MAN SURVIVES DARING LEAP IN FRISCO BAY

Makes Practice Jump From Golden Gate Bridge For Publicity Stunt

San Francisco—(AP)—A craft fishing boat today picked up a 42-year-old professional high diver who leaped 265 feet from the Golden Gate bridge into San Francisco Bay this morning in what his wife described as a practice jump for a publicity stunt.

The diver, Frank H. Cushing, 42 was taken to the Coast Guard Station at nearby Ft. Point, where he was found to be suffering a sprained back and exposure and was to be transferred to a hospital.

It was believed the second time since the bridge was opened in 1937 that anyone has jumped from the suspension span and lived. A woman who jumped from the bridge several years ago suffered severe leg injuries but recovered.

Highway Patrolman Dave Zebo said Cushing's wife, Marjorie, 26 told him that her husband operated a "thrill circus" with John Southland, 27, making a business x of crashing automobiles and performing other stunts at Fairs.

"She told me that Cushing, a World War II veteran, had been unable to get a GI loan for his enough publicity from a jump from the Bay bridge to secure financing," "thrill circus" and hoped to gain Zebo reported.

This jump was to have been a practice jump, but when Mrs. Cushing couldn't see her husband in the water she got nervous and notified the highway patrol. Zebo added he said the leap was made about 4 a. m., with Cushing swathed in rubber insulation, heavy clothing a "Mae West" life preserver and a crash helmet.

"Mrs. Cushing said they had been talking about this scheme for 20 months," Zebo added.

The patrolman said she declared she and Southland had accompanied her husband to the center of the bridge in a truck.

County's Negro Schools Capture Contest Honors

The Pitt County Negro schools took honors in the annual subject matter and musical contests which were held at the State Teachers' College, Elizabeth City, April 10th. The contestants worked in groups of three and represented twelve of the eastern division of the state.

The team from Farmville school ran extremely close for the first but was finally awarded second place in plane geometry, in the subject matter division.

There were no decisions rendered in the musical division, however. Nathaniel Moore, of Farmville school, received high acclaim for his part in the solo contest.

Neuse and Roanoke Rivers Said Rising

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau said today it had received reports of rising waters on the Neuse and Roanoke rivers.

The bureau added, however, that little damage was expected from the overflows.

Socialism In Britain

Churchill's Gloomy Estimate; How A Former Member Of Parliament Looks At Nationalization; Curbs; First Hand Report On Reaction Of The People

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

That was a gloomy estimate by Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime conservative prime minister when he charged in a speech yesterday that England "is being driven into ruin and our Empire is being scattered and squandered" by the present socialist government.

Curiously enough the news dispatch containing that statement reached my desk just as I returned from a discussion on the status of British socialism with one of England's clever women who is visiting America. She is Mrs. Mary Agnes Hamilton, author of many books, a former member of Parliament, a former governor of the British Broadcasting Corporation, and currently chief of the American Information Department of the British Foreign Office. Mrs. Hamilton has a vivid personality, and there is a delightful little roll of her's from time to time which is suggestive of the highlands and heather of Scotland.

Unwittingly Mrs. Hamilton had given Churchill a partial answer during our conversation. I had asked bluntly: "You haven't yet demonstrated that socialism will work, have you?"

Peacemakers Agree To Return To Austrian Frontier Problem

AP—The Big Four ministers agreed today at a demand of Secretary of State Marshall to take up the problem of Austria's frontiers tonight.

This involved chiefly Yugoslavians' demand for southern Carinthia. Russia has favored and the western powers have opposed this demand.

A final deadlock on this issue tonight—following up last night's stalemate on German assets—would be about the only thing needed to bury the Austrian treaty for the present.

While Marshall and British Secretary Bevin have not declared themselves formally for an immediate withdrawal of the conference both are widely reported to be anxious to leave here as soon as possible in view of almost overwhelming evidence that no agreement can be reached on either a German or an Austrian treaty.

Marshall's move today appeared to be one more test to prove no progress possible without an almost immediate change of policy on somebody's part.

The Big Four got through three routine articles of the Austrian pact today, and while there was some shifting of positions on minor matters and much arguing back and forth in the two-hour session, informants made it clear that nothing worth while was accomplished.

New York—(AP)—Dow, Jones and Co., business news agency, said today in a Pittsburgh dispatch, that a wage pact between U. S. Steel Corp. and the CIO United Steelworkers Union had been concluded.

