THE DAILY REFLECTOR
January 10, 1907

Two Pitt County boys got positions in the legislature. Paul Jones is a page in the senate and D. J. Whichard Jr., a page in the house of representatives.

The farmers are making good use of this mild January weather. Many of them are breaking up land for a considerable part of this time. Mr. and Mrs. Levi Sawyer returned last Saturday after having spent the holidays in Louisiana.

The first P. T. A. meeting of the new calendar year will be held Tuesday night, January 14. Half the school term is over. Visit your school, consult your child's teacher as to his or her progress, for the best welfare of your child.

A SQUIRREL CALLED RUFUS
By Richard Church
Here's a new book so packed full of excitement, adventure, nature study, character study and humor, that it should appeal to a large range of you older children.

Rufus was one of the tribe of Red Squirrels, natural tenants of the Great Forest; sole squirrel inhabitants for hundreds of generations, they had become soft with easy living, plentiful food and few enemies more wily than they.

On Rufus' first adventure away from the nest, he met Scurry, another young Red Squirrel, who was to prove his lifelong friend. In company with Scurry, he learned two things; one, that the forest was alive with an enemy band of invading red squirrels intent on capturing the forest for themselves, under their leader, Gray Gleam; and, second, that Rufus had in him the power of leadership that indescrib-

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BOTH PRAISE RETONGA

"I Felt So Worn Out That Often I did Not See How I Could Make It Through The Day," Says Mrs. Chambliss. Everybody Ought To Know About Retonga, She States

"Acid indigestion pulled me down until some days I could hardly keep going. My mother had obtained happy relief through Retonga and assisted that I try it, too, and it gave me the same wonderful relief it gave her," happily declares Mrs. Martha Chambliss, well-known resident of 108 Del Park, Macon, Ga. "Food seemed to sour almost as soon as I swallowed it," continued Mrs. Chambliss, "and sharp gas pains felt like they would cut me in two. The gas pressure up again; my chest was like being choked, and I was troubled a lot by vinegar-like warm water risings. Sleep did not seem to rest me and I felt so worn-out when I got up that often I didn't see how I could make it through the day.

"In my case Retonga brought the able something which would make all his fellows follow him.

The story of the development of this quality in Rufus, of the exciting plans leading to the final battle between the Red and Gray Squirrels and also the wonderful woodland lore, all make this a book of great interest.

As you read this book, keep in mind that it was written and published in England during the first year of the war, and might well be an account of the invading Nazis versus the British people.

Mrs. Roscoe Hauser, Jr.

Talks on the Home
Much interest is being shown in the vesper services being held at the Immanuel Baptist Church each Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The service lasts only 45 minutes, and features music and a brief, practical message by the pastor which should appeal to both young and old. This Sunday afternoon, Pastor J. A. Nelson will bring the second in his series of talks on "The Christian Home." It is hoped that many parents will come and bring their children. These services are for old and young alike, and you are invited to attend, no matter who you are.

Fellowship Supper
Following the 5 o'clock vesper service at the Immanuel Baptist Church, the young people will have a fellowship supper just prior to their youth fellowship meeting. The intermediates and young people of the church are invited to attend both the supper and the young people's meeting beginning at 6 o'clock.

Taxpayers'

A. Those who had full tax withheld from their wages in 1946 but received more than $100 in outside income from which no tax was withheld.

An example of such outside income for a wage earner would be rents, sales, dividends.

B. Those who had some tax but not all the tax due withheld from their 1946 wages.

Those people should have been paying in quarterly installments—the difference between the tax withheld and the total tax due.

(Full tax is withheld, on wages up to $5,000, plus $600 for each exemption except yourself. Your wife and child, for example, are exemptions.)

5. Those who have been making quarterly payments for the past year but under-estimated their tax by more than 20 per cent.

If you're one of those, you must make this correction and pay off by January 15. There's a penalty if you don't.

All people mentioned in the five groups above are supposed to pay off by January 15 whatever tax they owe on 1946 income.

But the atmosphere among the 2,500,000 voters in the 10 districts left without a choice of tickets will be watched closely. same blessed relief it gave my mother. I eat anything I choose now without distress. My sleep is restful. I feel strong enough to work, and I am just like my mother in feeling that everyone should know about Retonga."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Bissette's Drug Store.—Adv.

20 per cent cut in income taxes. Rep. Taber (R-NY) of the House appropriations committee, has said expenditures could be cut back to $29,500,000,000.

