Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
January 20, 1904

The legislature is over doing the thing in appointing justices of the peace. It seems useless that so many extra ones should be appointed.

Berry growers of the Wilmington section say the strawberry acreage will be reduced 25 per cent this year. Insufficient labor and shortage of cars to handle the crop is given as the cause of reduction.

Lina Worthington who plays the part of Aunt Maude in the G. H. S. Senior play, "Spring Fever" delightfully portrays a clever aunt who comes to the rescue of her nephew just in time to help him graduate.

However, Aunt Maude finds that she is as interested in the professor himself as she is in her nephew's graduation.

Lina, past president of Black Masquers, has appeared in many high school productions. She is also a member of Beta Club, Glee Club and Goga.

Billy Sutton, who capably handled the part of Marley's Ghost in the seniors' presentation of "The Christmas Carol" in December, will take the GHS stage once again as Professor Virgil Bean in the senior play, "Spring Fever," February 7.

As professor of zoology at Brookfield college, Billy has the pleasure of flunking Howard Brant (Guy Evans) before graduation, and thus causing quite a mixup. However, the Professor's heart is captivated by Howard's Aunt Maude, who is successful in dissuading him from his original idea.

In his real life role Billy is a popular high school senior. He is a member of the Beta Club, the Science Club, and the traffic committee. Each summer he works on his grandmother's farm in the western part of the state.

a demonstration, on cooking different foods for breakfast. Mr. Prudeg, assistant county agent, showed the boys moving pictures on "Swine Production."

After that the boys and girls got together and played some very entertaining games. The host served chicken salad sandwiches, cookies, salted nuts, and Coca-Cola which were enjoyed immensely.

The meeting was then adjourned to meet again February 11, at the home of Jarvis Tripp, Jr. — Reported by Frances Jones.

Chicod Junior
The Chicod Junior 4-H Club met on Thursday, January 16. The girls met with Miss Hines while the boys met with Mr. Pruden, who showed two pictures on hogs and cattle. Miss Hines cooked a breakfast and showed the girls the correct way to set a table. — Reported by Russell Smith.

Paclous Junior
The Paclous Junior 4-H Club met Tuesday, January 8. Mr. Pruden gave out some record books and gave the boys some information on raising hogs. He also showed them some pictures of cattle that were in the Fat Stock Show at Rocky Mount. Miss Hines showed the girls how to cook breakfast. — Reported by Richard Weatherington.

Sweet Gum Grove
The Sweet Gum Grove 4-H Club met in the home of Mrs. W. F. Whichard, January 8, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting was called to order and old and new business was discussed. After the business meeting the boys and girls assembled in separate rooms for project study. Mr. W. H. Pruden directed the boys on swine projects and preparing baby beef cattle for show. Miss Lillian Hines directed the girls in cooking.

After our studies, we assembled together for recreation. After recreation, delicious refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned. It proved to be a success and was enjoyed by all. — Reported by Goodmon Whichard.

Fountain
The Fountain 4-H Club met Wednesday, January 15, at the school. The girls started the new year by learning to set the table correctly and to cook a good, balanced breakfast. The boys were given instructions on raising hogs and preparing baby beef cattle for show. — Reported by Joyce Sutton.

Eleven men were accepted for enlistment in the Army at the Greenville Recruiting Sub-Station for the week ending January 25th according to T. S. Whitaker.

Clifton Perry, Jr., a Navy veteran, was accepted in the grade of corporal for a three year enlistment in the 62nd Airborne Division. Four others show a three year enlistment in the AAF.

Tuesday evening that Americans should learn to understand peoples of other countries by reading, listening, and, when possible, establishing personal contacts with them. A former army chaplain, Hauser based his talk on experiences he had in China, India, and Burma during the war years. Understanding among nations, he said, is a powerful force in establishing peace in the world.

The speaker presented descriptions of such cities as Calcutta, the jade-mining towns of Burma and used many anecdotes to trace the character of life in East. He defended British rule.

Jack Kimbrell of Waxhaw, speaker at the college, introduced Hauser, and Mrs. Nell O. Baskin of Greenville, student president of the International Relations Club, presided at the meeting.

DANCE ON THE DESERT

By Florence Theel

AP Newsfeature

Chapter 5
For more than a week, now, six eager ex-G.I.'s had been practicing dance music in the McLane boys' room in the garage. Young, enthusiastic music lovers, anxious to make good.

