

Jews Rejoice At U. S. Recognition Of Young Nation

Zionists Predict Others Will Follow Suit; British Withhold Comment

By the Associated Press
Creation of the new Hebrew state of Israel and its quick recognition by the United States brought joy today to the Jews and confusion to the Arabs.

There was dancing in the streets of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv. In the United Nations the Arabs were so angry they could hardly speak. Some shouted they had been duped and one cried that the whole United Nations special assembly was a fake.

President Truman's announcement of American recognition brought consternation to the U. N. Assembly, which after five weeks of debate has failed to do anything about the Palestine crisis as a whole.

Guatemala quickly followed America's suit. Zionist officials predicted that other nations, including Russia, would fall into line.

In London, the British Foreign Office withheld comment last night on U. S. recognition.

The British spokesman said the "de facto" recognition accorded by the United States government is certainly very far from de jure recognition, which calls for an exchange of representatives and other diplomatic exchanges.

In Paris the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation issued an appeal to the Hebrews of Europe to direct themselves without delay toward Palestine which they must reach by all possible means.

In Venice, the Avvenire newspaper said 200 Jews left Italy for Palestine in the ship "Campodoglio" just as the British mandate ended.

In the United States, Zionist reaction to President Truman's move was loud and immediate. Dr. Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, chairman of the American section of the executive agency, shouted:

"This is what we've been praying for—miracles!"

The agency then released the text of a letter to President Truman from Dr. Chaim Weizmann, mentioned as candidate for the presidency of Israel, thanking him for his "very great contribution" to a just settlement in Palestine.

Severely Burned In Well Explosion

Goldboro, May 15—(AP)—Coom Bass, 50, was recovered today from severe burns suffered in a mystery blast while digging a well 10 miles west of Goldboro.

Bass told this story: He was almost overcome by fumes at the bottom of a 15-foot shaft where water had been struck. To get fresh air he came to the top. He started to light a cigarette and there was a blinding flash and flames enveloped his head and shoulders.

Defy Authority To Ban Election

Berlin, May 15—(AP)—The Russian-backed German Communist today defied the authority of the western occupying powers to prohibit a Communist-sponsored people's referendum on Germany's unification.

The Communist press challenged a ban against the referendum ordered by the French commandant for his sector of Berlin and appealed to Germans living there to "choose between freedom and suppression."

Congressional Talks

Congressmen Get Plenty Of Help In Preparing Brilliant Speeches; Library Of Congress And Staffs Of Experts Assist In Getting Material; How It Works

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, May 15—(AP)—Congressman Jones gets up and says "Ladies and gentlemen, on this historic occasion..."

Terrific speech. Full of dates, names and things that happened 100 years ago. How does he remember all that or have time to look it up?

Or—

Congressman Smith gets up in the House. No prepared speech. Just notes in his hand. He talks off the cuff.

Terrific talk. Full of facts and figures. Must know the subject inside out.

Maybe.

But maybe someone wrote the speech for Jones. And maybe someone looked up the facts and figures which Smith read off his notes.

This doesn't mean that there are no congressmen who write their own speeches or look up their own facts.

But a lot of them get help, even to having their speeches written for them and their facts handed to them.

A lot of this kind of ammunition comes from a group of about 100 people inside the Library of Congress, right behind the Capitol.

Bond Election

By CHESTER WALSH
Upon request of Hudson H. Blount, chairman of the Greenville Utilities Commission, the Board of Aldermen, at a called meeting at the City Hall last night, authorized an election on the issuance of $1,500,000 in bonds for additions and improvements at the municipal water, light and electric plants.

The plan, as explained by Chairman Blount to the aldermen, is to sell $500,000 of the utilities bonds now to complete additions and improvements now under way at the plants.

Miners Rescued From Coal Shaft

Shamokin, Pa., May 15—(AP)—Grimy, bedraggled and sleepy, two exhausted miners were rescued early today from a flooded coal pit.

They were trapped Wednesday afternoon by water rushing in from a nearby abandoned mine.

Edward Heck, 42, and Peter Gorton, 35, both of Shamokin, were taken to Shamokin State Hospital for their first food in more than 60 hours, then bathed and put to bed. Both were physically unharmed.

They said they believed their companion, Charles Bashore, 42, was trapped in the lowest part of the mine by the rushing waters and had no chance to escape.

But rescue workers continued the long task of bailing out the water-logged mine in the flickering hope Bashore might still be alive.

"Miracles sometimes happen in mines," said one weary worker.

