forecast centers during the hurricane season. The messages contain the position of the storm, its intensity, direction and rate of movement.

I. R. Tannehill, principal meteorologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau, says the word "hurricane" is used as the name for any tropical cyclone of the Atlantic ocean, Gulf of Mexico, Caribbean Sea, Eastern and Southern Pacific ocean.

The Weather Bureau describes the well-developed hurricane as a vast whirlwind of extraordinary violence. It originates over warm seas not far from the Equator, where the layer of air near the surface is laden with moisture.

A hurricane has two motions: first the rotary motion of winds about the center, which becomes more violent as the storm develops and often is greater than 100 miles an hour; and second the forward motion of the entire storm area.

It is important for the meteorologist to know the hurricane's course. There have been some very irregular movements of hurricanes. A few have described loops, others body's words. Renewal of Russian pressure against Turkey did nothing to lighten what was a situation as engendered by Stalin's words. Byrnes could have added that one nation's search for military security might threaten another's position to cause war, also.

But the institute thinks the grammar and secondary schools, although hit by the textbook shortage, generally will make out better than the colleges. Here are reasons:

Mr. Truman's statement reviewed proposals by the British government and the Jewish Agency looking to a permanent solution of the Palestine problem and added:

"I cannot believe that the gap between the proposals which have been put forward is too great to be bridged by men of reason and good will. To such a solution our government could give its support."

Mr. Truman reminded the world that he repeatedly has made known his deep interest in the matter and urged that steps be taken at the

Shortly after the initial blast shook this Delaware river industrial community of 4,000, all available fire fighting equipment was summoned from nearby cities. Truckers Union Tightens Strike

New York, Oct. 4—(AP)—Truck drivers, on strike here for more than a month, today extended their drive against "hot freight" to points in New England, Middle Atlantic and Southern cities in an effort to stop the shipments at points of origin.

John E. Strong, president of one of three striking locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT), said union members were receiving telephoned pledges that trucks of firms which had not settled with the union would be kept in garages and warehouses.

Strong has described "hot freight" as material ordinarily handled by his union which is now being rerouted from New York City to New Jersey terminals and reloaded for trucking here.

He said the new movement augmented one being carried on by shop stewards at New Jersey points and estimated the union could halt about 2,000 tons of freight a week.

Arabs Confident No Immigration

London, Oct. 4—(AP)—An Arab statesman said today Great Britain had promised there would be no new Jewish immigration into Palestine while the conference on the future of the Holy Land was in recess—that is, until Dec. 16.

Paris Bey El Khouri, president of the Syrian Chamber of Deputies, was commenting on President Truman's rebuffed request to Prime Minister Attlee to admit "substantial" Jewish immigration to Palestine without waiting for further decisions. The Syrian leader is the head of his country's delegation to the London roundtable on Palestine, which recessed without clearcut action.

Paris Bey said all Arabs would oppose "with all the means at their disposal" Mr. Truman's call for immediate "substantial immigration."

"The only way Truman could get the Arabs to accept his proposal would be for him to send half a million American troops to force the issue," he said. "I am confident the President is not thinking of doing that."

South Africa offered a sub-amendment to let the proposed commission choose its own chairman. This eventually carried, before the vote, however, Thorp said angrily:

"Mr. Chairman, the United States delegation had the intention of asking that the chairmanship of this commission be entrusted to some other country, but in view of the totally unwarranted attack upon our motives we shall abstain from taking part in the voting and will abide by the decision of the commission."

Arturien countered with the assertion that he would refuse to take part in the vote even to the extent of abstaining. The sub-amendment was voted 7 to 3, with five absentions and five states listed as not voting.

The United States, China, France, Greece and Poland recorded absentions. The five other Slav states did not answer roll call.

Dept. Of Justice In Check On Complaint

Washington, Oct. 4—(AP)—Assistant Attorney General Lamar Caudle said today the Justice Department is looking into a complaint that thousands of GI students at Illinois University have been denied the right to register for the general election.

Caudle, head of the criminal division, told a reporter the complaint alleged that between 8,000 and 9,000 veterans are affected.

He added:

"I have directed United States Attorney William W. Hart of the eastern district of Illinois to look into this situation immediately and thoroughly."

Going Fishing? Here's How!

To hear Willie Wells and Basil Strube arguing about trout fishing, you'd think it was more important than the atom bomb.

Willie favors dry flies, Basil pooh-poos anything but wet flies. Willie swears by a Royal Coachman; Basil won't hear of anything but a Silver Doctor. And by the time it comes to steel rods versus bamboo rods... #IX&*!