And this afternoon gray-haired Captain Martyn had come to hear them to decide whether they were good enough to play for the Rotarians on Saturday night. With Bert conducting, they gave the Captain all they had, but when he rose, after their first number, reaching for his hat, they looked at each other worriedly, until the captain said with a friendly smile, "A smooth, well-rounded little orchestra, boys. Congratulations, Bertram."

"Well, thanks, Captain Martyn." Relieved, Bert passed his fingers through the thick, dark hair. "We'll be even smoother Saturday." "I'm sure of it." The captain put on his expensive gray felt hat. "There's no telling where you boys might go from here," he prophesied as he went out.

"Nice work, fellows," Bert said gratefully. "It looks as though we're set. If we make good Saturday there's a chance we might be booked for their dinner-dances the rest of the season."

He smiled at the three young veterans who had joined him and his brothers—plump, pink-cheeked Phillip Meredith, who played the trumpet, dark and wiry Pete Scanlon, who could make his pearl-inlaid guitar talk, and Bert's air corps buddy, "Carolina" Jaynes, who was an artist on his alto sax. Eddy played the piano, Paul the drums, and beside conducting, Bert played solo passages on the tenor sax.

"The cap'n seems like a right fice Southern gentleman," drawled Carolina.

"Southern, from the Indiana corn belt," kidded Paul, as dashing in new slacks and sport shirt as in the marine uniform he had discarded.

Mrs. McLane was crossing the vegetable garden with a smallish man who carried a notebook and tape-measure.

"Boys, this is Mr. Bernstein, who belongs to our 'Marylanders' club." She introduced him with more than usual enthusiasm. "He'd like to measure you for uniforms."

"Uniforms?" Eddy's forehead wrinkled. "Didn't we just get out of them?"

"You'll wear these when you play for dances." She smiled on them benignly. Bert gave her a fond grin.

"Boosting us to the Paul White-man bracket right away, Mom? Let's wait till we make a little money."

The tailor's bright glance darted around the group. "They maybe can't believe their good luck yet, Mrs. McLane. I got six coats and pants, not called for. Some orchestra, like you, want went kerfwoy yet. Maybe, with a little alterations, they could fit."

"The coats are a lovely cadet blue, with light gray trousers. Isn't that a lovely combination?"

It was well, they all agreed, if they could afford them. But when Mr. Bernstein explained, "They're all paid for—dead wood on my hands, so fancy! If you can pay for alterations, you can have them free, for nothing," they snapped his offer up at once, and let him take their measurements. When he finally left with Mrs. McLane, the little man looked as delighted as the boys themselves.

"Whadda you know?" Phil smiled expansively. "Free uniforms."

"Our luck's coming in on high tide, all right," Bert said.

But they wouldn't have been so happy had they known this was a frame-up between Mrs. McLane and Bernstein; that now she had the boy's approval of the color scheme, she would go downtown and buy the six outfits she had priced the day before.

Carolina said, "Seems like we ought to have a name to go with them blue jackets. Might come in handy, for publicity."

Paul thumped his chest and struck a pose. "The Valiant Vets!"

Bert poked him lightly with his saxophone. "Nothing doing, brother! We'll make the grade as players, or not at all."

"Here, here!" Eddy backed him up. "How about 'The Merry-Makers'?"

"Sounds okay to the navy," said Phil, who still wore his navy blues.

"Too sissy," wet-blanketed Pete.

"The Alvarado Merry-Makers then," Bert said. "Nothing sissy about that. I've been reading about some Alvarado bull-fighters—"

"Bull-fighters? Swell!" Paul cut him short. "We'll wear broad orange sashes, like terrors—and flowing orange ties. That should stun them!"

And stunning, indeed, the three brothers looked when they'd put on the colorful outfits Saturday night. Their mother had said, as they left the dinner table, "Call me when you're ready, boys. I must see all this Spanish splendor before you go."

"So, with a mysterious twinkle in his eye, Paul had gone back to the boarding house to get her. And when he returned, he brought Eileen, too. She was wearing a long white sequin-studded evening gown, with emerald brilliants in her hair.

"Our prima donna!" he said with a sweeping bow. "Eileen's coming with us."

"So this is what you two have been cooking up in dark corners," Bert said. "Gee, Eileen, this is wonderful!"

