House-Approved
Air Force BillPurse-String Holders
In Senate Put Brakes
On 70-Group Air Force Plan

Washington, April 16—(AP)—Purse-string holders in the Senate put the brakes on the 70-group Air Force bill today.

Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Curney (R-SD) said the $1,100,000,000 measure which whopped through the House by a 243 to 3 vote will get a close going over in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Bridges, the committee chairman, noted that the 70-group Air Force proposal added to the bill on the House floor is "highly controversial." He said he has not decided whether he will support it.

Gurney, No. 2 GOP member of Bridges' group and chairman of the Armed Services Committee, declared that he sees no reason for rushing the 70-group appropriation through the Senate.

"The Air Force will need men as well as planes," he told a reporter. "We want to wait until we can get all the facts, and that will be some time next week."

Gurney estimated that expansion of the Air Force to 70 groups would cost about $6,000,000,000 a year from now on.

Gurney usually has supported the Administration's defense program. He already has declared himself in favor of both a temporary draft revival and inauguration of Universal Military Training.

Most other Republican leaders in Congress, however, as well as a number of Democrats, have sided away from a training bill. Their idea is to boost the Air Force from its present 55 group blueprint to 70 groups and to rely on selective service alone to provide any extra manpower needed.

The military establishment itself is split over the issue. But yesterday's House vote left little doubt where that chamber stands in the argument between Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretary of War Stimson.

Symington ignored both Forrestal and President Truman in plugging for the bigger air force.

Death Penalty In Britain Ended;
Pair Reprieved

London, April 16—(AP)—James Campbell, ship's steward convicted of killing an actress and pushing her body through a porthole to the sea, was saved from the gallows today. The government announced his reprieve in view of a House of Commons decision to abolish the death penalty for five years, as an experiment to see if that makes any difference in the number of murders.

Camp, 31, now will face a life term for killing actress Eileen Gibson after a love scene in her cabin. Joseph Smith, a gypsy convicted of killing a business man, also drew a reprieve.

Nursing Schools
To Open June 1

Durham, N.C., April 16—(AP)—Training schools for practical nurses are tentatively slated to start at Watts and Duke Hospitals here on June 1.

Announcement of plans for the schools was made at the first annual convention of the North Carolina Licensed Practical Nurses Association, Inc. here yesterday.

White nurses will train at Watts Hospital and Negro nurses will train at Duke Hospital, according to the proposed plans.

Washington, April 16—(AP)—If you're wondering—Hey, what goes about the armed forces, that's what President Truman is wondering, too. The armed forces were going to be made stronger—according to a set plan—to back up our stop-Communism policy.

Then... Wham... the boss of the air force upset the applecart. Here we were, going along all right, or so it appeared, under new law passed by Congress to make the armed forces work better than ever before.

This is the way the new law said the armed forces were to be set up in what Congress called "unification."

Washington, April 16—(AP)—An open warning and a guarded hint that Colombia's blood-spattered revolt pattern may be used in the United States spurred a congressional committee today to dig deeper for facts.

For one thing, the lawmakers want a complete explanation of why the State Department went ahead with the Pan American conference at Bogota despite definite word that the Communists were plotting trouble there.

The department itself said Secretary Marshall scornfully rejected any notion that "a handful of Communists" could intimidate the American republics.

But Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) saw the situation in a different light. "Why," he asked, "did they permit this conference knowing there might be trouble? Why did they permit themselves and the country to be put in a ticklish position?"

Brown said he wants the answers to those questions and will try to get them at hearings to be set later.

Army Bolstering Its Defenses In Alaska, Panama

By The Associated Press
In Washington, today, the U. S. Army disclosed it is borrowing from its mobile reserve to build up the garrison in Alaska. Northern American outpost next door to Russia.

New defense precautions were reported in the Panama Canal Zone. Well informed sources in Balboa said canal authorities applied these precautions to five Russian ships which arrived Wednesday, unannounced, at the canal's Atlantic terminus. The informants said the ships, described as fishing craft, were boarded by authorities and have been under scrutiny from launches.

In New York, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) reported a "startling influx" of Russians into Panama since early 1947.

One-Third Coal
Miners Still OutGrimly Maintain Walkout Awaiting Verdict On Lewis

Pittsburgh, April 16—(AP)—One-third of the nation's 400,000 soft coal miners today grimly maintained their protest strike pending the federal court's verdict on John L. Lewis.

The trial of the United Mine Workers chieftain on charges of contempt ended yesterday, except for the final judgment.

Monday morning Judge Alan T. Goldsborough will announce whether Lewis and the UMW are guilty of failing to heed a court order of April 5 to end the 29-day soft coal walkout.

Tried on similar charges in 1946, Lewis was fined $10,000 and the UMW paid $700,000.

The walkout, by which miners enforced their demands for $100-a-month pensions, ended last Monday. An estimated 250,000 miners have returned to the pits, the number growing from day to day.

On the fourth day after the settlement, however, more than one-third of the UMW members still refused to return to their jobs. Thousands of these were in the old strike-hardened Pennsylvania soft coal region, where the UMW has fought many of its bitterest battles.

Only about 44,000 of Pennsylvania's 96,000 soft coal diggers were at work. Most of the others had gone to their union meetings and voted to postpone their return "until after we learn what the court does about Uncle John."

A large portion of the "captive" mines, on which Big and Little Steel lean heavily, remained idle despite the industry's desperate need of fuel.

Italian Reds Scrambling
To Regain Lost Support

Rome, April 16—(AP)—Italy entered the final hours of a crucial parliamentary election campaign today with Communists scrambling to regain lost support. Campaigning ends at midnight and voting starts Sunday morning at 8.

Interior Minister Mario Scelba's security forces were watchful lest—as constantly rumored—last-minute Communist moves materialize—especially in the leftist north. Police made displays of strength in several sections to demonstrate they are ready to keep order.

Violence dotted the country last night as traditionally volatile Italian tempers flared.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi, who has worked tirelessly against the Communists and for his Christian Democrats, will end his long campaign tonight with a speech at Naples. Communist chief Palmiro Togliatti, whose audiences have dwindled recently, also takes a last crack at the Christian Democrats—and American aid—tonight.

Togliatti's drumming against the Marshall Plan as a program to enslave Italy has lost its early beat and the Communists have slowly and surely lost ground. Last night Togliatti failed to hold full attention of a crowd of 60,000 in Naples. Many left before he was through talking.

(In Washington, the U. S. State Department is sure the Communists are beaten. Officials who have followed the campaign said last night that Russia's rejection of the Western proposal to return Trieste to Italy killed the last faint hope the Communists had. That and Western power sponsorship of Italy for membership in the United Nations were looked on as clinchers against the leftists. Some think the Communists won't get more than 30 to 35 percent of the vote; possibly less.)

Newsman Get 'Inside Tip' That UMT
Will Not Be Passed By '48 Congress

Washington, April 16—(AP)—Several hundred of the nation's leading editors got an "inside tip" last night that Congress will not enact a universal military training bill this year.

It came from House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana, one of five lawmakers who addressed the annual meeting of the American Society of newspaper editors.

"The first emphasis undoubtedly will be on selective service," Halleck told the editors when pressed for a prediction on UMT legislation. Although the House Armed Services committee has approved a training bill, he said, the measure has not been cleared by the rules

Outlook Brightens At Meeting

By CHESTER WALSH

About 75 men and women representing the various organizations of the city met at a meeting at the Episcopal Parish House last night agreed that Greenville intends to have a living war memorial to honor the men and women who participated in two world wars—those who gave their lives and those who are living.

The machinery for acquiring funds and providing for such a memorial was set in action when former Mayor Marvin K. Blount, public-spirited citizen and community leader, declared that our people do want the community building memorial, that we can raise the necessary funds, that the time to start is now, and then offered a motion that a community council be organized to handle the community-wide project. The motion was carried unanimously.

Greenville's wartime mayor, B. B. Sugg, advocated the need of such a memorial and suggested that it be built during the lifetime of those who are to be honored.

Blount and Sugg emphasized the importance of doing something for the youth of the community and both agreed that $100,000—or the necessary funds—could be raised by public subscription.

Mayor Jack Boyd pledged the full support of the city administration for a war memorial and providing recreational facilities for youth and adults.

Joseph M. Taft, city school trustee, spoke eloquently of the need for a recreation center and said the school trustees favor such a project.

Dr. Fred M. Irons, who presided over the meeting, was elected chairman of the permanent War Memorial Council. B. B. Sugg, Jr., vice chairman, and Cora S. Powell, temporary secretary. He announced that he would appoint a committee to consider plans for establishing a permanent trust fund, and that another meeting would be held on May 4.

Mrs. J. B. Spillman, Business and Professional Women's Club president, advocated the memorial trust fund and announced that her club had received a $1,000 donation toward such a project and that the club was pledged to raise another thousand dollars.

It was pointed out that the recent General Assembly passed an enabling act which permits municipalities to assess a recreation tax, that an assessment would raise sufficient money to maintain the memorial community center. Present plans provide for recreation centers for all of the people—white and colored. It was agreed to use the old NYA center temporarily for the use of the Teen Age Club.

June H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, put the question of the memorial community building to the representative audience, and stressed the importance of providing it. He introduced Miss Ronnie Sheffield of Raleigh, assistant director of the North Carolina Recreation Commission, whose talk on recreation was inspiring.

Miss Sheffield enumerated the trends toward recognizing recreation legally as well as the health or welfare departments. She said the North Carolina Legislature was first to establish a recreation commission, in 1945, and that several other states have followed suit. She reminded that the legislative recreation enabling act authorizes cities and towns to hold special elections for tax assessments. She pointed out that the trend in municipalities is (Continued on Page Three)

Sixteen Nations And

Adopt, Sign Pact Binding Selves Into Permanent Organization Of Economic Cooperation

Paris, April 16—(AP)—Sixteen nations and Germany's western zones unanimously adopted today a convention binding themselves into a permanent European organization of economic cooperation.

The nations are those taking part in the European recovery program (ERP), or Marshall Plan. The organization is to assure efficient use of the $5,300,000,000 the United States has pledged in aid program.

The 24-article, 3,000-word convention was adopted and signed at a conference of foreign ministers and others in the French Foreign Ministry.

