EUROPEANS TO PLAN CUSTOMS UNION STUDY

Thirteen Western Powers Invite Russia And Satellites To Join Move

London, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Thirteen nations in the Paris economic conference are going to look into the idea of setting up a customs union as a self-help move under the Marshall plan for United States aid to Europe.

These nations—including Britain, France and Italy—will invite the Soviet Union, two Soviet republics and 12 other nations, most of them in eastern Europe, to join in the project.

The British and Belgian foreign offices made simultaneous announcements of the plan last mid-night in the name of all the nations that have agreed to take part. These nations include all those at the Paris conference except Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

The announcement said the participating countries had decided to create a study group for the purpose of examining the problems involved and the steps to be taken in the formation of a customs union of customs unions between any and all of these governments and other governments invited to participate.

The objective of a customs union is free trade—unhindered by tariff barriers—among member nations and a common tariff policy toward non-member nations.

Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands, which already have instituted their own customs union, were listed as sponsoring powers, to issue invitations and "convene a first meeting of the study group as soon as sufficient opportunity has been given for other states to signify their desire to adhere to the study group."

Kinston Man Is Facing Death In Gas Chamber

Kinston, N.C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Lemuel Parrott, 23, of Kinston, today faced death in the state's gas chamber after being convicted of first degree murder in the knife slaying of a 50-year-old Kinston bakery employee.

His counsel, Mayor Guy Elliott of Kinston, gave notice of appeal following the conviction by a Lenoir County Superior Court jury which deliberated three hours last night. Judge Luther Hamilton of Morehead City allowed 90 days for perfection of the appeal.

Parrott was sentenced to die at Raleigh Oct. 31. At his insistence Elliott declined an opportunity to submit a plea of guilty to second degree murder.

Sam Thompson of Goldsboro, Parrott's accomplice, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder and who turned state's evidence, was sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment. The trial began Wednesday.

Parrott and Thompson were accused of slaying Kenneth Taylor during a robbery in a wooded section just outside the Kinston city limits last Jan. 31.

Fed Up With Mandate

British Official Opinion Veering To View That Palestine Mandate Must End; Stewardship Is Thankless Task; Incidents; Background To The Trouble

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Government sources in London tell us that British official opinion has veered around to the view that Britain's mandate over Palestine must end—an attitude which may be expected to have a marked influence on consideration of the problem of the Holy Land when it comes before the United Nations Assembly which resumes deliberations next Tuesday.

This generation-old issue is one of the most controversial and at the same time complicated questions with which the assembly will have to struggle. One of the first things to be considered will be the explosive report recently rendered by the special U. N. committee. The majority recommended that Palestine be partitioned in Jewish and Arab states with an economic union. The holy cities of Jerusalem and Bethlehem would be autonomous.

Britain submitted the Palestine question to the U. N. and this in itself was an indication that she felt the present mandate couldn't go on—that she would have to quit ultimately. The London government long has been getting colossal kicks from all sides, and has come to regard the stewardship as a thankless task.

Incidents of recent weeks have made Britain particularly sorry for herself. At the end of July the British military in Palestine executed three members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, the illegal underground army, and Irgun in retaliation hanged two British soldiers. Widespread anti-Semitic incidents followed in England.

Basic Food Prices Are Near All-Time Record

Debate Over High Cost Of Living Also Near Crescendo; Varied Views On Causes Behind Soaring Consumer Costs

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The nation's basic food prices, despite some recent recessions, today were near the all-time peak reached after the first World War and debate over the high cost of living also appeared near a crescendo.

At the country's primary markets yesterday there were price declines in butter, hogs, wheat, corn, oats and lard—and consumers watched today to see if the downward trend would continue.

But eggs still were selling for $1 a dozen in some cities; choice steaks were $1 a pound and higher and butter continued to sell near and over $1 a pound.

There was organized consumer resistance in many cities and government and other officials expressed their views on the causes of the cost of living and offered suggestions to combat the high prices.

Secretary of Commerce Harriman said in Washington that the high level of food prices were due more to Americans bidding against each other than to export shipments.

"The present high prices are due primarily to the fact that this nation is now enjoying an all-time record of prosperity," the commerce secretary said. He added that "it is hardly fair to blame exports for the general high level of food prices which exist today."

The high cost of living, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said in Santa Cruz, Calif., may be a prime political issue in next year's national elections. He said prices were high mainly because of the "tremendous domestic consumption of foodstuffs," and his answer was "eat less, and eat less extravagantly." Taft said he was opposed to a return of government price controls.

