Supporters Of Nominee Predict Taft's Influence Will Not Be Felt

Washington.—(AP)—Supporters of David E. Lilienthal for confirmation as chairman of the atomic energy commission expressed confidence today he will win despite a blast from one of the Senate's top Republicans, Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft announced he is going to vote against Lilienthal because he considers him a power hungry bureaucrat who is temperamentally unfitted for the position and too soft on issues connected with communism and Soviet Russia.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), a member of the atomic energy commission which is considering the former TVA head's nomination, commented to a reporter:

"While I recognize Senator Taft's influence and power as chairman of the Republican policy committee, I do not believe his stand will be persuasive with respect to his colleagues in the face of the record of the hearing, which demonstrates Mr. Lilienthal's complete suitability."

Two Democratic senators—Taylor of Idaho and Chavez of New Mexico—announced their support for Lilienthal today. Taylor declared that charges of leftist leanings laid against the nominee by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), are "small potatoes—that's the best term we have for it out in Idaho."

Assembly Gains Ground In Race Against Time

Mass Of Legislation Being Whittled Down; Past Week Sees More Action Crammed Through Than Ever Before

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—The legislature gained several laps this week in its race against masses of legislation as it crammed committee meetings and public hearings closer than in any previous week.

The House passed by a thundering majority a measure to divorce the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries from the Department of Conservation and Development, and sent it to the Senate.

Around 3,000 farmers, cooperative members and retail merchants jammed Memorial Auditorium for the largest hearing in North Carolina's legislative annals for consideration of a bill to tax cooperatives. Finance Committee members will take action next week.

One of the stormiest sessions in recent legislative history came at a hearing on the closed shop bill which would prohibit contracts or combinations requiring membership in unions as a condition of employment. The House committee on manufacturing voted overwhelmingly in favor of the bill which will appear on the Tuesday calendar in the House.

A slum clearance law for the state's municipalities was proposed in a House measure. It would give wide power to housing authorities to obtain slum areas under the right of eminent domain after approval was given by city governments.

A hearing on the liquor referendum bill banning sale of intoxicating liquor or wine and providing for a state referendum has been scheduled before the joint Finance Committee March 4 and 5.

Bills to revise the state's insurance laws reached the legislature. They would effect mergers, rehabilitation and liquidation of insurance

Junior Chamber Maps Plans For New Election

The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce in a regular dinner meeting Thursday night, made arrangements to elect new officers and committees for the coming year. The following nominating committee was appointed by President Tom Wilson, who presided at the meeting: Charlie Marston, Godfrey Oakley, Alton Barrett, Ed Flanagan and Howard Waldrop.

The nominating committee will present its slate of officers at a special meeting next Thursday evening, at which time further nominations for all officers will be received from the floor.

Charlie Marston, chairman of the committee for the man-of-the-year in Greenville, gave a report to the club and arrangements are being made for this meeting Thursday night, March 6. Plans are being made for a broadcast over station WGTC with several noted guests to make the announcement of the Man-of-the-Year for Greenville for 1946.

Immediately following the election of officers for the coming year there will be a complete reorganization of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a membership drive will be started to attract eligible members into the club. Several changes have been made in the Constitution and By-Laws that will fit the needs of this community in a better way.

BITTER COLD FOLLOWS SNOW

Eastern States Shiver; Death Accompanies Snow Storm

By the Associated Press Freezing winds and falling temperatures gripped the East today, moving in the wake of a snowstorm which blew out to sea after causing at least 45 deaths and burying the Eastern Seaboard from the Carolinas north to Maine under a thick coating of white.

The storm raged in many sections for almost 24 hours, snarling air and surface transportation and retarding industrial activities. It blew a few final flurries in Manhattan yesterday afternoon, then headed northward toward Newfoundland and the sea.

Snow drifts on roads to Lake Success, Long Island, N. Y., forced postponement of a meeting of the United Nations Security Council yesterday.

