Russia Agrees To U.S. Troop Count

Molotov In Accord With Proposal Of Submitting Figures On Troops At Home And Abroad; Announces Soviet Withdrawals

Lake Success, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov announced today that Russia was ready to accept a United States proposal that all members of the United Nations submit complete figures on all troops both at home and abroad.

He declared that Russia and the U. S. were in complete accord and added that Russia was ready to draft agreements to carry out the proposal which originally was made in the U. N. assembly by Warren R. Austin, head of the U. S. delegation.

Molotov spoke before the assembly's political committee, which had met to take up a Soviet proposal that all U. N. members report on troops and bases they maintain on non-enemy territory.

Molotov withdrew this and submitted a new proposal which provided for reports giving the following information:

- 1. Where and in what numbers troops are located on non-enemy territory.
2. At what points in enemy states and in what numbers allied troops are located.
3. At what points in these territories air and naval bases of allied states are located and the size of garrisons in such bases.
4. The information should apply to the situation as of Nov. 1, 1946.

CIO 'Big Three' Plan Wage Demand Pattern

Convention Emerging As Vehicle To Prepare For 'Deadlock' With Industry Over Increased Pay In Coming Winter

By MAX HALL
Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The CIO today broadened its drive to put industry on the defensive in the winter wage struggle, predicting manufacturers would have a $7,700,000,000 fund available for pay raises in 1947.

Chiefs of the "big three" among CIO unions—steel, auto and electrical workers—were working together on a pattern of wage demands. That much seemed clear.

More and more the CIO convention was emerging as a vehicle to prepare the minds of the CIO's 6,000,000 members—and the public—for a possible deadlock with industry such as occurred last winter when each of the "big three" called a strike.

CIO leaders handed out the November issue of their "Economic Outlook" to the convention delegates. The publication said industry's "insatiable appetite for profits" had served to change the shares of national income received by capital and labor.

The publication said that in the war years, 67.7 per cent of the national income was paid to wage and salary earners, but in the three eight months of 1946 it was only 62.5 per cent.

With the convention itself plodding through a mass of resolutions—to which many objected out to which many orated—there came last night a terrific gush of speculation and rumors in the hotel corridors and bars. The speculation was about:

- 1. Wage demands. A story went around that the "big three" unions would seek about 20 cents an hour.

