Coal Contracts Studied By Attorney General's Office

Threatened Shut-down Of Soft Coal Mines Brought Up In Cabinet Meeting; UMW Strike Looms Larger - One Week Before November Deadline

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The threatened coal crisis was brought up at President Truman's cabinet meeting today and Attorney General Clark later said his office is analyzing the government's contract with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Clark told reporters that while he had not been asked to study the contract, "we always analyze those things so we will be ready if called upon." The contract was negotiated last May after the government seized the idle soft coal mines.

Later Clark was asked how much time was devoted to the subject of coal.

He replied that about the only discussion of the matter was that it is in the hands of Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug and Reconversion Director John R. Steelman.

Lewis has demanded reopening of the existing wage agreement and has served notice that the pact will be void unless the negotiations begin Nov. 1. The federal coal mines administration has taken the stand that the contract is good for the duration of government operation of the mines.

John L. Lewis' threat of a new soft coal strike this winter loomed larger than ever today—one week before the November 1 deadline.

President Truman tossed the prospective crisis back to Secretary of Interior Krug, who remained silent. So did Lewis.

Government labor officials, growing more anxious by the hour, privately expressed the opinion that another round of strikes would bring down the wrath of Congress and might provoke severe labor legislation when the lawmakers return in January.

But these officials are treading warily. They are not talking for publication—either about legislation or about the possible effects a paralyzing coal strike four days before the November 5 elections may have on the makeup of the next Congress.

Meanwhile, coal industry spokesmen in Pittsburgh said a general mine strike would cut off home supplies of coal almost immediately.

Coal retailers are already behind with orders, the industry said, and a work stoppage would catch them with little or no stockpiles. A 20-day backlog on hand for industrial uses would be suitable only for the homes equipped with stokers.

Jews Detained After Bombings

Jerusalem, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Police detained nearly 150 Jerusalem Jews today following a night of bomb and mine blasts which came less than three days after a Stern-gang warning of intensified mine war against the British.

Twelve persons—11 soldiers and civilians—were wounded in four bomb and grenade explosions in Jerusalem. The condition of three was listed as "dangerous."

The Jews were detained after an all-night police screening of Jewish residents at the scenes of the bombings. The army said, however, that no actual suspects had been arrested. The city was tense today. Soldiers on patrol seemed sullen and grim.

The explosion of three bombs and a hand grenade in the Jewish quarter here followed the 6:30 p. m. deadline of a nightly dawn-to-dusk curfew imposed in the quarter a week ago by the British because of a "serious recrudescence of Jewish terrorism in the Jerusalem area."

Guaranteed Wages

What It Means; Here Are Main Arguments Covering Issues Of Guaranteed Wages For Employees; Eric Johnston Endorses Way Of Labor's Rights

Washington.—Why guarantee wages? Why should an employer tell his workers, "I will guarantee you steady employment for three, six, or twelve months?"

Here are some of the main arguments in favor of the "guaranteed wage," which is fast becoming a "hot" issue in labor circles:

NAZI DOCTORS INDICTED FOR WAR PROGRAM

Twenty-Three Accused Of Mass Murder; Others To Be Arraigned

Nuremberg, Germany, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Twenty-three Nazi doctors were indicted today on charges that they "murdered hundreds of thousands of human beings" in Germany's wartime program of medical killings and brutal experiments with living prisoners.

A woman, Herta Oberhauser, and personal physicians, were among the Dr. Karl Brandt, one of Hitler's 23, who will be tried next month in the first of a series of war crimes trials by special American military courts.

Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for the courts, said that between 250 and 500 former Nazi military, industrial, financial and governmental leaders would be arraigned during the trials, which are expected to last through 1947.

The doctors were charged on three counts—conspiracy to commit atrocities, participation in war crimes against enemy nationals, participation in crimes against humanity involving German civilians and the nationals of occupied countries.

Ten also are accused of membership in the SS (Elite Guard) which the international military tribunal declared was a criminal organization.

An 18-page indictment describes such experiments performed by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, argued along those lines recently before a congressional committee. He said industrial unrest is "an explosive force within our economy, even more so than the atomic bomb, because that is something in the distance, and this is with us today."

One of the greatest causes of industrial unrest, he said, is "job insecurity." Many people work only spasmodically. Most American workers get less than 200 days of work in a year. Therefore—

"This job insecurity causes slow-downs, as workers do not want to work themselves out of a job. It causes workers to demand higher wages than perhaps they would if they had steady employment."

Churchill And Attlee Verbally Blast Russia; Solid British Front Against Communism Appears Shaping Up

London, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Winston Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee, Britain's headlines today with almost simultaneous verbal blasts against Russia in what appeared to be shaping up as a solid British front against Communism.

Churchill told his constituents in suburban Logthorn last night that he had facts and evidence to support his suggestion—made in the form of a question before the House of Commons Wednesday—that the Soviet Union now has 200 divisions—more than 2,000,000 men—on a full war footing in Russian-occupied Eastern Europe.

He lauded Attlee's speech before the trades union congress at Brighton earlier in the day in which the prime minister bluntly accused Soviet leaders of erecting a wall of ignorance and suspicion between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

"The fact that the British government has decisively broken with the Communists and are fronted with them, although it does not immediately affect the course of affairs in this island," said Churchill, "has an important and beneficial result abroad, because there are countries on the continent—like France—quivering under the Communist attack."

He said his Wednesday speech should be regarded as a serious warning and added:

"I did not ask the question about the Russian forces without weighing very carefully the whole matter and without consulting others my friends and colleagues, and laying before them the evidence on which I proceeded."

"Not did I ask the question without informing the government beforehand of my intentions, but you can take it from me that the fact I adduced are correct."

Government spokesmen remained resolutely silent with regard to Mr. Churchill's embarrassing inquiry but some sections of the press were increasingly critical of the wartime prime minister's methods.

"What ought not to be done," said the Daily Mirror, "is to state [Britain's differences with Russia] in the form of insult and innuendo as Mr. Churchill has inclined to do 25 years ago and is doing again today."

A woman, Herta Oberhauser, and personal physicians, were among the Dr. Karl Brandt, one of Hitler's 23, who will be tried next month in the first of a series of war crimes trials by special American military courts.

Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for the courts, said that between 250 and 500 former Nazi military, industrial, financial and governmental leaders would be arraigned during the trials, which are expected to last through 1947.

Loose Again

Tokyo, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Tokyo Tokyo, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Tokyo Rose walked through the big steel gates of Sugamo prison to freedom tonight, grinning for photographers and reporters, and said she wasn't Tokyo Rose, after all. Flanked by solicitous U. S. army officers, including a hulking colonial who pleaded with reporters, "Make your questions brief—Rose has waited a long time for this." She insisted she was the girl American soldiers, sailors and marines heard over the radio Tokyo as "Ann, Orphan Ann, your favorite enemy and playmate."

ASHEVILLE MEN TO BE TRIED

Pair Charged With Conspiracy To Rebel Against State

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Two men associated in a "Public Welfare and Protective" Association have been bound over to Superior Court here to face trial on charges of conspiracy to commit murder and conspiracy to rebel against the state.