"Captain Martyn said it's all right," Eileen said, uncertainly. "I thought having a singer might help the band a little—"

"The main idea is to help you, my pet," said Paul. "This is your debut as well as ours."

"Paul finally convinced me I could face a real audience," Eileen explained. "He really can inspire confidence in anybody."

Her smile for Paul was luminous, and seeing the fond look that passed between them, Bert thought, with a queer wrenching at his heart, "Why—it's Paul she likes—not me!"

 FOR THE DAY

PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL POWER

As one reads Greek mythology and such timeless classics as the Iliad and the Odyssey, one is impressed by the naive faith which the ancients had in personalized natural forces. The wind was sent by one deity, storms came by another, sunrises, sickness, healing success, trouble—all these were the result not of the working out of any natural law or the operation of any impersonal force but resulting from the desire and action of some deity.

We live in an age which has a high respect for impersonal power.
 It is quite out of fashion today to believe that a personal God made and sustains the universe. A style of thinking has been introduced among us which holds that the power behind the universe is imimpersonal. Things happen as the result of working out of grim natural law. For some reason or other, it is considered intellectually more respectable to believe in impersonal natural power than to believe that behind the power stands a dominating Personality.

The ancients, however, who were very wise people, believed in personalized power. We have long since forsaken their idolatry, but if we hold ourselves to be religious, then we must hold a conception much higher than the Greeks and believe that the power behind the universe is a personal power.

To believe in a power higher than our own is not a sufficient basis for religious faith. Religion is based on belief in a personal God, and the Christian religion on God as revealed in Christ.

LOGE TAKES LEAD AS PHOTOGRAPHERS' GLAMOR SENATOR

By JANE EADS
 Washington—From a photographer's lens-view of the 80th Congress, the list of the photogenic boys is as follows:

For glamor: Tall, youthful-looking
 Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass.),
 atomic; Sen. Brian McMahon (D-Conn.), bachelor; (and elephant) Sen. Joseph E. McCarthy (R-Wis.), freshman; Sen. William E.
 Jenner (R-Ind.) and in general:
 Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH).

In the House of Representatives
 (for glamor): A couple of Democrats from Oklahoma, A. S. Mike Monroney and Glen D. Johnson
 Robert Grant (D-Ind.), and John Davis Lodge (R-Conn.).

Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.)
 looks more like a Senator than any Hollywood make-up artist could dream him up to look. He is not only camera-wise, but gives tips to his colleagues and other dignitaries on the art of posing.

The camera boys think Sen. Al-ben Barkley was a lot more distinguished-looking before he grew a mustache. They say the mustache makes him "look like a farmer."

Sen. Kenneth McKellar, (D-Tenn.), according to the boys, looks like the late W. C. Fields.

Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) is one of the most individualistic looking because of his black mustache.

Senators Kenneth S. Wherry (R-Neb.) and Styles Bridges (R-NH) are called the "Twins of the Senate."

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.)
 is one of the most impressive-looking.

Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg
 (R-Mich.) and Robert A. Taft (R-O.) always try to give the boys the rush act, but wind up posing.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.)
 is one of the "hale fellow, well-met" members and Senators Werry and William F. Knowland (R-Calif.)
 are among the more agreeable and cooperative.

Before Sam Rayburn, minority leader of the House, became Speaker in the 79th Congress, he invariably refused to face the camera.

GUESS I NOT UNDERSTANDING READING VERY WELL YET— EXPLAIN TO ME THIS ONE, PLEASE—

THE BOYS SAY IT WAS BECAUSE OF HIS baldness. The present Speaker, Joe Martin of Massachusetts, is perhaps the most photographed man "on the Hill."

Veteran Mrs. Edith Nourse Martin (R-Mass.) is the "photographers' sweetheart." "All the other lady-congressmen are nice too—you'd be surprised," concluded another lensman.

China Retreat . . .

 munist. Now that restraint is removed, he is believed to have the edge if full-scale fighting develops. In the face of this the Communists may decide that compromise is better than chancing complete defeat. Now they have great power, would be able to participate in the government and still keep a certain degree of autonomy. If they fight it out and lose their territory will merely be re-annexed to Nationalist China.

These are factors which the U.S. can continue to play upon. She may also be aided by a lessening of general anti-foreign sentiment as the troops leave. Their presence had come more and more to cloud the issue.

