ABDUCT JUDGE IN NEW PHASE JEWISH FIGHT

Zionist Underground Kidnaps Second Man In Reprisal Against British

Jerusalem, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Police reported today that a judge in Tel Aviv had been kidnapped this morning by members of the Jewish underground—the second such abduction in 36 hours.

Announcement of the seizure of the jurist, identified only as a Judge Wyndham, came as British troops and police sought the whereabouts of a retired British major H. A. I. Collins who was abducted last night in Jerusalem. Two Jewish sections of Jerusalem were placed under a mid-morning curfew during a house-to-house search for the missing man.

Details concerning the Tel Aviv kidnappings were not immediately disclosed, but it was reported that Wyndham was taken directly from the courthouse. Wyndham likewise was said to have been a retired army officer.

There was no immediate clue to the whereabouts of the former officer seized last night.

Troops had spent most of the night searching an ancient Moslem cemetery into the catacomb-like mazes of which Collins had been spirited by his abductors—four men and a woman. Police expressed doubt today, however, that Collins actually was hidden in the cemetery.

"They probably lured us into the cemetery while making their getaway in another direction," said one officer.

Police quoted eye-witnesses as saying that Collins—a director of a Jewish-owned bank in Palestine—apparently was chloroformed by his armed abductors before they carried him away.

Before the kidnapping Isaac Ben Zvi, president of the Jewish National Council, appealed to the British High Commissioner to reconsider the sentence pronounced on Dov Bora Orner, alleged Irgun Zvai Leumi member who is scheduled to die tomorrow.

A broadcast from the secret radio station of Irgun Zvai Leumi warned the British not to carry out the execution.

"We warned you," said the broadcast, "take the warning to heart as Irgun is accustomed to act according to its warning."

Capone Fortune Is Non-Existent

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The body of Al Capone, once fabulously wealthy Chicago gang leader whose attorney said he died broke, lay in a mortuary here today, waiting completion of plans for the funeral here later this week. Dr. Kenneth Phillips, who attended Capone for several years and was with the 48-year-old ex-mobster when he died in his 25-room villa on nearby Palm Island Saturday, said the final rites would be held here. Other information, he added, must come from the family.

Close relatives visited the funeral home last night but left without revealing any further plans.

In Los Angeles, Capone's attorney, Abraham Teitelbaum, said as far as he knew "Al left no will and no money." The lawyer said members of Capone's family had supported him in recent years, and the villa was "mortgaged to the hilt."

Federal officials once estimated Capone's fortune at $20,000,000 but Teitelbaum said, "Al still owed the government money when he died."

Funds Tied Up

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton sits in his office at the capitol in Atlanta and discloses that the dispute between rival claimants to the governorship of Georgia has tied up state revenue and all operations of the state highway department. He said difficulties over bonding of key officials raised legal obstacles to his recognition of appointees named by Herman Talmadge. (AP)

For Slaying Negro; Cannon Pleads Insanity; Trying Sugar Robbery Case

By CHESTER WALSH
Hughie Lee Wilson and Virgil Wilson, brothers, of the Chicoo community of Pitt County, charged with murder in the first degree in connection with the shotgun slaying of Robert Lee Kennedy, 31 Negro, of the Hudson's Cross Roads community, last November 16, who submitted pleas of murder in the second degree, were sentenced to 25 to 30 years in State Prison by Judge John J. Burney of Wilmington in Superior Court today.

Alvin McGowan and Barney McGowan were given from two to three years for technical conspiracy.

FEUD FLARES BEFORE BOARD

It was testified that the Wilson brothers had "some words" with Jake Green, Negro at a bargee stand Alvin and Barney McGowan, brothers, were in the car with the Wilsons. Later that night the Wilson brothers, it was testified, went to Jake Green's home and that one of the Wilsons called to Greene to come outside. Instead of Greene responding Robert Lee Kennedy Negro, who was there, went outside. He was shot, a load of buckshot entering his head, killing him shot entering his head, killing him instantly. From the testimony, it appeared that "the wrong man was shot."

