

PORTER QUILTS OPA; SIGNALS AGENCY'S END

Points To OPA-CPA Merger; Sugar Rationing Powers Threatened

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Merger of OPA and the Civilian Production Administration moved a step nearer today with the President's acceptance of the resignation of OPA Chief Paul Porter.

Even as it entered its final days as an independent agency, the OPA girded for a final fight in federal district court over whether still another of its scarce powers—sugar rationing—may go to the boards.

The continuation of sugar controls, a top official told a reporter, may be decided next Wednesday when a federal judge hears an attack on legality of rationing regulations brought by the Maple Leaf Dairies, Inc., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The resignation of Porter, who succeeded Chester Bowles last February, was dated November 15 and effective December 4.

It was made public by the White House last night in a move taken as a signal for the consolidation which had been talked over for several weeks by top administration advisers.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles Ross told reporters the action could be expected "in a few days."

The new agency, its name as yet unannounced, would carry on controls deemed still necessary and proceed with gradual liquidation of OPA and CPA.

There also were reports it might take in such other wartime emergency offices as the re-employment and retraining administration and the office of contract settlement.

Some officials attributed the delay in effecting consolidation to the administration's inability to decide on a boss for the new agency.

Porter eliminated himself as a possible choice by telling the President that he felt he could make no further contribution toward consolidation.

Child Is Killed In Storm Drain

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Two-year old Robert Fulton Abercrombie, 3rd, watched his pet black cat disappear into a storm drain yesterday.

Then he saw his sister, Judith, who is nearly four, squeeze through the opening and drop to the catch basin four feet below.

Robert followed, feet first, sliding on his stomach across the edge of the opening, maneuvering his body into the hole. His head became wedged in the opening.

While his sister watched from below, unable to help, the boy dangled helplessly. A neighbor tried to extricate Robert but the boy was dead.

Judith and the cat were removed unharmed.

Newsman Enjoyed Feast Washington

By CHESTER WALSH

Fred Pendleton, editor of the Washington Daily News, promised the delegates to the Eastern Carolina Press Association convention in Greenville an oyster roast as only Washington folks can prepare the succulent bivalves and he made good in a big way at the Dr. Pepper bottling plant in Washington last night. And there were plenty of "trimmings." In addition to the 75 newspapermen, there were many other guests, including First District Congressman Herbert C. Bonner.

D. J. Whitchard, Jr., chairman of the arrangements committee, sent a Greenville Transit Company bus down with about 60 passengers, and others went in cars. In the parade of passing events, it is always an outstanding event when newspaper folks get together.

Wholesale Price Index Going Up

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Wholesale prices have soared to the highest level in 26 years and are 21.8 per cent steeper than at the end of last June, the latest index from the Bureau of Labor Statistics shows.

The index rose 1.1 per cent during the week ended Nov. 23 to 137.3 per cent of the 1926 average and the highest mark since 1920. Food was up .5 of one per cent compared with the previous week and 51.8 per cent compared with a year ago. The index is based on 900 commodities.

Soviet About-Face

Recent Russian Concessions In Writing The Peace May Be Good Strategy By Them Says Analyst; "Something For Nothing" Not Usual Kremlin Tactics

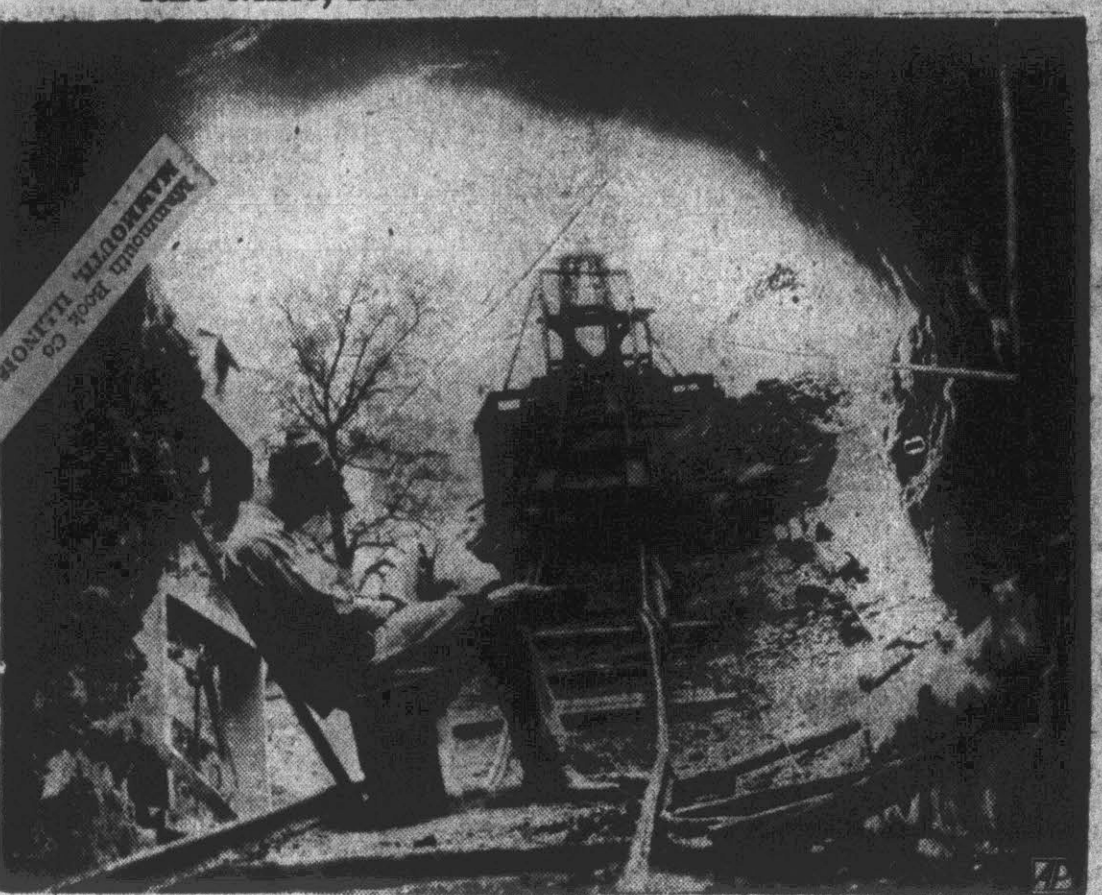

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Russia's insistence yesterday on obtaining the veto over any arms control plan gives rise to serious wonder whether the earlier display of sudden Soviet collaboration with the Western allies is what it seems to be—the approach of real peace—or is just another case of "on again off again" Finnsig.