But Senator Alken (R-Vt.), opposed any tax cut until we have balanced the budget and have reduced the national debt by a reasonable amount.

He said the 20 per cent cut in income taxes advocated by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, is out of the question. Alken said that if Congress does go on through with a tax cut "we will be doing well if it averages 10 per cent."

As for proposed expenditures, the Vermont senator said, "I had hoped they could be cut to about $35,000,000,000 instead of the $37,500,000,000."

Noting Mr. Truman's no-tax cut stand, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), last year's chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said he had "hoped taxes could be reduced." As for estimated expenditures cited in the budget message, McKellar said only that he favors the greatest economy possible and the fastest possible return to a peacetime basis.

Chapter 1
No bus ever looked so good to Corporal Bert McLane as this one, bowing eastward on Los Angeles' Wilshire Boulevard, towards the big gates of Sawtelle Military hospital.

This bus meant home, after three years with the Air Corps, and a boring convalescence, lasting long beyond the end of the war. And home meant Bert's grand scout of a little mother, and her boarding house that he had seen only in pictures, and Snap, his honey-colored little spaniel, his books, and getting his lips upon his saxophone again. It meant a big bed you could roll over in, and heavenly home-made pie and waffles. It meant so many things that made a funny lump now in his throat, as he picked up his cane and suitcase and walked with his buddy, "Carolina" Jaynes, who was still a patient, to the curb.

He was tall and dark with gray eyes, steady and far-seeing, and although he felt—and looked—older than his 24 years, the corporal had not lost his sense of humor, nor his love of life and fun. He gripped his friend's hand in a way that said this friendship counted.

"Don't forget, you're coming to our place for fried chicken, soon as you're discharged."

"Yes, someone try and stop me!" Carolina drawled.

Bert smiled. "And get your alto sax out of hock before you come, boy, so we can have some music." He shoved his suitcase on the bus.

"Gee! I nearly forgot!" Carolina jerked a folded songsheet from his tunic, thrust it into Bert's hand. "All the latest—and all hot!"

The bus door was closing. "Take it easy, fella!" They said it together and, grinning, touched their fore-

The driver looked at the double row of service ribbons on Bert's chest. "Been around a little, haven't you?"

Bert smiled. "Yeah. And there's no place like home!" He stowed his suitcase out of the way and took a seat near the front, greeting the towering palms and eucalyptus and the lacy pepper trees, as the bus sped towards the city. Tall poinsettia vines flamed against low white houses with red tiled roofs. Hedges of scarlet berries flung gay color against pale roses, blooming still in January. Home! The beauty he had dreamed of, even lovelier than he had remembered. After a while, he looked at Carolina's parting gift: The Latest Song Hits of 1946. And his gray eyes looked beyond the lovely California scenery into a hopeful future. He couldn't go back to his old work; not yet, anyway. Too much walking, standing. But, maybe, now he could do what he'd always wanted to do—play his saxophone in a dance band!

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

TAMPERING WITH STANDARDS
One of the characteristics of our age is an absence of fixed standards.

After the first World War, one nation after another decided to abandon the gold standard. In its place they substituted a managed currency. In the last ten or fifteen years we have had managed agriculture and a managed economy.
Policies were formed not on the basis of any fixed and established principles but with a view of meeting specific emergencies.

Educationally, the tendency today is in the direction of what is called progressive education. In this, the curriculum is formed on the basis of the pupil's interest and preferences. The result is that boys and girls are taught to express themselves, to think for themselves.
"Morally, we are being taught that there are no fixed standards. That there is right which appears to work for a given situation. There are as many moral standards as there are situations to be confronted and problems to be solved."

All such reasoning is bringing us perilously near to chaos. Politically, it is leading to every kind of outrage. Such teaching is particularly destructive to the stability of some life.

There is a reason why the Ten Commandments were written on tablets of stone. This was a symbol of their endurance.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WHY CHRISTMAS REMINDS
LILY PONS OF APPLE
BLOSSOMS
By JACK O'BRIAN

New York—Lily Pons has had some memorable Christmases but the one she treasures most, nearly as Dec. 25, 1944, when she was on a USO tour with her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, in the valley of the Kashmir in India.

"Apple blossoms, bougainvillea and lotus flowers were reflected in the blue waters of the lakes," Lily Pons remembered. "We saw three concerns that day."