Charges against the two—W. E. Connor, 32-year-old sponsor of the Public Welfare and Protective Association of Buncombe County, and David B. Wright, a 24-year-old associate—were heard in police court yesterday.

Witnesses testified that Connor and Wright related plans to "take over" the police and sheriff's department and "get justice."

One witness, Groce Banks, said that Connor admitted having dynamite and being ready to blow up the courthouse to gain control of the law enforcement agencies.

Another witness, I. C. Crawford, said Connor and Wright told him of a plan to take over the law forces "like the boys over at Athens (Tenn.)."

Charges of conspiracy to incite to riot were not prosecuted against Charles Brinnins, Jr., and F. M. Kuykendall, both 23 and associates of Connor. Each later testified for Connor. (Continued on Page Six)

Service League Thrift Shop In Community Chest

(Third in series of articles by one of the eight participating agencies of the Community Chest.)

By MRS. H. LYMAN ORMOND

Organized eight years ago the Service League Thrift Shop is a volunteer organization now composed of approximately sixty members, who are volunteer workers concerned in the betterment of humanity. Daily we contact every opportunity for service and accept these responsibilities with understanding minds, sympathetic hearts and eager hands.

That we may be cooperative we make it our purpose to have our interests and activities related to those of other organizations and agencies.

This past year there were interesting highlights in the work of the Service League. Many patients who otherwise would not have had care were hospitalized through the Lainghouse Hospital Bed. Others included: the volunteer hospital work, which was assisting nurses making surgical dressings and of a work; we assisted in Red Cross

DEMO'S REPLY TO COP PLAN

Term Republican Pledges "Bushwa" To Fool The Voters

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A Republican pledge to "take the government out of the people's hair and put it back into their hands" drew a Democratic retort today of "bushwa and political foolery."

They have been trying to fool the people with those same platitudes for the last 15 years, but the people won't be fooled," commented Rep. John Sparkman of Alabama, head of the Democratic National Committee's Speakers Bureau.

Sparkman was referring to a speech last night at Providence, R. I., by Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, House Republican leader, who outlined what his party plans to do "just as soon as the legislative machinery of the House is organized under Republican control."

Martin, in his broadcast speech, listed these among the things he said the Republicans propose to do: Repeal emergency war powers of the executive department, "restore under absolute fairness harmony between labor and management," eliminate unnecessary government bureaus and agencies, abolish "the waste and the graft" and recover money wrongfully paid into "the pockets of pilferers," balance the

Royall Defends Army System For Justice

Raleigh, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Undersecretary of War Kenneth Royall told the N. C. State Bar today that "we do not have now—and no matter what changes may be made, we will never have—a court-martial system that will please everyone."

"And where a mistake of a state or federal court normally receives local publicity, a mistake of an alleged mistake by a court-martial is properly of national interest, and is commented on throughout the country. This is particularly true of wartime courts-martial, which are the principal objects of attack."

Wyatt Seeking RFC OK On Prefab Loan

Would Prime Prefabrication Industry With Federal Funds In Drive To Get Factory-Built Homes On Market

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt is seeking to prime the prefabrication industry with $54,000,000 worth of federal loans in a drive to get factory built homes rolling from assembly line.

Disclosing this to a reporter today, an official of the National Housing Agency said Wyatt sent letters of recommendation for 11 firms to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation within the last week.

The loans are designed to spur the most conspicuously lagging phase of the veterans' housing program—a pre-fab campaign which apparently will provide only 40,000 houses this year instead of the 250,000 set as the original 1943 goal.

The NHA official said that if the 11 concerns seeking federal aid come through, along with other pre-fab producers, the chances are good for meeting the 1947 goal of 800,000 factory built dwellings. This is two-fifths of the entire 1947 housing target of 1,500,000 homes started.

Wyatt's aides are confident that RFC will approve the bulk of the requests. The loan agency itself was non-committal, but a spokesman said action is possible within a matter of days if sufficient data were accompanied the loan requests.

The biggest is $32,000,000 for the Ustron Corp. of Chicago. Next is $11,000,000 for the New Orleans coat builder Andrew J. Higgins. Seven other cities are represented.

Wyatt already has gone to the mat with another federal agency War Assets Administration, on behalf of the Ustron Corp. The housing chief wants the government to turn over the huge, federally owned Dodge plant in Chicago to this mass builder of homes. WAA, however, is unwilling to set aside a lease agreement previously granted to the Tucker Corp., a new auto concern.

Veterans' organizations last night sailed into the fight on Wyatt's side. The Amvets contended in a statement that WAA's decision would betray the best hope of veterans to get a low cost, mass produced house.

WAA, in turn, issued a memorandum saying its lease is a firm commitment by which it (WAA) is legally bound and by which it will stand.

Wyatt's aides hinted he might use the extraordinary authority of the second War Powers Act to force WAA's hand, but they declined to discuss possible specific steps.

Army Dictating China Policies

Nanking, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The government's military offensives in Manchuria and the Shantung peninsula are building new barriers to any possibility of the resumption of formal peace negotiations here.

Observing watching minority party efforts to woo some compromise from the Kuomintang (government party) and the Communists are "muzzled" that the government's military leaders would set off these campaigns at a time when the possibility of negotiating some new ceasefire agreement hung in the balance.

Some observers saw in these developments proof of reports frequently heard in Nanking that some military leaders are running the government rather than the government running the military. They declared these commanders are so filled with the success of their north China campaigns that they are heedless of the peace efforts which more moderate Kuomintang leaders are pursuing.

The Communists' Yenian radio today called the government's land offensive against Antung and its combined sea and land assault on Chefoo the first fruits of a military conference conducted in Peiping a few days ago by the government chief of staff, Gen. Chen Cheng.

One Authority For Military Buying

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—One phase of army-navy merger is a reality today with the disclosure that President Truman has put all armed forces' buying under a single final authority.

Army officials immediately hailed the move privately as "the best practicable solution" short of actual unification.

Bitterly opposed by the navy, full-scale merger would require congressional action.

RENTAL LAWS WILL AFFECT MANY PEOPLE

Regulations Cover All Phases Of Rent; Effective Here Nov. 1

Raleigh, Oct. 25.—Already hundreds of Pitt and Beaufort citizens are asking OPA rent control officials about the extent of rent control regulations, Frank McInnis, State OPA rent executive, reported here today.

McInnis, in answer to the inquiry, released the following questions and answers showing that Federal regulations cover all phases of rent—wherever people live and pay rent. He said rent laws cover everything including houses, auto camps, apartments, flats, rooms, tenements, hotels, fraternity houses, rooming houses, and trailers.

Following is a group of questions:

1. Q. Does rent control apply to Government housing projects?

A. Yes, whether housing accommodations are owned by individuals, corporations, state or the national Government, a maximum rent is established by Federal rent regulations. Rents for public housing, however, may be varied so long as they remain within the maximum rent set by the regulations for comparable accommodations in the area.

2. Q. Does rent control extend to services that a landlord may provide—such as janitor, hot water, laundry or furniture?

A. Yes, authority to regulate (Continued on Page Six)

Chief Of Staff

Eisenhower's Announcement That Bradley May Succeed Him Starts Washington Rumors As To Future Of Both Generals; Functions Of Chief Of Staff

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—There was a little confusion for a while here yesterday.