But in New York, a spokesman for the New York League of Women Shoppers said: "We feel we must fight now for a return to price controls and rationings."

FILE SUIT ON LEAF BUYERS

Wendell Market Brings Action Against Six Large Concerns

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Six of the nation's leading tobacco buying companies have been ordered to appear September 20 in Wake Superior Court to show cause why they have not attended a second sale at nearby Wendell.

The tobacco market's attorney, former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, yesterday named the companies as defendants in a suit which would restrain them from "further interfering with the conduct" of a second sale on the thriving flue-cured tobacco market.

The suit also would seek an order to restrain the firms from "further boycotting and refusing to attend with buyers" the markets second sale.

Resident Judge William C. Harris signed the order instructing the tobacco companies to have representatives appear before him at 10 a. m. next Saturday to show cause why the requested injunction should not be issued.

Named as defendants are the American Suppliers, Inc., Export Leaf Tobacco Company, Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd., Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, Philip Morris and Co., Ltd., Inc., and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Wendell alleges that the six, in the face of repeated urgings, demands and pleadings, have refused to attend with buyers the second sale on the market.

Horton Declares Himself Out Of Political Race

Pittsboro, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Decision of Wilkins P. Horton, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, not to be a candidate for his party's nomination as governor next year brings to two the number of possible candidates who have chosen to run.

Horton, a former lieutenant governor of the state and a veteran of the General Assembly, yesterday issued this terse statement: "I have decided that I shall not enter the race for governor in 1948."

A few months ago Thomas Pearson of Rocky Mount, 1947 House of representatives speaker, announced that he was withdrawing from the gubernatorial race, and that he would back state treasurer Charles M. Johnson.

Philpot Leaves For N.C. Prison

William W. Va., Sept. 13.—(AP)—William Philpot, 34, said goodbye today to his wife he married after escaping from a North Carolina prison camp, and headed for the Tarheel state where he faces a possible term of 18 months behind bars.

Special Agents O. F. Atkins and J. S. Braswell of the North Carolina prison department, took custody of the young mine foreman, who was arrested last Monday night on a fugitive warrant after 14 years of freedom.

Hooded Man Ordered From Capitol

A man dressed in the white robe and hood of the Ku Klux Klan leaves the capitol grounds in Washington on orders from police who escorted him from the office of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Lt. Marian Wilson of the Capitol police force said the visitor identified himself as Stetson Kennedy, 33, of Jacksonville, Fla. He said he went to the committee office to disclose "evidence" of un-American activities by the Klan. (AP Wirephoto).

WAGES IN N. C. SET NEW HIGH

Workers' Salaries In Billion Dollar Class Last Year

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Workers in North Carolina went into the billion-dollar class last year for the first time.

Director P. S. Campbell of the State Employment Security Commission's Bureau of Research and Statistics reported yesterday that the total paid Tar Heel workers jumped from $851,292,598 in 1945 to $1,033,686,228 in 1946.

The average worker received a pay increase of 11.1 per cent and saw his weekly wage increase from $31.17 to $34.64, Campbell reported.

Employment increased in 1946 in every county in the state except Dare, Forsyth, New Hanover, Onslow, Pasquotank and Yancey, and the workers' average earnings increased in all counties except seven, Swain, Dare, Pasquotank, Craven, Pamlico, Brunswick and New Hanover, the report said.

The biggest increase in total wages paid was registered in Guilford where workers received $91,631,382, a boost of $22,620,919 over 1945. The number of employees in Guilford increased from 861 to 1,111 and the number of workers jumped from 41,645 to 47,458.

Greek Parliament Passes Measure Offering Pardon To Rebel Fighters

Athens, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Greek Parliament early today passed a bill to offer pardon to guerrillas in rebellion against the government, provided they surrendered within a month.

Theistokles Sophoulis, liberal premier of the new liberal-populist (royalist) coalition government, had urged passage of the amnesty bill as a move to bring peace to the country.

The action followed heated debate. Parliament first accepted and then, upon reconsideration, rejected a motion to reduce the time for surrender to 15 days.

As soon as the bill is printed in the government Gazette, military aircraft will fly over guerrilla-held areas and drop thousands of proclamations containing the text of the amnesty law and urging guerrillas to give up.

Dwight P. Griswold, chief of the American mission to aid Greece with $300,000,000 in supplies, said yesterday he hoped the new coalition effort would mean "a united effort of all the Greek people to solve the serious problems which trouble their country."