"In the morning I ate 'Ave Maria' and some hymns at the services, again in the afternoon for the British troops, and in the evening
for the Americans."

The diminutive Metropolitan Opera star said she never had put in such a day in her life.

"And yet I have never felt so rewarded."

Kosty shares his pretty wife's warm remembrance of that 1944
Christmas.

"Ten thousand Allied troops were present on a huge field while Hindus in colorful attire and turbans dotted the far fringes," he said.

"It was late and there were no lights. The sunset was beautiful.
The dark green of the Indian sky
was deepened, the stars shone dimly in the fading light, one star brighter than the rest."

"And on the triumphant notes of 'Adeste Fideles' fading away into the desert darkness, my most memorable Christmas was ushered in."

Between appearances at the Waldorf-Astoria, another musical celebrity, although of less cultural stature, remembered a Christmas which had none of the beauty of the Kostelanetz Yuletide in India, a bitter little memory which will hang around a long time in the mind of the owner, Frank Sinatra.

"If I ever meet Santa Claus face to face I am going to give him a road map of a certain mid-western state," said The Voice.

"Personally, I am convinced that he's not even aware that the place exists."

Frank was singing with Harry James' band at the time, and the boys were rolling westward in a series of one-nighters. As Christmas approached the boys got a little homesick and no one could conceal it. They even figured a schedule so that everyone wouldn't be trying to hit the same Christmas booth in the small town at once.

There were plans for a little fun
on the bus while on the way to the town.

"I never made that bus ride," Frankie recalled. "The morning of the 24th I contracted a strep throat," with a rising fever. The local doc kept me in bed.

"That Christmas Eve was spent in a strange bed surrounded by somber people who refused conversation and ignored my pleas to call my family.

"With talk impossible, no messages permitted for fear of excitement, no radio, a painful throat and nothing to look at but white linens and walls, I was a lonesome kid that night.

"I still think that town wasn't on any of Santa's maps."

rural electrification work, and expanded agricultural research.

8. Natural resources—$1,101,000-000, including $443,000,000 for atomic energy research and development (no longer classed as a defense item) up $373,000,000 with increases for river basin development,
TVA dam building and research.

9. Transportation and communication—$1,530,000,000; up $625,000-000, due mainly to increases in airports and airways construction and improved marine promotion.

10. Finance, commerce and industry—$428,000,000; up $343,000,000 for increased activities by the antitrust division of the Justice Department,
the Federal Trade Commission and Federal Power Commission, business censuses and financial aid to business.

11. Labor—$118,000,000; down $6-000,000, principally because of the easing of the training and placement work of public employment offices.

12. General government—legislative and judicial functions, and civilian executive department management and control—$1,492,000,000;
down $53,000,000 largely because of lessened costs of the surplus property disposal program as it tapers off.

13. Interest on the public debt—$3,000,000,000; up $30,000,000 because of increased special issues
held by Government trust funds which pay relatively high rates and increased value accruals of savings bonds as they near maturity.

14. Tax refunds—$2,065,000,000;
down $90,000,000 because total tax collections will be less.

Reserve for contingencies—$25-000,000; up $15,000,000.

Rep. Case (R-SD) filed a new bill yesterday seeking to give federal sanction to state laws barring the closed shop. This is part of a broad new Case bill, a revision of the one Congress adopted last year
only to meet a veto from President Truman.

Austin Is Nominated To UN Atomic Board

Washington, Jan. 10—(AP)—President Truman today formally nominated former Senator Warren Austin of Vermont as United States
member of the United Nations Commission on Atomic Energy.

Austin's appointment went to the Senate as the White House discovered that Bernard Baruch, who resigned last Saturday from the UN atomic post had arranged to confer with Mr. Truman this afternoon.

Spitsbergen Bases Sought By Russians

Oslo, Norway, Jan. 10—(AP)—
The Norwegian foreign ministry disclosed today Soviet Russia had asked Norway during the war for special privileges at Spitsbergen, and implied that the request was still pending.

Diplomatic circles speculated that the statement was an indirect indication Moscow sought military bases
in the strategically situated Arctic archipelago.

QUINTUPLETS COUGHS due COLDS MUSTEROLE

KIDNEY GETTING YOU UP NIGHTS?

If you get up nights—have frequent need to pass your water—but have scanty passages—yes, and have backache due to excess acidity in the urine, be glad you're reading this.

