

SOUTHERNERS AFFECTED IF DEMOS LOSE

With Majority Control Taken Away, Segregation Laws Insecure

By O. P. HANEY Atlanta, Nov. 5—(AP)—The possible effect of the result of the election was not lost on the Southern Democrats...

The Fair Employment Practices Committee bill is an example. The present House rules committee made up of eight Democrats...

A switch in party representation on the committee, Southerners say might bring the bill and the fight out in the open quickly.

Southern senators and representatives, with few exceptions, contended passage of such legislation would disrupt racial relations...

While watching the national picture today and trying to weigh its possible results on their pattern of life, the South's whites and Negroes will be keeping an eye on Alabama and a ballot issue directly affecting the races.

Alabama's vote on a proposed constitutional amendment admittedly designed to make it more difficult for Negroes to vote.

The proposal, known as the Buswell amendment, would do two things: 1. Require prospective voters to be able to understand and explain the meaning of the words...

Georgians elected to the governorship for the fourth time re-elected Gene Talmadge, outspoken foe of the New Deal and adherent of "white supremacy"...

Heavy Voting Turnout Seen Over Nation For "Off Year" Election

Heavy Balloting In Big Population Centers Point To Possible Record Vote; GOP Spokesmen Sound Confident Note

By ASSOCIATED PRESS The Republicans need a net gain of 10 seats to win control of the Senate and 26 to take over the House...

Election officials called the early turnout in Chicago very heavy although Illinois had neither governorship nor senatorial races.

In Ohio, it was unusually heavy. In Michigan it was the same. Similar reports came from Pennsylvania, Kansas City, Mo., reported an exceptionally heavy early vote.

The first precinct to report was Pointe Aux Barques in Huron county, Michigan.

Twelve of the 13 eligible voters there cast straight Republican ballots, one a straight Democratic.

For the country as a whole, fine fall weather encouraged a large vote. An exception was the Rocky Mountain area where one of the heaviest snowstorms in years moved in over the weekend.

Despite the heat engendered by some contests, the forenoon balloting saw no major violence. In New York City's Harlem, a Republican district captain reported he was slugged from behind while walking near a polling place.

In the swelling tide of ballots, the voters registered their reaction to nearly 15 months of government efforts to shift the nation's economic machinery from war to peace.

On that prime issue, Republicans confidently predicted the Democrats would be swept out of power in Congress, where they have held the upper hand in both houses since 1932.

Democrats, generally fighting defensive battle against GOP assaults on their handling of reconstruction problems, conceded they may suffer some losses.

At stake in the election expected to bring out more than 35,000,000 citizens, are 35 Senate places, 432 House seats and 33 governorships.

Douglas spent the morning in conference with Jack Frye, TWA president and other company officials, apparently trying to solve the remaining major problem—whether a proposal that pilots of planes flying international runs be paid a flat monthly salary instead of a rat based on hours and mileage flown.

UMW STRATEGY BOARD ASSERTS NO NEW COSTS

Lewis' Economists Say Pay Hike Possible Without Loss To Owners

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—The way John L. Lewis sees his wage dispute with the government: His 100,000 soft coal miners could get a 2% cent an hour pay boost and a hotter work week without adding to coal costs.

Economists for Lewis' United Mine Workers floated this proposal privately and cautiously today, convincing the operators would not suffer under the higher pay, shorter hours arrangement.

They emphasized, however, that the UMW chief will specify his own demands in a showdown with Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug later this week.

The miners now get $1.18 1-2 cents an hour for the first 35 hours of work in any week.

Meanwhile, both sides took an election day breather in the highly delicate and secret negotiations that have been under way since Nov. 1. So far, neither Lewis nor Krug, who is away on a western tour of inspection, has attended the meetings.

Negotiations are scheduled to resume tomorrow. Wildcat shutdowns of mines in southern West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and Tennessee spread on yesterday.

Lewis wants to open the contract he made with Krug last May when the government seized the soft coal mines. Krug insists that the agreement covers the period of government possession and cannot be altered.

The operators, serving as mine trustees, are serving as mine trustees.

TRUMAN GOES BACK TO WORK

President And Family Board Train For Washington

Independence, Mo., Nov. 5—(AP)—President Truman accompanied by his wife and daughter, Margaret, left for Washington, 9:30 a. m. (CST) today aboard the special Presidential train.

At the station to see the President and his family off were his 93-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, and his sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman.

Mr. Truman boarded the train shortly after casting his vote in the nation-wide congressional elections which will shape the future course of his administration.

The Chief Executive and his daughter turned in their ballots nearly an hour after Mrs. Truman. Like Mrs. Truman, the President said he voted the straight Democratic ticket, which included Senator Briggs (D-Mo.), his own successor in the Senate, seeking reelection, and Representative Jasper Bell, fourth district congressman.

The President has remained determined on the sidelines during the campaign and he retired to his Missouri home last night without even issuing a statement.

He and Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, to a typically American gymnasium in the Memorial Building here to cast their votes in an election certain to bear critically on his and his party's future. The President said he would vote at 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) and depart by special train for Washington 30 minutes later.

There have been no official explanations of Mr. Truman's course.

Diplomats Keeping Sharp Watch On U. S. Elections

Delegates Generally Aware Of Bipartisan Nature Of American Foreign Policy; Foreign Ministers Meet In Second Day; U. N. Has Heavy Schedule On Agenda

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER New York, Nov. 5—(AP)—Foreign diplomats deeply engrossed in the gigantic task of building world peace kept a sharp but discreetly silent watch on the American congressional elections today.

Persons familiar with the views of many delegations to the United Nations Assembly and the council of foreign ministers reported a general belief that present foreign policies are sufficiently bipartisan to rule out any major changes.

There has been enough political controversy over the present American attitude toward Russia in particular to raise speculation about post-election trends in the conduct of American diplomacy.

The big-four foreign ministers moved into their second day's work on the eastern European peace treaties amid mounting evidence that Russian Foreign Minister Molotov will stage a last ditch fight to gain special advantages for Yugoslavia at the Adriatic port of Trieste.

The U. N. assembly appeared to be headed for a wide open fight over selection of a permanent home. One report was that the Russians might reverse their former stand against a site in western Europe to favor Geneva, old League of Nations headquarters, as a home. Word of this possibility follows an American move to have San Francisco and New York as well as Westchester county considered for the permanent headquarters.

A formal 51-nation debate also was assured on proposals to take United Nations action against the Franco regime in Spain.