Babson Discusses Human Values

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 13.—I have had several good grandchildren, but only two have been boys. One of these is artistic and has no interest in business; he was in the service and returned from Europe safely. The other, Michael, had been much interested in business, one with whom I had discussed my affairs although only eighteen years old. He had been working at a Sunapee, New Hampshire hotel all summer; last week he took a speedboat party out on Lake Sunapee.

Somehow one of the girls fell overboard. Michael stopped the boat and dove in after her, knowing that she could not swim. He succeeded in dragging her to the side of the boat so that the others could pull her in. This they did; but Michael was exhausted and sank to the bottom. Divers finally recovered his body. It was a splendid way to go and I am much prouder of him than if he had lived and made a million dollars.

TARHEEL CORN CROP LARGER

Harvest Near; Condition Excellent; Record-Breaking Prices

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—With prices at record-breaking levels, North Carolina farmers are preparing to harvest one of the best corn crops in state history.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service reported yesterday that according to Sept. 11 indications, the farmers are expected to harvest approximately 63,000,000 bushels of corn, a 4 per cent more than the 59,000,000-bushel crop produced in 1946 and 28 per cent larger than 41,645 to 47,458.

Sec. Marshall Assigns Duties For Delegation

Specific Issues Allotted Team For UN Assembly Meeting To Start Tuesday; Session Regarded As Most Important

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall summoned his 10-member U. N. delegation here today to lay down the policy the U. S. will pursue on the Balkans, Palestine, the veto and other issues in the United Nations assembly meeting to start Tuesday.

An American spokesman said that because of so many major issues, Marshall would not attempt to carry the load alone on the 55-nation political committee but would assign other delegates to specific issues as they came before that body.

In the past, the U. S. has been represented on this important committee by only one or two delegates for the entire session. The spokesman explained that to operate more smoothly the State Department had decided to assign experts on certain issues like the Balkans and the big power veto in the security council to handle them rather than to place the load on one person.

The importance with which the U. S. views the coming assembly session at Flushing Meadow Park was seen in the fact that Marshall came here to direct personally the American strategy.

Marshall is to be the second among the "chief delegates to speak in the assembly's general debate. He will follow Mexico's representative to lay down basic U. S. policy next Wednesday.

But there was a possibility that he might give some hint before then of the U. S. stand in the assembly on the explosive Balkan and Palestine issues. Should he do so, most observers expected it to come tomorrow when he addresses a luncheon session of the American Association for the United Nations.

American sources, however, made it clear that the U. S. was prepared to hold a strong line during the assembly session and perhaps take a commanding spot early.

STORM NEARS PUERTO RICO

Hurricane Continues On Northwestward Course; Warnings Out

Miami, Fla., Sept. 13.—(AP)—A tropical hurricane with winds above 140 miles an hour was expected to pass within 250 miles of San Juan, Puerto Rico, early today as it churned along its west northwest course at the rate of 20 miles per hour.

The Weather Bureau here said in an advisory issued at 5 a. m. (EST) that the hurricane—which it termed "severe"—was centered about 240 miles north northeast of San Juan. The hurricane was reported to have passed within 170 miles of St. Martins in the Netherlands West Indies late last night.

It was expected that the storm would remain on its west northwest to northward course for the next 24 hours and that the area of "dangerous winds" would increase. All vessels in the path of the storm were warned to exercise "extreme caution."

First reported about 750 miles east of Martinique, French West Indies, early Thursday, the storm has swept north past the Lesser Antilles and the British West Indies without coming sufficiently close to land to be felt, and storm warnings were ordered lowered from the Antilles to Puerto Rico yesterday afternoon.

Winston-Salem Shelves Plans For Shutdown

Winston-Salem, Sept. 13.—(AP)—City officials and industrial plants explored new avenues of conservation for Winston-Salem's dwindling water supply today, temporarily shelving off a proposed intermittent shutdown of numerous industries.

Officials estimate the city's water supply will be exhausted by mid-November at the present rate of consumption. Winston-Salem is North Carolina's second largest city, with a population of 95,000 and industries centering around textiles and tobacco.

A plan that would have shut down industrial plants at intervals was shelved last night when plant representatives agreed with city officials to conserve water by digging wells, opening old wells, recirculating water, eliminating certain water-using processes and other means.

Slow Battleship To Miss Storm

Miami, Fla., Sept. 13.—The battleship Missouri, bringing President Truman home from the Inter-American defense conference at Rio de Janeiro, was reported to have slowed her pace today to permit the Atlantic hurricane to move out of her path.

