

Stalin's Statement Seen As Contribution To Peace

Gives Opinions On Broad Range Of Subjects Covering Nearly All International Issues; Accuses Churchill Of Instigating New Threat Of War

By EDDIE GILMORE Moscow, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin declared in a statement made public today that the Soviet Union has no atomic bomb or anything like it, and urged rigid international control of atomic energy.

The Soviet leader, replying to 31 questions submitted to him by Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, said Russia's troop strength in the occupied countries of eastern Europe totalled 60 divisions, and would be reduced within two months to 40.

Stalin expressed opinions on a broad range of subjects, covering almost every paramount international issue. His replies were radioed this morning over the Moscow station.

Asked what should be done if the threat of a new war should arise the Russian leader said its instigators should be curbed, and he accused Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister, of being among such instigators. He said however, that he did not agree with U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes that tension was increasing between the United States and Russia. This statement was regarded here as a solid contribution to better relations between the two powers.

In responses to other questions as broadcast by the Moscow radio Stalin declared: 1. The government of the USSR is indifferent to the presence of American warships in the Mediterranean.

2. He does not feel the veto power has been used to excess either in the U. N. security council or in the foreign ministers' council.

3. Russia regards the western borders of Poland as permanent.

4. Russia feels that Yugoslavia has grounds to be dissatisfied with the peace treaty drafted for Italy at the Paris conference.

5. The USSR regards as unnecessary the presence of British troops in Greece.

6. He believes that not only the economies, but also the political unity of Germany is to be desired.

7. The responses to Mr. Baillie's questions constituted the second such interview Stalin had granted in a period of slightly more than a month. On September 24, in answer to questions submitted by Alexander Werth of the Sunday Times of London, he said he could see no danger of a new war.

In today's answers, he said he felt the instigators of a new war (Continued on Page Six)

Demo Leaders Fear Resulting Disunity

Sound Forebodings If Republicans Gain Control; Accuse GOP Of Isolationism; GOP Files Counter-Charges

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Democratic leaders today sounded forebodings of disunity in the government if the Republicans win control of Congress next Tuesday.

The Republicans meanwhile concentrated their fire on the House, holding front with an accusation that the administration had created an artificial sugar shortage by inept acts.

Chairman Lucas (D-Ill.) of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee said the Republican National Committee has given Senator Langer (R-ND) $6,500 to campaign for re-election despite his "confirmed, unregenerate isolationism."

He recalled that Langer was one of the two senators who voted against American participation in the United Nations.

"Isolationism as deeply ingrained as that harbored by many among the Republican leadership cannot be successfully hidden," Lucas said.

"Only a few weeks ago Senator Taft let his real sentiments be known when he made his astonishing statement on behalf of the convicted Nazi war criminals."

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said in a radio address last night it would be "calamitous" if Republicans gained control of the House with a Democrat still President. Remarkings that they did so in 1918 when (Continued on Page Six)

OPA Decontrols Fats And Oils

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—OPA announced today that all fats and oils including lard, tallow, and grease, had been decontrolled effective at 12:01 o'clock this morning.

In addition to lard, the agency said the new action released coconut oil, fish oils, inedible tallow and grease and a number of less important items.

Ice was also decontrolled out from under price controls today in an action applying to both natural and manufactured ice and ice services in this $260,000,000 a year industry.

Most of the oils that had been retained under ceilings were ingredients in paints and varnishes needed in the housing program or for soaps.

Many fats and oils previously had been removed from price ceilings but the new action freed the entire list of both edible and inedible items.

Palestine Problem

Looking At Demand Of Permitting 100,000 Jewish Refugees To Enter Holy Land From Viewpoint Of The British Government, You Have Dilemma

If you were the British government, what response would you make to the demand that 100,000 European Jewish refugees be admitted to Palestine forthwith? That's not an easy question to answer, is it—looking at it from the standpoint of say Prime Minister Attlee. I dare say John Bull would give a handsome reward to the one who could supply him with what he regarded as a satisfactory solution.

John is in an unhappy position. He's going to be damned if he does, and damned if he doesn't. On the one hand he has President Truman urging that Britain carry out the recommendations of the Anglo-American commission on Palestine that at least 100,000 Jews be allowed to enter the Holy Land immediately. On the other are King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, and other Arab leaders, who are battling Jewish immigration. There even have been threats from influential Arabian quarters that if Britain throws Palestine open to immigration, the Arab population of the Middle East will turn to Russia for support—this being a threat to England's influence in that strategic area.

One of the first points we encounter in examining this troublesome problem is what relation, if any, there is between the immigration of a hundred thousand Jews and the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine. We must admit immediately that the creation of a Jewish state will tax the skill of the world's sages. However, broadly speaking it would seem that the matter of the Jewish state and this (Continued on Page Four)

Truman Names Five To U. S. Atom Commission

TVA's Lillenthal, Chairman Of Board; Others Include Physicist, Editor, Former Rear-Admiral And Investment Banker

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A five-man board of civilians made ready today to take over from the army the momentous task of guiding this country into the atomic age.