The Security Council yesterday was expected to take up the agenda so the assembly might act. While the United Nations continued a heavy schedule of committee work at Lake Success, L. I., the foreign ministers of America, Britain, Russia and France, meeting in a Manhattan hotel, rapidly came to grips with the basic issues of making peace in Europe.

Molotov, Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin met at yesterday's opening session, over which Byrnes presided.

The big four decided to take up the Italian peace treaty first and then, in order, treaties with Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. These treaties were originally (Continued on Page Four)

GERMANS TOLD TO DENAZIFY

Accused Of White-washing Nazis; Said Under Surveillance

Stuttgart, Germany, Nov. 5—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay accused the Germans today of "whitewashing" Nazis and served notice that unless they showed quick improvement the Military Government would take back the job of denazification in the American zone.

The deputy U. S. military governor delivered his warning to officials of the provisional German government at a monthly meeting of the Laenderrat, composed of the minister presidents of all three American zone states. They listened in glum silence.

Clay conferred with the German leaders briefly after his speech and then reported to a press conference: "The minister presidents accepted my criticisms in good faith and promised to exert their best efforts to better results."

Asked what excuses the presidents gave for failure of the denazification courts set up by the Germans last spring, Clay said they blamed "largely mechanical difficulties."

The deputy military governor of the American occupation zone announced an immediate order that no German who had been removed from the office by the military government might be returned to office. (Continued on Page Six)

U. N. TRUSTEE BATTLE AHEAD

Creation Of Trusteeship Council Is Bone Of Contention

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 5—(AP)—The United States and Britain were reported confident today that they will be able to reach an agreement on the creation of a trusteeship council to carry out the United Nations Charter.

John Foster Dulles, who alternates with Rep. Sol Bloom (D-NY) as U. S. representative on the assembly's 51-nation trusteeship committee was said to be ready to offer a proposal by which to avert a showdown on the controversial question as to whether Soviet Russia has any right to veto approval of trusteeship agreements for mandated territories.

Dulles' specific proposal is that the assembly sidestep a decision at the present session on which states are directly concerned in the eight draft agreements requiring assembly approval before the trusteeship council can be set up.

While not mentioning Russia directly, the U. S. proposal was understood to have resulted from reports that Russia would take the position that the five major powers came within the charter definition of states directly concerned and that the refusal of any one of the five to approve the draft agreements would prevent assembly action. Light Voting In Election Today

Balloting in today's "off-year" election was extremely light in Pitt County, and especially in Greenville, it was indicated at noon today.

At noon about 100 votes had been cast at the courthouse and about the same number at the City Hall. Other voting places reported similar light voting.

None of the Democratic candidates had any serious opposition locally or in the Fifth District.

The nearest thing to a contest was in Winville Township, where there was a three-cornered race for justice of the peace, with C. F. Little, Clarence Vincent and George Kittrell as the candidates.

Will Celebrate Armistice Day

Members of Pitt County Post 39 of the American Legion will celebrate Armistice Day at noon next Monday with a dinner on the recently acquired Legion home site adjacent to the airport. In case of bad weather arrangements have been made to have the affair indoors.

Paul A. Scott, Walter G. Garner and James R. Worsley, committee on arrangements for the affair stated that it was hoped every member of the post would be on hand. Admission to the dinner will be by 1947 Legion membership card. Those who have not yet paid their dues will have the opportunity to do so at the dinner.

The membership committee of the post has expressed the hope that the membership will reach the thousand mark by Armistice Day. All veterans of either of the world wars are eligible for membership in the Legion and those who have not previously joined are invited to be on hand for the Armistice Day dinner and join at that time.

Tie In The Senate?

Anything Could Happen In Today's Election; Possibility Aries Of Tie Between Parties Striving For Control; Poses Odd Question Of Procedure

By JAMES MARLOW Senate terms are for six years but they are so arranged that every two years one-third or 33 of the senators' terms expire.

This year, therefore, the usual 32 seats are open. But there are four others also open, due to deaths or resignations.

Maine, which always votes in September, already has elected a Republican senator, so actually only 35 seats are involved today.

Of those 36 seats the Republicans—who now have 39—would need 10 (a total of 49) to give them a majority over the Democrats, or nine (a total of 48) to give them an even split with the Democrats.

If the Democrats with their present 36 seats lost only seven, they'd be left with only 48, or an even split with the Republicans.

Under the constitution the vice-presidential election is held in the event of a tie between the parties. (Continued on Page Four)

CHRISTIANS HOLD CONVENTION HERE

The Christian Churches of North Carolina will open their 102nd annual convention at Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Major J. H. Boyd, Jr., and Dr. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of the host church, will welcome the delegates.

Dr. Homer O. Wilson of Winston-Salem will preside and deliver the president's annual address.

The outstanding guest speaker of Wednesday evening's session will be Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas.

Dr. Sadler is a North Carolinian and is widely known in this state and elsewhere in the South.

Sessions of the convention will continue through Thursday and Friday.

Colorado Snowstorm Moves South After Wild Flurry Disrupts State

Denver, Nov. 5—(AP)—A snowstorm which swept into the Rocky Mountain region Saturday and gave Denver and Colorado its worst winter lashing in more than three decades, was moving southward tonight, gradually lessening in intensity.

Weather Bureau forecasters said snow had spread north tonight to Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyoming, but that it was spending itself as it moved southward across the New Mexican border.

Eight deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the storm. In Denver, where the storm first came, streets were packed with deep snow and transportation facilities were strained to the utmost. Fine snow still fell late last night.

Elsewhere in the state highway travel was all but suspended, east-bound trains were delayed and the usual truck travel was halted.

Highway officials declared travel on highways opened by plows "hazardous and not advisable."

Politicians watched the movement of the storm with interest, since many rural precincts may have an extremely tight vote because of inability to get to the general election polls today.

Of the eight deaths recorded, four occurred in Denver when persons attempted to start cars stalled in deep drifts.

In the midst of the storm two boys were born to a Denver woman whose physician could not arrive because of the weather. Her husband assisted at the birth.

There were bright spots in the storm, since watersheds received a heavy fall of water-storing snow.

The crop outlook apparently was not as dismal as early reports indicated. Officials of the Great Western Sugar Company said about 75 percent of the beet crop has been harvested in northern Colorado, and that in areas where the crop still is in the ground there were safe unless a prolonged cold snap set in.

Cattle on the open range, where the storm swept in on light winds Saturday, probably will suffer some shrinkage, stockmen said.

The Weather Bureau forecast a high of between 45-55 degrees tomorrow with snow in the mountains and the extreme south.