Had General Dwight D. Eisenhower meant to tell a news conference that General Omar N. Bradley would succeed him as army chief of staff?

If he had, then—When was General Eisenhower getting out? And why?

But this seems to have been now straightened out. General Eisenhower said he wasn't making predictions.

He said, though, that he thought General Bradley was one of the finest soldiers the army ever produced.

There have been rumors here—strictly rumors which may not become facts—that:

Withdraws Demand That Question Be Excluded From Discussion In Face Of Strong Opposition By U. S. And Britain; Vishinsky Warns "No Practical Results" Will Be Gained

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Confronted with strong opposition led by the United States and Great Britain, Soviet Russia today withdrew her demand that the veto question be excluded from discussion in the United Nations Assembly.

After hearing almost unanimous opposition to his motion to strike the veto issue from the assembly's provisional agenda, Soviet Representative Andrei Y. Vishinsky announced that he was withdrawing his proposal, made to an open session of the general committee. He said he felt it his duty, however, to warn both the committee and the assembly that discussion of the controversial issue could lead to "no practical results."

He described the move to bring up the veto question as "a political attack against essential principles of the charter," and declared that Russia "will not insist on exclusion of the items from the agenda" and "will not object to their discussion" in the assembly.

He said, however, that he felt compelled to put the committee "on guard" and to warn that it was entering "dangerous" ground.

Before withdrawing his proposal, Vishinsky had listened to a half-dozen opposition speakers, headed by the United States and Britain, with China joining in.

While making it clear that they were not committing themselves on the issues of whether the veto provisions of the charter should be changed, the two big Western powers insisted that the assembly must not be denied the right to discuss the question.

The clash occurred at an open meeting of the general committee after the Soviet representative formally demanded that the items dealing with the veto be stricken from the assembly's provisional agenda.

Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate, declared the American delegation felt that the assembly had a right to discuss any matter (Continued on Page Four)

Estonians Will Leave Country

Miami, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Sixteen Estonian refugees, heartened by an expression of sympathy from President Truman but ordered by the immigration department to leave the country, prepared today to sail to the Dominican Republic without their leader, Capt. Felix Tandre.

Tandre told Francis J. H. Dever, officer in charge of immigration, that he and his wife would not go to the tropics because her heart condition would not stand the climate.

Dever told the Estonians they would be allowed the time they need to commission their 36-foot sloop, Inande, for the trip being arranged through Dominican Consul Jose M. Nouel.

Five women and one child in the group will go by Taca Airways to escape the hardships of the 1,000-mile boat trip. The group came to Miami from Sweden last August, a 6,000-mile voyage.

President Truman said in Washington he felt sorry for the Estonians and that he hoped immigration laws could be amended for the benefit of such refugees, but he emphasized that legislation was required.

(Bradley has been on leave from the army since Mr. Truman asked him to head the Veterans Administration for a while to untangle its affairs.)

(The job of ambassador to Great Britain has been open since Mr. Truman took W. Averell Harriman out of there and made him secretary of commerce.)

Because the chief of staff job is the highest in the army, here is an explanation of what it is and (Continued on Page Four)

Mr. J. L. Kilgo has returned to Pitt General hospital for treatment.

Mrs. F. L. Herbert of Miami, Fla., arrived last night to spend some time with her daughter, Mrs. James M. Moye.

Mrs. J. C. Evans is getting along nicely following an operation in Pitt General hospital.

Mrs. Ray Stokes has returned from Pitt General hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Leslie Jones and daughter, Emily, have gone to Charlotte for the week-end.

Mrs. Lucian Bryan is a patient in Pitt General hospital.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Whichard announce the birth of a son, James Edward, on Friday, October 25, in Pitt General hospital.

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Monday at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. Sude Corev. Rev. R. C. Hauser will be guest speaker. Miss Bernadine Worsley will speak briefly on "Flag Etiquette." Assisting hostesses will be Mesdames H. R. Rogers, Claude Alligood, F. A. Dendall and Arthur Corey.

Junior Philathea Class

The Junior Philathea Class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday night at the home of Mrs. James Evans. The business session was presided over by the class president, Mrs. R. W. Davenport. An inspiring devotion was given by Mrs. J. L. McDonald. The social hour was conducted by Mrs. Wyatt Highsmith. Appropriate prizes were won by members in various contests. Mrs. Evans and assisting hostesses served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Seventh Day Adventist Church Eastern Carolina District Federation of the Seventh Day Adventist Churches will have an all day Missionary meeting on Sunday, October 27, at Ballard's Cross Roads community building. The public is invited. Come and bring your lunch.

Presbyterian Announcements: The church school meets at 9:45 a. m., a school for the whole family. You are invited to come and bring your family, if not enrolled in another school in the city.

The Men's Bible class meets at 10 a. m. and the students Bible class, taught by Miss Ruth Hillhouse, at the same hour, but in their own class room with entrance on W. 5th Street.

At 11 a. m. Dr. Robert S. Boyd will preach on the subject: "Why and Whom Should Men Worship?" What are the blessings we receive when we worship?

At 3 p. m. Twin Oaks Chapel Sunday school will meet, and at 4 p. m. Dr. Boyd will preach following the school. All friends in the community are invited to the school and to the preaching hour. On Nov. 2 a note for $400 will be due, and indebtedness on the Twin Oaks building. Every effort is being made to pay this note when due. Eighty chairs have been purchased to replace the uncomfortable wood benches now in the church. About $100 will be needed to pay for these chairs. But we believe the loyalty and liberality of the friends of this growing mission school will arise to meet these obligations. Thus far their offerings have been liberal.

Birth Announcement: Mr. and Mrs. George C. Simmons announce the birth of a daughter, George Carol, on October 10 at Pitt General hospital.

Christian Church Announcements: The Eighth Street Church has had a very happy response during the month of October to the call on the membership to observe Loyalty Month. The Christian Youth Fellowship will have its Sunday evening meeting at 6:30 at which time they have asked the Chief of Police, Mr. Jim Tanner, to be present and speak to them on the points at which youth become entangled in the law. Young people will find in the chief a friend indeed and they will be immensely helped by this discussion.

Inaugurating Girl Scout Week the various troops of Scouts will attend some church this Sunday and Mrs. J. K. Proctor, leader of a troop of Brownies, will be present with her troops at the Eighth Street Church Sunday morning. All of them are urged to be present and to sit together in the service.

Elected Editor

Nashville, Tenn.—Miss Kathryn Van Nortwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Van Nortwick of East Spring Road, Greenville, has recently been elected editor of the Milestones, student yearbook at Ward-Belmont College.

Miss Van Nortwick, who is a candidate for graduation from Ward-Belmont next June, is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary scholastic society, and of the Tri-K social club at Ward-Belmont. She is also a member of the Speech and Science clubs.

Miss Van Nortwick is a graduate of Greenville high school. She has two brothers, W. A. Van Nortwick and N. O. Van Nortwick.

Represents Queens in Who's Who
Miss Shirley Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Warner, 833 First Street, has been selected to represent Queens College in Who's Who Among College and University Students in America. Dr. Hunter B. Bickely, president, has announced.