U.N. And Antarctica

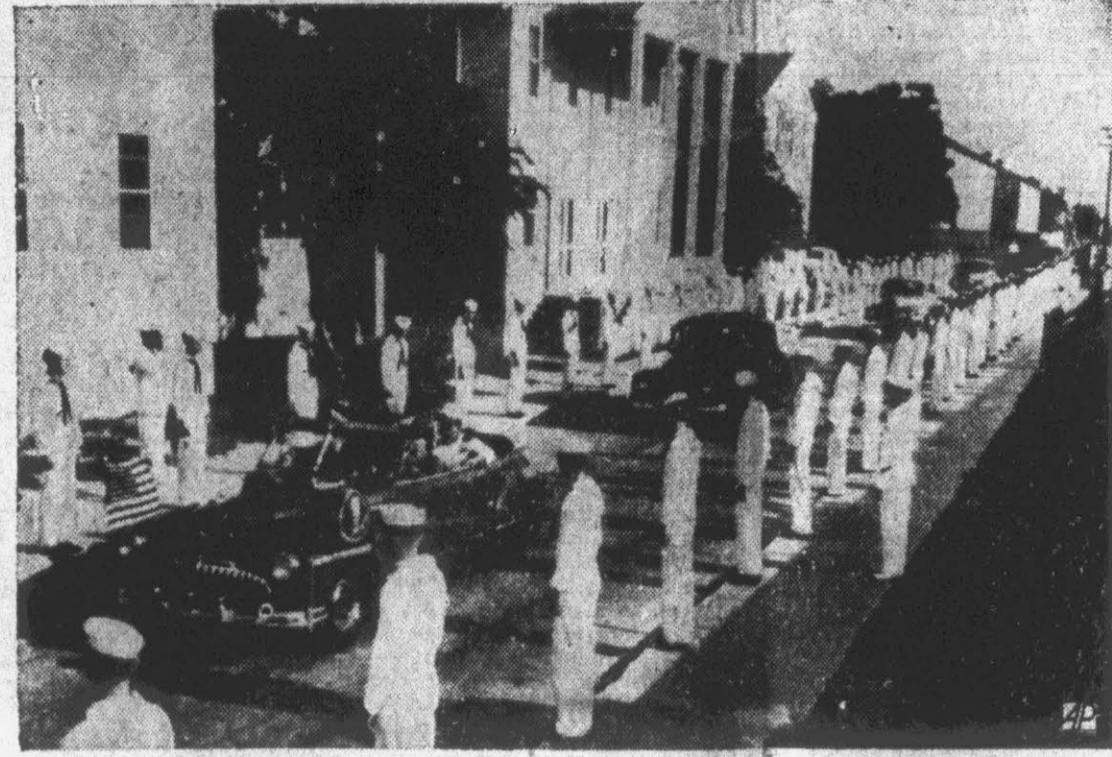

South Pole Area One Of Relatively "Free Areas" Of World Today; If Placed Under U.N. Would Provide Toe-Hold Of World Gov't; Race For Domination

It is possible to place the relatively "free areas" of the world under United Nations control now thereby establishing the first tiny toe-hold of world government in practice?

The question pops up immediately in consideration of the suggestion by Prof. Leo Gross, of the school of law and diplomacy at Tufts College, that such a step be taken in Antarctica to forestall an international race for domination of that area.

So far, such claims as have been laid by different nations to parts of Antarctica are on a rather tenuous basis. The United States holds that mere discovery does not constitute a "staked claim" in such areas, although they have been made in the names of various countries including the United States, France, Norway and even Japan, Argentina and Chile claim some rights of contiguity, and the British expedition which has been in the area for two years may meet at least a part of the U. S. contention that develop-

Unions And Contracts

Lewis' Trouble With The Gov't Is Over His Contract; Here's How A CIO Oil Workers Union Made A Pact With Living Costs As A Pivot For Wages
By JAMES MARLOW
Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 20.—(AP)—John L. Lewis' troubles with the government raced toward a climax today. His trouble is over his contract with the government.

This is a good spot to look at the Lewis contract and at other contracts which give labor leaders a lot less headache than this one is giving Lewis.

He signed the contract with the government last May. Since then living costs have gone up. Now he wants to reopen it, undoubtedly to ask for higher pay for his miners, although no one has said this.

But the government argues that the contract, in black and white, says Lewis can't reopen the contract so long as the government holds the coal mines, which it still does.

Lewis argues that the contract is worded in such a way that he can—in spite of what the government says—reopen it anytime. And there the argument hangs.

Last week the CIO oil workers signed a contract which will do for Miller and Curtis both said they considered reducing expenditure and the debt more important than immediate cuts in taxes.

Rep. Cox of Georgia, one of those mentioned for the democratic House leadership, expressed a view apparently held by many of his party. He said in an interview that he believes the Republicans have promised "more than they will be able to deliver" in their tax cutting and economy programs.

On the democratic side, veteran Rep. Doughton of North Carolina took a firm stand against any tax reduction until the federal budget is balanced and a start made on reducing the federal debt.

Doughton guided the writing of democratic tax legislation for 12 years and his views usually command a large following in his party.

Miller disputed the right of the House Republican Steering Committee to speak for all party members on tax matters.

Mistress Masham's Repose, by T. H. White, New York, G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1946, 255 pp.

In the eighteenth century, according to Jonathan Swift, Lemuel Gulliver was shipwrecked and finally reached the country of Lilliput where he found diminutive people, measuring only six inches in height.

Although he took several animals with him when he left, Gulliver did not molest the people who continued to live in their little kingdom. Recently, about five hundred Lilliputians were discovered living on an artificial island called Mistress Masham's Repose. This time they were discovered by ten-year old Maria, heroine of T. H. White's "Mistress Masham's Repose."

According to Mr. White, the sea captain who rescued Gulliver realized the wealth these strange little folk would bring him, so he left Lilliput, captured several of the inhabitants, and exhibited them throughout England. After enduring many indignities, they escaped and settled on the Repose, where they built a society and government based on the eighteenth century ideals and customs. Their future as well as the work of generations, was jeopardized by Maria's discovery. If the child failed to keep the secret of the island, the outside world would move in and destroy it.

Maria, however, is no ordinary child. She is the penniless mistress of the enormous and historic castle of Malplaquet which the first Duke built for his lady. At the present it is badly in need of repairs, for only two of its twelve company rooms and fifty two state bedrooms still have a roof over them and only six of its three hundred sixty-five windows are in one piece. Here live Maria with her scheming, money-loving governess, Miss Brown, and Cook, a faithful old family retainer. The vicar, having had himself appointed as Maria's guardian, lives nearby, so he can look after his charge, and, at the same time, confer with Miss Brown about plans to seize Maria's property. The kindly but confused professor living in one of the buildings on the estate is one of the child's staunchest friends and a perfect foil for the villains.

