FRENCH REDS SHOW ADVANCE IN BALLOTING

Strengthen Grasp On Government In Parliamentary Elections

By ROBERT C. WILSON Paris, Nov. 25.—(AP)—French Communists appeared today to have strengthened their claim to leadership of the Fourth Republic's first government by their showing in yesterday's parliamentary election.

Nearly complete returns from the balloting for 83,751 electors to help choose Parliament's upper house, the Council of the Republic, put the Communists slightly ahead of the Centrist Popular Republican Movement (MRP) in the number of electors named.

The tabulation gave the Communists 24,721 electors, MRP 24,446, Socialists 14,280, Radical Socialists 8,381 and Rightist Bloc of the Republican Party of Liberty (PRL) 11,742.

Interior ministry figures for 68 of the 91 departments showed that in popular votes, however, the MRP was leading the Communists, 3,839, 835 to 3,736,077.

The Communists based their bid to name the premier on their victory in the Nov. 10 election, when they won 180 of the 618 seats in the National Assembly, the lower house of Parliament, to the MRP's 162 and the Socialists' 101.

The Socialists have not replied to a Communist invitation to join in forming a working-class party government with a Communist premier. The MRP has said it will not cooperate with the Communists in any government.

In the event of a Communist-Socialist and MRP-PRL tieup a parliamentary stalemate seems likely which pre-war Premier Edouard Herriot as radical-socialist leader may be called upon to arbitrate.

Electoral colleges will meet in France's cantons Dec. 8 to choose 200 of the 315 deputies in the Council of the Republic. The parties will be allotted 50 more seats on the basis of their Assembly strength, and voters in overseas territories will choose another 65 Dec. 15.

The council, weak in legislative strength compared to the Assembly, will meet with the lower house (Continued on Page Eight)

Senator Would Outlaw Strikes

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) proposed today that Congress outlaw strikes and compel arbitration of labor disputes in basic industries such as coal mining directly affecting the general welfare of the country.

Such machinery could be made applicable to future coal work stoppages if not the present walkout. Fulbright told a reporter. He said it might be applied also to enterprises such as oil, steel, transportation and public utilities.

His idea, Fulbright explained, would be to ban strikes altogether in these industries and force arbitration of disputes either through a new agency set up on the pattern of the Interstate Commerce Commission or through a special court or both.

Scream in Dark Heralds Assault

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A piercing scream startled several hundred persons in a movie theater yesterday as they watched Jose Turbi in a piano-playing sequence.

When the house lights went on the screaming woman was found to have been stabbed. She was identified as Lettie Louise Raikes, 19.

Meanwhile police collared her alleged assailant who brandished a hunting knife as he clambered hastily over theater seats toward the exit. He told police he was Raymond L. Ferguson, 24, of Clifton Forge, Va.

Onslaught On Greece

Birthplace of Democracy Fighting For Its Life Against Attacking Communists; Last Spark Of Resistance To Russia In Balkans; Big Powers Watching

The British-backed Greek government's fight to maintain the monarchy in the face of heavy Communist onslaughts from various directions has reached a pitch which threatens to raise barbed international questions—specifically for the Big Three and in general for the whole United Nations.

Sources close to Premier Tsaldaris said Saturday that he hoped to present personally to the U. N. Security Council complaints about the alleged violation of the Greek frontier along the Albanian-Yugoslav-Bulgarian borders. These informants said Tsaldaris had delayed making the complaints because he disliked to raise any new issues between Russia and the Western Allies.

At the same time Greek War Minister Dragomiris declared in Salonika that "Greece had decided to fight for her independence and democracy—at any cost. We cannot accept a totalitarian system which is contrary to our character and tradition."

Yesterday, however, Premier Tsaldaris, after conferring with the king of the Hellenes, said he didn't "know when, where and if" a Greek complaint of border violations would be lodged with the U. N. He added that this hinged on "developments in the course of evolution."

1,500 Miles Per Hour Predicted For This Plane

Chalmers "Slick" Goodlin, 23-year-old test pilot for Bell Aircraft Company of Buffalo, N. Y., stands beside the new rocket-propelled plane, XS-1, for which Army Air Forces predict an ultimate speed of "near 1,500 miles an hour at an altitude of 60,000 feet."