One's natural inclination is to cheer over any concession, having watched international relations deteriorate to a point where the danger of war could be seen. Still while the present developments on the whole seem encouraging, we shall do well to reserve the main celebration until we are sure what is in the offing.

The current about-face, barring the veto problem, has been so sudden and seemingly complete as to be staggering—almost too good to be true. There is, for instance, that

Molotov Yields In Reparations Fight

Yugoslavia And Greece To Receive Equal Treatment; Final Settlement May Be Reached Today; Levy On Bulgaria Appears Likely To Be Reduced

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A new Russian concession, under which Yugoslavia and Greece would receive equal treatment in the division of war reparations, heightened hopes today that the foreign ministers' council would hurdle soon its chief remaining obstacle in the way of peace pacts for the axis satellites.

Soviet Minister Molotov accepted the 50-50 formula yesterday only after a long argument that Yugoslavia, as a country twice as big as Greece, should receive double the reparations paid to Greece. Final settlement of the issue may be arrived at 4 p. m. today.

At the same time, it appeared likely Molotov might succeed in his quest for a substantial reduction of the reparations levy on Bulgaria. Secretary James F. Byrnes supported tentatively a proposal which would cut the assessment from 125,000,000 as recommended by the Paris peace conference, to $85,000,000.

Three different formulas for reparations from Italy and Bulgaria were offered as the council juggled figures for four hours last night without reaching a final settlement. All of the included $100,000,000 for Russia.

Britain, however, stood pat on the recommendations of the Paris conference which awarded Greece (Continued on Page Six)

ONE FREED IN BALLOT PROBE

Other Defendant Bound Over To Macon Superior Court

Franklin, N. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Two justices of the peace investigating charges of irregularities in the Nov. 5 general election have freed one defendant and bound another over to Macon County Superior Court.

James Hauser, marker at Franklin precinct, was bound over on a charge of marking a vote contrary to a voter's wishes. Justices C. A. Setzer and Robert Stamey said his case was being sent to the higher court because of conflicting testimony at yesterday's hearing.

A warrant in Hauser's case was obtained by Frank Hastings who said that he had expressed a desire to vote the straight Republican ticket but that Hauser had marked his ballot straight Democratic. The ticket in question was not placed in the ballot box, but was retained by Hastings and exhibited at the hearing. Hastings under cross examination admitted that he is able to read and write.

Hauser testified that he did not touch the ballot.

The justices found no probable cause and dismissed charges against James J. Mann, chairman of the county board of elections, who had been charged by John H. Dean, chairman of the county's Republican party, with tampering with the ballot box.

Manpower Main British Problem

Leeds, England, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, surveying British production bottlenecks, named a manpower shortage today as Britain's main problem, but declared "we are not going to have in this country compulsory direction of labor."

Morrison in an address prepared for delivery before a Labor Party regional council, said: "As a free democracy we must, in time of peace, allow the citizen to choose his job freely, although from the planning standpoint this may result in a maldistribution of labor."

He pictured production bottlenecks caused by a scarcity of men and materials in Britain as much the same as in Russia and the United States.

Right Of Veto In Controls Argued

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(AP)—France today warned the United Nations that control measures covering the atomic bomb and arms reduction be effective unless the veto right is eliminated.

Delegate Alexandre Parodi, continuing general debate in the 54-nation political committee on Russia's broad disarmament proposals, commented:

"It seems evident that control cannot be control is one who is holding control can by his own initiative evade it."

France thus lined up with the United States which long has insisted that the veto power be outlawed in matters of atomic energy and equally directly opposed the Soviet Union's stand that the special voting right in the Security Council must be retained on all questions.

PHILIPPINES AND U. S. IN DEFENSE PACT

Pres. Roxas Announces Military Bases Granted For Mutual Defense

Camp O'Donnell, Luzon, P. I., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Philippines President Manuel Roxas declared today in a national heroes' day address that an agreement had been reached permitting the United States to establish bases in the islands for mutual defense.

Speaking to the United States Army's reformed division of the Philippines Scouts, Roxas said "we have an agreement with the United States permitting her to establish bases here for the mutual defense of our two countries."

No other announcement, either in Manila or Washington, has yet been made that the final agreement over the establishment of bases has been reached by the two governments.

The president declared that the Filipino Scouts, who were virtually wiped out in the Bataan campaign and since reestablished as the United States 12th (Caribou) Division will be used chiefly to man these bases.

Roxas told the troops that at the next session of the Philippines Congress he would recommend an amendment to the Philippines citizenship law, permitting members of the Scouts to retain their Philippine citizenship. He termed it "unfortunate" that the present laws withdraw their right of citizenship from a Filipino who has joined the United States Army.

Every Filipino who joined the Scout Scouts Division, the president said, did so knowing he was serving (Continued on Page Six)

Depleted Coal Reserves Affects More Workers

Continued Mine Shutdown Gives Grim Promise Of New Drastic Layoffs Next Week; Industry Cuts Operations

Pittsburgh, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Workers idled by shortages in the 10-day-old soft-coal shutdown numbered more than 95,000 today, while depleted industrial coal piles held grim promise of new drastic layoffs next week.

Another 167,000 were jobless from Wednesday to Monday morning when employers declared a Thanksgiving week-end holiday to conserve fuel. The temporary closings made 150,000 auto workers temporarily idle in Detroit.

About 17,000 were placed on three-day and four-day weeks at the Gary, Ind., and South Chicago works of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., reducing operations there to 66 percent of capacity, compared to 91.5 last week.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad cut about 500 more workers at Russell, Ky., while at Mishawaka, Ind., 250 foundry employees went home from the Dodge Manufacturing Co. The Nickel Plate Railroad furloughed 500 men and the Pere Marquette another 150 at Cleveland.

