Report Hurricane Moving Westerly

Weather Station In Bahamas Reports 160-Mile Winds; Florida Advised To Make Preliminary Preparations For Mighty Storm If Direction Confirmed

Miami, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Barometer readings began a sickening slide to lower readings along the lower Florida east coast at 1 p. m., a survey showed. Rainsqualls, typical of the advance of a hurricane, began to blow in from the sea.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The weather station at Hopetown, Abaco Island, reported winds of 160 miles an hour as the Florida east coast from Miami northward was advised to "make preliminary preparations for the mighty hurricane centered 220 miles east of Palm Beach."

If the westerly movement at five to seven miles an hour is confirmed, hurricane warnings will be hoisted this afternoon over Florida. The entire peninsula already has been told to make advance preparations for the storm.

The weather station at Abaco reported it was closing down its operations at noon.

The eastern half of the Florida peninsula began to get ready for a possible blow. Residents who relied on storm warning experts to guide them began to heed the advice to make preliminary preparations. There was no excitement.

Earlier, Chief forecaster Grady Norton described the six-day-old hurricane as being "at the crossroads."

No one can tell at this moment what the hurricane will do. It is wallowing around out there, growing in size, and could strike out in any direction when it begins to move again. It could as easily move toward land as away from land."

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The State Highway Patrol has ordered its patrolmen in North Carolina's coastal area to stand by for possible hurricane duty if the storm now hovering off Florida should strike North Carolina.

Patrol officials here last night ordered the cancellation of all leaves for patrolmen in Troop "B" which is stationed in the eastern part of the state.

Charlotte, N.C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—W. J. Wortman, N.C. section manager of the American Radio Relay League, received instructions today from ARRL headquarters in West Hartford, Conn., to alert all low frequency and high frequency amateur radio emergency networks in this state. The ARRL communication asked all amateurs to stay tuned to WIAW on 3555 kilocycles and 7145 kilocycles, and requested amateurs to have emergency equipment ready to operate in the event of power and other communication failures.

Three Polio Cases Close Two Schools

Monroe, N.C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Two schools in the northern section of Union County have been closed following diagnosis of three cases of infantile paralysis in the area.

Dr. Clem Ham, county health officer, said there is no cause for alarm at present.

WARNT SHOT BY AMERICAN BORDER GUARD

Machinegun Burst And Tank Discourage Yugoslavs Entering Trieste

Trieste, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Allied Military Government headquarters said today that American troops manning an outpost on the provisional frontier between Yugoslavia and the new free state of Trieste brought up a tank and fired a warning burst of machinegun fire to discourage a Yugoslav attempt to cross the line this morning.

"It was touch and go at that outpost for a while," commented a high AMG officer. He credited the "highly disciplined" American troops with having conducted themselves in such a manner as to permit the incident to end without serious consequences.

Both the American and Yugoslav officers at the post said they would consult with higher authorities. The Yugoslavs dropped back a few feet from the line.

Yugoslavia had jumped the gun soon after midnight on the British-American-Yugoslav timetable for her to occupy treaty-gained lands. Fighting between Italians and Slavs marred the birth of the free territory of Trieste, embracing this Adriatic port and its environs.

The AMG announcement said the machinegun incident occurred on the road between Boriano and Prosecco.

A Yugoslav unit of 34 soldiers commanded by two officers presented itself at the provisional—and disputed—boundary and demanded permission to cross. The Americans refused. The Yugoslavs argued that they interpreted the peace treaty as authorizing Yugoslav troops to enter the free state up to a maximum of 5,000 men.

The American officer in charge of the post, the AMG said, replied that he would consult his superiors. When the Yugoslavs insisted on crossing he summoned the tank and also called for local reserves.