VESSELS SINK IN COLLISION

Survivors Of Two Small Freighters Are Picked Up

Miami, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Two small freighters sank in a pre-dawn collision 30 miles south of Miami today and eight hours later a lifeboat and raft were sighted drifting in the gulf stream with about 18 men on board.

A coast guard plane spotted the survivors well offshore and some 32 mile north of the spot where the boat went down. A crash boat sped to the spot from the coast guard base.

A dozen airplanes, the cutter Tampa and other surface craft searched for crews of the two craft after a weak radio message told of the collision.

First word of the accident came from the Caribbean trader Evangelos, which flashed a distress call a few hours after leaving Miami for a cargo of bananas and other island products.

The craft reported she was in collision with the freighter Marsdiek, from Nassau, and was sinking. A short time later the Marsdiek reported the Evangelos had sunk and she, too, was sinking.

Coast Guard rescue craft sped to the scene in the Straits of Florida about 30 miles south of Miami but discovered no survivors immediately.

Dr. P. P. McCain Killed In Wreck

Raleigh, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Dr. A. P. McCain, chairman of the State Medical Society's Committee on Hospital Care Associations, was killed instantly this morning 12 miles from her when his car hit a Greyhound bus between Apex and Cary.

Dr. McCain was on his way here from Sanatorium to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the state medical care association. He was traveling alone.

Coroner Irving M. Cheek said Dr. McCain's car ran off the shoulder of the road and as it swerved back onto the highway it struck a bus, killing him instantly.

PRECIOUS ITEMS

Clara City, Minn., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A salesman walked into William Donner's jewelry store, set down his grips, and immediately rushed out again.

He returned a short time later, carrying a box of eggs which he carefully laid aside while he opened the grips to display $60,000 worth of jewelry.

"Do you mean to tell me you left those valuable jewels here unattended while you went chasing eggs?" Asked Donner.

"Sure," answered the salesman. "Eggs are hard to get where I come from."

N. C. Coal Retailers Offer Cooperation

Fuel Shortages In State Already Being Felt; Train Services Limited; Leaf Marts To Close; Towns Conserve Supplies

By the Associated Press The president of the North Carolina Retail Coal Merchants Association, has wired Gov. Cherry offering him the services of that organization as the effects of the nationwide coal shortage began to be felt in the Carolinas today.

In compliance with Government orders, railroads were cutting their service, harassing passenger schedules, and in many cases slowing the mails.

President Julian A. Woodcock Jr., revealed the contents of his telegram yesterday, which said in part that the coal merchants' organization wanted to help in effecting an equitable distribution of the coal fuels now in stock or being made available during this emergency.

Meanwhile, in New Bern, Mayor L. C. Lawrence ordered a drastic cut in all non-essential lighting. He said the city power plant was overloaded and city officials were unsuccessful in their attempts to buy additional power elsewhere.

The federal dim-out order does not include the Carolinas. At Rutherfordton, town officials protested the suspension of trains 35 and 36, the only railway passenger service between Rock Hill and Rutherfordton.

Other railroad schedules removed include the Seaboard's No. 11 from Hamlet, N. C., to Rock Hill, and No. 24 from Atlanta to Rock Hill.

Effective at midnight, the Southern removed passenger trains Nos. 11 and 12 from the Asheville-Salisbury division. This left Hickory with four of six Southern passenger trains that usually serve the city. Nos. 15 and 21 westbound and 14 and 22 eastbound are still operating.

Mayor Lawrence's New Bern dim-out order calls for business showplaces to close at 5 p. m. daily.

Tobacco markets on the old, middle and eastern North Carolina flue cured belts will close after Wednesday's sales because of the coal shortage.

Attacks Critics Of China Treaty

Shanghai, Nov. 25.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart branded as "preposterous" today the assertions of some Chinese newspapers that the recently signed Sino-American treaty imposed "unequal conditions" upon China.

The ambassador told a news conference that there had been a misunderstanding of terms of the treaty, especially its most-favored-nation clause. Some critics said this clause meant a series of new, unequal treaties, but "that is not true," he said.

Pope Speaks To American Youth

Vatican City, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Declaring that "this is America's hour," Pope Pius XII in a broadcast yesterday urged American youth to "carry the torch of faith full-flaming to the ends of the earth."

