SENATE DRAWS FIRST DRAFT OF LABOR LAW

Measure Would Ban "National Paralysis" Strikes, Closed Shops

Washington (AP)—A proposal designed to block "national paralysis" strikes was offered to the Senate Labor Committee today as part of the preliminary draft of a general labor bill.

Senators said this tentative version which the committee plans to discuss next week provides, among other things, for a ban on the closed shop and for the outlawing of jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts.

It would make it an unfair labor practice for a national union to dictate contract terms to its locals, but would impose no outright ban on industry-wide bargaining.

A committee member who helped draw up the plan to avert "national paralysis" strikes told a reporter it provides for these steps when collective bargaining and mediation efforts break down in the case of a threatened strike which would seriously affect the public welfare:

- 1. The government could obtain a temporary injunction to avert the strike.
2. The disputing parties would be required to renew and continue mediation efforts while the injunction was in effect.
3. If no settlement was reached, the President could declare an emergency and call on Congress...
4. Any action Congress might take would apply only to the particular emergency at hand.

Release Heiress On Bond; To Wed Co-Defendant

Santa Ana, Calif.—(AP)—Scheduled to be released from jail today on $50,000 bond, 17-year-old heiress Louise Overell was making plans to marry George Gollum, 21, her co-defendant on charges of murdering her parents.

Gollum, husky, blonde pre-medical student, was not admitted to bail, and if Miss Overell succeeds in carrying out her plan to marry him on her 18th birthday, April 30, the ceremony will have to be performed in the county jail.

Long before the 47-foot yacht of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell was blasted by a dynamite explosion last March 15, Louise and Gollum confided to friends they would marry as soon as she reached her majority. She is sole heir to her parents' $60,000 estate.

Will Intensify U. S. Development Korea

Seoul—(AP)—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, returning from conferences in Washington, said today that American efforts to strengthen democracy and economic development in South Korea would be intensified.

"If we can't get Russian cooperation, we must carry out our commitments alone," the commander of American occupation forces told a press conference.

He referred to stalemated efforts to join with the Russians in setting up a provisional Korean government for all of Korea.

Blast In Fireworks Plant Kills 10 Workers

Scattered bits of charred wreckage cover the site of a fireworks manufacturing plant at Clinton, Mo., after an explosion and fire that killed 10 of the 28 employees in the one-story building, and injured five others. The cause of the blast was not determined immediately. (AP Wirephoto).

Expects Assembly To Close Session

May Wind Up Work Tonight After Vigorous Three-Month Session; Progressive Legislation Put Into Working Order; Some Main Features

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—A debate-wary General Assembly is expected to draw to a close tonight after a three-month-long session which has seen teachers' salaries increased 30 per cent, a good health program put into working order, and an unprecedented wine-beer control measure enacted into law.

An attempt to solve the ancient problem of alcohol by giving the people of municipalities and counties the right to vote on wine and beer is one of the most remarkable pieces of legislation the current assembly produced.

Out of an avalanche of local and statewide alcohol legislation that has swamped the solons, this precedent-breaking bill which would allow every county and town to hold a referendum on beer or wine on a petition of 15 per cent of the voters was introduced at the tail-end of the session as a compromise measure, the effect of which time will tell.

The state's biggest permanent improvement bill was made a law. It calls for $48,500,000 — part of which will be used for construction in carrying out the medical care program, including erection of hospitals and medical centers, a four-year medical school and a 400-bed teaching hospital at Chapel Hill.

Teachers' salaries, with an increase set at 20 per cent by the governor, were raised to 30 per cent and state employees received a 20 per cent pay boost in the biennial appropriations bill which calls for a whopping expenditure of $311,000,000.

A continuing revenue act which provides for $184,000,000 in general fund revenue in the next biennium, was enacted into law.

Over $9,000,000 of the current surplus was transferred to a post-war reserve fund to make a total of $30,000,000 which was set aside as a "cushion" against decline in state revenue.

Labor took a harsh beating at the hands of the assembly which passed a measure which, if continued, would...

NEWSMEN SEE INSIDE PRAVDA

Visitors In Moscow See "Voice of Russia" At Work

Moscow—(AP)—The editors of Pravda opened their giant plant yesterday to a party of British and American correspondents, who were given an inside glimpse of the workings of Soviet journalism.

Pravda, organ of the Communist party, sets the thinking pace for the average Soviet citizen and its editorials frequently echo in world capitals where they are read for indications of Kremlin policy.

With a circulation of 2,500,000, Pravda brings in 500,000 rubles a day—almost $100,000 at the official rate. It not only pays its own way, but makes a profit for the Communist party, its editors said.

The newspaper's 36 linotype machines and 19 rotary presses, largely of American, British and German make, are housed in a building which is the pride of the city.

Rev. Richard E. Hardaway is pastor of the church. The church has prospered since he came to Greenville.

The educational building will be of brick construction, 80 by 100 feet. It will front Greene street and have an entrance on Fourth street. The modern three-story structure will connect with the church at the southwestern corner.

The building was planned for educational and recreational purposes. A reception room, young people's room and other necessary facilities, including a modern kitchen and dining hall will be provided.

The new educational building will provide adequate rooms for Bible school class activities and special meetings.

Churches Oppose Truman Doctrine

New York—(AP)—More than 200 Protestant churches in 30 states have signed a statement opposing President Truman's proposal for aid to Greece and Turkey, the Rev. William Howard Melish, chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, announced.

The churches said in the statement, according to Mr. Melish, that the President's proposal constituted a "blatant abandonment" of the principles of one world, and said that it would divide the world into two camps.

Denominations represented in the protest include Protestant Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Unitarian, United Lutheran, Religious Society of Friends, Evangelical and Reformed, Disciples of Christ, Congregational-Christian, Baptist and A. M. E. Zion church.