The great super dreadnaught radioed word from a point well to the south of the storm's center that she was running through scattered showers and moderately rough seas. The skies were partly cloudy.

Her officers indicated that after the storm has moved out of the way, the "Mighty Mo" will step up her speed to regain her schedule.

William Benton, assistant secretary of state, in charge of cultural relations, was named chairman. He and the following four members are voting representatives:

The other five members are Charles S. Johnson, president Fisk University; Anna Rosenberg, public relations consultant of New York; George Stoddard, president, University of Illinois; Howard E. A draft agenda for the conference includes: Analysis of the forces and tensions affecting international understanding, education for international understanding, promotion of fundamental education in undeveloped areas and removal of obstacles to the free flow of ideas and materials.

Father, Daughter In Same School Grade

Valdese, N.C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Grover C. Walsh and his daughter Peggy are both enrolled in the tenth grade of Valdese High School. Walsh, recently discharged from the Army, says he wants to finish high school to study for the ministry.

On the first day of school the bus driver didn't want to let him ride, Walsh said. The driver said the bus was for "school children" only.

DOUBT TRUMAN CALL SESSION

Senators Throw Cold Water On Idea Of Congressional Summons

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Influential senators threw cold water today on suggestions for a special session of Congress to deal with emergency aid for Europe.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) told a reporter that members "will not look kindly upon a call of a special session upon a hullabaloo basis."

Millikin is chairman of the Republican conference, which includes

Some Odd Facts Are Encountered By Inquisitive Reporters In Washington; Here's A Sample Lot That Runs From Plumbing To "Back-To-School" Concepts

By MAX HALL

Washington, Sept. 13.—Any reporter in Washington, looking into this and that, runs across some odd facts.

For example:

The inquisitive people at the Bureau of Standards have built three typical plumbing systems out of transparent pipes, so they can see what happens when the water's turned on.

Building codes—the Bureau of Standards is testing all sorts of building materials, not just plumbing systems.

The idea is to write a "model" building code which cities can adopt if they care to. A lot of cities have ancient, built building codes that put hundreds of unreasonable restrictions on the building of new houses.

Smoking it out—another thing the bureau did was to build 14 different kinds of chimneys to discover which are the safest.

They place inflammable stuff on the roof, connect the chimneys to several types of furnaces in turn, run the furnaces full blast, and sit around to see what happens (with fire hose in hand, no doubt).

Male and female—according to census figures, females outnumber males in this country by a slight margin. But some Census Bureau experts say this isn't a true picture, and there are really more males.

They say there is always a portion of the population that doesn't get counted by the census takers, and there are more men than women in this lost group.

Television—two other names for television are video and TV. When in New York, you are more likely to hear it called video. In Washington, you are more likely to hear TV.

Editorials—now the movies are going in for editorials. The motion picture literature is making a series of them in technicolor.

President Eric Johnston says the short films will present a point of view, and will be frankly labeled editorials, as contrasted with newsreels.

In newspapers, editorials are a long established part of the American scene.

On the radio, editorializing is forbidden under present rules of the Federal Communications Commission. But that agency has set a hearing in January on the question of whether the rules should be altered.

Schools—some educators gnash their teeth every time they see a cartoon on the "back to school" theme, showing kids in utter misery because they have to leave the "old swimmin' hole" and return to the classroom.

The educators say that these are the conceptions of adults, and that most children these days really enjoy school—even though some children insist they don't because it's the conventional thing to say.

Strength FOR THE DAY

MEET FEAR WITH FAITH

Fear is man's greatest enemy—fear of illness, fear of poverty, fear of accident; anxiety about loved ones, disquietude over the fact that one may be displaced socially, fear lest one may lose his position; and worst of all, fear of fear.

There is no power adequate to fight fear except the power of faith. Believe deeply enough in the goodness of God, in the sufficiency of Jesus Christ, in the eternal significance of life, and you will make an onslaught against fear that would at last bring about its defeat.

Just a few days ago I talked with a woman who told me that for many years she had been a most pronounced worrier. Her life was positively crisscrossed with haunting sense of fear. Then there came upon her a great calamity, and out of that troubled circumstance she wrested a faith in God which changed her whole outlook. Today she fears nothing, and the result is that she has nothing to fear.

There is no enemy that can so fear down life as fear. We only cure the disposition to worry when we restore our whole personality to robust spiritual health. We need to cleanse our souls of the doubt from which fear arises.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Among other things that the country needs says the National Institute of Social Relations, is more talk.