The pontiff, commemorating the martyrdom of Jesuit Missionary Isaac Jogues and two companions killed 300 years ago by American Indians, told his radio audience in the United States.

"The martyr's message rings out across your blessed country, so providentially spared the horrors and destruction of other lands. From coast to coast, from the Gulf to the northern frontier, it is heard. Let men pause and hearken to its appeal. It is America's hour. The missions await the response."

By CHESTER WALSH Redmond Moore, 47, and Mrs. Fannie Howard, 33, both Negroes were found dead of monoxide gas poisoning in Moore's car, parked in woods near the old Stantonburg road, four miles from Greenville about 9:30 a. m. today.

Judge Orders Lewis Stand Trial On Contempt Charge

Move To Censure Veto Use By Kremlin Gains

Delegates In Assembly Rebuff Actions By Molotov; Widening Gulf Between West And Russia; Meetings Seem Fruitless

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A move in the United Nations Assembly to censure Russia's use of her veto power in the Security Council appeared likely today after Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov had flatly rejected all efforts by America, Britain, France and China to compromise the veto issue.

Molotov's action, itself based on his right of veto, killed all hope of any modification of the Security Council voting system, but left delegates with the opportunity of action in the Assembly, while majority rule applies.

Meanwhile there was speculation whether the apparently widening gulf between Russia and the Western powers might spread to include the issue of reports on troops in foreign lands, and disarmament.

Molotov's attitude on the veto was made known in a Big Five meeting Saturday night. In blocking any voluntary curtailment of the veto by great power agreement, he urged ministers of the other powers to rebuff all efforts to change the veto. They unanimously rejected his proposal. This lineup foreshadowed the final outcome of the veto fight in the Assembly, where the non-Russian powers have a sufficient majority to put through virtually any proposal they desire against Soviet opposition.

Because of the veto and other arguments, it now seems that the current series of United Nations and foreign ministers may be ended here in two or three weeks amid as much diplomatic conflict as when they began.

The Foreign Ministers Council scheduled another of its debate-filled sessions today on the Italian peace treaty and the internationalization of Trieste, which has monopolized its work for three weeks.

Secretary of State Byrnes evidently trying to prod the work along, told the foreign ministers Saturday night they ought to decide whether they were going to any peace treaties. At present, he said, there would not be any before 1950.

Britain Offers New Troop Census Plan

Reject Russian Proposal As Inadequate; Present Conflicting Offer; Withdraw Linking Troop Count With Disarmament

Lake Success, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The big power battle over conflicting proposals for a United Nations troops inventory was complicated further today by a British proposal that all troop figures be subject to verification by a U. N. inspection unit.

The British position was disclosed by Philip J. Noel-Baker, British air minister, shortly after it was learned that the U. S. delegation had decided to oppose any move to inject an inspection provisions into the troop inquiry. A. S. Russia is known to be opposed to such a plan.

Speaking before the 54-nation political committee of the general assembly, Noel-Baker rejected the Soviet proposal as "inadequate" and substituted what amounted to virtually an entirely new resolution for the one British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had offered previously. He announced that he was withdrawing the proposal to combine the troop inventory plan with the committee's scheduled demand for leniency. The clemency hearing was requested by the Epes family. Dr. Lewis T. Stoneburner, Jr., Richmond physician and intimate of the family, asked the governor today to change the jury's verdict from murder to involuntary manslaughter. Stoneburner and other doctors testified that Mary Lee often took sodium selenate tablets to relieve pain and said that when these were mixed with alcohol the effects were dangerous and possibly deadly. They sought to show that such a mixture (Continued on Page Eight)

Artists Discuss Network Dispute

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Representatives of radio networks and the American Federation of Radio Artists (AFRA) scheduled a meeting today to discuss new proposals offered by the companies to avert a strike of radio artists.

The union had called a strike for last night but the deadline was postponed indefinitely on receipt of new proposals from management. The dispute centers around a demand by the AFRA that the networks refrain from supplying chain programs to local stations not under contract to the union.

The companies involved are the National Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System, American Broadcasting System and Mutual Broadcasting System.