The agency quoted reports in "usually authoritative circles" as the source of its information.

U. S. Steel Corp. and the steel union, the agency added, said they had "no comment."

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Top-ranking strategists of the CIO's 850,000-member United Steel Workers Union gathered here today for important weekend sessions expected to go a long way toward determining whether peace or strife will rule in the nation's steel industry.

The union's powerful executive board meets today and tomorrow with its decisions slated to come before the 175-man wage and policy committee Monday for approval. Prime subject will be contract negotiations now under way between the union and the U. S. Steel Corporation, the country's No. 1 producer.

Most speculation centers around a reported wage increase offer, amount unspecified, which the trade journal, Iron Age, said was made to the union by U. S. Steel, bellwether of the industry. No confirmation of such an offer was obtainable from tight-lipped company and union officials. The union has never disclosed its wage demands.

Possible results of current union sessions could be: 1—A wage settlement; 2—A new contract extension; 3—A strike call after April 30, expiration date of the present pact between the union and five major steel subsidiaries.

With negotiations between big steel and steelworkers currently at a standstill, a 23-cent an hour wage boost demand was sent by the union to Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., fourth largest producer. No official word said that figure was also presented to big steel but it appeared much more to the liking of the union than a 15 cents an hour increase offered and accepted in other industries.

Chicago—(AP)—The Illinois Central Railroad's City of Miami, bound from Chicago to Florida, was derailed near here today but the railroad headquarters at Chicago said it did not believe the wreck was "very bad."

Chicago headquarters said it had been advised that the last five coaches of the seven car all coach streamliner had been derailed, but that all coaches had remained upright.

However, Dan Smith, a pilot at the Champaign airport, said he flew over the train and that the engine and all coaches were derailed. He said he observed people being removed from the train.

Ambulances were summoned to the scene but there were no early reports of dead or injured. The train normally makes a stop at Champaign and presumably was traveling slowly, the railroad said.

Babson Discusses School Committees

Eureka, Kansas, April 18.—When passing through the Great Central West—as I have the past week—the subject of general interest is not "crops" but rather "schools."

The Present Outlook My western friends say: (a) Since 1940, 350,000 of the 875,000 public school teachers have left their blackboards never to return! (This figure does not include the normal annual turnover of another 75,000.) (b) Sufficient replacements are not being trained to fill these vacancies. (Only 20,000 of the 1,000,000 veterans in American colleges are attending teacher-training institutions.) (c) While the teaching population shrinks, the pupil population increases. It is quite apparent, therefore, that something must be done quickly if we are to save our public schools.

The Crux of the Problem Let us face facts. Truck drivers and garbage collectors make more money today than the average public school teacher with $37 per week! The problem is primarily the need for a living wage for a professional class who have invested heavily in terms of time and money to prepare themselves for their "profession." We, moreover, have entrusted to them one of the most important tasks in a democracy—developing the minds of the citizens of tomorrow.

It is a sad commentary on the status of U. S. public education when Russia spends 7.5 per cent of its national income on its schools; Britain spends 3.5 per cent; and the United States spends only 1.5 per cent of its national income. Is it any wonder that the youth of our country are refusing to invest heavily in time and money to prepare for teaching when 45,000 teachers in more than 20 of our states earn less than $800 per year?

School Politics Who determines salary schedules, plots raises and educational policies, approves the hiring and firing of teachers in most communities? Usually it is the school committees. Too many committees have remained on the defensive with their

College Will Expand Work During Year

Eighth Grade To Be Added To Training School; Plan For Kindergarten

An eighth grade will be added at the Training School on the East Carolina Teachers College campus next year, according to present plans; and, if space can be found, a kindergarten will be established on the campus. Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, college president, has issued the following statement in regard to work for next year at the Training School and elsewhere on the campus:

"Since the recent legislature made an appropriation to have a kindergarten at the Training School, beginning in September, it was hoped that space could be made available at the Training School by taking out one of the first-grade sections in order to make space for the kindergarten. Since the Training School has no eighth grade, and since the college has not been training eighth grade teachers, it is felt highly desirable to use one of the grammar grade rooms for an eighth grade, which is not now housed in the Training School. This would have meant one less classroom available to the city schools than is now available. In view of the fact that the city schools are extremely crowded for room, and the further fact that the college wishes to work very closely with the city schools, it has been decided that plans for a kindergarten, although highly essential to an adequate teacher-training program, will be changed and the kindergarten will be housed in another building on the campus."