Heck, Gorton and Bashore had gone to work Wednesday morning in the Smapp Independent pit which they had carried into the side of a 600-foot mountain. At noon Wednesday, Heck and Gorton told reporters, they ate their lunches and drank most of the water they had carried with them.

They were 175 feet underground late in the afternoon when an explosion charge, set off to loosen coal for mining, blasted a passage way into a nearby abandoned working. Water in the abandoned pit came flooding into their operation, trapping them at a high point on a heading off the main shaft.

San Francisco, May 15—(AP)—Three Coast Guard Cutters, a flying boat and two B-17 rescue planes raced to a point off the northern California coast today where an early morning SOS called for help for a vessel "sinking rapidly" after hitting a mine.

The identity of the vessel was uncertain. The coast guard said the radio call letters were those of the William E. Channing, a liberty ship.

But the Channing was retired to the maritime commission's reserve fleet at Astoria, Ore., last Tuesday, and Capt. E. E. Thorne, in charge of the "Moth Baller" said today she was "in her berth."

The SOS was received by the Coast Guard, navy and Federal Communications commission stations along the coast. It was weak and garbled, the Coast Guard said, and there was a possibility of an error in the call letter.

Power Shut-Off Still In Effect

Seoul, May 15—(AP)—Annoyed but not seriously inconvenienced, South Koreans spent their second night without North Korean power which was shut off yesterday in the Russian zone.

Auxiliary and regular generators kept things moving in South Korea. Some industrial power loads were shifted from day to night to meet the emergency.

Robbery Of Safe Payroll Stolen In

Shelby, May 15—(AP)—Thieves blasted open the safe at one of Shelby's largest business concerns last night and escaped with more than $4,000.

Entrance into the Lutz-Yelton Oil Company's modern building was made by forcing a window. The police department reported that dynamite apparently was used to blow open the safe. They believe crooks were used to open the window.

The money stolen included the weekly payroll for the concern's approximately 30 employees.

Harry S. Truman Starts Campaign

Sets Stage For Fighting Political Campaign By Branding Republicans 'Obstructionists' Before Young Demos

Washington, May 15—(AP)—President Truman set the stage today for a fighting political campaign with a confident prediction of victory over Republican "obstructionists."

"I want to say to you at this time that during the next four years there will be a Democrat in the White House, and you are looking at him," he told a cheering audience of young Democrats last night.

But at the same time he said he hopes Foreign policy will be kept out of the 1948 Presidential contest.

The setting for his first avowed political speech since the March announcement of his willingness to run for a four year term was the $25-a-plate dinner of the Young Democrats of America. Held in the big ballroom of the Mayflower hotel, the affair was attended by a large crowd—including Cabinet officers and other party leaders.

Mr. Truman spoke from notes, but without a prepared manuscript. This is the procedure he is expected to follow in platform appearances on his pre-convention swing to the west coast in June.

The President was emphatic in his assertion that the bi-partisan Foreign policy should not be dragged into the political campaign.

"That's not a political issue and I pray God that it never will become a political issue. 'Political' issues ought to end at the water's edge," And he added:

"Free nations shall remain free nations of the world and that is the foreign policy of the United States."

In predicting his own victory, Mr. Truman scoffed at "a lot of calamity howlers that go around over the country and tell us a lot of things that aren't so."

He said the Republicans "have been obstructionists" for the last 15-2 years.

He said they "threw bricks and mud" at Franklin D. Roosevelt—"the greatest President that ever sat in the White House."

"They were against Social Security," Mr. Truman continued. "They were against the TVA. They were against wage and hour. They were against the farm program."

He said he wondered "how this Republican party is going to talk to the country on rent control and on housing and on prices."

Republicans in Congress took the appropriation away from the bureau of labor statistics, he said, because "they got tired of seeing the facts as to what the prices are doing to the country."

Surly Mob Boos Nat'l Guardsmen

Bayonets Restrain Crowd As Workers Enter Meat Plant

South St. Paul, Minn., May 15—(AP)—National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets held back a surly crowd of about 500 persons here today as automobiles containing workers followed by more than a score of military vehicles carrying soldiers moved into the strike-bound Swift & Company packing plant.

Guardsmen broke up one scuffle quickly when a man in the crowd attempted to seize a soldier's rifle. Persons in the crowd shouted boos, curses and catcalls. Some sang the national anthem mockingly. A small detachment of guardsmen on duty when the first automobiles of workers started moving into the plant were quickly reinforced.

