Russia Agrees To U. S. Plan For Trusteeship

Is First Nation To Agree On Future Of Japanese Island But Marshall Considers Acknowledgment Incident As Closed

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today announced that the Soviet government has agreed to the United States plan for trusteeship over the Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific to be entirely fair.

Marshall told a news conference that the Soviet note said Russia took into account that the islands were won chiefly by American armed forces which bore "incomparably greater sacrifices" than others in the Pacific advance.

Charles "Lucky" Luciano (above), former New York vice overlord, was arrested and interned in a Havana immigration camp for possible deportation to Italy. Benito Herrera, chief of secret police, said he ordered Luciano's arrest on the grounds that his residence in Havana "may cause public disorder." This picture was made in Naples, Italy, shortly after his deportation from the United States. (AP Wirephoto).

Only Russia, Marshall said, has concurred in the American trusteeship proposal, which was submitted to the United Nations last week.

Marshall told reporters also that: 1. He considers the incident over Undersecretary Dean Acheson's Senate testimony that Russia's foreign policy was aggressive and expanding is closed. He does not intend to reply, he said, to a second Russian protest.

2. Romania has assured the United States it will comply fully with President Truman's stipulation that American food in famine stricken Malaya be distributed without discrimination. Marshall noted that the American Red Cross is paying three and a half million dollars for food diverted from U. S. army shipments for hunger relief.

3. The United States, Marshall said in a statement, has expressed hope that India will accept the clear cut challenge of Britain's independence plan and proceed to break the impasse between the (Indian) Congress and the Moslem League.

4. The American delegation to the big four conference at Moscow has been completed with the addition of John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy advisor. The delegation will number 64, about half of whom are clerks and stenographers. Mr. Marshall said he plans to leave March 5 for Moscow. He said Mr. Dulles was added after consultation with Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the

HOUSE LOCKED IN DEBATE ON CLOSED SHOP

Uzell Claims Measure Is Idle Gesture Affecting Few North Carolina Industries

Raleigh (AP)—Unlimited House debate began today on a bill to outlaw the closed shop and mandatory check-off system in North Carolina industry.

First to lock in debate were Rep. Scott of Beaufort, co-introducer, and Rep. Uzell of Rowan.

Scott said that at last week's hearing before the manufacturers, labor and commerce committee, somebody said that the measure was promoted by Wall Street, that it was fascist and would promote strife between employers and employees. He said he resented those allegations, that he came from the laboring class and always had been on its side.

"But," Scott said, "I do believe it dangerous when any labor union becomes too powerful." When the time comes, he said, that a man has to join a union in order to work, "then I believe it time to stop and check up."

Uzell said the measure would be intrastate only and therefore would affect very few industries in North Carolina. Therefore, he added, its adoption would be only an idle gesture. It is a slap at organized labor in the state, he said, and might endanger the harmonious relations between labor and management in this state.

Also speaking against the anti-closed shop bill were Reps. Shreve of Guilford, Royster of Vance and Umstead of Orange. Both Royster and Umstead said it was debatable whether the measure would Washington (AP)—President Truman today sharply modified the reciprocal trade agreements program to make "doubtful" sure that American interests will be properly safeguarded.

Mr. Truman said in a statement that an executive order providing for procedural changes followed conversations he had with Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Millikin (R-Colo.), and Undersecretaries of State Dean Acheson and William L. Clayton.

The order, Mr. Truman said, "formalizes and makes mandatory certain existing trade agreement procedures" and in addition "makes some procedural changes."

The President said that the provisions of the order do not deviate from the traditional principles of former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who fathered the program, and added in his statement: "All of us must now recognize that bi-partisan support of our foreign economic policy, as well as of our foreign policy in general, is essential."

Jap Train Wreck Is Worst Rail Disaster Known

Komatsu, Japan (AP)—At least 178 Japanese were reported killed and 350 injured today when four cars of a six-car train jumped the track here and plunged down a 30-foot embankment. It was one of the worst railway disasters in Japan's history.