"A strong and prosperous European economy," says the preamble, "will contribute to the maintenance of peace."

The chairman, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, put the pact to the delegates at 12:23 p.m. There were no objections; he declared it adopted officially. Annexes and protocols also were adopted.

The delegates then attached their signatures. The first signer was Austrian Foreign Minister Karl Gruber. The last was Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military governor for Germany and representative of the British and American zones.

The plenary meeting opened in the Clock Room and moved to the adjoining Hall of Peace for the signing.

In closing it, Bevin declared, "the structure of the new organization is one which leaves room for development and for expansion to include all European countries who will genuinely subscribe to the aim of the organization."

Before the morning meeting adjourned, the conference unanimously adopted a resolution to send thanks to the U. S. for its "generous response in assisting Europe in its present critical state." This was proposed by Irish Foreign Minister Sean MacBride.

The delegates approved Bevin's suggestion that they reconvene in a closed meeting this afternoon. The agenda will include choosing a secretary general, two assistants and other officers and selecting a permanent headquarters for the organization.

Body Floats To Surface Of Lake

Morganton, N.C., April 16—(AP)—The body of one of four men who drowned March 14 floated to the surface of Lake James last night.

The body was that of Gordon Edwards, 24, of Morganton.

Claude Jarrett and Al Gersheim, both of Asheville, sighted the body while fishing. They left to notify authorities, but in their absence Ray and Ernest Stevens of Morganton found the body and brought it ashore. It was about half a mile from where Mull's boat capsized.

Bodies of two of the four are still missing. They were George Mull and Harold Singleton. The body of Yates Webb was recovered March 16. All were from Morganton.

In Treason TrialGuilt Or Innocence Of Robert Best Is In Hands Of Jury

Boston, April 16—(AP)—A federal court jury today weighed a prosecutor's charge that Robert H. Best "sold out his native land" in wartime broadcasts from Germany.

Best, a native of Spartanburg, S. C., and a former American correspondent, is specifically charged with treason.

In summing up the government's case yesterday, Special Assistant Attorney General Tom De Wolfe declared:

"He sold out his native land. He loved Germany. He sought to and did, create havoc and unrest, x x x anyone who did not give all for Hitler in his crusade was a saboteur of civilization."

Court-appointed defense counsel, Charles H. Bartlett and Henry M. Leen, argued the defendant did not intend to betray the United States, that he really felt he was conducting a crusade against Bolshevism.

"I ask you to find the defendant did not intend to betray the United States," Leen said. "x x x a fanatic if you will, a fool if you will, but not a traitor."

De Wolfe said the Communist issue was dragged into the case as "a red herring" designed to cloud the real issue.

He asserted that the necessary proof—testimony by two witnesses to each act—had been produced to prove a dozen alleged acts of treason.

Best tilted in his chair and closed his eyes occasionally as the prosecutor hammered at his alleged treasonable acts. His brother, A. H. Best of Durham, N. C. and his sister, Louise, sat nearby.

Moscow Devises Measures To Offset Damage At Hands Of Democracies; Speedup Of Marxist Schools; Part Of World Revolution Plan; Seek To Win Youth

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

An undoubtedly anxious Moscow hasn't been slow in devising measures to try to offset the damage suffered recently by the Communist world revolution at the hands of the now thoroughly aroused democracies.

Among developments there have been the hostile Red machinations against the Allies in Germany, intensification of the strong-arm drive to capture control of the Italian government in the election Sunday, the fierce effort to overthrow the government of Colombia and disrupt the Inter-American conference meeting in that country, and simultaneous attempts to precipitate revolution in other South American states.

The latest—and in some ways the most formidable—is the disclosure by the Cominform in Belgrade that a world-wide speedup of the Marxist ideological campaign has been got under way. The Cominform is a composite name for the "Communist International Information Bureau" which was created some months ago in Poland under direction of Moscow. That's what the Communists call it, but observers generally hold it to be a revival of the old Comintern, or General Staff for World Revolution, which had headquarters in Moscow and was "abolished" by Stalin as a beneficial gesture towards the democracies while they were fighting beside him against Hitler.

The Cominform newspaper now informs the faithful that the speedup of the Marxist campaign has been begun with the opening of Communist party schools. It is disclosed that one school has been opened in the Soviet zone of Germany, near Berlin, and another is to follow.

Since this program is part and parcel of the world revolution, we may be sure that the speedup of the ideological campaign will be undertaken in all countries, including the entire western hemisphere. Apropos of this, the Cominform newspaper brags that Communist membership in Brazil has risen to 200,000. It is obvious that Communism is boring in everywhere.

Young Baritone Will Present Recital At College On Monday

One of the brightest new stars of concert and radio is the handsome young ex-OI baritone, Mac Morgan, whose appearance in recital in the Wright auditorium, East Carolina Teachers College, on Monday, April 19, at 8 o'clock is expected to be one of the major delights of the local music season.

Texas-born, but bred in Jacksonville, Florida, Morgan was educated at the far-famed Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. His enlistment in the U. S. Army interrupted a promising career in concert, radio and oratorio.

Mac Morgan was released from the army early in 1946. Within a few months he had won one of the most coveted contracts in the radio world—to appear weekly as the singing star of the Cities Service "Highways Melody," which is heard nationally over NBC. This important network engagement is building a faithful nation-wide following for the personable young baritone.

Morgan's concert here will be sponsored by the college Entertainment Committee and will be the last of the programs offered on the series presented during the school year. The sale of tickets will begin on Friday, April 16, and will be conducted from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4 in the Telephone Office of the Austin building.

Mrs. Lautares Hostess to U. D. C.
On Thursday afternoon the George B. Singletary Chapter U. D. C. met with Mrs. J. G. Lautares. The home was decorated throughout with beautiful spring flowers. The president, Mrs. P. E. Wells, welcomed the visitors, Mrs. W. R. Smith, Mrs. George Lautares, and little Anne Esterne Lautares. The new year books were passed by the program chairman, Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth. Reports on the district meeting held in Kingston were given by Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Hollingsworth, Mrs. J. L. Fleming, Mrs. Lautares and Mrs. E. L. Willard.

The following tribute was written and presented by Mrs. Wells at the district meeting: "With a keen sense of sorrow of the loss that has come to the George B. Singletary Chapter U. D. C., of Greenville, during the past year since we last met for our district meeting in La Grange, we reverently record the passing of three of our most loyal members and devoted Daughters, well-known for long and faithful service: Mrs. Maude Dameron, Miss Stella Grogan and Mrs. Richard Williams. We wish to pay a loving tribute to these members, for it was their high purpose to perpetuate the memory and record the sacrifices and heroic deeds of a brave and honorable ancestry. It is fitting that we render this tribute of respect, but the significance of this memorial is far deeper than that. It is a tribute inspired by love. Their names are written in kindness, love, and mercy on the pages of our Book of Memory. They cannot go where God is not; and where God is, there is joy, love and peace. May their labor of love and the remembrance of their untiring devotion to the ideals of our organization guide and inspire us to finer and nobler work. We cannot think of them as dead. Who walk with us no more. Along the path of life we tread—They have but gone before."

In the absence of Rev. Frederick Jones who was ill, Mrs. J. L. Fleming had charge of the program. She gave the prize winning report given by the La Grange chapter at the district meeting.

Delicious refreshments consisting of sherbert, cookies, salted pecans, and pecan fingers were served by the hostess.

how much is enough?

We wish we knew. In spite of our best efforts, the demand for telephone service continues to exceed the supply of materials necessary to provide it. We have already installed a record number of telephones, but still more applications for new service continue to come in. All of our efforts are aimed at "balancing the scales"—to have installations keep pace with new applications. It takes time and money, but we hope before too long to keep up with this tremendous demand.

once one of the most insidious and the most dangerous of the Bolshevik schemes for advancement of the Red ism. Hitler appropriated it and adapted it to his own plot for world conquest. He not only had centers of instruction for adults, but made special drive to notify the children — with a terrible success which now is hampering Allied efforts to rehabilitate Germany.

Of course Communist centers for instruction are nothing new in the United States and in most other countries. Moreover, the Reds have been making a special effort to capture youth, and this has been furthered by winning over teachers both in preparatory schools and universities, to repeat quietly but persistently the goodness of Communism.

It has taken the democracies a long time to wake up to the real meaning of the Communist drive. They couldn't believe that their comrade-at-arms would turn and try to impose a totalitarian dictatorship on them. However, they've had that nonsense knocked out of them finally and know that they are up against an all-out drive to communize the world.

The democracies are ready to fight fire with fire and probably that's the reason the Cominform has decided to intensify the more subtle aspects of the Red revolution. An educational crusade is much more difficult to recognize and deal with than is the employment of open violence.

So the democracies are entering a particularly dangerous phase of the Red revolution. Still, they are finally awake to the dangers and the signs are that they intend to meet the situation by governmental suppression of all Red activities.

sory) military training to build up a pool of trained men to back up our armed forces if needed in an emergency.

3. If we don't have UMT, we'll need a permanent draft to keep the armed forces built up.

4. We ought to have an air force of 55 groups. Then W. Stuart Symington, Secretary of Air, upset the apparent in such a way that even the President is confused.

He told the House Armed Services committee:

1. Russia is building the greatest air force in the world.

2. Instead of a 55 group air force, we need a 70 group air force.

3. We need the 70 group air force more than we need UMT.

Here was the secretary of air apparently going contrary to Forrestal and the other top people in the armed forces because:

They had insisted the most important thing right away was a draft and UMT.

Yesterday the full House took matters out of the hands of the Armed Services Committee and voted for a 70 group air force.

But how come Symington—who's supposed to be under Forrestal—can sound off with something different from what Forrestal says:

W. E. Hooker and A. J. Moore went to Kingston Thursday evening to attend the Pythian district meeting and returned this morning.

Today was rather cool for Good Friday fishing parties.

It will be just like the weather if Easter Sunday is a cold day.

It was cold enough for frost this morning, but the wind and clouds last night kept it off.

Mr. Truman was asked this question at his news conference yesterday. He said he doesn't know the answer.