Most city and rural schools were closed yesterday, and some did not immediately schedule a re-opening.

New Mexico apparently was in for a whip of the storm today, although weathermen said it was gradual, lessening in intensity.

Eastbound trains of the Missouri Pacific were held up at Ordway, Colo., last night, as the storm descended on the little Colorado town and at Trinidad, in a coal mining area, drifts as high as eight feet virtually isolated the town.

Probe Charge Of Illegal Ballots

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5—(AP)—An investigation of Republican charges that absentee ballots were issued illegally in Yancey County for use in today's general election will be studied further before a decision is reached on the holding of a formal hearing in the county, Chairman W. T. Joyner of the State Board of Elections has announced.

Joyner said that J. R. Morgan of Waynesville had investigated the charges which were made by C. Y. Finney, Jr., Republican nominee for Congress in the eleventh district.

In contending that half of 647 absentee ballots issued in the county were illegal, Nannery asserted that some of them were issued by persons other than the chairman of the county elections board, that applications were signed by persons other than the immediate family of the applicant, that ballots were issued to residents of other counties and that others were issued to persons who will be able to vote today.

On that prime issue, Republicans confidently predicted the Democrats would be swept out of power in Congress, where they have held the upper hand in both houses since 1932.

Democrats, generally fighting defensive battle against GOP assaults on their handling of reconstruction problems, conceded they may suffer some losses.

At stake in the election expected to bring out more than 35,000,000 citizens, are 35 Senate places, 432 House seats and 33 governorships.

Douglas spent the morning in conference with Jack Frye, TWA president and other company officials, apparently trying to solve the remaining major problem—whether a proposal that pilots of planes flying international runs be paid a flat monthly salary instead of a rat based on hours and mileage flown.

Trains World Airline withheld a back-to-work order for 15,000 idle employees today while attorneys redoubled efforts to draft an arbitration agreement which would end the 16-day-old pilots' strike.

The 1,400 AFL pilots who walked out Oct. 21, demanding higher pay for the men who fly four-engine turbines were on the verge of returning to their jobs when both sides accepted in principle yesterday the proposal of Federal Mediator Douglas that the dispute be submitted to an arbitration panel.

David L. Behncke, president of the Pilots' union, announced in Chicago that the government's arbitration offer had been accepted and the pilots were ready to fly while the case was being handled.

However, company and union lawyers conferred with Douglas without writing a mutually acceptable agreement.

The stumbling block was whether the arbitration pact should cover TWA's proposal that pilots on its international runs be paid a flat salary. This pay system now is followed by two competing United States airlines, Pan American and American Overseas.

Denver, Nov. 5—(AP)—A snowstorm which swept into the Rocky Mountain region Saturday and gave Denver and Colorado its worst winter lashing in more than three decades, was moving southward tonight, gradually lessening in intensity.

Pack Christmas Boxes
Pupils in the Training School on the East Carolina Teachers College campus have completed the packing of 30 Christmas boxes for the Junior Red Cross and have shipped the packages to headquarters in New York, from which they will be sent abroad to children in various European countries.

The 514 boys and girls of the Training School joined the Junior Red Cross 100 per cent earlier in the fall. The boxes just shipped contain toys for children of different ages and items which are scarce or unobtainable abroad, such as pencils, soap, and paper. Later in the season, according to plans, boxes containing candles and other foods will be packed at the Training School and sent to Europe.

Piano Quartet Pleases Audience
The First Piano Quartet played last night in the Wright auditorium at East Carolina Teachers College to an audience of approximately 1800 people, who broke into loud cheers as favorite numbers were presented and whose enthusiastic applause brought the artists back to the stage for encores and curtain calls.

Students and patrons from Greenville, New Bern, Scotland Neck, Snow Hill, Tarboro, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Washington, and other nearby towns made up the group of pleased listeners who heard Adam Garner, Edward Edson, Vladimir Padwa, and Frank Mittler perform at four concert groups, three of which were shipped to the city from Raleigh, Charlotte, and Rocky Mount especially for the concert.

"The audience was red-hot," said Mr. Edson, American-born pianist and youngest member of the group. "One of the most delightful concerts ever to be presented in Greenville," said the audience.

Flawless precision, superior technique, and original interpretations of the classics, the arrangements of which were made by members of the quartet, marked the performance.

Numbers were selected to appeal to varying tastes and ranged from Bach's Prelude and Fugue in C Minor to the humorous Polka from Shostakovich's The Golden Age,

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

November 5, 1906

Bethel, N. C.—The Halloween party given by the Athenaeum Literary Society on Friday night last, in the society hall for the benefit of the graded school library was quite a success. The attendance was good and the receipts amounted to over $30. Miss Inez Thomas, in a fetching Gypsy costume, made a charming daughter of the mystic art and foretold every happiness for the fortunate ones "crossing her palm with silver."

T. M. Andrews, Fred Forbes, and Tom Moore of Greenville spent Sunday here.

with which it will be remembered, Miss Templeton also captured his ruidence when he played in the Wright auditorium two years ago. Particularly attractive to the audience were the melodious Trout Variations of Schubert, the beautiful "Etude, Op. 25, No. 1 (Harp) of Chopin, the spectacular Magic Fire Music from Wagner's Die Walkure and Second Hungarian Rhapsody of Liszt, and the two Chopin encores, Minute Waltz and A flat major Polonaise.

The pianists played now with delicacy and now with a force and power which suggested the full orchestra.

The four pianists, all of whom now live in this country, represent the talent of four different nations. Edson is a native-born American; Mittler, an Austrian; Padwa a Russian; and Garner, a Pole. Together they form something of a United Nations ensemble.

The Entertainment Series, ushered in so auspiciously with the delightful concert of the First Piano Quartet, will present as its next number Charlie Spivak and his orchestra, nationally popular dance band, which will give a stage performance in the Wright Auditorium on November 26.

Twiddy-Harris

Elizabeth City.—In a wedding solemnized Thursday evening, October 24, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. D. Williams, 605 Maple Street, Mrs. Shirley Clayton Harris became the bride of Glenn Marshall Twiddy. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Outlaw before a setting of palms, white chrysanthemums and lighted candelabra.

Wedding music, including the traditional marches, was played by Mrs. Eugene Scott.

The bride wore a dressmaker suit of soldier blue wool with black accessories. Her corsage was tulleman roses and baby breath. Her maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Tebla Armstrong, wore a gray tailored suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Kenneth Twiddy.