Unofficial reports said the coupling between the second and third cars gave way as the steam train rounded a downhill curve. The last four cars tumbled down the bank into a wheat field.

The engineer did not know until he reached the next station that he had lost part of his train.

Four small wooden cars which had carried 200 persons each were strewn in bloodstained, splintered wreckage for 200 yards. A few yards from the wreckage, the bodies of men, women and children lay in a small field.

A railroad inspector here said 178 persons were killed, but it was doubtful the final toll could be counted until the wreckage had been cleared.

The fire department was called about 2 p. m. today to Eighth street and Dickinson avenue when an automobile caught fire. The blaze had been extinguished when the department arrived. Under the fire department setup it has been frequently requested that when a motor vehicle is on fire that the fire department be phoned. They will send the small truck instead of sending of thousands of dollars worth of heavy equipment to the scene.

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—More than 2,000 striking Buffalo school teachers vowing a fight "to the finish," today awaited official reaction to their claim that the city is able to meet demands for a $1,025 annual pay raise "now."

The strikers, members of the Buffalo Federation of Teachers (Independent), said they were confident that many of the 534 teachers who failed to participate, would join in as the walkout entered its second day.

The strike, largest of its kind in the history of the United States, yesterday closed all but 20 of the city's 98 public schools. School attendance was 9,796 out of an enrollment of 71,000.

Washington (AP)—Sen. Taft, Republican of Ohio, put the army and navy on notice today that while they may escape severe budget cuts this year the next Congress session very likely will trim their combined funds to $7,500,000,000.

As the Senate marked time before resuming limited debate tomorrow on a government spending ceiling goal, Taft told a reporter he believes the armed forces ought to begin now to plan to taper off costs to a peacetime level.

Taft, who heads the Senate Republican policy committee, said he regards $7,500,000,000 as the limit Congress is likely to provide for military needs in the year beginning July 1, 1948.

That compares with $11,200,000,000 President Truman asked for the services in the $37,500,000,000 government budget he recommended for the next fiscal year.

How far Congress will slash into that fund remained a question despite clear indications that the Senate will approve a pledge to reduce the total outlay by $4,500,000,000. The House has voted a promise to cut $6,000,000,000, and Taft predicted

Washington (AP)—Who uses what form in filing his 1946 income tax return by March 15?

There are only three ways of making a return: on Form W-2, the Withholding Statement; the 1040 Short-Form; or the 1040 Long-Form.

Generally, people who made under $5,000 can use Form W-2 or the 1040 Short-Form. You don't work out your tax with either.

But if you made $5,000 or over you must use the 1040 Long-Form and figure out your tax.

A fairly full explanation of what must be done about each form will be given in later stories. Here's a brief fill-in now.

Form W-2, the Withholding Statement—

This is the receipt given an employee by a boss for tax withheld from his wages or salary in 1946.

It is the simplest of all forms to use. No tax-figuring to do. You answer a few questions and mail it to your Internal Revenue Collector. The full tax is supposed to have been withheld from people who worked for wages or salary and made under $5,000.

So if your only income was from wages or salary and was under $5,000, you can use Form W-2.

Suppose, in addition to wages or salary, you had other income. Can you still use Form W-2?

Yes, provided that added income was not more than $100, and was from interest or dividends and wages not subject to withholding and your total income was under $5,000.

If you had income of any amount, no matter how small, from things like rents or annuities, or professional fees, you can't use Form W-2. You'll have to use the 1040 Short or Long-Form, depending on your case.

The 1040 Short-Form—

(The difference between the 1040 Short-Form and the 1040 Long-Form is this:)

(With the Short-Form you do no figuring. You find your tax in the table on the back. With the Long-Form you must figure your own tax.)

Washington (AP)—The White House declined comment today on an editorial suggestion by the Washington Post that former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes be appointed ambassador to London.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, asked at a news conference for comment, replied that he would rather not say anything.

A reporter asked if that meant "the door is being left open for possible appointment of Mr. Byrnes."

"No comment," Ross said.