If he doesn't know the answer, how can you or anybody know? Anyway, Symington's 70 group air force isn't a sure thing. The House approved. The Senate still has to decide.

The same is true of the draft and UMT: All of it still is in the hands of Congress; nothing is settled yet.

ONE OF THEM WILL DIE OF CANCER ... UNLESS

"ME, DIE OF CANCER?"
Yes, it's perfectly possible. Actual figures show that cancer deaths are increasing steadily and that cancer will strike in almost one of two families.

And never forget... it can perfectly well be yours.

So don't you think you ought to do something about it while there's still time?

THREE SIDES TO THE PROBLEM
If cancer is to be checked... and it can be!... the problem must be attacked from three sides:

RESEARCH must continue all over the country, under the direction of our leading scientists, to find a cure. This needs money... millions of dollars.

SERVICE must be maintained and increased. Wherever you are, your community must have facilities to provide information on the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

EDUCATION must go forward. People must learn that delay is responsible for up to 35% of cancer deaths. They must know cancer's danger signals and that, if recognized in time, many cancers can be cured.

HOWEVER LITTLE YOU HELP, YOU MUST HELP!

Every three minutes someone dies of cancer. Every day that passes the chances increase that one of your loved ones may be stricken. You cannot, you must not, you dare not turn your back. There is no greater help you can give than to aid in the fight against this frightful scourge. Remember... someone in your family may be doomed to die of cancer. The help you give today may save a life!

YEAR BY YEAR MORE PEOPLE DIE OF CANCER!

Millions of dollars are needed to check this dreadful scourge... and the money must come from you. The need is desperate, the time is now! Will you help check this dreadful ravage? There is hope if you will give... Send your contribution today!

Cancer, the scourge that grows!

'Reindeer King' In Washington To Rescue Nome

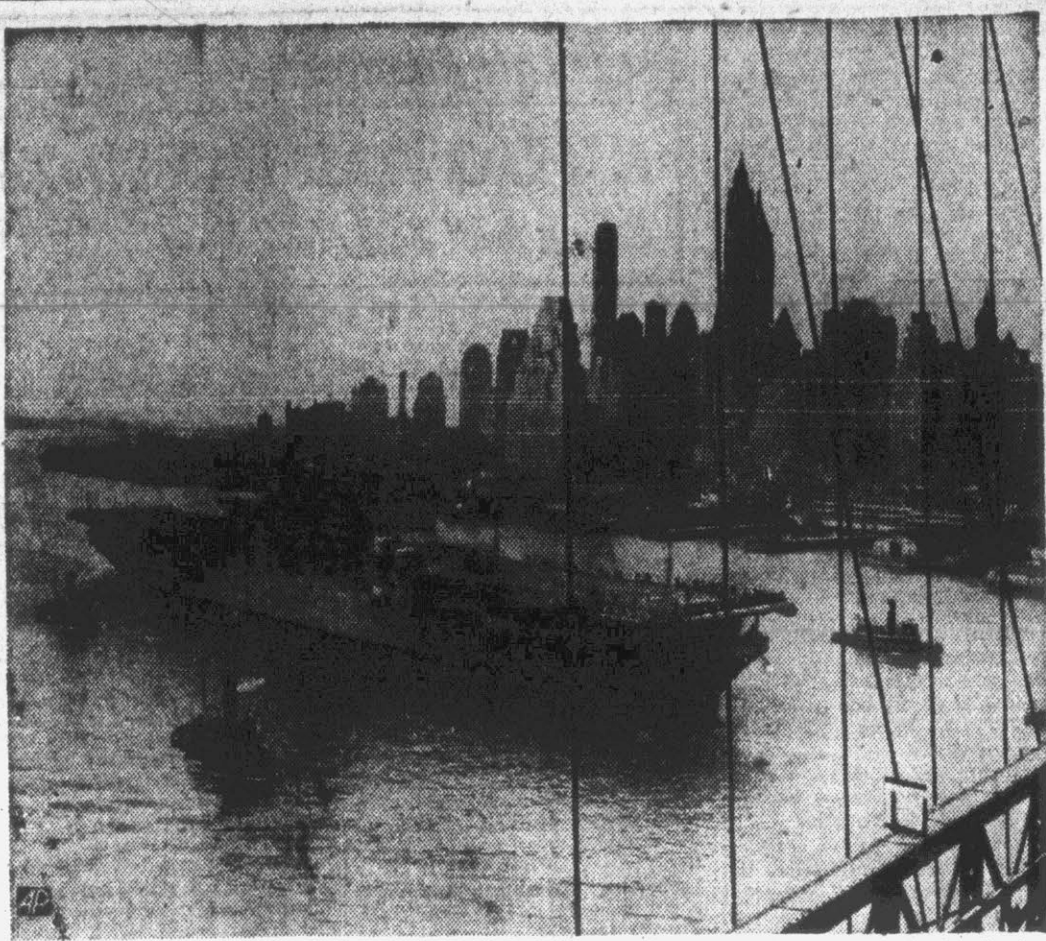

By JANE EADS
Washington—Carl Lomen, who went to Alaska in 1900 to seek gold and later became the "reindeer king" is here to ask Congress to do something for the city of Nome. Lomen, he says, is in danger of being washed away by the heavy seas and even the Federal building, which houses the U. S. Signal Corps, is no longer safe. He's plugging for a sea wall. "We're America's closest town to Siberia," he says, adding that it is "within six minutes reach of a Russian jet plane."

The sea, he says, menaces the buildings, which are all built along the beach. The town is safe now because the sea is frozen. What they are fighting against is the next storm. The storms usually come in late September or October.

Mr. Lomen got interested in the reindeer industry shortly after he went to Alaska. The first reindeer had been brought into the country from Siberia to provide food for the Eskimos, and Laplanders were sent from Norway to take care of the reindeer. Mr. Lomen and some of his brothers bought the mother stock for their herd from the Laplanders, built it up to 250,000 head. In 1934 they sent 24,000 carcasses of reindeer meat to the States. The deer provided leather, also, and fur and canned dogfood.

After some $2,500,000 had been invested in the business, and he had given 26 years to its direction, Mr. Lomen says the family finally sold out to the government for something like $275,000. He doesn't like the way the government has handled the herds.

"Governmental agencies wished for and secured control of the herds, through purchase of white and Lap ownership, without having exper-ced personnel to manage," he says. The herds, he adds, were decimated by wolves and allowed to deteriorate. The remnants of the herds, he says, will now require a generation to build back to the peak reached during the 1930's.

When Canada sought to purchase some of the Lomen reindeer for food and clothing, Mr. Lomen says he made a sporting deal. The Canadians could tell him where they wanted the deer driven and then pay him for all that arrived. He says he thought the business would take two driving seasons. Instead, his men drove the herd for five years and three months across Arctic Circle country through which no human had ever traveled. And without maps. Once the Eskimos drove on for 30 miles without stopping, got hungry, brewed a cup of coffee and the herd stampededed. This set them back 15 months.

The men started with 3,000 breeding deer and 400 draft and meat animals and delivered 2,382. Only 10 percent of the original stock remained. Ninety percent were born on the trail. Mr. Lomen believes this was the greatest movement of livestock in the history of the world.

With Mr. Lomen in Washington is his attractive wife, daughter of the late Senator Andrew Volstead, father of the Volstead Act. They will observe their 20th wedding anniversary this fall. The Lomens live in Nome during the summer. They also have an apartment in Seattle, Wash. But they are always on the go. Mr. Lomen says they're never settled long anywhere to open all their wedding presents. He is now in the barge business in Alaska, collects stamps and books on the Arctic.

Brazilians Claim Arsenal Blast Is Communist Plot

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
Brazil's federal police charged today the explosion in an army arsenal which killed 23 persons yesterday was intended as the beginning of a Communist plot for a "second Bogota" in Rio De Janeiro May 1.

Police said the Communists intended to kill Brazil's Minister of War, Gen. Canrobert Pereira da Costa, who left the scene 50 minutes before the blast. Officials said he was saved only by an unexplained delay in the blast.

They said 26 Communists have been arrested and directly implicated. The Communist party is outlawed in Brazil.

She advised group action in the project. She painted a word picture of a memorial in the form of a community building and grounds for the benefit of this and other generations. She cited Hickory, Durham, China Grove, Fayetteville and other cities as having made progress in community and recreational facilities.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CAN YOU PUT YOURSELF ASIDE?

The David and Jonathan type of friendship often existed among pairs of soldiers during the past war. Two buddies used to plan together about the future, and one who is married often told his friend about the house he was going to build. "You," he declared to his friend, "are going to be our first guest." And it turned out just that way. They both got back from the war safely, and buddy No. 2 was the first guest of buddy No. 1 and his wife. That night before the honored guest went to sleep, he smoked a cigarette, which fell off the ash tray where he had placed it and started a fire. When he discovered the fire, he locked the door and fought the flames himself. Two days later he died from the burns he received.

There is a variety of person who appears to be able to eliminate himself, his comfort, and his safety entirely from consideration when he confronts a big issue. When these men appear on the field of state-manship, they bear such names as Washington and Lincoln. Scientists and inventors with such precociousity are presented to us in the figures of Pasteur, Edison, and Walter Reed. St. Paul and the numberless martyrs who followed him are examples of how men eliminate the personal factor at the level of sound religious faith.

Life's greatest triumph is achieved when a man learns how to thrust himself aside in the interest of a duty.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Lots of folks say they just don't understand art. Some of these folks are in the throngs that flock daily to the National Art Gallery to see the famed old masters from the Berlin Museums now on display. (These are pictures that belonged to the Germans before the war—not those stolen from other countries.)

The taxi drivers, government clerks, housewives, honeymooners, school children, farmers say they don't quite "get the pitch," but they like the paintings. They crowd in groups before them. They look at the pictures a long time, as if they were trying hard to understand what makes them great. Whether they understand them or not, the paintings have drawn record crowds to the National Gallery. It is estimated that before they are returned to Germany more than 300,000 persons will have seen them.