In New Jersey, the Solid Fuels Administration said 100 plants in the northern section of the state had either closed or were closing.

Albert Spillman, head of the Fertilizers Manufacturers' Cooperative, Inc., of Baltimore, predicted 1947 food production would be hampered by the coal miners' refusal to work, since the output of ammonium sulphate—a main ingredient in the manufacture of fertilizer containing nitrogen—would be cut drastically by the curtailed steel mill operations.

At Joliet, Ill., Warden Joseph E. Ragen of the Statesville Prison, said the prison's 10 factories had closed so that coal might be used to keep cellblocks warm. Another prison, Colorado State Penitentiary, considered using convict labor to mine coal for state institutions.

With Denver's public schools closed, officials turned to newspapers and radio to keep some 55,000 pupils up with the lessons.

In West Virginia, the nation's No. 1 soft-coal-producing state, railroads, mill hands and rivermen by the hundreds were forced into idleness.

Meanwhile, many non-working coal miners in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and West Virginia were collecting their last full pay until they return to the pits. There were reports from West Virginia and western Pennsylvania that the Poca Field Co. stores and Koppers Co. stores in mining towns, were giving credit to miners' families only in emergency cases.

Operators Report Numerous Companies File Bids With Government To Fine Strikers; John L. Lewis Loses First Round Of Battle; Digs In For Finish Fight

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Striking miners faced a threat of fines running into millions of dollars today as John L. Lewis, whacked by a major legal setback dug in for a finish court fight with the U. S. government.

The walkout went into the tenth day, and attorneys for Uncle Sam and the United Mine Workers' big chief charted strategy for resumption of Lewis' contempt of court trial Monday while these developments tumbled into the many-sided national crisis:

1. Soft coal operators reported that a very considerable number of mining companies have filed applications with the government to fine members $1 to $2 a day for each day they stay on strike.
2. Rebuked by some of his colleagues for expressing eagerness to resume negotiations with Lewis, Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, scheduled a meeting of his board of directors Monday to determine his group's position.
3. Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) urged President Truman to call for volunteers to operate the coal mine, should the miners fail to return to work after a suggested appeal by Mr. Truman.
4. As a direct result of the coal tie-up, upwards of 95,000 persons were out of work in related industries and an additional 167,000 have been furloughed until Monday to conserve fuel.

The prospect of fines against Lewis' 400,000 striking miners, stems from terms of his contract with the government—the agreement Lewis has declared void and which the government holds as still in effect.

The pact provides that fines can vary from $1 to $2 a day, depending upon the proportionate amount of coal the miners produce. If all hit coal companies involved in the current strike should file applications for fines—and the government should assess the full (Continued on Page Six)

ECTC President In Speech To Newsmen

Dr. Cooke Featured Speaker At Today's Luncheon; Final Day Of Eastern N. C. Press Association Convention

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, president of East Carolina Teachers College, told members of the Eastern North Carolina Press Association closing a two-day meeting here today that if today's schools and teachers are to live up to their responsibilities, teachers must be given more attractive salaries.

"With teachers' salaries lower than those received by wage workers, we certainly will not attract in any large numbers the people of imagination and understanding and resourcefulness needed by the schools," he said.

Dr. Cooke said that "in my search for the real school, I have selected not the mass of externals usually known as the school, nor the traditions, but the vital, dominating man or woman who is leading the school."

"But," he added, "under present conditions and with their present personnel, I doubt seriously that our schools can actually go on as they are charged with going."

He cited the complex changes of the present time and asserted that "only teachers who are thoroughly versed in the subjects they are to teach, broadly educated, qualified through intelligence, imagination and training for a venture which requires constant pioneering" can adequately cope with the present time.

"And in the competition for people who possess those qualities almost every other profession has more to offer than goes teaching in at least two fundamental respects," Dr. Cooke added.

These two, he said, are:

1. The greater respect other professions enjoy, and
2. More attractive ultimate salaries other professions offer.

He said professional stature cannot merely be bought, but must be (Continued on Page Six)

Order Death For Nazi Generals

Rome, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A British military court today decreed death by shooting for two German generals it convicted of responsibility for the reprisal massacre of 335 Italian hostages in the Ardennes caves here.

Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen has asked the court to "grant him the clean death of a soldier—death by shooting." A similar plea by several defendants in the Nuernberg trials was turned down, and they were hanged.

It Gen. Kurt Maelzer was convicted with Mackensen for the massacre, which came after 32 Nazi police troops were ambushed and bombed to death in Rome March 23, 1944.

Babson Discusses Christmas Buying

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 30.—I have just returned from Boston, where I attempted to do some Christmas Shopping. To tell the truth, I did not buy anything, but spent the entire day comparing the quality and prices of the various goods offered. As a result, I am now giving readers some good, sound advice.

What Can Be Done?

In Which A Columnist Reviews Proposed Means Of Getting Striking Miners To Work; Concludes That The Government Is Adopting Most Favorable Step

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—What can the government do to get the miners back to the mines in a hurry?

Apparently, nothing more than is being done right now—trying John L. Lewis on a contempt of court charge.

There have been a number of suggestions that go like this:

1. President Truman should make a radio appeal to the coal miners to go back to the pits.
2. Volunteers should go into the mines—if the miners won't return—and get out the coal, perhaps under the supervision of army engineers.

So far the White House has kept a discreet silence about any radio broadcast by President Truman to the miners.

There are probably several good reasons why Mr. Truman would be reluctant at this moment to ask the miners to go back to work:

The government's first move against Lewis was to get a court order for him not to end the mining of coal. Because he didn't obey that, he's on trial now.

The president would have to do a little thinking before he made a direct appeal to the miners. If they ignored him and stayed away, it would be a pretty sickening blow to the prestige of the presidency and the government.

But before they heeded such an appeal from the president and went back to work, the miners would have to do a little thinking, too.

It would mean abandoning John Lewis as the moment when he was having the toughest fight of his life.

Youth Gets Heavy Fine For Illicit Trading In Germany

Berlin, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Lewis Warner, 23-year-old meteorologist from New York City, today was convicted by an Army court martial here on charges of illicit trading with Germans and was fined $2,500.