Hickory Rejects ABC Stores By Narrow Margin

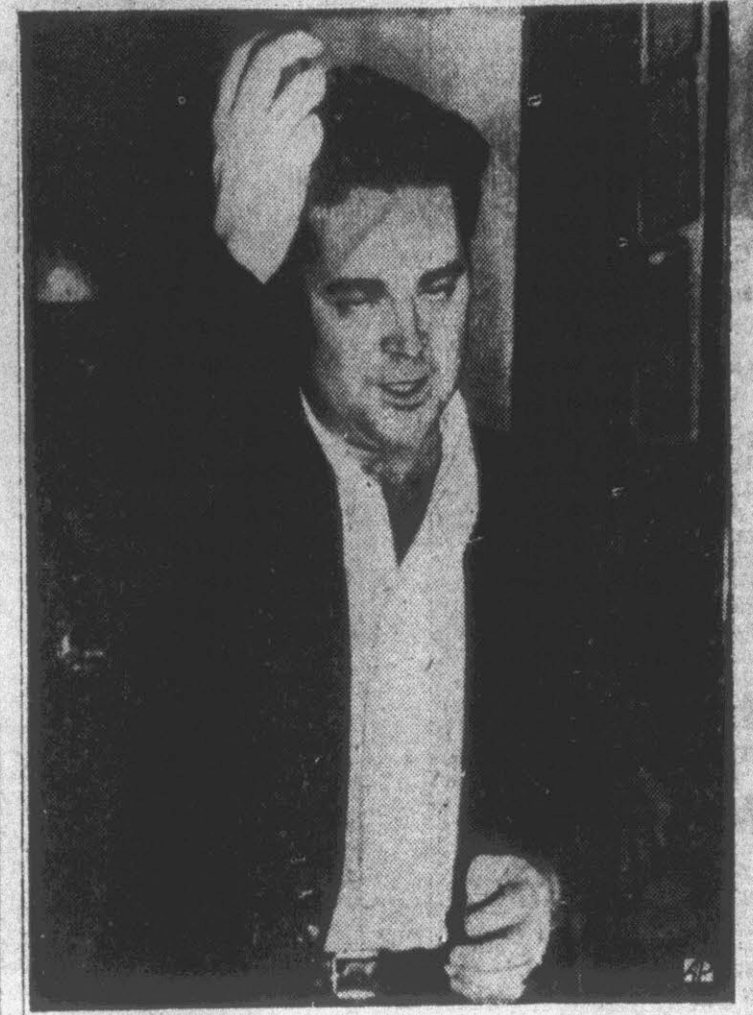

Hickory, N.C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—In the first election by a city in the Piedmont area this year on the ABC question, Hickory rejected Alcoholic Beverage Control stores by 67 votes. The final unofficial vote in yesterday's election was: against the stores, 2,466; for the stores, 2,379.

The vote was the largest in the city's history with approximately 8,000 registered.

Observers were surprised at the result of the voting because when Catawba County voted on the question in 1938 Hickory polled a 150 majority for the stores. At the time a rural dry majority defeated the measure.

In other elections this year Rowan County voted dry and Mecklenburg County voted wet.

Contractor Accused Of Church Fraud

Howard L. Clements (above), 34-year-old Philadelphia contractor who was arrested in Miami, Fla., on Philadelphia charges of mail fraud and conspiracy, has been released from Dade County jail upon posting a $25,000 surety bond. Clements was arrested in connection with a postal fraud case in which U. S. Postal Inspector George Sadler said 40 churches in five states were "systematically swindled" of $200,000. Retail Food Prices Continue To Climb

Discussion Of Significance Ranges From Optimism To Prediction Of Recession; Meat, Milk, Eggs, Show Scattered Jumps

New increases in the retail cost of meat and milk were reported today as public discussion of the significance of high food prices ranged from optimism over increased production to a prediction of an economic recession.

Prices of meat in Philadelphia butcher shops were reported to have increased three to ten cents a pound yesterday, with choice sirloin steak selling in some neighborhood stores at $1 to $1.10 a pound.

Meanwhile officials of two prisons in Philadelphia said that inmates would have to do without meat three days a week because funds on hand were insufficient to meet current food prices.

A two-cent increase in the price of milk—from 17 to 19 cents—became effective today in Pendleton, Ore., and customers of two major St. Louis dairies began paying and additional cent a quart, with rises for grade A milk to 21-2 cents and to 22-2 for homogenized milk.

The price of eggs rose two cents in Portland, Ore., and the Oregon milk board scheduled hearings later this month on proposals for a general milk hike of two to three cents a quart over the prevailing 17-cent price.

Reaction to the rising living costs included: Washington—Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.) said "The American people might just as well get ready for another recession."

Chicago—Lawrence Brock, president of the corn belt livestock feeders' association said, "The reason why this nation is increasing its effort at production is because prices are free to give the incentive to produce. If the hysteria is eliminated, this progress will be continued to where so-called black market prices will be eliminated."

Washington—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said the high prices are linked to this country's foreign aid program but that the basic answer to rising living costs is increased production, and "we ought to be working 48 hours a week instead of 40."

Washington—Sen. Brewster (R-Me.) said the administration had allowed the nation's food export program to run riot and advocated curtailment of food shipments.

Pleads Innocent To Murdering Of Young Friend

Harrison, N.J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Fred, Walter Smigelski, 14, stood motionless before the court today while his counsel entered a formal plea of innocent to a murder charge in the kidnap-strangling of the boy's 11-year-old pal.

Smigelski, still sullen and unemotional, stared straight ahead as his newly-acquired counsel, Anthony Calandri, argued that the schoolboy's case was not within the jurisdiction of the state criminal courts because of his juvenile status.

Assistant Hudson County Prosecutor John Gross cited the 1936 Jerry May murder case in which the state courts held that capital crimes can be taken out of juvenile court when the defendant is within the "age of reason."

DEMANDS NLRB REVISE RULING ON LABOR LAW

AFL Teamsters Union Claims Eligibility To Services Of Board

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union today demanded that the National Labor Relations Board reverse a ruling by its own general counsel on the scope of the controversial non-Communist section of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the teamsters, announced that he has signed the required non-Communist affidavit and now contends his union is legally eligible to use services of the board despite a contrary opinion by Robert L. Denham, the board's general counsel.

Denham has held that AFL unions cannot qualify until all members of the general executive council have furnished affidavits. John L. Lewis, a member of the council, has blocked such a mass filing.

Tobin argued that his union is completely autonomous despite its AFL affiliation. He said Joseph A. Padway, teamsters union attorney, would take the case to the board today.

The Taft-Hartley Act says "each officer of such labor organization, and the officers of any national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit" must furnish affidavits in order for a union to be eligible for NLRB aid.

Tobin is the first top official of either the CIO or AFL to sign the non-Communist forms.

His move is an aftermath of an AFL executive council session in Chicago last week.

Tobin wanted Lewis and all the AFL leaders to agree to sign, even announcing to reporters in advance that the teamsters would do so.

Lewis, like Tobin a vice president of the AFL, flatly declined, although the mine workers for years have barred Communists from their union, as do Tobin's teamsters.