Launch Pitt Cancer Drive

$3,500 Goal Set For County In Fund-Raising Campaign

Because one out of eight persons in this community will die of cancer "unless we act," the American Cancer Society has launched a drive for $12,000,000 with which to fight this disease on a triple front—research, education and service. Of this amount the State of North Carolina has been asked to give $168,000, and Pitt County $3,500.

Every person here will be asked to give to this drive, the third national fund-raising campaign held by the American Cancer Society.

The drive in this community will continue throughout the remainder of the month of April which has been designated by Congress and proclaimed by President Truman as National Cancer Control Month.

The campaign is being sponsored by the Greenville Women's Club and is endorsed by local and county officials. All thinking citizens, business and medical men, social and religious organizations, educational institutions and professional groups are cooperating in making the drive a success.

The 1947 drive in Pitt County is headed by Dr. J. L. Winstead and (Continued on Page Two)

Cost Of Living Rose To Record High In March

Washington—(AP)—The cost of living rose two per cent between mid-February and mid-March to a record high of 156 per cent of the 1935-1936 average, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

Prices increased for all major groups of items used by moderate income families in large cities, the bureau said.

Food prices advanced 3.9 percent during the month after having declined 2.9 percent between mid-November and mid-February. Other living essentials rose less than one per cent.

Death Toll Mounts On Red Cross List

Known Dead Now Number 580; Weary Rescue Workers Back In Ruins Of Monsanto Plant; Memorial Service Planned

Texas City, Tex.—(AP)—Weary but dogged rescue workers in grotesque asbestos suits were ready at sunrise today to go back into the haunted ruins of the Monsanto factory for more victims of Wednesday's explosions.

Already the Red Cross has released a list of 580 dead in this blast-razed industrial gas coast community. The Houston Chronicle said, however, the Red Cross conceded that there were a number of duplications on the list. Earlier its total had been 542.

Fires still burned in oil storage tanks, casting a gloomy pall of smoke over the area. The grim task of putting them out continued. Also continued is the coast guard investigation into the cause of the trigger-explosion aboard the ship Grandcamp, a French vessel that was loading nitrate when it blew up at 9:12 a. m. that fatal morning taking much of the town with it.

In recurring explosions and fires two other ships were sunk, the High Flyer and the Wilson B. Keene. The multi-million dollar Monsanto Chemical Corporation plant was destroyed with a heavy loss of life.

A member of the coast guard board yesterday said the cause of the explosion was "the sixty-four million dollar question" that may not be answered for years.

Memorial services for the dead will be held at 6 p. m. at the football field. All denominations are joining in the service.

An investigating board of coast guard officers yesterday began the hearing of testimony in an inquiry into the cause of the Grandcamp explosion.

Rescue workers entered the Monsanto Chemical Corporation plant, still burning and with some parts inaccessible. About 35 bodies were removed from the plant. The exact number of the dead already brought out was difficult to ascertain. Many of the bodies were in pieces.

Memorial services for the dead will be conducted at 6 p. m. (CST) today by the Rev. Roland P. Hood, pastor of the wrecked First Baptist Church. The services will be held on the football field of the Texas City High School.

Mass burial will be conducted by the Ministerial Alliance of the blast-torn town sometime next week.

A "dead body commission" was appointed by Mayor J. C. Trahan after he revealed last night that there had been some unauthorized removals of bodies from the city before relatives could identify them.

The mayor did not say how many bodies were thus removed.

The slow process of recovery, made more arduous by the mangled condition of the bodies.

Nazi Magnate Now On Trial

Six Industrialists Accused Of Boosting Nazis To Power

Nuernberg, Germany—(AP)—German steel magnate Friedrich Flick and five of his industrial associates pleaded innocent to war crimes charges today after an American prosecutor declared in a blistering opening statement that they shared the blame for German crimes equally with militarists.

The six co-defendants entered their pleas of innocence before a crowded American courtroom in which the spectators included Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor of Germany.

Flick was accompanied in the prisoners' dock before the four-man U. S. court by Otto Durkhardt, Durkhardt was a last minute addition to the list of defendants.