Warner was given 10 months to pay the fine in four installments. If he defaults he will be liable to six months confinement at hard labor, the court ruled.

Warner was convicted of violation of rules against trading with the enemy for profit, buying American currency with occupation marks and with "conspiring with members of his family to conduct unlicensed export-import business."

The prosecution charged that Warner and two brothers, one in Paris and the other in Shanghai, were foreign outlets for the sale of merchandise shipped them by their father, David Warner of New York. The brother in Paris was fined by a French civil court.

Bride Too Young, Groom Arrested

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Martin H. Baker, 23-year-old bridegroom who told authorities he did not know his young bride was only 13 years old until he had been married a month, today faced Justice court examination on a charge of statutory rape.

The girl, Marjorie Sage Baker, held in a juvenile detention home while her husband and mother were in jail, said she married Baker two months ago because she was afraid she might not be promoted from the seventh grade in school.

Both her husband and Justice of the Peace John C. Loucks, who married the couple September 17, believed her age to be 16, Prosecutor Menso R. Bolt said.

Former Pope Field CO Dies In Berlin

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—War Department information that Col. Younger A. Pitts, 53, former commanding officer of Pope Field, was found dead in bed in Berlin on November 22, was received here yesterday by his widow, the former Mrs. Isla Stokes of Wadesboro.

The War Department message said additional details will be sent from the U. S. Army Air Force headquarters in Europe.

Mrs. Pitts was told her husband's body is to arrive in the United States about December 23.

Thomasville, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Miss Beatrice Cobb, Morganton editor and secretary of the North Carolina Press Association, is a patient at City Memorial Hospital here for treatment of injuries she received late Thursday on the High Point highway when her car collided with a car driven by Landon Lowry, Negro veteran. Hospital authorities today reported Miss Cobb's condition as not serious. Lowery is in jail in default of $750 bond on the charge of reckless driving.

Miss Cobb was enroute to Greensboro at the time of the accident.

Judge Retires Gov't Service

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Judge George W. Koonce, 88, after 53 years with the War Department, has retired, ranking as probably the nation's oldest government employee in point of service.

A native of New Bern, N. C., Koonce still retains his legal residence at nearby Trenton, N. C.

The War Department's announcement of the retirement, which became effective yesterday, said Koonce had served five years with the signal corps and 60 years with the engineers.

At the time of his retirement, Koonce was legal consultant to the office of the chief of engineers. The army said he probably had been in government service longer than any other employee.

Quality And Prices

Many big city stores are putting out a tremendous amount of junk this year. Department managers have been told that anything over a year old must be marked down to $1 in the stocktaking which will occur after Christmas. Hence, these managers are striving to get rid of the old stock and especially the adulterated and ersatz goods made during the War. Your friends will never thank you for any of this shoddy material. Insist upon quality or else give your friends a check or certificate which they can use next year for better goods.

Now, as to prices: I venture the forecast that Christmas prices will be the highest this year of any Christmas for many years to come. There have been price ceilings dur-

2. Rebuked by some of his colleagues for expressing eagerness to resume negotiations with Lewis, Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, scheduled a meeting of his board of directors Monday to determine his group's position.
3. Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) urged President Truman to call for volunteers to operate the coal mine, should the miners fail to return to work after a suggested appeal by Mr. Truman.
4. As a direct result of the coal tie-up, upwards of 95,000 persons were out of work in related industries and an additional 167,000 have been furloughed until Monday to conserve fuel.

The prospect of fines against Lewis' 400,000 striking miners, stems from terms of his contract with the government—the agreement Lewis has declared void and which the government holds as still in effect.

The pact provides that fines can vary from $1 to $2 a day, depending upon the proportionate amount of coal the miners produce. If all hit coal companies involved in the current strike should file applications for fines—and the government should assess the full (Continued on Page Six)

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
November 30, 1906

Last day of November.

Hunters report that wild duck are plentiful along the river.

So far as known no casualties occurred among the Thanksgiving day hunters in this section.

November gave us almost a whole month of pretty weather.

If it is known a house is to be built in Greenville, work hardly starts before there are numerous applications to rent it. This shows that the town needs more houses. People cannot come here unless they can get houses to live in.

Cannon, leader, Mrs. Arthur Denton.

Thursday—With Mrs. R. H. Evans; leader, Miss Lella Higgs.

Friday—With Mrs. C. W. Willard; leader, Mrs. J. A. Nelson.

An opportunity will be given each day to make your special Lottie Moon Christmas offering to foreign missions. Women of the church and friends are cordially invited to attend all these meetings.

The circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church will meet on Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the following homes:

Claude Wilson Circle with Mrs. W. W. Aycock on Washington Street.

Nettie Patrick Circle with Mrs. D. M. Willford on Summit Street.

Dulia Meadows Circle with Mrs. Gilbert Peeler and Mrs. Arthur Denton at the home of Mrs. Peeler on East 10th Street.

Business Girls' Circle meets on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Arlene Davis on Summit Street.

Sans Souci Club
On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Louis Gaylord was hostess to the Sans Souci Club at the lovely home of her sister, Mrs. Lee Hannah on the Ayden highway.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Frank Wooten. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell read the minutes and called the roll.

After dispensing with business plans for Christmas were discussed and the club voted to buy a T. B. bond.

Books were then passed and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. W. M. Seales, who had the program for the afternoon. As the Thanksgiving season was approaching, she told of our first Thanksgiving and what it had meant many through the years, recalling many things for which we have to be thankful. Then in her attractive manner, she gave a quiz program on "How Young Am I?" This created much interest and after answering the questions the scores were added and we found that some were still quite young.

The club was glad to welcome Mrs. Howard Hodges, Mrs. R. W. King and Mrs. Beja Perkins as guests for the afternoon.

After the program we were invited into the dining room where Mrs. King and Mrs. Perkins served a delectable salad course with coffee from a beautifully appointed table. We were loathe to leave so lovely a home but as darkness drew near, we had to say good-bye.

very inspiring devotional was given by Mrs. Amos Evans.

Mrs. Geo. Gardner gave a report on the Health and Welfare Conference held at Chapel Hill on October 27.

