

FATE OF MEAT CONTROL SAID UP TO TRUMAN

President To Make Decision Known Sunday If Plans Go Through

President Truman today pondered arguments for an against easing or scrapping meat controls and a high official said the chief executive will decide very soon.

Mr. Truman will make his decision known to the nation in a radio address Sunday night, if tentative plans go through.

One indication that an announcement is near came as the Agriculture Department rushed work on an answer to the beef industry's formal petition for removal of ceilings.

Meanwhile, from officials who know what went on at yesterday's cabinet discussion of the meat issue there came conflicting reports of what the president may do.

One official said he believes Mr. Truman is inclined toward some modification of the present meat control program, presumably involving higher ceilings or perhaps a certificate plan insuring against a long-run profit or loss on livestock.

Another official said he got the impression the president is opposed to a middle-ground program of this kind.

When a reporter noted that left outright decontrol or retention of the present price lids as the only alternatives, the official replied: "That's right."

It is known, however, that the possibility of importing meat to help ease the shortage was one of the points discussed by the cabinet.

These proposals prompted sharp criticism on both the political and industry fronts.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) termed the suggested importation of Argentine beef "shocking." He added in a statement:

"The possible destruction of the livestock business in the U. S. may be of little importance compared to losing an election."

Wilbur La Rue, speaking for the National Independent Meat Packers Association, told a reporter that acceptance of the Argentine offer would be a most unfortunate solution to the problem.

"Why encourage foreign meat when the only thing needed is lifting government regulations."

Elizabeth City Bank Has Fire

Elizabeth City, N. C., Oct. 12—(AP)—A spectacular early morning fire, which Fire Chief Jerome B. Flora said apparently originated in the kitchen of the Albemarle Club, completely gutted the third floor of the Guaranty Bank building here today.

The fire was reported at 5:05 a. m. and was under control before 8 o'clock.

Flora would not estimate the damage but said the third floor was a complete loss and that considerable damage had been done by water to the offices on the second floor, a watch repair shop and the bank on the ground floor.

W. B. McGill, owner of the club, said his loss "probably would be $15,000 in equipment and fixtures" part of which was covered by insurance.

A. G. Small, cashier of the bank, said he could not determine the loss but some of the posting machines and typewriters were damaged extensively.

The Blue Danube

Why All The Fuss Over A River? Arguments In Paris Important Because They Represent A Major Effort To Prevent Division Of Europe Into Two Camps

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Freedom of the Danube, which the Paris peace conference has included in the Romanian draft treaty over the fierce objections of the Russian dominated Slavic bloc, is of vast importance to world peace and progress.

The battle which has been raging over this issue represents a major effort by the western allies to penetrate the "iron curtain" which divides Europe into two camps.

Whether that effort will succeed along these lines remains in grave doubt, despite the action of the conference. The draft treaty now has to be passed to the council of big four foreign ministers for approval—and approval must be unanimous in order to stick. If Russia vetoes the Danubian clause, out it goes.

And why all this fuss and feathers over a river? To the world at large the Danube is associated with the name of a lovely and imperish-

Two Big Planes Crash At Night

Heavy Fog Causes Army Plane And Airliner To Crash Within Hour Near Alexandria; All Aboard Bomber Killed; Passengers Survive Airliner's Shattering Impact

Alexandria, Va., Oct. 12—(AP)—Two plane crashes in a pea soup fog eight miles apart last midnight killed all five aboard an army bomber but spared 26 persons who crawled from the blazing wreckage of a big Eastern Air Lines DC-4.

The planes, attempting to land under a 300-foot ceiling, struck within 40 minutes of each other in the scrub pine countryside near here, a few miles south of Washington.

Eye-witnesses said the DC-4, en route from Miami to New York via Atlanta, apparently hit a farmer's lumber pile as the pilot groped blindly through the dense fog for a landing. The ship careened against a well house, ripped into a 2,900-volt high tension power line, crashed in a valley and burst into flames.

Debris was strewn over half a mile of the wooded muddy terrain about five miles south of here.

"It was incredible that anybody got out alive," said one of the first persons to reach the scene.

