SUPER-GOV'T RUNS BALKANS SAYS REPORT

Confidential Allied Reports Disclose Moscow - Train Organization

(L. S. Chakales, chief of Associated Press Bureau in Athens and writer of the following dispatch recently completed a tour of northern Greece, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia accompanying the United Nations commission on Balkan frontier troubles.)

By L. S. CHAKALES Athens—(AP)—Confidential allied reports assert that super-administration of the Balkans decides territorial questions, supervises military operations across the Greek border and directs political thought in Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania.

They declare this organization is composed of Moscow-trained men and women, receives orders from Moscow and uses the Communist-dominated regimes of the four Balkan states to execute agreements reached in three meetings at Prague, in October, 1945, February 1946, and April, 1946.

Georgi Dimitrov, 65-year-old Communist hero of the 1933 Reichstag fire trial and now premier of Bulgaria, is said to be head of this super-state directorate, which is reported also to include Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, Anna Pauker of Romania and Nicholas Zachariades, Secretary General of the Greek Communist Party.

The allied reports give this account: Dimitrov, Secretary General of the Third International until Generalissimo Stalin dissolved it during the war and Anna Pauker, 51-year-old Communist party whip in the Romanian National Assembly attended all three Prague meetings.

The Prague meetings, on orders from the Moscow Politburo to "straighten out your problems," made the following allocations of territory:

Yugoslavia is to acquire all Greek Macedonia and the Macedonian area in southwestern Bulgaria. In return Bulgaria eventually is to receive all Thrace up to the Dardanelles (which would include Turkey in Europe.)

Raleigh-Wake Teachers Hear ECTC President

Speaking before the Raleigh-Wake County Teachers Association on Saturday at the Hugh Morson High School in Raleigh, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, president of East Carolina Teachers College, outlined for members a 12-point plan "to make teaching a profession." Dr. Cooke pointed out that the objectives discussed are both immediate and long-time. Changes in our present system are essential, he said, if teaching is to attract in the future the best of the young men and women in the nation and to place teachers on an equality with those in other professional groups.

This plan includes the elimination of emergency permits to teach and the raising of standards of certification requirements for new teachers in every state to a minimum of four years of thorough professional preparation. He advocated increased salaries, beginning at $2,400 for four-year college graduates professionally prepared to teach and effective tenure and retirement legislation.

Complex Legislation

A Discussion Of That All-Important Labor Measure Which The House Begins To Debate Today; Even Its Authors Do Not Agree On Some Interpretations

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington—(AP)—This is written to point out the importance of the labor bill which the House starts to debate today.

It is the most far-reaching bill in the sense of the restrictions it would place on unions—ever considered by Congress.

It would make profound changes in the Wagner Act, the law covering relations between employers, workers and unions.