More than 25 automobiles loaded with workers moved into the plant in quick succession. The crowd lining the edge of Grand Avenue near the Swift plant entrance shouted threats and surged forward as the workers drove by.

Guardsmen, their bayonets at point, drove the crowd back.

Within a few minutes, a large convoy of National Guard trucks loaded with troops moved into the plant.

The crowd roared opposition and many gave simulated Nazi salutes as the trucks rolled by.

Vessels, Planes Rush To Answer Ship In Distress

Nine Men Will Stand Trial For Gandhi Murder

New Delhi, May 15—(AP)—The Indian government announced today the names of nine men who must stand trial for their lives on charges that they conspired to engineer the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

The official gazette of India named N. V. Godse as the triggerman and said he and his eight co-defendants would be tried before Smalltown Judge Atma Charan, now a session judge at Cawnpore. Judge Charan will head a special court at Delhi's historic Red Fort.

Official sources said the trial likely will start "towards the end of next week." Gandhi was slain in New Delhi Jan. 30. The investigation since has been veiled by official secrecy.

Babson: Going Into Business

Babson Park, Mass., May 15—(AP)—Recently, many young men about to graduate from colleges and several veterans have asked, "Should I go into business for myself this June?"

Pioneering, an American Tradition

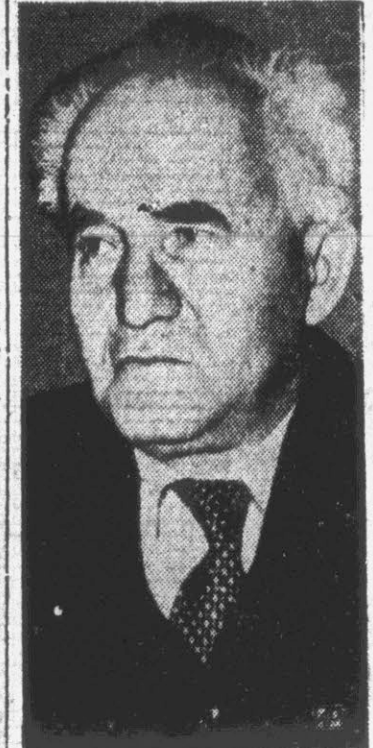

These boys, many of them veterans, are chips off the old block. From frontier days to the present, pioneering has been an American tradition. It renews our faith in American youth to know that they still want to hoe their own row, regardless of huge corporations and governmental restrictions.

Setting up shop for oneself is not the easiest way to earn a living. I can tell you from experience that it is much tougher today than it was in the fabulous days of the Edisons, Fords and Rockefellers. But the small businessman still symbolizes that which has made this country great, personal independence and freedom of action.

Times Have Changed

I can remember the days when a lad with $500 and the determination to succeed could, through sweat and toil, earn a fortune. But times have

Founder Of Boys Town Dies Today

Stricken By Heart Attack While On Tour Of Germany

Berlin, May 15—(AP)—Mrgt. J. Plana, known throughout the world as the father of boys town, died at an army hospital today after a heart attack. He had been inspecting facilities in Germany for the youths he loved so well—regardless of nationality.

The 61-year-old Nebraska Priest—famed for his credo "there is no such thing as a bad boy"—was stricken last night at Harnack House, an American military government residence for visiting officials.

Catholic army chaplain Emmitt L. Walsh administered last sacraments at the famed Priest's bedside when death came. Father Walsh said he "died peacefully and in prayer."

Father Plana, who has championed the cause of underprivileged boys for more than three decades, went to Vienna last March to study Austrian youth conditions.

Later he came to Germany at the invitation of the U. S. army. In 1947 he made a similar mission to Japan.

The Nebraska Priest founded a world renowned home for needy boys in 1917 on the outskirts of Omaha. Originally it was a little house which he rented by borrowing $90 in the Christmas season.

Boys Town has since grown into a busy community. Incorporated in 1936, it is now listed in the U. S. postal guide.

Father Plana gave sanctuary to boys accused of crimes ranging from petty thievery to murder.

Russians Grant Americans Visas To Enter Dairen

Shanghai, May 15—(AP)—Russia unexpectedly granted American consular personnel visas to enter Dairen late today.

The northeast China port was seized by the Russians at war's end and all but a few foreigners have been denied entry. Consular officials have been waiting here for months for visas.

The visas came on the eve of the departure of a special U. S. State Department chartered ship for Dairen. The ship was to try to land the consular personnel and bring out the vice consul and his family who are there. The consul general here cancelled the ship.