Traffic accidents on drift-hooked highways and over-exertion from snow shoveling accounted for most of the deaths. The toll by states: New Jersey 13, District of Columbia 3, Pennsylvania 17, New York 3, Connecticut 5, Massachusetts 2, Delaware 1, Maine 1.

Many schools were closed in a dozen states. Railroad travel was returning to normal today after being slowed almost to a crawl in some sections.

Even the stork had his troubles.

Disagree Over Future Of Group

Atlanta.—(AP)—The two top leaders of the rabidly anti-Negro, anti-Jewish Columbian movement, both under sentence for activities of their brown-shirted followers, were in disagreement today over the future of the organization.

Emory Burke, 31-year-old Columbian president convicted yesterday of usurping police powers through his direction of uniformed patrols against Negroes, declared that a "few court cases are not going to stop this movement."

Last week, in the same Fulton Superior Courtroom, Executive Secretary Homer L. Loomis, Jr., in a sworn statement to the jury which convicted him of riot, asserted that "adverse publicity" had "practically destroyed our organization."

Babson Discusses Family Heirlooms

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 22—I am not now recommending even the rarest diamonds, pearls, rugs, antiques or glassware as investments. It is very seldom that the executor of an estate can get for these heirlooms as much as the party paid—usually about one half. On the other hand, the purchaser has had the joy of wearing or using these heirlooms—and this may well offset the shrinkage in market value.

Heirlooms as Currency Notwithstanding the above, it is probably wise for most families gradually to accumulate some good real assets that always have a market at some price everywhere. These can be taken along if the owner is obliged to leave in a hurry. Our first savings should be used to acquire a home and garden, to purchase life insurance and to educate a family of children. But later, when buying stocks, bonds and other things, it may be well to put 10 per cent in a perfect diamond, a rare rug or antique furniture.

Joint Hearing On Labor Suggested

Senator Urges Shot Cut In Handling Pending Legislation With Bi-Partisan Senate- House Committee Action

Washington.—(AP)—Senator Ives (R-N.Y.), suggested today that the House and Senate set up a joint committee to hold separate private conferences with union and management leaders before Congress acts on labor legislation.

The New York lawmaker, a member of the Senate Labor Committee, told a reporter that under that kind of an arrangement I think we could work out a program helpful to everyone.

Ives made his suggestion as the Senate labor group took a recess until Tuesday from testimony by union witnesses. Meanwhile, its House counterpart stayed at work today to hear additional industry representatives.

Ives, a freshman senator who is a labor relations expert, said he believes a joint committee is needed because:

1. "There is not too much liaison" between the House and Senate labor committee.

"In the House, Chairman Hardesty (R-N.J.), has announced there will be no action on labor legislation until the Senate moves. He contended House labor bills always are butchered in the Senate.

2. Management and labor are at loggerheads over what kind of legislation, if any, Congress should enact.

Ives noted that Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), had turned thumbs down on a proposal by CIO President Philip Murray that the Senate labor group sit down with Murray and AFL President William Green to try to work out a way to prevent jurisdictional strikes. Taft said there would be too much controversy to permit agreement.

"But we wouldn't get any place unless the House and Senate got together," Ives added. "And the first thing to do would be to get the Republicans together."

The New York senator feels that with the GOP in control of Congress, it's up to the Republicans to show the way. Thus far there has been no general agreement among them as to what to do about the labor laws.

Ives, former dean of Cornell University's New York College of Industrial and Labor Relations, based his joint committee suggestion on experience while he was GOP leader of the New York State Assembly.

There he was chairman of the Legislature's joint committee on labor and industrial conditions, a bipartisan group which required a unanimous decision for any action.

Taft Debt Payment Program Rejected

No Compromise With Advocates Of Applying $3 Billions Effected In Slash Of President's Budget

Washington.—(AP)—Advocates of applying to the federal debt $3,000,000,000 of any saving made by a slash in President Truman's budget rejected compromise overtures today by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Taft told a reporter he is willing to support writing at $2,000,000,000 debt retirement pledge into whatever resolution the Senate votes on Monday for reducing the president's $37,500,000,000 spending estimate. The Senate resolution is expected to call for a $4,500,000,000 budget cut.

But Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) chief sponsor of the move to guarantee the $3,000,000,000 debt payment, said he isn't in a compromising mood.

When the House voted earlier in the week a promise to lop $6,000,000,000 off Mr. Truman's request, it provided only that a portion of any spread between government income and outgo should be channeled into the treasury to meet previous obligations.

The amount that goes to debt reduction will vitally affect the sum

Philippine Gov't To Purchase Lands

Manila.—(AP)—The Philippine government will acquire eight large estates owned by the Roman Catholic Church in Manila and central Luzon Sunday in the most important step taken so far to implement President Roxas' agrarian reform policy.

The republic will pay $2,865,000 for the properties—about 50 per cent of current market value. The lands will be sold to present tenants on an installment basis.

To join one union instead of another; one union claiming the right to work claimed by another. There are two kinds of jurisdictional disputes:

1. Inter-union. That's between two unions of opposite parent organizations. For example: A CIO union fighting with an AFL union. This occurs frequently.

2. The intra-union. That's between two unions of the same parent organization. For example: Between two AFL or two CIO unions. A jurisdictional strike almost never occurs between CIO unions. It happens most often between AFL unions. The reasons:

CIO unions are organized by industrialists. For instance: All steelworkers are members of the steelworkers union, no matter what kind of steel work they do. So any squabble between groups of steelworkers is settled within the union, since all of them are members of the same union. But AFL unions are organized by crafts, instead of by industries, in the CIO. Which means:

CUBAN POLICE START INQUIRY OVER LUCIANO

Former Vice King In Havana; Narcotic Shipments Are Cut Off

Havana.—(AP)—Cuban secret police sought leads today on the activities of Charles "Lucky" Luciano, deported New York vice overlord, in an investigation ordered after the United States cut off narcotics shipments to Cuba on the ground that Luciano's presence in the country might lead to "diversion of the drugs."

Interior Minister Alfredo Roque ordered Secret Police Chief Benito Herrera yesterday to determine how Luciano, who was deported from the U.S. to Italy, had entered Cuba and how he was occupying himself.

Secret police said that they knew Luciano was in Cuba and that he had been seen frequently at the race track in Havana, though it had not been learned where he was staying.

The ban on further supplies of narcotics to Cuba was issued in Washington by Harry J. Anslinger, Federal Narcotics Commissioner. Julian Solorzano, secretary of the Cuban presidency, sought to discount the possibility that Luciano's presence could lead to diversion of imported drugs. He pointed out that the government recently decreed that all shipments of narcotics to Cuba be brought in through the port of Havana.

Authorities here stated that if Luciano was found to have entered Cuba illegally, he would be deported at once, presumably to Italy.

Luciano, former top man of New York vice rackets, was sent to prison in 1936 for 30 to 50 years. Last year he received a pardon from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who as district attorney had prosecuted Luciano, and was sent back to his native Italy. Recently, however, reports reached Washington that Luciano had found a haven in Cuba.

Anslinger, announcing the ban on narcotics exports to Cuba, said the Cuban government had been advised that the ban would continue as long as Luciano remained there.

"We can't afford to risk diversion of the drugs," Anslinger said. He explained that narcotics shipped to Cuba in the past had been smuggled back into this country for illicit purposes. The U.S. is the chief source of narcotics supplies for Cuba.

Fire Destroys Two Buildings In Henderson

Henderson, N. C.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the Vance Theater and High Price Tobacco Warehouse here early today and routed 123 guests from the Vance Hotel, which suffered light damage.

No tobacco was believed to have been in the frame warehouse but there was a good quantity of farm supplies. The warehouse had 50,000 square feet of floor space.

The theater, of brick walls, was for Negroes. A dress shop occupied space in the front and an apartment and a sign shop were upstairs. The family was warned in time to get out, and much of the dress shop property was saved.

