

OPA COLLAPSE VIEWED AS AID TO BUSINESS

Economists Say While Living Costs May Rise Few Points The End Of Controls Will Delay Business Recession And Help Balance Budget

By STERLING F. GREEN Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP) While the collapse of OPA's price barriers will jack living costs up a few percentage points, government economists insisted today it also will: 1. Delay any business recession, and 2. Help President Truman balance the federal budget.

Despite widespread reports of surging prices, these economists predicted the general cost of living level will not climb more than 5 per cent, and probably not that much before stabilizing. That compares with a 12.8 per cent rise between V-J Day and mid-September—before OPA's economic movement went into high gear—and a 44.7 per cent rise since that country went to war.

The 5 per cent guess, made by one OPA economist, was considered too high by some other government experts interviewed today. The average price of goods sold over the counter might go up that much, they said, out of rents and such services as laundry, cleaning and repairs hold reasonably steady, the average cost of housing, clothing and feeding a family won't jump that far.

However small the comfort may be to consumers who yesterday saw some soap go up 3 cents for a small cake, the bigger flow of dollars going into the businessmen's tilt will increase the government's tax revenue.

One official, who preferred to make his predictions anonymously, said it "definitely improves" the chances that Mr. Truman will make good on balancing his $41,000,000,000 budget for the fiscal year ending at June 30.

"It won't happen in just the way Mr. Truman wanted it to, however. His aim was to cut federal spending and to make the general level stop its inflationary course of pouring out more money than it takes in."

This effort will go forward—especially with a Republican Congress bent on cutting government costs. But now there will be additional inflation anyway, which in turn will produce more tax revenues, which in turn will help the administration make ends meet.

Western Airliner Reported Missing

Burbank, Calif., Nov. 13.—(AP)—A Western Air Lines plane, with eight passengers and a crew of three aboard, was missing today—apparently in the snowing mountains north of here.

The two-motored Douglas DC-3 inbound to the terminal here from Salt Lake City, was last reported at 3:24 a. m. (Pacific Standard Time) when the pilot informed the control tower by radio that he was bringing the craft down for a landing. He was over the San Fernando Valley, at 9,000 feet.

A Western Air Lines spokesman said that it had enough gas to remain aloft only until 7 a. m. The flight had stopped at Las Vegas, Nev., at 1:45 a. m.

A heavy storm has been raging over southern California for two days, but during the night had abated sufficiently for planes to resume using busy Lockheed air terminal here. Snow was reported generally above the 4,000-foot level.

Full Meaning Of Molotov's Statement On Disarmament And Atom Bomb Uncertain; Meantime Britain Will Continue Peace-time Conscript

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. The avidity with which the world grasps at the slightest conciliatory gesture from Russia provides its own commentary. There is no way of knowing what Mr. Molotov means with his statement that Russian and American views on disarmament can be harmonized.

If Russia is coming around to the view that arms reduction means more than ideological expansion, that atomic control is a far greater safety factor than strategic position outside her borders, that peace through submitting to inspection is worth more to her people than the concealment of any Communist shortcomings or depletion by war, then the statement means a great deal.

Mr. Molotov's statement Monday night was on a different plane from the one at the opening of the

Franco Warns Isolation May Increase War Threat

Madrid, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Generalissimo Franco maintained today that United Nations isolation of Spain would greatly increase the possibility of war. "Every action of violence and injustice always tends rather towards war than towards peace," Spain's chief of state said last night in answer to questions handed him by the Associated Press.

He said a diplomatic break would bring about "disunion among nations and dissension in the interior of many" and cost the U. N. prestige, and the undermining and disunion of the latter would greatly increase the possibility of war.

"Take U. N. General Assembly now meeting in New York, has on its agenda the question of what to do about the Spanish government. Poland has demanded the United Nations all break diplomatic relations with Franco. Secretary-General Thuyke Lie has urged action by which democratic government may be restored in Spain."

Franco said the U. N. charter prohibited intervention in matters essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state. "If those very nations which are members are not obliged to submit to agreements concerning essentially domestic matters," he said, "to a much lesser degree would they be submission on the part of one which is not under its jurisdiction and has not even requested to be admitted."

Franco added that the U. N. security council had been shown that Spain had not caused a breach of the peace, and could in no case—through her population, industrial preparation of military power—constitute an effective threat to the peace with respect to the power and means of her United Nations.

He said Spain would not accept any kind of reprehension from the United Nations and would not seek to join the U. N. until that agency had attained what he termed a degree of calmness sufficient to make possible its work in the cause of peace and until the passions provoked by the war have become extinct.

COMPROMISE IN DEADLOCK NOW POSSIBLE

Big Four Ministers Continue Trieste Wrangle As Diplomats See Possible Break In Time-Hardened Dispute Over Italian Peace Treaty

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Several cracks showed up today in the time-hardened disagreement between Russia and the western powers over disposition of strategic Trieste, but diplomats were uncertain whether they would a real break in the Italian peace treaty deadlock.