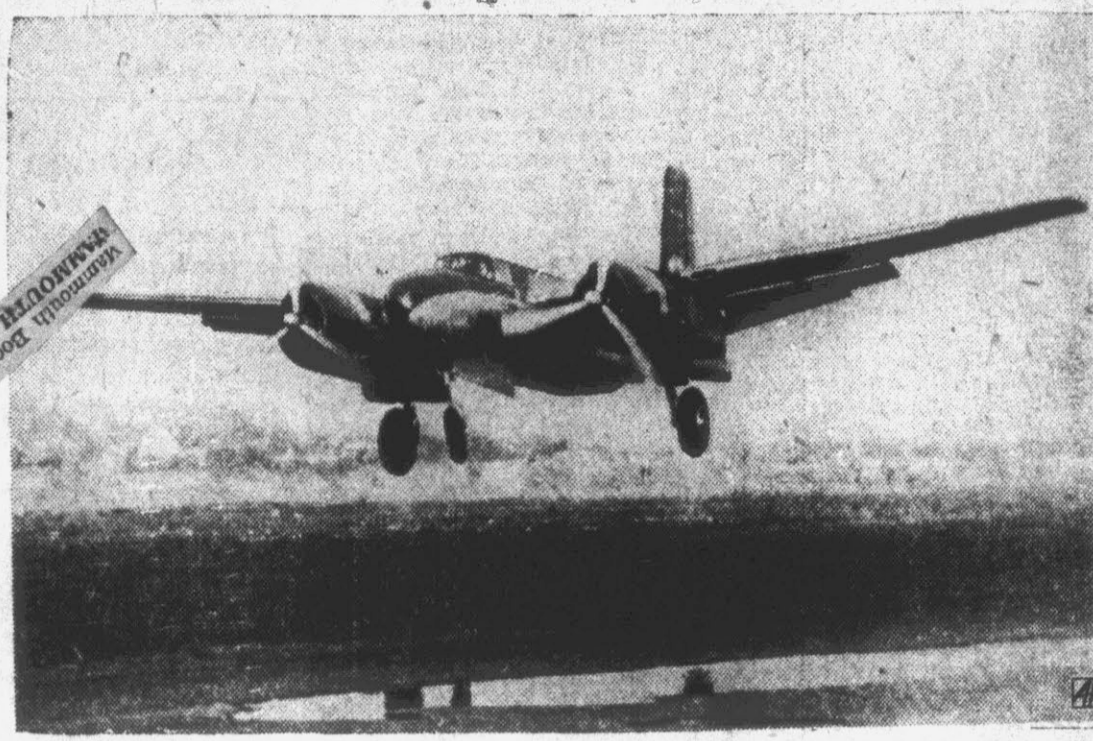

The House expects to vote on this bill Friday. Later the Senate will vote on its own bill.

Both Houses then will agree on a compromise bill which President Truman may veto. Congress may pass it into law over his veto.

This House bill was designed by the House Labor Committee where the Republican members, in a majority, and several Democrats approved it.

But six Democrats on the committee not only voted against letting this bill out but denounced it as dangerous and damaging.

Reynolds Plane Races Time On Global Flight

Chicago Industrialist Milton Reynolds' round-the-world plane, a converted A-26 Attack Bomber, is now roaring homeward in an attempt to eclipse the present global record of 91 hours, 14 minutes, set by Howard Hughes in 1938. Reynolds hopes to complete the flight in 55 hours for a new unofficial record.

House Opens Debate On Labor Legislation; GOP Confident

Congress Takes Up Most Far-Reaching And Important Bill Of Session; Many Demos Admit Unable To Halt Passage

Washington—(AP)—The House trundled out for debate today its bill to crack down on unions and strikes with Republicans proclaiming, and many Democrats admitting that they have the votes to pass it overwhelmingly.

Rep. Cox (D-Ga.), predicted to reporters that 100 of the 187 House Democrats will support the measure.

Rep. Madden (D-Ind.), challenged that a labor committee opponent of the bill, new measure, he countered with another forecast.

Cox and the Republican leadership will be "astonished" by the votes that will be lost if "this labor-shaking legislation" is not radically changed.

Cox is one of the southern Democrats the GOP is counting on to help roll up better than a 2 to 1 majority on the final ballot about Friday.

Some of the major provisions of the bill would:

- 1. Outlaw many types of strikes and supply a formula for the government to combat those affecting the welfare of the whole nation.
2. Forbid in nearly all cases union efforts to bargain with an entire industry.

3. Ban the closed shop but permit the union shop. In a closed shop the boss can hire only union members. In the union shop he can hire anybody, but the new worker has to

Heavy Bail For Gerhart Eisler

New York—(AP)—U. S. Commissioner Garrett W. Cotten today fixed bail at $20,000 for Gerhart Eisler, described as the No. 1 Communist in this country, pending his appearance in Washington, D. C. to plead to two federal indictments against him.

The amount was fixed over strenuous objections of U. S. attorney John F. X. McGohy, who had asked that the amount be set at $25,000.

McGohy charged that Eisler "has admitted being anxious to get out of the United States."

One Marriage In Three On Rocks

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—Nearly one out of three marriages in North Carolina now end in divorces according to figures released by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Last year there were 36,972 divorces in the state and 10,059 divorces. The number of divorces compared with 1941 when there were 4,062, 1943 when there were 5,178 and 1944 when there were 6,421.