Byrnes called on President Truman yesterday and, when leaving the White House, told reporters he had no plans to reenter the government and had not been offered any government post.

Blames Truman For Palestine Trouble

Bevin Charges Negotiations For Peaceful Settlement Wrecked By President In Intervening During Crisis

London (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin charged today that President Truman wrecked negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the Palestine problem by calling for immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land during the U. S. congressional election campaign last fall.

Opening a House of Commons debate on the Holy Land question, Bevin declared there was still a chance of settling it outside the United Nations.

Bevin said he was engaged in crucial negotiations with Jews and Arabs last October.

"At that state," he said, "things looked more hopeful and there was a feeling—I don't think I overstate it—that I had the right approach at last, but what happened?"

"I went back to the Paris Peace Conference and the next day—I believe it was Atonement Day or one special day of the Jewish religion—the prime minister telephoned me at midnight and told me the president of the United States was going to issue another statement on this 100,000."

Bevin paused and then said very slowly:

"I think the country and the world ought to know this: I went next morning to the secretary of state, Mr. Byrnes, and told him how far I had got the day before, and that I believed we were on the road, if only they would leave us cepting coal. It achieved economic

Reciprocal Trade Agreement Program Under Revision

U. S. TO ASK ATOM REVIEW

Will Ask Atomic Control Be Re-Studied By Commission

42-US TO ASK

Lake Success, N. Y. (AP)—In an effort to break the American-Russian atomic deadlock on international atomic control, the United States prepared today to ask the U. N. Security Council to send the controversial issue back to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Under the proposed American plan, the Atomic Energy Commission would be asked to exert its efforts to reconcile the American and Russian views which have prevented the council from agreeing on a system of control of atomic energy and divert its power to peace-time purposes.

An authoritative source said U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin was prepared to propose that the council refer the issue to the Atomic Energy Commission in another effort to reconcile the U. S. and Russian views.

Austin was expected to make his proposal when the council meets today if other delegates do not ask to be heard on the issue. If the debate is continued, these sources said, then Austin will make such a proposal when the discussions are concluded.

British sources said Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's chief delegate to the U. N. Council, would support the American proposal.

BILL BOOSTING RENTS OKAYED IN COMMITTEE

Senate Banking Group Approves Ten Percent Increase In Ceilings

Washington (AP)—A Senate banking subcommittee today approved a bill authorizing a 10 per cent increase in present ceilings on rents.

The bill would end federal rent controls next December 31 and remove the administration of controls from the office of price administration.

The controls would be vested in the courts except where the states chose to establish their own enforcement.

Senator Buck (R-D.), chairman of the subcommittee, told reporters the bill would be ready to lay before the full committee in about a week. He said the five-man group split 3 to 2 on many provisions.

Buck outlined these provisions of the legislation:

1. Permission to increase rents 10 per cent over the ceilings of last December 31.
2. Decontrol of new housing and accommodations which were not completed between Feb. 1, 1946, and Jan. 31, 1947.
3. Lift controls on all hotel accommodations including trailer camps.
4. Remove ceilings on rents over $225 a month after application of the 10 per cent increase. Buck had urged this provision, saying people who can afford to pay that amount "need no protection."
5. Allow reasonably increased rent by agreement between landlord and tenant for certain improvements.
6. To continue rent control but without help of OPA, ending federal supervision next Dec. 31.
7. Leave enforcement to the courts, permitting the tenant to go into any court with his grievance. Recovery would be fixed at $500 or triple damages, whichever was the greater.
8. Allow the states to apply to a federal agency designated to take over control.
9. Transfer of rent records and files to the department of commerce where they would be made accessible.

Indian Hearing

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—The Senate Education Committee today voted to give an unfavorable report to a joint resolution introduced by Rep. Dan Tompkins memorializing Congress to enact legislation emancipating members of the eastern band of Cherokee Indians.

The committee voted after hearing eight Cherokee Indians, including Chief Jack Blythe, give reasons why they opposed Tompkins' bill.