The five—a federal power expert, a physicist, an editor, a retired rear admiral and an investment banker—thus shouldered responsibilities as great as any men have ever assumed in peace time.

Those were the words President Truman used in announcing the makeup of the all-powerful new atomic energy commission, headed by David K. Lillenthal as chairman.

"The consequences of our work for good or evil are awesome," Lillenthal said, yielding up his chairmanship of the Tennessee Valley Authority to accept the assignment.

With Lillenthal, Mr. Truman selected for the commission set-up three months ago by Congress:

Dr. Robert F. Bacher, 41-year-old Cornell University physicist who helped develop the atomic bomb. He is scientific consultant to Bernard M. Baruch, American representative to the United Nations atomic commission.

William W. Waymack, 58, editor of the Des Moines Register and winner of the Pulitzer Award in 1937 for distinguished editorial writing. He also is a director of both the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Rear Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, retired, 50, former member of the Army-Navy munitions board, one-time secretary to Herbert Hoover and now a partner in the New York banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. He has played an active role in cancer research.

Sumner T. Pike, 55, an investment banker who until last March was a member of the Securities Exchange Commission. Pike, whose home is in Lubec, Maine, quit the SEC with the explanation, "I'm getting stale."

As Lillenthal's successor as head of the giant TVA, Mr. Truman named Gordon R. Clapp, general manager of the government utility since 1939. Clapp received the appointment, which is effective November 1, on his 41st birthday.

The president announced his selections at a special news conference late yesterday.

He signed legislation creating the commission Aug. 1, then spent 12 weeks searching for men whose abilities and experience he believes will command the confidence of the country. Their appointments, as well as that of Clapp, are subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January.

Of the tremendous unprecedented task facing the commission, which takes over from the army full su- (Continued on Page Six)

Will Elaborate On Stalin's Replies To Questionnaire; Expected To Hammer On Main Criticism Of Western Powers Charged With Violations Of Charter

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Delegates to the United Nations assembly looked to a speech scheduled for 4 p. m., EST, today by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov for a further definition of the policies stated last night from Moscow by Generalissimo Stalin.

As the general debate was resumed in the assembly this morning, delegates took a wait-and-see attitude on the replies Stalin made to 31 questions put to him by Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press Association, but expressed the conviction that Molotov would expand on questions raised by those answers.

"We will just wait and see how Molotov puts it," one big power delegation chief said. He commented on the timing of Stalin's replies which were released on the eve of Molotov's major policy address in the assembly.

Special significance was read into Stalin's statement on Russian armed forces in the light of a White Russian blast last night at the presence of U. S. troops in China and British forces in Greece, the Middle East and Indonesia.

Some delegates said this would be an opportunity for Stalin to demand in the assembly for an accounting of allied troop dispositions and air and naval bases in foreign non-enemy countries.

Diplomatic authorities speculated that Molotov, speaking for the first time in the assembly's general debate, now drawing to a climax, probably would hammer on many, if not all, of the main points of Soviet criticism of the western powers initially set forth in a session last night by Kuzma Kiselev, foreign minister of White Russia, one of the constituent republics of the USSR.

With Molotov and other ranking members of the Soviet delegation in the assembly auditorium at Flushing last night, Kiselev made these charges against the United States and Britain:

- 1. By maintaining troops in China, and in Greece, the Middle East and Indonesia they are breaking the United Nations charter.
- 2. In China the U. S. is not following a policy calculated to maintain the peace of the Far East.
- 3. Britain is doing everything possible to maintain troops in the Middle East.
- 4. The presence of such troops in various non-enemy countries only lead to unrest among peoples.

Arrest Pickets In Strike Strife

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Five Negroes, described by police as union pickets, were arrested today as violence flared at two of Winston-Salem's five strike-bound laundries.

Police officers reported that two workers were attacked when they attempted to enter the Camel City Laundry at 730 a. m. Policemen George Lancaster and Ray Holcomb said they were hit with a stick carrying a strike banner.

A picket captain was arrested. Hearings will be held tomorrow for those arrested today. The total number of cases now pending as the result of the two weeks-old strike now stands at eight, involving more than a dozen defendants.

The strike was called to enforce a demand for recognition of the workers' union, a CIO affiliate. (Continued on Page Six)

LABOR ISSUES FACING VOTE

Three States Will Vote On Anti-Closed Shop Amendment

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—One of the most controversial of all proposals affecting organized labor—the anti-closed shop amendment—will be put to the voters of three states in next Tuesday's elections.

They are Nebraska, South Dakota and Arizona. Thus far, only Florida and Arkansas have adopted anti-closed shop amendments to their constitutions.

Also on Nov. 5, citizens of Massachusetts will decide whether to require labor unions to issue public financial reports.

And California voters will decide whether to establish a fair employment practices act making it unlawful for any employer to discriminate against any person because (Continued on Page Six)

Accuse Romania Of Intimidation

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—In a strongly worded note, the United States has accused the Romanian government of intimidating and discriminating against opposition political parties in planning for an election Nov. 19.