Maria, taking advantage of Miss Brown's headache, explores the grounds and discovers the colony on Mistress Masham's Repose. After accepting the professor's advice concerning the treatment of other races and nationalities, she is able to make friends with them. Later, when the Lilliputians bring food to Maria whom Miss Brown has confined to her room, they are surprised by the governess who captures the schoolmaster, their leader. Although the little fellow escapes the secret is out and the people are in imminent danger, for the vicar and Miss Brown intend to capture several of them to exhibit for money. Maria, even though she is chained in the dungeon, keeps her secret. Finally, with the aid of Cook, the professor, captain, the dog, and the Lilliputians Maria is released; the villains brought to trial; the lost fortune, restored; and the Lilliputians, freed to live unmolested on their island.

"Mistress Masham's Repose" is a delightful reading for minds tired of trying to evaluate and to understand the conflicting philosophies and actions of the world. It is a fantasy and as such will delight readers in all age groups. The castle with its torture chamber and the secondary plot with its scheming villains are reminiscent of the eighteenth century Gothic novel. In the dress, speech, and manners of the Lilliputians Mr. White recaptures the life and atmosphere of the Classical Age in England. Yet the author is not entirely detached from the twentieth century, for, surely, he is thinking of the present time when the old professor tells Maria that "this world is run by practical people; people who do not know how to think, have never had any education in thinking, and who do not wish to have it. They get on far better with lies, tub thumping, swindling, vote catching, murdering and the rest of practical politics. If the average man means anything it means the average human being in the world. He lives in Russia and in China and in India as well as in England. Less than half of him can read at all." Mr. White doubtless had his tongue in his cheek when he wrote the passage describing the attack the Lilliputians made on the castle while they carried placards reading "Down with Brown," "Votes for Maria," and "No Algebra Without Representation."

Those who read "Mistress Masham's Repose" expecting the bitter, biting social satire found in Swift's "Gulliver's Travels" will be disappointed. On the other hand those who follow the story alone will be disappointed also, for it is more than a fairy tale to amuse grown-ups.

Leaders Of Girl Scouts Banquet

By CHESTER WALSH

The Greenville Girl Scout Council was host at a banquet at the Olde Towne Inn last night for the troop leaders. Mrs. W. P. Moore, Girl Scout commissioner, presided. It was one of the best meetings in several years. The earnest discussion of problems and resultant valuable suggestions for improving the service will be fruitful of gratifying results, a member of the council said.

It was brought out that the suggested plan for having a Girl Scout association, to include the officers and council members and troop leaders, would facilitate the good work now being done. This plan is used in some of the larger cities very successfully. The Girl Scout Council would continue to hold monthly meetings to transact business and there would be frequent meetings of the council members and troop leaders. Action will be taken on this later.

Mrs. Moore, the commissioner, praised the troop leaders, thanked them for their loyalty and said the council members will appreciate suggestions.

Reports of various committee chairmen and others were gratifying and indicated that those engaged in Girl Scout work are on the alert for better service. Miss Martha Lee Cowell reported on the Camp Hardee Building Fund and Mrs. D. S. Spain, Jr., made the treasurer's report.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Moore, the commissioner; Mrs. E. L. Henderson, acting executive secretary; Miss Martha Lee Cowell; Miss Nell Stalling; Miss Frances Kirtrell; Judge J. W. H. Roberts; Mrs. O. R. Lee, Dr. S. M. Crisp; Mrs. J. R. Waters; Mrs. J. G. Riddick; Mrs. R. C. Stokes III; Mrs. J. Knott Proctor; Mrs. D. S. Spain, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Carl Adams; Mrs. H. J. Lee; Mrs. J. T. Barnhill and Chester Walsh.

Legionaires In Meet At Armory

American Legion Post 39 had its regular meeting at the armory last night. Approximately 100 members attended and enjoyed a barbecued chicken supper.

Post Commander Tom Wilson called for reports of several committees. Much time was spent in discussing plans for building the new Legion home which the post hopes to start in the near future.

Other items before the post were: Removal from the courthouse lawn of the signboards containing the names of Pitt County servicemen and a report from the post athletic officer, Boley Farley, concerning a basketball team. Farley also thanked the Legion for its helping the Midget football program.