About noon today the court took up the case of Sam Warren, Raymond Jarris and John Goode, all of Princess Anne County, Va., and Johnny C. McLawhorn of near Ayden and N. H. SENATOR ASKS QUICK ACTION ON PAY SUITS

Claims Recession Threatening; Portal Pay Fight 'Tool Of Enemies'

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Senate Judiciary Committee said today "a recession threatens America" and portal-to-portal suits make it "more and more possible."

Urging legislation to outlaw the nationwide wave of back pay claims, Wiley declared: "Time is working against us; we must act now on this legislation to curb this spreading fear that is paralyzing all industry."

Testifying as a judiciary subcommittee member the end of 10 days of hearings on the issue, Wiley said in a prepared statement that "the very success or failure of the nation's entire reconversion program depends on the answer we give to this problem."

The senator counseled "speed and adequacy," asserting that the public interest is menaced. He noted that industry witnesses had described adverse effects of the suits on business, and that the federal government itself faces a possible direct liability.

"State and local governments also," Wiley said, cannot lightly dismiss "the matter of tax adjustments, prospective and retrospective" if the suits are successful. "Enemies of America at home and abroad are making the most of this chaotic uncertainty," the senator continued. "They are trying to belound the issue and in so doing to set class against class here."

Wiley outlined again details of his own bill intended to outstep the Supreme Court's decision which opens the way to the flood of suits now totalling more than $4,000,000,000.

His measure would remove any past or future suit for portal pay from court jurisdiction and would provide a definition for "productive work" under the Wage-Hour Act.

Noting however that his bill is only one of several pending in both House and Senate, he added: "I wish to assure this committee that I see no reason for insisting upon the language of my bill rather than any other language that may be written in order to do the job that must be done."

"All that I would urge upon the committee is that it undertake by way of legislation to recommend an enactment which will meet the emergency created by these portal-to-portal suits."

"To American free enterprise," Wiley asserted, "portal-to-portal means 'to rack and to ruin.'"

McKellar And Lillenthal In Sharp Exchange At Hearing

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A long-time feud between Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) and David E. Lillenthal flared up in a sharp exchange of words today at a Senate committee hearing on Lillenthal's nomination to head the atomic energy commission.

McKellar, invited as a guest quizzer, told Lillenthal to his face that "you know nothing in the world about splitting the atom" and you should have been surprised when President Truman named him as chairman of the atomic group.

Lillenthal, former head of the TVA, turned in the witness seat to face McKellar and snapped: "I'll say this," Lillenthal said. "I did my damndest to keep out of it."

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Rep. Landis (R-Ind.) asked congress today to declare itself in favor of an international ban against compulsory military training.

Soviet Suspected Of Atom Fission Research In Urals

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said today he suspects Russia is developing "an atomic fission plant" in the Ural mountains while American and Soviet officials are debating plans for worldwide atomic control and disarmament.

The former chairman of the special committee on atomic energy added in a speech prepared for senate delivery that this country must "swap atomic knowledge for atomic control" immediately or face eventual destruction by the awesome new weapon.

McMahon, who three months ago proposed a compromise control plan designed to get around Russia's insistence upon the right of veto pledged anew for its acceptance declaring: "It is in the interest of our own security, to get inspectors behind the high walls now so that we may know what is going on now, before it becomes possible for us to be shocked into awareness by the sudden explosion of an atomic bomb in our midst."

"Today we have no way of knowing what other countries are doing about atomic weapons or how far they have advanced. But this must be known. Other nations are working like mad on the problem. So long as we do not have exact knowledge we become prey to fear and suspicion."

"For example," McMahon continued, "a news report out of the Soviet Union not long ago stated that their child nuclear scientist Siberia as punishment for some crime. It seems obvious to me that a more likely explanation is that Kapitzka is now busily at work behind the Urals constructing an atomic fission plant. However, I cannot prove it. I do not know and none of us know and there is no way of knowing."

"Until we have international control coupled with an effective inspection system, we will never know who is producing atomic bombs or at what moment, or at what target, they may choose to launch them. Until we have such control we will never dare release atomic energy for the peaceful uses which might raise standards of living among the peoples of the world to the point where they would have no interest in the siren song of Soviet propaganda."