DRIVE TO AID PAGE FAMILY

Rehabilitating Flood Victims Now Community Project

Local community agencies, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, have appointed a committee to secure $750 by public subscription to secure furniture and furnishings for the rehabilitation of Dewey Page and family, whose home in the eastern part of Greenville was seriously damaged by the flood following the recent storm.

L. M. Ernest is chairman of the committee. Others are Mrs. L. M. Ernest, community chairman; Mrs. W. S. Bost, chairman of the Service League Committee; Mrs. Walter Taylor, executive secretary of the Red Cross, and W. F. Young, disaster chairman of the Red Cross here.

The committee also is seeking for the rehabilitation of the distressed family three bed-rooms, mattresses and springs, three night tables and chairs, a studio couch, blankets, sheets, pillows and pillowcases.

It is generally known that the American Red Cross only accepts full responsibility in a disaster when five or more families are involved. In cases of this nature, the ARC takes a proportionate role in community relief with other people and other agencies.

Those desiring to contribute to the relief drive are invited to notify one of the committee members named above.

OPENING DAY SALES

Raleigh, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Opening-day sales on the nine flour curlew middle belt tobacco markets yesterday totaled 3,662,360 pounds; an average of $46.16 per hundred pounds the federal-state department of agriculture reported today.

Japanese Set Up Dikes To Stem Rising Waters

Tokyo, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Thousands of Japanese worked tonight erecting temporary dikes in an effort to stem floodwaters 20 miles north of Tokyo as unofficial estimates placed the number of dead and missing at 2,280.

Earlier incomplete American Military Government reports said the floodwaters, rising on the broad plain north of Tokyo in the wake of a typhoon, left nearly 1,700 Japanese dead or missing and damaged some 100,000 houses.

Japanese newspapers said residents of Kasukabe were working feverishly on temporary dikes against advancing waters of two rivers which had ripped through their banks. The reports added that failure to halt the flood at Kasukabe would expose the eastern section of Tokyo to the onrush of

Brief Respite

London, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The British Treasury announced tonight the international monetary fund had agreed to provide Britain $50,000,000 in exchange for sterling in the next few days.

A government source said earlier that Britain soon might ask the international bank for reconstruction and development, another agency, for a $320,000,000 loan to help ease her economic crisis.

MAKE APOLOGY FOR GOVERNOR

S.C. Real Estate Association Surprised By Welcome Speech

Myrtle Beach, S.C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The South Carolina Association of Real Estate Boards today made a public apology to the Fourth Regional Convention of Realtors for an address of welcome by South Carolina's Governor J. Strom Thurmond.

The governor told the convention yesterday that he would do "everything in my power to help keep rent controls until some degree of sanity returns to profiteering real estate owners."

The governor's secretary, Col. W. L. Daniels, Jr., who read the speech in Thurmond's absence, was booed frequently and often so loudly that he was forced to quit reading completely.

Owners who withdraw houses from the rental market to sell them "ridiculously and exorbitantly overpriced" are profiteers on human misery, Thurmond said.

This practice, the governor said, is "morally equivalent to black marketing."

Morgan L. Pritch of Chicago, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said the welcoming address sounded like a "release from the New York offices of the CIO or the international offices of the Communist party."

The South Carolina association said in its formal statement that "the governor's speech failed utterly and miserably to adequately welcome with due courtesy South Carolina's visitors to our state and proceeded further to inject a partially biased discussion of the controversial issues of housing and rent control without accurate basis upon established and well-known facts."

Guerrilla Says Reds Prepare For U.S. War

Deggendorf, Germany, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A bullet-scarred guerrilla leader said today agents of the Communist political police openly were exhorting the Polish people to prepare for a Russian war against the United States.

The 26-year-old guerrilla captain, who gave his name as Walki Jurij, is one of 40 armed Ukrainians who have entered the U.S. occupation zone of Germany. The Ukrainians, who describe themselves as fugitives from communism, were discovered and interned here by U.S. constabulary groups.

"We want to continue our fight against communism," Jurij said in an interview arranged through of an official permission in the guarded prison barracks. "We know that America is going to have to fight Russia sooner or later and we want to help."

UNABLE FIND CRASHED B-17

Boats Continue To Search For Big Plane Lost In River

Aberdeen, Md., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Six patrol vessels continued a search today for a B-17 living fortress and nine of 10 passengers who died when the plane exploded and crashed over Bush river near Aberdeen.

The boats were unable to locate the four-engine craft after a search of the waters off Abbey Point which are said to be 90 feet deep.

The only man to get out of the plane yesterday before it fell blazing into the river where it empties into Chesapeake Bay was the co-pilot Capt. Charles W. Warmack, 35, of Paris, Tenn. A parachute carried him unhurt to the Aberdeen proving ground where the plane had taken off for a bombing test.

Aberdeen officials declined to disclose the type of bombs being tested.

Seven of the missing were military personnel and two were civilians aboard as observer and photographer.

Capt. James A. S. Knowlton, skipper of the freighter American Ranger, was an eyewitness to the crash and sent out one of the first alarms.

"Suddenly the plane exploded in mid-air at approximately 1,000 feet elevation," he said. "One wing blew off, and many small pieces of the plane blew off and burst into flame. The fragments of the shattered plane fell rapidly, crashing into the water near the mouth of Bush river."

Three Famous Cases

New Effort To Deport Communist Aliens Recalls Previous Rulings By Supreme Court Which Backfired On Government; New Clear-Cut Ruling Is Sought

By MAX HALL

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Three famous Supreme Court cases on the subject of communism are worth recalling today.