They became apparent despite a warning by Secretary of State Bernas that the U. S. could not continue making compromises on the Trieste issue—and an assertion by Molotov that Russia insisted on changes in some Paris peace conference provisions for governing the Trieste territory.

Molotov also raised one new dispute by setting a deadline of possible three or four months, after the treaty becomes effective, for removal of foreign troops from Trieste. The troops there are American and British.

Byrnes and Molotov joined argument repeatedly during three and a half hour session of the Big Four foreign ministers council last night then called a halt until 4 p. m. today after they agreed, along with British foreign minister Bevin and deputy French foreign minister Couve De Murville, to return to their showdown debate.

Diplomats who sat in on the session reported it was by no means all negative and had several results which might lead to a break in the main deadlock blocking completion of an Italian peace treaty.

Whether the foreign ministry would be able to accomplish this, however, depended on future developments about which responsible authorities were unwilling to make predictions. These were the cracks apparent as a result of last night's meeting.

The council left the door open for direct negotiations between Italy and Yugoslavia to settle the fate of Trieste by agreement if they can. Any mutually acceptable agreement which they can reach seemed assured of favorable council consideration.

Molotov backed down at least temporarily on a demand for four seats back to their deputies for rewriting a draft statute for the government of Trieste as a free international territory. He agreed instead to a proposal by Byrnes. (Continued on Page Eight)

Dynamite Blasts Kill Six Persons

Jerusalem, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Dawn dynamite attacks on Palestine railways today killed six police officers and wounded two other persons, officials announced.

Two British police constables and four Arab police officers riding in a police trolley dynamited at Beit Safafa, on the outskirts of Jerusalem at 5 a. m., were killed and two persons were hurt when a train hit a mine three miles from Jerusalem 15 minutes later.

The police trolley was demolished and several yards of track ripped up by the first blast, which apparently was detonated electrically. Rail traffic between Jerusalem and coastal points was halted.

South Polar Regions Picked For New Tests

By ELTON C. FAY Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The United States, aware of Russia's uneasiness over military maneuvers in the Arctic, has picked the other end of the earth for a frigid zone test of naval ships and weapons.

A Navy announcement giving details of the forthcoming expedition to the Antarctic defined it as "primarily of a military nature," preparatory for a possible "day in the future when the Navy may be called upon to operate in cold weather."

Selection of the south polar region for training Navy personnel and trying out ships, aircraft and other paraphernalia of modern war presumably was dictated, among other things, by two American desires:

1. To allay Russian worries over operations in the vicinity of Soviet territory. 2. To assure, by means of the remoteness of the area, some degree of secrecy for the tests.

However, the expedition under the technical direction of seasoned polar explorer Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, will not be without neighbors. Byrd told a news conference yesterday that the Russians have announced an antarctic expedition—"but we don't have much information" about it. In addition, a British expedition which went into the area two years ago may still have

BEARING DOWN ON VIOLATORS Violence Flares For Second Night In Hollywood Movie Labor Dispute

By ASSOCIATED PRESS For the second night in a row there was violence in the two-month old AFL jurisdictional dispute in the Hollywood movie strike as home-made grenades damaged the homes of two non-striking film workers.

Today's bombings, in which no one was injured, were the fifth in two nights. The latest violent outbreak came following announcement that the international alliance of theatrical stage employes, biggest of the warring movie labor combines, would not participate in conference with representatives of the striking union while these acts of violence continue.

The strike started as a jurisdictional dispute between the IATSE and the Conference of Studio Unions, and has been marked by much fighting on the picket lines in which scores have been arrested. The CSU called a mass meeting of its 7,500 members for tomorrow to intensify strike activities.

In other top ranking labor disputes across the country the efforts were toward ending current and threatened strikes. In Washington, Secretary of Interior Krug planned to meet with major operators of the country's coal mines and was expected to reach an agreement with John L. Lewis, ending a threatened work stoppage on November 20 by 400,000 AFL United Mine Workers. Later Krug planned to meet with Lewis and report on his conference with the coal operators.

Prospects appeared bright for partial settlement of the six weeks old maritime strike on the Pacific coast following announcement by federal conciliators that striking CIO marine engineers and shipowners had agreed in principle to a compromise union security contract. (Continued on Page Four)

Police To Arrest Persons Possessing Firearms The aldermen took this action after considerable pressure was put upon them by citizens. Throwing of exploding firecrackers from automobiles all over the city at night has endangered traffic, disturbed householders and created a fire hazard. Reports have been made of reckless persons throwing exploding firecrackers at passing cars.

The purchase or sale of exploding fireworks in the city has been unlawful many years. Amending of the city ordinance last night now makes it unlawful for a person to have fireworks in his possession in the city. It is readily understood that the city ordinance does not apply to unbroken cases of fireworks in shipment. Fireworks dealers establish their wares as near the city limits as possible.