But on Saturday, each got back from Seward's creek with a catch that couldn't have differed by more than several ounces!

NINE DEATHS ON HIGHWAYS

Lieut. Lester Jones Warns Motorists To Drive Carefully

By CHESTER WALSH
 In an interview today with Lieut. Lester Jones, commander of the State Highway Patrol for the north-eastern district, he recalled that during the last weekend two persons were killed and four others were seriously injured in automobile accidents in Pitt County, and gave a warning to motorists to drive carefully. Incidentally, he has issued orders to the patrolmen under his command to bear down on violators of traffic laws on the highways.

"In view of the fact that we had an excessive number of automobile accidents over the weekend, too many of them fatal," Lieut. Jones said, "and it now appearing that we will have beautiful weather and numerous football games over the weekend, it is to be hoped that motorists will use every precaution possible to avoid the recurrence of last weekend's tragic record."

"In Pitt County alone there were killed last weekend two persons and four seriously injured. Pitt County now has a record of nine persons killed during the year 1946. With momentum stepping up, as it is at the present time, it may be expected that this county will set a new all-time record of fatal accidents for this year."

"The State Highway Patrol in Pitt County and throughout the State of North Carolina is appealing to motorists to be reasonable and prudent in their operation of motor vehicles over this weekend and in this manner bring about a reduction in motor vehicle accidents and fatalities," Lieut. Jones said.

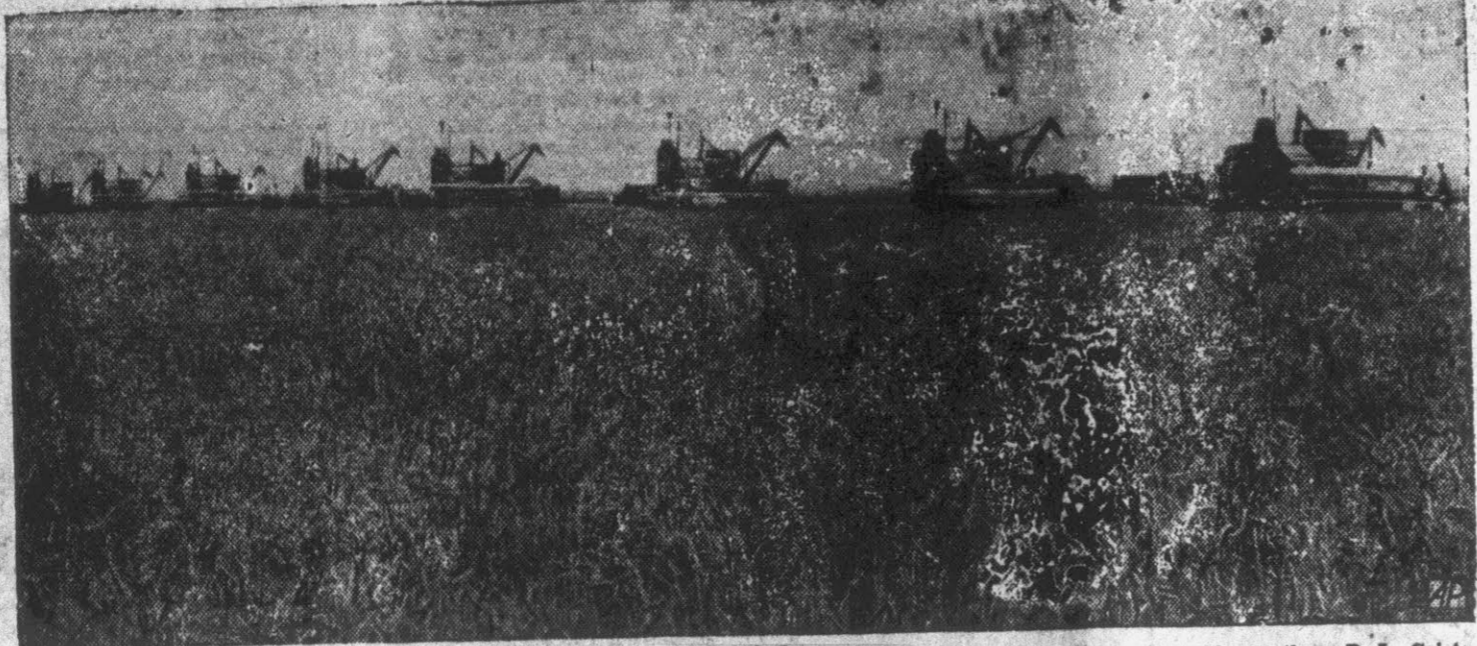

Nazi Trio Still In U. S. Custody

Nuernberg, Oct. 4—(AP)—Although technically free men since their acquittal by the international military tribunal three days ago, Franz von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche were still in the Palace of Justice jail today, hopefully awaiting safe conduct to the British zone of Germany.