They are the Harry Bridges, William Scheiderman, and Joseph George Strecker cases.

They have taken on new interest because the U.S. Immigration Service again has accused the Communist party of advocating the overthrow of the government by violence.

On this ground, the Immigration Service is making new attempts to deport aliens whom it believes to be Communists.

For example, it has accused John Conto, organization director of the CIO Transport Workers Union, of being a Communist and is trying to send him back to Romania. More cases like this are expected.

One of them may go to the Supreme Court and become a famous case.

The principle involved is the Immigration Act. It provides for the exclusion—or deportation—of aliens who are "members of or affiliated with" any organization which "believes in, advises, advocates, or teaches X X X the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States."

Let's look at the three earlier cases, in the order in which the Supreme Court decided them: 1. Joseph George Strecker was an Austrian-born alien, living in Arkansas. In applying for U.S. citizenship in 1933, he admitted he had joined the Communists in 1932 but that he had left the party.

Critical 1947 Session Of General Assembly Opens Amid Solemn Warnings That Growing Split Between Russia And Western Powers Must Be Stopped

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, former foreign minister of Brazil, today was elected to preside over the critical 1947 session of the United Nations Assembly.

The election of the silver-haired Brazilian was achieved on the second ballot after the initial vote had failed to give a decisive majority.

The second ballot showed: Aranha, 29.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister of external affairs, 22.

Four ballots were declared invalid. The election of a president was the first contest of the critical 1947 session which opened this morning amid solemn warnings that the growing split between Russia and the Western powers must be stopped at all costs.

The opening meeting attended by many of the world's top diplomats including Secretary of State George C. Marshall, was convened by Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, hoidover president of the special Palestine session.

The occasion was clouded by last night's angry dispute between Russia and the United States over the Balkan question and by Russia's 19th and 20th votes cast in the Security Council on the eve of the assembly's opening.

The sentiment of many delegates was expressed by Fadhil Jamali, foreign minister of Iraq, who said on his arrival:

"I hope the United Nations will be victorious in this crucial meeting. If bad decisions are taken it may mean the defeat of the United Nations."

Jamali did not mention the explosive Palestine problem which—along with the Balkan problem and the big power veto—was on the formidable list of questions that may keep the assembly in session as long as three months.

Aranha, in opening the session, warned that the world will "organize peace or hasten war" at U.N. council tables and said "the next ten years may be envisaged as a period of doubts and insecurity."

"Our task," he declared, "narrows down to the question of whether the road will lead to peace or to strife."

Denies Any Part In Embezzlement

Charlotte, Sept. 16.—(AP)—B. A. Skinner, Charlotte's chief police department safety inspector, has denied any knowledge of reported embezzlement of parking meter funds for which he faces trial in Mecklenburg Superior Court.

True bills naming Skinner and Herman Black, assistant superintendent of the traffic signal division, were returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Police authorities who conducted an inquiry said that Black had signed a statement implicating himself and Skinner in the alleged theft of several thousand dollars over a period of two years.

Bone Of Contention

With Italy's Peace Now In Effect, Communism And Freedom Are Two Alternatives Before That Unhappy Nation; Italy Next On Russia's Calendar Of Conquest

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

As the signs read the battle is about to be joined between the Eastern bloc (headed by Russia) and the Western bloc (led by America) to determine whether Italy shall become another satellite of the Soviet Union or whether she shall be an independent democracy.

It's an ironic circumstance that this fresh tabulation should descend on the beaten and distraught Romans just as the signing of the peace treaty by the allies formally signaled the end of World War II for Italy. Stripped of much money and territory and, what hurts worst, of her position as a great power, her government now is facing a fight for its life with a powerful Communist party.

Well, those who sin must pay. It's a pity that Mussolini couldn't have lived to see the misery he brought upon his country.

The allies signed treaties with four other nations besides Italy—Finland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. All except Italy already are within the Russian zone of influence. That circumstance isn't a happy omen for Italy. It means that the forthcoming fight between communism and the anti-Red forces is going to be a tough one.

It long has been obvious that Italy was one of the nations specially marked out for communization, and the big Red party in that country has been doing yeoman's work in preparing the ground for a coup. Recently this preparation has been spurred because of the advent of the Marshall Plan for

The marriage of Miss Sara Frances Williams and Hugh Rodney Ebert of Roanoke, Virginia, was solemnized in the Eighth Street Christian Church at Greenville on Saturday morning, September 13th.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. G. Haney, pastor of the church. Ferns were artistically arranged as a chancel background for the floor baskets of large white chrysanthemums and tall standards of white candles.

As relatives and guests assembled, Mr. Leon Fleming, as organist, rendered a program of nuptial music. His selections included, "Thine Alone," "To An Evening Star," "Love Sends A Little Gift of Roses," and "Liebestraum."

Miss Betsy Nobles, as soloist, in her sweet manner sang, "Through The Years" by Vincent Youmans, and "O Promise Me" by DeKoven. Miss Nobles was dressed in cocoa brown crepe with green accessories and wore a corsage of Better Times roses.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from the opera "Lohengrin," the ushers, Mr. James M. Fitzgerald and Mr. J. Patrick Greely of Roanoke, Virginia, entered and took their places at the altar.

The maid of honor, and only attendant, Miss Shirley Savage of Greenville, dressed in a light weight wool costume suit of grey beige with forest green accessories and carrying an arm bouquet of Better Times roses tied with matching satin ribbon, was next to enter.