BAPTISTS LET CONTRACT FOR NEW BUILDING

Memorial Church To Have Modern Educational Plant; Church Growing

By CHESTER WALSH

The Memorial Baptist Church Building Committee yesterday awarded the contract for an educational building on the church property at Fourth and Greene streets to J. B. Batton and Bro. of Edenton. The successful bid was for $70,000. Chairman Nathan C. Brooks stated. Construction will start shortly.

Other members of the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Stroud, Mrs. Ed E. Rawls, J. D. Aman, J. H. Boyd, Jr., and E. R. Conway.

Rev. Richard E. Hardaway is pastor of the church. The church has prospered since he came to Greenville.

The educational building will be of brick construction, 80 by 100 feet. It will front Greene street and have an entrance on Fourth street. The modern three-story structure will connect with the church at the southwestern corner.

Round-The-World Flight To Start This Afternoon

New York—(AP)—The round-the-world flight of Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer, and his two-man crew has been delayed until mid-afternoon by rain and murky weather conditions, a spokesman for Reynolds said today.

Frederick Lamb, trip director said the converted A-26 Douglas bomber in which Reynolds hopes to set a new globe-girdling mark of 55 hours would leave Roosevelt Field on Long Island about 1 or 2 p.m. (EST) for Newark Airport, the takeoff point.

There the plane will be fueled and readied for its record breaking attempt, Lamb added.

He said meteorologists reports indicated the fliers would encounter clearing weather when approximately 450 miles out over the Atlantic.

The flight log for the trip includes stops at Paris, Cairo, Calcutta, Shanghai, Tokyo and Anchorage, Alaska.

Kinston To Have "Chant-School"

Kinston, N.C.—(AP)—A school for tobacco auctioneers will be opened at the Knott Warehouse here April 15, and a prospective student must have a good voice to be accepted.

Teachers will be Joe Cuthrell, who has been chanting for 30 years on southeast markets and B. E. Dale Jr., whom he has trained.

Cuthrell said there is a need for qualified auctioneers since many of the top criers have died or retired in recent years. There will be no theory taught in his classes, Cuthrell explained, since auctioneering must be learned by practical experience.

Babson Discusses Big Cities

New York City, April 5—Many letters have come to me saying: "Knowing you do not like investments in big cities such as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburgh, what would you suggest 'as insurance' for those who do live in these or other big cities? My answer is very simple, namely, to invest some of your money in small cities and well-diversified industries. Very big cities have reached their maximum of influence; their real estate will gradually decline in value; their workers will be less efficient; their cost of living will abnormally advance and their danger from communistic uprisings from within and attacks from without will continually increase.

Bullish on Small Cities I believe it is safe to say that locally controlled businesses in rural self-supporting and self-contained areas will more and more flourish. What sort of businesses in these rural areas offer the best opportunities?

ONLY HANDFUL OF MINES ARE RE-CERTIFIED

More Krug - Closed Coal Mines To Get Last-Minute Permits To Re-Open

By The Associated Press Only a scattered handful of the 518 soft coal mines ordered closed by the government for safety reasons were certified today (Sat.) as ready to resume operation Monday, but a coal mines administration spokesman in the rich Pittsburgh district predicted "a flood of last-minute certifications."

Another federal official predicted 25 per cent of the mines deemed unsafe would be ready to reopen at the end of the AFL-United Mine Workers' six-day mourning period for the victims of the Centralia, Ill. mine disaster. The 518 mines in 19 states normally produce 616,300 tons daily, or about one quarter of the nation's total.

Some UMW leaders called for caution in agreeing with mine operators in certification of mine safety, but the Department of the Interior said at Washington that pits could be reopened—regardless of the union's attitude—if Secretary Krug so ordered after receiving reports of a federal re-inspection.

The alternative method calls for operators and union safety committees to declare the mines safe and for the navy to issue its certification of safety.

In Pennsylvania, second largest producing state, only nine of 153 mines closed for safety reasons were ready to reopen Monday. Richard J. Maize, state secretary of mines, declared however, state inspection reports revealed few of the violations charged by the federal government.

Operators of 23 of Alabama's 35 closed mines applied for federal certification and were awaiting federal re-inspections. At Chicago, the Coal Mines Administration reported no closed shafts in Illinois.

PUSH EFFORTS OF MEDIATION

Conciliators Still Hope To Effect Last-Minute Settlement

Washington—(AP)—The government today redoubled its efforts to beat the deadline for a coast-to-coast telephone strike Monday by mediating the dispute without seizure of the industry.

Conciliation Director Eger L. Warren and John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, still hoped to duplicate their feat of last year. When they brought off a settlement just 25 minutes before a nationwide walkout of telephone workers was due to begin.

The contract negotiations between the independent National Federation of Telephone Workers and the Bell System involve directly 287,000 members of 39 unions. But the NFWT expects possibly 340,000 workers to go out if the strike develops as scheduled at 6 a.m. in each time zone Monday.

Government conciliators here stepped up their talks involving two of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's biggest and most important units. These are the long-lines division which handles the long-distance operations of the Bell System, and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

While the conciliators worked with union and company representatives in private conferences, Gibson and Warren called a separate huddle with A.T.&T. Vice President C. F. Craig.

G. S. Dring, assistant vice president of the A.T.&T. said "no progress was made toward settlement" in yesterday's discussions "although several offers and counteroffers were made by both parties."

Marines Wage Four-Hour Battle Against Chinese

Peiping—(AP)—Five U.S. Marines were killed and 16 wounded by armed Chinese in a four-hour battle at a Marine ammunition dump near Tangku today. Chinese military officers said the attackers whom they identified as Communists, suffered 100 casualties.

The Chinese officers said documents removed from the bodies of slain attackers showed positively they were Communists.

These officers announced that 600 Government troops from Chiang Kai-shek's Second Army had been dispatched from Tientsin to aid Marines in tracking down the attackers, whose numbers were not known.

Even as the attackers faded into the darkness from which they had struck at a Marine ammunition dump, a heavily-armed Marine convoy was made ready at Tientsin, 25 miles to the west, to set out in pursuit.