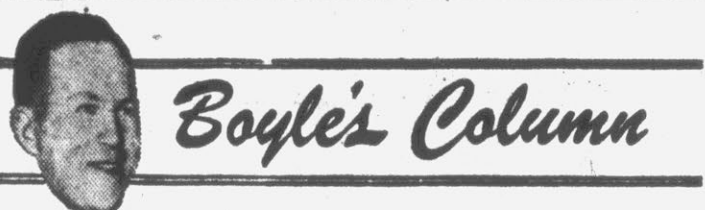

The 202 pictures in the collection were found in a salt mine at Merkers, Germany by General Patton's Third Army in 1945. The Army sent the collection to the United States for "safe-keeping until it could be returned to its rightful owners." There was some protest that the paintings should never have been removed from Germany. The Army argued that it had simply taken the collection into protective custody when it was decided storage conditions in Germany were not satisfactory.

The paintings are now about to be sent back to Germany. They were put on exhibition by the gallery several weeks ago so that Americans could have the opportunity of seeing them while they were here. The collection is estimated to be worth at least $80,000,000. It includes 15 Rembrandts, five Van Dycks, five Titians, three Raphaels. The Italian paintings are of superlative quality. Among them is Giotto's "Death of the Virgin," the most important panel by Giotto outside of Italy.

One of the most popular paintings in the collection is "The Flemish Proverbs," painted by Pieter Bruegel the Elder in Antwerp during the 16th century. It illustrates in an amusing fashion about 100 homely current among the peasants of Flanders at the time.

Capital and military police, keeping a wary eye on the paintings, say the visitors also like Rembrandt. They are interested too in the value of the paintings. One MP said "They can't imagine buying one, but they're sure like to have one to sell."

All but two of the paintings came from the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin, founded by Frederick Wilhelm III in 1830 and one of the greatest art galleries in the world. The paintings were shipped by the Army to Le Havre, France, in specially heated cars and crossed the ocean in the air conditioned dining room of an Army transport. They were packed in boxes lined with a

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The oldtime "free lunch" is back—at least it has one foot in the barroom door. It is coming back the hard way, one street at a time. So far it has been seen here chiefly in poor men's Stork Clubs along the Bowery and Third Avenue.

Rat cheese and salami sandwiches now bloom again in scattered bars in the shadow of the "El" like spring flowers poking up through old snow. And barflies—excuse me, gentlemen with a dime—are greeting them with glad cries. In the tonier establishments even the pickle is back. The new free lunch is only a morsel of its old robust self. But its comeback on Third Avenue is significant. Why? Because Third Avenue is to the elbow-bending gentry what the Aberdeen Proving Ground is to artillery—a testing field that sets the trend.

In the bars along this noisy thoroughfare where roaring overhead "El" trains make conversation a muscular feat, Park Avenue comes to ogle "the characters." "The characters" like to ogle right back.

Fads that become popular here often set the pattern for the town—spread one way by "the characters" and the other by the penthouse "swells." This may spell a new future for the free lunch.

Time was when the free lunch was big enough to give a harvest hand the colic.

Remember? For a nickel beer a hungry citizen of good standing could waddle over to a counter crusting under plates stacked with roast beef, baked ham, boiled ham, oysters, steamed clams, three kinds of cheese, hardboiled eggs, lunch meats, pickles, relish, stacked bread and huge slices of raw white onion, fragrant of Bermuda.

In the classier joints a burly bartender with a "keep off" look stood guard to shoo customers with run-down heels away from the trough.

What happened to the "free lunch?"

"What happened to it?" said one bartender. "They just ate it all up. Too many people got to thinking saloons were boarding houses."

Others say it was buried with prohibition. It didn't die out entirely, however. It survived in anemic form in the present cocktail hour custom of serving canapés. These one-bite-and-they're-all-gone sandwiches are so tiny that a big man can lose one in a hollow tooth.

These revolting delicacies, consumed more in sorrow than in anger, are blamed by some elderly bartenders as the real cause of increasing jitter among their unsteady clients.

"They're too small to support a vitamin," said one gloomily. "And what's in 'em—little bits of fish in erl, stuff that looks and tastes like toothpaste, cheese that don't even have a smell, and eggs that come out of a sturgeon instead of a hen. No wonder people get the shakes."

But if the free lunch makes a real comeback the canapés will be out—out—the hors d'oeuvres will have had their hour. This will be true in the homes as well as in the bars.

Whether she wants or not, a hostess will have to serve her cocktail guests king-sized pastрами sandwiches instead of embalmed minnows. That'll be the day!

Although the Chinese used gunpowder for flares, Friar Roger Bacon, of England, discovered its explosive qualities hundreds of years later.

The ancient Egyptian princes used blood baths to regain their youthful strength.

Will Show Movie On Atomic Issue

"God of the Atom," a full-color scientific film depicting the atomic bomb problem, will be shown on Wednesday afternoon, May 5, at East Carolina Teachers College, according to Dr. John D. Messick, president.

In the 45-minute movie, recently produced by Dr. Irwin A. Moon in the Los Angeles laboratories of the Moody Institute of Science, scientific apparatus and diagrams are used to demonstrate the theory of atomic power. Actual one-spot film records of the Nagasaki and Bikini blasts show the atomic bomb in action.

"God of the Atom" will be shown here by a special Moody film representative, Dr. H. H. Newell, at 2 o'clock in the Austin auditorium. The public is invited.

Greenville Women Report Convention

Mrs. Cora S. Powell and Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell, delegates to the recent national convention of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons, held in Miami, Fla., reported a wonderful time. They made a trip to Havana, Cuba, and enjoyed a sight-seeing tour.

Mrs. Frederick Bond of Miami was reelected president. The convention was declared open "In His Name" by the president. There were 181 voting delegates and approximately 500 others in attendance. Following the business sessions, the First American, the Indian, was honored at a luncheon. The Indians were represented by Chief Ho To Pi of the Cheyennes, who aided in the ceremonial and presented Indian head bands that he has made to members in recognition of their work done in behalf of American Indians. Excellent reports were given by branch presidents of the U.S. and Canada.

John William Hughes, former British officer, stationed in India, addressed the convention. Reports on the young people's departments and Chautauqua scholarship girls were given. Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell, president of the Patient Circle, Greenville, appeared on this program. In addition to installation of officers and other business, citations for 50-year anniversary memberships and recognition of life members were given.

The convention closed with a banquet and reception. Mrs. Ethel Earnest Murrell, Miami attorney, was guest speaker.

Still Fighting In Costa Rican War

By The Associated Press

Fighting appeared today to be continuing in Costa Rica's civil war despite reports from San Jose, the capital, that rebel-dictated peace negotiations are all but completed.

Dispatches from Mexico City said rebel chieftain Jose Figueroa broadcast from Cartago that his soldiers had smashed a government counter-attack five miles to the south. Cartago, second largest city in the country, is 30 miles south of San Jose. It was reported yesterday that Figueroa had set up a provisional government there.

FRIDAY PEACE PLATE

Spring works wonders for your dinner table.

For April has garden fresh vegetables to enliven mild weather salads and larger catches of fish for abundant choices at your fish market.

So let's have full-flavored mackerel, baked and browned with tart French dressing. And let's scallop new potatoes in creamy white sauce and serve with a crisp tossed green salad.

April is the season for East Coast mackerel. And you'll find mackerel—fresh or frozen—relatively cheap in most sections of the country.

Figuring waste, mackerel costs about the same as lean chuck beef. There's about 50 percent waste in mackerel but its price may be as low as 29 cents a pound.

BAKED MACKEREL

3 lb. mackerel
Salt and pepper
French dressing

Split and bone the cleaned fish, after removing head and tail. Place fish skin side down on a greased baking sheet. Season with salt and pepper. Brush the fish lightly with French dressing and bake in a moderate oven (350-375°F) for 30 minutes. If fish is not sufficiently brown, it may be placed under the broiler for a few minutes. Serve with lemon wedges. Serves 4.

Treat Overdose Of Sleeping Pills

Beverly Hills, Calif., April 16—(AP)—Taking the wrong pills from a bedside box in the early morning darkness sent Mrs. James Roosevelt to a hospital today for treatment for an overdose of sleeping pills, her physician reported.

Her condition was described as "good" several hours later.

Dr. Blake Watson, family doctor for the wife of the late president's eldest son, gave this account:

He said Mrs. Roosevelt, 32, awoke about 8 a. m., with a cold and a headache, reached for a box of pills on a bedside stand which she thought were headache tablets. Instead, she swallowed several sleeping pills. She quickly awakened her husband, who called police. She was rushed to emergency hospital, then to St. John's hospital in nearby Santa Monica.

Roosevelt, state democratic chairman, was with her at the hospital but could not be reached for comment.

CHAIRMAN — Joseph I. O'Connell, Jr., of Saratoga Lake, N. Y., is the new chairman of the civil aeronautics board.

The police said Roosevelt told them his wife, the former Romelle Theresa Schneider, a native of Independence, Wis., had been suffering from insomnia since the birth of their third child three months ago.

The baby, a daughter named Anna Eleanor, was born January 10. The Roosevelts also have two sons, James, two, and Michael, 16 months.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who was a nurse, cared for Roosevelt when he was ill at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., then came to California with him during his convalescence. They were married in April, 1941.

Ambassador Says Spy Story False

Washington, April 16—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith has branded as "false" Soviet charges that Robert Magidoff, an American correspondent, spied for the U. S. embassy in Moscow.

Smith cabled his denial to the State Department after Magidoff had been ordered out by the Soviet government. The newsman had been accused by Cecilia Nelson, his American-born secretary, of having sent secret military data to this country in official U. S. diplomatic pouches.

But Smith said in his cable: "I have insisted and have insured that diplomatic, military and naval personnel of this mission restrict themselves implicitly and exclusively to legitimate and authorized sources of information."

"Mr. Magidoff informed me that he considered the allegations made by the Soviet citizen, Miss Nelson, and published in Izvestia, are entirely false."

"I can confirm the fact that they are false insofar as they relate to American embassy personnel."

Dispatches from Moscow yesterday said Magidoff planned to leave the U. S. S. R. in the next day or two.

Exchange Strike Is Settled Today

New York, April 16—(AP)—A strike against the New York Curb Exchange was settled today with a 10 percent pay increase and bonus agreement.

There was no provision for the union shop demanded by the AFL United Financial Employees when the walkout began March 29.