The bases of consideration for representation were the qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, participation in extra-curricular activities and an indication of future usefulness to business and society.

This year Miss Warner is boarding student vice president of student government. She is active in the Athletic Association, and has been president of the sophomore class, secretary of the student government. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership organization, and Phi Mu, national social sorority.

W. Johnson Nichols Died Local Hospital

W. Johnson Nichols, 72, of Farmville, died in Pitt General hospital at noon Thursday following several weeks serious illness.

Funeral services will be held from the Farmville Funeral Home Friday at 3 p. m., conducted by the Rev. E. W. Holmes, pastor of the Farmville Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. E. R. Clegg, Farmville Methodist minister. Interment will follow in Nichols cemetery near Bell Arthur.

Surviving are his wife, the former Susan Sutton; one son, W. J. Nichols Jr., of Camp Lejeune; two sisters, Mrs. Marinda V. Cobb and Mrs. Alice J. Dail of Farmville, with whom he made his home; and one brother, Heber Nichols of Bell Arthur.

Thad Eure Speaker Elks Lodge Meeting

By CHESTER WALSH

Thad Eure of Raleigh, secretary of state and district Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, on an official visitation at the Greenville Elks Lodge last night, paid fine tribute to Exalted Ruler John W. Glover and the other officers of this lodge for excellence and efficiency in the performance of their duties and keeping the records and commended the members for their loyalty to Elksdom. The speaker said there were more new Elks lodges instituted in North Carolina last year than in any state in the Union. The first lodge to be established in this state was No. 139 at Goldsboro many years ago and the last one to be organized was No. 1710 at Morehead City last year.

Preceding the meeting, a barbecued chicken supper with all of the trimmings was served under the direction of Manager Herman Norris, to more than a hundred guests. The largest attendance at a lodge meeting here in years. The Greenville Elks Lodge was established in 1941. It now has more than 170 members. Curtis Perkins was the first exalted ruler, then W. J. (Dick) Bundy, E. Hoover Taft and now John W. Glover.

John R. Crawford Died At His Home

John Richard Crawford, 58, died at his home near Ballard's Crossroads at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

He had been in ill health for the past three years and critically ill for five months.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Howard James, pastor of Red Oak Christian Church. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Crawford spent all his life in the Ballard's Crossroads community and was a prominent farmer. He was a member of Red Oak Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ethel Allen Crawford; three sons, Olifton E. Crawford of Washington, N. C., Travis Crawford of near Greenville and Bernice Crawford of Fort Pierce, Fla.; three daughters, Mrs. Jarvis H. Allen of near Greenville, Mrs. James M. McKenna of Van Nuys, Cal., and Nellie Ruth Crawford of the home; and a sister, Mrs. Alice Nichols of Greenville.

Woman's Chorus To Present Programs

The Women's Chorus, sponsored by the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College, has organized for the year's work and has begun rehearsals for a radio program and a song recital of Christmas music, both to be presented during the fall quarter. Membership includes 40 talented young women who are students at the college. Dan E. Vornholt of the college faculty is director; and Dorothy Maynard of Smithfield, N. C., a student, is accompanist.

Among the members of the group are Doris Brown, Joan Yvette Johnson, Lillian Joyner, and Mimi Tripp of Greenville; Margaret Lewis of Route 4, Greenville; Mrs. Ruth Beddard Herriot and Elizabeth Worthington of Winterville; and Sallie Joe Gurganus of Bethel.

Wide Background Found In Faculty

The faculty of East Carolina Teachers College is a diverse group in background and training, according to statistics released this week from the office of Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, registrar.

Dr. McGinnis says that if there is anything to the idea that those from other localities and with varied experiences are able to impart new ideas, students at the college should be stimulated by contact with the 77 members of the present teaching staff. At the same time, according to the registrar, it is gratifying that a number of the faculty are either North Carolinians or have attended institutions of learning in the state.

Members of the faculty received their training in 90 different colleges in 26 states and 2 foreign countries. Their training was received in 33 universities, 14 teach-

LOCAL SCHOOL IS DEDICATED

Many Attend Ceremonies And Reception At St. Raphael's

Dedication of St. Raphael's convent-school on West Fifth street took place yesterday afternoon at 4:30 with a large number of Catholic dignitaries from all over the eastern part of the state present.

Ceremonies included a blessing of the building and a benediction service performed by Bishop Vincent F. Waters of the Diocese of Raleigh.

A public reception was held last night at 8 o'clock with a large number of local citizens attending. The welcoming address was made by Thomas Saled and Father Charles J. Gable, pastor of St. Peter's parish in Greenville, introduced Bishop Waters.

His excellency, the bishop, made a brief talk on the great possibilities of the South in its contribution to national life and its peculiar needs. He called attention to the effort the Catholic Church is making in the state in the field of education and pointed out that though the church is numerically weak, it is making an effort more than commensurate with its size.

The women of the parish prepared a luncheon for guests after the dedicatory ceremonies and refreshments during the reception given at night.

Catholic dignitaries who took part in the dedication ceremonies were: The Most Rev. Vincent F. Waters, D. D., bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Raleigh, the Very Rev. Monsignor Lennox Federal, rector of Sacred Heart Cathedral and formers' colleges, and 43 colleges of various sizes and sorts.

Twenty-nine faculty members received at least a part of their training in 6 North Carolina colleges and universities—9 at the University, 3 at East Carolina Teachers College, 1 at Elon, and 1 at Wake Forest.

Of the total of 77 faculty members, 54 attended Southern colleges and universities; 42 attended northern colleges and universities; and 34 attended colleges and universities in both sections.

Linda Renfrew Is Contest Winner

Last night, Miss Linda Renfrew of Greenville was awarded the title of "Miss Eastern North Carolina" in the final beauty contest held at the Tobacco Festival in Washington.

Miss Renfrew, the attractive daughter of Photographer Henry Renfrew and Mrs. Renfrew, was the candidate of the Greenville Lions Club in the county-wide beauty contest held here September 26 in which she was acclaimed "Miss Pitt County."

Congressman Herbert C. Bonner crowned Miss Renfrew "Queen of Eastern North Carolina," and when he said, "Your Majesty, would you rather have a career in Hollywood or $300?" She took the $300.

The Beauty Queen will be honored at the Halloween Dance the VFW is sponsoring here at the Armory Thursday night, October 31.

Window Display Prizes Awarded

In cooperation with "Child Accident Prevention Week," the organizations of Greenville have been most cooperative by decorating windows, and all windows were effective and impressive and have contributed greatly to the success of the Safety Campaign sponsored by the Traveler's Protective Association.

On Thursday the windows were judged by Sd. W. Davis, president of North Carolina Division of TPA, Everett T. Bemont, Field Representative of C. W. Antrim & Sons, Mrs. R. J. Slay and J. W. Glover. The decisions of the judges were difficult as all the windows reflected thought and work and they awarded first prize of $15.00 to the Rotary Club in Belk-Tyler Company window; second prize of $10.00 to Third Street School Parent-Teacher Association in Copeland Motor Company window; and honorable mention was given to West Greenville Parent Teachers Association in the City Market window.