Consul Paul E. Paddock and Vice Consul Oliver Cleysten, who have been in Shanghai, may now enter Dairen through Vladivostok. Vice Consul Isaac Patch and his family have been stranded in Dairen awaiting home leave in the United States.

U. S. Studies Possible Ending Arms Embargo

Matter Of Exchanging Diplomats Also Under Consideration Following American Recognition Of Jewish State

Washington, May 15—(AP)—A White House source said today the government is studying the question of lifting the United States embargo on arms to Palestine.

The source, who refused to be quoted by name, said the matter of an exchange of diplomats with the newly-recognized Jewish state of Israel also is being studied.

The fact that the government is studying these two steps followed President Truman's announcement of U. S. recognition of the State of Israel yesterday. Mr. Truman's action came almost immediately after the Jews had proclaimed the birth of their nation in the Holy Land.

U. S. recognition was on a "de facto" basis—that is merely recognizing that such a state exists. This differs from "de jure" recognition which involves exchanges of diplomatic representatives with a legally constituted government.

An embargo on shipment of arms was placed in effect last December. It covered the entire Middle East.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, told reporters the President's action in recognizing the provisional government of Israel was "not a matter of snap judgment."

He said Mr. Truman had had the action in mind a good while. He added that it is "impossible to fix a time-table on the approaches to a decision."

Diplomatic officials previously had said possible lifting of the ban might be considered. However, they indicated main American efforts would be directed toward winning a truce in the Holy Land dispute between the Jews and Arabs.

Mr. Truman stressed this objective in a statement issued last night with his announcement granting "de facto" recognition to the provisional Jewish regime.

Charge Forgery In Protest Notes

Mundt Bill Backers Call For Investigation Of Letters

Washington, May 15—(AP)—A flood of written protests against an anti-Communist bill brought a charge of "wholesale forgery" today and a demand by the bill's backers for an investigation.

Members of the House Un-American Activities Committee told newsmen the protests started coming in early this week and reached a heavy volume as the House started debate yesterday on a bill to curb the Communist party and its affiliated organizations.

Acting Chairman McDowell (R-Pa.) said he will suggest asking the FBI to investigate what he called "an obvious Communist plot to use the device of forgery to intimidate members of Congress."

McDowell said many of the letters bear the "signatures" of prominent citizens and threaten political reprisals against congressmen who support the anti-Communist bill.

Another committee member, Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), said he may ask the Post office Department to make the investigation, "since this wholesale forgery plot has used mails."

CIO President Warns Of Steel Strike In Offing

Boston, May 15—(AP)—CIO President Philip Murray said today more than 50,000 steelworkers may be on strike before the end of the year.

Murray told a convention of the CIO United Steelworkers that between now and December contracts covering 107,000 steelworkers will expire with steel fabricating plants, and added:

"It is reasonable to assume that 50 percent of them will be fighting with their backs to the wall to preserve their union."

Murray said such workers might be faced with idleness because of "the strikes they might be forced into in the coming year."

The CIO president, who is head of the steelworkers, made this statement in appealing to the delegates to raise the union's monthly dues from $1.50 to $2 to prepare for "these crucial days."

Problem Of Palestine

Tragic War Poses Speculative Problems For Those Trying To Foresee Outcome; Possible Developments; Always Danger Of Starting Another World War

By DEWITT MACKENISIE
This tragic Arab-Jewish war, which has been allowed to develop through the failure of world statesmanship to carry out its stewardship, poses many speculative problems for those trying to foresee the outcome.

Barring success in the new mediation which the United Nations is undertaking, the conflict bids fair in the long run to produce a decision in the old feud between these two races. At its worst it could be fought to a bloody finish which would leave the defeated side knocked out and the victor in possession of the entire Holy Land.

However, while we must be prepared for the worst—and even for the terrors of a holy war—I don't think we need to regard this as inevitable, the way the signs now read. There are several other possibilities, among which are these:

1. The extent of the invasion of Palestine by the troops of neighboring Arab nations is by no means certain. The Arabs are not a wholly united race. There are many acute differences among the various nations, and some of the greatest clashes revolve about the reported ambitions of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan to extend his domain and power. This being so, there is always the possibility that the joint invasion might peter out, especially since the Jews have the biggest active army in the Middle East.

2. Some observers feel that there is a chance King Abdullah might set up a government in that part of Palestine not claimed by the Jews. Then would follow an uneasy truce, and ultimately the Arabs and Jews would get together and agree on a division of the Holy Land into two nations.