The settlement did not include employees of the New York Stock Exchange, whose strike continued in full force.

Pair Admit To Safe Crackings

Gaffney, S. C., April 16—(AP)—A series of recent safe crackings here was admitted today by two young men, officers reported.

Sheriff Roland T. Clary said William Gill, 25, of Gaffney, and David Lee Nelson, 18, of Philadelphia, Pa., were arrested and confined to the county jail. He said warrants against them would be issued today.

Late last night Chief of Police William Hill and Lewis Clary, a patrolman, reported they surprised the two in a local grocery store. The men were arrested at the scene.

Churchbell Rang Bishop In Belfry

Sunderland, England, April 16—(AP)—The church bell rang the bishop here—and was he surprised!

The bishop is the Right Rev. David Colin Dunlop, 51. He told the Sunderland Rotary club he must have forgotten the art of bell ringing, because when he grabbed the rope to help local ringers he found himself swinging to and fro in the belfry.

their economic feet as quickly as possible in order to be able eventually to dispense "with any foreign aid of an exceptional character."

They promise to "augment their production, develop and modernize their industrial and agricultural equipment, increase their exchanges, reduce progressively barriers to mutual trade, encourage full employment of their manpower."

They recognize "the generous intention of the American people" in supplying the dollars with which they hope to meet their goals.

In Article One, the nations "assign themselves as their immediate task the setting up and execution of a common recovery program." To this end they "hereby institute a European organization of economic cooperation."

They pledge themselves to better use of "the resources at their disposal in their homelands and in their overseas territories."

They will set up within the framework of the organization "programs of production and of the exchange of goods and services," the charter says.

They will seek, it adds, to abolish restrictions "on their exchange and on their reciprocal payments."

"They will pursue their studies now in course on customs unions or analogous systems such as zones of free trade," the document goes on.

The nations agree "to cooperate with other countries animated by the same intentions to reduce tariffs."

The charter specifies they "shall be able to call upon the manpower available in the territory of every other contracting party," since, for example, Italy has a labor surplus and France a shortage.

They provide for "organs of inspection and supervision" to be sure American aid and their own resources are used efficiently.

They agree to "furnish the United States government appropriate assistance and information relative to the European recovery program, and to make recommendations to it."

The organization is empowered to make agreements "with non-member countries, with the United States government and with international organizations."

This would allow, for example, trade pacts with Spain, South America or eastern European nations.

Unanimity is required for decisions, thus giving individual members veto power.

Young Luis Arroyo Tapped For Starting Mound Work; Game Time Is 7:45; Only Game For Tar Heels Outside Of Circuit

By BERT MOYE

Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb's University of North Carolina Tar Heels will invade Guy Smith Stadium here Saturday night at 7:45 o'clock for an exhibition game with Manager Bill Phebus' Greenies in what promises to be one of the most colorful exhibition games ever to be played in this section this season. This is the only game outside of college circles which the Tar Heels play this season.

Not only will the game be of great interest in this section due to the many Carolina alumni who live in Eastern North Carolina, but in addition baseball fans will have the opportunity of witnessing two of the best lefthanded pitchers in the business.

On the mound for the Greenies will be Luis Arroyo, who is declared by Manager Bill Phebus to be the most promising pitcher he has seen in many a day. In addition the little Puerto Rican has been burning them up in the past in the Cuban League.

While on the mound for the Tar Heels will be Vincent (Vinnie) DiLorenzo, veteran lefthander for Carolina's Tar Heels, the key man on the Carolina mound staff.

The Tar Heels up to the present time have won seven games in nine starts this season in college play. At the beginning of the season the Tar Heels lost to Pennsylvania and were tied to Yale.

The Greenies, who have played a total of six exhibition games this season with clubs down in Florida, have won five of their six games.

The probable starting lineup for the Tar Heels is as follows: Black, centerfield; Hayworth, third base; Jones, rightfield; Kelly, leftfield; Hobbs, first base; Ryan, shortstop; Branch, second base; Cheek, catcher; and Vinnie DiLorenzo, pitching.

Biggest Entry List Nominated In Race Classic

Indianapolis, April 16—(AP)—Sixty seven cars, the biggest entry list since 1931, had been nominated today for the 32nd annual 500 mile race at the Indianapolis Motor speedway May 31.

Speedway president Wilbur Shaw said he expected several other entries postmarked before deadline at midnight last night and the final total might equal the all-time high of 72 in 1931.

Athletes Invited To ECTC Event

Senior athletes in approximately fifty high schools in the eastern section of North Carolina have been invited to be guests of the Athletic department of East Carolina Teachers College on Saturday, April 17, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, athletic director at the college here, has announced.

A program of entertainment for the visitors is being arranged by students and faculty members of the department. Events include a North State Conference baseball game played between the East Carolina Pirates and Western Carolina Teachers College, a wicker roast, and a dance in the Wright auditorium on the campus in the evening.

Surprises Seen In Navy Squad

Annapolis, Md., April 16—(AP)—Navy wound up spring football training yesterday and all Coach George Sauer had to say was "we may uncork a couple of surprises."

Before storing their gear for the summer, varsity and Jayvee gridmen battled it out in a two-hour final scrimmage. Both sides scored frequently but no count was kept.

Pittsburgh Has Two More Games

Pittsburgh, April 16—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates were due home today for their final two exhibition games with the Detroit Tigers. The Pirates have won 17 of their 32 exhibition contests. Hal Gregg, expected to fill in for the ailing Eddie Robinson, was sidelined with an aching back. Robinson has an ankle injury and Elbie Fletcher, the only other first baseman on the squad, has a bruised foot. Walt Judnich, who played first occasionally for the St. Louis Browns, came in from the outfield to fill in yesterday.

LAKEMAN IN SHAPE

Danville, Va., April 16—(AP)—Lakeman appears to be in good shape again after spraining his ankle at the Clearwater, Fla., camp of the Philadelphia Phils.

Sport Slants by Pap

Johnny Mize has few illusions about big league baseball, and even fewer about his ability to improve much over the fine, all-around job he did last season. After all, baseball players don't improve much after they have passed their thirty-fifth birthday. There is one ambition, however, which Mize hopes to realize before he hangs up his ample spiked brogans, and that is to play in the World Series. And the sooner, the better.

Mize was a mighty tried player in the final stages of the 1947 pennant race. He punished himself severely in order to stay in there every inning of every game while he had a chance to win the home run crown.

He had to settle for a tie at 51 homers with the youthful Ralph Kiner, of Pittsburgh, but it did help him to pile up a total of 138 runs batted-in for top honors in that department. Few fans gave Mize proper credit for the excellent fielding job he did around first base. The official figures name him the leader with a fielding mark of 286, having handled a total of 1,503 chances in 154 games and making only six miscues.

The big slugger has been coming along slowly this spring, as is his usual custom. It takes him weeks to get his swing in a groove, and even more time to meeting the ball properly. "Hitting fast-ball pitching in the early spring is like swinging at an aspirin tablet," says Mize. "My timing's always off when I return after a winter layoff. But, give me a little time and . . ."

Pirates Play Host For Two Games On Weekend

By JACK HEDGEPEATH

The ECTC Pirates play host to Appalachian today and WCTC Saturday, in a couple of North State Conference baseball games that may play an important part in the Pirates' Conference success this year.

Coach Jim Johnson will start ECTC ace Bob "Lefty" McCotter against Appalachian today, with Abb Williams slated to hurl against WCTC Saturday.

McCotter, number one pitcher on the Pirate staff, lost to Elon in the opening game 6-4 as three unearned runs were chalked up against him. In his next outing McCotter hurled nine innings in a brilliant relief role against High Point that ended in a 5-5 tie. It was McCotter's eighth inning which that drove home the tying runs.

Abb Williams, Saturday's mound choice, pitched three innings of hitless ball against Evansville in his first attempt, and followed that with an easy 9-2 win over William and Mary last Monday.

Bill Fulp, invaluable as a relief hurler, will be ready to go in the event either of the starting pitchers find the going tough.

Bob McCotter (571), Jack Wallace (555) and Larry James (333) are leading the Pirates at the plate.

The Pirates have a record of one win, one defeat and a tie in conference competition.

Next Tuesday evening the Pirates are slated to meet the Greenville Greenies at Guy Smith Stadium. Pete Reynolds, youthful Pirate freshman who has been bothered by a sore arm will probably get the starting nod for this tilt.

Deacons Topple Duke By 7-To-4

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

All good things must come to an end, and so, Duke's mastery over Wake Forest in varsity sports since 1946 has ceased.

The end came yesterday on the baseball diamond at Wake Forest when the Deacons outstripped the Blue Devils 7-4.

In fact, the end was quite sudden. It came exactly in an explosive third inning when Wake Forest got all their markers on three hits and three errors.

Final Test For Larry Jansen

Owensboro, Ky., April 16—(AP)—

Larry Jansen, expected to be the opening day pitcher for the New York Giants, will give his arm a final test today against the Cleveland Indians. Jansen has yet to go a full nine innings. Sheldon "Available" Jones, who blanked the Indians on four hits yesterday, will probably get the starting nod if Jansen doesn't impress today. Jones has gone the route twice.

Trouble At First Base Position

Owensboro, Ky., April 16—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians' first base problem was more muddled than ever today. Vice-President Hank Greenberg, expected to fill in for the ailing Eddie Robinson, was sidelined with an aching back. Robinson has an ankle injury and Elbie Fletcher, the only other first baseman on the squad, has a bruised foot. Walt Judnich, who played first occasionally for the St. Louis Browns, came in from the outfield to fill in yesterday.

Getting Ready For Ball Season Not So Simple

Chicago, April 16—(AP)—This business of getting ready for the baseball season isn't just tuning up the brass band, oiling the turn-stiles and steaming up the hot-dogs.

For instance, take President Will Harridge of the American League. Mr. Harridge does a lot of pre-season fussing you'd never suspect. At the moment his headache is locks. He just sent out a mess of locks to his umpires to use on the leather pouches which contain baseballs used for each game. He sent keys, too.

The keys fit, but the locks didn't. Seems they were too fat for the iron loops which close the bags. So, he's got to recall all the locks and get some that fit before the season opens. The old locks fit all right, but were getting old.