Stung by the biggest casualty toll in a long series of clashes with North China irregulars, Col. Julian N. Frisbie, commander of the Fifth Marines at Peiping, was flying to Tientsin to take personal command.

A brief Marine announcement confirmed that the fighting at Hsinho, five miles west of Tangku, raged for four hours and fifteen minutes beginning at 1:15 a.m.

Try To Pull France Into Western Orbit

U. S. And Britain Strive Pull French Into German Economic Merger As Big Four Continues To Falter

Moscow—(AP)—Some Western diplomats predicted today that if the Big Four foreign ministers fail to agree on Germany—as it appears they may—the United States and Britain would make new efforts to pull the French into the existing American-British economic merger of German occupation zones.

Some evidence was seen that the three Western nations were drawing more closely together. French sources talking privately with reporters have called for their attention French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's occasional agreements with Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposals. American and British have tried so hard to meet Bidault's demand for German coal, said some officials, that an agreement on this issue seems assured.

Though their progress seemed to have reached a near standstill, the ministers were scheduled to return today to their old dispute over power. They were to be vested in a prospective German government.

They skipped a meeting set for last night because a committee to prepare an agenda on political principles was not ready with its report.

The British were reported trying to force a showdown discussion on the government problem, but most diplomats were agreed that no effective moves to set up a central government in Germany could be made until basic economic questions had been settled.

This fact was seen as highlighting the extent of the stalemate blocking any action on current issues.

Phone Strikes ABC's

Starts Monday Morning; Who Will Be Hurt Most; The Dispute; Biggest Stumbling Block; Those Directly Involved; A Rough Outline Of The Two Arguments

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington—(AP)—Here's an ABC on the threatened telephone strike.

A strike—the call was issued for 6 a.m. Monday—would hurt most the long-distance and toll systems. Dial systems, being mechanical, could keep on going a while before a breakdown.

Attorney General Clark says the government has authority to seize the telephones. Maybe it will. Maybe not.

The dispute: between a number of unions and a number of companies.

Demands by the union: pay raises and other things.

Biggest stumbling block: the wage demands.

The unions have sought a nationwide settlement to make pay more equal everywhere.

The companies have held out for a company-by-company settlement so each company's agreement would fit its own local conditions.

Raiders Attack Ammunition Dump; Identified As Communists; Biggest Marine Casualty Toll In Series Of Clashes; Commander Plans Start Of Pursuit

Peiping—(AP)—Five U.S. Marines were killed and 16 wounded by armed Chinese in a four-hour battle at a Marine ammunition dump near Tangku today. Chinese military officers said the attackers whom they identified as Communists, suffered 100 casualties.

The Chinese officers said documents removed from the bodies of slain attackers showed positively they were Communists.

These officers announced that 600 Government troops from Chiang Kai-shek's Second Army had been dispatched from Tientsin to aid Marines in tracking down the attackers, whose numbers were not known.

Even as the attackers faded into the darkness from which they had struck at a Marine ammunition dump, a heavily-armed Marine convoy was made ready at Tientsin, 25 miles to the west, to set out in pursuit.

Stung by the biggest casualty toll in a long series of clashes with North China irregulars, Col. Julian N. Frisbie, commander of the Fifth Marines at Peiping, was flying to Tientsin to take personal command.

A brief Marine announcement confirmed that the fighting at Hsinho, five miles west of Tangku, raged for four hours and fifteen minutes beginning at 1:15 a.m.

The reports of the fighting were fragmentary, saying that one Marine tank was disabled by a land mine, and that several explosions of stored ammunition rocked the dump.

Marine fighter planes were called out, but the Chinese had vanished before the planes could get into action.

This same dump was raided last Oct. 3 by an estimated 200 Chinese who wounded a Marine slightly but left several of their own dead behind.

Would Require New Election By Greek People

Washington—(AP)—Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) proposed today that Congress require a new vote by the Greek people on the kind of government they want as a condition to American financial and military aid.

Russell announced his general support of a pending $400,000,000 assistance bill designed to bolster Greece, and Turkey against communism.

But he told a reporter he does so with no illusions that either country now has a democratic form of government and that he hopes provision will be made for a new plebiscite in Greece when the Senate considers the aid measure next week.

"I'm being realistic about this," Russell said. "I'm not saying that I want to help democracy in Greece and Turkey, because I don't believe the people have it there. But I'm for helping democracy in the United States."

"To do that, I'm willing to help arm the Turks against our only possible enemy—Russia."

Wanted: A Solomon

That Palestine Volcano Goes Before United Nations Soon; Need For Wisdom; Wide Gulf Between Arabs And Jews; Unanimous Decision Wanted

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

We are more than figuratively close in remarking that it will require the wisdom of a Solomon to enable the United Nations to reach a satisfactory solution of the bitter Arab-Jewish differences in Palestine.

The literature of both Jews and Mohammedans through the centuries has credited King Solomon with being the wisest of men. If Arabs and Jews still agree on this point, it's probably the only thing upon which they do see eye to eye. So it's clear that the sages of the peace organization must exercise the highest degree of wisdom if they are to succeed.

That puts the United Nations itself on trial in a big way. It calls upon it to demonstrate whether it is capable of settling a great international issue which for thirty years not only has failed to respond to British remedies but has grown steadily worse.

I've been studying this volcanic situation ever since its inception, much of the time at close range and believe that psychologically it has deteriorated so much that the Jews and Arabs probably never would accept any British decision. Some observers hold that Britain and America together might have succeeded in settling the issue a year ago, but even that possibility no longer seems to exist.

Still, the position isn't without hope. If the United Nations can evolve a program which will be acceptable to world opinion as represented in the organization, then the Arabs and Jews are more likely to accept it. Indeed, they undoubtedly would hesitate to go against world opinion.