The text of the note made public by the State Department today after it was handed Romanian Foreign Minister George Tatarescu by Bartou Y. Berry, American political representative in Bucharest.

The note reminded Romania of the big power declarations at Yalta, Potsdam, and Moscow to provide for free and untrammelled elections in the liberated lands, and formally expressed "concern" that the Romanian government was not making provision for that type of election.

A similar note from Britain was handed the Romanian Foreign Ministry at the same time.

Teen-Age Club In

Community Chest

MRS. SAM NORTHRUP, chairman of the teen age youth of any nation city or town, is one of its major responsibilities. In this group we find our future citizens.

Their home training in their recreational hours is, of course, a parent's responsibility, but due to the feeling of group companionship, we as parents feel that we cannot train them to remain happily at home in our own back yards. They must go out and seek this fraternal fellowship in their own age group.

Out of this need, Teen Age Clubs have been formed in every community, some serving their purpose to a very great advantage.

Our Greenville Teen Age Club was organized in the early summer of 1942 under the capable leadership of Mrs. C. C. Hilton, Mrs. W. S. East, and Miss Alice Strawn, who served as supervisor of the Teen Age Group. The parents of the Teen Age Group assisted when needed.

The Teen Age Club functioned in the upstairs rooms of the Fire-

PORTS HUM AS WALKOUT ENDS

Long Idle Ships Ready For Sailing After Tie-Up

By the Associated Press Long idle ships in the East and Gulf Coast ports were ready for deep water today as engineers and deck officers resumed their duties, but on the West Coast the strike still held vessels at anchor.

The New York waterfront, where 400 ships were strikebound for 28 days, hummed with activity today as everyone from stevedores to skippers rushed to move goods from bulging docks and warehouses into ship-holds.

While New York's humming activities was typical of most East and Gulf Coast ports, some vessels still were idle. In New Orleans two score ships waited for docking space while 14 others lay dead in the water, picketed by members of the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association because their owners had failed to join in the general agreement reached with engineers in the East last week.

The engineers and deck officers both won 15 per cent wage increases in the East and Gulf Coast settlements. They had demanded 35 and 30 per cent respectively.

Churchill To Press End Of 'Suspensions'

SENATOR SAYS PACT NEEDED

U. S.-Russian Treaty Said Indispensable To World Peace

Atlantic City, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) said today "the peace treaty most fundamental to the peace of the world" is one between the United States and Russia.

The chairman of the Senate's special atomic committee also asserted in an address prepared for the American Bar Association that the Soviet-American impasse over international atomic energy control could be overcome by means of a treaty.

That treaty, he said, could spell out "swift and certain punishment" for specific violations with the result that "there can be no question of veto, no opportunity for escape."

"The Russians say they will not give up the veto since that would weaken the Security Council and the United Nations," McMahon declared.

"Our delegate says there must be no veto to protect those who violate their solemn agreements not to develop or use atomic energy for destructive purposes, x x x."

"Why is it not possible for the treaty itself to specify the violations calling for punishment and to name the punishment which will be meted out to the violator?"

In calling a "peace treaty" between this country and Russia "most fundamental to the peace of the world," McMahon added: (Continued on Page Six)

Welcomes Stalin Statement; Still Concerned Over Red Army Size; Will Push For Facts To Banish Apprehension

London, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Winston Churchill said today he welcomed Prime Minister Stalin's statement that there were only 60 Russian divisions in "the territories he mentions."

"But even 60 divisions on a war footing, of course, greatly exceed the British and American forces in enemy-occupied territory in Europe," said the former British prime minister, who conferred many times during the war with Stalin.

"Moreover, Premier Stalin's figures do not include Romania."

"Dispatches direct from Moscow and a translation as broadcast by Tass, the Russian news agency, included Romania among the countries listed, along with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Poland, although the original question and answer did not appear to include that former enemy state."

Churchill's statement, issued through the British Press Association, said Stalin's figures did not "include the heavy Soviet concentrations in the Leningrad and Odessa regions."

Churchill commented that there had been no "contradiction" by the British government of his suggestion that Soviet divisions in the area totalled 200.

"On the contrary," he said, "the statement of the prime minister and the undersecretary of state for foreign affairs showed only anxiety at the strength of the Soviet mobilized forces." (Continued on Page Six)

Housing Report Said Distorted

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) said today that a document which Senator Brewster (R-Me.) described as "a long suppressed" housing report of the Senate war investigating committee was in reality "an inter-office memorandum prepared by a committee investigator."

Kilgore, chairman of the committee, said the document dated April 6, 1945, and other memoranda on war housing prepared by an investigator in 1943 and 1944 "were never considered by the members of the committee as material to be issued in a committee report."

The April 6, 1945, memorandum was released to the press yesterday by the Republican National Committee. In an accompanying statement, Brewster said the administration's housing program had "failed miserably." Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt retorted that much of Brewster's criticism "does not even make sense."