The nightly firecracker bombardment has occurred near both hospitals, near homes where there was illness, and the reckless practice has been shocking to some ex-servicemen who spent time on the front lines during the war.

Incidentally, Police Chief Jim Tanner last year and this year visited the white and colored schools and talked to the students about the danger of fireworks, and the youngsters responded in a nice way. However, it appears to be groups who are violating the fireworks law as Public Nuisances No. 1, it was stated.

The danger of fireworks was evidenced when Police Chief Martin reported that Richard Fleming Negro youth, threw a lighted firecracker at Marcus Monroe 11-year-old boy in Bethel last Sunday. It did not explode immediately and Briley picked it up. The firecracker exploded and destroyed the boy's right eye. His right eye was literally burst—but late civilian said, "is no concern of the manufacturers of fireworks or the dealers. It was just another one of life's tragedies."

A philosophic angle to this problem, another citizen said, is that "with a shortage of bacon and other meats and foods, it is interesting to observe that fireworks are plentiful."

The next speaker Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Tells Reporters One Of The First Steps To Be Taken By The New Congress Will Be To Cut Taxes

By JAMES MARLOW Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A stocky, dark-haired man who looks like a politician and is one—Joseph W. Martin, Jr.—faced the cameras in his office. The cameras and the hundred newsmen jammed around him weren't new to him. Many of the men knew him well enough and long enough to call him "Joe."

He's been around a long time: 22 years here in Congress, in the House. And another 13 years before that in politics in Massachusetts. It's always been Republican politics. He's 62 but looks younger. But it never had been quite like this before. Pretty soon he was going to be speaker of the House of Representatives, the highest job a member of the House can get. The reporters had come to this news conference yesterday—the first one Martin had called since the Republicans won control of

Secretary Krug Conferred With Leading Mine Operators Today With A View To Settling Issues With Miners; Will Confer With Lewis Later

By HAROLD W. WARD Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The five top spokesmen for the bituminous industry conferred with Secretary of Interior Krug today on the prospects for a contract with John L. Lewis which would avert a paralyzing strike and permit the government to release the soft coal pits.

The producer representatives, invited by Krug to discuss the entire situation in advance of this meeting with Lewis this afternoon, were cheerful but silent as they entered the conference.

The session was the first at which they had been consulted on returning the mines since a one-day meeting in September, which accomplished nothing. The government took over the coal working last May and Krug contracted with Lewis to run them.

The operators actually have been performing about the same functions as always, but have the titles of mine managers under the coal mines administration.

Krug called today's meeting with the operators to feel them out on whether it would be possible for them to come to terms with Lewis directly and take back the mines. Only three days left for further negotiations—unless they are before the expiration of the November 20 deadline set by Lewis—the administration thus sought to avoid a repetition of last summer's paralyzing coal strike.

Lewis has stated flatly that the present government contract covering his 400,000 diggers would be void on November 20 unless his demands are met for a new pact. Under Lewis' formula, he would give five days' advance notice on Friday of his intention to stop the current agreement.

With time running out, an industry spokesman declared meanwhile that the country's major steel companies have been caught short on coal supplies.

The industry officials told a reporter that U. S. Steel Corporation had only a two-week supply, Jones and Laughlin 10 days, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube a week. Commenting on the outlook, Edward R. Burke, president of the powerful Southern Coal Producers Association, said:

"It doesn't look too hopeful, but it is the only sensible thing to do." The government has been running the 2,500 soft coal mines since last spring's strike, when Krug and Lewis made a contract putting the miners to work for the coal mines administration. Burke's opposition centers on (Continued on Page Four)

Slays Daughter During Nightmare Arkadelphia, Ark., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Victim of a nightmare in which her father dreamed he was having a fight, three-year-old Linda Joyce Pollard died under the hail of his blows early Tuesday. S. Alf W. T. Mastow reported.

The father, Willard Pollard, 25 told the sheriff and a coroner's jury that in the dream he found himself trying to ward off attackers, but that he remembered nothing else. When he awoke, he said he was standing over the battered body of his daughter.

The child's skull had been fractured and her right hip broken. Mrs. Pollard, who slept in the same room, did not awaken during the commotion. Relatives said Pollard had been a victim of sleep walking for years.

4-H Club Achievement Day Program Held Here

By LILLIAN B. HINES
 Assistant Home Dem. Agent
 The fifteen 4-H Clubs of Pitt County held their Annual Achievement Day in the armory in Greenville at 7:30 o'clock on Friday night. The week of November 4-9 had been set aside as 4-H Achievement Week for the nation. Pitt County 4-H Club members felt this time appropriate to review their achievements. There were approximately 220 4-H Club members, parents of Club members and guests present.