Chief Blythe, first speaker of the opposition, said, "My people are afraid of what might happen to them if the federal government releases its control."

He said the U. S. government gave the Cherokee Reservation $300,000 annually to maintain a school, road building, and medical supervision, and added that he did not feel that the State of North Carolina would grant an equal fund.

Pistol-Packing Grandpa Also Had An Axe

Detroit (AP)—Dearborn township's pistol-packing grandpa revealed today that if her 38 revolver had failed yesterday when she was warding off prowlers in her lonely house, she had a "nice sharp axe" ready.

Mrs. Emma Arnold, 76-year-old widow, did a competent job of defending her four-acre farm when four youthful veterans, armed with souvenir Japanese weapons, went to look into reports that the house was "haunted."

Taking steady aim with the pistol she had kept during the 31 years she lived alone on the isolated farm, the elderly reclusa "nicked one intruder on the forearm as he stuck a sword through the window."

The others fled. When sheriff's officers heard a report of the incident and went to investigate, Mrs. Arnold explained she needs the gun "to protect myself from prowlers and shoot at those mean dogs that bother my cats."

"And if the gun hadn't worked," she added, "I had another surprise ready for them—a nice sharp axe."

Behind Britain's Woe

An Analyst's Interpretation Of Basic Reasons Behind Industrial And Economic Setbacks Suffered By England; Roots Extend Beyond World War One

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The new Battle of Britain—this time economics—received fresh impetus yesterday when 1,000,000 employees streamed back into factories in the Midlands, thereby breaking a country-wide industrial blackout which had lasted a fortnight because of the disastrous shortage in coal production—life blood of the nation.

Some 4,000,000 workers remained idle in other parts of England. But coal was moving in appreciable quantities again.

Last Friday Britain's Socialist Government appealed to the already austerly-weary nation for further sacrifices in an all-out effort to meet the economic crisis threatening the foundations of John Bull's way of life.

It was a call to arms equalled in our time only by the immortal declaration of Winston Churchill in the black days of May, '40. "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat." Indeed, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said that the present government "offers the British people toil, tears and sweat. Blood alone they are spared in these trying days of peace."

That was a blunt but accurate way of summing up a situation without precedent in modern English history. Britain is fighting for her life.

The government's appeal declared "the central fact of 1947 is that we have not enough resources to do all that we want to do and barely enough to do all that we must do." Therefore, it said, Britain must attend to "first things first"—strictly control imports, get production into high gear and sharply increase exports before the fast-dwindling American dollar loan runs out. Unless the country concentrates on the really important things, "we may never restore the foundation of our national life."

This is a grim situation. It has been developing over a long period. This crisis has been precipitated by the drain of war, but it had its inception way back before even the first world conflict.

Britain's position, as I see it, is due to the fact that it isn't a self-sustaining nation. The country has almost no natural resources except

Stiffer Prison Term Is Sought

The eight-year sentence was imposed upon von Papen by a Nuernberg demasification court yesterday after it had convicted him of having supported the Nazi regime in Germany. His personal fortune was confiscated.

GREENVILLE AIRPORT HAS FLIGHT SERVICE

The field with its three 5,000-foot paved runways is now open for private use.

Manager Charles E. Steinhilber said the company will service aircraft, arrange for plane charter flights; sell aircraft parts and accessories and gas and oil.

He expects to complete plans by March 15 to operate a civilian pilot training school for veterans under the GI Bill of Rights, he stated.

The fixed base operator is arranging to provide all of the conveniences needed at an airfield. Personnel at the airport now in addition to Manager Steinhilber are Jack R. Sutton, chief pilot, and Jack T. Jolley, maintenance supervisor. Steinhilber and Sutton were in the army, Jolley in the Marines during the war. They are from Lumberton.

A feature of the Barnes Aircraft Service here will be a licensed woman ground and flight instructor. She is Miss Dorothy Wiggins, who graduated under Horace Barnes when he was conducting a flying school in Greenville in connection with East Carolina Teachers College before the war.