3. The invading Arabs might surround the new Israel and then settle down to a long drawn out guerrilla tactics which would be calculated to create an economic pressure to put the Jewish government out of commission. However, this scheme would seem to involve a lot of wiffling thinking, since it is premised on the far-fetched idea that the Jewish people of America and other countries would get tired of maintaining the Jewish state under such adverse circumstances.

Despite the fact that the Jews are surrounded by hostile Arab nations which theoretically could produce an overwhelming force of fighting men, the present prospects of the

To Be Wise Modernize With Care

Increasing supplies of building materials on the market are feeding nationwide activity in modernizing old homes.

Seven years of waiting, which began with priorities before the war and continued through the postwar period of critical shortages, are ending for families who have wanted to fix up their homes.

Work ranging from mere paint jobs to extensive rebuilding is getting under way. Rooms are being added to some homes, subtracted from others in the swing toward the "open plan." New bathrooms are being installed. Basements are being converted into livable space. Terraces, patios and porches are being created to merge the house with outdoor living.

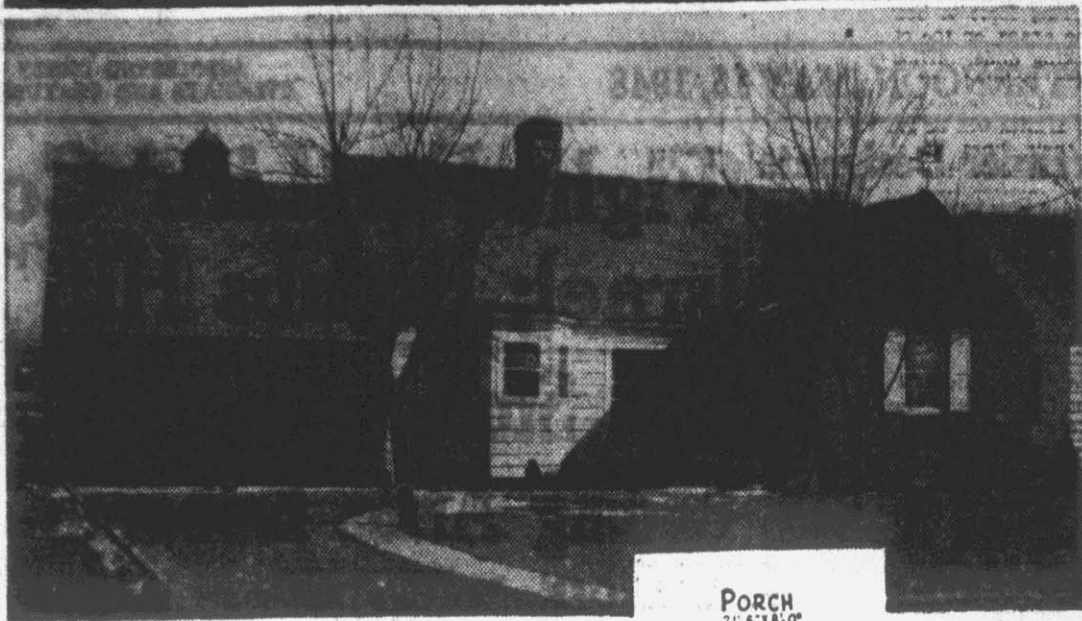

In some communities the volume of alteration work has been rivaling the amount of new building, still handicapped by high costs.

Old houses are discovered to have a charm about them that would be hard to duplicate in new construction. In cases where a home possesses the strong attachment of family recollections, it becomes well worth the cost of modernizing.

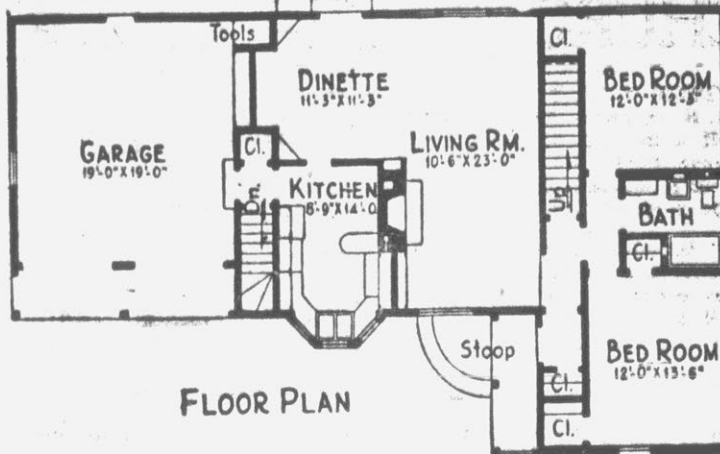

However, remodeling of some old homes can lead to ruin for the houses and sometimes for their owners, too. Whether an old house is worth the particular remodeling job you have in mind, whether the change will be appropriate to the house, and whether the results will justify the cost and financing, are some of the problems you have to work out.