The institute doesn't mean the aimless yakety-yak that most of us engage in with great pleasure. It is concerned, instead, with intelligent discussions of topics of the day.

It is out to help people set up a sort of "hot-cold league" in their own communities for talking over such things as the United Nations, the control of atomic energy, veterans' problems and so on.

After only a year at the job, the institute has 328 discussion groups going in six states and 15 helping groups in 200, plus field research and planning information.

Army veterans will think they recognize this as a civilian version of the wartime orientation program. Essentially, it is the same thing—run by the same man.

The story of the institute goes back to the Army's Orientation Section, which was established on the theory that a man could be educated better by being encouraged to talk than by listening to a lecture. Millions of soldiers learned about the dangers of fascism by discussing among themselves what the dangers are and how fascism works.

Dr. Julius Schrieber, a California psychiatrist, was in charge of planning the army program. When the war ended he was so enthusiastic about it that he decided to convert the thing to civilian life. The institute, founded in February 1946 and incorporated as a nonprofit educational organization, is the result.

The institute does not boss anybody's discussions.

First, it provides literature outlining major points for discussion of any current problem. Secondly, it trains people in leading discussions—talkfest traffic cops who know how to keep a discussion moving.

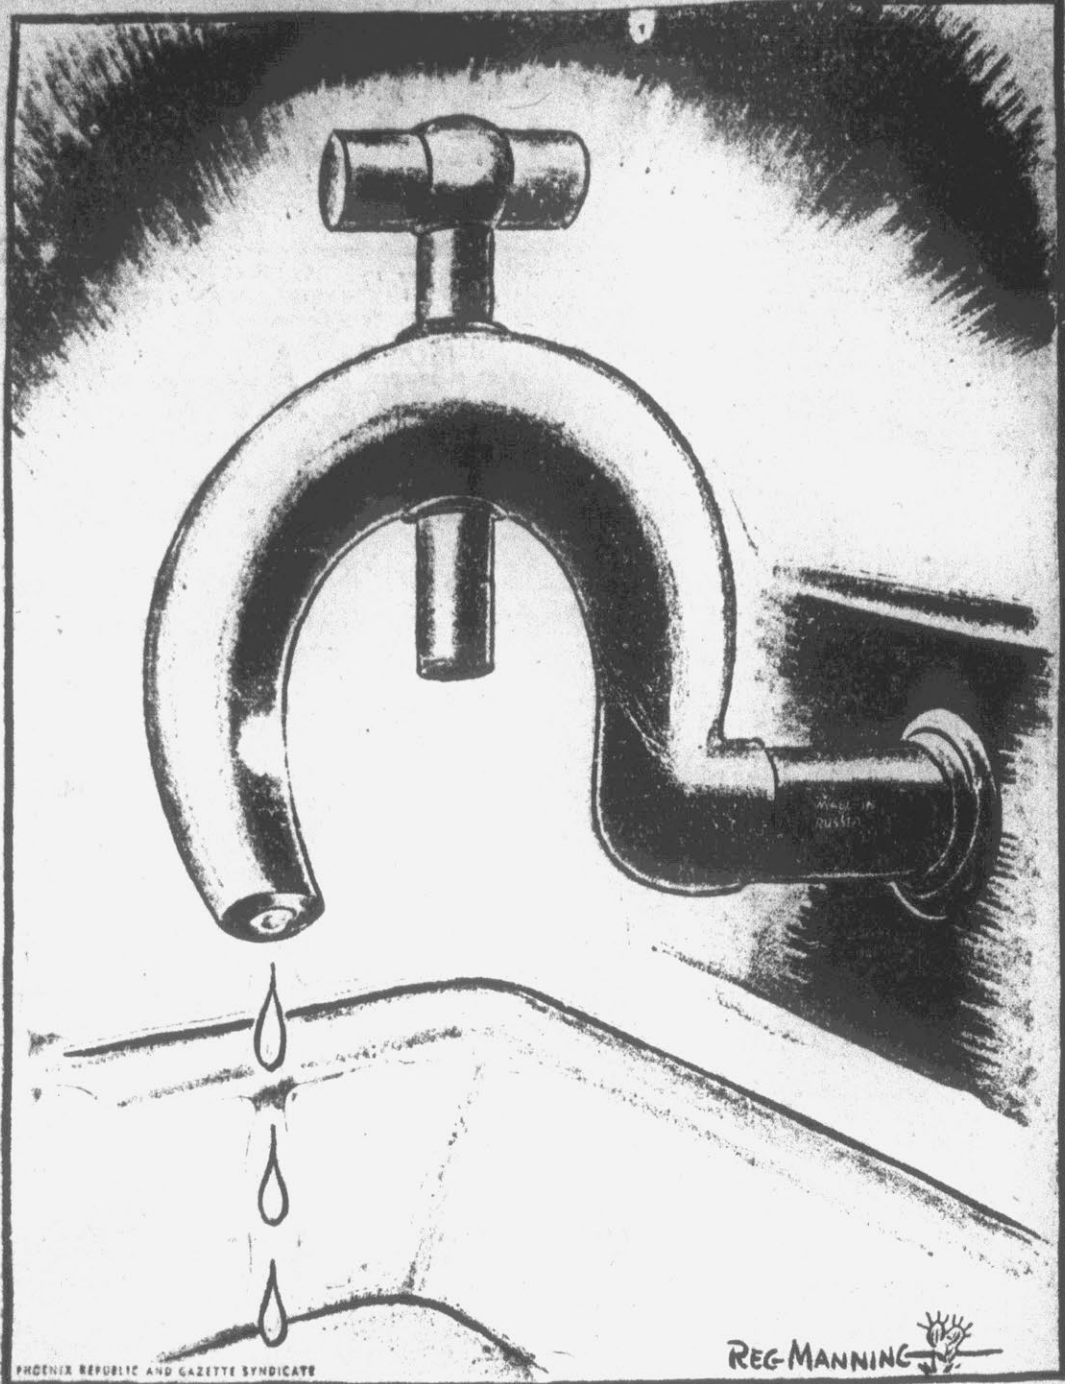

The institute is now supplying information and guidance to church organizations, business men's clubs, labor unions, veterans' organizations, women's clubs and school associations.

The material is organized so as to stimulate study by the discussion groups, and outlines are prepared so they cover all possible angles of a subject. Leaders then watch to make sure that all phases are brought into the discussion.

The institute is supported by contributions. The president is Frank L. Weil of New York, a co-founder of the USO and a member of the Boy Scouts' national executive board.

Dr. Schrieber is director, and his board of advisors includes Katherine Lennox, director of the U. S. Children's Bureau; Bishop G. Bromley Oxman, chairman of the Methodist Board of Bishops; President Philip Murray of the CIO; E. Manchester Boddy, publisher of the Los Angeles News; and Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina.

Bloop Bleep

trying to think of them and also of the millions of starving families in Europe who love their children just as much as I loved Michael.