This is important, because the umpire now-a-days serves as a high priest in the matter of working baseballs. The balls, sealed in their own boxes, are provided by the club to the umpire who tucks them in a leather pouch. He crams four dozen into the sack and then opens the sealed boxes with his own trusted hands and puts them into play as the need arises. About three dozen are used per game, according to Harridge, and the left-overs are locked up in the bag again and stashed away overnight in the club office.

This daily ritual didn't just happen. There was a time, way back, when some wily officials would either put the balls on ice or in a very hot place overnight, depending on the following day's strategical plans. They say an ice ball is sluggish and a heated one is mighty lively.

Herman Keiser's Tune-Up Rounds Are Impressive

Virginia Beach, Va., April 16—(AP)—Soft-spoken Herman Keiser looked like the man to beat today as 15 of the Nation's top-ranking professional golfers teed off in the $10,000 Cavalier specialists' tournament.

The Akron, Ohio, Stylist was red hot in a couple of tuneup rounds over the par 69 Cavalier Country Club 6,065-yard layout. After shooting a 64 Wednesday, the balding Keiser came back yesterday to establish a new course record with a seven-under par 62.

There was one fellow around today though, who wasn't so sure that Keiser was going to win this one. He was Herman Keiser himself.

"That was one of the three best rounds I've ever shot in my life," said Keiser, whose 62 sliced one stroke from the course record set in 1946 by Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va.

"But I think that the favorite for this 54-hole medal event is Chandler Harper. Harper knows this course like a book—and he's been playing brilliantly."

Keiser and Harper played golf together when Keiser was stationed at the nearby Norfolk Naval Training Station during the war. They teamed in 1942 to win the Miami four-ball classic, and they were partners in the same event in 1946.

Whoever manages to come out ahead in today's 18-hole medal round will remain there for a day at least. For Saturday, 10 of the golfers—plus non-playing captains Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen—will engage in a two-ball "specialists team" battle for which the tournament got its name. Sunday, they wind up the three-day stay with 36 holes of medal competition.

DONNELLY CONNECTING

Danville, Va., April 16—(AP)—First Baseman Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators would like to see Blix Donnelly traded to an American League team. Vernon blasted two home runs off the Philadelphia Phils' hurler three days ago and then hit another one off him yesterday.

Five Sluggers In Tar Heel Lineup Saturday

Coaches Walter Rabb and Bun Hearn at the University of North Carolina will call on all available talent when the Tar Heels meet Greenville of the Coastal Plain League at Greenville Saturday night at 7:45. The Tar Heels will depend heavily on the batting performances of these five outfielders: left to right, Kenny Black, Ott Evans, Jim Kelley, Harry Beason and Frank Jones. Black has a batting average of .355 in his first 30 trips to the plate.

Possible Preview Of World Series Under Way Today

Boston, April 16—(AP)—A series that many fans—and some experts also—think will be a preview of next fall's World Series will begin today at Braves Field when the Boston National League team entertain the rival American League Red Sox.

The teams have met twice in their Florida training camps, the Braves winning 4-1 at Bradenton and the Sox 3-1 at Sarasota.

The "home" team, with several new men in uniform, will be the strongest and best balanced group of warriors since 1914 when a world championship last was won by a Boston National League club.

The "visiting" Sox will make their first Boston appearance under new manager Joe McCarthy who, like tribal pilot Billy Southworth, has a terrific will to win.

City series also open in New York and Chicago today.

The inter league rivalries will be in full swing by tomorrow when the two St. Louis clubs and the Philadelphia teams begin their sets.

In New York it's a review of the 1947 World Series with the Yankees entertaining the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first of three games.

Frank Shea and Allie Reynolds will work for the Bronx Bombers while Lefty Joe Hatten and Rex Barney toll for Brooklyn. The contest was scheduled originally for the Dodgers' Ebbets Field, but a rescheduling job there is still incomplete.

In Chicago it's the North Side vs. the South Side with the Cubs playing host to the White Sox for the first of three. Hank Borowy will start for the National leaguers against Joe Haynes.

The two clubs played seven games during spring training on the west coast with the Cubs gaining a 4-3 advantage.

Cockroaches, originally confined to the tropics, spread with the increase of commerce.

The exhibition game scheduled last night between the Evansville Braves of the Three-I Class B League and Bill Phebus and his Greenville Greenies was called off due to wet grounds. Needless to say many hundreds of fans were disappointed at not being able to see the Greenies in action against a much higher club, but this opportunity will come again on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. when another game is scheduled between the two clubs.

Herman Blackman, assistant sports editor of the News and Observer, and an Observer photographer were out at the park yesterday morning snapping pictures and gathering news items for their special edition on the Coastal Plain League which will appear next Wednesday, April 21st.

A conversation with the members of the Greenville club as they gather on the streets will convince any fan that the club which President Doty and Manager Bill Phebus has brought to represent Greenville this year is really baseball minded and that the boys are here to play ball and nothing else. With such enthusiasm displayed among the members of the team and with the proper support of the fans, you may rest assured that Greenville will be in the upper bracket when the season draws to a close this year. And speaking of the Greenville club, it is perhaps the youngest club in the league as there is not a member of the club over 28 years of age.

A full afternoon and night of baseball is in the offing for fans here Saturday as Coach Jim Johnson's Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College play the Western Carolina Teachers College in a North State Conference tilt which will get underway at 2:30 p. m. Then on Saturday night at 7:45 p. m. the Greenville Greenies will play the University of North Carolina Tar Heels in an exhibition game at Guy Smith stadium at 7:45 in the evening.

Baseball fans attending the game here Saturday night will have their first opportunity to see the Greenville scoreboard in action. It is undoubtedly one of the most unique scoreboards seen in this section and as a matter of fact is the only one of its type in operation among the forty-four leagues throughout North Carolina.

The Wilson Tobs are scanning the baseball scene to find a replacement for hard-hitting Johnny Wolfe, who broke his leg last week in a practice tilt. Wolfe, a consistent hitter and fine fielder, was one of the mainstays of Maxie Wilson's machine, and was counted on heavily. He will be a hard one to replace. The Tobs are hoping for a speedy recovery of Chuck Ehman, their starting catcher. Ehman has been out for the past week with a sprained ankle.

The Rocky Mount Leafs are looking around for pitchers to go along with Horace P. "Red" Benton this year. Red, who has transferred his services from Raleigh to the Leafs, is working out daily with the Wilson High School team as he coaches them.

Pitching for the Bugs this year may or may not be the best in the league. The pre-season staff right now includes one veteran, five class men and two rookies, with seven of the nine known to be capable of finishing a game. Among the pitchers working out with the Bugs at the present time are John Donkin, their only lefthander in the bunch, Tony Polling, Terry Pollock, Manager Herring, the only class man, Jack Haderlein, rookie, Sykes Faircloth, Monk Whiteheart, and Warren Gill, rookie utility man, who can also take a turn on the pitching mound.

Uriah (Swamp) Norwood, who has seen action with several Coastal Plain League Clubs including Greenville, New Bern and Kinston, has been named coach of the Mecklenburg county American League team. Already he is athletic coach at Berryhill.

With the arrival of Bill Jeffries to the Tarboro Tars mound staff, the Tars are fast reaching the stage where they will be able to serve notice on the other league clubs when any kind of opposition comes up. Reports from the Edgecombe City is that the Tars are fast shaping into a team that will stack up against the club that made the playoffs last year. Ed Neville, star pitcher of the Tars last season, paid a visit to the Tar's camp yesterday. Eddie is slated to pitch with Charlie Allen's Durham Bulls this season, but Tarboro fans are hoping that their parent club will return him to the Tars, for this coming season.

Erwin Supports $2400 Minimum Teachers' Pay

Asheville, April 16—(AP)—A minimum-teacher salary of $2,400 a year had the support today of Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, North Carolina superintendent of public instruction. Erwin urged the $2,400 minimum in an address before superintendents at the North Carolina Education Association opened its annual meeting here yesterday.

He also recommended:

1. Immediate reduction of teacher loads from 34 to 30 students per teacher.
2. Appropriation of $25,000,000 to help cities and counties build new school plants.
3. Payment of teacher salaries over a 10-month period.
4. A longer term of office for superintendents of city and county schools.

Other speakers yesterday included Dr. E. B. Norton, Deputy U. S. Commissioner of Education, who said North Carolina's main educational problem "is to attract young people into the teaching profession, train them adequately, pay them salaries that will keep them there, and provide them with reasonable tenure and security."

Some 2,000 delegates were expected to be on hand as the convention continued today.

Candidates For Governor Offer Stands On Issues

Raleigh, April 16—(AP)—Democratic candidates for governor today had taken their stands on a variety of issues.

Here is how they stood:

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson said that he was definitely opposed to tax increases and suggested a program which he said would "increase state revenue without increasing taxes."

Oscar Barker urged that the state embark immediately on a 20-year road building program.

Kerr Scott plumped for removal of the states tax from meals served in restaurants.

Mayne Albright, reiterating his stand on education, advanced a minimum wage of $2,400 a year for a certificate teachers and said he had again urged Governor Cherry to call a special session of the Legislature to act on teacher pay increases.

W. F. Stanley announced his stand on the liquor issue. Stanley said he favored open bars because that would reduce drunkenness.

Johnson, in a speech at Salisbury yesterday, said that state revenues could be increased by the creation "within the borders of the state, new taxable value."

"This can be done," he said, "by attracting to the state new industries, expansion of our present industries, and further development of the tourist trade."

Barker, in calling for a long-term road building program in a speech at Rutherfordton, said "We cannot start such a program until we have purged the highway system of petty politics."

Nothing short of an emergency, he said, should bring about diversion of highway funds, but the state should build and maintain highways through cities and towns.

Scott, speaking at Newton, said "It is an injustice to hundreds of thousands of North Carolinians to have to pay a three per cent tax on meals they eat in restaurants while others who are fortunate enough to be able to eat at home may enjoy the same food without paying a sales tax on it."

Removal of the tax on restaurant meals, he estimated, would cost the state about $3,000,000 in revenue.