A report of the Halloween party was given by Mrs. Geo. Gardner, treasurer. Mrs. Stiel thanked the members of the P. T. A. for their part in making the party a success.

The December meeting will be held at night and will be Parents' night. A committee was announced by the president to make plans for the meeting. The following committee was appointed: Mrs. W. E. Basnight, chairman; Mrs. Jack Gates, Miss Purvis, Mrs. J. E. McLean and Mrs. Julius Whitchard.

Miss Fullilove's first grade won the attendance prize.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. W. J. Stiel, Jr. introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon, Miss Hester, Public Librarian, who talked on "Books Are Bridges." Fall of the year means books for children. Today they are fortunate in having so many books available for them. Through books we can go a long way toward understanding and children should be surrounded by good books, said Miss Hester.

The meeting was closed by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers." —Reported.

Local FHA Personnel Attend Meet In Raleigh

The Farmers Home Administration, as authorized by the Congress, began operation in North Carolina November 1, says Frank M. Page, FHA Supervisor for Pitt County who recently attended a meeting at Raleigh, N. C. of personnel who will direct the affairs of the new agency.

FHA replaces both the Farm Security Administration and the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan section of Farm Credit Administration, and takes over the personnel and assets of both agencies. Mr. Page said that for the time being FHA offices will be maintained with the same personnel at all points where FSA and ECFE have operated. Both agencies have made loans to small farmers and the new agency will continue to serve this group.

Also attending the meeting at Raleigh was Mrs. Margaret S. Williams, FHA Home Supervisor, serving Pitt and Greene Counties. Discussions were led by J. B. Slack, State FHA Director, Vance E. Swift, and E. A. Rozar, Associate State FHA Directors.

Two types of loans will be made by Farmers Home Administration. Mr. Page said. Farm purchase loans will be made to tenants, sharecroppers, farm laborers, and veterans with agricultural experience and training. Loans can be made for the purchase, development and improvement of family-type farms. The interest rate is 3 1-2 per cent and loans are repayable over a 40-year period. A variable repayment plan will make it possible for borrowers to make larger than average payments in years when farm income is high or above normal, and less than average payments in years when farm income is below normal.

Production and subsistence loans, the second type, will be made to farmers and stockmen for the purchase of livestock, farm equipment, seed, fertilizer and other farm and home needs. Such loans can be made to either owners or tenants who live on and operate family-type farms and who derive the major portion of their income from farming. These loans carry an interest rate of 5 per cent and are repayable in from one to five years.

To be eligible for an FHA loan, an applicant must be unable to get adequate financing on reasonable terms from other credit sources available in the community where he lives, such as banks, insurance companies and the Federal Land Bank. "FHA is not in competition with any existing credit source, private or Federal," Mr. Page said. Applicants must be certified as eligible by a committee of three individuals residing in the county where he lives, at least two of whom must be farmers.

The Farmers Home Administration Office for Pitt County is located on the second floor of the Municipal Building in Greenville. N. C.

Greenville Nurses' Aides

The Nurses' Aides have rendered fine service in Greenville during the war and since. The group of patriotic and community-serving women volunteered to undergo training as Nurses' Aides and give their services at Pitt General Hospital and in private homes during the extreme

take notice that the above named petitioners instituted an action in the Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, on December 4th, 1945, for the purpose of selling to make assets to pay the indebtedness of the Matilda Reddick estate, a certain tract of land in Pacolus Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, adjoining the lands of Marcellus Little's heirs, George Williams, Andrew Brown, and others, containing thirty three acres, more or less, and being the land owned by Matilda Reddick at the time of her death, and the home-place where she resided to and at the time of her death, that after all parties interested in said proceeding, except Flossie Harris and Lennon Harris, were duly and properly before the court and the time had expired for filing any pleadings in said proceeding, on February 18, 1946, the undersigned Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County entered an order appointing J. H. Harrell commissioner to sell said land at the courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, on March 20, 1946, and provided in said order that, after paying the incumbrances against said property, the cost and expenses of making the sale, the remainder of the money from said sale would be paid to the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co., administrator, as aforesaid. That at said sale held by said commissioner on March 20, 1946, J. A. Lee appeared and was the last and highest bidder at the price of $3,700.00, but pursuant to a raised bid, and an order of resale, said land was again sold on April 23, 1946, at the courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, at which time and place T. E. Barnhill was the last and highest bidder at the price of $4,350.00; that upon the expiration of the time for raising said bid, the undersigned Clerk entered an order confirming said sale and directing said commissioner to execute a deed for said property to T. E. Barnhill, upon payment of purchase price thereof, and said commissioner collected said purchase price and executed a deed conveying said land to T. E. Barnhill. That after collecting said purchase price, said commissioner, in accordance with the orders entered in said proceeding, paid the taxes against said property, the cost and expense of making said sale and paid the remainder of the proceeds thereof to the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co., administrator of the estate of Matilda Reddick.

That, thereafter, said commissioner learned that Flossie Harris was the daughter of Marcellus Little and that Leonard (or Lennon) Harris is her husband; that Flossie Harris, subject to the liabilities of the estate of Matilda Reddick, inherited a one eighth-fourth interest in the above mentioned land, and said Flossie Harris and her husband Leonard (or Lennon) Harris should be made a party to the above captioned special proceeding; that upon a report of Flossie Harris's interest in said proceeding to this court, Flossie Harris and her husband were duly made parties to this proceeding, and they are now required to appear before the undersigned Clerk on or before December 29, 1946, or within thirty days thereafter, and show cause, if any they have, why the entire proceeding and said sale made pursuant thereto, should not be approved and confirmed, and that Flossie Harris be paid such interests as she may be entitled to from the estate of Matilda Reddick by the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co., administrator of said estate.

Anniversary Finds Hospital Under Siege Of Parents With Blue Babies

Baltimore, Nov. 29—(AP)—Two years ago today, little Miss "E. M. S." was wheeled into the surgical amphitheater at the Johns Hopkins Hospital for a delicate operation to correct an insufficient flow of blood into her lungs.

E. M. S.—her identity is a medical secret—died, but the operation, performed 270 times since that first attempt, has given new hope to the parents of "blue" babies throughout the world.