All Asked To Help Oxford Orphanage

The Oxford Orphanage Committee for the Thanksgiving and Christmas offering announced today that the needs of the institution are greater than ever, and urged the citizens to donate generously to the fund this year. It has been a custom for many years for the Masons each year to solicit funds for the worthy institution upon the approach of the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. Incidentally, 80 per cent of the children at Oxford Orphanage are from other than Masonic families.

The committee hopes to raise $2,500 for the orphanage this year. Whether or not you are a Mason see the committee and make a donation to brighten some lives.

He's Prepared

Since little Leland Stewart's dad is on strike at the coal mine at Gintown, Ala., the youngster wasn't so sure about that turkey for Thanksgiving. But now he has a confident look as he strolls down the road with a gobble tucked under his arm. His dad works at the Davidson mine, which shut down when miners failed to report for work. Rules UMW Head Has Not Purged Himself Of Contempt Of Court; Goldsborough Overrides Objections To Court's Jurisdiction; Trial Set For Wednesday

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough declared today that John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers "undertook to decide the law for themselves" and ordered them to trial Wednesday for contempt in the soft coal shutdown.

The trial probably will run into next week while industrial paralysis tightens from the diminishing coal supply.

Welly K. Hopkins, counsel for Lewis and the union, sought a delay to permit Joseph A. Padway, general counsel of the AFL, to join in the defense but Goldsborough refused the request, commenting that the "public interest" requires as speedy a settlement as possible in view of the mine walkout already in its fifth day.

Speaking in low tones, Goldsborough also expressed the hope that labor unions would not "do something that might influence Congress" to pass legislation which might "set the labor movement back for years."

"I don't know whether I was justified in making that statement," he commented afterwards. "It was extra-judicial."

Goldsborough set Wednesday's trial after ruling that Lewis had not purged himself of the contempt charges directed against him Nov. 21 for failure to withdraw a no-contract notice to the Government.

It was Lewis' cancellation of the work agreement that touched off the walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners.

Lewis sat silently in the crowded courtroom during the 40-minute session while Hopkins argued that Goldsborough lacked jurisdiction either to issue an order requiring Lewis to rescind the notice or to issue the contempt citation that followed.

Attempts by Government counsel to argue that point immediately were cut off by Goldsborough. "When court opens Wednesday," Goldsborough said, "I will pass on the contempt citation first, then pass on the merits of the restraining order."

Then Hopkins announced that Lewis and the union had taken no action to comply with the court's order that the non-contract notice be withdrawn and were ready to go to a trial which might result in punishment of the union chief if convicted of contempt.

Hopkins attempted, however, to delay the trial date. He said the union has had no opportunity to read the Government's argument. A bulky brief was presented at the start of the session by Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett.

Hopkins declared also that some union counsel were out of town and (Continued on Page Four)

SENATE PROBE SIDETRACKED

Strong Opposition To Investigation Of Occupation

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A projected on-the-spot Senate investigation of American Military Governments in Germany and Austria appeared headed for a sidetrack today due to opposition from the War and State Departments.

As members of the special War Investigating Committee gathered for a meeting which may decide the question, Senator Brewster (R-Maine) told reporters he still favored hearings in Europe as soon as possible.

But other members said privately they were inclined to oppose them. This time because of objections from Secretaries Patterson and Byrnes.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), a committee member, chilled the enthusiasm of some of his colleagues by making public his strong opposition.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said such hearings would produce a "most unfavorable reaction and wide adverse publicity."

He asked Chairman Kilgore (D-W. Va.) to record him in the Senate on grounds that the Senate investigation group, never intended to authorize action by it "in the field of foreign relations."

Key Points At Stake

Must Lewis, Or Anyone, Obey A Federal Judge's Order? Did Lewis Have A Right To Issue His Order? Did Lewis Have Right To Tear Up Contract?

Washington, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Here are three main points in John Lewis' fight with the government today.

1. Does Lewis, or anyone, have to obey a federal judge's order? The theory is this: When he thinks it may be important to prevent unlawful injury or damage to someone else, the judge can tell you to do something, or not to do it.

You're supposed to obey, whether you think the judge is right or not in issuing the order. You get a chance to argue about it later. Lewis announced Nov. 15 his contract with the government to mine coal would end Nov. 30. This meant a walkout.