Mecklenburg led the state in divorces in 1946 with 789 and Guilford was second with 696.

Prices Down?

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today there are "a number of evidences" of price cuts and next week there may be "something more specific in some of the largest manufacturing and wholesale fields."

He would not identify those or enlarge on that remark, however, during a news conference discussion of prices.

Snyder said that business concerns making excessive earnings should consider reducing prices before competition forces them to do so.

U.S. OPEN TO AIR ATTACKS

Wartime Detection Network Said All But Dismantled

Washington—(AP)—The United States' wartime aircraft detection network all but dismantled is virtually wide open to a surprise attack from the air.

An unofficial survey indicated this today following the disclosure last week of a document dealing with War Department thinking on the national security effects of the atomic bomb.

That document, prepared primarily for congressional use, commented that present-day methods of delivering an atomic attack are limited to long-range bombers or bombs smuggled in by agents. Rocket delivery is something to be reckoned with in the future, the paper said.

Questioned by a reporter concerning the aerial assault theory, officers assigned to the development and employment of defense weapons emphasized that the greatest problem would be the detection of any attacking force in time to get fighter aircraft and anti-aircraft guns into action.

"It would be possible today for a foreign aircraft to approach and fly clear across the United States without ever being reported."

Clay Denounces German Methods

Stuttgart, Germany—(AP)—Generalius D. Clay told German leaders in the American zone today "not to expect too much" from the Moscow foreign ministers council and angrily denounced the Germans' methods of handling their own food crisis.

Clay warned that the U. S. and Britain could not be expected to continue importing food into Germany if the Germans failed to collect all possible production from the farmers.

Proposal Dies In Argument; Marshall Blames Soviet

MOSCOW—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall all went to the Kremlin at 8 o'clock tonight (Moscow Time) for a conference with Soviet Prime Minister Stalin.

Moscow—(AP)—The Council of Foreign Ministers failed tonight to reach agreement on the proposed four-power treaty for Germany and U. S. Secretary of State Marshall blamed the failure on Russia in some of the most outspoken language of the council's current session.

After prolonged argument, the council passed over the four-power treaty and turned to the next item of its discussion program.

Unless one of the big four again brings up the four-power treaty proposal, it will be dead for at least this session of the foreign ministers.

Both Britain and France supported the United States draft of the proposed treaty, but Marshall and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov failed to agree on basic instructions to be given to plenipotentiaries who would negotiate the treaty.

"Yesterday we discussed the United States proposal for a four-power treaty to assure the continuing of disarmament and demilitarization of Germany," Marshall said. "We have proposed that treaty as a first step and a basic step. As the first step it would dispel the fear which is never a wise counselor. As a basic step it was simple and limited to one concrete thing namely, preventing the rearmament of Germany."

PLANE LEAVES ADAK ON LAST LEGS OF TRIP

Bombshell Hurtles Onward; Expect To Reach New York By 8:00 p.m.

Anchorage, Alaska—(AP)—The "five miles a minute" Reynolds "Bombshell" plane hurred over the Gulf of Alaska and toward the North American mainland early today, racing eastward against the sun for a planned New York terminus tonight of a record-breaking "around the world" flight.

Scratching only a brief rest after completing the eighth stop of their long flight, from Tokyo to Adak, Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer, and his two crewmen took off from Adak at 4:24 a. m. PST (7:24 AM EST). They planned to pass up Anchorage and head for Edmonton, Alta., Canada.

Their Great Circle course would take them over their last over-water hop, southeastern Alaska and the Canadian Rockies. The department of transports air control office said at Edmonton that the plane was expected reach there at 11:54 a. m. PST (2:54PM EST). The Adak-Edmonton distance is approximately 2,619 miles.

Weather reports indicated that Reynolds flew at a high altitude after reaching the American mainland favorable winds would push him along.

At Adak, the Bombshell was 59 hours, 14 minutes out of New York since the takeoff at 5:11 PM (EST) Saturday. The flying time for the 15,210 miles was 49 hours, 13 minutes, an approximate speed of 308 miles an hour. The Adak stop had been an unscheduled one.