One by one the stewardess, Miss Betty Camera, 26, of Allentown, Pa., checked off the 21 adult passengers as they emerged from the escape hatch of the flaming fuselage. Then she shepherd them to the top of the hill for safety in case of an explosion.

The pilot, Capt. Joe S. Morris, of Miami, stepped dazedly from the plane after the passengers had got out and said:

"I'm all right. I was right on the beam."

Then he began to gush blood from the mouth. Capt. Morris and his co-pilot, P. K. Zepernick, also of Miami, were reported by Eastern

Arrested Trio Freed On Bond; Await Formal Arraignment Oct. 23

Baltimore, Oct. 12—(AP)—Three men, arrested and charged by the department of justice with an attempt to sell unauthorized photographs of material and equipment relating to the atomic bomb, were freed under $100 bonds today to wait arraignment October 23.

The men, George Wallace Comer, 23, and Miles Frederick Daubenheyer, 26, both of Bel Air, Md., and Capt. James Barnes Rike, Chattanooga, Tenn., were arrested by the FBI and military intelligence agents on a tip from the Baltimore News-Post late Wednesday.

The FBI said the men had approached the newspaper in an attempt to sell six pictures, taken on Tinian last summer and described by the FBI as most detrimental to the security of the United States, for $7,000.

Early announcements yesterday of the arrests said the photographs were of the atomic bomb but a later bureau statement issued in Washington said further study had disclosed the pictures were not of the atomic bomb itself, but were of material, and related equipment to the atomic bomb.

The men posted bond after preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Volkhart yesterday. They asked sufficient time to obtain counsel and prepare their case.

EX-KING AND WIFE RETURN

Fresh Rumors Surround Duke And Duchess On London Visit

London, Oct. 12—(AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor—the former wearing sports attire which British reporters found a little bit breath-taking—chatted informally with newsmen today at the picturesque Sunningdale estate of their host, Lord Dudley, near Epsom Downs.

The Windsors, who arrived late yesterday from Paris on their first visit together to England since the year 1939, expected to remain a month before going to America.

The couple's arrival, meanwhile, inspired a crop of new rumors concerning the Duke's future. A London dispatch to the Rome Express said the duke would be named the British ambassador to Italy.

"We are staying here until Nov. 6, when we leave, I hope, for the United States," the Duke told reporters. "We shall be seeing Mr. Attlee and Mr. Churchill and hope to make a number of visits to London."

The one-time King Edward VIII, who abdicated nine years ago for love of the Baltimore-born divorcee, did not mention the present royal family.

His reference to Churchill recalled that Churchill fought very staunchly for his right to marry the then Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson an keep his throne, while his mention of Attlee warmed up rumors that he might take a post in British labor government.

London papers which gingerly ignored events leading up to the abdication while they were top news elsewhere in the world greeted the duke's return with prominent picture displays.

Observers Say China Peace Talks Doomed By City's Fall

Nanking, Oct. 12—(AP)—Government capture of Kalgan, which the Chinese Communists made their No. 1 military citadel, prompted many observers to conclude today that China's peace talks were definitely doomed.

Communist sources conceded the loss of Kalgan was a severe blow. They promised that the fall of the city would unify all Communists and make them fight the Government armies harder than ever.

The Communists had insisted they would not return to the peace table until the Government called off its drive on Kalgan, a city of even greater strategic value than their political capital at Yenan.

Gen. Chou En-lai, who walked out on peace talks in Nanking when the Government loosed its multiple drive on Kalgan, refused at Shanghai to comment on the fall of the fortress.

Previously he had told Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek through intermediaries that if the Government captured Kalgan, China would be split wide open and the responsibility would lie with the Government.

In addition to its position on the important east-west Peiping-Suiyuan railway, the city was a hub for highways leading both to Siberia through Outer Mongolia and

State Dept. Shows Concern Over Trial

Public concern of the State Department with handling of the case by Tito's government gave plain evidence that this country, in an apparent broadening of foreign policy, is interested now in civil as well as external affairs of other nations.

Undersecretary of State Acheson told a news conference there were "aspects" in the trial of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, head of the Catholic Church in Yugoslavia, which have caused "concern and deep worry."

Acheson acknowledged that his remarks were based on press reports of the trials and that no account has been received through diplomatic channels.