Local banks and savings and loan associations often can offer good advice. They usually have accumulated extensive experience in this field and have encouraged proper modernization of properties on which they have held mortgages.

Before attempting a major alteration, it is a good idea to get the advice of an architect. Many structural problems, such as bearing partitions and carrying capacity of beams that have to be figured by an expert. Furthermore, changes in exterior design involved in adding windows or shifting porches can be tricky when it comes to balance and proportion.

You may feel that appearance is a matter of individual preference, and it is to a certain extent. But individuality carried to the extreme can destroy resale value, loan value and the security you need in a home.

A house should yield aesthetic satisfaction as well as physical comfort, so steer your modernization plans in the direction of maximum improvement.

Sound Plans Cut Cost In Building

High building costs can be curbed to a great extent by ingenious planning, foresight, and some compromise.

How this can be achieved is described in an article in the May issue of Good Housekeeping magazine which points out that, with present high costs, there is much to be said in favor of building a small house today rather than waiting years for a possible drop in costs.

"Your cue today is to use less cubage, but make it work harder," the article states in part. "Get a spacious effect with big windows, 'open plan' terraces that extend the indoors out-doors."

"If your dream house budget is limited, eliminate the basement, have a dining alcove instead of a dining room, a car port instead of a garage. Choose a low-pitched roof, and use the underside of it as a beamed ceiling."

"Select a new-type heating unit that can be tucked into a niche, under the stairs, or even in the attic. Build your house close to the ground or on a concrete slab, saving cubage steps, terraces."

BATHROOM RADIATOR

Paris hotels popularized a cozy idea for bathrooms in auxiliary radiators in walls behind towel racks. Even hardy souls who go in for cold showers in the morning appreciate a warm dry towel.

WHY GABLED ROOFS?

Ever wonder why so many roofs are pitched? Not to shed rain—flat roofs do that. Snow is the answer.

The steep roofs of the original Cape Cod houses were purely functional.

There will be no preaching in any of the churches in town tomorrow morning, as the ministers have all agreed to give the day to prohibition work in various parts of the county and they will speak morning and afternoon at the appointments made for them by the anti-saloon league committee.

The appendicitis had set that struck a Texas town and set the people running to be operated on and keep in fashion, led to the discovery that some folks do not have an appendix.

military observers as good. The Jewish army is said to total 50,000 or more of trained men who are fairly well equipped with materiel and small arms. It will take a powerful attacking force to beat them.

The Arabs, on the other hand, are attacking under difficulties. As this column pointed out earlier in the week, their problem of supplying their armies will be great. Not only are their lines of communication long, but they run through much desert country and other difficult terrain. So taking it all in all, the Jews have much justification for the optimism they are displaying.

America's prompt recognition of their new government should strengthen the Jews' position greatly.

There remains one other grave possibility. Should the Jewish-Arab warfare be bitter and protracted, there must always exist the danger that another world war might develop from it. The great powers have vast interests in the strategic Middle East, and are bound to defend them against aggression. A clash in those interests might strike fire.

Strength FOR THE DAY

ONLY ONE SOLUTION

When the modern world adopted as its slogan the words, "Man is the measure of all things," it got itself involved in considerable difficulty. Unless there are ultimate moral values in the universe, we have no real standards at all.

... added years ago there was a great deal of talk about the divine right of kings. People came to feel with the passing of time that such claims on the part of monarchs were wrong. But the divine right of the crowd is but little better. Now we are hearing of the right of a little communistic minority, which calls itself "the workers" to dominate the rest of society with lash and pistol. The measure of all things now is man's mounting desire for comfort and power. Let him get these things by despoiling the prudent, but let him get them.

The only corrective for such un-sound reasoning is a set of standards which grows out of religious faith. Economic necessity or political expediency will not do. We have to have something grounded in the universe, which means that we solve human problems apart from ...

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE PAIS

Washington—Overcrowded Washington has a new $2,000,000 apartment hotel—already filled, though it opened just the other day. It's the Congressional Hotel, Capitol Hill, started January 1, 1947.

Murals of J. Edgar Hoover, now in his 42nd year as a cartoonist for the "Washington Evening Star," highlight the new hotel's decorations. There is also a mural of a pore from the "Star," printed more than 50 years ago.