They were accused of boosting the Nazis to power, of financing the SS (Elite Guard), of exploiting slave labor, cheating Jews out of property and of plundering occupied countries.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor presided in a 120-page opening address in which he scorched the conduct of German businessmen as at least equal to the guilt of the militarist.

This is the first war crimes trial of industrialists in history and is admittedly a testing ground inviting the interest of international lawyers, commerce and the military.

Negro Woman Found Dead In Ayden Home

Nettle Naomi Elks, 22-year-old Negro, died suddenly of a heart attack at her home in Ayden yesterday about 6:30 p. m.

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse of Greenville quoted Dr. M. T. Frizzelle of Ayden as saying that the woman was dead when he arrived and that it appeared that she had died of natural causes. There will be no inquest.

Greeks Report Navy Air Demonstration

Press Says U.S. Embassy Agreed To Request For Squadrons To Fly Over Greek Guerrilla-Held Territory

Athen—(AP)—The newspaper Eleftheria said today that an official of the U. S. embassy in Athens had acquiesced to a Greek request for squadrons of U. S. navy planes from the carrier Leyte—now in Greek waters—to fly over guerrilla-held territory in northern Greece in a demonstration.

The U. S. embassy said it had no comment to make on the Eleftheria report, which identified the official as James H. Keeley, Jr., counselor for the embassy.

A spokesman for Premier Demitrios Maximos said yesterday that the premier's conversation the day before with Keeley was "private" and concerned economic aid primarily.

The paper said Keeley had protested to Maximos against reported recent increases in right-wing terrorism and strongly recommended that the government take action. He also was quoted as expressing concern over the trade union situation and as requesting corrective measures.

Ten Millions Found By Man

Texas City Rescue Worker Finds Huge Sum In Ruins

Texas City, Tex.—(AP)—The next time Paul Stokes finds a dollar bill on the sidewalk, he may not even stoop to pick it up. Yesterday he found $10,000,000.

Stokes, a Houston, Tex., man, has been putting in 24 hours a day as a rescue worker. He was probing the ruins of the Texas City Terminal Railway Company when he came across the company safe.

It looked like a safe cracker had used too large a load of nitro on it. It was a messy job, but efficient.

Inside was a mass of paper. Stokes took them to W. H. Sandberg, vice president of the company.

"Thank God for this," Sandberg said. "This is seven million dollars in company fire insurance policies."

He gave Stokes the keys to other rooms and asked him to look around again. This time Stokes took a sheet with him. He entered room after room.

Manners In Congress

Arguments In The House And Senate Kept On A Very High Plane; Courtesy Prevails Even In Hottest Fights; They Throw Their Bricks In Bouquets

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington—(AP)—It's very elegant here when Congress talks. Its worth coming to see how polite some people—meaning congressmen—can be to people—meaning congressmen—they don't like.

They have some bad minutes, of course. But they try to keep everything on a very high plane.

When a congressman gets mad at another congressman—it happens all the time—he doesn't jump and say:

"Look, you pumped-up meathard, don't you know you're talking like a dummy?"

No. He may be mad enough to pull the skin off the other man but he swallows hard and comes out with something like:

"Isn't the distinguished gentleman from Pennsylvania aware . . . ?"

Calling a man a name—or by his right name—is the wrong thing to do in the best congressional circles on the floor.

(What congressmen may call one another off the floor and out of sight doesn't get into the record.)

Even in hot argument, a congressman is always referred to as the "gentleman from such-and-such a state."

In short: A congressman never seems to talk directly to another congressman. He speaks to him in the third person. For example:

A congressman never says "do you think so?" Instead, he says: "Does the esteemed gentleman from Missouri think so?"

The word "you" is taboo, except for slips.

The senators are even more polite to one another than the representatives, if that's possible.

When one senator wants to beat another over the head, he wags the brick in a pretty bouquet and starts out:

"I'm quite sure the gracious and eloquent senator from so-and-so state . . ."

Then he tears into his quarry, always in the third person, of course, as if he were talking about someone who wasn't there.

The senators seem to be a lot more careful to stay out of hot fights than the representatives.

Sometimes in the House a congressman blows his top, cutting loose with language against another member that raises all the members' hair.

Music Festival

The Greenville High School's annual Music Festival will be held in Wright Auditorium at the college Monday night at 8 o'clock. The High School band and orchestra, the glee club and the elementary schools band will participate. An impressive program will be rendered under direction of Miss Ona Shindler and Harold A. McDougle.