We Can Prevent World War III
My second reason for mentioning Michael is to apologize for my habit of discussing World War III as if the money cost and property damage are of primary consideration.

Heretofore, I have figured which is the cheaper in dollars—to help out Europe now or to fight now. I have not considered the millions of good boys who would be killed in another war. Again I fear there are too many other businessmen—and perhaps labor leaders too—who are as ruthless as I have been in thinking too much of the dollars involved and not enough of the human lives. Anyhow, I am a changed man today.

Just one more thought: Of course, if World War III comes, we will be told that it is a fight for "democracy against dictatorship." But since losing Michael, I have been wondering if there is not a more underlying reason for today's world troubles. May not property, stocks, profits and wages be one reason for the struggle between America and Europe? If we would be willing to sacrifice some of our wealth—in a big way—perhaps Russia would have to call off her gangster methods.

Which Shall It Be?
This does not mean that we would pay tribute as a cowardly nation to Europe, but it would be licking these dictators by giving up our luxuries or a while in order to raise the standard-of-living abroad. We, however, cannot accomplish such without making real sacrifices. It might temporarily require farmers to forego profits, investors to forego dividends and all of us to work ten hours a day on reasonable wages.

The question is whether we will do this voluntarily by the use of commodities, or will we still insist on fighting Russia with human lives? In either case it would mean real sacrifice and perhaps a surface settlement for America, as it should be done without increasing the Federal or other debts. Before losing my grandson, I was all for fighting now and "cleaning Russia up," but today I think there may be a better way. Besides, do wars ever settle great questions when ideologies are involved?

Fed Up . . .

There are certain things that could have been done," he said, "but I question if it is not too late. The consumer has been left to the mercy of government appeals and exhortations, which so far have been futile."

He said he concurred with the National Association of Manufacturers that production could lick prices, but he was bitterly critical of American industry for refusing to expand to meet demand.

"It is a matter of record," he said, "that the research director of United States Steel said quite frankly that they won't expand because they expect a depression."