FARM WOMEN PROGRESSIVE

Observe Achievement Day In Big Way; Over 300 Present

By LILLIAN HINES
Assistant Home Agent

The Pitt County Home Demonstration clubs held their annual achievement day on Thursday with over 300 members present. The morning session was presided over by Mrs. W. R. Bullock of Bethel in the Memorial Baptist Church. The program was opened by singing a hymn and the devotion was conducted by Mrs. L. E. Walston of Farmville. Miss Mimi Tripp, a student at ECTC, sang a solo. Mrs. J. Paul Davenport was organ accompanist.

The welcome of the day was given by fellow club women, guests and friends by Mrs. E. M. Tyson of the Ballards Home Demonstration Club. A response followed by Mrs. J. R. Moore of the St. John Home Demonstration Club.

Mr. G. H. Pittman, Chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, extended greetings on behalf of the board and expressed their interest and appreciation for work done by Home Demonstration Club women.

Miss Verna Stanton, Assistant Home Agent, brought greetings from the State Office. She thanked the club women for asking her to attend their Achievement Day and gave praise to the work that Pitt County women had done which has shown up so favorably in the state.

Sam Winchester, Pitt County Farm Agent, brought greetings from the Farm Agent's office. He believes that together, the farm men with improved methods of agriculture and the farm women with better methods of housekeeping should improve the health and way of living for rural North Carolina. To this aim Pitt County women have become leaders. Miss Joyner, Pitt County Home Agent, made some announcements. She also introduced guests of the morning among who were: Mr. W. T. Kyzer, Executive Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Pitt County Board of Commissioners; husbands of Home Demonstration Club women who were present; and Mrs. W. H. Pruden, wife of the Assistant Farm Agent of Pitt County.

Reports of accomplishments in home life were presented by each club. Much individuality and originality were shown in their presentations. First prize for reports went to the Renston-Nobles Club. Two women from this club arranged a basket of fruit with each piece of fruit representing some club activity and character traits being developed. They tied a bow of ribbon on the basket handle with four "C's" printed on the ribbon representing courage, character, citizenship and culture. They presented the basket to a fellow club member who has illness in her home. Honorable mention went to the Chicod Home Demonstration Club who demonstrated their club work by putting together links to make a chain and mention also went to the Bethel and Seven Pines Clubs.

Highlight of the morning was the talk, "We Build Again," by Frank H. Jeter, Extension Editor of State College. He stressed that we build new goals each year for better living. Mr. Jeter accredited Pitt County as being a leader in home development and improvement.

Lunch was brought in picnic baskets by each club and served in the armory. Falkland, Belfair and Bell Arthur Clubs decorated the tables. The afternoon session was held in the armory with Mrs. D. N. Nobles, Jr., vice-president, presiding. J. H. Boyd, Jr., Mayor of Greenville, extended a cordial welcome to the Home Demonstration Club women.

The Merchants Association presented three cash prizes for the Achievement Day Program. The presentation of the prizes was presided over by Mrs. Cora Powell, Executive Secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association. First prize went to Mrs. Cora Page of the Stokes Club; second prize to Mrs. J. W. Peed of the Renston-Nobles Club; and third prize to Mrs. S. F. Hogood of the Farmville Club.

The attendance prize for the day went to the Sweet Gum Grove club which had 23 of its 28 members present for the Achievement Day.

Miss Verona Lee Joyner presented 18 reading certificates to Home Demonstration Club women who have read two books from the approved list during the past year. She also presented 57 women pins and gavels for perfect attendance for one year to monthly club meetings in their respective communities.

Miss Joyner was presented a silver vegetable dish as a gift from the Pitt County Council, the representative organization of all Pitt County Home Demonstration Clubs. Mrs. B. L. Tyson led group singing after which the Achievement Day was concluded by repeating together the Club Collect.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout Week, celebrated annually by more than a million Girl Scouts throughout the United States, will open on October 27 (designated as Girl Scout Sunday) and continue through November 2, according to Mrs. W. P. Moore, local commissioner.

The theme of the seven day program highlighting Girl Scout activities and ideals will be "Citizenship in Action Around the World," which was selected, Mrs. Moore said, because it typifies the widespread interest and effort of the Girl Scouts in behalf of world friendship and understanding.

The Girl Scouts of Greenville will join with sister Girl Scouts in more than 8,000 American communities in the observance of Girl Scout Week. According to plans now being completed for the celebration, they will observe Scout Sunday by each troop attending church where their leaders worship. On Wednesday afternoon from 3:20 to 4:20 the Brownies will have a party and Investiture Service at the Rotary Club. The Intermediate Scouts will have a party. Court of Awards, and fly-up ceremony from 4:30 to 5:30 on the same day at the Rotary Club.

Girl Scout Week traditionally takes place during the week which includes October 31, the anniversary of the birth of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States. October 31 was originally observed as Founder's Day, back in 1920, and after Mrs. Low's death in 1927 the tradition of commemorating the day as the focal point of a special week was established.

Following the major interests of the Girl Scout program, "the seven service days" of Scout Week are each devoted to highlighting some special phase of Girl Scouting. Sunday is church going day, when the Girl Scouts attend church in uniform; Monday is Homemaking Day; Tuesday, Citizenship Day; Wednesday, Health and Safety Day; Thursday, International Friendship Day; Friday, Arts and Crafts Day; and Saturday Out-of-Doors Day. On each day of the week, Girl Scouts make a special effort to show their families, friends and the community what they are doing and what their organization stands for.

It is estimated that around 280 Scouts will take part in the local Girl Scout celebration this year. The week of October 27 to November 2 will be observed as Girl Scout Week for the sixth time in Greenville.

Troop 1 with their leader, Mrs. R. B. Lee, will worship at the Memorial Baptist Church.

Troop 2 with their leaders, Mrs. John Barnhill and Mrs. Carl Crawford, will worship at Memorial Baptist Church.

Troop 4 with their leaders, Mrs. J. G. Riddick and Mrs. C. L. Adams, will worship at the Presbyterian Church.

Troop 5 with their leaders, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor and Miss Bernice Pender, will worship at the Eighth Street Christian Church.

Troop 6 with their leader, Mrs. Richard Stokes, III, will worship at the Episcopal Church.

Troop 8 with their leaders, Miss Pattie Frase and Miss Frances Kittrell, will worship at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Troop 10 with their leaders, Mrs. W. E. Small and Mrs. Taylor, will worship at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Troop 12 with their leader will worship at the Presbyterian Church. All Brownies and Scouts are requested to wear their uniforms and meet their leaders at their respective churches for the 11 o'clock service.

Strength FOR THE DAY

BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

FORGIVENESS

One of the hardest things in the world is to be patient with fellow Christians who behave in an un-Christian fashion. The Apostle Paul, however, maintained that it is the duty of a Christian to be long-suffering toward all. "See that none render unto anyone evil for evil; but always follow after that which is good, one toward another, and toward all."

The Christian life begins when we are forgiven by God; it comes to its full fruition when in a Christ-like spirit we in turn forgive our debtors.