So far as England is concerned, she hasn't decided to relinquish the mandate over Palestine and wouldn't necessarily consider U.N. recommendations as binding on her. She isn't saying in advance that she will implement a U.N. program. As a matter of fact she already has made it clear that she would be unable to furnish more troops or money for Palestine, and thus would be unable to comply with any plans which called on her for these things.

However, it is said in well-informed U.N. circles that England (Continued on Page Four)

DANCE ON THE DESERT

By Florence Theel

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 28

Bert called the other boys in. It wasn't easy to tell them, after their game gamble, that the two-timing Blackey Davis had just pulled all the props from under them. He stood up before them, let them have it straight.

"I guess it's lights out for us, fellows. That guy who just left here is moving in."

"Moving in here?"

"You mean Blackey Davis?"

"The guy we doctored out the place a couple weeks ago?"

Bert said, thin-lipped, "Yeh, Blackey Davis. He double-crossed us beautifully. That Chicago man was just a dummy, to buy this property—pull the wool over Mr. O'Malley's eyes. The stooge has just turned the property over to Davis."

"Well—the low down—say, why didn't I break that guy's neck when we had him here?" Carolina said. The others looked at each other, sunk.

"Well, you've got four months' grace, anyway," Roy said philosophically. "Maybe you can clean up a little money in that time."

"That's the hard part, fellas. That four-month clause was left out in the transfer."

"That guy was out to get our hides from the moment Gloria deSylvia quit him and came with us," Eddy said darkly. "I felt it in my bones."

"You were right," Bert admitted. "I should have listened to you."

"I kept telling you this whole proposition was no good from the beginning," Pete Scanlon said disagreeably.

"That was all Bert needed to raise his fighting spirit."

"Well, we're not licked yet! There must be some way to block that double-crosser. If Gloria could stand up to him right now and slap his face the way she did—we can pull a couple of punches on him, too."

His fist banged on the table. Suddenly, he had hit on a bright idea. He went to the door, calling, "Hey, Gloria! Come in here a minute, will you?"

Pete Scanlon grinned with smug satisfaction. "You're a little late, there, Bert. She just beat it down the road in her coupe—after her patent-leather sweetie."

Bert looked as though he had been struck below the belt.

"What do you do to your women, anyway, kid?" Pete leered. "That's the second one's run out on you down here."

"One more crack out of you, and you'll be running out of here with a black eye," Bert said, white with anger. He stalked out of the room, flung into the car and drove, at racing speed, to Palm Springs.

He wasn't following Gloria deSylvia, though. He was going to have things out with Dan O'Malley.

"So, it was a racket!" he accused, storming into the real estate man's office. "A pretty little frameup to sell us out to your friend Blackey Davis!"

The big men's face was splashed with red. "Believe me, son, I didn't have the faintest idea Davis was at the bottom of this. On my oath," he added, as Bert glared skeptically. "I was getting ready to call you up this minute."

"Well, you saved yourself a nickel!" Bert snapped.

"I've been sitting here trying to dope out some way we could beat that rascal at his own trickery."

"Yeh?" Bert temporized. "Well, what's on your mind, O'Malley?"

The real estate man smiled, vastly relieved. "Sit down here and cool off, son. Maybe between us we can figure something out. I wouldn't have had this happen for the world, believe me."

Asphamed that he had again been suspicious of the kindly old man, Bert sat down, and listened.

A half hour later, Mr. O'Malley jammed on his panama hat. He and Bert were off to look at two empty properties in Palm Springs.

"I know both the owners well," O'Malley said. "I'm sure we can make a deal."

One was a big corner place in a good location. Bert could see its possibilities at a glance. But Mr. Hill, the owner, told them, regretfully, "I'm very sorry, Dan. But somebody paid me a deposit on that rental, less than fifteen minutes ago."

Bert looked at O'Malley. "Come on, let's go see the other one!"

But there, to their dismay, they found an option had just been given on the place!

"Not half an hour ago," the owner said.

Now, Bert looked really sunk. "I guess we're licked, Mr. O'Malley. But thanks for trying, anyway." He bade the real estate man goodbye and got into his car.

If he had been a drinker, he would have marched up to a bar and got thoroughly drunk. As it was, he slumped down under an umbrella at an outdoor eating place and ordered some black coffee. Bitter and dispirited, he sat there, eyes closed, his head resting on his hand, while the waitress went to get it.

Suddenly a voice said, "Bert, how wonderful to find you here!" And Gloria deSylvia sat down in a chair beside him. "I was just going back to the Hacienda to get you."

"Get me for what? What's this all about?" he asked, suspiciously.

Beaming at him, she said triumphantly, "I've hit on a way to get even with Blackey. Look! She laid two pieces of paper before him—a receipt for a deposit on the corner store and an option on the second property."

"Why—you wonderful girl! What a business head you have on those beautiful shoulders!"

Why had he misjudged her, unheeded, just because Eileen Sarwell had walked out on him? Gloria had been dependable from the beginning—loyal. And this had been a very clever stroke of hers. What a wonderful team-mate she was!

His thoughts must have been reflected in his eyes, for suddenly Gloria put her hand on his, and leaned towards him under the gay umbrella. Bert was deeply touched. And he was very human. He bent down to her upraised lips and kissed her very thoroughly.

Gloria smiled at him, contented. Bert had no way of knowing that Blackey Davis had just passed behind him on the sidewalk, glowering like a thunder cloud, or that Gloria had seen him coming before she put her hand in his.

Chapter 29

With Gloria, Bert hurried to the real estate office.

"Here's the one who sewed up those two properties, Mr. O'Malley," O'Malley stared at Gloria coldly.

"For Blackey Davis, I presume. Hasn't he pulled enough low tricks already?"

Bert laughed. "Miss deSylvia's on our side, Mr. O'Malley. She's the singer with our band."

"Well, well! Glad to meet you. Seems you and I had the same idea, only you got there first."

"Pretty smart gal, isn't she?" Bert put his arm around her shoulder proudly. "Now if I can only figure out a way to swing the rent on one of these places Gloria's got cinched for us, we're still a going concern."