Porter, who resisted abrupt junking of price-controls in 1946, said some sections of the nation's industry had adopted the "boom-and-bust" philosophy.

all Republican senators. Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) president pro tempore of the Senate and the chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Taft (R-Ohio) the chairman of the Senate Republican policy group, previously had frowned on calling the legislators back before next January.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic party whip, said he knew of no plans for a special session and that if one were called Congress probably would spend most of the time "talking about politics and the 1948 election."

"But the decision is one for President Truman," Lucas added.

Aboard the battleship Missouri, which is bringing President Truman back from the inter-American defense conference in Rio de Janeiro, White House aides indicated the chief executive has yet to be convinced that a special session is now needed.

The crop was reported in excellent condition except in some areas of the northern Piedmont, and an all-time record yield per acre of 29 bushels is indicated compared with 27 last year and the 10-year-average of 21.

The crop reporting service predicted a tobacco crop of 887,000,000 pounds. The estimated is 6,365,000 pounds above the Aug. 1 estimated and 25,510,000 below last year's 912,970,000 production.

The estimate increase resulted from "continued favorable weather and further progress of harvest which aided growers in arriving at production estimates for their crops."

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

September 13, 1907

In event Pitt county had a hospital, we would be in a position to give training in the art of nursing to as many young ladies as desired who would prove themselves fitted to take up the work. Let us have one in which the rich man can go in, and have his private room for which he pays a good round fee, which fee goes to help the unfortunate too poor to help themselves. Let us have one that the poor man can come to also and get his private room for a nominal sum. Come now, folks, get together and devise ways and means to procure this hospital. Of course you will find some voters who don't want it. Some folks, you know, are so selfish that they would not eat a melon near a pig pen for fear the hogs would get the rinds. Seriously now, everybody, it won't cost much. Suppose every farmer in the county would give fifty pounds of tobacco we would have enough to build it by Christmas.

LASSIE WINS PLAUDITS OF KIWANIS CLUB

Sparkling Ruth Moore Eloquent About 4-H Club Work And Barefoot Boy

Nearly a hundred Greenville business and professional men at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night paid tribute to 4-H state president, Miss Ruth Moore of Farmville, talented 16-year-old lassie, with pretty brown hair, sparkling eyes and a magnetic personality, after her eloquent after-dinner speech about the recent 4-H Club gathering at State College, Wyatt Highsmith, in charge of the program, promised the Kiwanians "youth, charm, glamour, femininity and so forth" for the program, and more than made good after he topped off the program with a breezy and wholesome 60-second speech of appreciation from blonde and convincing Lillian Hines, assistant home demonstrator for Pitt County.

President Eli Bloom, W. H. Woolard, Milo Smith and a host of Kiwanians said "it was a great night." Let us forget "The 4-H Clubs are a vital and integral part of the advancement of home and farm life in North Carolina," and the good word of a barefoot boy, president of a South Carolina 4-H Club group, who liked Ruth Moore better than anyone else at a South Carolina 4-H Club meeting.

Winding up her wonderful talk last night, Miss Moore said, "I think you Kiwanians are wonderful. I indicated that they now know that the 4-H Clubbers and their leaders are doing great things in the American way of living."

Greenville's wartime mayor, B. B. Sugg, bank president and head of tobacco warehouses here, announced that for his program at the Kiwanis meeting next Friday, he will present as the speaker, Thomas J. Pearlsall of Rocky Mount, prominent tobaccoist and speaker of the House in the North Carolina General Assembly.

Green Phantoms Grab 46-0
Win Over Farmville Squad

PRIZE WINNER — Mrs. Jean Shoaf of Kirklyn, Pa., looks rather small alongside the 110-pound tarpon she caught off Sarasota county, Florida. It took first prize for medium weight, tackle in a tournament.

By SAM NORTHIROP
Scoring in every quarter the GHS
Green Phantoms rolled over Farmville last night at Guy Smith Stadium to crush the Red Devils 46-0.
Glyn Perkins tallied four times for Greenville.

The G-Men received the kickoff to open the game and immediately proceeded to march to the Farmville goal. On the fourth play from scrimmage Fred Joseph, pile-driving fullback, hit pay dirt only to have the play recalled for holding, the first of 6 Greenie TD's to be called back. Two plays later Perkins scored his first touchdown of the night.
Minshew booted the extra point.

The G-Men then kicked off and after three futile tries at the line the Devils kicked. Five plays later Jack Morgan swept end for the
TD. Minshew converted.