One thing should be made clear. There is not the slightest indication that Russian criticism had anything to do with the troop withdrawal. It is wholly a matter of procedure which failed to work. With the closing of truce headquarters and the end of the supply problem they cease, and the troops are not needed.

The decision does, however, have an automatic corollary affecting relations with Russia. We seem to be heading for a collision over Poland and the European situation generally. China was the main place where we were open to the accusation—however unjust—that we were doing the same things Russia is doing in Mesotrons . . .

 tron has a proportionate share of the proton's energy. But they live for as short a time as a two-millionth part of a second. Dr. Swann says the ionization of air—splitting the air into positive and negative charged fragments—may be the mesotron's only activity.

The origin of mesotrons was studied on plane flights last summer by counting them, in a special instrument that is sensitive to their rays, at various altitudes.

"Reciprocity" . . .

 the Amtorg Trading Corporation, "an official branch of the Russian government." "We have never insisted that Russia accord to us the same privilege we grant to Russians," the South Dakota said. "Russians visiting the United States have been allowed to photograph industrial installations and other properties when even Americans weren't allowed to do so."

"Yet, Americans in Russia are restricted sharply in their movements. There has been no reciprocity, except on a one-way basis, with the Russians generally getting from us what they demand," that existence of the Russian book probably "is one of the reasons the Russians are not interested in arranging for an interchange of inspection."

"Russia is getting all the information they want about our defense over here and they are not interested now in making any concessions that might permit America to learn what they are doing over there," he continued. "Maybe if we make it more difficult for them to get further information, it will help

Secretary of State Marshall, it will help Warren Austin (American U. N. delegate), get an agreement with Russia from the standpoint of controlling the atomic bomb by having internal inspection."

Mundt, a member of the House Foreign Affairs and Un-American Activities Committee, said he favors "giving Russia the same concessions she gives us, and more."

Police Admit . . .

 the other viewed with extreme skepticism. Police Lieut. H. Diekmann at San Diego said Erly Williams, 24, a waitress, had wanted an earlier statement that the had phoned from a hotel bar to the effect she had killed Mrs. Short, and would not be charged.

And in Los Angeles police said they had found numerous discrepancies in the story of Daniel Voorhees, 33, a restaurant waiter, who surrendered Tuesday night and wrote and signed a terse confession.

"Not Guilty" . . .

 that Miss Buck went to live at Archie Lee's home and refused to go back to her parents. When Buck was on the stand he testified that he had improper relations with his daughter.

Haywood Dall and J. E. Winslow, extensive farmers, testified that Buck had worked for them, and that he was trustworthy and dependable.

When the jury returned its verdict of not guilty, Judge Burney thanked them. Other cases tried included: Sam Mills, assault and being drunk, 30 days on each charge. Clara Little and James Jones were convicted of violating the liquor laws. Sentence will be pronounced later.

Frank Lee Wainwright was on trial today for driving while drunk.

Ask Congress . . .

 bargaining as distinguished from the exercise of centralized power by the international.

3. "Industry-wide bargaining gives little encouragement to the individual employer to establish favorable labor relations.

4. "Even a medium-sized employer like this company is at a great disadvantage in dealing with a centralized union of 800,000 members.

5. "Industry-wide bargaining gives no recognition to the widely varying economic and social factors applicable to the employees of the various union members and of localities in which they reside."

Worry of FALSE TEETH

Slipping or Irritating? Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat—talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FAS-TEETH on your plates. The pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly to gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FAS-TEETH at any drug store.

 seen heading toward the Tennessee line. Newland is in Avery county, which borders eastern Tennessee.

The robbery was the second to be perpetrated by four men in this area in less than two days. The first took place Tuesday night at Blowing Rock, some 15 miles east of Newland, where a beer garden attendant, Theo Green, was held up and robbed of $2,700.

At Charlotte, Special Agent John Bills of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the FBI was now working on the case. Miss Guy said her brother, Robert Guy, a cashier, was the bank employee locked in the vault.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Slow Cooking Keeps Meat Juicy
Slow cooking keeps meat juicy, whether on top of the stove or in the oven. Cooking meat at a high temperature makes it less tender; causes it to shrink more so that servings are smaller.