Lions Endorse NCEA Program

The Lions Club met at the Woman's Club on Monday November 18th and voted unanimously to endorse the program as set forth by the North Carolina Education Association, calling for a general increase of 20 percent in salaries for North Carolina teachers, effective January 1, 1947. The club is taking the lead in joining with other civic clubs in the state of North Carolina in making a concerted effort to relieve the critical situation that now exists in the teaching profession.

The program for the meeting was featured with songs by the Boys' Glee Club of the high school, under the direction of Miss, Ona Shindler. This group of talented boys from the high school sang a number of songs, all of which were greatly enjoyed by Lion members present.

Mr. James E. Knight was welcomed into the club as the newest club member. Past President George Wilkerson conducted the induction ceremony and presented Lion Knight with the proper club credentials.

President Vernon M. Rawles presided and reminded all Lions of the Ladies Night program to be held on Monday night November 25, 1946

Warning About Fire Dangers In Woods

County Forest Warden N. S. Tyson today again warned hunters and others in woods to be careful about starting a fire. He suggests that you hold your match until it's cold; crush out all your smokes and be sure that there is no spark left; drop out your camp or warming fire, then stir the ashes and drop it again. Householders and farmers are required to procure permits from forest wardens to burn leaves or brush. The forest warden suggests brush fires be started when the wind is not blowing and have sufficient help available to stop a fire if it gets beyond control.

National Guard Meeting Tonight

An important meeting will be held in the courtroom of the City Hall tonight at 7:30 to make plans for organizing a local unit of the National Guard in Greenville. An officer from the state adjutant general's office will be there to give information about proper procedure to start a militia unit here. "Every county seat in North Carolina should have one or more National Guard companies well organized and properly equipped," former officers of Battery A, 113th Field Artillery, stationed here, said today. All citizens are invited to attend tonight's meeting, and young men who want to enlist are also invited. The rate of pay for officers and men is much higher now than before the war.

Searchers Spot Site Of Crash

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Two U. S. bomber pilots spotted the wreckage of an American army transport plane on a 12,000-foot high plateau in the southern French Alps today as French Alpine troops struggled up the steep slopes to aid the seven passengers, including four women and a girl, and four crewmen.

A C-47 transport plane was reported en route from Turin, Italy, with food, blankets and medical supplies as the two bombers circled the wreckage of the C-53—which crash landed yesterday—to guide rescue parties. Reports from Vienna said five persons aboard the downed craft were hurt, but that there were no fatalities.

THERE WAS A REASON Independence, Mo., Nov. 20.—(AP) A motorist was arrested on a charge of driving backward down the street. He told Patrolman Paul Lebow that the driver of another car going in the opposite direction had shouted an insult at him: "Rather than risk losing the man, he said he began a backward pursuit. Strength FOR THE DAY
 BY L. DOUGLAS

MOVE THE CLOUDS
 Christian faith cannot save the world. Nothing can save it. That is what Christian faith is designed to do and what it can do.

Let us not be pessimists as we face the future. The Lord is not going to fold up his plans and admit himself defeated. Those who travel by airplane frequently have the experience of leaving a dark and overcast sky and going through the clouds into the beautiful sunshine. The sun is always shining above the clouds. God is always above the clouds and humanity will find Him because God has made it possible for man to find Him.

We have come to the end of things in the world: we are only at the beginning. When that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away. Beneath the shadow of many troubles man is learning how to put his trust in God.

And let us never forget this—above the clouds the love of God is ever shining. Say it to yourself if you have some personal sorrow to bear. Say it to yourself when the world seems going against you. Say to yourself when you read the news of the day and feel that the world is under the control of the devil.

Above the confusion of evil, the love and power of God still reign.

The money came rolling in enough to buy a team plus a set of harness, with $200 left over. The $200 was used to establish the medical.

The horses were delivered from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., where the association had bought them, by Army truck.

"Needless to remark," the Journal recalls, "astonishment and great joy reigned at the Johnson farm when the team was turned over to Leroy."

Gen. Birnie, now in his 70th year and retired from the Army, is living in Washington, but the association has lost track of Leroy Johnson. Recently it wrote him at his old address, but the letter came back.