The surgical technique, developed by Dr. Alfred Blalock and Dr. Helen B. Taussig, head of the children's cardiac clinic, has been successful in about 80 percent of the cases.

There was no "blue" baby operation on the schedule today. Ten-year-old Judy Conner, who lives at Richmond Hill, N. Y., was to have been the "anniversary" case, but her operation has been postponed a few days.

In the two years since E. M. S. was operated on, the hospital has been besieged with letters and telegrams from parents of afflicted children. The cardiac clinic has scheduled 250 more operations and has made appointments for examinations, at the rate of two a day through next May. It has 200 other requests for appointments.

Each "blue" baby was born with a malformed heart which prevents the blood from getting enough oxygen. Without the operation, virtually all are doomed to semi-invalidism and early death.

Youngsters have come to Hopkins from France, Canada and almost every state in the union, in Navy bombers, chartered Army transport planes and trains. One mother hitch-hiked 400 miles from southern West Virginia with her baby, only to find she was not operable.

The artery which pumps blood to the lungs of these babies is defective. The delicate operation, sometimes lasting three hours, consists in joining a branch of this artery to a branch of the aorta, which carries blood to all the body except the lungs. An auxiliary supply of blood is thus pumped to the lungs via what physicians call the subclavian or innominate detour.

Recently doctors at Northwestern University have announced a successful experiment using the aorta itself to supplement the pulmonary artery.

Not all blue babies can be helped. Those who fall into the inoperable category must wait and hope that the constant research at Hopkins and other hospitals will one day result in a cure for their type.

Driver Of Week Program Popular
By CHESTER WALSH
The "Driver of the Week" program over the Greenville radio station on Sunday nights at 8:45, and sponsored by the police department is one of the popular programs now being broadcast. Chief James E. Tanner conducts the weekly program. Charles Whedbee is the announcer. Prizes and certificates are given a man and woman driver each week who have been approved by a secret police and citizens committee. The chief and officers give timely advice on safe driving in Greenville and elsewhere.

One suggestion Tanner made on a recent broadcast to businessmen and employees was: "Don't park your cars in the business district in the mornings—give the out-of-town shoppers who buy merchandise a chance to find a parking place." The chief also recommended use of the city passenger buses.

Winners of the "Driver of the Week" awards have been: Mrs. R. E. Rogers and Dr. H. Glenn Haney, Mrs. John Warner and J. B. Kittrell, Mrs. Herman Nobles and Herman Nobles, Mrs. Walter C. Johnston and "Tie" Gardner, Mrs. Carlos W. Murray and Withers Harvey, Mrs. Milo Smith and Sam O. Northrop, and Mrs. J. D. Hice and M. J. McLeod were the winners last Sunday night. The prizes are donated to the police safety program by businessmen of the city.

Aussie's Tennis Team Not Chosen

Melbourne, Nov. 29—(AP)—Australia's tennis chiefs either are putting on a great act or else they actually don't know at this time what player is going to pair with Jack Bregman in the Davis Cup doubles a month hence.

Opinions vary even among the Australians. Some say the American squad is being subjected to a delicate war of nerves and that Adrian Quist will of course be in there when the showdown arrives. Others say, honest, that Australia's selectors are in a dilemma.

What makes the matter important is that most close observers agree the result of the world's tennis championship will more than likely hinge on the doubles. It looks that close.

TRUE RELIGION CHANGES
THE HEART
Charles G. Pinney was a man who from about 1820 until 1876 preached so powerfully through the states and led so many revivals that he has come to be regarded as one of the most influential preachers of recent centuries.

In 1818 he entered a law office at Adams, New York. He testifies that at that time he was as ignorant as a heathen. He was a bright young man, and, as he pursued the study of law, the frequent references to the Bible he encountered in his reading led him to purchase a Bible. He had great contempt for Christians of all varieties and liked nothing so much as to jeer at them and point out their defects.

When Pinney was quite unexpectedly converted, the town refused to believe it. The scoffers had been accustomed to say, "If religion is true, why don't you convert Pinney? If you can do that, we will believe in religion." The news of his conversion went like wildfire through his village. He arose and testified to the power of a new life.
He kept right on preaching for 55 years, and few were so hardened that they could for long withstand his spiritual power.

He found something transcending in the experience of conversion, and he spent the rest of his life telling about it.

GOVERNMENT SURVEY NOW TIMES WORK ON CHILDREN'S TEETH
By FRANK CAREY
(Far Jane Eads)

Washington—If Junior has a date with the dentist, here's some solace for him—maybe.

The U. S. Public Health Service has just completed a study of the average time required for extracting, filling, cleaning and polishing of children's teeth in a group of Philadelphia clinics.

Believe it or not, the time required for the longest operation is scarcely more than the time required to play an inning of baseball.

The study, described by Statistician Isidore Altman, was made in six clinics of the Philadelphia Mouth Hygiene Association. It was based on 2,766 routine operations for 1,968 children, aged six to about 15 years.

Here's the box-score in minutes:
Tooth-filling—16.8 (with 18.4 minutes required for filling upper and lower molars, less time for all other teeth.)
Extraction of a deciduous ("baby") tooth—9.3.
Extraction of a permanent tooth
—12.5.
Polishing fillings—11.3.
Prophylaxis (cleaning)—15.5.

The report said the clinics were operated for "children in low economic circumstances"—with the kids paying 50 cents a visit for routine treatment.

The statistician said the times required for various operations were far less than those recorded in two separate studies of private-practice work made previously by other investigators. In those studies, tooth-filling time ranged up to 45 minutes and extracting time up to 27 minutes. Patients having teeth extracted were "young adults."

But Altman declared the two previous studies were "reported in such a way as to make comparison (with the Philadelphia study) difficult."

Other findings of the Philadelphia study:

1. Average time required for filling teeth of white children was longer than that for Negro children
—17.2 minutes, compared to 15.1.
And extractions for Negro boys took the shortest time. (The report offered no reason for these findings.)