Manager Steinhilber said they are now ready to give instructions in flying to civilians and that

TOBACCO CROP CUT DELAYED

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—An effort to get the entire bright leaf tobacco crop reduced by 10 per cent was temporarily delayed in the Legislature today pending an expression by farmers. Rep. S. O. Worthington of Pitt sent up a joint resolution to memorialize Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson and Net.C vbgkrdvva btkq the N. C. congressional delegation to effect the reduction. He said that the government now has a $8,000,000 pound surplus and Great Britain has signified its intention to reduce purchases by 15,000,000 pounds.

That, Rep. Worthington said, would create chaos. He moved for immediate passage of the resolution and was supported by Reps.

An Analyst's Interpretation Of Basic Reasons Behind Industrial And Economic Setbacks Suffered By England; Roots Extend Beyond World War One

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The new Battle of Britain—this time economics—received fresh impetus yesterday when 1,000,000 employees streamed back into factories in the Midlands, thereby breaking a country-wide industrial blackout which had lasted a fortnight because of the disastrous shortage in coal production—life blood of the nation.

Some 4,000,000 workers remained idle in other parts of England. But coal was moving in appreciable quantities again.

Last Friday Britain's Socialist Government appealed to the already austerly-weary nation for further sacrifices in an all-out effort to meet the economic crisis threatening the foundations of John Bull's way of life.

It was a call to arms equalled in our time only by the immortal declaration of Winston Churchill in the black days of May, '40. "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat." Indeed, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said that the present government "offers the British people toil, tears and sweat. Blood alone they are spared in these trying days of peace."

That was a blunt but accurate way of summing up a situation without precedent in modern English history. Britain is fighting for her life.

The government's appeal declared "the central fact of 1947 is that we have not enough resources to do all that we want to do and barely enough to do all that we must do." Therefore, it said, Britain must attend to "first things first"—strictly control imports, get production into high gear and sharply increase exports before the fast-dwindling American dollar loan runs out. Unless the country concentrates on the really important things, "we may never restore the foundation of our national life."

This is a grim situation. It has been developing over a long period. This crisis has been precipitated by the drain of war, but it had its inception way back before even the first world conflict.

Britain's position, as I see it, is due to the fact that it isn't a self-sustaining nation. The country has almost no natural resources except

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR February 25, 1907

From the Greensboro Record—The East wants a normal college principally because the west has one. Other considerations are cast to the forewinds of heaven. The most disgusting sight of all is to see the hand of politicians in all these doings. These gentlemen are like the dignified man who is always two-thirds drunk; he never gets down in the gutter and he thinks he is fooling his most intimate friends, when a blind man knows about his falling. It looks like friends of the state normal, some of whom are supposed to be in Raleigh about this time, have gone to sleep and sold out. It strikes us that it is about time people living up this way should understand the tricks of these eastern politicians but they seem unable to learn. We wonder why the friends of the state normal had not made some sort of a defense of that institution against the onslaught of Eastern politicians but that voice is not raised.

1945, she served at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., Ft. Snelling, Minn., Ft. Sheridan, Ill. Widening her scope of travel she reported to Camp Stoneham, Calif., to be processed for overseas duty. On November 7th she watched the graceful sweeping span of the Golden Gate bridge of San Francisco fade into the grey sky, as she sailed out of the harbor, Orient-bound. Arriving in Japan in less than three weeks, she became a member of the occupation forces in Tokyo.

With 38 months of service chalked to her record, she wears the Good Conduct medal, American theatre ribbon, Victory medal, and the Meritorious Service Unit award.

Training School PTA Held Meet On Anniversary
The Public School, the Church and Sunday School, and the Home constitute the three most important contributors to a child's development, declared Mr. Wendell Smiley, librarian at East Carolina Teachers College, in his address to the Training School P.T.A. at the latter's February meeting celebrating the 56th anniversary of the founding of P.T.A.

He deplored the fact that, while parents are very critical of the mechanism and performance of schools they purchase, they seldom show a corresponding interest in the training and ability of teachers who are mold and train the minds of their children.