Atomic Commission

An ABC Of The Most Important Agency Ever Created; It Was Formed By Law Last August; President Has Been Seeking Most Capable Men

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Here is an ABC of the five-man Atomic Energy Commission, which President Truman named yesterday: From now on it will be boss of what the government and private industry do with atomic energy.

For that reason it is one of the most important government agencies ever created in this country. Its job is to lead us intelligently into the atomic age. It will chart the course, lay down the rules, give help.

It will have to see that we keep abreast or ahead of the rest of the world in the use of atomic energy, in a military way and in a civilian way.

It will take over all the government's atomic plants and laboratories, now run by the Army. It will help private industry develop atomic energy for civilian use and the good of mankind, such as in power plants or in medicine.

It will control information on atomic energy, handing out data on some kinds of atomic energy, keeping others kinds secret.

In short: it's boss of the atom. From the beginning of this country's history the military men—the Army and Navy—have been kept subordinate to the civilian government.

The Army developed the atomic bomb and, until now, ran the atomic plants. Ever since the first bomb hit Hiroshima countless people in this country have expressed this hope: Some way must be found to put civilians in control of atomic energy so the Army and Navy can't (Continued on Page Four)

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
October 29, 1906

The present year will go down in history as a period of great disasters. Nature has been on a rampage and the consequent destruction of life and property has been enormous. The eruption of Vesuvius, the earthquakes which wrecked San Francisco and Valparaiso, the typhoons which have raged through the China Seas, the storms which have devastated the countries of the Caribbean sea and the Gulf of Mexico—these are but a few of the unusual manifestations of natural energy which have afflicted the world. In the midst of all these things humanity stands helpless.

ELECTED LITTLE MISS BETHEL
Patsy Joe Gurganus, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Gurganus, Jr., was elected Little Miss Bethel at the Halloween carnival on Friday at the Bethel High school auditorium. Women in the Church

To rehabilitate the work of the Young Women's Christian Association in thirty countries, most of them areas damaged by war—to provide additional secretaries for the training of new young women leaders overseas, and to replace bomb-damaged equipment, as well as to extend the services of the organizations to new needy fields, the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. is launching its "Round-the-World Reconstruction fund." It is seeking $2,100,000 during the months of January and February to aid the work during an emergency three-year period. "Woman's Work Has Just Begun" is the slogan of the nationwide campaign headed by Mrs. Maurice T. Moore of New York City.

Mrs. Harper Sibley, of Rochester, N. Y., as president of the United Council of Church Women, representing most of the larger Protestant denominations in the United States, has called upon all Protestant women to "work together and pray together for the success of the United Nations." One of the major tasks of the Council this year, she says, "is to arouse the church women of America, regardless of race or creed, to an awareness of their stake and their children's stake in the molding of a future world order based on the principles of Christian brotherhood." The Council will hold its biennial assembly in Grand Rapids, Mich., November 11 to 15. Committee recommendations to be acted on by the assembly include opposition to peace-time compulsory military conscription; creation of an international body to control the use of atomic energy; and continued agitation for the enactment of a federal anti-poll tax law.

Twenty young college women, representing the educational institutions of the United Church of Canada, this summer emulated the "saddlebag preachers" of the early 1800's by traveling "with the gospel on their lips and backs" through the Canadian frontier territory. Six of the young women are studying theology and hope to be ordained as ministers of the United Church. The Church now has about 12 women ministers—it is the only large denomination in Canada that ordains women as ministers.

District FHA To Hold Meet Here

The Home Economics Club of East Carolina Teachers College and the Greenville Chapter of the FHA will be co-hostesses to the representatives and advisors of sixteen northeastern counties meeting at the District FHA rally at the College, Saturday, November 2.

Registration will begin at 9:00 a. m. in Austin Auditorium, followed by a welcoming address by Mrs. Adelaide E. Bloxton, head of the Home Economics Department at East Carolina Teachers College.

Bette Cannady, National FHA Historian, will preside at the meeting, and Mrs. Will Frances Sanders State Advisor, will talk on the State projects.

Piano Quartet Is Unique Ensemble

The First Piano Quartet, which will appear in the Wright Auditorium at East Carolina Teachers College on November 4 at 8:00 o'clock is the first musical unit of its kind in the world. The four artists who compose the group are Adam Garner, Vladimir Padwa, Frank Miller, and Edward Edson. Each is an experienced musician and arranger and has played as soloist with leading European symphony orchestras.

In pooling their talents, the four virtuosos offer a notable ensemble that has delighted critics and audiences throughout the country with its ability to create harmonious, beautiful, and up-to-now undreamed-of tonal effects.

The field of four-piano music, as well as four-piano arrangements, had been virtually unexplored until the appearance of the First Piano Quartet some three short years ago under the inspiration and guidance of their manager and producer, Edwin Fadiman. Little music has ever been created for four pianos. Consequently, these four artists were forced to call on their own arranging talents for an adequate repertory. The task, though difficult, has been brilliantly carried through. At present, the quartet's repertory consists of virtually every phase of music that has ever been written.