Reynolds listed Calgary, Ala., and Great Falls, Mont., as alternate stops if needed in trying to reach Edmonton.

Reynolds said the plane turned back after passing over Adak because of heavy headwinds and because the fuel supply was running low.

TRUMAN URGES LAW REVISION

Hits Neutrality Act; Wants Control Of Arms Shipments

Washington—(AP)—President Truman today proposed sweeping changes in this country's neutrality law to permit the government to place embargoes on shipments of arms to unfriendly nations.

In a message to Congress, the President said he must be free to act "in accordance with our position in the United Nations."

Under Section 12 of the Neutrality Act, Mr. Truman pointed out, the requirement of impartiality forces the Secretary of State to "treat aggressor and aggrieved, peace-maker and troublemaker equally by granting every application for the license for the exportation of any arms, ammunition or implements of war unless such action would be in violation of a treaty."

"Such a provision of law is no longer consistent with this country's commitments and requirements," the President's message said. "We have committed ourselves to international cooperation through the United Nations."

"If this participation is to be fully effective, this government must have control over traffic and weapons which will permit us to act in accordance with our position in the United Nations and will be adaptable to changes in the international situation."

Union Policy Body Told To Make Decision On Formula

Washington—(AP)—The government's top conciliators met with telephone union leaders today in an effort to win acceptance of secretary Schwelzenbach's strike settlement formula by his 5 p. m. (EST) deadline.

With time running short, Edgar L. Warren, director of the U. S. conciliation service, went before a policy committee meeting of the National Federation of Telephone Workers to answer a few questions.

Warren told reporters: "I am hopeful that Secretary Schwelzenbach's plan will be accepted by both sides."

Union policy committee members said they had instructions to reach a decision before the hour set by Schwelzenbach.

Senators Consider Condemnation Of Wallace By Congress; VFW Commander Says President May Act; Senators In Furore

Washington—(AP)—A move to put Congress on record as condemning Henry A. Wallace's attacks on the Greek-Turkish assistance program was discussed today by the Senate Democratic policy committee.

Members reported after a closed meeting that no final action was taken, however, Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) told reporters he is considering offering a resolution censuring Wallace's attacks abroad on the program.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, questioned at a news conference about the furore over Wallace said the former vice-president now speaks as a private citizen and that no official notice has been taken of his speeches.

One question was whether this government would notify the British government that Wallace is speaking for himself.

Ross replied: "It is an obvious fact, is it not that Mr. Wallace is speaking as a private citizen? I have no comment on that."

Gets Proposals

On next Monday evening, April 21, at the Wright Building of East Carolina Teachers College, the combined musical organizations of the Greenville City Schools will present their grand concert.

The program will be the Greenville High School band, the mixed chorus, the boys and girls glee clubs, the high school orchestra, soloists and the bands from the three elementary schools of the city. The bands from the elementary schools will be combined into one junior band.

The program will last about one hour and fifteen minutes and will give the general public an opportunity to see and hear what the youth of the city are doing in the field of music. Miss Shindler, Mr. McDougle, Mr. Carter and Dr. Gilbert are all combining their efforts in this great undertaking.

The proceeds from the concert will be used to help defray the expenses of the high school organization in attending the state music contest in Greensboro next week.

The local high school won the right to attend the state contest by virtue of their highest rating in the district music contest and by virtue of the fact all the groups made highest rating in the state contest in Greensboro last year. Chartered buses will be used to take the groups to the state contest.

A couple of weeks ago when "Uncle" Dan Young (above) was 103 years old, he remarked that he might consider matrimony if he could find a "girl" about his own age. Since then the proposals have been coming in from coast to coast including one from a 100-year-old Boston woman, and another from a Manhattan, Kansas lady, 99. Still a bachelor, "Uncle" Dan says he was only kidding. (AP Wirephoto.)

Asks Appropriation For Research In TB

Washington—(AP)—Surgeon General Thomas Parran urged senators today to approve a $1,000,000 and for streptomycin experiments "in the specific treatment of tuberculosis," saving the new drug "given some promise" in the fight against the disease.

Dr. Parran told a senate appropriations subcommittee that the experiments are needed to prove "just how valuable" the drug is in tuberculosis treatment.