Three generations ago Dr. Kilmer, a famous doctor, found hundreds of in-patients with this trouble. Painstakingly he made a medicine of 16 herbs, roots vegetables, balsams—Nature's own way to relief. He called it "Swamp-Root" and millions of grateful men and women have taken it—often with amazing results.

Swamp-Root goes right to work to flush out kidneys... increases the flow of urine, helping to relieve excess acidity... at the irritated bladder gets a good flushing out. Many report getting a good night's sleep after the first few doses.
Caution: take as directed.

For free trial supply, send to Dept. S
Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1255, Stamford
Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp
Root today at your drugstore.

Grain Market

Chicago, Jan. 10-(AP)-Offerings of cash corn and oats by farmers and country elevators expanded sharply today and futures contracts of those grains weakened on the Chicago board of trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to a cent lower, January $2.14, corn 1/4-1/2 lower, January $1.31 1/4, and oats 1/4-1/2 lower, March 74 1/2-75.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 10-(AP)-Cotton futures opened 25 to 25 cents a bale lower.

Noon prices were 25 cents to $1.75 a bale lower than the previous close. March 28.65, May 31.90 and July 30.28.

Futures closed $4.75 to $7.30 a bale lower than the previous close.

March 22.66, 31.85, 32.85, 32.01, 31.14, 32.15, 32.15, 30.37, 29.35, 30.55, 27.62, 26.45, 27.72, 27.08, 26.00, 27.13, 26.67, 25.29, 26.65

Middling spot 33.05, off 102.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 10-(AP)-The third presidential message of the week again brought scant response from today's stock market although leaders suffered one of the sharpest stumbles of the past month before the document was released.

Transfers of around 1,000,000 shares were the largest for the month to date.

Dairen Talks To Commence Soon

Peiping, Jan. 10-(AP)-Gen. Hsiung Shih-hui, director of Chiang Kai-shek's Manchurian headquarters at Mukden, today told Chinese newsmen that formal negotiations with Soviet authorities for return of Dairen to China would begin soon. Ssiung, who stopped here en route to Nanking, said no formal negotiations have been held yet. He said national troops that pushed into Kwantung Peninsula north of Dairen weeks ago have not advanced from positions some 15 miles from Dairen where the troops halted to prevent any possibility of incidents with Russians in Dairen. The Soviets have occupied and administered Dairen since war's end. An August, 1945, Sino-Soviet treaty provides the city shall be an open port, administered by China.

Pirates Return After Victories In Norfolk

East Carolina Teachers College basketball team came home yesterday after completing a successful two-day invasion of Norfolk, Va. Tuesday night, the Pirates came from behind in the second half to overpower the Braves of Norfolk Division of William and Mary, 49-46. Taylor, Everton and Moye led the scoring parade for ECTC with 13, 12, and 11 points respectively. Moye went out on fouls in the second half, after giving a stellar performance on defense as well as offense. Becalis, under the basket, and Condrada, on set shots, were constant threats for the Division team all night. ECTC, after taking the lead in the last four minutes, held on to come out on the winning end of the score.

With their style cramped by a small gym, Coach Johnson's boys finally managed to come out winner against St. Helena College last Wednesday night, 43-22. The Pirates took the lead after three minutes of play and were never headed until, with one minute to go, Tucker tossed in a foul shot and Sepler dropped in a field goal to give St. Helena a point advantage. However, Jim Taylor came back with a one-handed shot that nabbed the game for ECTC. Larry James had a good eye for the basket, as he dropped in five field goals out of six tries and three foul shots for a total of 13 points.

Midgets Take On Kinston Quintet

The Midgets of Greenville take on the Midgets from Kinston tomorrow morning at 10 a. m. in the high school gym in the inaugural game of the season. The league is made up of Greenville, Goldsboro, Kinston and Wilson.

The Midget Phantoms are being coached by Bill Kittrell of the college and are hoping to be as successful as the footballers. The team is fortunate this year in having a floor of their own to practice on. The armory has been cleaned and put into shape and Kittrell and his

GHS SQUAD TO PLAN BUILDING PLAY TARBORO LEGION HOME

Phantom Basketeers Aiming For Come-back In Tarboro

The Greenville High School Phantoms travel to Tarboro tonight to take on the Serpents on their home court, the game starting at 8 o'clock.