Mrs. Twiddy is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Seth A. Cayton of Winterville. Twiddy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Twiddy of Elizabeth City and is a veteran of World War II having served in the Army 36 months, 43 of which were spent in the Pacific theatre.

The couple will make their home at 710 Parsonage street.

Belvoir News

On Halloween night, October 31, a Halloween Carnival was presented at the Belvoir High School.

Entertainments of all kinds were enjoyed and everyone had a lot of nice clean fun.

A number of nice prizes were won in bingo, even a pair of nylons was given away as a prize.

Madame Zela, our fortune-teller, was really up to date on the past, present, and perhaps the future of everyone that visited her.

The spook house was represented by every spook around Belvoir.

The Beta club members sold drinks, peanuts, pop-corn, and ice cream.

Annis McLawhorn was crowned "Miss Popularity" for the high school and Dorothy Garris was crowned "Miss Popularity" for the grammar grades.

All kinds of Halloween trinkets were sold.

Hillbilly music was furnished by some of the talented musicians of the community and school.

The profits that the carnival brought in will be used to help pay for the new library books that the school has recently obtained.

Whenever there is a performance of any kind at Belvoir you can be sure that there will be a lot of clean fun and everyone that comes out will enjoy it.

An impersonation of the school faculty was given as the assembly program for the week by Mrs. Foster's tenth grade.

We were quite honored to have as our guest speaker on Friday, November 1, Mr. Robert Bradshaw, pastor of the Methodist Church in Greenville. Mr. Bradshaw visited Belvoir during the 1945-1946 school year and was remembered by every student that was present for his talk last year, and we were glad to have him visit us again. On Friday he talked about the things a person could get out of a Christian life. All of us hope that Mr. Bradshaw will find the opportunity to visit us often.

New Instructor Now On Staff Of College

Howard G. Porter of Kansas has joined the physical education department of East Carolina Teachers College, where he will be engaged both in teaching and coaching.

Porter, who has recently been connected with the Kansas City, Kansas, public schools, is well known as a basketball coach. He was for a time associated with Coach Bob Allen at the University of Kansas.

Porter received the master's degree from the University of Missouri, where he was a letter man in both football and basketball, and has done graduate work in physical education at Kansas, Missouri and Illinois universities. He will begin work at East Carolina Teachers College on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

Mrs. Porter is with Mr. Porter in Greenville at present, and will remain a few days. She will return for permanent residence when the housing situation permits.

Warning Against Fires In Forest

By CHESTER WALSH

N. S. Tyson, forest warden for Pitt County, today issued the following warning to hunters and others about the danger of forest fires:

"Now is the time for hunters and others in or near woods to use every precaution against accidentally starting fires by careless use of cigarettes, cigars and pipes and matches. When your dog's bark warns you that he has pointed a bird or tress some animal, don't throw your cigarette or cigar in the dry brush and start a fire which may do thousands of dollars damage to standing timber and sometimes buildings. If you start a fire to cook on or to warm-by, be sure that every spark is out when you leave."

Forest Warden Tyson also warned that the state law requires landowners to secure permits to burn brush from the forest wardens. The law provides that a person who starts a brush fire on his premises without notifying adjacent neighbors he may be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500 and be imprisoned for not less than two months nor more than four months or both.

Heber Tripp, chairman of the Scout Race Relations committee, reported on visiting the colored troops. A new troop which meets over in the Bama section of the town was found to be advancing rapidly in Scouting and having a good time.

It was announced that Walter L. Lewis has been selected as the scoutmaster of Troop 36 which is sponsored by the American Legion. Mr. Lewis succeeds A. B. Stallworth, resigned, who had been scoutmaster for the troop since it began.

Poppy Sale Will Be On Saturday

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy Sale will be held here November 9. Chairman of the Poppy sale in Greenville this year is Mrs. Carrie West. Local Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts and the Junior Woman's Club will actively aid in the sale of the little red flowers to be worn on Armistice Day.

In Ayden, the Poppy sale program is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Stillman. The chairman of the campaign in Farmville will be Mrs. J. T. Nolen.

The little red poppies which citizens will buy next Saturday are the product of disabled war veterans in government hospitals, patiently and laboriously assembled in the memory of those men of the armed forces who died in an effort for world peace.

Little luxuries for these men, necessities for the needy and disabled war veterans and their families will be made possible through the purchase of these crimson emblems of remembrance.

The sale of Buddy Poppies, one of thousands annually to be held throughout the nation, will be directed by the local VFW Post, No 7032.

Off-Campus Student Group Is Organized

Men students at East Carolina Teachers College who live off the campus have organized a Day Students' Committee to manage their affairs and promote their interests and have elected officers for the year. Howard Wood of Washington, N. C., is president of the group; Bernice Jenkins of Greenville, vice president; and Thomas Larkins of Scotia, N. Y., secretary and treasurer. Members at large include William Craft, Amos O. Clark, and Billy Tucker of Greenville, and S. C. Peel of Williamston. Cal Wray of Greensboro, and Nicholas T. Fokakis of Wilmington.

Scout Committee In Monthly Meeting

By WYATT BROWN

The Boy Scout Greenville district committee held its monthly meeting last night at the Rotary Club building. W. F. Young, Scout Commissioner, reported on visiting the various troops. He announced the opening of some troop contests in advancement.

Heber Tripp, chairman of the Scout Race Relations committee, reported on visiting the colored troops. A new troop which meets over in the Bama section of the town was found to be advancing rapidly in Scouting and having a good time.

It was announced that Walter L. Lewis has been selected as the scoutmaster of Troop 36 which is sponsored by the American Legion. Mr. Lewis succeeds A. B. Stallworth, resigned, who had been scoutmaster for the troop since it began.

Women Voters In Majority Camp

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—About 300 feminine candidates for Congress and state offices counted on their sisters today to prove that women stick together.

Theoretically, if they did stick together, a majority of the women political hopefuls would sweep into office, for the qualified feminine vote in today's congressional election is 1,171,000 greater than the male.

Fifteen women — 11 Democrats and four Republicans—are seeking election to the House of Representatives. Another Republican, Mrs.

Checks Delayed

It was announced today from the Pitt County Welfare Department that the Old Age Assistance check will be late being mailed out due to federal changes in procedure.

The announcement was made so the general public will not be calling the Welfare Office about the checks. They will be mailed promptly as soon as they come in.

Margaret Chase Smith, has already been given her ticket to Congress by Maine voters last September.

In addition, 11 women are running as minor party candidates. One of the liveliest tussles between the sexes was the race between the Republican incumbent Rep. Joseph Martin, and his Democratic rival, Mrs. Martha Sharpe, in Massachusetts.