Most of the damage to the hotel was caused by water. A high wind carried debris for several blocks.

It was the second major fire here since last December 4, when the Henderson Daily Dispatch and nearby buildings burned.

U. S. Claim On Jap Bases To Be Heard

Question Will Be Taken Up Wednesday; Council Nears Naming Candidate To Be Governor Of Trieste

Lake Success, N. Y.—(AP)—Authoritative sources said today that the United Nations Security Council would take up next Wednesday America's request that the Japanese mandated islands in the Pacific be placed under a U. N. strategic trusteeship.

Under the U. S. plan, the 623 islands—including the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas—would be administered by the United States, which would be allowed to fortify them.

But whether the Security Council approves the plan or not, the U. S. government has made it clear that she intends to keep this strategic chain of islands because she considers them essential to American security.

Meanwhile, the big four of the Security Council—the United States, Britain, Russia and France—appeared to be near to naming a candidate for the governorship of Trieste—a tough police job.

An authoritative source who would not be identified said five representatives of small countries were being considered for the job. They are:

Gen. Henri Guisan, commander in chief of the Swiss army from 1939 to 1945, considered the strongest

A Democratic Country Now Attempting By Persuasion To Accomplish What Other Nations Would Try Through Totalitarianism; England's Labor Plan

Great Britain, revealing the exceeding gravity of her economic position with promulgation of a drastic program for export production by means of belt-tightening, is attempting to do by persuasion what others have tried through totalitarianism.

"We do not say that whether you like it or not you have got to go into the coal mine, or steel factory, or whatever it may be," says Sir Stafford Cripps in commenting on what the government calls its "working pattern for the nation."

"Instead, we try to induce employers and employees to conform to a pattern of industrial production in order to get the greatest benefits for the nation as a whole."

Export production 40 per cent above the pre-war level for 1947, ultimately 75 per cent above is the goal. Otherwise, says the government statement, "the foundations of our national life" will be at risk.

Labor is asked to give up arrangements which restrict production, prices of employment; to postpone its hopes for shorter hours, increase individual production, hold older workers to their jobs beyond nor-

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

TRUMP OF CHARACTER AND COMMON SENSE

Everyone remembers George Washington as the man who led the colonial troops to victory, but few people seem to realize that the winning triumph of his life was in two terms as president. Consider for a moment the responsibility which rested upon him, the democratic form of government, something new on the face of the earth. There had been a democracy in Greece, and the old Roman Republic, but these were not to be compared with the new political venture which set up business in 1789. Upon Washington rested the responsibility of getting the first public in modern history started on the right foot.

His triumph was the triumph of good judgment and sterling character. There was nothing brilliant about Washington, but he had the ability to look to the very center of a problem and understand its significance. In diplomatic matters he was wise beyond the comprehension of his generation. In domestic affairs he was firm. He realized that he must not allow the presidency to become that of elective monarchy nor the dignity of the office to be dragged in the dust. The silent dignity which followed him to his grave immediately following the inauguration of his successor constituted one of the most majestic tributes ever paid to a human being. There was no cheering—just respectful silence—for the man who was acknowledged even by his enemies to be the greatest figure of his time.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WANTERS' BOAST OF EATING 60 POUNDS OF BUFFALO

By JANE EADS
Washington—About 50 of us were in the wintry sunlight that filtered through the windows of the restaurant, and we ate about 100 of a 1,200-pound buffalo. One could have either buffalo ribs ($2.50) or roast ($2). Both are very good—tender, juicy and not too strongly game. The buffalo had been purchased months ago by Gordon Leach, manager of the Zoo restaurant, and kept frozen. Our hosts were Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Biological Gardens, and the Antlers Association, of which I have recently been made a member.

I wondered about the live buffaloes munching their noon-day meal in the woods not far away. There are about a dozen of them, with a couple of young calves. Dr. Mann explained that they were pretty wild animals and probably would catch on how we were gobbling at the tips of their tails.