In previous years the Greenville teams had little trouble with the Tarboro quint. In fact, when the Phantoms lost to Kinston last Tuesday, it was the first time a Class B team, with the exception of Sedge Garden, had beaten them in many years.

The Greensies showed up badly on their defensive play in the Kinston game. On offense, too many of the passes were intercepted by Kinston, showing the need for better floor play.

To correct these mistakes, Coach Bo Farley has been putting his charges through much defensive practice.

The coach has also been working the boys out in offense against both zone and man to man defenses. The starting lineup probably will have at guards Henry Turner and Billy White, at forwards Doug Guthrie and Cletus Jackson, and at center will be Glenn Perkins.

There will be no junior game tonight.

charges have been working since Christmas in preparation for the opening of the season. Bobby Bradshaw, John Aman, Joe Clark, Julian Vainwright, Leon Moore, Billy Woolfolk, Eddie Farley seem to be the chief contenders right now for the starting positions, but many of the younger boys are pushing them hard.

Legionnaires Hope Work May Start In Sixty Days

Legionnaires plan to raise sufficient funds to begin building the new Pitt County American Legion Home within the next sixty days. A substantial amount of money has already been contributed or pledged to the Building Fund by Legion members and interested citizens of the City and County. The Legion, while appreciative of contributions of these non-members has voted to make no general solicitation from the public.

A large part of the funds used for the purchase of the fifteen acre tract on the Airport Road adjoining the Greenville Airport, and now available to apply on the building project, was earned and saved for such purposes by the Legion-sponsored Pitt County Fair.

The group of World War I veterans who generously gave of their time and energies during the past ten years to build up this "nest egg" are: Paul Scott, Arthur Corey, Walter Cherry, Hicks Corey, Dave Winchard, Sam Whitehurst, Dr. Winstead and others.

The weekly Saturday night dance at the Armory, sponsored primarily to offer properly supervised recreation at a small admission charge to hundreds of the young people of the community has been a substantial contribution to the Legion's expense and building fund. The success of these dances, operating over the past three years, is largely due to the following Legionnaires: F. A. Jordan, Arthur Corey, Paul Scott, Walter Cherry, Frank Taylor, Hicks Corey, L. B. Gowan, H. P. Johnson, Kos Hester, F. M. Stokes, Jim Worsley, James Vandford, Kid Tyson and Leland Hardy.

DUKE PUSHES NYU TO LIMIT

Garden Fans Get Thrilling Show In Overtime Game

By The Associated Press
Duke's Blue Devils stole the basketball spotlight not only of North Carolina but of the nation last night when they extended the favored New York University Violets to the limit in dropping a 64-61 double overtime game before 18,000.

Coach Gerry Gerard's Durham charges, beaten but once before, gave the Madison Square Garden fans their most thrilling game of the season as they came from behind twice with last second shots to force the game into extra sessions.

Leading 25-24 at the half, the Dukes were behind 50-47 with 10 seconds of the regulations game remaining when Ed Koffenberger, the Blue Devils' pace-setting forward made good on a driving lay-up and when fouled on the shot, sank the free toss to knot the game.

The teams fought to a 55-all tie in the first overtime session—thanks to Duke's Garland Loftis who battled in a rebound as the timekeeper raised his gun.

Koffenberger and Doug Ausbott figured prominently in the second five-minute period but the Dukes, now minus John Seward and Ben Collins lost in fouls, failed to penetrate the Violet defense during the final seconds. Koffenberger alone went the entire route for Duke and his 17 points tied him with N.Y.U.'s Lump, for the night's scoring honors. Loftis was next with 14 tallies.

Chinese Reds Open Attack In Manchuria

Peiping, Jan. 10—(AP)—Government reports from its new first army today said an estimated 95,000 Communist troops attacked national position on a 25-mile front along the Sungari river, 60 miles north-east of Changchun.

Neutral sources said the government, stepping up its air activity in Manchuria, had taken seven P-51 fighter planes to Changchun, the capital.

Georgia To Call Special Primary

Atlanta, Jan. 10—(AP)—A special "white primary" to choose a successor to the late Eugene Talmadge was promised today by the chairman of Georgia's State Democratic Executive Committee—providing the legislature first elects Herman Talmadge as governor in place of his father.

James S. Peters, chairman of the committee which Eugene Talmadge handpicked before his death, announced he would arrange a party primary if the legislature circumvented constitutional omission and ordered a special, unofficial election.