All three expressed the hope that they would be given an armed escort to the British zone to protect them from hostile Germans and none appeared willing to risk leaving without it.

Col. B. C. Andrus, security officer said he had as yet received no orders about granting safe conduct for the three and would keep them in custody until a decision is made from a higher level of command.

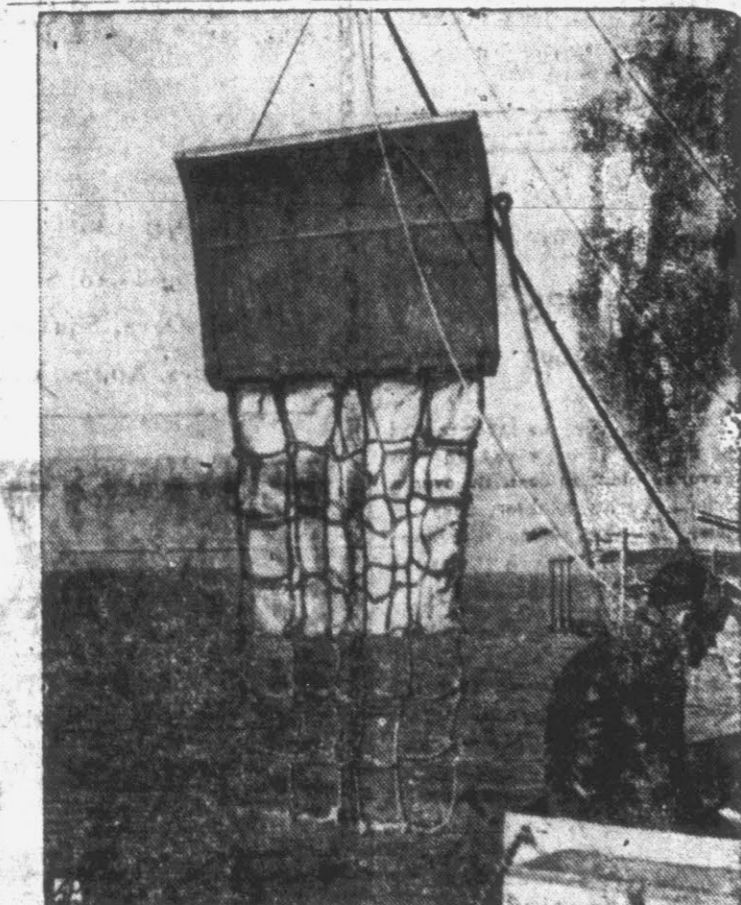

Andrus added he was anxious to get rid of "his star-bonders." Meanwhile attorneys for Wilhelm Fricke and Alfred Rosenberg, both under sentence of death, filed appeals for clemency with the secretary general's office. The appeals will be turned over to the allied control council in Berlin.

WHEAT HARVESTING ON GRAND SCALE—Eight self-propelled combines cut a wide swath as R. L. Crist of Garden City, Kan., takes the crop off the 3,500 acres of wheat he planted this year. The yield ran nearly 100,000 bushels.

SLED-RIGGED—Employed in the U. S. Navy's "Charlie Recovery" method of recovering scout planes, this sled is rigged prior to streaming in the water to enable a plane to taxi to it and be hoisted aboard the USS Denver.

PLANE RECOVERY DEMONSTRATION—Two U.S. Navy scout planes rest on catapults of the USS Denver during a demonstration of one of several methods used by the Navy in recovering their scout planes. The "Charlie Recovery" method used in this demonstration employs a sled. The plane taxis to the sled, thus eliminating the necessity for dangerous jockeying on the part of the pilot. The sled then is reeled into a position under a crane, so that the plane can be hoisted on board the mother ship.

DREAMBOAT ON CAIRO FLIGHT

Huge Plane Takes Off For Trip Over Polar Route

Honolulu, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The army's B-29 Pacusan dreamboat took off this morning on its projected 10,300 mile flight from Honolulu to Cairo over the top of the world.

The huge plane got into the air at 11:21 a. m. (EST).

To carry the greatest possible amount of gasoline, the ship was overloaded 27,000 pounds at the take off.