The Berryman cartoons were selected from more than 4,000 in the artist's collection. All selected deal with situations arising as a result of Senate filibusters over a period of many years. The piece from the "Star" is dated Dec. 12, 1893, and contains a report of a filibuster of that time.

The murals are in the Filibuster Room. Other public rooms are the Veto Room, the Caucus Room and the Committee Room.

Incidentally, hotel men report that business this year is heavier than it was during the push war years. During April and May, 36 conventions were scheduled. During the year, 225 conventions will attract visitors. The eight-story building, which "boomed" an all-time record of $1,250,000 last year, is doing right well this year too. Last year, when about 500,000 persons saw the Capital through bus windows, the business was 100 per cent better than in 1946.

Afghanistan's independence Day rolls around again May 27, and there will be a colorful reception at the Legion here, with treats in a fascinating native drink called "dough." It's made of sour milk, mint and rose water—and is without "spirits."

When he was 23 and father of two children Heimlicher developed a cough and the doctor told him he would die within a year. But now he has celebrated his 83rd birthday, and for years the only time he has seen his doctor has been when the latter has attended his birthday parties.

Mr. Heimlicher remembers padding barefoot after his father's cows across the common pasture ground near the Capitol. It's done then only a skeleton of construction.

N. C. Brooks Leads Agents In District

The Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company of Greensboro has notified Nathan C. Brooks of Greenville that he was the leading producer of new insurance in this district for the month and that he had sold enough insurance to qualify himself and Mrs. Brooks for the all-expense-paid trip to Atlantic City in June. The company has arranged to entertain the agents who produced outstanding business at the Traymore Hotel on the ocean front. The Greenville insurance man has previously led agents in this district in producing new business, it was stated.

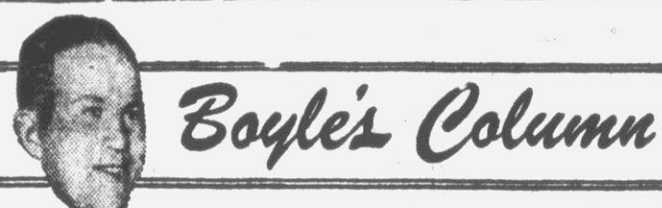

The Jefferson Standard's slogan now is "Eight Hundred Million in 1948." The company does business from coast to coast. Brooks has represented the company here many

REG-MANNING

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The United Nations is losing its biggest drawing card this summer with the departure of Andrei Andreyevich Gromyko, the "oldest young man in the world."

Lake Success won't be quite the same without the black-browed Russian delegate, a boy wonder of the diplomatic world. Perhaps no man his age in history ever said "no" on more major issues in so short a time.

He put his "noes" into the record so often that even the news chroniclers are mixed up in the box score. One morning newspaper here put the total at 23. Another credited him with 22 putouts and an assist from Andrei A. Vishinsky, who set the Soviet pattern with the first veto, delivered in London.

Gromyko—whose nickname "Grom" means "thunder" in his own language—merely announced he was going home to Moscow for his first vacation in three years. Other diplomats here believed, however, his departure may signal his elevation to an even higher policy-making status in the Soviet structure.

At 38 Gromyko already has behind him a brilliant career in world diplomacy, most of it spent in the United States. He came here first in 1939 as counselor to the Russian Embassy in Washington. In 1943 he became Ambassador himself, perhaps the youngest man—only 34—ever to represent a major power here.

He replaced the veteran and friendly Maxim Litvinov, and some observers at the time saw in his appointment a cooling off of the Soviet Union's relations toward the Western powers. Little has happened since to dispel that belief.

Diligent and aloof, "the Grom" became a standout attraction of the United Nations sessions after he took his famous walk during the Security Council's deliberation of the Iranian problem.

The first question nine out of ten visitors to Lake Success asked was: "Can we see Gromyko?" And they also came to ask: "Will he give a veto today?"

It was always an occasion when he said no. Sometimes he did it with a clipped "nyet." Sometimes he did with a 40-minute address, delivered either in English or Russian, in a deep-bear-bass voice rumbling with a tone of ancient wrath.

Society matrons and baby-sitters waylaid him in the corridors to get his autograph. These attentions at first annoyed, then began to amuse him—and at the same time vexed a number of delegates from other countries.

Gromyko's taciturnity thawed somewhat outside the council hall, but there was no relaxation of his iron mood in debate. His vetoes continued.