Something of health and nourishment conditions among children in Germany comes from a report by Sister Eliser von Gunyer, of the church-operated Elisabethhaus, or children's sanitarium in Bad Nauheim. Relief funds from America through Church World Service, help carry on this ministry. Says the sister: "There are 216 children, from three to fifteen years of age in the Elisabethhaus. Among them are 100 children whose parents could not find lodgings for them. The other 116 children have been sent for a six weeks' treatment necessary to recovery. Most of them come from destroyed cities or industrial districts. At the end of the treatment 100 children are sent home. The health of these children is anything but satisfactory. Many are emaciated and undernourished and below normal weight. Many are endangered by tuberculosis or suffer from tuberculosis glandulae. Of 64 girls, only six have normal weight. All these children need nourishment rich in calories. If a cure of six weeks is to have any desirable result. The recent shortening of food rations means for our house a real calamity, the shortage of bread and flour being the most disastrous. Besides, there is the lack of fat and a great deficiency of potatoes. There are all sorts of medical treatments at the disposal of our little patients—salt baths, inhalatory, terraces for open air cure, etc."

White men are the hairiest of all human races.

Women IN THE CHURCH
 by Mary Fowler

"In normal times, the Y.W.C.A. in each country is self-supporting," says Mrs. Maurice T. Moore of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Associations. "But the devastations of war in many countries, the social and economic dislocations in others have handicapped the valiant women who are trying now to create a better post-war world. The university students struggling back to the former occupied zones of China, the women of Manila holding citizenship forms in a ruined city, the heroines of the Dutch underground, and the women of the Resistance in Czechoslovakia are struggling in the face of personal hardship, malnutrition, and lack of everything, but courage to achieve the spiritual, vocational, cultural and social growth for which the Y.W.C.A. stands." Mid-Year B.P.W. Convention Ends

The Mid-Year Council of the North Carolina Business and Professional Women's Clubs came to a close Sunday morning after an International Inspirational Breakfast in the Crystal Ballroom of the Washington-Duke Hotel, Durham.

Mr. R. Mayne Albright addressed the group on the subject "World Peace Under World Order." Miss Mabel Bacon, president of the State Federation, presided.

It was announced at this meeting that the convention in June will be held at "Ocean-View Terrace" with the Wilmington Club registration for the meeting opened Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

At the luncheon meeting held Saturday Deen Alice Baldwin of Duke led a discussion of "New Trends on Vocational Education" and "Basic Steps in Organizing or Coordinating Counseling Programs." She was assisted in the discussion program by Miss Ella Barrett, State Supervisor of Occupational Information and guidance of the North Carolina State Department of Public Instruction, who gave a brief address on the need for counseling service in North Carolina's public schools. Miss Blanche Lancaster of the North Carolina Employment Service also discussed counseling in relation to employment, and the need for it among adults.

Group meetings of instruction were held throughout the day.

A Board of Directors was held in the afternoon at which time recommendations of officers and committee chairmen were made. Reports of district directors and club presidents were made also.

At the banquet Saturday evening Mrs. Lillian T. Majally of New York, associate field director of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was the principal speaker. She declared that the time has come for women to take equal places with men in both professional and political worlds. "In fact," Mrs. Majally asserted, "during the recent war women amply proved for all time that they are capable of taking equal responsibilities."

"A woman's place is no longer exclusively in the home due to changes in the world economic condition," she declared. The whole of a family's food and clothing no longer is produced in the home, she said, since the industrialization of the world.

Women, she asserted, actually have a voting majority in the United States, but due to a great lack of interest have allowed this to remain actually a minority. Pointing to the recent passage of an amendment to the North Carolina Constitution giving women equal rights with men, she said "It took only the change of one word, but already some officials are

CHARLIE SPIVAK

Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, Charlie Spivak and his popular dance orchestra will be presented in concert at East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, as the second number on the College Entertainment Series.

Voted America's outstanding "Sweet Band" in 1945, in competition with such bands as Harry James, Vaughn Monroe, and the Dorsey's, the Spivak band ranks high among leading bands of the nation.

After the concert, there will be a college dance for E.C.T.C. students, their invited guests, and alumni.

Monday morning, a telephone message from his daughter stated that he was getting along very well. His address is Mr. O. S. Kittrell, Watts Hospital, Durham, N. C., Room J 212.

Mr. Thurman Crawford is critically ill at Dr. Smith's Clinic in Greenville. The sympathy of the folks at Red Oak is extended to him, his wife and mother.

Circle No. 2 of Red Oak Church met at the home of Mrs. Carl Crawford last night with every member present except one. Some fine work being done by this group of young matrons.

The Youthful Workers will meet at the Community Center Thursday night of this week. All young people of the Red Oak and Piney Grove communities are invited and urged to attend. A most enjoyable program and recreational hour has been planned.