Before lunch the nominees from the various districts will be voted upon. The three leading candidates going to Charlotte next spring to the State Rally where one will be elected to fill the office of State Vice President for 1947-48. The vice president automatically becomes president in 1948-49. The nominee from Greenville High is Ann Cahoon, tenth grader, and historian of the local chapter.

Two high spots of the day will be the tour of the college Home Economics Department and a tea given by the Home Economics Club with police in an attempt to discover the owner of an automobile who had disappeared in 1943 after paying six months parking fees in advance.

The owner was located quickly enough. The owner was William Holdorf, State Highway Patrolman at Butte, from whom the machine had been stolen three and a half years earlier.

Twin Falls, Idaho, Oct. 29—(AP) Dob Robertson hunted pheasants for two days without any luck. Yesterday he went to his field to gather corn stalks to decorate the American Legion hall. A pheasant jumped from under his feet right into his hands.

Chapter 19

Barbara answered the telephone. She said, "I read about someone killing Dexter's rooms. What else has happened?"

"Nothing exciting," said Martin. "Have you any pressing engagements in the immediate future?"

"No. Why?"

"Get a cab and pick me up at Beverly-third and Madison. We're going for a ride."

"Why don't I use my car?"

"Why not?"

It was a dove-gray Cadillac convertible, groomed to perfection.

"Beautiful," he said, "but much too good for me."

Her eyes twinkled. "For me, too, in Dad's opinion. He likes his cars conservative and styled for the ages."

"I'm talking about the girl, not the car."

"Oh? A very pretty compliment, Martin. Now that that's settled, where do we go?"

"I don't know. Anywhere. I thought we could talk things over. Ideas are rattling around inside my head like seeds in a gourd. One minute everybody's guilty and then all of a sudden nobody is. Maybe I ought to end my misery by looking up Cloud and confessing."

"That's a halfway smart suggestion, Martin. The half about looking up Cloud is all right. His specialty is piecing together patterns out of odd notions and deciding what evidence is needed to sew them together, isn't it? You might be able to give him a lead and he might be able to give you one."

He shrugged. "You're the driver. If we get further following your directions than we did following mine, I won't be surprised."

They found Cloud in his office in West 20th Street, sitting alone at a bare desk, doing nothing. He greeted them pleasantly enough, but with an air of abstraction. Waving them to chairs, he said, "I have a present for the lady."

He brought a thin packet of letters from his pocket, and offered them to Barbara.

"My letters to Richard?"

Cloud smiled. "The mail brought them. I don't suppose either of you sent them here, by any chance?"

Martin said, "Certainly neither of us sent them. The murderer must have, after getting them from Searle."

Martin repeated the results of his investigations, covering all the points of Clarabelle's story that he considered important.

Cloud gnawed his lip. He said softly, "It's possible she killed Searle, but it would surprise me."

"I don't think she did. I think she was the killer either entering or leaving my place."

"Anything better than just a hunch?"

"She went so far as to tell me she knew I wasn't the murderer, then modified it by saying that at least she was pretty sure. Later I spoke as if she'd mentioned seeing someone else she knew, and that scared her into a fit. She denied it. But all along I had the impression that she was holding something back."

Cloud made up his mind swiftly. "Come on, King. I want you to go visiting with me. You may come too, Miss Ennis, if you'd like."

"I would like. We can ride in my car."

There was no answer when they rang Clarabelle's apartment from the lobby. But as they lingered indecisively, a boy came out and Martin held the inner door open with his foot.

"Want to try upstairs, Cloud?"

Cloud did, and Martin led the way to the second floor. He lifted his hand toward the pearl button beside the door and jumped when Cloud grabbed him. Cloud's face was suddenly fierce.

"No matches," Cloud warned. "No cigarettes." His nostrils flared as he shook the knob, failing to turn it.

Martin smelled it then, the heavy odor of illuminating gas.

"Get back," Cloud snapped. "Out of my light." He had a small leather kit of many flat keys in his hand; he selected one, tried to fit it to the lock, and, muttering impatiently, tried another.

The lock clicked, the door opened. The sulphurous smell rolled over them.

Martin cleared his lungs of the first breath of gas. He went toward the kitchen doorway. To his left, along the nearer wall, he saw a refrigerator as he reached the doorway, and a sink, and—Clarabelle.

She lay across the chairs with her flaxen head thrust all the way into the oven of the gas stove beyond the sink.

Cloud leaned against the easement of the open window, holding a sheet of lemon-yellow notepaper gingerly with his fingertips, looking at it.

"Dead?" Martin asked hoarsely.

The detective nodded and looked at the paper for a moment more, then laid it carefully on the enamelled top of the oven.

The detective bent down and carefully raised a strand of hair behind the right ear. Martin moved closer; a tingle went through him as he saw a purple swelling over the base of the skull, a bruise the size of a silver dollar.