Expatriates during the April 1 to March 31 fiscal year, he said in his annual budget message to the House of Commons, are estimated at 3,181,000,000 lbs. ($3,724,000,000). 19 percent of cost of running the government during the 12 months ended March 31.

Spending on the army, navy and air force, Dalton announced, will be 36 percent lower than last year.

British Budget Day

Parliament Gets Accounting Of Nation's Financial Position; A Barometer; Current Anxiety On A National Scale; No Break In Determination Of The People

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

This is one of the notable days of the year for England—Budget Day—the time when the Chancellor of the Exchequer presents to Parliament an accounting of the country's financial position and submits his estimates of income and expenditure during the ensuing 12 months.

Always it is an occasion of vast importance for John Bull because it is the barometer of his economic well-being. And it's a matter of moment for the average citizen in a more intimate sense, because his personal fortune may be affected by an increase or decrease in taxation. A penny a pint either way on his beer, or a change in the price of his all-important tea, is a serious affair whatever way you look at it.

However, as I read the signs, the anxiety this year is chiefly on a national scale rather than on an individual basis.

Naturally the man-in-the-street is worried about his personal difficulties, for they are terribly hard. We should be more than naive to think that he has no thought of self but all indications are that he is much more concerned over the welfare of the country which is still struggling with the "toll, tears and sweat" of war.

The Briton comes up to this Budget Day with the full knowledge that England is in the midst of a dangerous economic crisis whose end cannot be seen. It's only ten weeks ago that Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton said bluntly that the country was living on borrowed money and must produce more goods for export or face a lower standard of life and more unemployment.

The rationing of food, clothing and fuel is on a scale of austerity which would break the morale of a less sturdy folk. And the signs are that this austerity must continue for a long time.

Still there has been no indication thus far of any considerable break in the determination of the majority of the public to give the new socialist government a reasonable length of time to try to overcome the economic crisis—or demonstrate (Continued on Page Four)

RUSSIA FACES STEIFFER BILL FOR SUPPLIES

Larger Share Of Civilian-Type Goods In Soviet Lend-Lease Deal

Washington—(AP)—Russia stands to get a stiffer lend-lease bill than any of this country's other allies as talks get underway.

The reason, however, is neither Soviet-American differences on current world issues nor the Kremlin's year-long refusal even to discuss her $11,298,000,000 lend-lease account.

Rather, it is the larger proportion of lasting, civilian-type goods which were shipped to the Soviet Union as part of the $50,000,000,000 flow of supplies which most of the other nations agreed to pay less than three cents on the dollar.

Officials who helped wind up the vast enterprise said today Russia will be expected to ante at a substantially heavier rate.

The Soviet government, after being officially prodded six times, announced yesterday it is ready now to begin discussions. These talks will start in Washington as soon as Russian Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov returns from Moscow.

In setting its lend-lease account with Russia, as with the other allies, the United States is expected to wipe the slate clean of any claims for such expendable munitions as war planes, tanks, submarines, guns and explosives. These were American contributions to the common effort to crush Hitler.

Included in the supply which streamed into the Soviet Union by way of Murmansk and Iran, however, was a heavy proportion of items calculated to be of vital post-war value.

Official records show Russia received 375,883 motor trucks, 4,071 tractors, 1,981 locomotives, 11,155 freight cars, 7,784 marine engines

DeGaulle Back In Political Fight

Paris—(AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle was back in the political arena today as leader of an active campaign against the Fourth Republic's six-month-old constitution.

De Gaulle, who resigned as President of France's first post-war government a year and a half ago, came out of political retirement yesterday to announce the formal birth of the "Rally of the French People" and to assume leadership of the movement.

Aiming his appeal at France's independent voters and adherents of the more loosely affiliated political parties, de Gaulle asked them to stand behind the RFP, even as they had united for resistance against the Germans.

British Budget Cut 19 Percent

London—(AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton estimated today that operating costs of the British government will be slashed 725,000,000 lbs. ($2,916,000,000) during the 1947-48 fiscal year.