There is no sin which Christ appeared to loathe so much as the sin of a hard, unforgiving heart. Not once in his career did St. Paul attempt to get back at anyone, although he was a much abused man. When men heaped evil upon him, his method of getting even was to forgive them and to try to bring them into the fold of Christ. He maintained that a Christian is one whose sins have been forgiven by the grace of Christ and who every day maintains an attitude of forgiving love toward all who have injured him.

Paul emphasized the word "all." If we withhold forgiveness from anyone, we do not forgive in the way God intends we should. He forgives all our sins if we repent and ask Him to do so, but He insists that we in turn maintain the same attitude toward others.

WASHINGTON LETTER

JOB MAKING MORE MONEY

By JANE EADS

Washington—The U. S. mints are working like mad, day and night, to supply the nation with enough domestic coins to carry on its business.

If the present demand for pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and dollars continues, officials say, it will be necessary for the mint to turn out 3,000,000,000 domestic coins during the 12 months ending June 30, 1947.

This is going to be tough on our foreign customers. Uncle Sam makes money for other countries.

Because of the heavy demand at home, the mints have produced very few foreign coins in the past few months. During the year ending June 30, the mints produced 1,198,811,798 coins for eight different countries.

These were Colombia, Cuba, Ethiopia, the Netherlands, the Philippines, Salvador, Saudi Arabia and Venezuela.

Orders are pending for approximately 250,000,000 coins for Cuba, the Netherlands East Indies, Panama, Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, and the Philippines.

In addition to coins, the mints made all medals for the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines during the war and many for the Army and other government agencies.

Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint, says that approximately a million medals were delivered in the year ending June 30. The orders, instead of decreasing with the war's end, have increased almost 1,000 percent.

The sale of medals of the presidents of the United States, Secretaries of the Treasury, Directors of the Mint, and historic medals authorized by Congress from the time our government started, has increased.

The mint has sold $500 Roosevelt memorial medals since his death. Mr. Howard reports, adding that this represents the greatest demand for a presidential medal in the mint's history.

Now appropriations have been granted by Congress for the making of medals to Gen. Marshall and Adm. King.

Mr. Howard says the recent change in the price of cigarettes and the fact that there are more cigarettes being sold are among factors boosting the demand for small change.

In addition, more goods are being produced and sold and it is the small change transactions that require more coins from the mint, Mr. Howard says.

If They Could Talk

Guaranteed Wages...

how it got that way. Until 1903 the top army man was called the general commanding in chief. In 1903, by law, Congress created the chief of staff job. This was done to smooth out the work of the army and the war department.

Chief of staff means chief of the army staff of the commander-in-chief, the president.

So that military men will be subordinate to civilians in this country, the chief of staff operates under the civilian secretary of war.

When the chief of staff job is going to be open, the war department recommends to the president a candidate or candidates for the job.

The president can suit himself about this. Follow the recommendation or pick his own chief of staff. But the Senate must approve.

The term of the chief of staff is our years. Eisenhower was appointed by President Truman Nov. 3, 1945. His term is up Nov. 19, 1949.

Whoever is president then can re-appoint Eisenhower—if he's still there—or appoint someone else in his place.

If Eisenhower stayed in the army but was not reappointed chief of staff, he probably would retire. He could do that now, if he wished.

Anyone with rank of major general or higher—Eisenhower has the title of general of the army, the highest army rank must retire when he is 64.

(Brigadier generals, one grade below major generals, must retire at 60. Colonels and lower must retire at 62.)

General Eisenhower is only 56. But anyone with 30 years service in the army can retire when he wishes. Eisenhower has had 31 years' service. So he could retire now.

For that matter, so could Bradley. Bradley, 53 years old and a classmate of Eisenhower at West Point, also has had 31 years' service.

General George C. Marshall—whom Eisenhower succeeded—was chief of staff longer than anyone since Congress made the job in 1903.

He held it a little longer than six years, from Sept. 1, 1939, until Eisenhower took over in November 1945.

Marshall was over 64, the retirement age, when he quit, but he had kept on because he was chief of staff all through the war.

Although no longer chief of staff, Marshall still is on active service with the army but that was because.

President Truman asked him to go to China as his special representative to try to get the warring Chinese nationalists and communists to make peace. He is still there.

New Editor Assigned Student Publication

Kay Mann of Middletown will serve as editor of "Pieces O' Eight," student magazine at East Carolina Teachers College during 1946-1947. Miss Mann's appointment to the office was made by the college Publication Board at a meeting held this week. She was formerly associate editor, "Pieces O' Eight," which was revived last spring after discontinuance during the war, will be issued once a quarter during the regular school year.

within the scope of the charter and that it was clear that the veto rights of the five permanent members of the Security Council came within the charter.

Austin declared, however, that in opposing the Soviet proposal the United States "does not express any attitude with regard to the substance of the items" dealing with the veto.

"We think it is important to defeat this motion and to have these items on the agenda," he said.

Austin was backed by Sir Hartley Shawcross, British representative, who said the British delegation was in agreement with some of the observations raised by the Soviet Union but that this committee was not the place to accept or reject such items.

Shawcross urged that the committee, without prejudicing the case, pass it on without making any amendments.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared that any change in the veto provisions of the U. N. charter would be "a heavy blow" to the new world organization.

In a brief statement before the 4-nation committee, the Soviet representative said:

"Soviet Russia will reserve its right to express its opinion more in detail at the right time. I will say only that these items should be stricken from the agenda."

Guaranteed Wages...

Johnston is a member of the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, which is sponsoring a $250,000 study of guaranteed wages.

The big question about guaranteed wages is not "Should it be done?" but "How can it be done?"

There is not much opposition to guaranteed wages in principle. Nearly all employer want a stable working force, and all employees desire more job security. Yet, there is sure to be fierce opposition in certain industries—largely because if the difficult problems involved, problems usually recognized by the unions as well as the employers.

A company may find it hard to guarantee steady employment because its production depends on seasonal marketing. To assure steady jobs it may have to take costly measures like revolutionizing the system of sales, changing production methods, bringing out new products buying new machinery. Take the auto industry. In normal times it is a seasonal industry. The method of marketing autos—with new models coming out each fall—creates plenty of work at certain times and long layoffs at other times. To assure year-around employment would probably require big changes in the marketing system.

China Port City Is Under Siege

Peiping, Oct. 24—(AP)—Government military sources confirmed today reports that the important port of Chefoo in Shantung Province was under siege by land and sea, with fighting in progress in the suburbs of the city.

Chefoo reportedly is defended by 100,000 Communist troops. Its capture would snip the Communist sea route to Manchuria.

The Central Government reported also that their forces were on the verge of gaining full control of the northern section of the Peiping-Hankow railroad, from Shihchihchuang to Peiping. Hsushui, the only town still held by the Communists along the rail line in that sector, was under assault by the 94th Army in Hopien Province.

The American Indians used sunflower seed for bread and for thickening soup.

Washington—U. S. grade A, large, average 60½; fryers, roasters and broilers, 38 to 39.

Grain Market

Chicago, Oct. 25—(AP)—Fairly heavy offerings by eastern commission houses forced grain prices lower today. At one time losses extended to nearly 3 cents, but a rally developed toward the close which cancelled some of the downturn.