From Zagreb, Yugoslavia, came word yesterday that the archbishop had been sentenced to 16 years imprisonment at forced labor and that courtroom spectators cheered his conviction.

"It is the civil liberties aspect of the thing which causes us concern," said Acheson at his news conference later in the day, "aspects which raised questions as to whether the trial had any implications looking toward the impairment of freedom of religion and of worship." He let his remarks stand for direct quotation—not usual at his sessions with reporters.

He emphasized that the United States Constitution guarantees a free trial and that the Supreme Court has set aside verdicts in which the courtroom "has been dominated by feelings adverse to the defendant by demonstrations of prejudice."

"That," the undersecretary declared, "is deeply inherent in the American system. The very essence of democratic process of law is that in trials we shall lean over backward."

CLERK CAUGHT WITH BIG SUM STOLEN MONEY

Express Company Employee Arrested With $725,000 Embezzled Funds

Chicago, Oct. 12—(AP)—A 22-year-old Miami, Fla. express company money order clerk who came here to attempt to win back the girl who had broken nether wartime engagement was in jail today facing charges of embezzlement after police said they found more than $725,000 in cash and negotiable money orders in his hotel room.

Police had possession of $725,820 in cash and negotiable money orders which Lieut. John Murphy said was surrendered by the youth, Elmer Stewart Hurt, who had quit his $30 a week job Sept. 27.

Also in possession of police were a bracelet and a diamond engagement ring which Hurt had intended to give to his former girl friend, whom he met yesterday at a Michigan avenue street corner in The Loop. But after Hurt greeted the girl and handed her a corsage of orchids he was seized by police.

Murphy said the girl, whom he did not identify, knew nothing of the theft of the American Express Company money orders. He said detectives had identified Hurt by description sent by Miami police.

Murphy said that Hurt, a pharmacist made in the navy for three years, related a story of a broken romance as he told of the theft of the money orders. He got a job at the express company last March and he acquired more than $28,000 in cash by issuing money orders and cashing them with the company cashier, he had sent a large bag of money orders to Chicago, which Murphy said he collected upon his arrival Monday.

The lieutenant said Hurt's money belt contained $3,000 and when officers went to his $2 a day hotel room where they found $28,820 in cash in a metal box. In a locker at the Grand Central Station Murphy said police found $697,750 in uncashed express money orders.

U. S. Backs Interchange Of Minority Groups Between Hungary And Czechoslovakia; Ukrainian Minister Calls Reduction Of Reparations To Russia "Unfriendly Act"

Paris, Oct. 12—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith told the peace conference today that the U. S. was ready to back the transfer of some Magyar-populated areas of Czechoslovakia to defeated Hungary if necessary.

Smith, the U. S. ambassador to Russia, said the U. S. would support Czechoslovakia's compromise proposal to transfer 200,000 Magyars from Czech territory to Hungary through a bilateral agreement.

"Every effort should be made," Gen. Smith declared, "through minor territorial changes if necessary, to reduce to the minimum the number of people forced to leave their ancestral homes under such an agreement."

Smith's statement was sandwiched between a string of Slav speeches which opened plenary session debate on the peace pact, for Hungary—the fourth of five treaties to be considered. Slav delegates urged Hungary to join more solidly with the Slav-Danubian group of states.

The United States insisted that any transfer of Hungarians from Czechoslovakia be voluntary—a bilateral agreement, Smith said, and would be watching to see that it was "carried out with restraint."

Yugoslav and Czechoslovak delegates hinted in their statements that Hungary was an unsatisfactory tenant of the Danube basin.

Ukrainian Foreign Minister Manuilsky denounced any attempt to reduce Hungarian reparations to Russia as an unfriendly act.

The U. S. has led a fight in the committee for a minority proposal to reduce the figure from $300,000,000 to $200,000,000, warning that Hungary might be sent into economic collapse by heavy demands on her.

Manuilsky also touched on the other economic roe spot in the treaty—the majority proposal for the freedom of commerce on the Danube. Manuilsky charged that states like the United States and Great Britain want to dictate their will to the Danubian states, but that the Danube states intend to free themselves from economic dependence.