Braised Pork Chops
Season 4 pork chops (loin, rib or shoulder chops) with salt and pepper
Brown on both sides in a heavy skillet over moderate heat in 1 tbsp. ADVANCE SHORTENING Reduce heat, add 2 tbsp. hot water (optional), cover, and continue cooking over low heat until chops are tender, adding more water in small amounts if needed. (This depends on how tightly the cover fits and how low the heat can be regulated.) Requires 30 to 45 minutes cooking time, depending on thickness and quality of meat. Remove meat to a warm platter and make gravy of the drippings. Pour off excess fat, leaving 2 tbsp. drippings in the pan.
Add 2 tbsp. flour, blend well.
Add 1 cup milk, gradually, stirring constantly. Simmer until thickened sufficiently.
Add B-V to taste and make a rich brown color. Serves 4.

With All the Trimmings
Braised pork chops garnished with cinnamon apple slices and watercress, mashed potatoes with gravy, broccoli with quick "Hollandaise" sauce (Wilson's Mayonnaise heated in top of double boiler), tossed vegetable salad, hot corn sticks, and apple crisp make a dinner you'll be proud to serve.

It's Easy to Dress Them Up
Breading chops, whether they're pork or veal, dresses them up in party clothes. They're easy to do, too. Season chops, dip first in flour, then in a mixture of one Clear Brook Egg beaten with one tsp. water, and finally in fine dry bread crumbs; then brown

Appetite Teasers
The sweet, smoky aroma of Certified Bacon sizzling in the pan is mighty tempting to the early riser. Fry a Clear Brook Egg in the tasty bacon drippings and you have a real breakfast dish... well worth getting up for.
Mix 1 tsp. grated onion and 1 tsp. Wilson's B-V with 1 cup cottage cheese for a delicious sandwich spread. Increase both onion and B-V for a zesty appetizer spread.
Sincerely,
George Rector

Social Security

FEBRUARY 10 DEADLINE FOR VETERANS SECURITY
World War II veterans' survivors who may qualify for social security benefits on the deceased veteran's service record should apply for benefits at once to avoid loss of money. Marshall H. Barney, manager of the Rocky Mount office of the Social Security Administration, warned today.

Eligible survivors of veterans who died after their discharge from the armed forces and before August 10, 1946, have only 11 more days to file their claims to receive benefits payable back to the time of the veteran's death. Mr. Barney said. The 1946 veterans' amendment to the Social Security Act provided monthly cash benefits for dependents of ex-servicemen who died or will die, within three months after discharge, leaving their survivors without compensation or pension from the Veterans Administration. Survivors of ex-servicemen who died before enactment of the amendment on August 10, 1946, were given six months in which to apply for benefits payable back to the date of the veteran's death. That six-month period expires February 10. Social Security benefits generally are payable retroactively for a maximum period of three months prior to the time claim is filed. Even if the veteran never had a Social Security Account Number Card, or if he never worked under Social Security, benefits may be payable to children under 18 and the widows taking care of them, to widows 65 years of age or older, or, in some cases, to aged dependent parents.

BLENN
SWIFT'S PLUS-VALUE TOBACCO PLANT FOOD

those vital extra growth elements that make the difference between a fair yield and a top money-making crop.
There's going to be a lot of BLENN used on tobacco fields this year. You'll be wise to see your Authorized Swift Agent right away. Place your order for all the BLENN you will need and arrange for early delivery.

Buy BLENN Tobacco Grower from the dealer with the Red Steer sign

We admit it's silly. Even BLENN won't produce leaves big enough for Zeke's cigars. But tobacco growers everywhere will "vote" for BLENN, Swift's plus-value plant food for tobacco. That's because BLENN gives tobacco a real, profit-making boost. It helps produce bright leaves of finer quality. It helps make better yields for higher profits.
The formula for BLENN was developed by scientists in Swift's Plant Food Laboratory and in practical growing tests. Every ingredient must come up to a rigid standard of excellence. The nitrogen, phosphorus and potash used are the best obtainable. Then, in addition, Swift adds

LOCALS MEET TARBORO TEAM

Phantoms Seek Fifth Conference Win Here Friday Night

Seeking their fifth Northeastern Conference win, the Greenville High School Phantoms will meet Tarboro High School at the GHS gymnasium tomorrow night in what might prove to be a hotly contested basketball game.

However, the Greenies will be favored, as they have previously defeated the Wildcats 46-24 in Tarboro.