Declines in the price of cash corn, continuance of the maritime strike and lack of any urgent demand for flour at new prices were offered as reasons for the slump.

Wheat finished 1½-2½ lower January $2.01, corn was off 2 to 2½ January $1.37-$1.36½, oats declined ½-1½, November 8½-9½, and barley dropped ¾ to 2½, November $1.58½.

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Cotton futures opened $1.50 to $2.55 a bale lower than the previous close.

Noon prices were $2.50 to $3.05 a bale lower than the previous close. Dec. 34.19, March 33.90, and May 33.56.

A heavy general selling wave swept cotton futures to losses of $10.00 a bale, the permissible daily trading limit, today. Extreme declines, however, attracted trade covering and prices rebounded about $2.50 a bale from the day's lowest levels. The selling mood was attributed to dealers inclination to lighten commitments for over the week-end. Heavy hedge selling also was apparent and with a return of quiet conditions in the World Street Textile market, mill buying of cotton futures was not aggressive.

Late afternoon prices were $6.25 to $7.40 a bale lower than the previous close. Dec. 33.30, March 33.10 and May 32.25.

Futures closed $6.75 to $8.15 a bale lower than the previous day's close.

IF BACK ACES DUE TO KIDNEYS

Flush Them Out This Doctor's Way

If excess acidity of your urine makes your back ache so you groan . . . so you get up 3 or 4 times a night to pass water, now be of good cheer.

Three generations ago a famous doctor noticed that hundreds of his patients had this backache. He developed a medicine made of exactly the right amount of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams—truly Nature's own way to relief.

Now millions have used it. The medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Instantly you take it, it starts to work. It flushes out those excess acids that may be causing your backache . . . increasing the flow of urine to help ease that burning sensation when you pass water . . . and bladder irritation that makes you get up nights. Caution: take as directed. You'll say it's really marvelous.

For free trial supply, send to Dept. W, Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1255, Stamford, Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your drugstore.

Dig Another Grave

By DON CAMERON

Chapter 18

Ringling Clarabelle's apartment from downstairs, assuming from the prompt response of the electric lock that she was awake and awaiting him, Martin wondered what to tell her about the letter.

Dexter had phoned her last night, after getting Martin's note. He knew that Martin was going to see her, but he did not know about the cabby's story.

"If you don't give her the letter," Dexter had urged, "at least reassure her as much as you can."

Nor did Martin tell him that that innocuous document and Morrissey's more suggestive one were now in the possession of Lieutenant Cloud, for Cloud wanted the fact to remain a secret.

It was after detectives had gone through Dexter's suite painstakingly, learning only that the intruder had worn gloves, that Cloud had taken Martin aside.

"King," Cloud had said, "if Morrissey did this, as you think, we can cross his name off our list of murder suspects."

"You aren't serious."

"No? Be logical for once. You left the letters in that book in your apartment. Searle was after them and so, probably, was the person who killed him. When we looked in the book the letters weren't there, and they weren't on Searle or in the rooms. Ergo, the killer got them. Whilever the burglar was after, he'd made up his mind that there was a better than even chance the killer had hidden them here. You see?"

Martin saw. He made a swift decision. "I've balled things up again." "Clumsily, too," Cloud was blunt enough to tell him. "What you said about the Morrissey-Messner letters sounded more like an evasion than a frank statement. Want to ease your conscience now?"

"The last I knew it was with Clarabelle's letter under the carpet of the rented car that got smashed."

"You put them there?"

"Of course. Who else?"

"Miss Ennis could have. We wondered about it when we found them."

Martin gulped. "You found them?"

"Oh, yes. We do look around now and then, you know. We found them a few minutes after you and Miss Ennis left my office. How could I be sure she hadn't got them from Searle, or from that book?"

Martin's throat was dry. "She never had them."

"I believe you, now that you've purged yourself of your guilty secret. And I won't pinch you for obstructing justice by providing you don't tell anybody we've got them. Morrissey or whoever wants them may try again. Let me know if he gets rough with you—if you can."

"If I can?"

"We'll know without your telling us if you're bumped off. It might speed things up, incidentally. Could you ask more?"

No Martin reflected, walking to the second floor of the apartment building, he couldn't ask more if he were dead. He wondered whether Clarabelle would stop thinking of him as "that horrid reporter" and speak sadly of "poor Mr. King."

She opened the door, bundled in the same shapeless pink wrapper she had worn at the time of his first visit.

He said, "I didn't have a chance to get the letter."

"Oh, dear." A look of petulance replaced the smile. "I want it back so badly, Mr. King. It makes me seem callous and heartless, threatening him with criminal action a few short hours before the tragedy."

"Nonsense. It makes you seem smarter than he thought you were when he took your twenty-eight thousand."

"Just the same, I'm afraid. Morrissey hinted that people would say I was jealous, and a jealous woman thinks of revenge first and money afterward."

"Morrissey has a warped outlook," he said. "He's played hide-and-seek with the law too long."

"Maybe you're right. But you won't ever turn it over to the police?"

He cleared his throat. "Do you know the taxi driver who brought you home after you saw Searle at the Gold Mine Club?"

"Taxi driver? No. Why?"

"He knows you."

She searched his face questioningly. "What of it?"

"He picked you up on West Fourth Street, right in front of my place, where Searle was killed."

Fear and anger swept over her. Her voice rose shrilly. "But I didn't do it. I can prove I didn't."

"Then don't worry. By the way, who did you see, just before you got into the taxi?"

She gave him a frightened glance. "I didn't say I saw anyone."

"That's why I'm asking. Someone else—very likely someone you'd know—must have been around."

"I didn't notice anyone. I was terribly upset."

Tar Heel Injuries Cut Edge Over Floridians

Weakened Team Favored Over 'Gators In Homecoming Event; Other Southern Conference Teams Groomed For Saturday

By the Associated Press
The favored North Carolina Tar Heels, facing the prospect of some lineup shifts because of injuries expected to have plenty of game on their hands against the Florida Gators in the Chapel Hill homecoming Saturday afternoon.

"We have a lot of respect for Florida," said Coach Carl Snavely of the Tar Heels. "We know the Gators will be dangerous, the way they have been steadily improving. We also have an idea that Florida will be pretty well pointed for our game. That, in addition to the fact we have so many cripples, indicates we likely will have plenty of game on our hands."

Billy Maceyko and Billy Myers were groomed to do parttime relief duty for Charlie Justice, the ace North Carolina back, who is slated only for limited action because of a rib injury.

Chapel Hill expects a homecoming crowd of around 20,000 for the game.

Wake Forest closed its heavy work

Thursday for its tussle with Tennessee at Knoxville and the squad of 41, minus Dewey Hobbs who has started every game at tackle for three seasons, is en route to the scene of the battle. Hobbs is sidelined with a recurring shoulder injury, originating in his high school days.

N. C. State's Wolfpack, undefeated and leading the Conference race, left this morning by bus for Blacksburg, Va., where it will tangle with Virginia Tech in one of tomorrow's three Conference games. The squad will work out in Roanoke this afternoon and make the last lap of the trip tomorrow morning.