Once Hungary is dealt with, only the treaty with Finland will remain. (Continued on Page Two)

New Campaign In Policing Prices

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—OPA Administrator Paul A. Porter announced today the government will start a new campaign on Monday to police newly-built homes or apartments offered for sale or rent to veterans.

In a joint broadcast with Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt, Porter said the OPA's 550 rent control offices, aided by other government agencies, will see that the veteran gets first crack at new housing.

Porter emphasized that dwellings under construction must be posted with a "big sign" saying they are held for veterans, and warned that "even criminal penalties may be imposed" in case of flagrant violation.

"We are also going to check official ceiling sales prices and rents with the prices and rents that veterans tell us they are actually paying," he added.

Porter said the absence of posters "will automatically make buildings suspect of being unauthorized projects," and said this will help the OPA to stamp out bootleg building.

Strength FOR THE DAY BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

COLUMBUS AND THE NEW AGE Do we stand on the threshold of a new age? Four hundred and fifty-four years ago when Columbus landed in the West Indies, a new era began in earnest in world affairs. But Columbus was probably unaware of this, as were the sovereigns also who had underwritten his venture. So little did Columbus understand the greatness of his achievement that he mistook altogether where he had been and believed he had touched islands lying off the peninsula of India. Almost 125 years passed before a permanent settlement was established on the continent of America. For several generations following the exploit of Columbus people regarded the new world as something so fanciful and far removed as to partake almost of the nature of a fairy tale. Today we are sure the atomic bomb has ushered in a new era in human affairs. Our certainty, however, arises from the fact that we are close to it and are overawed by it. People a thousand years from now may not regard as all significant this period when marks the emergence of the atomic bomb. The lesson for us is that we should not be too sure about the significance of times and reasons. We need to keep our minds open to new truth and to remember always that God sets the stage of human life and that He alone knows the significance of the scenes which will appear on that stage.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WAR ORPHANS GIVEN PRIORITIES IN IMMIGRATION QUOTAS BY JANE EADS Washington—The homeless, orphaned children of Europe want to "belong." They want and need love. They want to live and play and go to school like others of the world's children. Uncle Sam, who has helped before, is helping again. The U. S. quotas on immigrants still stand but under Presidential order first-come is given to the children. Since the first ship-load of immigrants arrived last May, more than 3,000 unaccompanied children have been brought to this country. These children are below the age at which they legally could be responsible for themselves. They are not coming to relatives or other interested individuals who would be responsible for them.

They come to this country under a corporate affidavit of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children. The affidavit guarantees that they will not become public charges and that they will be under the supervision of operating agencies approved by the U. S. Children's Bureau. The children coming to the United States now are older than those brought here during the war years. They are usually beyond the age which fits easily into foster homes, or at which children are usually adopted. They come from concentration camps. They've had experiences which many of us would not know how to evaluate. For years they have lived without family ties. "They survived," says the Children's Bureau, "by ways of their own, where their elders did not; they were surrounded by brutality and made their own terms with it." They are not to be regarded as "delinquents." Self-reliance is their most conspicuous characteristic. They have amazing courage and endurance. And while proper homes are the great need, the children put their education first. For this they will sacrifice everything else. "Again and again UNRRA records show that the child chose the United States because he believed he could get the best education here," says the Children's Bureau. "Many of them actually came into the American Zone of occupation from other areas, for that reason."

children will come to the United States very from a few hundred to several thousand. The Committee brings the new arrivals here, give them a thorough examination, outfit them in American clothes introduces them to American ways and learns something about them. After this they are sent to whatever affiliated organizations seem best able to meet their particular needs. But the Committee does not place children in foster homes. It urges that a family eager to adopt a child get in touch with its local council of social agencies, which will know which local agency is in charge of any European child needing a home.

Housing . . .

(Continued from Page One) The stenographer who used to be doped up with another new has her own individual apartment. This situation is excellent for her and we do not begrudge it—but it certainly is over-consumption of space due to rent control. "If rents were increased no more predict that about a million added than is fair to property owners. Units of rental space would immediately be available for veterans and others. These units would take the edge off the immediate housing demand." Then, digging further into the housing shortage, and linking it with the scarcity of meat, Barnard says: "Our own studies indicate that if we were allowed to build 700,000 or 800,000 units a year without the red tape of government, just as we built them during the war, and before the war, in two years the whole housing shortage would be a thing of the past. "This is the plain simple fact which politics has obscured. It is just like the meat crisis. We could have plenty of meat, and our shortages are due solely to politics." Barnard doesn't say who is playing politics with the meat shortage, but he is realistic for it, but he does have some positive ideas about the housing shortage.