Tobacco Article Is Widely Read

Dr. P. W. Picklesimer, director of the department of geography at East Carolina Teachers College, has been kept busy during the past few weeks mailing reprints of his article "Agglomerated Settlements in the New Bright Tobacco Belt," which appeared in "Economic Geography" for January, 1946, and which has attracted much attention to the eastern section of North Carolina and its tobacco markets.

Requests for copies of the article have come from the Commonwealth of Australia Council for Scientific and Industrial Research and the editorial board of "Revista Tobacco," trade journal in Havana, Cuba. From various parts of the United States more than fifty requests have come from readers, including among others architects, geographers, editors, librarians, and tobacco boards of trade. Dr. Picklesimer's article deals with the industrial development of such towns as Greenville, Wilson, Farmville, Goldsboro, Snow Hill, and Wallace.

What Other Car Has So Much That Clicks For Forty-Six!

- SMARTNESS — that sets the style pattern with car-length Airfall fenders and bolt-on rear wheel shields.
- POWER — from a Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine.
- OIL SAVINGS — from non-scuffing Accurite cylinder bores.
- FLASHING ACTION — of Five-weight pistons.
- STEADINESS — from full-length torque-tube drive in a sealed chassis.
- GLIDING RIDE — from Panhard all-coil springing.
- COMFORT — of soft Foamex® cushions in roomy Body by Fisher.
- SURE FOOTING — of Broadrim wheels.
- CONTROL — through Perni-firm steering.
- CONVENIENCE — of high-leverage Step-On parking brake.
- PROTECTION — of Buick-originated fender-shielding front and rear bumpers.

Put to you straight, the story's this:
No car made today is coming to you fast as its makers would like.
It stands to reason that the car most wanted is not going to be the easiest to get.
But that car will have what you're aiming for.
Style that's no mere one-year wonder — but smart and clean and right in a way that lasts.
Power — plenty of it — a big bonnetful of Fireball straight-eight power, smooth as cream pouring from a pitcher.
Size and roadability and easy-handling — this car will be a travel-wise honey that hugs the road as though it loved it!
There will be smoothness and steadiness you haven't known before — and putting it all together for you a hard-driving production outfit that's staging a notably successful battle against shortages and slow-downs.
If it takes longer to get a Buick than anyone thought a few months back, it has also proved itself as a whale of a lot more automobile than folks expected!
So skip today — give a thought to tomorrow — and plan ahead for something good.
Get your money down on a Buick, available for future delivery — with or without a car to trade.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Big City's Famous
Mayor Dies At 65
New York, Nov. 19-(AP)-James J. (Jimmy) Walker, mayor of New York City during the glittering days of the prohibition era, the Wall Street boom and night club palor, is dead at 65.
Death came painlessly last night to the debonair, slender, little man with the rapier wit, who had come to epitomize New York sophistication of the get-rich-quick years before the depression.
He never awakened from the coma into which he lapsed shortly after being taken to Doctors Hospital early Sunday suffering from a brain clot.

New OPA Price
On Sugar Ahead
Washington, Nov. 20-(AP)-OPA increased the price of raw sugar today and notified housewives and other buyers it soon will boost the retail price of the refined product by about a half cent a pound.
The agency estimated the increase will add about $50,000,000 to consumers' annual food bills.
The retail price boost will refine from the higher-cost raw sugar.

Teachers Push
New Pay Demand
Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 20-(AP)-Proponents of the South Piedmont District resolution on teachers salaries, which calls for pay boosts above the 20-per cent increase level sought officially by the North Carolina Education Association, today planned to carry their fight to every locality of the state.
Group work toward a statewide organization to promote the South Piedmont plan was laid here yesterday at a meeting of educational representatives from the South Piedmont, the Northwestern, the North Central and Western districts and leaders indicated that officials of the two remaining districts, the Southeastern and the Northeastern, would be contacted at an early date.

N.C. Tense As Contest With Duke Draws Near

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 20.—It may be just a commentary on post war football—the serenity and calmness prevailing in the Carolina football camp as the Tar Heels prepare for their traditional game with Duke here Saturday, which is so strikingly in contrast to the hysteria and excitement of some other years.

Football players are older this year, Carolina's as well as those at other colleges. Many of them are returned GI's. Most of them are men of maturity who do not react emotionally to sob story pep talks of coaches as did the younger fuzzy-cheeked stars of pre-war seasons.

Or at least that's what the coaches seem to think. There has been no evidence here of the pressure on the Tar Heels with keying up sermons. Practices this week have been in the same key as those before other games. The Tar Heels have been hard workers all year, and they are working hard for Duke, but they are doing it with no particular fanfare.