McMahon said competent scientists have told him that if workable controls were in existence now within five years we could have peacetime use of atomic energy on an ever-widening scale.

But, the senator said, the world is engaged in a mad race for atomic armament because Russia and the U. S. have not agreed upon such controls or upon other disarmament including prohibitions against warfare with rockets and germs.

"There is nothing we can do to prevent others from learning how to make atomic bombs because the book of nature is open to all," McMahon said.

McMahon's control plan calls for a treaty, definitely specifying violations and the exact punishment. The international court of justice would be given authority to decide cases of suspected violation, and the court's findings would be carried out by the United Nations Security Council.

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Prospects for holding the long postponed inter-American defense conference at Rio de Janeiro appear brighter today than at any time during the past 15 months.

The reason for this is evidence that the United States and Argentina are nearing a settlement of their differences over Nazi influences in the South American republic.

The conference originally was scheduled for October, 1945, to negotiate a mutual defense treaty within the framework of the United Nations Charter.

The United States, however, balked at the idea of signing any such compact with Argentina until that country had eliminated German ownership from business firms there, deported known Nazi agents and removed German influence from schools and other institutions.

Repeated contentions that Argentina had not fulfilled these demands finally led to indefinite postponement of the conference.

But this impasse began to break over the week-end in a rapid series of events.

First the Argentine government announced that it was taking over control of 60 prominent German firms.

Then Ambassador George S. Messersmith—who returned home last month for a showdown in his fight with Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden—conferred in turn with Braden and Secretary of State Marshall. Messersmith for months has favored a friendlier attitude toward Argentina.

SEEK RECESS FOR GEORGIA LEGISLATURE

Talmadge Foes Would Study Primary; 'Aroused Citizens' Hold Meeting

Atlanta, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Opponents of Herman Talmadge sought recess today of Georgia's Legislature until April 7—ostensibly to study legislation for white supremacy in Democratic primaries—while a few blocks from the capitol 400 "aroused citizens" held a stormy meeting protesting Talmadge's unprecedented election as governor by the Legislature.

Introduced in the House as a joint resolution, the recess proposal drew heated debate.

In downtown Atlanta, meanwhile, a woman was forcibly ejected from the protest meeting after shouting defiance in behalf of Talmadge. She identified herself as Mrs. Grace Connolly of Atlanta, the same person who appeared in Talmadge's behalf at a citizens' meeting in Atlanta last week.

Talmadge, in a news conference, declined to comment on the prospect of slow strangulation of governmental functions through lack of funds—a threat raised yesterday by Georgia's State Treasurer, who said he would reject tax collections and refuse disbursements to appropriate department heads until the courts decide who is legal governor.

Meanwhile, the general assembly returned to work with a white primary bill as the first order of business in the House, where Speaker Fred Hand was expected to ask a probe of allegations that bribes had been offered to influence votes.

The showdown on the State's financial operations came Sunday when State Treasurer George B. Hamilton flatly informed both gubernatorial claimants he was shutting off disbursements to any appointive department heads until he was protected by a Supreme Court decision.

He asked them both, Talmadge and his rival, Lt. Gov. M. Thompson, who claims executive authority as acting governor, to bring a consent mandamus suit against him to settle the issue in court.

Moreover, he said, he would accept no tax collections from Talmadge's revenue commissioner, who has already turned in a total of $4,748,686.87 in checks now lying unashed in the treasurer's vault.

Seeks Dismissal Of Jap Hearings

Tokyo, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A final decision on the fate of the former premier, Tojo, and 26 other Japanese war crimes defendants may rest with the U. S. Supreme Court, defense attorney David F. Smith said today in seeking dismissal of the indictment.

Smith explained to newsmen that his procedure would be to file suit in Federal Court in Washington, to restrain the secretary of war, under whose authority General MacArthur is acting, from carrying out any sentence of the international tribunal which is approved by MacArthur as reviewing officer.