Treaties with Italy, Romania and Bulgaria have been completed since final plenary sessions of the conference began Monday, with delegates winding up action on the Bulgarian treaty today. Over Russian opposition and splitting, 15 to 6, on east-west lines, the conference wrote into the Bulgarian treaty—as it had into the Romanian—a clause to throw the Danube river basin open to world shipping.

A huge amount of commerce now moves over the Danube and it is an integral part of the economic life of that part of Europe. But it is more than that, for in time of war it provides a strategic water route for military operations. During both world wars there were great troop movements in that theater, and heavy fighting. The Danube has been tined with the crimson of many conflicts through the centuries. An international Danube Navigation Commission was established in 1856 and its navigation of the river was declared free to all nations during the duration of the first World War the river remained open until Germany withdrew from the commission in 1936 and later

Miss Drake's program will include numbers by Bach, Mozart, Brahms, Tcherenif, and Debussy. A newcomer to the college, Miss Drake is a native North Carolinian, her home being in Scotland Neck. For the past two summers Miss Drake has taught theory of music at the Juilliard School, East Carolina Teachers College, she taught for two years at Judson College, Marion, Alabama.

To be sure the area chosen should be self sufficient for an extended period of time. Transportation will be cut off in the next war. That means that access to water, fuel, food, etc., should be very handy. In answer to my pleas to decentralize I have received many letters. Most of these have been most helpful. One of the most constructive was from a good friend in Oswego, Kansas, editor of the Democrat. He points out the desirable features of our community for all who are sincere about protecting themselves against an A-bomb war. I am leaving here this week to call upon him. Concrete Suggestion If people write me about other places they should stress the ready availability of large food supplies from adjacent farms, plentiful spring water supply, stand-by electric power, and the number of natural gas wells, all in the immediate vicinity! This is exactly the type of opportunity that I have in mind when I say "Decentralize before it is too late." There must be many such attractive spots in America that would appeal to men of vision and courage. I should like to hear from such localities.

Drama Instructor Is Writer On Subject

Dr. Lucile Hoerr Charles, who joined the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College this fall, is the author of an article "Growing Up Through Drama," which is included in the July-September issue of the "Journal of American Folklore," quarterly publication of the American Folklore Society. Dr. Charles, who came to East Carolina Teachers College from Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, Fredericksburg, teaches courses in speech and dramatics at the college here and directs the activities of the Chi Phi Players, student organization. Dr. Charles' article deals with the role of dramatization in the adolescent developmental process as it is illustrated in puberty rites of primitive peoples. The study stresses the educational importance of dramatization in these ceremonies and suggests the value of comparing primitive puberty rites with the modern education of adolescents.

Planes Crash . . .

Continued on Page Four Air Lines officials to have been the only ones injured. Narrow as their escape from flaming death had been, most of the passengers expressed willingness to fly on immediately to their destinations beyond Washington. Dense fog continued through the night, however, preventing any flights from National Airport. In the night's first and more tragic accident, the B-25 army plane was en route from Richmond, Va., to Andrew Field, Md. At 11:26 p. m., the army craft reported heavy fog and asked permission to land at National Airport, Washington, or at the navy's Bolling Field, across the Potomac River. Told to wait a moment, that another plane was coming in to land, the B-25 circled away and nothing more was heard from it until it crashed in a wooded area about six miles south of the airport. Farmers living in the isolated area said they heard the plane circling around about three or four times "and then suddenly it blew up in the air."

Mrs. William John Miller, Jr.

Miller-Harrington

was tastefully decorated in autumn flowers.

In a ceremony of beauty and dignity, the marriage of Miss Jean Harrington and William John Miller, Jr. was solemnized Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The church was decorated with ferns, standards of large white chrysanthemums and tiers of cathedral candles giving the stately beauty which prevailed throughout the service.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Paul Davenport. Her selections included "Because" by De Hardestad, "I Love Thee by Grieg and "Through the Years" by Vincent Youmans. This was followed by two lovely solos, "Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Miss Nancy Lee Hannah.