2. The length of time for extracting a permanent tooth shows a tendency to decrease with advancing age.

3. Older men among the dentists clocked in the tests "appear to be somewhat more rapid operators."

ing the past few years on most of the goods in the stores. Now, these price ceilings have been taken off within the past three weeks. Many merchants have jumped at the opportunity to mark up goods for the Christmas trade. They realize that it is their one chance, yes, their last chance, to cash in at high prices. Therefore, I predict that after Christmas this country will see the greatest mark-downs in history.

Why Not Give Money?
In view of the above, it seems as if cash is perhaps the best present we can give those whom we truly consider our friends. Hence, the purchase of an attractive Christmas card with a check, or dollar bill enclosed should be the most welcomed by a wise recipient. This will enable your friend to select what he or she wishes after the turn of the year at mark-down sales or else wait until the new, good-quality goods come on the market.

Now, a word to parents who have reached the age of the writer: The only two things of which we are absolutely sure are: (1) We are going to die before many years and (2) there will be a "death tax" on our estate running from 15-50 per cent according to how much money we leave to our wife, children or others. Yet, we can give $5,000 to each of these persons this Christmas and every following Christmas without paying a penny of tax. I know it is difficult for us who have worked hard and been thrifty to give away $3,000 a year to each of our children—yes, awful hard! But if we have any sense we will do it even if we keep the money locked up so that the kids can't spend it until after our funeral!

One More Suggestion
I have a grandson who is away to school. When I read him the paper he wanted for Christmas, he said, "Grandpa I would like a subscription to your home newspaper." (This seemed very sensible on the part of the boy and certainly it is an easy way for me to select a Christmas present for him. I wonder if every reader of this column hasn't some children, relatives or friends who would appreciate a subscription to the newspaper in which you read this advice.)

About-Face . . .

atomic bombs—until the veto question came up again.

But that isn't all. A far-reaching change in Russian policy toward Germany seems to be in the making. There have been persistent reports that the Soviet occupation authorities have decided to form state governments similar to those established in the American zone with powers divided between federal and state administrations. Heretofore the Russians have been adamant in their insistence on a strong central government and have rejected the American plan for a federal state.

So it goes, and the ensemble looks so good at the moment that it really seems a pity not to accept it at face value forthwith. However, we have seen so many violent up-and-downs in the relations of Moscow and the Western Allies that we must wait and see. And that's not a one-sided viewpoint, for Eddy Gilmore, AP Chief of Bureau in Moscow, reports that the Russian people, convinced that the Soviet Union is making important concessions at the United Nations and foreign ministers meetings in New York, are beginning to ask when the United States will start doing the same thing.

Probably the citizens of the Soviet capital also are thinking, as is your columnist, that the statement of most all countries sometimes reports to strategy not unlike that employed by generals in war. I refer to the practice of creating a diversion of one front in order to distract enemy attention from the real point of attack.

In any event, we may expect that Russia will expect a quid pro quo for concessions. What reciprocity will they want? Well, there's that highly important question of increased Soviet rights in the Dardanelles which have been a matter of stubborn argument. And "on't career. It would mean this, too:

How much influence would Lewis have in the future when he tried to bargain with private owners or the government for the miners?
The thing that gives Lewis his greatest strength is the complete support he gets from the miners in backing up his demands.

But suppose only some of the miners listened to the president and went back to the pits:
The rest would look on them as strike breaker sand probably throw them out of the union—and a chance of making a living—when all this is settled.

As to getting volunteers to work in the mines if the coal miners refused to go back to their obs, government people who know coal mining point out:
Mining is a hazardous job. A number of states require apprenticeship before giving a man a certificate to work in the mines.

To be fairly safe, a coal miner —whisked down into the earth to about 800 feet and transported for miles underground in electric cars —must know something about gases and explosives, since they use dynamite.

They might work under the supervision of army engineers. But there's a good chance many of these amateurs would be killed since hundreds of experienced miners are killed every year.

The government can take other steps against Lewis—such as trying to prosecute him under the Smith-Connally act which forbids inciting to strike against the government.

Pitt County School Teacher Author
By O. A. DUPREE

Carolyn C. Chance, whose first book, "Modern Verse," was just released by the publishers The Paebler Publishing Company, Post Office Drawer 312, Newburgh, N. Y., is more than a mere teacher who lives in Bethel, N. C., but a poet and a novelist. She comes to Pitt County with a wealth of experience and training, having taught in the Salisbury School in Martin County, Brawley High School in Scotland Neck and the Pitt County Training School in Pitt County, Grimesland, N. C. and now in the Bethel High School in Bethel. She is a graduate of St. Augustine's College, Raleigh, N. C. and Winston-Salem Teachers College, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Her book, however, reflects largely her attitude towards life and those who live around her as well as it expresses her many moods poetically in varied styles.

Her busy life does not enhance her as a writer of verse, for she spends her off-duty hours as a Sunday School teacher and serves the public during her leisure in a small business enterprise, "Carolyn's Coffee Shop," of which her husband, Boston Chance, is the proprietor.

For many years, Mrs. Chance has been a contributor to the News and Observer through the column "Today's North Carolina Poem." "Modern Verse" won for her a place in the forthcoming issue of "American Poetry" 1947, in which appears her biography, photo and the above mentioned poem.

(Editor's Note: "Modern Verse" is a good book to read for those who are interested in leisure time reading and poems of various moods and interests.)

Third Street School News

Playground Equipment
The Third St. School has some new playground equipment. They have a slide, a castle tower, and some swings. The slide was given by the Kiwanis Club, the swings by the City Recreation Department. A P. T. A. Committee initiated and sponsored this project two years ago. The swings and castle tower were put up during the summer and the slide was recently put up. The children are enjoying them very much.

Red Cross
The Third St. School has filled 35 Red Cross boxes to send to Europe. In them are soap, paper, pencils, toothbrushes and things like that. Each grade had five to fill and they seemed to be filled nicely. Everybody enjoyed filling them.

Committee Visits Miss Wilton
Some time ago a second committee of boys and girls from the seventh grade of Third Street School visited Miss Wilton, the science teacher of R.C.T.C. The committee consisted of seven pupils: Edwin McMillan, Mary Hadley, Frances Green, Sam Hux, Glenn Scott, Mac Williams and Jimmie Brewer.