Smith earlier was rebuked by Sir William Webb, tribunal president, for challenging the authority of MacArthur as supreme allied commander.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR January 27, 1907

Sunday was one of those disagreeable days on which people love to stay by the fire. In the evening there was a drizzling rain that sleeted as it fell, followed by a light snow early in the night.

There were plenty of frozen water pipes this morning. If a man slipped today it was no sign that he had been to the dispensary.

Christian Science Service "Truth" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, January 26.

The Golden Text from I John 5:6. "It is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations." (Psalms 100:1-5). And from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, Lie, Truth, and Love combine as one, and are the Scriptural names for God. No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

"Thunder Out of China" Reviewed "Thunder Out of China," by Theodore H. White and Annalee Jacoby is a gripping story of the common man's fight for the inalienable rights of the common man," stated Mrs. W. E. Marshall in reviewing this best seller before the Delta Kappa Gamma society on Saturday of her activities in Tehran and Hamadan. Interestingly enough, Miss Schenck was forced to return to the United States and retire at the age of fifty because of ill health in the Persian climate. Since then she has prayed, and spoken, and written for the missionary cause.

Fire Girls stress always stressed the spiritual well-being of youth as basic to any character development," says Miss Karla V. Parker, president of the Camp Fire Girls, in approving the International Council of Religious Education's observance of "Youth Week" in the churches of America, January 26 to Feb. 2. "The primary purpose of our organization, 'to perpetuate the spiritual ideals of the home' and 'to stimulate and aid in the formation of habits making for health and character,' points this up very succinctly. The law of the Camp Fire Girls sums up the whole concept of Christianity.

The Anglican Bishop of Southwell, the Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Canon Guy Rogers and Dame Sybil Thorndike are listed among the leaders of the "Society for the Equal Ministry of Men and Women" recently organized to advance the ministry and ordination of women as rectors in the Church of England.

Dr. W. R. Matthews is quoted as saying, "The danger that customs and ordinances which are of temporary value should be regarded as having universal validity is constantly with us, and I cannot help feeling that this is happening in the minds of those who oppose the ministry of women."

Miss Anna Schenck, of the Merriam Home, Newton, N. J., celebrates her hundredth birthday on January 18 last. Twenty of those hundred years—from 1877 to 1907—were spent as a missionary in Persia where she was a teacher and itinerant evangelist under the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. MRS. JAMES H. EDWARDS

Mrs. James H. Edwards, who prior to her marriage on January 8, at the Ebenezer Methodist Church near Goldsboro, was Miss Ada Kathryn Coor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Coor, of Goldsboro. Mr. Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Edwards of Ayden.

in Ragsdale Hall. In Asia, she stated, there are more than a billion people who are tired of the world as it is. They live literally in such terrible bondage that they have nothing to lose but their chains.

In that country, where a landlord may require 50 or 60 per cent of what the peasant produces, all life is attached to the soil. The peasant works at it, eats of it, returns to it all that his body excretes, and is finally returned to it himself. Mrs. Marshall outlined the three parties in China and showed how Chiang ruled with a power comparable to that of Hitler.

General Stillwell, according to the authors, both of whom served at the Chungking Bureau for "Time" during the war years, was the only person who realized what was going on in China, and since he and Chiang constantly clashed, Stillwell was recalled. His successor had no trouble with Chiang because he did not bother to investigate.

General Marshall has made two trips to China, the second of which seemed partially successful, but to expect stability in China in our generation would be childish. China must change or die. She must transfer a half billion people from the middle ages into a world of the atomic bomb.

During the business session, presided over by Miss Elizabeth Walker, Miss Lucile Turner, state president, reported on a symposium concerning teacher recruitment held in Raleigh recently. The discussion centered around factors on the teacher shortage, the effect of the shortage on the child, and a possible solution to the problem. One fact brought out was that although a person spends nearly one third of his life in school, only 14 per cent of the national revenue is used for education.