O'Malley said, with fatherly affection, "I listen to this lad, Miss deSylvia, and it's like hearing my own son who was lost in the war. My boy had the same kind of pluck, too."

He got up, reached for his shapeless panama. "I'm taking you over to my bank to meet Mr. Wetherall, the manager. We play chess together every week and—" O'Malley chuckled—"I have an idea he respects my judgment."

Apparently the bank manager did. For, after a half hour's conversation, he had agreed on a term loan to Bert at a fair interest rate.

Bert hurried back to the Hacienda to break the good news to the boys. It was worth all the worry he'd been through to see "kill-joy" Pete's eyes pop open, when Gloria walked in with him.

Assured, now, of financial backing, Eddy and Tony jumped at the proposition to open an all-day restaurant business in the heart of the resort.

"Sure—we serve three meals a day, like I'm-a used to, and we'll make three times so much money, is what I say," Tony stated enthusiastically.

Pepper Shyne, the reporter, gave them hearty congratulations.

"You've sure turned the tables on Blackey Davis this time. He can't horn in on any daytime proposition. And when you bring Tony's cooking right into town—well, the dividends are already in the bag, if I'm any kind of prophet."

"It's going to be a night-spot, too, Pepper. We're going to give Davis competition—right in his own territory."

"That's the ticket, fella! Tell the boys I'm coming out tonight to get their army citations."

"What do you want that for, Pepper? Nobody's interested in war stuff now."

The reporter winked knowingly. "A lot of guys stationed down at the air field get awfully tired of army chow."

Bert grasped Pepper's hand. "Boy, you're a pal!"

"I'm not forgetting the night you opened at the Hacienda." Pepper turned to Mr. O'Malley. "Maybe you don't know, Dan, but for the first hour or so, I was their only guest—non-paying at that—and those guys put on a floor show, just for me."

O'Malley nodded. "That kind of spirit's bound to succeed anywhere—and I'm no slouch of a prophet, myself."

"You won't let any of this out till the time comes, will you, Pepper?" Bert asked anxiously.

"Not me, brother! But I'm going to break the news to Blackey myself, when the deal's all set."

Gloria approved the wording of the Hacienda's final writeup: "Owing to the sudden sale of the Hacienda, Bert McLane and his Alvarado Merry Makers will play at their last roundup on Saturday, December 12."

"This will make Blackey gloat, all right. But I'd give anything to see his face when he finds you're opening up another place, right under his nose."

"Forget about Blackey!" Bert said. "From now on, he's an empty cartridge."

The cash register showed its biggest take when the Hacienda finally closed its doors. As they all sat around having sandwiches and coffee, before turning in for the last

Police Keep Eye On Monkey Shipments

Wilmington, N. C.—(AP)—Wilmington police kept watch on the monkeys today.

Some 300 Rhesus monkeys arrived Thursday on the steamship Steel Artisan from Calcutta. Police remembered the last time a big shipment of monkeys reached Wilmington and determined not to have similar trouble again.

On December 6, 1940, 500 monkeys arrived. Some escaped and it took police, firemen and shipping company-employees three days to round them all up.

A lot of her.

He only thought, doubting his affection for Eileen for the first time, "If she's getting along all right up there in Los Angeles with Paul, that's certainly all right with me."

After all she had walked out on him and now he had everything to Gloria—practically all the success they'd had here in the Hacienda, and certainly—through her loyalty and ingenuity—all the success that lay before them at the new place in town.

"I guess Mom's really right at that. Things do happen for the best, if we keep our hands off and just let them!"

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

EASTER

The word "Easter" means dawning. When Christ rose from the dead, a new era dawned for humanity. Christ brought immortality to light. He was now in a position to send his waiting followers the Holy Spirit, who he had promised would come to strengthen them and supply all the needs of character and soul.
By common consent we have agreed to reckon time from the birth of Christ, yet in a deeper sense the new era started not with his birth but with his resurrection. That day was what the word "Easter" signifies: it was the dawning of something vastly better than the race had known before.

To what extent on this particular Easter Day is humanity living in the dawn? Do our international relations presage the dawning of a long era of peace? Has the crashing of despotism, throughout the world? Are we facing an era of national prosperity, of intellectual awakening, of the enrichment of man's spirit, until he learns to put first the things which have to do with peace and love?

The coming months and the coming years will answer these questions. It suffices to say that the best contribution we can make to a better world order will be to make sure that a new and better day will dawn in our own hearts. All world betterment starts with the individual, which means that it starts with you and me.

When the dawn arrives, it brings not only opportunity but responsibility.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—The people in Siam hadn't seen an American magazine in five years. Then State Department officials in Bangkok, the Siam-ese capital, learned that thousands of bags of U. S. mail, most of it magazines, some of it newspapers, had been dead-lettered in Calcutta, India, when U. S. Army forces moved out and that this mail was going to be destroyed.

They wanted 150 bags of the mail—five tons in all—and had it chipped to Siam. They set about to issue it, with the compliments of the U. S. Information Service, to government offices, schools, libraries, editors, and to a limited group of prominent citizens and private organizations.

Assisting our people in Bangkok were about 20 of their Siamese friends.

"Siamese princesses worked side by side with their hairdressers," one American official reported, "and with university students, a reporter, an architect and an attorney."

The magazines were sorted into three general classifications:
A full list of all periodicals received for higher officials.

A partial list to be given lesser officials.

A special list for schools and libraries.

"Compliments of USIS—not to be sold" was stamped on each magazine, both in English and Siamese.

Complete packets went to the editors of the 55 publications in Bangkok—the Siamese, English and Chinese language papers.

Packets were sent to the 33 government ministers, offices, officials and government libraries in Bangkok.

Twenty-five packets, especially selected for library use, were sent to schools and other libraries.

The governors general of Siam's five provincial districts received complete packets, as did the governors of about 70 other communities in the "sticks."

Schools and hospitals, military and naval bases, the American legation and the American University Association received other packets.