The Phantoms' pivot man, Glynn Perkins, will probably lead the Greenies attack as he is averaging over 15 points per game and in the first fray with Tarboro, he whipped the cords for 20 points.

The starters for Greenville will be Billy White and Jimmy Cox at guards, Dave Clark and Henry Turner at forwards, and Glynn Perkins at center.

In a preliminary game, starting at 7 o'clock, the GHS Junior team will square off against the Tarboro Kittens. Tarboro will be the underdogs in this contest as the Baby Phantoms will probably be Joe Sawyer and John Farley at guards, Joe Allgood and either Murry Cooke or Howard Proctor at forwards, and Sam Northrop at center.

LOOK OUT FOR PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms — often without suspecting what is wrong! And these pests, living inside the human body, can cause real distress. So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms — especially the aggravating rectal itch. Get JAYNE'S P.W. and follow the directions. P.W. is the Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. B. Jayne & Son, after years of patient research. The small, easy-to-take P.W. tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. Ask your druggist: P.W. for Pin-Worms!

Cotton duck got its name from the fact that some of the early mills stamped the heaviest weight canvas required for ship sails with a picture of a duck. In time all cotton canvas became known as "cotton duck" or just duck.

In 1810 there were less than 20 cotton mills in the southern states of the United States.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. SENATE OPENS BUYS CONTROL RENT INQUIRY N. Y. CENTRAL

Proof For Need Of New Ceiling Up To The Landlord Says Chairman

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NB) today opened a Senate inquiry into rents with an assertion that it "rests squarely upon the landlord" to prove any need for higher rent ceilings.

Tobey is chairman of the Senate banking committee making the investigation. There was no immediate explanation of yesterday's mixup in which an OP order proposing to boost ceilings 10 per cent was quashed by the White House before it could be issued.

The committee originally was scheduled to hear government witnesses today but Tobey said none would be present. This postponed the appearance of James W. Follin, deputy administrator of the office of temporary controls, who had been expected to explain the mystery of the short-lived rent increase order.

"We believe the average American wants to play fairly," Tobey said. "If the landlord is being discriminated against, if he is not getting a fair return on his investment, the American people will want to do something about it, but the American people want to be shown.

"The burden of proving that rent control should be abolished or revised is placed squarely upon the landlord."

Tobey said the committee was determined to protect the interest of slum dwellers who would not be able to fight for their own interests in the drafting of new legislation.

Robert R. Young "Moves In" On Vanderbilt-Run Railroad

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Robert R. Young, who has proclaimed his intention of creating the nation's first coast-to-coast rail system, established himself today as the largest known stockholder of the vast New York Central Railroad.

A showdown on the control of this key eastern road and a necessary link in an Atlantic-Pacific chain appeared inevitable. One of Young's financial backers asserted the road already could be considered as his "property" and Young himself was not silent.

"I own enough stock to control the New York Central," he was quoted as telling a Time magazine correspondent.

New York Central officials, under the chairmanship of Harold S. Vanderbilt, offered no comment.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, which usually has a final say in such railroad dealings, has yet to be heard from.

Young disclosed late yesterday his purchases of New York Central stock through the Allegheny Corporation, a railroad holding company, had amounted to 300,500 shares. This approximates 4.8 per cent of the Central's outstanding stock.

Vanderbilt, who carries on the tradition of the Central as a "Vanderbilt Road," owns about 60,000 shares and the Union Pacific Railroad about 160,000 shares of the total of 6,447,000 outstanding.

Referring to Harold S. Vanderbilt in connection with his present movement into the New York Central, Young was quoted by Time magazine as saying:

Announcement

In the past we have always strived to give the public the best of service and the most generous serving possible.

During the past two years, which have been the most trying in history, we have been the only day and night restaurant serving Eastern Carolina. This was not easily accomplished due to the severe shortage of meats and cooking oils. But now we can hold our heads high, because we can truthfully say we served the public when all the rest served you only part of the time.

Now as in the past, we continue trying to serve the public better with the downward trend of all prices, we shall take another step forward. Effective immediately, we are beginning an adjustment of our food prices on the same high standard as before for the general welfare of the public. Our Menu is as follows:

BREAKFAST
 Choice of: Ham, Bacon or Sausage and 2 Eggs, any style; buttered toast and coffee—
 55c Including Tax

DINNER
 Choice of one meat and two vegetables and coffee—