Behind him Barbara said "Oh!" Her face was dead white and her eyes, distended with horror, seemed unable to tear themselves away from the dead woman.

He put his arms around her gently and turned her.

"Stay where you are, both of you," Cloud said harshly, leaving the kitchen. "Don't move and don't touch anything. I'll be right back."

He went into the front room and Martin heard him at the telephone.

He craned his neck, trying to decipher the purple-inked scrawl on the yellow notepaper. It was Clarabelle's handwriting.

His lips formed the words: "To the police: I killed Richard Searle. He gave me no choice."

The message was unsigned, but there was a large blob of ink at the end of the final sentence and several smaller splashes trailed across the street.

Barbara said, her voice muffled against Martin's chest, "Isn't there anything that can be done?"

"Not for her," he murmured. "Not now."

Lynch Evidence To Go To Jury

Macon, Ga., Oct. 29—(AP)—Evidence collected by scores of FBI agents who investigated the lynching of four Negroes near Monroe Ga. will be presented to a federal grand jury in Athens, Ga.

U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark announced in New York last night that he had been directed to turn the evidence over to the grand jury in the hope "it will be able to put the finger on those dastardly conspirators."

The evidence in the hands of the FBI was obtained through questioning 2,500 persons. Clark said the case would be handled by U. S. Attorney John Cowart of the Middle Georgia District.

Cowart announced the matter would be presented to the grand jury when it convenes in Athens the last week in November or first week in December. Court is scheduled to open on Dec. 2.

Government agents have been investigating the lynchings from a special FBI headquarters set up in Monroe.

St-Sgt. Paul G. Manning of the Greenville, N. C., Army Recruiting Station today released the information that, contrary to popular belief, the educational benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights did not terminate as of 6 October, 1946. "Many people are of the opinion," said Sgt. Manning, "that the benefits provided under the G. I. Bill of Rights terminated as of 6 October 1946. This is not true."

"According to the Amended Servicemen's Readjustment Act," continued the sergeant, "any man who enlists or re-enlists in the Regular Army after 6 October 1946 and serves 90 days of that enlistment is entitled to one year of schooling, plus one month of schooling for each month of service completed prior to the date of the termination of the War."

"In view of these extended privileges and the opportunities available in our peace-time Army of today," continued Sgt. Manning, "it is expected that enlistments will continue at the high rate of 1224 men enlisted in the eastern section of North Carolina since September 1, 1946."

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms.

Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging, itchy itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through WAYNE'S P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms! If you suspect this icky infection, ask your druggist for P-W and follow the directions. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

and will assume his new duties on Friday, November 1. With the coming of Mr. Bentz, the college library will operate for the remainder of the year with four trained librarians in charge of activities.

Mr. Bentz is a graduate of Gettysburg College in Pennsylvania and holds the A.B. degree in library science from the University of North Carolina. As assistant periodical librarian, he worked at the University in 1940-1941 and later went to Duke University, where he was serials cataloger for several months before he joined the army.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

EAGERNESS TO SERVE

John Wesley once said: "If I had three hundred men who feared nothing but God, hated nothing but sin, and were determined to know nothing among men but Jesus Christ and him crucified, I would set the world on fire."

Although Wesley did not have all these things, he nevertheless started considerable of a congregation, and his spiritual influence was such as practically to transform eighteenth century England. He demonstrated, as did General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army in a later generation, what a man can do if his heart is utterly given to God and the causes which God seems most to love.

Count Zinzendorf, the great leader of the Moravians, once asked a fellow Moravian, "Can you go as a missionary to Greenland?" When the man answered in the affirmative, Zinzendorf asked, "Can you go tomorrow?" "If the cobbler has finished his shoes," was the reply, "I can go tomorrow."

Most of us are pretty poor Christians. We claim to be servants of the Lord but our lives as Christians are disfigured rather frequently with slow-downs and sit-downs. We read in the New Testament that the kingdom of heaven is at hand. The celestial powers are lined up and ready to advance, but we are not ready to co-operate. We are not ready to start on the Lord's errands as soon as the cobbler has our shoes ready.

Atom Commission . . .

do as they please.

This five-man commission is the answer, although perhaps not the absolute answer.

The commission will be boss over what the Army and Navy do, or want to do, with atomic energy.

If the Army or Navy—they'll have their own men, a special committee in close contact with the commission—don't like a commission decision, they can appeal to the President to over-ride the commission.

He can do that if he wishes. Why it's a question of the Army or Navy against the commission, the President's say-so will be final.

Creating the commission is no sudden thing.

A year ago Congress set out, through many months of study and debate, to find some way by which the government could control and direct work on atomic energy in this country.

Last August it finally passed a law, laying down the rules. That law told Mr. Truman to pick five outstanding men and set up the commission. He waited until now to do that.

Choosing the five men was important. He took his time. David E. Lillenthal, director of TVA (the Tennessee Valley Authority), is chairman. His salary will be $17,500 a year.

The other four commissioners will get $15,000 a year. None of the five can hold any other job or business connection.