Mrs. Davenport sang "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin as a Proclamation and Mendelssohn's wedding march as a recessional. As the officiating minister, Rev. Roscoe C. Hauser, Jr. took his place in the chancel, the bride party entered the church.

Acting as groomsmen were Martin Anderson of Williamston, N. C. and Travis Hooker Flanagan of Greenville, uncle of the bride, Dr. Robert G. Hicks, Jr. of Rocky Mount and Stuart Critcher of Williamston.

The bride's attendants were Misses Lucy Clyde Blount and Ann Skinner of Greenville as bridesmaids and Miss Helen Perkins Flanagan of Washington, D. C. aunt of the bride, as Maid of Honor. They wore chartruse wool dinner dresses, designed by Ted Shore, half hats of brown velvet and feathers with brown slippers and gloves and carried large bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with brown satin ribbon.

Little Miss Mary Gaskill Harrington, sister of the bride, dressed in brown tulle with tight fitting bodice, very full skirt and puffing sleeves with head dress of ostrich tips, wearing bronze slippers and carrying an old fashioned nose gay of yellow pompons preceded the bride.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage and was met at the chancel steps by the groom who was accompanied by Charles T. Marston as best man.

The bride's wedding gown was exquisite with its fitted bodice of champaign lace, with sheer veils outlined in seed pearls and long tight sleeves. Her full hair, a skinner train which ended in a wide circular train was appliqued in pointed panels of matching lace. Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a cap of champaign lace and satin. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride's roses and Stephanotis.

For the wedding the bride's mother was charming in her dress of brown crepe with gold trimming, gold feathered hat and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Miller, mother of the groom, was becomingly dressed in black crepe, black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. R. C. Flanagan, grandmother of the bride wore black crepe trimmed in blue, black accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

Mrs. Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lancaster Harrington and has always lived in Greenville. She received her education in the city schools, Woman's College of the University of N. C. and at East Carolina Teachers College. The absolute sincerity of the bride has won for her a host of friends wherever she is known.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William John Miller of Williamston; he received his education in the schools of that city, Mars Hill and High Point College. He is at the present associated in business with his father.

In the early evening Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for a wedding trip after which they will make their home in Williamston, N. C. For traveling Mrs. Miller chose a Forstmann brown woolen gabardine suit with brown reptile shoes and bag and change accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses from her bridal bouquet.

Immediately following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lancaster Harrington entertained at a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. William John Miller, Jr.

tural, religious, and social standards of the Christian college. Meredith College with its firmly established academic reputation and its Christian attitude toward social and economic life is such a college, and as such has an appeal for those young women who wish well-rounded training for womanhood. As a small college with selected enrollment it also provides the advantage of the closely knit social group which enables students to know each other and also promotes closer student-faculty relationships.

Graduates of Meredith are eligible for membership in the American Association of University Women. The College is unqualifiedly accredited also by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, by the Association of American Universities, and by the National Association of Schools of Music.

In 1943 the Baptists of North Carolina initiated a $565,000.00 Expansion Program for Meredith College. This amount will provide for three splendid new buildings on the college campus. The architect's plans are in hand and it is expected that work will begin as soon as materials are available.

Planning For Child Accident Prevention

The Committee on Decoration of Windows for Child Accident Prevention Week, October 20-26, Mrs. W. P. Moore, chairman, has contacted various groups here concerning placing displays in store windows to stimulate interest in child accident prevention.

The response to date has been gratifying. The committee expects to hear from other organizations. The following groups have indicated that they will have window displays at the following places: Girl Scouts at Blount-Harvey's, Service League at J. C. Penney Company, Child Conservation and American Home Department of the Woman's Club at Heber Forbes, Rotary Club at Belk-Tyler Company, King's Daughters at McLellan's Store, West Greenville PTA at City Market, and Junior Red Cross at Blount-Harvey's.

Interest in Child Accident Prevention Week was first aroused in Greenville when J. B. Kittrell, for the Travelers' Protective Association called a meeting at the City Hall two weeks ago, when committee chairman for observing the week were appointed. Police Chief Jim Tanner, Lieut. Lester Jones of the State Highway Patrol and Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson are giving the safety project their support.