The government told the judge that Lewis had no right to cancel his contract and asked the judge not to let him end it. Without hearing both Lewis and the government on this point, the judge couldn't tell whether Lewis was right in ending his contract. On Nov. 18 the judge issued a temporary order to Lewis not to end it. The order was temporary in this way: He said he'd hear arguments of Lewis and the government Nov. 27 on Lewis' right to tear up his contract. So between Nov. 18, the date the order was issued, and Nov. 27, when the arguments were to be heard, Lewis wasn't to end his contract. After the Nov. 27, arguments the judge could agree with Lewis and let him end his contract or decide he was wrong and order him permanently not to end it. (Continued on Page Four)

Greek Student Speaks at Vespers
Theocharis Rendis, young Greek student, speaking last night at the Vesper Service conducted by the college YWCA and YMCA, described the hard conditions under which students in his country gain an education. He pointed out that in Greece food is scarce, and consequently the death rate is high. Students live in crowded quarters and lack things such as blankets and books, which men and women in American colleges take for granted.

Rendis' talk ushered in the preliminary phases of the World Student Service Fund Drive, which is conducted annually on the college campus and which will end this year on January 10. Ann Beddard of Snow Hill is in charge.

Others on last night's program were Miss Elizabeth Drake of the faculty, who played a prelude; George Jackson of Concord, who led the devotional service; and Miss Beddard, who introduced the speaker.

Trio Exhibit Closes Tonight
The Trio Exhibit, now showing in the Community Art Center gallery, will close tonight. This exhibit is composed of 15 oil paintings done by five different artists and is circulated by the Studio Guild of New York City. It has proven very popular with Greenville people. Probably the most popular painting is that of the boyhood home of John Howard Payne and called "Home, Sweet Home." This is a recent painting by Frank Calicut of Columbia University. Another interesting painting by Calicut is called "Summer Paradise."

George Thurston who paints in an entirely different style from Calicut has pleasing landscape scenes. Louise Hemmingway's "Old Man Reading a Newspaper" delights everyone and the paintings of flowers and vegetables are exceptionally well done. The circus and doll paintings by Alice Hawkes have pleased the older visitors as well as the young folks. One really shivers as he views the ice covered street painted by Hoge Pinck.

The gallery will remain open continuously today from 2 p. m. until 8 p. m. so that those who have not been able to see the exhibit may have an opportunity.

Delta Chapter Meets
At the regular meeting of Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma on Saturday, Miss Elisabeth Hyman reviewed the book, "While Time Remains," by Leland Stowe, an American reporter. The book has been called one of the most challenging books of our time. It deals with the failure of America to live up to its democratic principles and ideals in the past war world.

During the business session over which Miss Elisabeth Walker presided, the chapter voted to pay its share to the Emergency Scholarship Fund, which will bring a foreign student to study in a North Carolina college for one year. Every state, according to present plans, will make a contribution toward paying expenses of a foreign teacher in one of its colleges.

Miss Frances Wahl reported on the Delta Kappa Gamma Workshop held recently in Greensboro, where Dr. Dennis Cooke and Miss Elisabeth Hyman had prominent places on the program.

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, November 24. The Golden Text from Romans 12:1, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."
Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "And God spake all these words, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. True shall have no other gods before me." Exodus 20:1-3. And from "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is infinite, the only Life, substance, spirit or soul, the only intelligence of the universe, including man."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE GIFT AND POWER OF PERSONALITY

We read in the Bible that the apostle Peter was so respected by his generation that people brought their sick and ailing and laid them in the street, believing that the lives of these loved ones would be benefited and their ailments cured if only the shadow of Peter fell across them.

We have here the description in graphic language of the influence of a good and great man. Even his shadow, as it fell across people helped them. There are also men and women today whose lives are such that even when their shadow falls across us we are blessed.

Such people have certain distinguished characteristics. They are always self-effacing. They are unselfish. They talk about themselves little and about others much. Generosity they have very little money in the bank, but they have a richness of heart which everybody sees and acknowledges.

A young man went to talk with Phillips Brooks one day about a personal problem. It was not until he had left Brooks and was on his way home that it suddenly occurred to him that he had forgotten to mention the problem at all. But the problem was solved all right. Contact with Brooks himself had accomplished this.