Under the commission will be a general manager—salary, $15,000 a year—to carry out the commissioners' decisions and run the show for them.

He, like the five commissioners has to be appointed by the President, and approved by the Senate.

Also, there will be four division directors under the commission heading Division of Research, Production, Engineering and Military Use.

All four directors will receive $14,000 a year. The director of the military use of atomic energy will be a military man, chosen from the armed services.

In addition there will be a general advisory committee—nine men—named by the President. They'll act as advisors to the commissioners on various problems of atomic energy.

Some day this country may make an international agreement, or treaty, with other countries on the control and development of atomic energy and atomic weapons.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 29—(AP)—The stock market enjoyed a selective early rally today behind steels, rails and industrials but there was little follow through and liquidation in the final hour reversed the general direction.

In the forenoon extreme gains of fractions to a point or more were widely distributed. Offerings then began to crop up after midday and towards the last these were sufficient to cut extreme advances and put numerous leaders in the minus ranks. Losses running to 2 or more points predominated at the close. Dealings quickened on the selloff and transfers approximately 1,200,000 shares, first time the million-mark has been exceeded since October 17.

They theorized that Chiang has no intention of trying to eject the Russians by force, but said it appeared he intended to force the issue of Soviet control. The 14-month old Sino-Soviet treaty provided that Dairen should be a free port.
Dairen is administered by a Soviet sponsored puppet Chinese city council. Efforts of China's national government to recover sovereignty of the port have been blocked. After V-J day, the Soviets refused to allow Chiang's troops to land at Dairen. Later, they permitted Chinese Communists to enter.
If the Soviet troops do not withdraw, observers see the probability that Chiang's forces will halt outside the Soviet perimeter. That would serve the government's purpose well. The Chinese Communists in Dairen would be bottled up in the city and their important pipeline between Dairen and the Shantung peninsula would be made useless.

Dairen Drive A Political Move

Shanghai, Oct. 29—(AP)—Foreign observers speculated today that Chiang Kai-Shek's drive toward Dairen was his indirect way of serving notice to the United Nations of the continued, illegal presence of Soviet troops in that important port city.

Top Football Trio Heads Into Last Half Of Race

Army Leads In Poll; Notre Dame Gains Favor; Penn Jumps From Sixth To Third Place; Vols And Texas Fall By Wayside

New York, Oct. 29—(AP)—The top trio among the country's football powerhouses—Army, Notre Dame and Penn—today headed in that order into the last half of the race to decide the 1946 national championship.

And while it appeared more certain than ever that the titanic clash of the Cadets and the Irish here a week from Saturday would all but decide, it also became evident that George Mungler's Quakers were going to have their say in the deciding.

vored Notre Dame as the No. 1 team. The other seven first-place ballots were split among Penn, with four, and UCLA, Georgia and Harvard, with one apiece.

Based on the usual system of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for a second, eight for a third, and so on, Army piled up a staggering 1,647 points, 138 more than last week's count. Notre Dame picked up 238 over last week for a 1,578 total. Penn and UCLA were the two other teams to top the 1,000 mark.

Georgia, which trampled Furman 70-7, skipped from seventh to fifth place and completed the select list of the major unbeaten and untied among the first ten. Harvard, sixth of the majors with a clean slate, ranks number 17 in this week's poll.

After Georgia came Northwestern followed by Texas, Rice, North Carolina and Tennessee. Texas' 18-13 defeat at the hands of Rice and Tennessee's 19-6 trouncing by Wake Forest still left the Longhorns and the Vols among the first ten. Wake Forest, way down the list in 27th position last week, was advanced to 12th place with 101 4-5 points on the basis of its upset of Tennessee.

New Contender In Sight For Louis

Baltimore, Oct. 29—(AP)—Curtis (Hatchetman) Sheppard's dreams of a chance to meet Joe Louis in a world championship encounter here next summer were one punch closer to reality today.

That punch was a murderous left hook, the use of which was more or less a novelty for the 194-pound Philadelphia slugger, cited eight days ago by the Maryland Boxing Commission as the top heavyweight contender.

Sheppard planted the blow on the jaw of George Fitch to send the stocky, 209-pound New Haven Conn., "policeman" for Louis to the canvas in a knockout in the fifth frame of a scheduled 10-round match here last night only two seconds before the bell.

But the Hatchet took a trip through the grind mill en route to the victory over Fitch, chief sparring partner for Louis when the champ trained for his meeting with Tami Mauriello.

Ping Pong Champ To Play In Exhibition

Sol Schiff, world's professional table tennis champion, will play an exhibition match against John Somers, fifth ranking player of the United States, in the Wright Building at East Carolina Teachers College on Thursday evening, October 31, at 8:00 o'clock. The event is sponsored by the men's and the women's athletic associations of the college. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged.