The bride was indeed lovely in her two piece aqua rose petal suit, dainty brown hat with shoulder tip veil, brown shoes and gloves. She carried a white prayer book, with white orchid and showered with stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. Ludlow Williams. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Jack M. Ebert of Buena Vista, Virginia, who was his best man.

During the ceremony Mr. Fleming played "Ave Maria" by Schubert. As Rev. Haney spoke the final blessing of the church, soft strains of "Benedictus" could be heard from the chimes of the organ.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as a recessional.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride, wore a handsome green pine needle crepe dress with black accessories. Mrs. Ebert, mother of the groom, was dressed in coffee brown with forest green accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Mrs. Ebert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ludlow Williams of Greenville. She is a graduate of the city high school, studied for two years at W. C. U. N. C. in Greensboro. ROTARY CLUB HEARS SPAIN

Sen. Hoey's Secretary Discusses Marshall Plan In Address

By WYATT BROWN

What is called the Marshall Plan is really the proposal by the secretary of state that the war ravaged nations of Europe evolve a plan for their economic recovery, explained Jack Spain, secretary of Senate, Clyde Hoey, in an informal address to the Rotary Club last night. Mr. Spain said he was going to speak of the Marshall Plan as it related to the United Nations.

In the outset Mr. Spain made it clear by quoting the charter of the United Nations that the United Nations was not responsible for working the peace but with the carrying out of the treaties of the several nations. The speaker took issue with those who want to say the United Nations has failed.

The Marshall Plan is not a plan, but another "Gettysburg Address" according to the speaker. Last night it was delivered with the idea of getting the nations of Europe including Russia, to get the facts together and make a plan by which their economic structure can be rehabilitated. Even if all the nations of Europe do not join in, those now are in session in Paris can carry through and make a real contribution to peace.

"We can help Europe or leave it to Russia," declared the speaker. Russia is not cooperating in the school graduates of the opportunity to select an Army or Air Force school prior to enlisting in the Army and the many special advantages being offered to veterans of World War II who return to uniform.

Lt. Blinbury also said that the local sub-station enlisted a total of 29 men during the month, which amounts to 127 percent of its quota of 22 men.

Marshall Plan because it includes Germany. The other countries of Europe do not want Germany back a business. But the speaker brought out how essential the industrial production of Germany is to the economic life of Europe.

Mr. Spain made it clear that he did not think that the United States could go on handing out money. Further, he said he did not believe that bi-partisan support could be secured for another loan to Great Britain or grant to UNRRA. The Marshall Plan will bring a show-down in Europe.

If the American people will back up Secretary of State Marshall he can handle Stalin, the speaker brought out. If Russia wants to get out of the United Nations let her retire.

At this point the speaker declared that too many people are not working. People want more work. The Marshall Plan will be a success, in the opinion of the speaker if people are taught to work and not become so interested in other forms of government than their own.

Last night the Rotarians endorsed the efforts of the Jaycees to get the Veterans' Administration's mental hospital slated to be located somewhere in Eastern Carolina. All Rotarians were urged to help get out the voters in the Hospital Bond Election Election Tuesday.

Guests of the club were Donald Rose and Sidney Johnson. There were three visiting Rotarians from Farmville: Richard Joyner, Joe Joyner and Curtis Flanagan. Bob Bradsaw, club president, presided. A special period of silence and then prayer for the United Nations opening today was observed.

Strength FOR THE DAY

"FIRST THE BLADE"
About one hundred years ago the British Museum received an ancient pot taken from the ruins of an Egyptian temple, and in it were found a few grains of wheat and a few peas. They were planted under glass, and in less than thirty days they sprouted and grew. They had lain in the old clay pot since the days of Moses, and to all appearances were dead. When they were enveloped in moist earth, however, they grew. The life had been there all the time.

We often complain and say that we cannot do great things because we do not have the power of great things within us. But we never know until we have planted the seed. Or again we complain and say that our powers have come to an end. We are worn out. We have failed. There is no future left worth sacrificing for. But there are always seeds scattered about somewhere which we have never planted. As long as we had sacks full of good grain, why try to plant these miserable little dried-up seeds.

But in them there may be unsuspected life-powers which may mean more to us and to the world than the seed we prized so much. In the day of infirmity and defeat, we plant the miserable little seeds with no hope, but the God of the harvest brings first the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By HOWARD DOBSON
(Second of Two Articles)

Washington—Walter H. S. O'Brien is boss of the Freedom Train, which on Sept. 17 leaves Philadelphia on a 33,000-mile tour of the country. The train will carry the most valuable collection of American historical books and documents ever assembled in one place.

Nobody ever thought of putting such a priceless load on a train before. O'Brien is a retired railroadman from St. Louis, a stocky, confident looking man who knows assorted stretches of track here and there like you or I know the way from desk to water cooler.

"This train won't take a curve of more than 21 percent," O'Brien says, "and some roads have curves as high as 35. That's why we will be on 54 different roads before we are through."

But that is just the beginning. The train is made up of six General Electric and American Locomotive donated diesel locomotives. A baggage car was shipped in by Santa Fe, and the Pennsylvania contributed the three exhibition coaches.

That's fine, but the locomotive is three inches too tall for the tubes under the Hudson river in New York.

The train will be on display in Manhattan under the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

"The baggage car's got three-quarters of an inch clearance there," O'Brien explains. "It doesn't make any difference about the locomotive, because we will push the train in with an electric locomotive any way."

As to how the train will get to New York, O'Brien still doesn't know.

"We may have to go up around by Poughkeepsie," he says.