More than 4,000 magazines were distributed.

Criticism in Bangkok reported that the distribution to the approved list progressed they were swamped with requests for "some of the magazines that USIS is giving away."

ery repair shops which should run

(7) Any well-located buildings of large capacity, which would be in demand for conversion for any of the above purposes.

Own Certain Real Estate

There should be added to this list existing homes and especially small farms over fifty miles from large cities. That is, cottages off the main line, which are not dependent upon the operation of a public utility.
Merchants should carry a full line of wood, coal and oil stoves, kersene lamps and candles as well as a big supply of canned goods. Don't always bank on others to supply garden produce, but each year plan enough of a garden to supply vegetables for sustenance and for canning in season. Remember that potatoes, beans and greens will furnish as good a diet as millions live on today.

It might be suggested that dollar bills, stored in a safe deposit vault would be a good hedge if another war or depression comes. That may not be true. Far better have some good jewels in your safe deposit box! What about local bank stocks?
The business of small banks may become very profitable. But large holdings of depreciated securities might make their stocks of little value. However, banks with their chief assets distributed throughout the central west and south should be safe.

Don't Be An Isolationist

We should continue to put forth our best efforts to make the United Nations a success and free the world both from another war and depression even while re-shaping our investment and living program along the above lines. Because we take out a fire insurance policy it does not mean that we expect our home to burn. Surely business should waste no time in decentralizing its operations; the military should be allowed its full budget estimates; and the Commerce Department should take precedence over the State Department.

same decision on a close vote.

As the U.N. tackles this highly controversial issue there is at least one favorable aspect. So far as the peace organization is concerned, the question is fresh. It isn't, for instance, like the Greek problem which already had produced a split among the powers before it arose in the U.N.

Of course, success must be premised on agreement among the Big Five—America, Britain, France, Russia and China. And that may not be too easy to achieve, since all these countries, except China have interests in the Levant. If it came to the use of military force this would have to be provided by the Big Five, since the U.N. has none of its own as yet, and a veto by one of the great powers would stymie the project.

off some ammunition.
That may have been their motive this time, but they found the dump the First Marine Division.

"At 1:15 on the morning of April 5," a brief Marine statement said,
"a dissident force of unknown numbers attacked the First Marine Division ammunition supply point near Tangku."
"By 5:30 this force was being pursued northward by Marine forces.
Five Marines were killed and 16 wounded in fighting off the attack."
While this said that the Marines were pursuing their assailants, subsequent reports indicated the engagement was broken off when the Chinese dispersed.
The Marine announcement identified the attackers only as "a dissident force," but other quarters here agreed with an official source in Nanking, who said they undoubtedly were Communist irregulars.
The wounded were taken by plane to the Marine hospital at Tientsin. All names were withheld pending notification of kin.
It was the biggest toll of Marines exactied by armed clashes since the Americans moved back into North China after Japan's surrender.

Winterville P.T.A. News
The last meeting of the Winterville P.T.A. was held on April 1 in the school auditorium. The meeting was opened by the president Mr. George Cox, and the attendance count taken. Mrs. Elks' fourth grade and Miss Whitford's seventh grade tied for the attendance prize.

Then the meeting was turned over to the Student Council who had charge of the program. The topic of the program was "North Carolina's No. 1 Need—Good Health."

The devotional was led by Edwin Ayrette, followed by a short summary of the Student Council's activities by its president, Peggy McGlohon. Patsy McGlohon gave an amusing recitation, entitled "Dieting," after which a more serious topic, "Health Conditions in N.C.," was discussed by Chester Stox.

Hilda Loftin gave a Good Health speech. Then Barbara Dail read a poem entitled "The Breed." "What We Can Do to Improve Health Conditions in N.C.," was discussed by M. T. Speir. J. N. Riggs gave a recitation, "The Stomach's Reply to the Boy." Barbara Worthington recited a poem, "Keep Your Machinery Fit," after which the entire Student Council sang the Good Health song, "It's All Up to You," with the help of Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, and Kay Kyser (on record). The program was enjoyed by all.

A RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE TOWN OF GRIFTON TO PROVIDE FOR THE ELECTION OF A MAYOR AND FIVE COMMISSIONERS FOR THE TOWN OF GRIFTON ON MAY 5, 1947.

Whereas, it is provided by law that an election for Mayor and five Commissioners shall be held in the Town of Grifton on the first Monday in May, 1947;

Now, therefore, be it and it is hereby resolved, by the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Grifton:

1. That an election be held in the Town of Grifton on Monday, May 5, 1947, for the purpose of electing a Mayor and five Commissioners for said Town in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the Town of Grifton as amended, and in accordance with the election laws of the State of North Carolina.
2. That J. A. Jarrell is hereby appointed registrar for said election.
3. That S. E. Nelson and J. W. Scarborough are hereby appointed Inspectors of Election.
4. That the registration books for said election shall be open for the registration of any electors residing in the Town of Grifton and entitled to register, between the hours of 9:00 A. M. and 5:00 P. M. on each day (Saturday and Sunday excepted), and shall be open between the hours of 9:00 A. M. and 9:00 P. M. on

Congressmen Fly To Attend Cairo Convention

Washington—(AP)—An 11-man congressional group headed by Senate Minority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) is flying today to Cairo to attend the Interparliamentary Union. Others in the delegation, which left Washington National Airport at 9:15 p. m. Thursday night in an army four-engine C-54 transport plane, included Senators Brewster (R-Maine), Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Hatch (D-N.M.); and Reps. Short (R-Mo.), Vorys (R-Ohio), Talle (R-Iowa), Anton Johnson (R-Ill.), Cooley (D-N.C.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), and Poage (D-Tex.).

They expected to reach Casa Blanca shortly before noon after a stop at Bermuda, and may visit Rome en route. They are due to arrive in Cairo this afternoon, noon.

The Interparliamentary Union, which will meet for a week starting Monday, was established to promote better relations between participating nations which have parliamentary systems of government.