Dig Another Grave

Chapter 22

Someone tapped on the door and Cloud opened it. One of the plain-clothesmen whispered something and Cloud went out, leaving the door ajar. Martin moved to a point where he could see into the living room, just as Lee Dexter entered the apartment with a detective.

Martin's heart sank, seeing the white look on Dexter's face. Dexter knew what had happened, or at any rate knew something; he had grown haggard and years older since Martin had left him at the hotel that morning.

"Where is she?" he asked Cloud.

Instead of replying, Cloud led the way to the kitchen. The way led past the bedroom door, and as Dexter approached Martin stepped out to meet him.

"Marty," Dexter said, his eyes lighting. "Thank God you're here. Marty, this gas I smell... she didn't—"

"There's some question about it," Martin said. He was worried about Dexter's heart.

Dexter stiffened when he saw the body, but that was all. He looked at the body for what seemed a long time, then turned to Martin. His face had not changed, but unshed tears glistened in his eyes.

"She never had a chance, Marty," he said, his voice queerly broken.

"Can you suggest any explanation?" Cloud asked gently.

"One," Dexter said, "but you won't like it. I don't think she killed herself. I think she was murdered."

"Why?"

Dexter passed his hand across his forehead. "I'd like to sit down." Cloud motioned toward the front room and they all went that way.

"I talked to Clarabelle on the phone today," Dexter said. "It was a little after eleven—Marty had just left, she said. I called to see if she'd got a check I put in the mail last night."

"We found the check," Cloud said. "She wrote Searle left her penniless. Our marriage didn't last, but we kept on being friends. I've given her money before when she needed it, just as I'd give it to any of my friends."

"Where did you call from?"

"The public library. I spent most of the day there in the main reading room, looking up political scandals of the last century for some articles I'm doing for the Sunday Record. I found your man waiting for me when I got back to the hotel."

"Why do you think this is murder?"

"Because I don't think she killed herself. She talked more cheerfully than she has in quite a while. She'd been terribly worried about losing her money, and I suppose my check made her feel better, especially since I'd told her there would be others. Then, too, she hinted that she might get some money from another source."

"What source?"

Dexter frowned. "I don't know I have a certain vague theory, but nothing to base it on."

"Do you mind telling about it?"

"From one or two unintentional remarks she made when the subject of Searle's death came up—not statements, but the haziest kind of innuendos—I wondered if she might not know something about the case that no one else knew. Not who killed Searle—I doubt if she could have kept quiet about that—but perhaps something that would embarrass a person who might be innocent of the crime yet anxious not to be mixed up in it any way. When she spoke of getting other money it struck me that she might be thinking of such a person. She wouldn't blackmail him—Clarabelle wasn't equal to anything like that—but he might have spoken of giving her money to insure her friendship."

Cloud asked, "Morrissey?"

A spasmodic crossed Dexter's white face, a spasm of impatience, perhaps. He shook his head.

"Don't throw names at me, Cloud. If I did have a name in mind I wouldn't mention it, because it wouldn't be fair to anyone in view of my complete lack of knowledge."

"Are you sure you don't know things you're not telling?"

"I'm telling more than I know. Most of this is pure guesswork."

"Did you know," Cloud asked, "that she wrote a note of confession to the murder of Searle?"

Dexter's mouth opened and closed. He looked at Cloud and then at Martin. He closed one fist and pressed it against his chest.

"Clarabelle—killed Searle? Preposterous!"

The assistant medical examiner leaned forward in his chair, watching Dexter's face with lively interest.

"She wouldn't have waited till today to confess. She'd have told me—Morrissey—everybody—"

He gasped. His eyes closed and suddenly his face was livid with pain. He tried to rise and pitched forward as the assistant medical examiner sprang up.

The doctor knelt beside Dexter, fumbling at his collar.

The seizure was brief. Within a matter of minutes Dexter, lying on the sofa, was breathing regularly, watching as the doctor prepared a hypodermic.

He mumbled, "Sorry. Every time—the damned thing hits me—I think it will be the last time. But it'll be all right in a few minutes."

"Sure," agreed the doctor. "But get to bed as soon as you can and stay there as long as you can. I won't let Cloud ask you any more questions for the time being."

"I've finished my questioning," Cloud said. He looked at Martin and Barbara standing together. "How about you two taking a little ride?"

"To the clinic?" Martin demanded. "Both of us?"

"To Dexter's hotel," said Cloud, "to see that he gets to bed and is taken care of. I'll feel better if he's in the hands of an intelligent per-concentrated in his spine all at once, extending up into the back of his brain, buzzing in a way that should have been audible to anyone within a dozen yards. They had a numbing effect, notwithstanding which his mind seemed to work like lightning.

"King?" he repeated. "You've got me confused with somebody else, mister."

The man's gun hand did not waver. "You'll do," he said. "Get in unless you want us to put you in."

Martin got in, bending nearly double in the operation, and the man ran a hand over his pockets. He said approvingly, "No gun. That's smart. People who carry guns are apt to get hurt."

Huddled in a corner of the back seat, Martin glanced at the dark, thickset man behind the wheel; he looked straight ahead and gave the impression of not having noticed anything. The thin one got in front and sat sideways, watching Martin, keeping his right hand with the gun concealed within his topcoat in such a way that he could use it instantly. Martin had never seen either of them before.

"If this is a stickup," he said to the thin one, "all the money I own is in my hip pocket. You can get it without all this fuss."

The car started unhurriedly. A panel truck clattered past, its driver paying no attention to them. The thin man gave Martin a thin smile.

"It's not a stickup, King. We just figure you're wearing yourself out, chasing around playing detective with your girl friend, and we're going to see that you get a rest."

The thickset man uttered a short barking laugh. "A nice long rest in a hospital," he said.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

COST OF CHRISTIAN GROWTH
One of the axioms of modern life is that all successful enterprises must be planned in advance. If an industry is organized, or a magazine established, or a sales program entered into, the whole thing is preceded by a tremendous amount of planning.

We realize the necessity of planning in business. We even recognize the necessity of planning our lives to the extent that this is possible. But few people realize that one must have a definite program for the development of the spiritual life, if he hopes ever to enjoy spiritual maturity. Our Lord emphasized the necessity for planning in his parable about the man who would build a tower, and the general who would go forth to meet an enemy. Both of them planned their enterprises. So in the growth of the soul we must have a plan.