"They'll be on edge, all right," one of the Carolina coaches said. "The students and alumni are too much on edge for them not to catch the fever, but we prefer that they simply take the game in stride and prepare for it as they have for all the other teams they've met."

Charlie (Choo) Justice, Carolina's brilliant All-America fullback candidate, is a player who is on edge for every game. Like many great athletes, he has trouble sleeping on the eve of all important battle and also experiences digestive disturbances. But, when he goes on the field, there is no more poised player out there.

Although they are making no show of it, the Tar Heels realize the enormity of their task in meeting Duke's upswinging Blue Devils. One can sense this on the field. They know they likely will have to be better than they have been all season to run or pass against a team boasting such line stalwarts as Bill Milner, Ernest Knotts, Kelly Mote, Fletcher Wall and such backfield powers as George Clark, Buddy Milligan and Leo Long, to mention just a few players in a steadily improving array.

Free Fishing Show At College Nov. 21

Art Nuss and his free fishing show will be at the campus building, East Carolina Teachers College Thursday night, November 21 at 8 o'clock.

The Pitt County Wildlife Club has a unique feature this week which should attract the fishing folk for miles around. Art Nuss, the nationally known authority on lake and stream fishing and exhibition caster, is doing his stuff at the Campus Building, East Carolina Teachers College Thursday night November 21st, at 8 o'clock. He gives a remarkable demonstration of casting under all sorts of conditions that bedevil the fisherman. The main purpose of his exhibition is to show the correct methods of casting and the best use of equipment. While lots of local champs are enjoying the feats of Nuss, he seems especially interested in the novice who wants to know the how of fly and bait-casting. Nuss can usually be seen at the big sportsman shows doing his accurate and trick casting for the enjoyment of thousands. This is the first time local anglers have had the opportunity of seeing him. The exhibition is free to all.

He is making this tour through the courtesy of Ocean City Reels and Montague Rods.

DOOR SHUT IN ARMY'S FACE

Rose Bowl Game Conference Pact Leaves West Point Out Of Bowl Games

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The Pacific Coast and big nine conferences early today signed a five-year football agreement that slammed the Rose Bowl door in anxious Army's face and probably will send Illinois—which voted against the pact—into the world's richest Bowl contest Jan. 1.

Illinois, ranking fifth nationally, is the potential big nine (Western Conference) champion, having only to win from Northwestern Saturday to clinch the title.

Undefeated University of California at Los Angeles, No. 4 college eleven, holds the edge over the once-beaten University of Southern California, rated tenth in the national football poll, to become the host team for the Bowl. The issue will be decided when the two teams clash Saturday at Los Angeles.

Should U.C.L.A. and Illinois emerge as rivals in the tournament of Roses Classic, the west would again see Buddy Young, fleet-footed Illini back who starred for the Fleet City Navy team on the West Coast last year and for whom UCLA alumni were at one time reported bidding.

An official press release by the big nine Pacific Coast negotiators made no mention of powerful Army, but the terms of the agreement left the Blanchard-Davis machine—number one in the nation—out in the cold.

Science Teachers In Plan For Institute

Teachers of science attending the meeting of the Northeastern District Teachers Association at East Carolina Teachers College on November 15 made plans to inaugurate an institute of science for the 22 counties represented in the association and to hold the first meeting on March 1 at the college here.

The institute will be an all-day session and will take the form of a workshop at which round table discussions of current problems in the teaching of science will be held. The institute will be planned and directed by members of the department of science of the Northeastern District Teachers Association, of which Fodey Hodges of Crimeland is president. Dr. Charles W. Reynolds, director of the department of science at East Carolina Teachers College, will act as advisor to those drawing up plans for the institute. All teachers of science in the northeastern counties of the state will be invited to attend the institute and workshop at East Carolina Teachers College.

Two KO's Scored In Night's Work

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Emmett Norris, Doughty Steelton (Pa.) welterweight, unexpectedly turned up twice on a fight card here last night to kyo his first opponent in 15 seconds and return two bouts later to score another knockout.

Weighing in at 145, Norris flattened Jackie Johnson, 146, Philadelphia in the curtain-raiser. Two bouts later, matchmakers pressed him into action against Jimmy Wilson, 147, Philadelphia, and he emerged victorious by a knockout in 2:10 of the third.

Medford, Mass., Nov. 19.—(AP)—With a race developing among several nations for exploration of the Antarctic—ostensibly for uranium—a Tufts College professor of diplomacy suggested today placing the area under the United Nations now to avoid possible "endless controversy."