"However," he amended, "I would advise blowing in their faces." Eating buffalo meat, bear meat, venison, pheasant and other game is not new to Dr. Mann nor to other diners—mostly the capital's top-ranking citizens.

Dr. Mann was eager to introduce to some of his turred and feathered friends to a new bird to hunt house to meet a parrot-quetzal, the national bird of Guatemala, pictured full-length on the country's stamps. The quetzal also the sacred bird of the ancient Mayan Indians. Its tail grows inches long. The quetzal turned back on us.

The penguins looked us straight in the eye without blinking but pretty stuffed-shirt. Dr. Mann had a penguin hatched on the bird house and the penguins drew 20,000 visitors. It took park police force to take the crowd. Then the penguin chick behind a painted ice-

...fowl that Dr. Mann said was the antecedent of our good old friend chicken.

We also looked at a couple of East African lung fish, who Dr. Mann said had spent five years at Harvard, a golden cat that dozed up high on a shelf and "Tweeka," a year-old gazelle that a State Department friend of Dr. Mann had brought from Arabia.

We studied some turtles with moss growing on their backs, no rolling stones, they.

We studied also a skunk, a leopard, a cobra, a tarantula, a praying mantis and a young gibbon named "Barbado." That also was the name of the bear-odd I took to the luncheon.

pearls would sell for from $25,000 to $50,000, while one pearl might easily sell for $100. When the Japanese began to develop cultured pearls the market for oriental pearls began rapidly to slide. Actually, a cultured pearl is a real pearl obtained by putting a grain of sand into an oyster and watching the oyster for a few years until a pearl has been developed and then using it for a jewel. Very few people can today detect a string of cultured pearls, which sells at $200, from a string of oriental pearls which once sold for $25,000.

When to Buy Jewels

The price of jewels, rare rugs and fine furniture goes up and down like the price of land, commodities and stocks. This means that they all can be purchased for very much less during a depression. Hence, do not spend too much on these things today but wait for lower prices. Yet, if one will put a little money into these each year the price should average up in the long run. Besides, the purchaser then gets a pleasure from their longer use.

Just one more word about pearls. There is no reason for any sensible person to spend good money today for so-called "real oriental pearls" even though they can be bought for 20 per cent of what they sold for before the first cultured pearl was grown. Too many women classify "cultured pearls" with "artificial pearls." Hence, there is not the market for cultured pearls which there should be. Furthermore, there is so much labor involved in the raising, grading and polishing of cultured pearls that they could sell considerably higher, especially if this country should eliminate its excise tax and put a tariff on imported pearls. However, do not make any rash or foolish purchases because of this column. I, however, would like to help readers to some day have something real which they can pass on to their children and grandchildren.

Men doing one kind of work are within one AFL union; men doing another kind are in another AFL union. For example:

In a big plant the carpenters are all in a carpenters union; all the metal workers are in a metal workers union.

But jurisdictional strikes are only a minor part of labor strikes in general.

The government's bureau of labor statistics has gathered figures on jurisdictional strikes, although they are months old.

In the first six months of 1946 there were 2,185 strikes for all reasons, involving 2,996,000 workers. But only 92 of them were jurisdictional strikes—or 2 per cent of the total—involving only 164,000 workers.

But at the same time: There were 1,022 strikes—or 47 per cent of the total—involving 2,512,000 workers, caused by disputes between unions and employers over wages and hours.

displaced peoples of Europe.

Here we have a country, already short, forced to bring in more mouths to feed in a desperate attempt to revive and maintain its world trade. And at the same time hundreds of thousands of Britons are reported to be seeking a way out of the homeland, desiring to settle in South Africa, Canada, Australia and the United States. Some have wanted to get away so badly that they have been willing to undertake the hazardous overland trip from Cairo to South Africa.

Here we have a picture of a great people, mobilized first for military and then for economic survival for seven years, fighting against a changing world economic and political system; seeking to preserve the economies of their little island against a movement of industry to the areas which actually produce the raw materials; compromising with the social forces sweeping across the tightly-enclosed people, yet fighting, too, against a corporate state, permanent regimentation, totalitarianism, or reduction to a non-entity.