This plan must involve certain things—daily Bible reading, prayer, and a definite effort every day to carry the principles of the gospel into the events of life. God has made provision whereby we can achieve the destiny He has in view for us.

We need never expect growth if we pay no attention to cultivation. We need never expect success in anything, including the spiritual life, unless we are willing to plan and with the exercise of patience continually to put that plan into operation. It costs something to be a Christian, but it is worth all its costs.

WASHINGTON LETTER

HIS POST OFFICE JOB PUT ITS STAMP ON ISAAC GREGG
By JANE EADS

Washington—It took an act of congress to retire him at 70, but "Ike" Gregg says Uncle Sam can't keep him from going right on working anyway—and feeling 20 years younger to boot.

Isaac Gregg has been for 22 years a member of the publicity bureau of the U. S. Post Office Department. Its chief the greater part of that time.

Dapper, wiry, with white hair and a dry humor, "Ike" is a familiar figure around town and has scores of friends in journalistic circles. Ike was a newspaper man himself once. Born in Germantown, Pa., he came to Washington during the McKinley administration and started in newspaper work with the Washington bureau of the New York World. For a while before that he worked in President Truman's home town, Independence, Mo.

From the press gallery of the Capitol he heard the United States declare war on Spain in 1898 and on Germany in 1917. He covered Congressional hearings into the Titanic disaster, the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad case and other big investigations of the day.

He was president of the White House Correspondents' Association during the Coolidge administration. He says the toughest assignment he ever had was to make "Oar" Coolidge talk.

Coolidge was anxious to learn whether Senator Hiram Johnson of California was going to support him in his forthcoming campaign. "Ike" said he believed the Senator proposed to do so, and he did. After that the two got to be very good friends. They liked to talk politics together.

Later Ike also wrote for the New York Sun, the Pittsburgh Times and the New York Evening Mail. He left newspaper work in 1924 to work for the Post Office Department. However, he still writes a stamp column for the Sun and expects to continue the work.

In addition, he expects to busy himself writing a section on the Post Office Department for the forthcoming new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

"He's got a ton of stamps stored away at home," Ike says. These include a collection of rare old Japanese stamps that ran back to 1883. Some are emergency stamps issued during an earthquake.

Indian
One swallow doesn't make a summer, and one incident of this sort doesn't solve India's problem—but it is an encouraging demonstration of the progress of the country. It should be enough to convince even the most skeptical that the Hindus and Muslims can work together.

In order to get a full understanding of the position, one must know that much of the communal rioting is carried out by wholly ignorant and backward people who might properly be characterized as primitives.

PUBLIC FORUM

DISCUSSING PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO THE COMMUNITY IN ALL CITIES NAMES MUST ACCOMPANY ANY COMMUNICATION

To The Editor:

The average veteran who draws his $20 a week for a few weeks (not 52 weeks as most people seem to think) doesn't think the government is giving him anything. He figures he earned it.

We admit there are those chiselers who are drawing it for a year (the limit passed by congress). You might ask yourself though, "Who set the example?"

Look at profiteering by car dealers.

Look back at the black markets in gasoline, meat, etc.

Look at UNC and State College (among others all over the country) milking the federal government by raising their tuition rates.

Look at Congressmen who are paid $10,000 a year and don't do a thing.

Look, look and everywhere you look you see chiseling.

No, the veterans have no monopoly there.

POLICE JUDGE IS WISE MAN

Administers City Court With Much Of Solomon's Wisdom

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday William J. Hunter, colored, who had been in New Jersey, and was on trial for disorderly conduct and assault with a deadly weapon (a shotgun) and resisting arrest, essayed the role of a lawyer. He informed the court that "being the defendant, I'm entitled to all the benefits of doubt in these cases," and "spurred" in points of law with Solicitor Eli Bloom.

Detectives George Crawford and M. E. Corbett and businessmen on Albemarle avenue in the vicinity of the Plaza Theater testified that Hunter was disorderly and threatening people with a shotgun, and that he resisted arrest and Corbett had to take the shotgun from him by force. Judge J. W. H. Roberts peering over his glasses, agreed about giving a defendant the benefit of a doubt and said: "I have no doubts about your being guilty of the charges." Turning to Court Clerk Russell Rogerson, His Honor said: "Mr. Clerk, make the following entry: Guilty of all charges. Two years on the first two, and two years on the second two charges— to be served at hard labor on the roads."

Debie Wilson and Levie Buck, charged with disorderly conduct and affray outside the State Theater were found guilty. Buck was fined $15 and Wilson was taxed with the costs. Both defendants were placed on probation two years and ordered not to enter any motion picture theater in Greenville for a year. Jerry L. Breitman, a member of a traveling show, "The Dead End Kids," who was charged with the same offense, was called and failed to answer. His bond of $50 was ordered forfeited. Judge Roberts said he is not going to tolerate rowdiness in motion picture theaters.

Charles J. Grimes, colored, was given 30 days in jail for failure to pay taxicab fare.

DeOllie Bryant was fined $100 for driving drunk and transporting illegal whiskey. His driver's license was ordered forfeited for a year. Bryant also was fined $100 for assault with a deadly weapon.

Drunk: Dee Waters, $35; Geo. M. Brown, colored, $15; Orville Stokes (a regular offender), $50; Alfred W. Cullipher, $15; David C. Cannon, $18.50; Jarvis Parker, colored, (and disorderly conduct), $15; F. T. Pinkham, (and assault), $15.

Assault: James Blount, colored, $25.

William W. Jefferson was not guilty of crashing a red light.

Reckless driving: Clarence Harris, (and no brakes), guilty; he gave notice of appeal to Superior Court, bond, $100. Cora K. Clark and Ivey Allen were not guilty of reckless driving.

Driving drunk: W. Y. Moore $67.50; and license ordered forfeited for a year; M. Oswald Gardner $65, and license ordered forfeited for a year.

Cases tried in Police Court last Friday included:

Roscoe Eastwood of Wilson county, driving drunk and hit-and-run was found guilty and fined $100 and costs, and ordered to pay to W. R. Phelps, Jr., $100 for hospital bill and damage to his motor bike.

Hollis Smith was convicted of exploding firecrackers and taxed $10 in costs.

James Edward Rollins, colored, was given a year on the roads for temporary larceny of a car.

Catherine Rouse and James Coward, both colored, were not guilty of violating the venereal disease law.

James W. Short, colored, paid $50 in costs for driving drunk and lost his license for a year.