Members voted on the location of the national headquarters of Delta Kappa Gamma. Miss Eva Kester reported on the North Carolina emergency scholastic fund. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

PROGRESS ON EVERY FRONT

The advance of medicine against the enemy, disease, sweeps forward on every front. Techniques of anesthesia have improved to make possible surgical procedures denied to the practitioner of the twenties. Highly refined and specialized mechanical aids, including the x-ray, fluoroscope, and electrocardiograph, have sharpened diagnostic skills. Testing of the blood and urine reveals more significant facts to the physician than ever before.

In support of the physician, the pharmaceutical chemist continues to forge new chemical and biological weapons to fight disease. Insulin for the management of diabetes mellitus, liver extract for pernicious anemia, sulfa drugs, and penicillin are examples. Your physician and your pharmacist are alert to apply the improved procedures as they become available.

Women IN THE CHURCH by Mary Fowler

Miss Muriel Lester, noted English social worker, a year ago appealed to British youth for six volunteers to take the place of her nephew, George Hog, who died from an infection while serving in China in the promotion of the Chinese Industrial Cooperatives. Six hundred young men and young women responded.

Edenton Playing GHS On Tuesday

Greenville High's Phantoms hope to get revenge Tuesday night when they meet Edenton High in the high school gym. Edenton lucked out a two point win over the locals last week in Edenton in a tight game from the start to the finish.

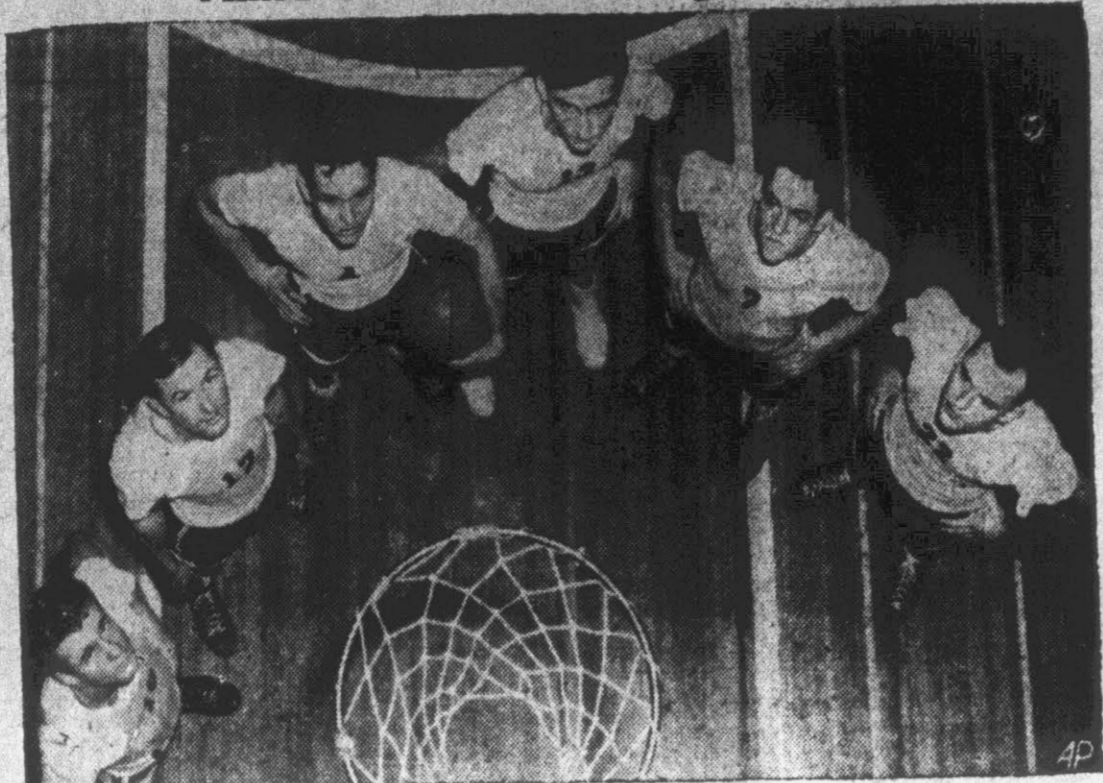

Greenville played the high flyer, Kingston team last Friday night and had been able to hit any percentage of their shots, they could have easily upset the favorites.