G-Men To Play Here On Friday

The Greenville High Phantoms play Scotland Neck here at the stadium Friday night. Scotland Neck is reported to have an unusually strong eleven this year and the G-Men will be in for another tough game. After taking a holiday for a few days last week when they had an improved spirit and drive in Monday's workout and should all the boys on the injured list return Greenville will give the Scotland Neck veterans a battle. Jimmy Lee, the only experienced back on the squad, has returned to practice after a spell of sickness and his presence will strengthen the Phantoms. Unless some injuries crop up this week the locals should be in the best physical condition since the initial game of the season. Grades threw some squad members for a loss but did not affect any of the key members of the squad. Probable starters Friday night will be: Turner and Stokes, ends, Whitehurst and Beard, tackles, Rose and Fleming, guards, Tucker, Lee, McLawhorn and Evans, backs.

in the first place Churchill and others of like mind in Britain and the USA, "constituted the worst threat to world peace now.

"If such a threat should arise," Baillie asked, "what would be the best steps to be taken by the nations of the world to avoid a new war?"

"The instigators of a new war," said Stalin, "are to be exposed and curbed."

His declaration that Russian troops in eastern Europe numbered 60 divisions constituted an answer to Churchill's suggestion, in the form of a question before the House of Commons last week, that the Soviet Union had 200 divisions there on full war strength.

ARREST LOCAL MAN ON RAPE CHARGE THIS MORNING

Police today arrested Leland Sutton, local white man, for Washington, N. C., authorities on a charge of committing rape there last night.

Washington officers took him back to Washington shortly before noon. Police here had no details of the charge against Sutton.

"No one would have been more pleased than I to be told that I was misinformed."

Churchill, whom Stalin had described as among "instigators of a new war" who should be exposed and curbed, said "one would have thought" that information about the extent of allied forces in occupied territory would be exchanged among the allies.

"We hear a great deal about suspicions. Nothing sweeps away suspicious like facts, and I consider it my duty to continue to press for the facts."

"It seems to me that a clearing up of this matter would be highly beneficial from every point of view and surely the present meetings of U. N. O. and the Security Council should be the occasion for the fullest, fairest disclosure of all military forces that may cause concern to any of those who fought and won."

President Wilson was in the White House, Rayburn declared.

"In that election, politics drove a wedge between a great nation and its destiny. We cannot afford to have that wedge driven again."

"A Republican majority in Congress," he asserted, "will tear the government apart; and our hopes of peace and prosperity with it."

Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican food study committee, issued a statement asserting that "imperious acts by the Democratic administration alone are responsible for the absence of sugar from American tables when there is no shortage of sugar."

the operators granted preference to union skippers but won a stipulation that masters did not have to be union members.

What picketing continued was against ships of West Coast companies and the United Fruit Company and American Export Lines, which do not have union engineer arrangements.

Engineers and deck officers have mutually respected each other's picket lines.

On the West Coast, where engineers and deck officers remained out, representatives of the CIO Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union were to meet today with waterfront employes after a long deadlock over a separate contract for 16 steam schooners.

Labor Issues . . .

of race, religion, color, national origin or ancestry.

Fights over prohibiting the closed shop have occurred in a number of states, mainly in agricultural areas. Under a closed shop, all workers in a plant must belong to a union or lose their jobs. The anti-closed shop proposals usually state that the right to work shall not be denied because of membership or non membership in a labor organization. Hence they are referred to by sponsors as right to work bills.

The amendments in Florida and Arkansas were approved on the same day, Nov. 7, 1944. The question of their legality, immediately raised by organized labor, has not yet been settled in the courts.

Rotarians Told How Local C-Of-C Works

Rotarians were told about the workings and organization of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce last night at the club's weekly supper meeting. Willard T. (Bill) Kyzer, genial and capable executive secretary, did the telling and got across the spirit of cooperation which characterizes the chamber. J. B. Kittrell introduced Kyzer, indicating how much those who knew and worked with the secretary liked and appreciated him.

"Some people think that when they join the Chamber of Commerce and pay their dues, they can sit back and wait for the secretary and the officers and directors to pull a community program out of the air. The chamber will get results if all the members put their shoulders to the wheel," Kyzer said.

He explained that most of the work of the chamber is done entirely through committees. "It will not be many months before we will be asking for suggestions for next year's activities. We want to know what people thing should be done to make Greenville a well rounded community," the speaker said in an appeal to the Rotarians in which he asked them to pass on to all the business and professional men of Greenville. He spoke favorably of the Community Chest.

Preceding Kyzer, Sam B. Underwood, Jr., appeared and spoke in behalf of the Community Chest which opens its annual campaign this week.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting last night were Nat Gottlieb of Ayden, Wayland Sermons of Washington and Ben May of Tarboro. The Greenville Club voted unanimously to endorse the candidacy of Maynard Fletcher of the Washington club for a director of the Washington International. Judson H. Blount, the club president, presided.

Turnage Pleads Guilty In Court

In Superior Court today counsel for Mark Turnage of Ayden submitted a plea of guilty to the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Edward W. Moore last July 29 after being struck by a car driving by Turnage on South Evans street.