Naomi Garris, president of the Pitt County Council of 4-H Club and a member of the Belvoir Senior 4-H Club, presided over the meeting. The program was begun by singing "America." This was followed by the pledge to the U. S. flag and 4-H Club Pledge.

The devotion for the evening was conducted by members of the Sweet Gum Grove Community Club. Beth Briley read the Bible scripture. Doris Whichard gave a reading on Youth, stressing the development of character and living so as to "make the best better." Orval Whichard gave a prayer. The 4-H Club Hymn "Follow the Gleam" was sung which concluded the devotional.

The roll call by clubs was conducted by Kenneth Randolph, secretary to the Pitt County Council of 4-H Clubs and a member of the Belvoir Senior Club. There is a 4-H Club gavel presented at each Achievement Day Program to the 4-H Club with the highest percentage of their members present. The Club that wins the gavel keeps it and uses it as local meetings until the next year's Achievement Day. Sweet Gum Grove Community 4-H

Belt Buckles with the 4-H Club Emblem were given to each winner in the Hybrid Corn contest. These were given by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

The "Song of Health" was then sung and was led by Ruth Moore, Song Leader of the Pitt Council of 4-H Clubs.

Miss Verna Belle Lowery, Assistant Home Demonstration, was then introduced. She was in charge of refreshments.

Refreshments of ice cream sandwiches were then served from an attractively decorated table in green and white, the 4-H colors.

Club won the gavel by having 100 percent of their members present

Ruth Moore, president of the State 4-H Club, gave a talk on the Achievements of club work during the past year in Pitt. Ruth is a member of Langs Community 4-H Club and was elected State President during 4-H Club Week at State College, Raleigh during last August. There are over 90,000 4-H Club boys and girls in North Carolina.

Kenneth Randolph gave a talk on his project accomplishments in Hybrid Corn. He is the County winner on this project, having harvested 110 bushels of corn per acre. Kenneth is an outstanding 4-H Club member in Pitt County.

Mr. S. C. Winchester, Pitt County Farm Agent, introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Eleanor Barber, Assistant State 4-H Club Leader from the Extension Staff, State College, Raleigh.

Miss Barber complimented the Pitt County 4-H Club members for their achievements in the past year. She told them that there were real opportunities for each boy and girl to learn the art of better living in their rural communities. She thanked the Club members for asking her to be with them on this occasion and gave them best wishes for more club work and better club work in the coming year.

At each Achievement Day program certificates and awards are presented to each club member who has done the most outstanding work in his project. Miss Lillian Hines, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent, made the presentations for the girls who were winners. Certificates for successful years of club work were given to 28 girls. Those successfully completing one year of club work were: Carolyn Rasberry, Rachel Meeks, Eleanor Owens, and Grace Daniels all of the Bell Arthur Club; Cornelia Mills of the Langs Community Club; Betty Brown and Jacqueline Morgan, both of the Falkland Junior Club; Lexine Rollins and Gail Barnhill, both of the Sweet Gum Grove Community Club. Those successfully completing two years of club work were: Julia Alice Stokes, Dorothy Garris and Mavis Worsley, all of the Belvoir Junior Club; Jean Moore of the Langs Community Club; Alma Willis Meeks and Sue Justice of the Falkland Junior Club; Elizabeth Nannoy of the Farmville Community Club; and Doris Whichard of the Sweet Gum Grove Community Club. Girls successfully completing three years of club work were: Sallie S. Morgan and Reba Gold Morgan of the Farmville Community Club; Louise Stokes of the Falkland Junior Club; Mary Ruggles Tetterton of the Sweet Gum Grove Community Club; Allie Rachel Little and Joyce Clark of the Belvoir Club; and Hazel Garris of the Langs Club.

Beth Briley of the Sweet Gum Grove Community Club was presented a certificate for completing four years of club work.

There were three 5-year certificates awarded. They went to Ruth Moore and Frances Jones of the Langs Community Club; and Naomi Garris of the Belvoir Senior Club.

Jean Moore of the Langs Community Club was awarded $5.00 for camp expenses in 1947 for being elected the best all-round girl camper at the 1946 4-H Club Camp.

Margaret Stokes, Senior Health Queen and member of the Belvoir Senior Club and Mary Lou Clarke, Junior Health Queen and a member of the Grimesland Junior 4-H Club were awarded the Health Certificate.

Cornelia Mills was presented a certificate and medal as winner for the Senior Dress Revue. Beth Briley was awarded a certificate as winner of the Junior Dress Revue.

Medals and certificates were awarded the following: Food Preparation contest—Hazel Garris; Clothing contest—Frances Jones; Food Preservation contest—Verna Mae Elks; Records winner—Hazel Garris; Home Beautification contest—Ruth Moore; Dairy Poods Team winners—Ruth Moore and Frances Jones; Individual Dairy Demonstration winner—Hazel Garris; Leadership Medal and certificate of Leadership from the Danforth Foundation—Ruth Moore.