Postal Business Said Improving

Washington—(AP)—Acting Postmaster General J. M. Donaldson told senators today that the "postal business is on an upward trend" but asked restoration of at least $3,269,200 slashed by the house from the department's budget for the next fiscal year.

The house cut nearly $14,586,000 from requested funds for the postal department in approving $1,530,733, 350 for its operations in the 12 months beginning July 1.

Donaldson told a senate appropriations subcommittee that postal revenues are expected to exceed estimates this year and in the next fiscal year.

He said that postal receipts, which are turned into the treasury, are running about $1,232,000 above estimates of $1,229,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Mine Inspectors OK'd Centralia

Centralia, Ill.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Krug says a federal inspection a week before the March 25 disaster which took 111 miners' lives at Centralia Coal Company's Mine No. 5 showed "no imminent danger."

Krug in a letter to a Senate subcommittee which today summoned more witnesses in its probe of the blast maintained there was no violation of the Krug-Lewis agreement, as alleged by John L. Lewis.

Italians Handed Stern Program For Salvation

Rome—(AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi's cabinet, striving to save Italy from economic collapse, today unfolded a broad program of government retrenchment, higher taxes and stricter price controls.

The cabinet, in almost continuous session this week to deal with the gravest financial crisis since the war's end, moved to reform distribution of food and raw materials, balance the budget and halt inflation of Italy's currency unit, the lira.

The announced program called for the country to cut the budgets of all ministries, coordinate public works to give urgent and "productive" projects priority, eliminate quickly subsidies permitting rationed foods to be sold at "political"—below cost—prices and increase taxes on "luxury goods and places, and unnecessary consumption."

Rebels Set Up Own Government

Buenos Aires—(AP)—A rebel Paraguayan government headed by a Junta composed of three lieutenant colonels was reported today to have been established in Concepcion, the insurgent stronghold in the north.

The radio of the Paraguayan insurgents, which broadcast this report, also declared last night that the sole line of communication which the loyalist government had maintained to the outside world had been blocked with the wrecking of a railroad bridge over the Tebicuary River, 40 miles north of Encarnacion.

Greeks Rehearse Funeral Rites

Athens—(AP)—A strange procession tolled through the dark streets of Athens early this morning, in sad rehearsal for the funeral tomorrow of King George II.

"To the lonely, measured beat of a single drum, Greek sailors slowly tugged a five and one-half ton carriage—which Sunday will bear the body of the dead monarch—to the outskirts of the city.

Harnessed to the carriage by stout manila ropes were 10 Greek sailors while 56 others were similarly harnessed to drag lines in the rear. The procession continued for exactly 101 minutes.

More Players Joining Greenies In Workouts

By BERT MOYE
Two more players joined the Greenies training camp here Thursday, a pitcher and first baseman. The pitcher is Phil Redden, of Springfield, Mass. He is a big right-handed pitcher, and has just recently been released from the service. During his stay in the service he played out in California with service teams. He was highly recommended to the local club by Pete Caraway, who played with the Greenies in the 1940 season.

Returning to the folds Thursday was Ivan Talmadge (Pete) Luke, of Augusta, Ga. Luke was with the Greenies last season and held down the first base job. Although his hitting was a little off last year he was one of the fastest men seen on first base here in a long time. He should well fill the gap for Manager Fare as the first sack as this has been the chief worry of the manager since the beginning of spring training last Monday.

Seven exhibition games have been arranged by the Greenies to date with negotiations under way for several more before the regular Coastal Plain League opens its season on April 24th. Five of the games are scheduled for the local diamond, with only two being played away from home. The schedule as announced by Secretary Dave C. Moore, Jr. is as follows:

- April 9—Kinston, here.
- April 10—Greenville at Kinston.
- April 13—Harrisburg, here.
- April 14—Clinton, here.
- April 16—Greenville at Clinton.
- April 19—Harrisburg, here.
- April 23—Smithfield, here.

Colored Baseball Opens Here Sunday

Washington and Greenville colored baseball teams will play at Guy Smith stadium Sunday, April 6, at 3 o'clock.

Sunday's game is the first for these teams in the new baseball season. The local club is considered as doing extremely well last year despite having a number of its members in the services.

The Greenville club is sponsored by the American Legion.

A reserved section for white spectators is assured.

PIRATES LOSE TO GUILFORD

Quakers Get Eleven Hits; Errors Plague Pirate Players

By JACK HEDGEPEETH
Doc Newton's Guilford Quakers who were held hitless Thursday by a trio of ECTC hurlers, found the range here yesterday, blasting out eleven safe blows, to top ECTC 12 to 8 in a free-scoring ball game.

Tommy Jones, George Rawls and C. Stamey were the leaders in the Guilford assault. Jones collected four singles in five appearances at the plate, one coming with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Rawls had a double and two singles in five attempts, and Stamey drove out three singles in five appearances.

Ray Powell and Jamieson held the Pirates to two singles, but their generosity in issuing fourteen free passes to first enabled the Pirates to score eight runs. Jamieson gave up both the ECTC hits in the last three innings.

The Quakers scored three runs in the first inning on two errors, a hit batter, and Jones' single to left. They were never behind after that. ECTC scored five runs in the seventh inning on five free passes to first and an infield hit by James Hudson.

Coach Cameron of ECTC made frequent substitutions in an attempt to find a working combination. In the two games with Guilford a total of eleven errors was made by the Pirates, which account for their poor showing.

Score by innings:

Guilford	3	2	1	0	4	2	0
ECTC	0	0	3	0	0	0	5

ECTC 8 2 5

VISITORS HOLD DAILY DRILLS

Harrisburg Senators To Play Exhibition Games Here

By BERT MOYE
The Harrisburg Senators of the Interstate League, under the direction of Manager Lester Bell, are holding their Spring Training in Greenville and have been working out daily at the Guy Smith Stadium here prior to the opening of their season on April 30. Incidentally, the Greenville club is the only club in the Coastal Plain League that has a major team doing their spring training in their park this season.