Miss Wilton told them many interesting things about a terrarium. They helped her make one also. Miss Wilton gave them some plants with which to make a terrarium for the grade. The seventh grade appreciates Miss Wilton helping them.

Third Street School did very well in filling the Red Cross boxes to send overseas to the children of Europe. Thirty five boxes were their allotment and they filled them.

Into them went several things such as tooth brushes, tooth paste, paper, pencils and other things. They did a very good job of it, said one of the teachers in commenting on this work.

Winterville Future Homemakers
The Winterville Future Homemakers held their regular meeting on Wednesday Nov. 13.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Barbara Dail and prayer was given by the club. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Margaret Walnwright. Then the treasurer, Annie Bruce House, gave her report.

On November 2 seven delegates from our club attended the district rally in Greenville at East Carolina Teachers College. The members attending the rally from the Winterville F. H. A. were Barbara Dail, Gladys Hines, Hilda Loftin, Patsy McGlohon, Peggy McGlohon, Annie Bruce House and Leah McGlohon. At our club meeting a most interesting account of the rally was given by four of the delegates in the following manner. Hilda gave a report on the state projects. Leah McGlohon described the tea which was held in the Home Economics Department of the New Classroom building and how each school registered. Annie Bruce House made all of us hungry when she told us about the delicious picnic lunch which was served. Peggy McGlohon described the different forms of entertainment which were a part of the day's program. Incidentally, several of our members took part in the entertainment.

Following this Barbara Dail read a poem, "File For Future Reference" which was comical and very enjoyable. Leah McGlohon had charge of the program which was as follows: Annie Rose Harrington gave a talk on "The Other Side of the Fence"—a most interesting talk on the right kind of relationship between us and our parents which helped us to see our problems in a different light. Gladys Hines had for her topic "Courtship" which led to Hilda Loftin's talk on "The Importance of Companionship in a Happy Marriage." These topics were very interesting and held the attention of all the members.

The meeting was adjourned with our benediction.

Demobilized detachments move into the principal cities every day. Yesterday a big crowd at the railroad station in Moscow greeted the first group in the current demobilization to arrive from Soviet occupation zone in Germany.

KIWANIS CLUB
HEARS BANKER

W. H. Neal Of Winston-Salem Speaker To Large Crowd

By CHESTER WALSH
W. H. Neal, vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Winston-Salem, and president of the North Carolina Bankers Association, guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night, made one of the best after-dinner speeches of the year.

It was interspersed with humorous anecdotes and lots of philosophy. He discussed business conditions and pointed out the vital importance of competition. "The forgotten man at this time is the consumer," the bank executive said, and gave some pointed illustrations of the difficulties of doing business with acute shortages of many commodities, and reminded that business is always better when it is in the hands of the owners instead of governmental agencies. Mr. Neal who is public relations director for the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, described himself in the public relations field as "a pillar of brass by day and a pillow of gas by night." He was eloquent as well as interesting. W. H. Woolard, president of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, introduced the speaker. President Ed Rawl presided.

Judge Dink James inducted two new members into the Kiwanis Club. They were Dr. M. H. Hoots who is associated with Dr. J. B. Hawes, and Jimmie Phelps, office manager of the Carolina Sales Corporation.

Ed Williford had a birthday and donated a nickel for each year of his age to the underprivileged child fund. A quartet composed of Tigie Gardner, James Ray Pittman, Robert Pittman and Hunter Keck sang Mrs. Ray Tyson was accompanist. Special guests were A. A. Ellwanger, Robert Pittman, J. H. Waldrop, Rev. J. A. Neilson and Allen Powell.

President Ed Rawl, lieutenant-governor-elect of Kiwanis District Division 7, reported that a school for officers at Kinston yesterday had 100 per cent attendance.

UNESCO Studies Communications

Paris, Nov. 30.—(AP)—An under the surface split between the British and American delegations on the question of improving and extending tele-communications throughout the world developed today as UNESCO (The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) began considering problems of press, films and the radio.

The British delegation called for a first priority in 1947 for rehabilitation of mass communications in war-damaged areas and to the technical training of personnel to serve in the devastated countries. The British delegation, which includes the playwright J. B. Priestley, said it did not believe expansion of tele-communications was a project to be considered in 1947.

But Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick, who voiced the views of the United States delegation, and argued for the smashing of barriers that impeded the full flow of information, said after the session that her group would insist on extension and re-reduction of tele-communication facilities throughout the world as one of the aspects of lowering those barriers.

Student Editor Of Publication

Aubrey V. Dempsey, of the department of business education at East Carolina Teachers College, is the editor of a nationally known publication "Here and There in Pi Omega Pi," which has just been distributed among colleges and universities throughout the United States. The contents are based on news letters from various chapters of the organization.

Miss Dempsey is editor of Pi Omega Pi, a national honorary fraternity in the field of business education. In the history of the organization the new publication is the first news letter to be sent to all chapters in this country. Its purpose is to distribute news of the fraternity over the nation and to encourage publication of chapter activities in colleges and universities.

Educators Plan New Semester

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Officials directing the education of hundreds of North Carolina veterans in 13 college centers throughout the state today looked forward to the opening of the second semester of the emergency educational program on Jan. 2.

Plans for the new semester were mapped here yesterday by directors of 19 of the centers, meeting with representatives of the university extension division, the Veterans Administration and coordinators of the college work from State College and the University of North Carolina.

Reports given during the sessions were to the effect that the centers had a "successful fall." The centers, established on a self-supporting basis last fall to accommodate the overflow of students in all parts of the state, offer freshman courses for which full college credits are given by all accredited institutions of the state.

Methodists Plan Home For Clergy

Durham, N. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Hoping to establish a community of retirement homes for Methodist ministers in the Durham area, representatives of the Durham district of the church have voted to raise funds to build one or more cottages for the project during each of the next two years.

The proposed community, costing approximately $1,500,000 and serving as a conference-wide haven for about 500 retired ministers, was advanced in action at the annual North Carolina Methodist conference meeting in Henderson this month.

No site for the project was selected but the Rev. W. V. McRae, executive secretary of the Board of Methodist retirement homes, said yesterday that the board favors the Durham vicinity.