Here was the shadow of a real man falling across the life of a younger man and making his life better.

WASHINGTON LETTER

TEXT BOOKS TAKE TO AIR AS NEW CLASSES ENROLL
By OLIVER DEWOLFE
(For Jane Edw.)

Washington — Millions of young Americans in kindergarten and college, have an opportunity to become air-minded this school year.

They are going to find airplanes popping up in social studies, mathematics, sciences, languages and fine arts. Some of the older students in ground school courses such as aerology, communications and mechanics will actually fly light planes.

The program is part of the Civil Aeronautics Administration's (CAA) plan to help state departments of education make young Americans flying conscious. Twenty-one states have already adopted individual plans to introduce living into the curriculum. CAA recently sent seven freshly-trained aviation education specialists into the field to help states, schools and colleges, upon request, participate in the program.

In mathematics Johnny is going to find problems put a bit differently than they were when his pop and mom went to school, says Howard W. Sinclair, Assistant CAA Administrator for Aviation Training.

"Instead of saying Johnny, if you had three apples," Sinclair said, "the teacher may say Johnny. If an airplane can carry three crew members and 20 passengers, how many can six airplanes carry?"

For older students, science courses may include the theory of aerodynamics and study the causes of "lift."

"The new manual, The Aviation Education Source Book, even has a chapter on music which lists all songs, military, popular and otherwise which have an aviation theme, or even mention aviation," Sinclair told me.

The manual, prepared by Dr. Paul R. Hanna, Professor of Education at Stanford University, with the assistance of 25 teachers, aviation experts and research workers, is one of the latest steps to make young America air conscious. It was used extensively this past summer in at least 50 teacher training institutes which CAA assisted in.

Educators in America started to become air-minded in 1942, Sinclair says; after early World War II experiences disclosed that the Germans had the edge on us by virtue of 16 years of teaching school children about airplanes. A series of lectures to educators in 1942 was followed by publication of textbooks, 700,000 of which were sold. As a result of this program, Sinclair says approximately half of the junior and senior high schools in the country placed aeronautics courses on their curricula.

"At the end of the war," Sinclair reported, "when the emphasis changed from the ground school subjects in high school courses to the broader social, political and economic fields, it became plain to educators that aviation could be taught all the way down to the school level."

Greece . . .

You don't need a telescope to see what is going on there. Greece is the last of the countries on the Balkan peninsula not communized and under the control of Moscow. Greece's entire northern frontier is up against Red territory—Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Romania came even more solidly into the Soviet ranks last week through her general election which was announced as having registered a Red majority.

Minister of War Dragoumis after visiting northern Greece charged that the disorders in Macedonia and Western Thrace was "inspired and directed" by agents trained in Yugoslavia and moved into Greece by three routes: through Albania directly from Yugoslavia, and into Thrace through the mountainous area near our eastern frontier—that is, from Bulgaria.

There you have the makings of a first-class Balkan war. As a matter of fact, if General Dragoumis has his information straight, that war already is under way to all intents. In any event, there is reckless violence in many parts of Greece, quite apart from anything which might come down on her from the Red north.

There can be no possible doubt that the Balkan Communists intend to bring Greece into their fold if it is humanly possible. Greece is a highly strategic base militarily—among other things representing Britain's only toe-hold on the Balkan peninsula. The big question of course is this: what attitude would Russia and England adopt if Greece should become embroiled in war with her communist neighbors on the north? It is conceivable that both great powers might announce a hands-off policy, knowing full well that if either of them made a hostile move the third world war would be under way in that case unhappy little Greece would be swallowed up.

Judge Orders . . .

would not be ready. Sonnet arose abruptly from the Government counsel table and told Goldsborough the Government would object to any delay in view of the strike emergency. Goldsborough affirmed the Wednesday date and directed both sides to be on hand in the same courtroom at 10:00 a. m. (EST) two days hence, declared the matter concluded for the day, and recessed his court.

Contrary to the Government's position, Hopkins argued that Lewis' notice to Secretary of Interior Krug terminating the UMW contract was "both legal and proper." He said also that neither Lewis nor the union had taken any action in compliance with the notice to withdraw the cancellation notice. Goldsborough halted Lewis into court to answer a contempt citation for refusal to withdraw the notice, which signaled a nation-wide strike in the soft coal fields.