The Langs 4-H Club was presented a check for $2.50 for having handed in the highest number of completed project books according to club membership. This check was given by the Pitt County Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs.

Mr. W. H. Pruden, Assistant Pitt County Farm Agent, presented the awards for the boys. Certificates for

Strength FOR THE DAY BY EARL C. JOUGLAS

PAST TIMES HAD THEIR ADVANTAGES If you had had an opportunity to choose the age in which you might live, and if you had known what you know now, would you have chosen this age or some other? Most of us probably would have chosen this age. With all its disadvantages, this seems to be a better age in which to live than 5,000 or a thousand or two thousand years ago. With all the drawbacks of modern life, the world, on the whole, seems to have gone forward a little. Someone has described it by saying that while we are better off than our forebears, we are certainly not better than they were. To have lived in an age where more than half of all babies died within a few months after birth, and where diseases now easily relieved by surgery tortured their hapless victims to death, must have been a circumstance of terror. But today 100 people are killed by automobiles every twenty-four hours in the United States alone, and millions have in recent years died in war. In past ages men and women lived their lives in the home, and the full advantage of such opportunities impressed itself on their characters. They had time to think, to reflect, to pray. They did not have much money but they had security because most of them lived on land. In terms of dollars and cents man today is better off than his ancestors were, but it would hardly be correct to say that he lives a better life or that he is happier.

GI FLAMETHROWERS GET A PEACE-TIME JOB ON THE FARM By HOWARD DOBSON For Jane Eads

Washington—Former infantrymen who lugged flamethrowers during the war should be able to adjust happily on some modern farms. There is a new machine for giving weeds a mechanized hot-foot. Also, ex-tank drivers certainly would enjoy getting acquainted with a new type of bulldozer tractor which loads manure, rocks or even hay without any laborious handling.

These are just two of many improved devices, gadgets, machines and assorted labor-saving ideas which agriculture research engineers are testing at their proving grounds near here. The engineers don't invent, but they encourage inventors and help machinery manufacturers by testing new ideas. The "flame cultivator," developed originally for cotton farmers to eliminate hoeing weeds between the plants, is being tried out now on cane and corn. It consists of two blow torches, which fire hot blasts across the rows while other attachments pull the weeds between the rows.

The device is not used until cotton stalks are at least 3-10 inch thick, large enough to stand a little scorching. The new loader is attached to the front end of a regular tractor. It dips in under a load of manure, for instance, and picks it up like a scoop shovel. It operates the same as a sweep hay rake and can load anything that has to be picked up and put into a wagon.

Several manufacturers are working on a small-10-horse-power 1,000-pound-tractor for farms of 40 acres or less. It fills the gap between the large and the garden tractors. Hydraulic control is all the rage now. They call it "finger control," of course, and a farmer actually can lift the plow or harrow attached to his tractor without wrestling a long lever that rusts and gets stuck. There is a new combine harvester which is a single unit with the tractor that powers and carries it.

A Modern Fable—

THE EAGLE AND THE BEAR AGREED ALL THE ANIMALS SHOULD DISARM—

The operator cuts a swath directly in front of him, doesn't have to worry about a back swath when he is through with a field, and can detour any patch of grain that looks too green for cutting. There also is a new and choosy cotton picker. Its spinning fingers grab only the open bolls and don't strip plants as earlier pickers did. For the corn-borer country there is a new picker and shredder which chops up corn stalks—and the borer in them. This kills the insects and leaves the shredded stalk to be plowed back into the ground. And there is a blower machine for air-conditioning hay which is cut green. It dries the hay for stacking.

OPA Collapse (Continued from Page One) ... On the score of a business turn down, which many economists and others have predicted for the next year, authorities say Saturday's decontrol order is virtually certain to delay it. They reason that so long as price trends are strong, merchants will tend to lay in more inventory and keep factory wheels turning. However, the consensus is that the death of price control will make a recession more likely to come, ultimately with prices of building materials going up, builders are likely to delay starting of new homes and buildings. Therefore, the construction industry may not be ready to go at full speed in keeping payrolls and employment high when factory activity slopes off.

Labor Front (Continued from Page One) ... In New York, CIO transport workers union leaders went ahead with plans to poll members tonight in a strike against the city's unified transit system but the threat of a work stoppage dismissed this to a contract clause. Two other undisclosed issues, however, remained to be settled. Other conciliators continued efforts to end the 197-day old strike at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plant in West Allis, Wis. and the 24-day old walkout by 1,400 AFL pilots against Trans World Airline.