Tripp Reports On PCA Meeting

Jesse L. Tripp, a director of the Greenville Production Credit Association, serving Pitt and Greene counties, has just returned from a two-day conference of newly elected PCA directors held in Columbia February 18-19.

Tripp reported that after reviewing the history and progress of the cooperative production credit system, the directors attending were much pleased with the service, being rendered farmers and the accomplishments of the associations toward achieving complete farmer ownership.

"Considerable time was spent in discussing credit policies which will serve the interests of the farmer-members during the postwar period. It is believed that many more farmers will be using the credit services of these associations within the next few years," Tripp said.

Building Boom Is Pipe Dream, Speaker Stated

By CHESTER WALSH

"A building boom is only a pipe-dream until prices come down," C. J. Burns of Raleigh, executive secretary of the N. C. Building and Loan League quoted from the Wall Street Journal in a speech at the Greenville Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night.

He said building materials are up 86 per cent, labor is indolent and costly and contractors are up against it.

Burns recalled a saying of the late Vice-President Thomas A. Marshall, "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar," and added: "What this country needs now is a good $5,000 home." He said this is the time to sell, not buy, real estate.

Burns asserted that buyers resistance will help to bring down prices. He said a dozen cars of lumber were on railroad tracks in Detroit and are being demurraged because the lumber is piled so high that contractors will not buy it. He told an interesting story of how building costs could be considerably reduced by standardization of architecture and having lumber and other materials cut at the mills. Judge Dink James introduced the speaker. Vice-President N. C. Brooks presided.

Guests at the meeting included C. H. Rook of the Banker's Trust Company, New York; Major Vernon O. Ullman, of the U. S. Marine Corps' Amphibious School, Quantico, Va.; Dr. M. B. Massey, Rev. E. W. Holmes of Farmville and Charley Hotchkiss, president of the Farmville Kiwanis Club; D. M. Bryant, Bill Lee and Nelson Bowden.

Lieut.-Governor Ed Rawls introduced Aubrey Tilley as a new member of the Club.

James Ray Pittman will have charge of the program next Friday.

A meeting of the rural free delivery mail carriers of Pitt county was held in the court house yesterday. J. W. Brown of Greenville was elected secretary.

This legislature is wisely doing a thing that has long been neglected in making ample provision for the insane and mentally afflicted persons of the state.

If every county in the state had as much educational enthusiasm as Pitt, it would not be long before North Carolina would have no place in the illiterate column.

THE ROOSTER CROWS

By Maud and Miska Petersham

This book of verses might well become the American Mother Goose, for it is a collection of rhymes and jingles and games most of which have their roots in the history and native customs of our country.

The compilers and illustrators, Maud and Miska Petersham, are well known to everyone interested in children's books for the list of their past successes is almost countless: The Poppy Seed Cakes, Miki and Mary, The Christ Child, The Story-books of Things We Use, and over 200 others in which they have had a part.

The Caldecott Medal, which is an award for the "most distinguished American picture book for children" was given to the Petershams for "The Rooster Crows."

Children and grown-ups will all enjoy the charming illustrations which picture many customs of our American way of life, and the rhymes which have become a part of our folk history.

Indian Fighter Has Low Opinion

Salt Lake City.—(AP)—Joseph Manning, 102-year-old Indian fighter who says he helped capture the Indian warrior Geronimo, believes modern motion picture frontiersmen are strictly on the synthetic side.

He's willing to back up the assertion, too, he said, with a shooting contest against actor Joel McCrea when the star arrives here for the world premiere of "Harrow," official Utah centennial celebration motion picture.

Unimpressed by the superlatives being published and broadcast by the movie publicists, Manning issued the challenge from the veterans hospital here where he has been a patient many years.

Today's crop of movie men—and especially this McCrea, whom I'm going to show up unless he's afraid to meet me—couldn't even scare an Indian papoose of my day let alone fight off bands of Apaches," Manning testily asserted.