The Harrisburg Senators, who play Class B ball, has approximately 30 young men working out daily for positions on the team. Accompanying the team to Greenville was Business Manager Frank Spair and Ditty Cochlin, assistant coach, and several Harrisburg newspapermen.

The Senators are making their second appearance in Greenville to hold their spring training, having been here in 1940. They enjoyed a most successful last season coming out second in league standings and winning the championship of the Interstate League by defeating Wilmington, Delaware, top place club. They have a working agreement with the Cleveland Indians.

A total of nine exhibition games will be played by the Senators, five of which will be played on the

Phil W. Goodson Wins High Honor

By CHESTER WALSH
Philip L. Goodson, manager of the Goodson & Flanagan Insurance Agency, has been honored for the fifth consecutive year for selling the largest volume of insurance during the year and named by the Shenandoah Insurance Company of Roanoke, Va., as "The Man of the Year."

Goodson will represent the company on the 25th annual All-Star Honor Roll of "The Insurance Salesman," well known insurance publication.

The "Man of the Year" is that agent who pays for the largest volume of new business during the calendar year, and whose persistency is 90 per cent or above. Goodson has achieved this distinction through his unflinching enthusiasm and great capacity for work. His production has placed him at the top as company leader in paid-in business in 1946. He is a member of both the Presidents Club and the Quarter Million Dollar Club, and was recipient of the National Quality Award in 1946.

The Greenville insurance agent in making the high quota of sales won five trips. Goodson and his partner, E. Graham Flanagan, will leave Monday morning for Miami, Fla., to be guests of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Company at the Roney Plaza Hotel April 10, 11, and 12. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Fleming, his guests, will leave here Monday night.

Lets Contract For Hangar At Local Airport

By CHESTER WALSH
The Airport Commission Thursday awarded the contract for building an 80 by 100-foot hangar at the Pitt-Greenville Airport to A. L. Jarrell & Sons of Salisbury for $15,700. Construction is to start in two weeks. Executive Secretary Willard T. Kyzer said.

The walls of the building will be of masonry and steel trusses will support a metal roof. A clearance of 15 feet will be provided between the trusses and the concrete floor. The hangar will open full width at both ends and there will be no pillars.

Chairman G. H. Pittman and Jasper Smith represent the county on the commission. N. C. Brooks and L. M. Buchannan the Greenville Board of Aldermen. Kyzer is executive secretary.

The commission recently signed a lease with the Barnes Aircraft Service, Inc., of Lumberton, to be fixed base operator of the airport. Charles E. Steinmeyer is manager. Lucy L. Sutton is chief pilot; Miss Dorothy Wiggins is licensed ground instructor and pilot, and J. P. Jolley is maintenance supervisor. The base operator will sell gas and oil, airplane parts and provide service for aircraft, and maintain other necessary concessions on the airfield.

The Barnes Aircraft Service will conduct a training school for pilots, charter planes for short flights or long trips, and has been authorized to conduct a GI training school for pilots in cooperation with East Carolina Teachers College.

The company owns a 14-passenger Lockheed Lodestar plane which will make special trips from Lumberton to Greenville and New York and return.

South East Airlines, Inc., of Charlotte maintains passenger planes from New Bern to Greenville and points west.

Kiwanians Had Easter Music At Meeting

By CHESTER WALSH
Members of the J. C. Move family of Snow Hill and James Ray Pittman presented a program of Easter music at the Kiwanis club's supper meeting last night consisting of a quartet, duet, trio and solo. The musical program was impressive. Judge J. W. H. Roberts introduced the guest singers for V. A. Merritt, who had charge of the program. Vice-President Nathan C. Brooks presided.

President Eli Bloom and Secretary David C. Moore, Jr., were elected delegates to the Kiwanis International Convention in Chicago June 29-July 3. Arthur Tripp, Ed Williford, William H. Taft and Dr. Davis L. Moore were named alternates. A dozen or more Greenville Kiwanians and their wives are planning to go to Chicago.

Lieut. Governor Ed Rawl reported that 43 Greenville Kiwanians and their wives will attend the "charter and ladies' night" banquet of the Washington Kiwanis Club at Firemen's Hall in Washington next Monday night. Two hundred and fifty guests are expected to attend.

Kiwanian Tom Wilson, former Jaycee president, reported that the Junior Chamber of Commerce air show and dedication of the airport last Sunday was a success. He also announced that Kiwanian Chester Walsh had been elected as honorary member of the Junior Chamber for outstanding public relations activities.

Director John Arthur Collins will be host to the Kiwanis officers and directors at Nelson Hopkins' Tavern next Thursday night at 7 o'clock. The Kiwanians will attend the First Presbyterian church on Sunday, April 13. Bill Drum announced.

Guests of the club were Mrs. J. C. Moyer, J. C. Moyer, Jr., Mrs. J. E. Wilson, Jr., and Mrs. Preston Clark of Snow Hill; Sheriff Ruel W. Tysen, David B. Dolge of Tewksbury, Mass.; John Hardaway, John A. Collins, Jr., and Billy R. Corey.

Rufus V. Keel won the attendance prize given by B. B. Sugg. Berry Bostic will have charge of the program next Friday.

tutional, will have the effect of killing unions by outlawing closed shops. One of the stormiest hearings of the session occurred when an unhappy labor poured into Raleigh to protest the bill.

A wage and hour measure, drawn on lines of a federal fair labor act, and sponsored by the State Labor Department, subsequently met defeat.

One of the most progressive pieces of legislation was adoption of the administration's highway program requiring financial responsibility of drivers and a safety measure providing for mandatory and regular inspection of motor vehicles, a 55-mile an hour speed limit and quadrennial re-issuance of drivers' licenses.

Smokey Says:

It's not so important that the sign should be dotted—but it is important that any kind of fire—house or woods fire, can be prevented before it becomes destructive.