Expenditures during the April 1 to March 31 fiscal year, he said in his annual budget message to the House of Commons, are estimated at 3,181,000,000 lbs. ($3,724,000,000). 19 percent of cost of running the government during the 12 months ended March 31.

Spending on the army, navy and air force, Dalton announced, will be 36 percent lower than last year.

"Raffy Uses His Head," by Rita Wesin.
Raffy was a young giraffe, not just an ordinary giraffe but the champion runner of the jungle. Most of the animals in this part of Africa were his friends, but his closest friend was Elphy, the elephant, who was so big that he looked like a tremendous gray rock.

One day Raffy was asked by Mother Monkey to rescue her baby Jimmy, who had been captured and put in a cage by a tribe of natives, and carried off to their village.

Raffy was so fleet of foot that he laughed when Elphy suggested that he "use his head" before he raced off to the rescue.

The younger children will thoroughly enjoy this story of Raffy's heroism, and the ridiculous plight in which he found himself because he used only his feet, and not his head. The lesson Raffy learned can be easily understood by most youngsters, and the delightful illustrations by Tony McCleary make it fun to absorb the moral of this story.

North Carolina Artist Is Speaker
At Art Gallery; Favorably Received

By MRS. W. C. HARRIS

Kenneth Harris, prominent North Carolina artist, spoke at the Art Gallery, Thursday afternoon, April 10, as the first feature on the four-day program of the 1947 Community Art Festival. Mr. Harris spoke entertainingly and as one who knows his subject, on "What An Artist Owes the Public," and "What the Public Owe the Artist." Mr. Harris' talk was very much enjoyed by all who heard him and his exhibit of fine paintings, comprising a one-man show, which was hung in the Art Gallery for the occasion, was also enjoyed exceedingly and was greatly appreciated. His exhibit was made up almost entirely of North Carolina scenes, painted on the spot, in which the artist admirably has been able to reveal the beauty, hidden for most of us, in the commonplace things which lie around about us. Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale graciously presided. Mrs. Robert Lee Humber brought cordial greetings from the Woman's Club, which instituted and has held in our midst annually, except during the war years, these splendid community art festivals. With enthusiasm Mrs. J. H. B. Moore presented Kenneth Harris to his audience.

Mr. Harris discussed the relationship between artists and the public which, he feels is too far apart and needs to be bridged. He pointed out that while nearly everyone is interested in pictures, the individual becomes afraid of them when they are called art, brought indoors and formalized. "I am convinced," he said, "that if enough people can be brought to see enough pictures they will inevitably come in time, to love the good ones. After all, that is why a picture lives—because enough people over a period of time, have loved it and kept it alive. The problem, then, is to get more people to see more pictures more often.

One reason, he said, why people are frightened by art is this: Actually they can't afford it. Actually the original cost of a work of art is almost entirely apart from its quality. It indicates only one thing and that is how badly the artist needs the money. The real value of any picture is its emotional content for the observer. "How much is Brahms' First Symphony worth? You can buy an album of it, recorded by one of the world's great orchestras for $5.50. But I suppose no one would contend that $5.50 is therefore the value of the symphony.

In conclusion, Mr. Harris said: "Anything that tends to limit the audience for pictures is bad for painting. Prices that put painting within the reach of everyone are in the long-run good for the artist as well as the public. I wish we could get away from all the fictions which hide paintings from so many people and make it the moving force in this state and country that it could be. There are many fine artists in this country who deserve a wider and a less special audience. They are not particularly concerned with getting rich. They are concerned with finding people who will understand what they are trying to do. The artist paints for one reason only, because he feels the glory and the beauty and the fragile transience of every movement of life, and he tries to capture a little of it and keeps it for others who will feel as he does about it. I would like to paint pictures that would console people as music does. And the artist, if he fulfills what his place ought to be, says to everyone, not a special few, but to everyone, today is important, every instant is vital and full of beauty. Stop for a moment and look at it with me. Is it not humorous, and tragic, and precious and beautiful? And I say that this is an important thing. Let's forget the fetishes and the taboos of art, the meaningless words, and the meaningless dollars, and make it more and more possible for everyone to have a part in it, so that life may be made richer for everyone for that reason."