Proceeds of the concert will be used to help pay the expenses of the music club members to the State Music Festival in Greensboro.

Tickets may be procured from any member of the musical group.

Strength FOR THE DAY By EARL L. DOUGLAS

FIRST IN THE LIFE OF A HERO General Gordon, generally known as Chinese Gordon, was killed at Khartoum after valiantly defending the place against the enemy. He is one of the great heroes of British history. Particularly his memory has been revered for decades because of his intense religious devotion. His Bible, which he read every day, was with him when he was killed. Later, his sister presented this Bible to Queen Victoria, and she, in honor of her great General arranged that it be placed in a glass case in the front hall of Windsor Castle.

Tourists stream in and out of this historic dwelling place of royalty and as they enter its portals, the first thing they see is this glass case containing Gordon's Bible. The Queen, who was herself deeply religious, wanted it to symbolize the British philosophy of life, which puts character and religious faith first. Gordon was a great fighter but he is most reverently remembered by the British people because of his strong religious faith and the boldness with which he held it in the face of ridicule and opposition. Characteristic of the race of which he was a part, this Bible of his rests at the portal of one of the most historic buildings in the Empire. Here, it says, "is the Bible which Gordon put first in his life."

WASHINGTON LETTER

AMBITIOUS WIVES OF CONGRESSMEN GO FOR CULTURE By JANE EADS

Washington—Congressional wives are not going to sit at home and twiddle their thumbs waiting for the honorable mister to come from Capitol Hill and tell them what's going on in the world. Most of them are members of the Congressional Club, which is offering them a busy schedule—in the form of a "charm school" no less.

Besides all the luncheons and parties on the agenda for this year, there will be courses in hat-making, dancing and exercise lessons, classes in public speaking, bridge and bowling.

Mrs. Emma Bethel Resides is coming down from New York with frames, flowers, feathers, ribbons and veils, in addition to a well-stocked bundle of tricks in the millinery art, to help them make their own chapeaux. About 70 members have signed up for this course of four lessons for $5.

Mrs. Lowell Stockman, wife of the Republican Congressman from Oregon is chairman of the committee. Mrs. Walter George, wife of the Democratic Senator from Georgia, and Mrs. John Sparkman and Mrs. Robert M. Grant, wives of Democratic Representatives from Alabama, are co-chairmen.

Trim and talented Mrs. John Davis Lodge, wife of the new Republican Representative from Connecticut, will give about 16 of the girls "the works" in a series of health and dancing lessons over a period of 10 weeks. Mrs. Lodge, a dancer believes in dancing as the direct route to health.

The art of making public speeches and influencing people will be taught by professionally-trained Mrs. Ralph E. Church, wife of the Republican Congressman from Illinois. Her committee-members include Mrs. Hal Holmes, wife of the Republican Congressman from Washington, and Mrs. Charles S. McLaughlin, wife of the former Democratic Congressman from Nebraska. About 30 wives have enrolled in this course.

The club's weekly bridge marathon has attracted 48 members and is under the direction of Mrs. Charles R. Clason, wife of the Republican Congressman from Massachusetts.

writing and cleverly illustrated. The book sold like hot cakes—some 10,000 copies bringing it enough money to help finance the clubhouse redecorating job of last spring. Another 2,500 copies have been ordered for sale this season. Chairman of the book committee was Mrs. Harold H. Burton wife of the associate justice of the Supreme Court.

BABSON

(Continued From Page One) and alibis. The excuses which they make for failure to meet the crisis run like this: "We must pare the budget; the taxpayers won't stand for increased taxation." Or, "Let the teachers get jobs somewhere else if they don't like the way we treat them." I haven't heard very many of them soliciting the cooperation of the local press or meeting with the Parent-Teacher Associations to tell them why we must increase our budgets for the schools.

I'm wondering if all of us voters are not ultimately to blame for our present dilemma? We need on our local school committees more trained educators who know something about how a school should be run. We need crusaders anxious to fight for our schools and our teachers. We must cut through political and elect men with educational "know how" and have better school committees. In some cities the school committees are hot beds of politics. Out here in the rural communities a child has some chance of an education.

Schools or Roads?