Meet For Study Of Farm Program

Raleigh, N. C., April 15—(AP)—Some 30 agricultural leaders gathered in Governor Cherry's office today and began study of a farm program for the State.

The group received a report from Dr. J. H. Hilton, dean of the N. C. State College school of agriculture, on "an agricultural program for North Carolina."

The population of Texas increased 287 percent between 1890 and 1940.

FACULTY MEMBERS TO ATTEND MUSIC CONVENTION

Dr. Rudolph B. Wulmann, director of the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College, and Dan E. Vornholt and Dr. Karl V. Gilbert of the faculty will attend the biennial convention of the National Conference of Music Educators to be held in Detroit, Michigan, next week. The conference will be attended by approximately 10,000 teachers of music from all parts of the nation. The faculty members from this college here will go to Detroit from Asheville, N. C., where they attended the North Carolina Education Association convention this week.

20-Year Delay In Obtaining Power

Red House, N.Y., April 16—(AP)—William Bomberry's home on the Allegany Indian Reservation was wired in 1928.

Bomberry got his first electricity the other day.

One reason for the 20-year delay was difficulty in getting permission for a power line to cross railroad tracks.

Cocaine was the first spinal anesthetic used.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Negro Farmers In Martin Progressive

College Station, Raleigh, April 16. Negro farmers of Martin County are turning to hog production as a practical means of making up income lost through tobacco acreage reduction, reports R. M. Edwards, Negro county agent for the State College Extension Service.

Two farmers, Manion Council of Hassell and Joe N. Chance of Robersonville, Route 2, recently purchased registered gilts from the Moye Duroc Farm at Farmville. Council's gilt cost $85 and Chance's, $175. Both will farrow during the spring. Chance's gilt was sired by the junior champion boar at the 1946 State Fair and was bred to the Indiana State champion boar.

After losing ten pigs in February by not having a good farrowing house, Chance recently constructed two modern farrowing houses. He says $175 is too much money to put in a sow and then not prepare for her and the pigs.

The two houses were built from lumber which was wasting. The only cost was for a roof, a few nails, and one day's work.

Two days after the house was completed, one sow farrowed 12 pigs, 11 of which were saved. This was the first time the sow had saved more than nine. The two extra pigs, Chance says, will more than pay for the cost of the two houses.

HAUNTED HOLIDAY

By Cameron Dockery

Chapter 16
"Came the dawn," said Johanson.
"Came the dawn but twelve hours late."

"I suppose by that you mean that last night's fire and the knocking out of Warner were simply to cover up the removal of Hugh?" Vince said.

"Exactly. You saw that kerosene-soaked shirt, didn't you? Well the fire was to get everyone away from this damnable house."

"Do you think Sophie started the fire herself?"

"I'm beginning to think she may be capable of anything but this time I believe she must have had a helper." He swore picturesquely in Norwegian. "Well, she's going to do a little explaining when she gets back."

They inspected Hugh's room, the bathroom and Sophie's room but found nothing to add to their first discovery. Yet Vince couldn't ignore a strong feeling that the key to Mannley's murder lurked in this wing of Kalamit.

"Look," he said, "Is it O.K. if I stay here and snoop a little more?"

Johanson eyed him suspiciously.

"Why?"

"Call it a hunch—I think there's something here we've missed."

"You're not going psychic on me, are you Bonny?"

Vince grinned. "Maybe just neurotic, malaria does that sometimes."

"O.K.," Johanson agreed reluctantly, "but this time if you make any discoveries don't wait for a kidnapping to tell me about it. I'll be in the game room,—there were three men on duty here last night.
One of them must have seen something." He strode angrily toward the stairs.

Vince stood in Sophie's room and looked about him. Rain-soaked pine branches slapped the leaded panes violently as the wind swept in from the Canal. To the accompaniment of their fretful swishing he examined every article in the room minutely, but it wasn't until he shook out the airy folds of the maroon satin bed puff that he made his discovery.

It fell at his feet, a leather portfolio, with Sophie Mannley written in fine spidery writing on the title page. It was not kept in diary form but each entry was dated. He read it through then sat for long minutes as sentences from the last entry, dated two nights before, returned to him.

"People speak of the dead past but the past is never dead," it began.
"Tonight Duke mentioned a name and for me the past was resurrected in all its vivid detail. That name was Eric Branson!"

"It was thirty-seven years ago that I met Eric . . . second mate of a vessel taking on cane for the China trade and he was to be in Honolulu only two weeks. We made those two weeks cover the pleasure of two months and at the end of them Eric asked me to marry him.
I was to give him my answer the night before sailing."

"Simeon of course was furious.
I tried to make him see Eric's true worth but he wouldn't listen and I was too madly in love to care what he thought. Eric and our future was my one thought . . .

"I waited for Eric that last night but he never came. Instead it was Luki, then a small boy of eight, who brought me a note. I can see it now—Dear Sophie: I have come to the conclusion that with such a difference in our backgrounds we could never find true happiness together. I sail at dawn and hope the thought of the past two weeks will always be a pleasant memory to you as it will to me.—Eric Branson."

"I couldn't believe it. It meant the end of everything for me. I could never love another man as I had Eric and when Simeon told me that Eric's ship had been lost in a typhoon, I knew I would never marry. And then tonight the past rose up and I knew what had happened thirty-seven years ago!

"Simeon had written one note and signed it Eric, why couldn't he have written two, the other signature Sophie?"

"Oh Heaven, that such selfishness could exist!"

Now I see Simeon for what he is—a cold-blooded sensual nepotist, a man who has gone through life gratifying himself yet denying Hugh and me the right to live as normal human beings. Such people must atone for their sins. They must not be allowed to go on wrecking other's lives. Simeon must pay. I don't know what I shall do but as God is my witness I will find a way . . .

Vince made his way to the game room unwillingly. Johanson was seated before the fire, his boot soles extended toward the flames. At the sight of the naval officer's face he sat up abruptly. "You found something?"

Vince handed him the portfolio.
"Read and ponder," he advised.

The investigator's lips moved soundlessly as he covered the pages and when he finished he knocked his pipe against his boot sole almost viciously. "So Sophie Mannley is our murderer . . . or is she?"

"I wonder. I found this tucked in the comforter on her bed."

"She certainly had a motive. What a skunk that Mannley must have been!"

"There's only one catch," Vince pointed out. "Sophie is no fool. If she had done it, would she have left such an incriminating thing around? She knew we might search her room—it simply isn't logical."

"Not unless her mind's gone. This must have been a nasty shock.—
Thinking Branson dead all this time then discovering that he's led a successful and happy life that she could have shared except for Mann-ley's interference."

"Then Sophie isn't our murderer," Vince felt strangely relieved.

"No, but there's plenty she can tell us," Johanson followed for Warner and when the deputy appeared said, "When Miss Mannley returns
I want her brought in here."

Warner's bulbous eyes expanded.
"She's already back, boss."

"Well why didn't you report to me! When did they get back from town?"

"About fifteen minutes ago."

"Well go up and ask Miss Sophie Mannley to please come down here and tell Bates when he—Good Lord!
What's that?"

The sound that caused Johanson to break into a stream of Norse invective was a thin high-pitched oriental wail. It came from the terrace and was repeated again and again.

Humber Declares World Awaiting U. S. Leadership

Chapel Hill, April 16—Robert Lee Humber, Greenville attorney and author of a widely known plan for a world federation of nations, said in an address here Wednesday night that he believes more than 50 nations would join a world order now it is being led by the United States.

Humber spoke in Gerrard Hall under the auspices of the University student chapter of the Young Democrats Club. He was introduced by Henry Brandis, University law professor.

Humber's plan calls for a world federation within which each country would retain its domestic sovereignty, delegating to the world government only such powers as are needed to maintain law and order among nations.

"In the United States," he said, "it is just a matter of stirring up public opinion, pointing out that many state legislatures have already endorsed his plan."

As for Russia, Humber said: "Only Russia can speak for Russia; I will not attempt to."

He said the force of nationalism, which has ruled the world for 160 years since the decline of feudalism, is now revealing its incapacity to govern human society. To replace the force of nationalism, he called for a world federation "to stand for a world order based on world justice-law."

"Do on a world level what we have done on a national level, a state level," he said. He stated that "until we get an effective world federation, there will be no real world order—just suspended wars."

"Remember," he said, "we are behind the United Nations as a first step."

Humber's "federation" means an organization within which each country would retain its domestic sovereignty, delegating to the world government only such powers as are needed to maintain law and order among nations.

"If we get rid of this fighting war," Humber said, "we can get down to the real war—war against ignorance, poverty, and disease. Time is running out, and it is shorter than we think."

Britain's Great Olympic 'Hope' Is Injury Victim

London, April 16—(AP)—E. McDonald Bailey, 26-year-old Trinidad-born sprinter and Britain's No. 1 hope for an Olympic title, may watch the 1948 summer games from the sidelines because of a leg injury.

The tall, "Midnight Monsoon" from Port of Spain, labeled Europe's fastest human by British sports writers, has been advised to undergo an operation to check hardening of a thigh muscle strained last summer. The operation would end his activities for the season and frustrate Bailey's dream of an Olympic championship.

Damage Fears In Flood Area Fade

Cincinnati, April 16—(AP)—Hundreds of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana residents scrambled to higher ground today as the crest of the flooded Ohio River rolled past West Virginia on its way to the Mississippi. Damage fears faded. Drier weather—drizzles in place of downpours and sunny skies instead of showers—apparently had robbed the swollen stream of the record depth and destruction feared by rivermen.

No more than nominal damage was recorded at cities already behind the peak of the flood.

Downstream, where the muddy flood waters crept into lowlands, the bustle of evacuation hit peaks. More than 1,000 persons in the Louisville, Ky., area, including New Albany and Jeffersonville, Ind., across the river, sought temporary quarters. City crews worked throughout the night in Louisville.

About 100 Indiana families living on the north bank of the river are in temporary shelters.

Macbeth's Derby Stock Rises On Camden Showing

Camden, N.J., April 16—(AP)—The Kentucky Derby stock of J. M. Roebing's Macbeth has taken a decided boost but whether he goes in the run for the roses at Churchill Downs May 1 likely will depend on his showing in a longer race.