Unions' Contracts . . .

This contract lasts one year. Its purpose is to avoid repeated disputes between the company and the workers.

But no matter how far down living costs may go in the next year, the workers will not lose any more than the 18-cent raise they have now. This kind of contract—that the workers and the company agree can be adjusted up or down to meet changes in living costs—is called an up and down escalator contract. Some unions like that kind of deal. Some won't have any part of it. In normal times unions don't like to tie wages in too closely with the cost of living.

It would lower wages if prices drop and it would keep them geared to living costs even though the employer were making hundreds of money and could afford a good wage increase, aside from living costs.

Diggers Quit . . .

Mine Workers president sent the government Nov. 15 declaring the union's contract would be void at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow. A UMW spokesman said the letters had been mailed to the locals from Washington.

John Castor, secretary of an Ellsworth, Pa., local whose 900 members worked yesterday, declared "The miners can be expected to leave their jobs today," he added laconically.

"They received all the instructions they needed from the radio and newspapers."

In most cases the miners ignored notices posted by the coal mines administration, appealing to the men to "honor their contract and to mine coal which the nation needs."

Mike Otkrosky, a California, Pa., miner who spent his day "off" helping the missus with the washing, declared:

"It was those government handbills telling us not to stay away from work that made us quit. That was what I think caused it. People don't like being told what they have to do and lots of the men I talked with resented that."

Final action on transfer of the college from Wake Forest to Winston-Salem under a grant of almost $11,000,000 from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation.

More than 1,300 messengers were attending the second day's sessions.

A committee on changes in the constitution and by-laws of the convention was to introduce a resolution allowing borrowing provided provisions to pay back were made in the following year's budget.

In a precedent making step, the convention voted unanimously in favor of a federal anti-lynching law and condemned segregation of races in the church.

The action, which came during the second meeting of the three-day session yesterday was taken in approving the report of the committee on social service and righteousness.

In addition, the report adopted advocated equal hospitalization, education and suffrage for Negroes, and equal wages and treatment of Negro employes, backed by adequate state and national legislation.

There was considerable controversy over the annual report of the trustees of the Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem.

The hospital report recommended that the convention contribute $400,000 toward the erection of a 140-bed wing to the hospital at an estimated cost of $1,000,000, provided the board of trustees could raise the remaining $600,000.

'Unfair' Rent . . .

Wolcott is whipping into shape plans for a quick investigation of the housing program for veterans, which he has described as "outrageously bad."

Whether rent controls are extended beyond next June 30, he said, depends largely on whether the housing shortage is relieved by new construction.

"We must be realistic about rent controls," he said. "There is an awful housing shortage. If we lifted rent controls completely a small minority of unscrupulous landlords no doubt would gouge their tenants and there would be evictions. We saw some of that happen last summer when there was no rent control for a while."

TRAIN TRAFFIC IS PARALYZED

Arab Trainmen In Palestine Protest Terror Tactics

Jerusalem, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Rail traffic in Palestine was paralyzed today in a sudden strike of rail workers 80 per cent of them Arabs, protesting what they called "lack of adequate protection against Jewish terrorism."

More than 50 trains have been attacked in the past three months and police said most of the attacks were in the form of mines placed by Jews. Seven railway men have been killed.

In the port area of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv a Jewish detective was shot to death early today. Police blamed a "Jewish terrorist mob" for the slaying, latest of more than a score in Palestine this month.

Gunfire from a passing car-fell the detective as he walked up to a bus stop, and a stray bullet injured a nearby civilian slightly, the public information office said.

Nine persons suffered injuries requiring hospitalization in Tel Aviv last night when police and soldiers made what authorities called reprisal raids in the all Jewish city. Police said Tel Aviv was quiet today.

A new note was injected into the situation in troubled Palestine by a warning from Hagana last night that it would take "any means at our disposal" to halt acts of violence by other Jewish underground groups.

Schedule Second Probe Of Bilbo

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), already under scrutiny by one Senate committee for his utterances and tactics in last summer's Mississippi primary, faces a new investigation tomorrow by another.

The inquiry, authorized late yesterday by the Senate War Investigating Committee, will be concerned shortly with Bilbo's relation with a group of war contractors who built a number of Southern air fields for the Army.

The other investigation, which will be conducted by the special Senate Campaign Investigating Committee in Mississippi beginning Dec. 2, will go into sworn charges that Bilbo tried to prevent Negroes from voting in the primary.