The railroads will take special care of the Freedom Train all along the line and will give the train its ice for free. That makes the Erie look particularly generous. The train will be on Erie track for only six miles of the 33,000, and the Erie still don't get only an inspection but a day's supply of ice.

There is one thing not even the resourceful Mr. O'Brien has figured out yet. That is a mail and laundry schedule.

"As nearly as we can tell now, we will have to ship our dirty clothes about four stops ahead every time," O'Brien said, "and get our mail the same way."

With 24 marshes and three marine officers on board worrying about keeping their dress whites, you can imagine how that one has O'Brien worried.

The average dining car carries about 2,400 pieces of table and kitchenware.

REC-MANNING

thus leaving the government to look after itself. Moreover Moscow has let it be known that there is a Molotov rehabilitation plan ready for the relief of those who desire it. This is bolstered by the announcement of a bumper Russian grain harvest—the Soviet Union being virtually the only area in all Europe where crops haven't failed or been bad. So the word has gone out that Russia will be able to provide bread for the needy.

France being another nation in which Russia is particularly interested, the French Communists also have been redoubling their efforts to gain control of the country. Russia has let it be known that the proposed Franco-Italian Customs Union is regarded with disfavor in Moscow, and is holding out the prospect of wheat for France which is short of bread.

Thus the war of the isms in Europe is rushing toward what looks to be a climax. The economic crisis will bring the thing to a head soon if nothing else does.

Three Cases . . .

on the question of whether the party advocated violence in 1927. It merely said the government had failed to offer "clear, unequivocal, and convincing" proof that such was the case.

J. Harry Bridges, the West Coast labor leader, was born in Australia. He was ordered deported in 1942 by Francis Biddle, at that time U.S. attorney general, after long hearings by the Immigration Service. The Immigration Service is a part of the Justice Department.

Biddle said Bridges had been both "affiliated with" and a "member" of the Communist party, and that the party advocated violent overthrow of the government.

Bridges denied either affiliation or membership. He asked the courts to release him from the Immigration Service, which technically had him in custody with the object of deporting him. Two federal courts turned him down.

But finally, in June 1945, the Supreme Court set him free in a 5-3 decision.

The court ruled that the government had made a wrong interpretation of the term "affiliation" and had conducted an "unfair" hearing on the question of actual membership.

In none of the three cases did the Supreme Court make a clear-cut finding on the question as to whether the Communist party really does advocate the overthrow of the government by violence.

The Immigration Service is still trying to prove its point.

Truman Sporting Different Cap

Aboard the U.S.S. Missouri with President Truman, Sept. 16.—(AP)—President Truman gave free rein today to his fondness for changing headgear as this homeward-bound battlegoon rolled along about 1,000 miles east of Miami, Fla.

The Chief Executive, who has appeared during this voyage wearing an eight star officers' cap and buff colored campaign headgear, donned a brown checkered cap fashioned like those worn by harness racers.

He remarked that he'd owned it a long time and even Mrs. Truman didn't know he had it.

RESCUED FROM RAFT

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Two Charleston men and the four-year-old son of one were rescued last night after five hours on an improvised raft off Sullivan's island when their motorboat capsized on a fishing trip.

Two small planes from Charleston, a shrimp trawler and the Sullivan's island coast guard station combined in the rescue.

Livable Lovable FURNITURE For Every Room In the House

The cool, crisp days of autumn are forerunners of long, pleasant evenings at home . . . evenings gathered about the fireside over a card game or just talking . . . evenings lingering over coffee and cigarettes at a candlelit table. And the warm glow of polished wood, the gleam of rich fabrics in the firelight will add to the charm of those wonderful evenings at home.

Trained Dog Teaches Traffic Safety

Lassie, leading lady in Officer Pressley's Traffic Safety Show, illustrates how traffic accident rates are being brought down by the accident rate only by being careful. The show comes to this community under the joint sponsorship of the local Lions club and N. C. State Automobile Association.

Dogs, Pigeons and Good Sense Are Featured By Traffic Safety Show

A unique traffic safety show sponsored by the North Carolina State Automobile Association will be shown in Pitt County beginning September 19 under the auspices of the Greenville Police Department, the Sheriff's Department and the local Lions Club.

Ernest E. Pressley, Traffic Officer of the Charlotte Police Force, made his first presentation of the show less than a year ago and in a few months the unusual act became one of the most widely publicized traffic safety shows in America.

The principal actors in Officer Pressley's show are four highly trained dogs and two pigeons. These dogs have been taught tricks of the vaudeville stage which have been cleverly arranged by Officer Pressley to dramatize the fundamentals of traffic safety.

Schedule for the shows in Pitt County are as follows: Sept. 19, Training School and general public in Austin Auditorium at 9 o'clock; Greenville High School at 1:30 p.m.; Sept. 22, West Greenville School at 9:00 a.m. and Third Street School at 11:30 a.m.; Sept. 23, C. M. Epps School at 9:00 a.m. and Fleming St. School at 2:00 p.m.

School at 2:00 p.m.; Sept. 24, Grimsland School at 9:00 a.m. and Chisler School at 2:00 p.m.; Sept. 25, Ayden School (white) at 9:00 a.m. and the Ayden Colored School at 2:00 p.m.; Friday 23, Bethel School (white) at 9:00 a.m. and the Bethel Colored School at 2:00 p.m.

Office Ranked Third In State

The local office of the Employment Security Commission has placed many people in jobs, given aptitude and proficiency tests, counseled applicants, given aid to veterans in receiving the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights, and made available other valuable services to the public.