Here is a suggested course of action which might well help in solving our problem: (1) We must exercise our right to vote, particularly in the primaries, and see to it that our school committees are those who know something about complex educational problems.

(2) We ought to support a good school committee in its every effort to raise not only the teachers' salaries but also the standards of the schools.

(3) Let us rouse out those petty politicians who are looking primarily for personal glory and jobs for relatives and friends.

We ought to insist that an adequate amount of our gasoline tax dollar goes to our schools. It's the younger generation who are wasting the gasoline today. Let them repay for their education by a gasoline tax plus a larger tax on cigarettes, movies and night clubs. After all, it's not only the teachers who are suffering—it's our children and our very way of life! The Supreme Court has declared valid laws for bidding the sale of certain things to minors. Why not put an extra tax on unessentials sold to minors and give this money to the teachers?

Socialism In . . .

(Continued From Page 1) When I first went to England thirty years ago, it was a land of tradition, where the rich were very rich and the poor were very poor. A man was a gentleman because he was born to that status and not because he had acquired culture and the individual stayed in the class to which birth assigned him.

But there has been a great leveling off, partly the result of a change in the social outlook of the country, and partly because of the terrific taxation which has wiped out the landed gentry to such an extent that the red-coated hussar, riding to hounds with his cry of "tally-ho," is becoming something of an anachronism. Some of this change is due to socialism, although the metamorphosis started long before the present government was elected. Mrs. Hamilton declared firmly that the leveling off process would continue, and ventured the view that the old school was much less in evidence these days.

"We intend to raise the lower class up and bring the upper class down," she said with a smile, "so that there will be only one class. Of course there always will be differences, but our aim is to provide equal opportunities for all."

"We find that the vast majority of the people are supporting the government program. I believe that this is largely because the terrible war conditions in England opened the eyes of the average person to how the under-privileged lived. Also the common hardships and dangers created among the classes a comradeship which has endured. This explains the result of the election which gave the mandate to the Labor (Socialist) Party. There was a widespread desire to change the pattern of the inequality, and the indications are that the general support of the government by all parties continues."

"This support hasn't been affected by the austerity of our life. The austerity probably will have to continue for a long time, but the public is taking it well. It is recognized that this isn't exclusively a socialist affliction but is an economic measure which would have to be pursued by any party for the general welfare of the country."

College Will . . .

"An eighth grade, which is also an important part of the teacher-training program, can be housed in the Training School by making a classroom in the space used at present for an auditorium in the Training School building. This will make available to the city schools for next year all of the classrooms that are now being used and an additional classroom in which an eighth grade will be housed."

"At a later date, announcements will be made through this paper to the citizens of Greenville if and when we have been able to find adequate quarters for a kindergarten."

Brides-Elect Honored at Tea

Kinston—Two brides-elect of the Harvey School faculty were especially honored when Misses Eugenia and Vivian Scarborough entertained informally at an afternoon tea as a courtesy to fellow teachers of Harvey School on Tuesday at their home near the city. About 50 guests, restricted to teachers in the city school, were received from 5:30 until 6:30 o'clock. Honorees included Miss Eloise Teague, of Newland, bride-elect of Mr. W. H. "Billy" Cobb; Miss Elizabeth Bridgers of Greenville, whose marriage to Mr. Norman Wilkerson of Greenville will take place on June 16 in Greenville's Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church; and Mrs. Charles McCullers, who was observing her wedding anniversary.

The hostesses greeted their guests upon arrival and presented them informally to the honorees, who were wearing camellia corsages, gifts of the Misses Scarborough. In the dining room, Miss Lols Smith poured tea and Mrs. W. L. Fay served a salad. Assisting in serving hand biscuits, cakes, nuts and candies were Misses Margaret Hines, Betty Gaines, Mabel Van Landingham and Martha Brooks. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of Dutch iris and red camellias in a silver centerpiece, flanked by lighted tapers in silver holders. Additional candles burned in silver candelabra on the buffet.

Throughout the rooms, which were in suite for the occasion, a profusion of colorful spring flowers was used in artistic arrangements. Fires burning in the old fireplaces of the ancestral home added a note of welcome and cheer to the scene. Mrs. B. F. Scarborough and Mrs. Craven Brooks, sisters of the hostesses, assisted in entertaining.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
April 19, 1907
Planting cotton has started. While the fruit was pretty generally killed, the recent freeze did not nip the baseball blossoms. Greenville is not the biggest place on the map, but it is making some of the envious think it is going to be.