Speeding: Odell Butts, $35; Billie K. Robertson, $20; Huey Gray, $20. M. Oswald Gardner, Jefferson Brown, Turner Joyner and Willie Jones, the last three colored, each paid $15 for being drunk; Solomon Spencer, colored, was given 30 days on the roads for being drunk.

Ballots Missing In Primary Vote

Florence, S. C., Nov. 5—(AP)—County Democratic Secretary J. E. Cothran had new ballots printed and distributed last night for use in today's Florence County Democratic primary to nominate a superintendent of education immediately after it was discovered that a portion of nearly 10,000 ballots originally to have been used were missing.

The shortage was discovered when two small communities called in asking for their ballots. A check of Florence's boxes showed only 600 ballots where the normal primary vote averages between 3,000 and 4,000.

Cothran had 10,000 replacement ballots of another color delivered between midnight and 8:00 a. m. today.

Restless India Relatively Calm

Bombay, Nov. 5—(AP)—The Moslem celebration of Bakr Id, during which cattle—sacred to Hindus—are being sacrificed in dozens of mosques throughout the city, got off to a relatively quiet start today, but feeling was running high.

Police said Hindus stoned three Moslem assemblages in Bombay as the Moslem's sacrificial ceremonial—commemorating Abraham's act of slaughtering an animal instead of his son, Isaac—got under way. In two instances police opened fire but no one was hit by the bullets. Six stabbing incidents also were reported.

A state of emergency was declared in the Kolaba district south of Bombay as the result of Hindu-Moslem clashes in which Moslems have come off second-best.

North Carolina
Dear Mr. Tunstall:

I received check from your company for $42.66 in payment of my claim caused by breaking a needle in my finger. Payment was prompt and according to my expectations. I consider this a very good policy for every business and professional woman who wishes to protect her income. I like the policy because it combines payments for health, accident and operations and, also, liberal payment in the event of death.
Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Josephine Smith

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcers
A recent medical discovery now used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective, in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion, heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of LURIN from their druggist. LURIN contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoons in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Must satisfy or money refunded.

Notre Dame Keyed For Army's Black Nights

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 5—(AP)—There have been Notre Dame teams in the past that have been hot. There was, to mention one, the team that "win one for Gipp" back there in the twenties, when Rockne asked them the question. There was the one-play-O'Brien outfit that hung one on the Chris Cagle collection, just to bring up another. But not in the memory of the oldest living inhabitant has there been a set of Irish Shillelagh pitchers like the current Notre Dame footballers. Never was one as "hot" and looking for a fight like the 1936 fraternity as they prepare for their national championship game Saturday with the Army, which has hung it on them 50-0 and 48-0 for the last two years. Just, for instance, this is what's going on around here:

The first team goes through a dummy scrimmage—no contact and nothing to get excited about except some plays Coach Frank Leahy has not allowed them to use all year because they're saving them for Army. Well, between each formation lineup, the Irish front-wall wallers go into a huddle to make with a cheer to "give us Army" until a fearful innocent bystander stands with local authorities to "throw those lions some red meat and let's get out of here."

Jimmy Costin, local sports editor and semi-pro historian of Notre Dame doings, is somewhat amazed at how high this particular Irish set has worked itself.

Coach Frank Leahy scratched his head and said, "I wish I could phone Ed Blaik up at Army and ask him to bring his team out here today so we could play them."

What Leahy was trying to say was that his Notre Dame let's-get-even "lads" were so hot right at this moment, he's afraid they'll burn out some of their emotional fire before game-time Saturday and he'd just as soon as they burn it out where it will do the most good. And Leahy, having picked Army to win by a 27-14 edge—without saying positively—can't think of a better place for the Notre Dame heat to hit than the Cadet combustion company.

Baseball Guessing Game About Ended

New York, Nov. 5—(AP)—Major league baseball's great off-season guessing contest was expected to end today with announcement by President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees as to who will manage the club next year.

Those "in the know"—including everybody from cab driver to sweeper at Yankee Stadium—were practically unanimous that Stanley (Bucky) Harris would be named manager at MacPhail's scheduled

POLL OUTCOME FAVORS PAIR

Army And Irish Lead First Ten In Landslide Of Ballots

New York, Nov. 5—(AP)—It didn't take a recount today to determine the results of the weekly election of college football's two most popular candidates.

Even before the ballot boxes were opened in the Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers throughout the nation, the outcome was certain. Army and Notre Dame had been awarded another of those landslide votes that kept the two teams in the forefront as the people's choices this fall.

The principals in football's national championship classic at Yankee Stadium this Saturday have been up there with monotonous regularity every week but one since this year's poll started. That week the voters put the dark-horse candidate, Texas, over Army and dropped Notre Dame to third place.

Fenn, to the surprise of practically no one, lost its hold on third place due to the Quakers' 17-14 upset by Princeton, and skidded to ninth. Penn's former spot No. 3 was filled by Georgia.

University of California at Los Angeles retained fourth-place and Rice, No. 8 last week advanced to No. 5, with Texas moving up a notch to sixth place. Tennessee went from tenth place to seventh.

Georgia Tech went from 18th to eighth. After Penn at No. 9 came Illinois, up from eleventh last week. Northwestern, sixth last week, nose-dived sharing position No. 17 with North Carolina which also slipped from the first ten.

Based on the usual system of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for a second, eight for a third, and so on, Army piled up 1,176 points 471 less than last week. Notre Dame's point total of 1,140 was 338 under the previous count.

The names of Charley Dressen, Frank Frisch, Leo Durocher, Jimmy Dykes and half a dozen dark horses also have been bandied about during the past month.

Federal Funds In Pre-Fabs Likely

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—Government housing officials expressed confidence today that federal money will be forthcoming to spur the mass-production of pre-fabricated homes in the $171,000,000 Dodge-Chrysler plant at Chicago and elsewhere.

These officials said William Wyatt, housing expediter, expected a reply today from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation on his appeal that it reconsider its action of last week. At that time RFC rejected an application by the Lustron Corporation for a $32,000,000 loan to enable it to take over the big war plant for housing production.

Tied up in the same decision are additional credits for Lustron and loans to a number of other concerns eager to get into the pre-fabricated housing business with federal financial aid.

Spokesmen for the National Housing Agency, describing an "amicable" settlement with RFC "entirely possible," added that should the lending agency again say "no," Wyatt would not hesitate to issue a directive under the Veterans Emergency Housing Act to order the credits advanced.

AS I WAS SAYING Philadelphia, Nov. 5—(AP)—Patrolman Harold Hemmerle told his superiors he heard a woman scream. As he went to assist her he spotted a man fleeing with a pocketbook. Hemmerle turned and gave chase to the man, who dropped the pocketbook and escaped.