During the month of August there was a total of 573 workers placed in jobs, 19 of these being handicapped persons who were placed in jobs that they could perform in spite of their handicap, and 50 veterans placed in gainful employment. For the month of August the Greenville office ranked third in placements out of a total of seventy-one offices in the state.

Safety Speaking Contest At GHS

The safety committee of the Travelers Protective Association has announced plans for sponsoring in the high school another annual safety contest. Prizes will be given for the best four safety messages in senior high and also in junior high school.

Each contestant will tell a safety story of his own choosing and judges will rank these speeches in order to determine the winners. First prize of $10.00 was won last year by Alfred Saled.

Students in senior high will speak in chapel on Friday, September 26, and the junior contest will be a week later. R. B. Starling who is conducting the contest for TPA in the high school stated that he is looking forward to keen competition that will be worthy of the prizes offered.

Camera-Gun Tests For Jet Fighters, Bombers

Washington, Sept. 16—(AP)—The air force will pit jet fighters and bombers against each other in a camera battle next year in the hope of solving some of the problems of new combat planes.

Telling of the plan for camera-gun tests between the Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star and the North American B-45, a four-engine medium bomber, an air force official said today the goal is to find the answers to such questions as:

1. What are the human capabilities for aiming and firing at closing speeds of around 1,000 miles an hour—the clip at which the jets will approach head-on?
2. Where should runs and protective armor be placed?
3. What are the best defense and offensive techniques?

Present plans call for the mock battles to be staged near Murdock Air Base, Calif., next spring, as part of the service test of the new bomber.

The B-45 is the first jet bomber ordered on a production basis. The air force bought 96 to replace the Douglas A-26's now used by the 47th bomber group at Biggs Field, Tex.

The production model is not yet available, but tests with the original plane began at Murdock late in March. It has two axial flow type turbo-jet engines under each wing. The top speed probably exceeds 500 miles an hour.

JAYCEES HOPE GET HOSPITAL FOR VETERANS

Offer Sites For $15,000,000 Project; Committee Coming Sept. 26

By CHESTER WALSH

The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce continues to vigorously carry on its campaign to secure for this area the proposed Veterans' Administration 1,000-bed neuro-psychiatric hospital project which will cost $15,000,000, employ from 600 to 1,000 persons, and occupy a site of from 250 to 400 acres. The veterans' hospital would spend locally about $5,000 daily, it is understood.

The Kiwanis Club at its last meeting, on recommendation of State Senator Arthur B. Corey, unanimously endorsed the proposal to have the veterans' hospital established here. The Rotary Club last night, on recommendation of Dr. Herbert Hadley, unanimously endorsed the veterans' hospital project.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce prepared a brief, inviting the Veterans' Administration to locate the proposed veterans hospital in the Greenville area and extolling the section's important advantages for such an institution. The following committee prepared and presented the invitation: Dr. Herbert Hadley, Charles Cobb, Frank Woolen, Gene West, Dick Stokes III, Leroy Taylor and Tom Rivers.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has studied possible sites for the veterans' hospital and has taken some options, it is understood.

The special committee is making arrangements to meet and entertain the Veterans' Administration hospital committee members when they come to Greenville about September 26. Plans have been completed for the Veterans' hospital committee to review and study proposed sites, Jaycee President Van C. Fleming, Jr., said.

Mr. Another, led by L. P. Dickie, President Harry Krize presided at the banquet Monday night, when Arch Booth, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, spoke.

Congressman Blasts Launderettes

Laundry Sanitation Unchallenged!

O'Toole calls them Unsanitary! Sees threat of Epidemic

A Reprint from The A. I. L. Member - A Publication

The value of a research project carried out by the A. I. L. twelve years ago was again demonstrated last month when "launderettes" were denounced in Congress as a national health menace.

Representative Donald L. O'Toole of New York, an ex-washing machine salesman and bacteriologist, declared in the House of Representatives that launderettes were "glorified septic tanks" and "it may only be a matter of time before these machines cause a terrible epidemic, perhaps the worst this country has ever seen."

Launderies Clean Bill Of Health Upheld

Commercial laundering, which received a conclusively clean bill of health in a two-year study of laundry sanitation completed by the A. I. L. in 1935 was conspicuously omitted from Representative O'Toole's blast. His remarks were directed solely to the public "launderettes." It was another example of the general acceptance given to the public health role of reputable professional laundries.

Congressman's Attack Not Inspired by the Institute

(Many laundry owners after reading newspaper reports of the Congressman's attack on launderettes have asked whether his speech had been "inspired" by the Institute. The answer is "no.")

(A number of laundry owners have suggested the use of reproduction of newspaper reports of the Congressman's speech as bundle inserts. It is the Institute's opinion that nothing is to be gained by using the competition's shortcomings as a promotion tool. The sanitary aspect of commercial laundering has been featured from a positive angle in a number of Institute promotion's, but these have "steered clear" of comparison with competitive washing methods.)

Traces Epidemics to 'Communal Launderies'

In his remarks before the House, Congressman O'Toole declared that many of the epidemics of dysentery that have occurred in apartment houses and infants' hospitals can be traced directly to the "communal laundry."

"Failure of local communities to supervise the sterilization of these machines properly is exposing millions of people to virulent diseases," he said.

Describing the launderette washing operation he said:

"Mrs. Jones comes in, deposits her coin, inserts her wash, and waits until it is finished. Mrs. Smith repeats the process and this is continued by family after family throughout the day."