The chestnut colt came from far off the pace in the home stretch to win the six furlongs of the Camden Handicap at Garden State Park's opening yesterday.

The margin of victory over the seven-year-old King Dorsett was only the slimmest of noses but the manner in which Macbeth achieved the triumph impressed the crowd of 17,348. He had only one horse beaten coming out of the backstretch but under Jimmy Stout's fine ride got up in time to take down the purse of $12,675.

Arrest Several In Police Revolt

Athens, April 15—(AP)—The Greek Ministry of Public Order announced today the persons responsible for the revolt of National Police in Sparta have been arrested.

The rebellion, staged by a mechanized company of the Gendarmerie Tuesday night, resulted in the death of 25 jailed Communists and Maj. Dimitrios Fitilios, Commander of the Sparta Gendarmerie.

4-H COUNCIL

The County Council for 4-H boys and girls met Saturday morning April 10 at 10 o'clock on the Agricultural Building with an attendance of 32. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss highlights of this year's program.

The meeting was called to order by the 4-H president Marjorie Gay. Opening song was "My Country 'Tis of Thee" followed by the Lord's Prayer and 4-H Club Pledge.

The officers of the club went through the business of the program beautifully. This part of the program was brought to a close with the singing of "Give Me That Old 4-H Spirit."

Joseph Patrick from Winterville 4-H Club told the council and visiting friends just what Pitt County 4-H boys are doing in 1948. Number of different projects being carried by 4-H boys for 1948 were: garden, 125; cotton, 5; corn, 200; beans, 10; pigs, 140; sweet potatoes, 40; Irish potatoes, 10; poultry, 50; tobacco, 8; wildlife, 12; tree study, 8; dairy cows, 6; dairy calves, 8; and forestry, 2. Total of 620 4-H Club projects by 4-H Club boys. Adding to this Mr. DuPre, our Farm Agent, told the group about the hybrid seed corn contest that's being sponsored through the State of North Carolina. There is a sum of $1000 to be given to the person who can grow 200 bushels of corn per acre. It is hoped that through this contest there will be an increase of corn yielding through improved practice.

Pitt County boys as usual are out for this with enthusiasm. Some of the boys taking part in the contest are Clifton Grimes, Weldon Dixon and Joseph Patrick from Winterville 4-H Club and Elmer Lee Leary from Calico club.

Corline Barfield from Farmville 4-H Club told the group what Pitt County 4-H girls are doing. Some of the things included 430 girls carrying projects in clothing, gardening, room improvement, food preservation, food preparation, poultry and home management. Around 40 girls plan to enter the Dress Revue and 10 schools plan to enter the team demonstration contest this year.

Mrs. Capehart, our Home Agent, discussed with the girls plans for the 4-H Dress Revue and team demonstration to take place May 1. Also she encouraged the girls to submit suggestions for 4-H Achievement Day.

Following this part of the program we had recognition of visitors. For closing Miss Hunter, the assistant Home Agent, had supervised recreation followed with 4-H Fire-light Song.

Will Hospitalize Hysterical Nurse

Asheville, N. C., April 16—(AP)—A nurse who said she "could have" set the Highland hospital fire here March 10 will be hospitalized.

Dr. J. Wesley Taylor, Greensboro Psychiatrist, reported to court authorities that the nurse, Willie Mae Hall, was not insane, he added that he doubted that she had anything to do with the fire that burned nine mental patients to death.

Last Monday night Miss Hall told Asheville police she "could have" set the fire, but that she didn't think she did. She was night supervisor at the hospital.

Dr. Taylor said he believed her statement resulted from hysteria induced by overwork, worry and "too much emphasis on dreams." He reported she told him of dreaming repeatedly that women who died in the fire appeared to her and blamed her for setting the blaze.

Superior Court Judge Hoyte Sink said Miss Hall would be committed to a hospital for further observation and rest.

"Nobody is prosecuting this woman, and nobody is defending her," Sink commented. "We're all working together trying to work out something that will be the best for all concerned."

Develop Vitamin For Treatments

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—A new and more powerful treatment is being developed for pernicious anemia—the blood disease that strikes 50,000 Americans annually.

The new compound, extracted from liver, is tentatively named Vitamin B-12. It is described as 8,000 to 10,000 times more powerful than materials previously used.

Reports published today in "Science" Journal said three patients so far have been given the new material. One received only three milligrams of a gram of the substance—scarcely enough to put on the head of a pin—but has shown steady improvement.

The Journal said it is still too early to appraise the final effects of the single injection given each patient. But all have improved.

The research was described in separate reports by a team of researchers of the Merck and Co. Laboratories, Rahway, N. J., and by Dr. Mary Shorb of the University of Maryland and Dr. Randolph West of Columbia University.

G. Tom Scott, state head of the production and marketing administration, said today that the meetings would be in preparation for a referendum April 27 at which potato growers in 41 eastern North Carolina counties will vote on the proposed marketing agreement.

First of the meetings was held at Tabor City last night.

This year is the 80th anniversary of Chemistry Science.

Asheville, N. C., April 16.—(AP)—Governatorial candidate R. Wayne Albright told a special assembly at Warren Wilson College here today that emergency aid from a special session of the general assembly and a long-range program of school building and teacher training are needed to "save our schools."

Albright, who is campaigning in western North Carolina, listed as immediate goals: a $2,400 minimum for a certificate teachers with yearly increases and higher maximum salaries; State aid in school building programs; teacher supervision; reduction of teacher load to a maximum of 30 students; and enforcement of compulsory school attendance laws.

The post voted to donate $10.00 to the local cancer fund.

Begin Consider Railroad Pleas For New Fares

Raleigh, N. C., April 16.—(AP)—The State Utilities Commission today began consideration of a plea by railroads for increased passenger fares. A decision is not expected for several days.

The commission heard yesterday an application from the carriers that their interstate fares be boosted from 1.65 cents to the interstate level of 2.5 cents per mile.

Representatives of the Southern Seaboard, Atlantic Coast Line and Norfolk and Western railroads told the commission that the present rate is inadequate.

On cross-examination by Attorney General Harry McMullan they said they doubted if the increased rates would reduce the number of passengers because "this is an era of easy money."

Students Gather In 'Legislature'

Raleigh, N. C., April 16.—(AP)—Students from 21 North Carolina colleges gathered here today for annual student legislature. The delegates included representatives from six Negro colleges.

On the agenda of the student legislature are proposals from the University of North Carolina delegation favoring Universal Military training and a revival of the draft.

Police Recover Holdup Loot And Arrest Bandits

Pound, Va., April 16.—(AP)—State Police reported today the recovery of $42,794 taken yesterday in a noon-hour holdup of the Peoples Bank.

Three men were held in custody today on state warrants charging them with robbery of the bank.

State Police Lieut. Phillip Crews of Wytheville listed the trio as Homer Bates and Fred Blackburn of Wheelwright, Ky., and Charles Newman Mullins of Pound. They were captured near here after a fight.

Bates is in a Norton hospital and Mullins and Blackburn are being held in the Wise County jail.

The money was recovered by Virginia State Police and by the police department at Jenkins, Ky., where Blackburn was taken in custody.

Halt Traffic In Austrian Zones

Vienna, Austria, April 16.—British and American authorities said today the Russians have completely blocked off road traffic between Vienna and the U. S. and British air bases.

The Americans had been using an alternate road through the Soviet zone to their Tulln base, 14 miles inside the Soviet zone, since the Russians blocked the main road yesterday. But today the alternate route has been sealed off, too, American authorities said.

John G. Clark, district highway commissioner, guest speaker at the Junior Chamber of Commerce supper meeting last night, made an interesting talk about the highways and byways of the section; explained the progressive plans of the State Highway Commission; told of the convenience provided by the building of different highways, and emphasized the fact that the state is working uniformly on the project of improving farmer-to-market roads.

President B. B. Sugg, Jr., presided.

Lawmakers . . .

He is the chairman of a House committee set up to look into the background of the destructive Bogota uprising—particularly to learn whether this country's central intelligence agency (CIA) had warned Marshall there might be trouble in the Colombian capital.

Yesterday's hearing brought evidence of a number of such warnings. Afterwards the State Department volunteered that it had been fully aware of the situation itself and that Marshall had commented "silly" the American republics were not going to be intimidated by Communists or anybody else.

But the thing that stood out in sharpest focus was the double admonition in Congress that trouble may be ahead in this country.

Camporee

Hundreds of Boy Scouts were arriving here today for the annual camporee in a tented city adjacent to the Greenville airport and by nightfall it was expected that at least 1,500 Boy Scouts of the East Carolina Council would be here.

J. B. Kittrell, general chairman on arrangements, said everything was in readiness for the enterprising youngsters; every provision has been made for their safety and comfort and that a Red Cross station was being set up with the hospital, physicians, surgeons and dentists and nurses available.

The public is invited to visit the camporee and greet the Boy Scouts.

ter, head of the CIA, told Brown's committee that "conditions in Colombia are similar to those in the United States except that they are advanced a couple of years."

Hillenkoetter said Jorge Gaitan, the Colombia liberal leader whose assassination touched off the revolution, was a figure "like Henry Wallace in our country"—a man who played along "with the extreme left and the Communists."

Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.), an observer for Congress who flew back from the Bogota conference to report to his colleagues, declared: "The uprising in Bogota was not something that just happened. It represents additional stitches in the cloth of violence."

"It can and will happen in New York, Chicago and San Francisco unless the march of Communism is halted."

N.Y. Cotton

New York, April 16.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 70 cents to $1.35 a bale higher.

Noon prices were 40 cents to $1.10 a bale higher than the previous close. May 37.58, July 37.00, and Oct. 33.58.

Cotton futures declined sharply today following the economic cooperation administration's statement that early buying for foreign needs will be confined largely to foodstuffs. This caused a wave of liquidation and prices sold about $3 below the high levels reached in early dealings. Cotton traders had expected a heavy movement of cotton within the current crop season.

News that Great Britain will cut imports to the western hemisphere was also disturbing to traders.

Private Atlanta advices said that crop preparations made good progress in that territory during the past week, with some cotton up to good stands in south Georgia.

Futures closed 80 cents to $2.40 a bale lower than the previous close.