When the officer returned to learn the woman's name, she was gone—so was the purse.

Europeans Watch Election In U. S.

London, Nov. 5—(AP)—Europeans watched America's elections today with marked anxiety as to what effect, if any, the results might have on the future economy of the world.

Most capitals were in agreement that foreign policy was not at issue and that the only question was the size of Republican gains.

The British press emphasized Britain's immediate interest in economic trends in the United States by featuring as one of the main stories a report that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would call on President Truman to "emphasize the gravity" of the world food situation.

The Paris press gave more space to the closing stages of the American political campaign than to the approaching French balloting for the country's new national assembly.

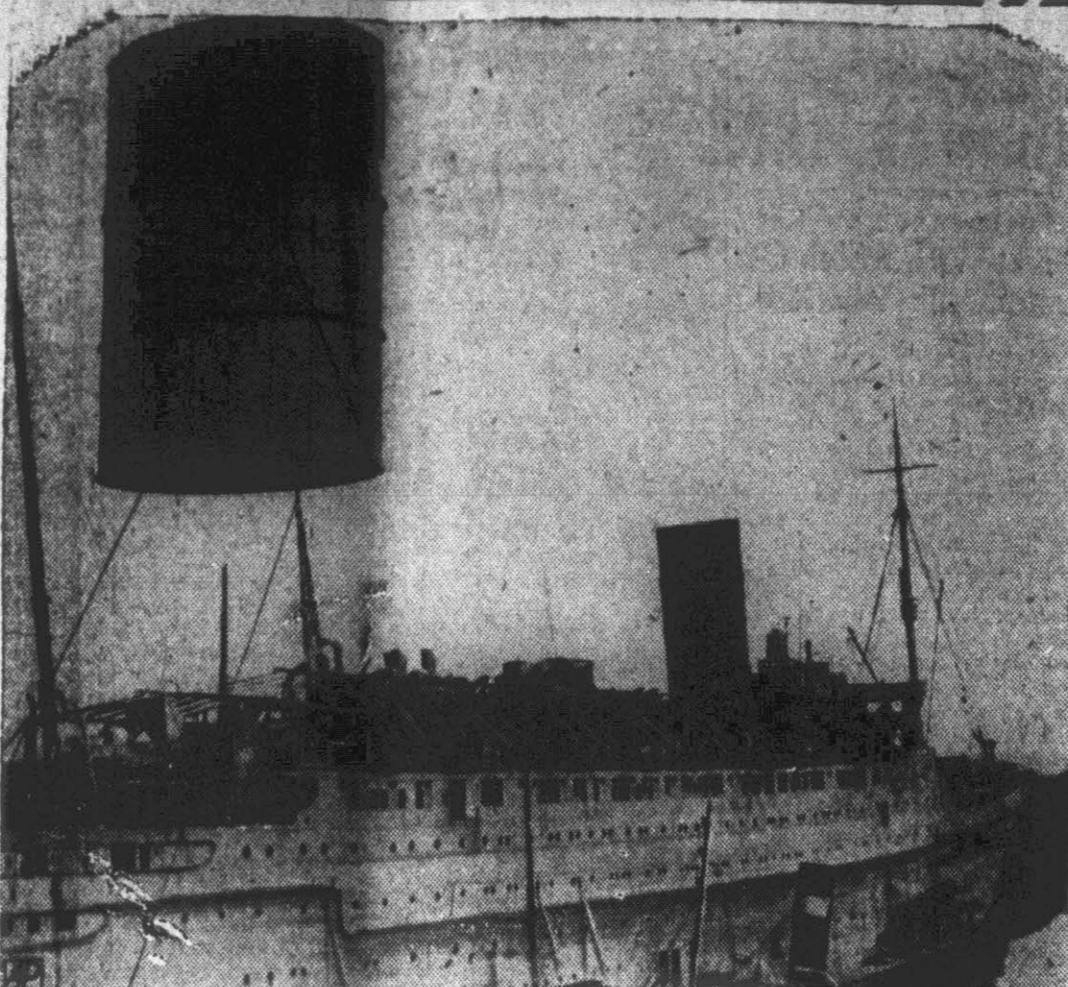

The German press, predicting Republican congressional gains, concluded, nonetheless, that there would be little change in the conduct of U. S. foreign policy since that policy has been conducted in recent months on a bi-partisan basis.

There was considerable, if puzzled, interest in the election in Italy, and one Rome newspaper came up with what was supposed to be an explanatory headline, which said: "Donkeys and elephants to govern the United States."

Atlanta Seeks End To Columbian Group

Atlanta, Nov. 5—(AP)—Atlanta authorities, commended by U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark for arrest of four members of Columbians Inc., anti-Negro order, sought aid of state authorities today in revoking the charter of the organization.

J. M. B. Bloodworth, assistant city attorney, said the charter was granted through state courts and that the matter had been turned over to Attorney General Eugene Cook. Bloodworth said Duke, assistant attorney general, assigned sev-

Chinese Reds In Minor Attacks

Peiping, Nov. 5—(AP)—Chinese Communists, attempting to divert the government from its Chefoo offensive, today attacked numerous towns along the Tsingtao-Tsinan railway, 129 miles to the south.

They also are rushing reinforcements from southern Shantung Province to the Chefoo area, where severe fighting raged for that and other port cities.

There was a virtually complete news blackout on the government's twin campaigns to crush the Communists in the Dairen and Chefoo areas. A policy the government adopted several weeks ago and has followed since.

German Told . . .

"I shall watch your work during the next 60 days with special attention in the hope that there will become evident the will to do this denazification job which is not evident today," Clay said.

Clay told the Germans that their failure in denazification was imperiling their hope of future self-government. "The Military Government cannot in good conscience restore self-government to German people who have demonstrated their unwillingness to denazify themselves," he said.

U. N. Trustee . . .

(Continued from Page One) Russia has not yet declared her views publicly on this question, but it was known that members of the U. S. delegation had had at least one long talk with Soviet representatives in an effort to get them to make no fight over the issue at this time.

National Debt Drops Below Previous Year

Washington, Nov. 5—(AP)—Treasury reports today showed the national debt has dropped below that of a year earlier for the first time since 1930.

Reason for the decline was redemption in cash of nearly $2,000,000,000 in government securities which matured November 1.

The turning in of the major part of these securities sent the debt down to $282,021,507,083.11 on November 1, compared with $282,564,488,986.12 on November 1, 1945.