Says Methods Fail To Kill Bacteria

"The average heat of the water in these machines is somewhere from 145 to 165 degrees Fahrenheit. Any physician, any bacteriologist, or public health official would inform Congress that such a degree of heat would not kill bacteria."

"In fact, in cases of certain species it might cause an acceleration of their growth."

"When you return to your communities next week, awaken your health authorities to the danger that exists."

Directs Appeal to U. S. Surgeon General

In a letter O'Toole inserted in the Congressional Record, he asked Dr. Thomas Parran, U. S. Surgeon General: "Would it be possible for your service to recommend to the nation a course of procedure that would assure the complete obliteration of pathogenic germs in these machines? I honestly believe that unless some positive action is taken in the near future that this country may find itself suffering from some terrible epidemic."

O'Toole told reporters that the communal use of such washers has been troubling him since the days when he sold washing machines himself.

He said that a series of tests made by a New York laboratory under his auspices showed the bacteria count of items washed in these ranged from 610 to 500,000 per cubic centimeter.

A. I. L. Study Proved Laundry Sanitation

Results of the 1935 A. I. L. investigation of laundry sanitation were reported in Service Bulletin No. 53, which is still available to members upon request. The survey included thousands of tests not only at Institute headquarters, but also in many Chicago area plants. Some 250 additional laundry owners in other localities, both in the United States and Canada, cooperated in obtaining check data.

Bacteria Count Ranges

From 31 to 71 per cc

Among other things, the survey showed that the average bacteria count in the last rinse for colored loads as found in 109 commercial laundries was 71 per cubic centimeter as compared to 318,792 per cubic centimeter as found in 9 different homes in a total of 180 tests. For white loads in the same laundries the average count was only 31 per cubic centimeter.

Importance of Correct Sourcing Is Stressed

The report makes these conclusions:

1. The high temperature of washing formulas used for white cotton and linen lots and fast colors utilizes temperatures and holding periods that are sufficient to insure a safe procedure from the public health standpoint.

2. Low-temperature formulas require the use of the multiple-suds method in clean washers and correct souring to pH. 4.5 to 5.0 to insure low bacterial counts. Correct souring is particularly of importance in localities where the general practice is to under-sour.

3. Extraction and pressing removes or kills the residual adherent bacteria in all instances studied.

4. It is possible and practical for a commercial laundry to reduce the sour bacterial count to 250 bacteria per cubic centimeter of the rinse water. In order to do this, however, the cylinders must be cleaned and kept clean and the degree of souring must be low enough to be bactericidal.

Injuries Fail to Keep Yankees From Playing In World Series

Bucky Harris Proud Of Team That "Refused To Lose"; Club Suffered Hard Knocks Throughout Season

New York, Sept. 16—(AP)—The New York Yankees, the baseball team that "refused to lose," started coasting today towards a World Series that will pit them against the Brooklyn Dodgers, barring a major upheaval.

"They need the rest," said Bucky Harris, drafted from the executive office to manage the team against his wishes—and now "thrilled to have things turn out the way they did."

With the American League pennant mathematically assured, Larry MacPhail, president of the Yankees, declared candidly:

"I don't know how we're a dozen games in front after all those accidents and injuries. I guess it was just that the team never let the breaks bother 'em. They refused to go. Never dropped more than three in a row."

"And thank God for that nineteen game winning streak," Harris chimed in.

N. C. State Footballers to Continue Practice Drills Despite Quarantine

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 16—(AP)—Coach Beattie Feathers said today that his North Carolina State football squad would continue its regular practice routine although quarantined for infantile paralysis until Sept. 26.

The quarantine was announced yesterday by Dr. A. C. Bulla, Wake County health officer, after the illness of Don McCormick, 20-year-old freshman blocking back from Greensboro, was diagnosed as an "acute case" of polio.

Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer, issued a statement strongly advising those who had been exposed not to take strenuous exercise.

However, J. L. von Glahn, director of athletics for the school, said that school officials had "conferred with several medical authorities who have advised us that exercise would not make a person more likely to contract the disease if he didn't have it already."

North Carolina State is scheduled to play Duke, Sept. 27, in an important Southern Conference engagement.

some critics attributed Boston's loss in the Series last year to the Cardinals to the fact that the Red Sox went with plenty to spare and then let down. Harris declared this factor did not worry him. "Clinching the pennant now will give the fellows some needed rest."

"I'm satisfied with my ball club," he said. "Way back the Yankees really had some teams. But this one is good enough to win. That's all that counts."

The Yankees suffered injuries through the season enough to break the heart of any manager. King-Kong Keller, hard-hitting outfielder, was lost from midseason on with a bad back. Joe DiMaggio had a heel operation to start off. Tommy Henrich was out with an ankle injury for three weeks, and Yogi Berra, the surprising new catcher, was idled for three weeks with a strep throat. The arms of three star pitchers went sour—Spud Chandler, Spec Shea, and Allie Reynolds—and yet the Yankees continued to win.

"One person would deliver the goods one day, and another the next," said Harris. "And Joe Page was terrific in relief. In my mind he is entitled to the ward as most valuable player in the American League."

A Bear Stands On His Head

George McAfee, Chicago Bears halfback, stands on his head during a first quarter punt return in an exhibition game against the Philadelphia Eagles at Philadelphia. Eagles' back Joe Muha (not shown), tackled McAfee to start him spinning. Linemen Duke Maronic (right), and Al Wistert move in to complete the tackle. Bears won the game 13-10. (AP Wirephoto).