The table was centered with a beautiful basket of white dahlias tied with satin bells and ribbon and covered with an exquisite pressed lace cloth. In the sun room, Mrs. Travis Flanagan and Mrs. Edward Stuart Flanagan poured coffee.

Guests included the bride and groom, member of the wedding party, relatives and out of town guests. On Thursday evening immediately following the rehearsal for the Miller-Harrington wedding, Miss Ann Skinner entertained informally at her home on the wedding party. Upon arrival the guests were greeted by Miss Skinner, Mr. Miller and Miss Harrington and directed to the punch bowl where Mr. and Mrs. Powell Speight and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Flanagan presided.

In the dining room, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Skinner, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Saue served the wedding cake, salted nuts and mints from a beautifully appointed table covered with an Italian cut work cloth and centered with a bowl of all white flowers and flanked by long white tapers.

About seventy-five guests enjoyed this lovely affair.

This calculation is based upon last June's elections, in which the Communists, Socialists and Popular Republicans - which all support the draft - amassed a 15 to 5 advantage over the Radical Socialists and Rightist parties which oppose it. A previous constitution was rejected by a majority of more than a million votes last May.

The big unknown in tomorrow's balloting, however, is the drawing power of the de Gaulle, who has condemned the charter on the grounds it does not give the executive enough power, and does not separate the legislature, judiciary and executive branches in such a fashion as to provide France a strong government.

Recognizing the power of de Gaulle's challenge of his party leadership, President Georges Bidault last night urged the nation to approve the constitution to "insure civil peace in the Republic" and protect "the independence of the nation."

UNC OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

Higher Teachers' Salaries Prime Topic Of Pres. Graham

Chapel Hill, Oct. 12.-(AP)- President Frank P. Graham says salary increases requested for the faculty and maintenance staff of the consolidated University of North Carolina during the next biennium are desperately necessary for humane and efficient work in a most critical situation.

Principal speaker at the 153rd birthday celebration of the University of North Carolina, which was later merged with North Carolina State and the Women's College of UNC to form the consolidated university, he pointed out here yesterday:

"The present salary scale was fixed 24 years ago, whereas living costs have gone up 41 per cent in the war and post-war years."

President Graham said he also favored salary increases for public school teachers.

The consolidated university of today is handicapped by lack of dormitory and classroom space, President Graham said. There has been comparatively no building for eight years.

He told of heroic efforts that led to the reopening of the institution following reconstruction and of the university's struggles during the last depression, when funds had to be raised to keep 500 students from being forced to return home.

Josephus Daniels, editor and publisher of the News and Observer and a university trustee more than half a century, told the audience that when he left in 1885 there were only 170 students and no co-eds.

Election Day Is Tuesday, Nov. 5

Coroner, Griffin H. Rouse of Greenville.

County Surveyor, F. McCoy Tripp. J. Henry Harrell is chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections. The registration books were opened today. They will remain open until October 27. Challenge Day is Saturday, November 2.

VFW POST HAS REGULAR MEET

Elks Club Offers Building For Social Affairs

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Charles Gray Morgan Post 7032 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was held in the Pitt County Court House Thursday night at 7:30. About eighty members were present.

Comrade Hearne made his finance report on the Coronation Ball held recently.

The post voted unanimously that special mention be sent Miss Joanne Bloom and Alfred Smith for their refusal of payment for entertainment at the Coronation Ball. A motion by Comrade Malcolm Williams that this money be made into a welfare fund and added to monthly by other entertainments was favored by all present.

The post decided to purchase the colors and American flag to be used at public affairs. Also the purchase of caps for its members. Any member desiring a cap should leave his name with Commander Larry Avrette at Merit Shoe Store, with $2.50.

The Elks Club generously offered their club for social meetings once a month, which was received with rousing applause.

Two members were called upon to escort Miss Pitt County (Linda Renfrew) and runner-up - Miss Edith Harris to the Tobacco Festival in Washington, N. C. the 24th of this month.

The post was notified by the Ordnance Officer at Fort Bragg that rifles will be furnished the firing squad for ceremonial affairs.