The phantoms have been lacking a scoring punch. Olym Perkins and Henry Turner have been carrying the offense. If they can get any help from their teammates the Phantoms will be tough opposition.

No preliminary game has been scheduled but efforts are being made to get some opposition for the juniors. If negotiations are successful the preliminary game will be played at 7 p. m.

BUS COMPANY HAS MEETING

The Greenville Transit Company, Incorporated, held its first annual stockholders' meeting Friday afternoon in the Sheppard Memorial Library with a majority of stockholders present.

A financial statement as of December 1, 1946 showing three months and fourteen days of actual operation by the local business group showed small profit and gratifying report of community service rendered.

A committee was appointed by President Godfrey Oakley to investigate improvement of operation facilities and purchase of new vehicles to speed up schedule from 45 minutes to half-hour trips and to increase bus routes, especially over streets to be paved in the near future. This committee is composed of B. F. Bullard, chairman, W. E. Hooker, H. H. Duncan, and D. W. Hardee.

The stockholders elected the same board of directors to serve for 1947. These twelve men are: Godfrey Oakley, James Keel, Jake Hadley, James Moye, B. F. Bullard, J. A. Bunting, J. D. Hice, H. H. Duncan, W. E. Hooker, C. W. Murray, J. B. Bunting and David Hardee, Jr.

At a board of directors meeting immediately following the adjournment of the stockholders meeting, the same officers were elected to serve for 1947. They are: president, Godfrey Oakley, vice-president, James Keel, secretary, Jake Hadley, treasurer, James Moye, and manager, D. W. Hardee.

It is his belief, Lilienthal said, that future atomic developments are essentially a civilian enterprise.

The probability is that the request will be delayed until after the foreign ministers' meeting at Moscow to avoid any question of disturbing international diplomacy at a time when the United States is preparing for a major conference. The planes are supposed to go by way of Egypt, India and the islands of the Pacific.

The State Department took the position when the request came up last October that it had no objection to the Army Air Forces carrying out any kind of useful flight provided: (1) That the timing did not disturb world diplomacy and

(2) That the flight did not touch at such places as Iran or the Dardanelles—areas of controversy between Russia and the Western powers.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

OUR ONLY SURE PROTECTION

A speaker of Alcoholics Anonymous declared recently in a public address that, for the alcoholic who has conquered his appetite, one drink stands between him and ruin. This is a thin partition. But always the partitions which separate us from catastrophe are thin and fragile. No one knows for certain that he will be living five minutes from now. A family in this country having a fortune of over one hundred million dollars lost the entire amount in less than six months. One day a person is at the top of the ladder, and the next day at the bottom. One day a household rings with laughter, and the next day it is made desolate with weeping. At one time we walk proudly in moral triumph, and in the twinkling of an eye we are ashamed to behold ourselves in the mirror of conscience.

When the Israelites went out of Egypt, God provided that they be fed with manna. The manna had to be gathered every day. For every Israelite, a handful of manna stood between himself and starvation. The truth of the matter is that we live our lives every day by the grace of God. We have to put great reliance on that grace for there is nothing else of any substance in the entire universe. Only a thin partition separates us from temptations, sorrows, and discouragements which might overwhelm us. God's grace is our only protector.

WASHINGTON LETTER

REPUBLICANS CELEBRATE WITH A WASHINGTON TEA PARTY
By JANE EADS
Washington—Everybody was happy at the party that the Republican National Committee Chairman and Mrs. B. Carroll Rice gave for fellow Republicans at the Sulgrave Club.

There must have been more than 1,000 men and women there, a lot of them big figures in the party. It was sort of like a meeting of the mutual esteem society, with all the smiling, bowing, handshaking and back-slapping. Despite all this, it was probably one of the most dignified parties anyone has seen around here in ages. Tea was the order of the afternoon, served from the ends of an extra long table decorated with tall silver candelabra and huge silver bowls filled with varieties of chrysanthemums ranging from the button size to the biggest kind, in colors shading from bronze to palest yellow.