But while House Republicans are worried over their leadership problems their Senate colleagues voiced greater hope for harmony. Influential party members told reporters privately that a concerted effort is being made to win approval of this team-play lineup for the new Senate: Temporary president and presiding officer: Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. Majority leader: Sen. Wallace H. White, Jr. of Maine. Assistant leader or whip: Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska. Chairman Republican steering committee: Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

City of Greenville do ordain: Section 1. Definitions. The term "through street" whenever used in this ordinance shall be construed to mean street or streets upon which vehicles shall not be required to stop at street intersections except for the protection of life, limb and property in the exercise of due diligence and care. The term "stop light" whenever used in this ordinance shall mean any stop light or other signal device placed at any street intersection requiring vehicles to stop at such intersection or intersections. Section 2. From and after the adoption of this ordinance, the sections of Third Street, Fourth Street and Fifth Street, between the East property line of Evans Street and the eastern boundary of the City of Greenville, and Johnston Street from Jarvis to Lewis Streets, shall be, and they are hereby designated as through streets for all vehicles using said sections of streets. Provided, however, that this ordinance shall not apply to street intersections where stop lights are maintained while said stop lights are actually in operation. Section 3. From and after the adoption of this ordinance, it shall be unlawful for any person while operating any automobile, truck, bus, motorcycle, bicycle, or other vehicle of any kind to enter from any side and/or intersecting street either of said through street or streets without first bringing such vehicle or vehicles to a complete stop at such intersection or intersections and immediately before entering the same. Provided, however, that this ordinance shall not apply to street intersections where stop lights are maintained while said stop lights are actually in operation. Section 4. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction by the court, shall be fined $5.00 for each offense. Section 5. All ordinances and clauses of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. Section 6. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption. Adopted this 7th day of Nov., 1946. J. H. BOYD, JR., Mayor Attest: J. O. Duval, City Clerk.

Coach George Munger Expresses Hope His Team May Win Saturday's Game

Philadelphia, Nov. 13—(AP)—Pennsylvania Coach George Munger let it be known today that "we may have an upset" when his team meets Army Saturday in Philadelphia's football game of the year.

But, said Munger, there are two big "ifs" involved. "If the Army is not in the proper mental attitude and should make mistakes and if we should get the breaks . . .

"The Army has one of the most dangerous passers in college ranks in Arnold Tucker, but we also have a good pair—Bob Evans and Skippy Mintz.

"Don't ask me to compare Doc Blanchard with our fullbacks, but we are pretty deep there, and Ed Allen and Bill Uongso can be counted on for a fine job."

"This game is a great opportunity for our players," said Munger. "Physically I think we will be at top form. We came out of the Columbia game in good shape. Frank Jenkins (one of the nation's finest ends), who hasn't played since the Navy game, is ready again and our backfield appears fit.

"Up front we have plenty of weight, but Army's more experienced. All in all it should be a terrific game. The boys want to win this one more than any other."

The game, a sellout for two months, will draw 78,000 to Franklin Field.

PHANTOMS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Will Travel To Washington To Meet Powerful Pam Pack

By DAVE CLARK

A couple of the oldest rivals in North Carolina meet Friday night when Coach '30 Farley takes his victory hungry Green Phantoms to Washington to take on the Pam Pack in what will no doubt be the hardest fought game of the year for both teams.

On paper, the Washington club stacks up as the team to win, but followers of the Washington-Greenville classic know that these games are as unpredictable as this year's Duke-Carolina contest.

Greenville's bad luck in last week's game with Roanoke Rapids has made them more determined than ever to take this game. A couple of bad kicks and a few fumbles were all that beat the Phantoms last week as the line play of both teams seemed to be about even.

Coach Farley evidently decided that rest would do his boys more good than practice this week as he called off workouts for Monday and Tuesday and told the boys to take it easy. However, today will no doubt bring a practice session, but the first two teams most likely won't get away until Monday.

Southern Conference

By the Associated Press

The South Carolina Gamecocks out to maintain their Southern Conference lead and possibly avenge last year's 60-0 defeat at the hands of the Blue Devils, are working overtime in preparation for their homecoming football game with Duke at Columbia Saturday.

Head Coach Rex Enright, cheered by the return of Bryant (Junior) Meeks, star center, kept the Gamecock squad hard at work as he warned that "we will have to play our best brand of football if we are going to do anything" against Duke.