Of its total weight of 147,000 lbs. approximately half, 77,352 pounds was gasoline.

The heavy plane sped down the army air forces' 7,000 foot Hickham Field runway and onto the navy's adjoining John Rodgers Field's equally long strip before it was airborne.

The Associated Press listening post in San Francisco heard the Dream Boat report by radio at 11:30 a. m. (EST)—that it was proceeding normally at 1,400 feet altitude. Col. Beverly Warren, Omaha, copilot and an expert at getting heavily loaded planes into the air, was at the controls of the B-29 headed toward Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians, the first check point.

There is no expectation that the Dream Boat will set a world non-stop flight record, as Col. C. S. Irvine, the flight commander, had hoped, until the navy's Truculent Turtle flew from Perth, Australia to Columbus, Ohio, early this week.

The Turtle, commanded by Com Thomas D. Davies, Cleveland, Ohio flew an estimated 11,250 miles to smash Irvine's record of 7,916 set last November in the Dreamboat

Between Guam and Washington, D. C.

The Dreamboat will fly an estimated 10,300 miles if it reaches Cairo. Irvine said there is no possibility of it having sufficient gasoline remaining to add another 1,000 miles for a record.

He said the air forces' chief objective is to test the ship under arctic conditions.

Corn Harvest . . .

However, grain men considered that problem minor in relation to the fact that once again the American soil, at a crucial time for the world's food supply, had demonstrated its amazing fertility.

VA Debate . . .

"The trouble has always been over the same thing," a Legion official who declined use of his name said. "Congress passes laws for the benefit of the veterans and the Veterans Administration, in its interpretations of the law, distorts or cancels out the intended benefits."

In Pao Alto, Bradley said only that if the $200 a month ceiling set by the veterans administration for veterans' "on the job training" (cost of the immediate dispute between Bradley and Stelle) is found to be too low, "we will recommend that it be raised."

The stormy session yesterday over the training issue set back the convention so far that several scheduled speeches and committee reports were carried over to today's final session. Among them were reports on national defense, internal organization and resolutions and important addresses, including one by Franklin D'Oller, chairman of the U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey.

Besides these, the most important item on today's schedule was election of new Legion officers, with Paul H. Griffith of Pennsylvania apparently slated to take over as national commander.

The Legion came out with a firm stand on foreign affairs, supporting the foreign policy of Secretary of State Byrnes.

Vienna . . .

(Continued from Page One) Since Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are the only states involved besides the members of the control council in Austria and the enemy states of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria, which would not be eligible to participate, there seemed little possibility of a meeting.

ITALIAN PORT—Wreckage still lines Civitavecchia, port for Rome, where shipping is being handled in much the same manner as at war's end and little rebuilding has been done.

Aldermen In . . .

(Continued from Page One) Negro firemen, thanked the board for permitting the company to attend the Firemen's Convention at Elizabeth City. Incidentally, these firemen have won first prize with their hose reel at the last eight state conventions.

Routine business included reading of reports of various municipal departments and the announcement that the Red Cross chapter will give up one of its offices at the City Hall. This will be occupied by Mrs. Evelyn Glenn Hodges, state supervisor of school lunch rooms for the Department of Education. She has charge of the eastern district.

Meat Forecast . . .

As for 1947, the report said per capita civilian supplies may be only as large as this year—or an average of between 40 and 145 pounds a year.

It added that the supply of pork is expected to be smaller than this year but that production of beef is expected to be large, reflecting in turn a tendency among producers to delay marketings of cattle this fall in expectation of possible high or prices.

Sheep and lamb slaughter next year probably will be less than this year, with prospects of a smaller 1947 lamb crop and fewer lambs to be fed this fall, the bureau said.

On the subject of prices, the report commented that recently established ceilings will permit prices of cattle and hogs to be around 10 per cent higher, and lambs over 15 percent higher, than in the first half of 1946.

However, a drop in national income in the second half of 1947 would be accompanied, it said, by declining prices of meat animals particularly in the fourth quarter when production will be increasing seasonally. The bureau did not amplify its prediction of a lower national income.

"U. S. Keep Out", In British Talks

Blackpool, England, Oct. 4.—(AP) Demands that the United States keep out of British imperial affairs were voiced today at the conservative party conference voted unanimously and with cheers that the principle of imperial preference must be maintained.

Prominent speakers voiced fears that the labor government would abandon imperial preference—'arbitrary protection of empire products against competition from outside the empire—in return for the Amer-