The following cases were not pressed with leave: Willie Coward on unlawful parking; Dollie Mills, public nuisance; Ed John Kenion, assault on a female.

In the case of A. C. Rowland and Lacy Mooring, charged with enticing tenants after they had illegally left their employer, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. This case was tried under an ancient statute.

That Ring Around the Bathtub

Jeb Crowell blew his top the other day. Seems that for weeks he's been trying to get his youngsters to scrub out the bathtub after using it. And this night he sees two rings around it—one where young Sonny left off, and another about Pinky's level.

From now on, Jeb's careful to put his glass down on the table cover—like the missus does. And I hear he's a little more forgiving about rings around the bathtub. Just keeps on patiently reminding.

From where I sit, there are little annoyances in every family—conflicting habits and opinions in every community. A little patience—a little more "forgive and let live" is the only antidote.

He raves and rants—and takes it out on the missus for her lack of discipline. And later that evening he sees her quietly polishing the hardwood table that's right by his chair. She's removing the rings he's left there with his evening glass of beer!

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT

Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

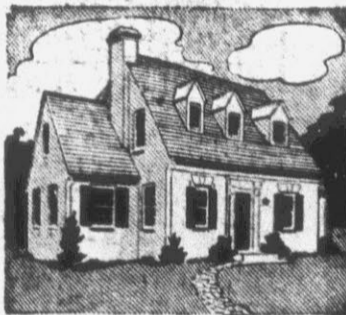

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Every time food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent acting ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overuse of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and health. Don't wait until you feel the best of your people. SSS Tonic has helped millions of people. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic today. It's the best thing you can do today. Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

INNER AND OUTER EXPERIENCES

Among the ancient Greeks, religion played a very important part. But there were no moral requirements in the Greek religion. It consisted exclusively in the offering up of sacrifices and the bringing of gifts to the gods. If a man did that consistently, he had met to the limit every requirement of religion. This external attitude toward life was one of the reasons for the gradual disintegration of the Greek civilization. Spiritually, there was no inwardness to Greek life. When Christianity was finally presented to the descendants of those Greeks who had lived during the classical age, it made a profound impression upon them. Here was something new. This religion of Christ laid all its emphasis upon the inner condition of the heart and none upon outward form and ceremony. The idea of getting right with God by yielding the heart to the divine requirements of righteousness was a wholly new idea to the Greek, but, new though it was, he embraced it with enthusiasm, as we know from reading the Book of Acts. Paul's enthusiasm, poured forth in his epistles to the Corinthians, Philippians, Ephesians, Thessalonians, Galatians and Colossians, was written in Greek to people of Greek blood and background. They had caught the difference between inner spiritual richness and mere conformity to pious custom.

Budget Day . . .

that it can't handle the job. It's held that this crisis was a war bequest which the government did not produce but inherited.

We have here a striking example of the national characteristic of standing together in an emergency, or so it seems to me.

Reports that there might be some sort of cut in taxation naturally raised some hopes. Of Britain's 14,000,000 taxpayers last year 13,175,000 had incomes of less than $2,000 after taxes were settled. And as for the wealthiest group—those with net incomes of more than $24,000 a year after deduction of taxes—it dropped from 7,000 individuals in 1939 to a mere 45 in 1945-46.

Complex Leg. . . .

After three painful hours of examination—which still was only pretty sketchy—the writer and the attorney had covered only 27 of the 68 pages in the bill.

The CIO attorney gave his own interpretation of what he thought this word or that section of the bill meant.

Then, to get the other side, the writer conferred with one of the most important Republican members of the labor committee, one of the men who helped put the bill together.

On some points he said he thought the CIO attorney had given the right interpretation but on other points the committee member said he wasn't sure of the answer.

So here, before the bill reached the floor for debate, sources of argument and varying interpretation had arisen.

This writer had hoped to be able to explain in detail what the bill is supposed to do.

But it would do so much, and the bill is so complex, that not one and probably not three or more stories could tell it in unmistakable language, even if both sides agreed on what each provision means.