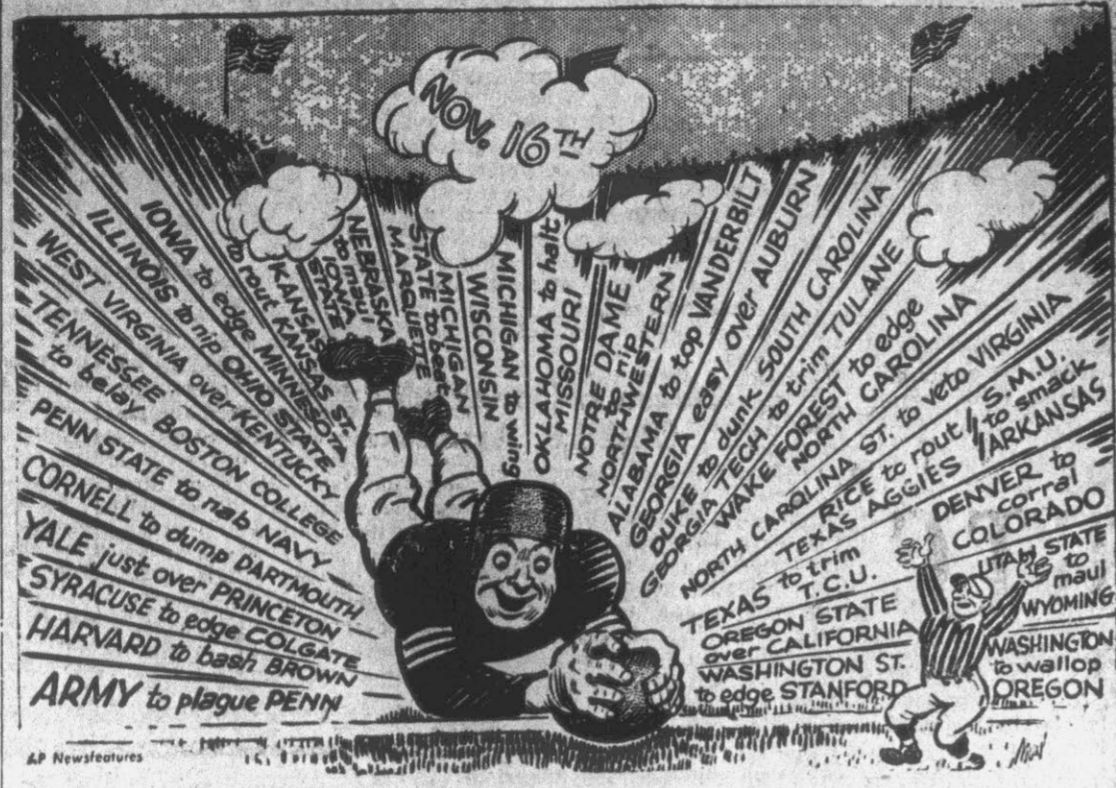

South Carolina followers, however, recalled that the team had waged winning battles against other strong opponents this season, with particularly effective work when the score was running against them. They came from behind to beat Maryland last week and did the same earlier in the season against Clemson and Furman.

North Carolina, current second ranking conference team, worked on both its aerial and ground attack as it made ready for Wake Forest at Chapel Hill this week, unconvinced that the Demon Deacons' loss to Duke presages easy sailing for the Tar Heels.

William and Mary had no less than seven men in the infirmary or on the injured list as it struggled to build back a winning team for George Washington at Washington. Latest additions to the ailing roster are Stan Magdziak, passing and kicking specialist who has a pulled muscle in his right leg, and Chet Mackiewicz, reserve fullback, who has a twisted ankle.

MI, which closes its home schedule against the Citadel Saturday hoped to retain a clean slate before the home fans, the hopes getting a boost by indications the squad would be in the best physical shape in several weeks. The Keydets have defeated Catawba, and Davidson at Lexington this year. Other conference games this week will send Furman to Clemson, Washington and Lee to Maryland and Virginia Tech to Richmond N.C. State will entertain a du-

Library News

Book Week is here! Of all the many "Weeks" observed in our great democratic America, this one should mean more than all the others together. Through books, not only children but also adults of all walks of life have means of revealing in unlimited riches. Once a national week, now it has become international and through its possibilities the children and young people of the world should arrive at a much better understanding of each other.

"Books are bridges" over which worlds of knowledge and "a world" of people may be reached. To read another book this week, to talk about books and literature, to see what the press and publishers have done toward revealing life situations, all these are experiences in broadening our understanding and filling life with deserved joys.

Libraries are the circulating centers for the riches found in books. From the child's one-book library to the great rural and municipal libraries of fortunate America, they all offer to others the pleasures and profits of reading. Every week is Book Week but at this time it is well to emphasize the importance of the printed book. It is well to visit the libraries and to see for oneself what is being done for reading America.

At the Sheppard Memorial Library special exhibits of interest have been arranged by the various book clubs and study clubs of the city.

The End of the Century club which really sponsored the beginning of the library movement in Greenville and worked untiringly with other groups for the establishment of a city and county library, has arranged a display showing the history of the library. Arranged as it is under the portrait of Mrs. W. A. Bowen, it does honor to her who was one of the first and most faithful of the early librarians. The Round Table has collected and arranged a table of up-to-the-minute books on World Peace, under the caption "One World."

Biography was selected by the Sans Souci Club, present the men and women who are shaping world affairs today.

The Clio club presents a grand collection of new books on that much envied and elusive quality called "personality."

The Athenaeum chose the "Arts." The Thalian club represents that newest and oldest of all the arts, "Homemaking."