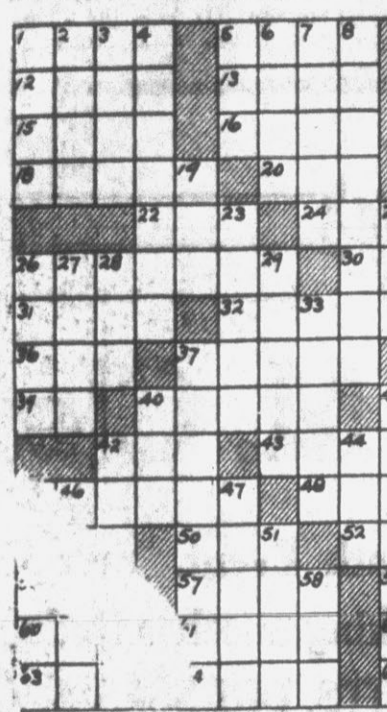

Prominent women whose husbands will figure in the limelight on Capitol Hill from now on poured tea, and there were a lot of sequin splattered gowns, feather hats, furs and corsages. Off on one side of the large dining room, and in another room also, a fruit punch was served without a kick. That is, until one of the guests who wasn't a Republican at all, just an old friend of the host, put a number of hefty slugs of rum in the bowl from which he was pouring for his friend.

Word got around and so did a lot of the guests. I'm going to have to catch up on my Republicans. The reception provided a sea of new faces. There were some familiar ones there too, though. Rep. Joe Martin, slated to be speaker of the House, arrived late and was immediately surrounded by cronies and newcomers alike. Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, also from Massachusetts, who will probably head the House veterans' committee was receiving congratulations on her success at the polls.

Big, blond and genial Harold Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, was on hand—the only one of the big men at the party who had been mentioned as presidential timber for 1948. Stassen said he was renewing ac-say what prices should be. In time, if it set wages, it would have to set prices.

If that time came, we'd no longer have what is now called a "free economy." Government would control labor and business. Compulsory arbitration would not be a guarantee against strikes. While this country pretended to be free, no law could compel men to work.

Further, the Supreme Court probably would decide compulsory arbitration was unconstitutional. The reason:

It would compel workers and employers to accept working conditions against their will. Some unions and employers have voluntary arbitration agreements. But that's different from a law compelling arbitration.

The voluntary agreements work like this: The union and employer, when they sign a contract, agree to let an arbitrator of their own choosing settle any dispute they can't settle themselves.

But there is a lot of talk in Congress about setting up mediation for unions and employers as a means of cutting down the number of strikes.

Mediation is different from arbitration. Under a mediation law—before there could be a strike or shutdown—union and employer would have to let a government official try to help them settle their problem.

But if the mediator failed, the union could strike or the employer could shut down his plant. But mediation still is only in the talking stage in Congress.

quaintance with many old friends which he had missed over the years when he served in the Navy during the war. Outside of that, he said, he had no particular business in Washington.

Other familiar faces included those of former Senator Jim Watson of Indiana. At 83 he was still spry as a cricket in his formal afternoon attire.

Towering above the throng was balding Lowell Stockman, six-foot-six representative from Oregon.

Ohio's new governor, handsome Thomas Herbert, and Indiana's Governor Ralph E. Gates were there. So was Eric Johnston, just returned from England; Hawaiian delegate Joe Farrington; former Republican chairman Henry Fletcher, and Herbert Brownell, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Dolly Gann, Clarence Budington Kelland and Robert Freer, Federal Trade Commissioner.

is unsafe, unfair and inefficient to have them all cooped up in Washington as at present. Moreover, if there ever is a communist revolution in America, it will be centered in the large cities of the East. Hence, in addition to maintaining Old Washington for certain departments, we should immediately begin to build one or more "New Washingtons." These should be in the Central West, all connected together by new government-owned radio, airplane and underground cable systems.

Fairness to Pacific Coast

Few people realize the great empire which is gradually arising on the Pacific Coast and in Texas. If the population of these four states continues to increase in the same proportion to the entire population, these four states in 30 or 40 years will have a majority of the Congressmen. This certainly would result in moving the Capital to the Central West. Hence, why not begin moving now and be fair to the Pacific Coast and the Southwest? I have been assured that if the right and the union can't get a raise. Then the union must continue working without a raise.