The committee members themselves take extreme views of what it would do. The majority of the committee, said in part in its explanation:

"The committee believes that the enactment of the bill will have the effect of bringing widespread industrial strife to an end."

But the minority members, after voting against the bill, said in their explanation that the bill's proposals are:

FIREWORKS IN MAJOR LEAGUE '47 CAMPAIGN

Promising Rookies Start Careers; Four New Managers Make Bow

New York (AP)—Despite the decried absence of Lippy Leo Durocher, the 1947 major league campaign starting today is expected to produce the greatest baseball fireworks in many years.

When Jackie Robinson trots out to his first base position for the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field he will be the first Negro to play in the major leagues since the turn of the century. Twenty-two other promising rookies also start their big league careers today. Clyde Sukeforth, manager pro tem in the last three exhibition games, was slated to direct the team today.

Harold (Muddy) Ruel, who gave up a job as assistant to Chandler, will start a rebuilding program at

Simultaneously Win Fellowship Awards

An interesting thing about J. N. Williams, Jr., of this city, who has just been awarded his third fellowship at the University of Illinois is that his wife, the former Henrietta Vermeer of Pella, Iowa has been awarded a fellowship at the same time. "J. N." is doing research work in the field of chemistry and his wife is majoring in psychology. Last year each of them received a $700 fellowship and this year each of them was awarded a $1,200.00 fellowship.

At the present time J. N. is working on cancerous rats and will doubtless follow the field of chemistry as applied to the study of medicine.

St. Louis with the Browns, Billy Herman, already beset with the injury jinx when Elbie Fletcher sprained an ankle which is expected to keep the first baseman out for at least three weeks, will attempt to combine playing and managing at Pittsburgh. Johnny Neun, who learned his baseball under McCarthy, and who followed Marse Joe as Yankee leader for several weeks last season, will get a real chance at Cincinnati.

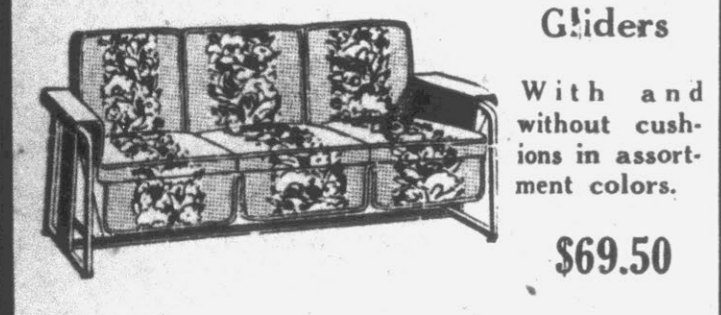

The New York Yankees, for instance, will be handicapped without Joe DiMaggio, their number one hitter, who is recovering from an operation.

The New York Giants suffered a serious blow to their hopes of a first division finish when Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, highly promising rookie centerfielder and tabbed by experts as a "can't miss kid," broke a leg in an exhibition.

The Detroit Tigers were slated to start without Dick Wakefield, the power hitter, who pulled a muscle and will miss several games.

Fletcher's injury caused Herman to change his winter plans which had Hank Greenberg, his big home run hitter, in leftfield. The former Tiger slugger and American League home run king last year, has been very happy about his change from first to the outfield but must return to his former position until Fletcher is ready to take over.

block on Clark street. His Honor gave O'Neal six months on the roads, sentence to be suspended provided he make a donation of $100 to the church and pay court costs.

Testimony in court was that O'Neal had pilfered quantities of second-hand and new lumber from the unfinished church building and used it to build a chicken house in his backyard nearby.

Church trustees, after missing lumber from the site, finally discovered some of the painted weather boards on O'Neal's chicken coop. Saturday they swore out a warrant for O'Neal, charging larceny. O'Neal was arrested.

Sunday morning, when the brethren went to church they took a look at their lumber adorning the chicken coop. The coop had been taken down overnight and the lumber was under O'Neal's house, it was testified.

Judge Roberts and Solicitor Ed Bloom, assuming that O'Neal had never made a church donation, decided that now is a good time to start. O'Neal is to pay up or spend six months on the roads.