Mr. Smiley emphasized the importance of the Church and Sunday School in promoting the child's spiritual growth and in creating a proper love and appreciation for the better things of life.

He declared the home relation between parent and child to be the most important phase of all in the development of the child. He urged parents to grow with their children, work with them, win and keep the confidence of their children and above all not to abdicate the parents' responsibility to either Church or Public School.

At the conclusion of Mr. Smiley's talk Mrs. W. G. Garner gave a short synopsis of the history of P.T.A. Brief biographical sketches of the National Presidents of P.T.A. were presented by Mesdames Lyle Leichter, John Karsnak, Raymond Duffin, George Clapp, L. L. Standell, Bob Lang, Royce Hunsicker.

Funeral arrangements are not complete. The body will be returned to the United States for burial in the Pierce family cemetery near Ayden.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Smith of near Greenville; two brothers, Wesley Smith of Chicago, Ill., and Robert C. Smith of the home, and three sisters, Mary Frances Smith of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Virginia Bowen of Greene county and Agnes Smith of the home.

ECTC Students Interviewed At Rotary Meeting

By WYATT BROWN

Four students from East Carolina Teachers College who are ex-servicemen were interviewed last night by Howard McGinnis, chairman of the International Service Committee, at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club. Before introducing each student Dr. McGinnis said they were all ex-servicemen, children of naturalized citizens, and all were fine students.

Interviewed were Louis Tartarski, Richard Tarravchia, John J. Faschans and Nick Pokakis.

Given the opportunity Pokakis spoke of a college student movement to which he belongs and is very much interested—World Federation of World Government. He told how college students have organized themselves all over the country to promote interest in World Federation, and challenged his audience to think how a world government would effect them.

There are many leaders in the world today, he said, who want a world government but that two countries—the United States and Russia—are holding up the realization. In America it is public opinion that is supplying the brakes to counter which he said his movement was working to get people to back up the U. S. representatives to the United Nations.

Charles Bissette, chairman of Rotary Ladies Night, called attention to plans for ladies' night due at seven p. m. Monday March 3rd at the Rotary Club building. Attention was called to a Charter Presentation night for a new Rotary Club at Maysville. Ollie VanWortwick, Jr., vice-president, presided in the absence of Judson Blount, club president. Last night witnessed the first appearance officially of the publication, "The Lubricator," dedicated to being the Rotarians' "Little Messenger."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

Why are some people atheists? A few reject God because they have sincere intellectual doubts which keep them from believing in a personal God. There are others whose belief in God was wrecked by some unfortunate experience, some disappointment, perhaps, in the character of a professing Christian. But for the most part those who profess atheism do so because they want to avoid being compelled to face the moral challenge which a belief in God involves. If they acknowledge the existence of God, then they have to submit to God's moral requirements. Most of the so-called "intellectual freedom" with which people justify their scoffing attitude toward things divine is just a frantic attempt to avert the face from this stern moral requirements which a belief in God involves.

The Bohemian type of person who lives a lewd life, calls it artistic and prates about his emancipation from ancient superstitions is a poor cowardly creature trying to face the reality and at the same time persuade himself that the spiritual reality he fears does not exist. The economic radical who calls religion the opium of the masses is largely interested in getting a bigger slice of life's benefits and wants to declare as non-existent that supreme spiritual Master who declared: "Man cannot live by bread alone."

Blames Truman . . .