Only because the Eastern States now have so many more members in the House does the Capital remain on the Atlantic seaboard.

Unions and employers both strongly oppose compulsory arbitration. The National Association of Manufacturers has come out flatly against it.

There's no serious talk in Congress of such a step. But why are unions and employers against it? It would take away their freedom to strike or shut down a plant, freedom to settle problems as they see fit. In short: freedom to slug it out.

If a union is strong enough, it knows that by a strike or threat of a strike, it may get more from a boss than an arbitrator would allow.

And if a boss thinks he can stand the strain, he may prefer to sit back with his plant closed and let a union wear itself out striking.

Through compulsory arbitration the government would be able to say pretty well what wages should be. If so, the next step would be to paradise must be the watch-word. That is why these are among the paramount international problems of the new year. All roads of thought among peace-minded folk in whatever country they may lead toward a solution of disarmament. And of course the atomic bomb and the control of atomic energy are foremost, for he who holds this greatest secret of the ages must inevitably be an object of suspicion and fear.

Certainly we can expect no general disarmament while the atomic question is hanging fire. And by the same token the rehabilitation of Europe cannot be achieved, because of the economic and political problems are interlocked with those of security.

The only foreign trip George Washington ever took was to the island of Barbados in the West Indies.

Great Britain first laid claim to the West Indian island of Barbados in 1655, when an English ship landed there.

New Books On The Shelves
"Old Can and Patrick" by Ruth Sawyer, is the story of young Patrick's fight to recover from a severe attack of polio. Old Can, his Gramp, and a little later brought a crippled baby bluejay, which they named Funny. Watching Funny's efforts to overcome the handicap of his shriveled leg gave Pat the inspiration he needed to work harder to overcome his own infirmity. A grand book, full of fun and real interest.

"The Mitchells" by Hilda Van Stockum, is all about a family of five children, ranging from Joan, 10, to baby Timmy, who form the V for Victory Club. Their adventures in helping to win the war by helping on the home front are grand reading. Little Urs, the Mystery Princess, is a friend you'll want to know.

"Jock's Castle" by Katherine Gibson. Way back in history, to the time of robber bands and throns, during the time of Henry VIII of England, is the setting of this story. Jock is a young man who gathers friends as the honeysuckle draws bees. His rescue of the strange young knight from a band of cut-throats makes his future very different—from miller to millionaire. There's lots of laughter in these pages.

Prominent Woman Died In Raleigh

Mrs. Melissa Norman Hoover, 95, of Raleigh, member of a family long prominent in Eastern North Carolina, died in Raleigh Sunday morning at 5 o'clock at the home of her youngest daughter, Mrs. O. R. Browne, 1510 Hillsboro street.

Mrs. Hoover, who for many years was active in patriotic organizations and church work, was the oldest member of Edenton Street Methodist Church in Raleigh.

Funeral services were held at Edenton Street Church at 1:30 p. m. today, with the pastor, Dr. A. J. Hobbs, in charge, assisted by Dr. Marvin Culbreth, pastor of the Louisburg Methodist Church. Burial was in the Elm City Cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Hoover are three daughters, Mrs. Allen H. Taft of Greenville, Mrs. Gertrude Twisdale of Henderson and Mrs. O. R. Browne of Raleigh. Four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren also survive.

A daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Burrus Norman of Swan Quarter and Wilson Wynne Norman of Tyrrell county, Mrs. Hoover was born near Fairfield, on the shores of Lake Mattamuskeet, Hyde county, on September 2, 1851.

She married John Todd Brame Hoover, who served in the Confederate Army and then entered the Methodist ministry following his marriage. He died a number of years ago, and Mrs. Hoover had made her home in Raleigh for 30 years.

As the wife of a Confederate Army veteran, she took an interest in patriotic organizations formed after the War Between the States and also was active in the Daughters of the American Revolution, her great-great-grandfather being Pe-