Murder Warrant Filed Against Thirty-One Men

Greenville, S. C.—(AP)—With 31 Greenville men officially reported to be facing a charge of murder, officers of four law enforcement agencies today continued their investigation into the lynching of a 24-year-old Negro near here early last Monday.

Sheriff F. H. Bearden, who last night reported that he had sworn out a single warrant charging the 31 men with murder in the death of Willie Earle, said that federal, state, county and city officers would continue their probe of the case.

The sheriff had previously stated that officers have a total of 57 names, including those being held and that others from the list would be picked up for questioning as quickly as possible.

No immediate word followed the announcement of the warrant as to plans for the trial of the 31 defendants, although Solicitor Robert T. Ashmore earlier had indicated he would call the case for the March 10 term of General Sessions Court here.

Infant Killed In Bed By Rats Say Police

Birmingham, Ala.—(AP)—An infant boy was found dead in bed today and City Detective C. L. Pierce said the child had been killed by rats.

The victim was four months old Lonnie Eugene Mathews, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mathews, of the family lives in rooms atop a combination business and residence building.

Pierce quoted the parents as saying they placed the child's bed in the kitchen because it was warmer there. They heard no outcry during the night, the detective said.

MANY VICTIMS OF ACCIDENTS

Safety Council Says Death Toll For 1946 Above Previous Year

Chicago.—(AP)—Accidents here in the United States in 1946 killed 100,000 persons, injured millions and caused an estimated economic loss of $5,900,000, the National Safety Council said today.

The death toll was four per cent above the 1945 total of 95,918 but the council said the 100,000 figure is significant when it is recalled that at the end of the first four months of 1946 the motor vehicle death toll alone was up 45 per cent.

Motor accidents alone accounted for 33,500 dead. Passenger deaths on the railroads totaled 89 and on regularly scheduled airlines 75.

A man's own home appeared the least safe place of all. In home accidents, 34,000 persons died.

His place of work seemed somewhat safer. Occupational accidents killed 15,500.

One out of every 13 persons in the country suffered a disabling injury last year.

The biggest single disasters of the year were Atlanta's Winecoff Hotel fire, in which 119 persons died, and the La Salle Hotel fire at Chicago, in which 61 perished.

Traffic fatalities were up 19 per cent over 1945. Railroad passenger fatalities dropped 26 per cent. Regarding air accidents, the council said:

"The passenger death rate per 100,000 passenger miles in 1946, based on preliminary information, was 1.2—a decrease of 43 per cent from the 1945 rate of 2.1 and equaling the previous low mark in 1939."

Greenville proved a much faster club than their opponents last night as they scored many of their baskets on an effective fast break, but their giant opponents got just a few too many rebounds.

The big ECTC gym will provide an advantage to the Greenville speed and the game Monday should be just about a tossup.

The Green Phantoms took a 2-0 lead as the game opened, but could not hold on to it and Washington forged ahead a short time later to stay. The halftime score was 14-11.

High scorers for Greenville were Glynn Perkins and Dave Clark, with 6 points each. Potts and 29-23 score. The same two teams play a return match in the Wright gym at ECTC on Monday night.

Greenville High last night in a basketball game in the Washington armory and the expected battle royal ensued. The end of the game however, found the extremely tall Pamlico club on the long end of a

Beau Jack Loses Probably Last Fight In Ring

New York—(AP)—The fight game probably has seen the last of bouncing Beau Jack—and vice versa.

The bouncing Beau, himself, summed it all up very neatly last night as he lay in his Madison Square Garden dressing room waiting for an ambulance to take him to a hospital with a kneecap that had just been broken for the second time in three months.

The knee had given way in the ring as he was being labored by Tony Janiro, the fancy-boxing youngster out of Youngstown, Ohio, with the result that swift Tony chalked up a four-round technical knockout.

"The hands are good," the Beau grinned weakly, holding up a fist for photographers, "but the knee's bad."