New and attractive garden books find their arrangement in the garden alcove, is sponsored by the Garden Club.

Fiction is portrayed by the Chatham Club.

One of the most unusual exhibits of books is arranged by the Preconditioning School for the Blind. Through the marvelous invention of Braille, books are reaching the blind and bringing to them some of the treasures of life. In the children's room the Inter Se has an elaborate arrangement of new books for children, showing how books are bridges to history and the past, to science, to art, and to the world of imagination. Three tables of beautiful new books for children are on display for examination and future reading.

Children's books are more beautiful now and more suitable now than they have ever been. Real artists illustrate them and make the characters and stories living people.

The library and the clubs are very grateful to Miss Jessie Moye for the daily flower arrangements.

Every tax-payer of Greenville, every man, woman, and child is invited to visit the public library this week and either begin to use it now or continue using it regularly.

"Read a book a week" is not a bad slogan.—N. B. H.

CHARLIE SPIVAK

Wednesday night, Nov. 27th the Charles Gray Morgan Post 7032 of the V. F. W. will sponsor a Thanksgiving dance at the New Carolina Warehouse with Charlie Spivak and his orchestra, featuring such vocalists as Tommy Mercer, Rosie Nichols and "The Star Dreamers."

Charlie Spivak was voted America's outstanding "Sweet Band" in 1945 by a poll conducted by the "Bible" of popular music "Downbeat." Ballots came from every section of the country. The selection of Charlie over such outstanding bands as Dorsey, Harry James, Duke Ellington, Sammy Kaye, Hal McIntyre and Vaughn Monroe proves that the billing bestowed upon Charlie by his agents as "The Sweetest Trumpet in the World" is no idle claim.

ARRIVE AND DEPART FROM
Greenville Union Bus Station
EVERY 24 HOURS

That's right folks, Trailways serves, on frequent schedules, the larger cities in this area as well as the smaller communities — over 50% of which have no other public transportation.

These same buses are a part of a Nationwide Bus System operating over 66,000 miles of highways from coast to coast. There's a Trailways bus going your way — to the next town or across the nation.

Tune-Up Time is Here Again!

Here Are Oldsmobile's Recommended SPECIAL SEASONAL SERVICES

The change of seasons is a good time to check over your entire car, and have it put in top-notch condition for the months ahead. Why not visit our service department soon! You'll find it fully staffed and completely equipped to meet your needs on all these important services:

- TUNE ENGINE—Your motor should be put in shape now to assure you of quick, easy starting and economical performance all winter long.
- CHECK ELECTRICAL SYSTEM—Battery, generator, starter and ignition system should be inspected, put in good condition, and protected against moisture with a coating of PIB.
- LUBRICATE CAR—The entire chassis should be scientifically lubricated to prevent wear. Engine oil should be changed. Lubricants in standard transmission and differential should be replaced. Hydra-Matic Drive fluid need not be changed unless necessary.
- CHECK SAFETY FEATURES—Brakes should be adjusted and re-lined if necessary. Steering should be tested. Wheel alignment should be checked and corrected.
- CHECK COOLING SYSTEM—The radiator and entire cooling system should be drained, flushed out, and thoroughly inspected. Hose connections should be tightened wherever it is found necessary.
- PROTECT FINISH—A wash and polish, or a Liquid Olase Job—and touch-up treatment on the paint and chrome—will help to keep your car looking always its best no matter what the weather may bring.

If You Have a New Oldsmobile on the Way—

Materials shortages and unavoidable production delays are keeping our deliveries behind schedule. Better keep your present car up with regular service . . . until that style-leading new Oldsmobile arrives!

Next Speaker . . .

This is another way of saying he was supposed to be general and strategist for the Republicans on the House floor where they've been outnumbered by the Democrats since 1931.

After serving 10 years as minority leader, it is natural for the Republicans to make his speaker when they get this first chance to do so. He succeeds the Democrats' speaker, Sam Rayburn of Texas.

For many years now, particularly during the big campaigns when he was trying to rake in votes, Martin has had a favorite word to fling at the Democrats: bureaucrats.

He trotted it out again yesterday at his news conference and dusted it off. He said the new Republican Congress would have to "reduce a little of this bureaucracy."

When people around Washington talk of Martin they don't use the word "brilliant." But they give him plenty of credit for being a hard-working Republican party man, which he is, indeed.

President Truman—in 1945 when he succeeded to the presidency and there was no vice president—asked Congress to pass a law which would: Make the speaker of the House President of the United States if, for any reason, the presidency became vacant and there were no vice president. (Under present law the Secretary of State would succeed.)

The Democratic House approved Mr. Truman's idea. But the Democratic Senate ignored it.

Mr. Truman is said still to favor the idea, even though the Republicans will control Congress. If the Republican House and Senate okay the Truman plan, then—