"I begged that the statement not be issued, but I was told that if it was not issued by Mr. Truman a competitive statement would be issued by Mr. (Thomas E.) Dewey," (President) Truman said in October cabled Prime Minister Attlee his belief that "substantial immigration into Palestine cannot await a solution to the Palestine problem and that it should begin at once." He promised U. S. assistance to an immigration movement and he pledged American support for any future workable solution for the Jews and Arabs of Palestine. In speaking strongly in favor of a partition plan put forward by the Jewish agency, the president urged that the Jews be given a largely independent state "in an adequate area of Palestine," and that Britain agree to issue immediately certificates for 100,000 Jewish immigrants. The request obviously angered the British at that time.

en-man crew cruised the area and "dragged" the lake where the crashed plane rested twice before making a landing.
"It was sort of tense," he said. "The B-29 crew lined up on each side of a landing area—a strip about 2,500 feet long. We approached over an 800 foot hill and at air speed of 120 miles so we would not bounce in. In case the ice gave we had sufficient speed to go on."
"We were able to stop about 500 feet from the B-29. We taxied back and forth to smooth the snow so as to be sure the snow would not stop our wheels when we tried to take off."
The C-54 crew unloaded all unnecessary supplies.
At the time the weather was 25 to 30 degrees below zero.
"When we got the men on board we started off and then fired the four rockets which gave a 1450-horsepower thrust. The rockets burned only about eight seconds. Then we were off at a speed of about 85 miles an hour."
The entire operation took only 20 minutes, Cabnar said.

Teachers . . .

School Superintendent Robert T. Bapst said these schools would continue to function as long as possible with any of the 2,980 city teachers who want to work.
An official stand on the dispute was expected at today's regular meeting of the Board of Education. City Corporation Counsel Fred C. Maloney held yesterday that the striking teachers had "breached their contracts" and could be "summarily removed by the Board of Education" without a hearing.
"The teachers' response was better than anyone had anticipated," said Federation President Raymond J. Ast, adding they were "determined to fight this through to the finish."

planes are now for hire for short or long flights daily.
"We have a Lockheed Lodestar 14-passenger plane which will operate on unscheduled flights from Lumberton to New York with stopovers at Greenville. Business and professional men who have, service in New York will find this business very convenient. The Lodestar will make two flights a week," he said.
Members of the local Airport Commission are L. M. Buchanan, chairman; G. H. Pittman of Falkland, vice chairman; W. Jasper Smith of Bethel, and N. C. Brooks and Willard T. Kyzer, executive secretary and treasurer. Pittman and Smith represent the County Commissioners; Buchanan and Brooks, the Greenville Board of Aldermen.

American difficulties confronting Secretary of State Marshall in his preparation for the Moscow Foreign ministers conference next month.
Lt. Gen. John, commander of American forces in Korea, said last night he has given up trying to negotiate with Russia for unification of the country under a provisional government.
"I have done all I can over there and have come back for discussions at higher levels," Hodge told a news conference after a visit with President Truman.
The general declined to say whether he has suggested that Marshall tackle the problem at the big four conference in Moscow March 10, but he said the Koreans favor this course.
Under the Moscow agreement of 1945, a joint Korean commission is supposed to set up a provisional government over both U. S. and Russian zones. The commission broke up in a deadlock last year over Russian insistence that no Koreans who opposed the Soviet plan for a five-year trusteeship over their nation should take part in the government.

The 1040 Long-Form—
You must use this and figure your own tax if your 1946 income was $5,000 or over, from wages or any sources.
Note: What about deductions? When you use Form W-2 or the 1940 Short-Form, you're automatically given credit for deductions amounting to 10 percent of your income.

If your deductions, such as for medical bills, were actually more than 10 percent of income, don't use Form W-2 or the 1040 Short-Form.
In that case, use the 1040 Long-Form where you have to itemize all your deductions but deduct them from your tax when you figure it out.
What of the people who have to use the 1040 Long-Form because their income was $5,000 or more? They—everyone—can take automatically a $500 deduction, even though the actual deductions didn't

So I believe we will find that Britain's present crisis is a logical development which has its roots in the fact that the country is so lacking in natural resources. The corollary to this would seem to be that John Bull is faced with the problem of readjusting his entire economic structure—his whole way of life.

An investment in the dependability and quality for which the Oldsmobile name is famous. An investment in the riding comfort of Quadri-Coil Springing and 4-Way Stabilization. An investment in the matchless driving ease of GM Hydra-Matic Drive*—the only drive that shifts gears automatically and eliminates the clutch pedal entirely.