Mid-way in the second quarter
Fred Joseph climaxed a long drive by hitting pay dirt behind a second string forward wall.

After receiving the kickoff, Farmville again was forced to kick and then the Phantom second string marched from their own 15 down to the Devil's 35. From there, diminutive Carl Denton swept left end into pay dirt to make the score 27-0 as the half ended.

Wasting no time, the Farleymen took the kickoff and proceeded down field with Glyn Perkins again going over. Minshew failed to convert.

About five minutes later, a Farmville fumble was recovered and three plays later it was Perkins into the end zone for his third tally. Minshew was successful in his try for the extra point.

The Red Devils were helpless against the G-Men's forward wall so once more they were forced to punt. Following the kickoff, The Greens tallied again with Perkins going over after a 45-yard drive.
Minshew converted to end the Phantoms' scoring, 46 points.

Late in the game, against a second and third string Greenville team, Farmville put a scare into the Phantoms. They drove down to the Phantom six, aided by several penalties. However, this second and third string forward wall held the Devils on downs and after one play, the final whistle blew, ending the game. The Phantoms' subs played over half the game.

Next Friday night the G-Men open their conference schedule against Tarboro on the Serpents' home field.

Cards Eke Out 8-7 Victory
To Get Back In Running

In early-day Illinois, wagon freight charges were often $10 a ton for twenty miles.

By JOE REICHLER

The Cardinal obituaries were once again shoved aside today as the still breathing St. Louis club showed the baseball world that they do not intend to relinquish their crown without a last ditch struggle.

The Redbirds' nerve-tangling 8-7
"saver" victory over the Dodgers last night rescued them from practical elimination.

So once again the Cards are four and a half games in back of the front running Brooklyn but this time they have only 17 games left to play while the Dodgers have 14.

On numerous occasions this season, Eddie Dyer's amazing crew appeared on the verge of complete collapse, but always managed to rebound with more fight than ever to get back in the running.

But yesterday not many of the 31,957 wild-eyed onlookers that packed Sportsman's Park in St.
Louis would have given a plugged nickel for the Cards' chances as they trudged in from the field for their turn at bat in the last of the ninth.

The win squared the vital three-game series at one win apiece and put the issue directly up to little Vic Lombardi, Dodger lefthander and Murry Dickson, St. Louis right-hander, who oppose each other in this afternoon's rubber game.

Because sunlight is bent in passing through water, the setting sun, seen by human eyes as dipping into the water, appears to a fish as high in the skies.

MR. & MRS. THIN MAN — PERFECT TEAM

William Powell and Myrna Loy, the screen's "perfect husband and wife," come to the Pitt Sunday—Monday in their new picture, "Song Of The Thin Man."

Kinston, Wilson Win

By the Associated Press
Wilson Coastal Plain pennant winners held a 2-0 game lead in the semifinal post-season playoffs as result of a seven-run scoring spree in the fourth inning last night. Third game in the series will be played at Wilson tonight.

Kinston also did some belated scoring, two runs in the ninth for a 5-4 decision over Tarboro.
Tarboro did its scoring in the seventh. Victory gave the Eagles a 2-1 lead in games.

Kiner Leading
Home Run Race

Pittsburgh, Sept. 13—(AP)—Ralph Kiner, the husky, quiet-spoken Pittsburgh Pirate left fielder who has taken over the National League home run leadership—and established a new major record doing it—looms today as the man who has a fighting chance to break Babe Ruth's all-time season high of 60.

Kiner smashed out two homers to drive in three runs last night and carry the Pirates to a 4-3 win over the Boston Braves. They were his 48th and 49th of the season and broke his 47-all tie with Johnny Mize, the tobacco-chewing New York Giant whom Kiner had been chasing all season.

Baby Pirates And Rocky Mount Tied

Rocky Mount, Sept. 13—The Rocky Mount Blackbirds played the

ECTC Freshmen to a 6-6 deadlock here last night in the opener for both teams.

The Freshmen scored midway the second period. On fourth down, with 12 to go, Wood passed to Ike Davis in the end zone for the tally.

The Blackbirds came back in the fourth, with a 50-yard sustained drive to knot the score, Alton Hooks passed to End Harry Fowler, who carried the ball to the 16. Hooks went over tackle for 9, and Pete Carr carried the ball off right guard for 6 yards and a first down on the 1. Carr bucked over for the touchdown. The placement was low.

Coal was used in the United States shortly after the Revolutionary war, but it was not marketed widely until development of the railroads about 100 years ago.