"The defendants, and each of them, respectfully deny the jurisdiction of this honorable court to issue a restraining order," Hopkins said of Goldsborough's order. The union also challenges the court's right to order the contempt hearing, Hopkins added, and is prepared to let the case go to trial with an advisory jury.

Such a trial on Wednesday had been set by Goldsborough in the event Lewis failed to "purge" himself of the alleged contempt.

contract die Nov. 20. So the judge called him to court today to explain why he had disobeyed.

Federal judges under the Norris-LaGuardia act of 1932—practically are forbidden to issue an order against a strike in a labor dispute.

The government argues the Norris-LaGuardia act applies only to private employers' disputes with unions but nowhere says the government cannot get such an order from a judge when it's having a labor dispute.

In this case, the government says it's been running the mines under contract with Lewis since last May. If the judge fines or jails Lewis his lawyers are a cinch to appeal to a higher court.

If this happens, the Supreme Court eventually may have to decide whether the judge's action was right from the beginning.

But John Lewis argues that under the old contracts he used to make with the mine owners either side—he or the owners—could end a contract after notifying the other of the intention to do so.

And, he argues, his contract with the government says she can do the same thing now—and it when he wants to—for his contract with the government says the terms of his old contract still hold good.

Miners Back In Anthracite Pits

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 25—(AP)—Anthracite miners in Pennsylvania's hard coal fields returned to the pits today after 10,000 had staged a three-day holiday stoppage in sympathy with John L. Lewis' AFL bituminous miners.

Leaders of the miners said they were unable to determine what might happen if Lewis and the United Mine Workers were "kicked around in Washington."

Meanwhile in Hazleton, where anthracite mines remained in full operation last week, delegates to a meeting of the upper provisional District 7 of the UMW's general mine committee, termed the court-imposed injunction "banning the soft coal strike 'no-American'."

The group also voted unanimous support of Lewis and the soft coal walkout.

Anthracite miners at many pits in the Wyoming valley walked out last Thursday over what a leader of the mine workers union said was a report that Lewis had been jailed.

Don't Take Your Greatest Asset for Granted

★ Most of us throw every safeguard possible around our property. Homes, automobiles, and valuable personal property are carefully insured against losses by fire, theft, and storm. We insure our lives to protect the economic well-being of our dependents.

Yet health, on which depends our ability to earn these material comforts, is often completely neglected. Good health is too frequently taken for granted until it is lost. It is wise to protect this priceless asset. Include a health examination for every member of the family in your yearly budget. When medicine is prescribed, bring the prescription to us for prompt, economical service.

Vets Eligible For Farm Loans

The Pitt County Veterans Service Officer announces that the Farm Security Administration and the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Division of the Farm Credit Administration were merged as of November 1, 1946, and are now in position to make farm-ownership loans in sums up to $12,000, at 3 1/2 percent interest, repayable over periods as long as 40 years. This type of loan may be used to buy, improve or enlarge family-type farms. Variable payments may be arranged so that the borrower may make larger payments in good years and smaller payments in lean years.

Veterans of all wars who have other than dishonorable discharges and who fulfill requirements as to industry, experience, and other assurances of success as farmers, are given special preference in the granting of farm-ownership loans.

Loans will not be made unless the farm as purchased, enlarged, or improved constitutes an efficient family-type farm unit.

Veterans of all wars who are interested in buying, enlarging, or improving a farm are requested to see the County Veterans Service Officer, Arthur B. Corey.

Picket lines were established at each of St. Paul's 74 grade and high schools. A minimum of two pickets patrolled entrances at the smaller structures, three or more on the line at the larger ones.

The temperature was at 3 above zero when picketing started at 7:36 a. m. The teachers, bundled in heavy winter clothing, stepped along gingerly. Reliefs were arranged at hourly intervals.

The new British proposal met some objections and then immediately raised others which some delegates believed might be even more serious. The Russians had protested against the proposal to link talks of troop census with discussions of their 4-point arms reduction plan but at the same time they had objected to giving information on troops at home until the disarmaments talks started.