It also will be homecoming for Tech and a crowd of about 12,000 is expected to watch the Gobblers try for a comeback after successive defeats by William and Mary and Maryland.

Duke, which leaves tonight for its interconference clash with unbeaten Army, appeared in good shape except for Frank Sinkovitz, center and Ed Austin, end, who have been bothered with injuries all season.

Other games tomorrow send Georgia to Furman, Hampden-Sydney to Davidson, Richmond to Washington and Lee, and Virginia Military Institute to William and Mary.

South Carolina outpointed Clemson College 26 to 14 yesterday in the 44th renewal of their traditional engagement at Columbia before a crowd of 30,000, including Secretary of State and Mrs. Byrnes.

'Indian Sign' On Weekend Football Games By Armchair Quarterbacks

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Notre Dame customarily has no more luck visiting Iowa City on a football mission than this forecaster has with his weekly predictions. This time, however, the Irish should chalk up their first triumph in the Hawkeye state.

Three times in the past the Irish have invaded Iowa City with unbeaten teams, and three times an underdog Iowa eleven has triumphed.

The starting teams probably will be close to even but Iowa hasn't the reserve power to outlast the Irish.

Other selections:

Army over Duke: Duke is the team Coach Earl Blaik of Army feared above all others as the season started. Last week's 41 to 0 victory by the Southerners over previously unbeaten Richmond has done nothing to ease his worries.

however, all of Army's regulars, including Arnold Tucker, are healed.

Southern California over Stanford: The Trojans apparently came to a week ago in their win over Washington but don't be surprised if only three-point separates the two Saturday with Southern California out in front.

Tennessee over Wake Forest: Unless the Vols are dreaming too much about their 12 to 0 victory over Alabama last week they should have little difficulty.

Texas over Rice: One of the country's great teams meets a good club. Bobby Layne and his cohorts to get back in their terrific stride. Texas.

Harvard over Holy Cross: This is the time that a stubborn defense will prove the better offense. Harvard.

Penn over Navy: Tony Minisi spurred the Middies to a close win over the Quakers a year ago but this time he is wearing a Penn uniform—and will be on the winning side again.

Oklahoma A & M over Texas Christian: Bob Fenimore is back in tip-top shape and the cowboys should start roaming again under the lights tonight.

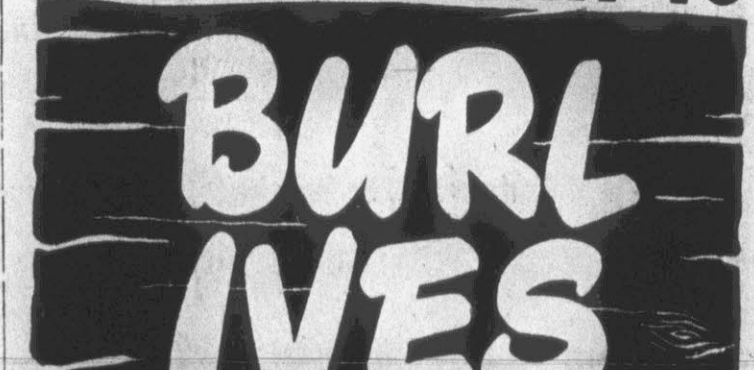

Ohio State over Minnesota: It has been a long time since a Minnesota team has gone into a big nine fray pointing, with pride, to its aerial attack. It won't be enough. Ohio State.

California over Washington: For the second straight Saturday the Huskies will see more of the state of California than they desire. California.

Michigan over Illinois: The Illini haven't beaten Michigan since they upset Tom Harmon and company in 1939. They'll have to wait another year at least. Michigan.

Skippering over the rest in a hurry: Friday: Miami over Chattanooga.

The firm was organized here about a year ago and is special agent for Hotpoint electrical appliances and other equipment.

Local Midgets In Scoreless Tie

The Greenville and Goldsboro Midgets fought to a scoreless tie in a colorful game played in Goldsboro last night. Tight defensive play by both teams kept the play in mid-field throughout the contest. Neither team threatened seriously at any point in the game.

Bobby "The Brick" Bradshaw, Greenville center, played a stellar game throughout the exhausting grind. The fine defensive play shown by the Midgets constantly revolved about him. Others who were outstanding included "Inside" Siders, Johnnie Aman, Leon Moore and Jake Higgs.

Last night's results still leave Greenville and Goldsboro tied for first place in the Conference. The local Midgets tangle with New Bern next week and then stage a final play-off with Goldsboro.

Rental Laws . . .

and to require the maintenance of service is an essential part of the control of rents.

3. Q. Does rent control extend to houses under lease?

A. Yes, regardless of the terms of a lease, rents must not exceed the amount allowed under Federal regulation.

4. Q. Does rent control apply to houses newly constructed?

A. Yes, as soon as a building is rented or offered for rent, it is subject to rent regulation.

5. Q. A tenant lives on the second floor of a building which has a grocery store on the ground floor. Do Federal rent regulations apply?

A. Yes, if the business and dwelling portions of the building are separable so that one tenant may occupy the dwelling portion while the business portion is occupied by some other person, the dwelling portion is regulated. If the business and dwelling portions are not separable, the combined rent will be controlled only if the property is used primarily for dwelling purposes.

6. Q. Does a rent control apply to rented farm dwellings?

A. If a house or a room situated on a farm is occupied by a tenant, who is engaged for a substantial portion of his time in farming operations, the rent is not controlled.

7. Q. Is the dwelling space occupied by janitors, domestic servants, managers, and caretakers included under rent control?

A. No. These quarters, when provided as part of the compensation for persons working on premises, are exempt.

8. Q. Can a tenant and a landlord enter into an agreement whereby the tenant agrees to pay more rent than is permitted by the regulations?

A. No, the regulation specifically states that " . . . no person

FARLEY CALLS TEAM TO WORK

G. H. S. Phantoms Resume Practice For Scotland Neck Contest

By DAVE CLARK

After giving his proteges a three-day rest because of this weekend's open date, Coach Bo Farley blew his practice whistle again yesterday as he began preparations for next week's tilt with Scotland Neck's eleven.

The Phantoms will definitely be out to win this one to put another mark beside the lonely one scratch in the win column. And with the rest, the return of a few ailing members, and all of next week to practice, the Greenies should be able to turn the trick.

However, Scotland Neck reputedly has a tough club to deal with as is usual for them. In the last Greenville-Scotland Neck tilt the result was a 13-13 deadlock.

Scotland Neck's aggregation is coached by Floyd Woody, former SGT athlete, who is well known in Greenville.

In yesterday's practice Coach Farley ran all his charges through a scrimmage session with the accent on line play, which has been weak so far this season.

One reason for the Phantom's lack of success with the other conference teams this year, besides their youth and inexperience, is the injuries and illnesses which have plagued the players. Even now, low grades are threatening to keep several key players in the grandstand. Only in the first game of the year, the Edenton tilt which the Phantoms took 13-7 was the whole Greenville squad intact and ready to go.

shall demand or receive any rent for use and occupancy . . . of any housing accommodations within the defense rental area higher than the maximum rent regulation; and no person shall offer, solicit, attempt or agree to do any of the foregoing."