Some people are actuated only by a desire to be on the other side and oppose every good movement that is started.

Junior Chapter Supper Meeting Pleasant Event

By CHESTER WALSH
The Junior Chamber of Commerce at its supper meeting at the Olde Towne Inn Thursday night enjoyed an inspiring talk by Hal Love of Wilmington, eastern vice-president of the Jaycees; announced plans for the Junior Chamber's convention at Morehead City April 25-27, and appointed delegates; welcomed four new members into the fellowship of the organization and, incidentally, elected one honorary member, considerably over the age limit, for "ballast"; spent an hour in fellowship and feasting and community planning, and the attendance was the largest of the year.

President Van C. Fleming presided and welcomed several guests. Charles Marston, whose days as a "benedict" are numbered, introduced the speaker of the evening, Ed Godwin of Wilmington and S. E. West of Statesville were invited guests.

Harold Stator, Greenville banker who inducted the new members was eloquent in describing the objects of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and enumerating its many opportunities for community service. Incidentally, he said some things about the four new members—Leon Roebuck, Clay Burnett, Bill Minton and Floyd McGowan, and Chester Walsh, honorary member.

The Jaycees have a wonderful personnel, the club is in a flourishing condition and the membership is increasing. It meets every second Thursday at 6:30 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Munford, of Greenville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna Louise, to Mr. Sidney Pickette Johnson, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. McKay Johnson of Greenville.

The wedding will take place on June 14, 1947, in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Presenting Art Exhibition
The State Art Gallery is presenting this week and next the annual exhibition of Children's Art from North Carolina elementary schools. Selected from work submitted from the 1946-47 school year, the exhibit includes 111 paintings and drawings and 31 designs for fabrics and wall paper, all done by children in grades one through seven.

It is a delightful show, and a well-timed one, for the gay, youthful original ideas and lively colors on the gallery walls are in keeping with the April world outside. There is also in a number of the paintings evidence of considerable maturity and gratifying ability in the use of art as a medium of expression and communication, a fact which tends to make of this exhibition one of the important shows of the year insofar as the future life of North Carolina is concerned.

Sponsored by the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs, and assembled and circulated by the Art Department at Woman's College in Greensboro, this Children's Exhibition will be on display in the State Art Gallery through April 29.

Hostess to Athenaeum Club
Mrs. J. J. Perkins delightfully entertained the Athenaeum Book Club and guests at luncheon Tuesday at one o'clock at her home on West 4th St. The house was lovely with arrangements of spring flowers. After a brief business session presided over by the president, Mrs. John Winstead, the hostess presented the speaker, Mrs. Judson Blount, who in her attractive manner reviewed a "delightful book. After current events led and discussed by the secretary, Mrs. Ty Wagner, books were exchanged and the club adjourned. Out of town guests were Mrs. Carl Richardson, mother of the hostess, her aunt, Mrs. Horace Roland, Mrs. Bob McKennie and Mrs. Norman Winslow.

PIRATES FIND NEW PITCHER

McCotter Stars In ACC Contest; Gets Strong Support

By JACK HEDGEPEETH
East Carolina's Pirates won their first game of the '47 season here Thursday afternoon, when Bob "Lefty" McCotter, freshman from Vandemere, shut out the Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs, 1-0, in a nine-inning thriller.

McCotter, who had a record of eight wins and one loss with Oak Ridge Military Institute in 1943, hurled brilliant ball throughout the game, limiting the Bulldogs to five hits—all singles—and striking out nine men. He was the first ECTC pitcher to go the route this year. He was in trouble only once, in the eighth inning. With two men on base by virtue of a hit and a fielder's choice, Davis of ACC lifted a tremendous drive to centerfield which Sam Stell, Pirate centerfielder, took on the run for the final out.

McCotter received errorless support from his teammates, who played by far their best game of the year.

The Pirates collected eight hits in beating J. D. Thorne, Bulldog pitcher, who is one of the leading hurlers in the North State conference. George Wynne, Sam Stell and apiece, while Ben Hester and Russ-Garland collected two hits each. Gaylor each garnered a single.

Score by innings:
ACC 000 000 000—1 5 2
ECTC 000 000 01x—1 8 C
Batteries: Thorne and Ayeock; McCotter and Wynne.