Suspicious and often critical of the American press, Gromyko now and then has joked with newsmen assigned to the United Nations, once, after he had declined comment on several questions, a reporter said lightly: "Well, Mr. Gromyko, maybe you can answer this. Where can I get some vodka?"

Gromyko, who drinks scotch and soda himself, smiled and said: "In Brooklyn there is very good vodka."

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister has lived well here. He has living quarters in a swank apartment house in Manhattan's upper east side and also a 40-acre mansion in Long Island taken over by the Russian delegation.

Gromyko likes to read Mark Twain and also has become something of an American movie fan. His favorite film: "Gone with the Wind."

The island of Formosa, a Japanese colony for nearly 50 years before Pearl Harbor, is a little larger than Massachusetts and Connecticut combined.

County Democrat Conventions Are Closely Watched

Raleigh, N. C., May 15—(AP)—North Carolina Democrats held their county convention today and observers had their ears tuned for any indication of an explosion over President Truman's civil rights program.

Next Thursday the state Democratic convention will be held in Raleigh. Many observers said that if the civil rights issue is to raise its head at the state convention, it likely would make itself known today.

Meanwhile, it became known that Major L. P. McClendon of Greensboro, a prominent attorney, is slated to be permanent chairman of the state convention.

Democratic state chairman William P. Horton said yesterday he would recommend McClendon for the position. Such recommendation virtually assures McClendon the post.

Gubernatorial candidates put in a heavy day yesterday, as did Senator William B. Umstead and his opponent for the Senatorial nomination, former Governor J. Melville Broughton.

The gubernatorial aspirants covered the eastern part of the state. Wayne Albright declared at Roanoke Rapids "our state government needs a new blood. . . we have no real reorganization of state government for over 20 years." He listed several changes he would make, including a system of recorded votes in the general assembly.

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson advised voters at Wilson to look warily at candidates who "appealed to prejudice an emotional basis on other candidates." Johnson also sounded a note of caution on state finances, advising "no man can say how long our unusual prosperity will continue, nor, how soon reversals will set in."

Oscar Barker declared at Wadesboro that voters should not continue to ignore a cash bonus for world war II veterans while other states go forward with bonus plan.

Visiting Nurse

by Kathleen Harris

Chapter 11

"I want you for tea Sunday afternoon," Lucien said, issuing a statement of his wishes, instead of asking for an acceptance. "I want you and my mother to know each other, as I said before."

"Perhaps your mother will not be as anxious to meet me," Hildred said quietly, employing her usual honesty and directness. She felt a flash of dismay, she did not want to know the Countess. She had hoped to continue postponement of that day.

"You are mistaken." His tone was firm. "I have written Lis—that is what all her most intimate friends call her as I do myself, not in disrespect but in play—all about you and our friendship."

Maybe that was why she was coming sooner than planned! All mothers, whether they were plain "Lis" or of titled nobility, were much alike when it came to their sons.
However, in spite of frankness, Hil-dred did not quite feel she could point out this fact to Lucien.

"She will think you a good influence, as I have told you she is," Lucien's tone was lighter now, his dark eyes almost teasing. "She may appear to be rather an imposing personage at first. But if you will just be yourself—as you always are, my dear, I know that my mother will also like you very much."

Hildred wished she could be as certain. She wished she had some valid excuse to get out of the Sunday tea, but since she had none, she murmured again that she hoped that would be the way it would be.
Jimmy woke up just then and Robin came over to say that he had everything packed in the car so that they could be getting back whenever Mr. Lucien wished. He added that the sky was darkening, not so much because it was nearing sundown but from clouds that might mean rain.

Lucien agreed it would be wise for them to start. So once more the three of them—the little boy in the middle—piled into the back of the big car, much like one happy little family, as Hildred found herself thinking, with some amusement at such a thought. It was a thought she was to remember—and dwell upon—later, many times.

Lucien promised Jimmy that they would repeat this happy day soon and Hildred told the little boy that she was going to take him to her house often to spend the weekend. "So you must promise to be a good boy in between," she finished.
"You must not stay off by yourself, away from the other children. You must try to eat all your food, clean up your plate every time, and you must promise me, please, Jimmy,
that you will not cry any more."

Jimmy promised manfully, though tears already seemed close as they drew up once more before the Home.
He said he did try, in fact, as hard as he could. "The food sticks in my throat," he explained, his big eyes solemn and large in his peaked little face. "It just won't go down. The other kids, they mean all right, but they don't like me, I guess. I don't cry much, except when I feel like I'm in prison—you know, on account of the fence all around and such a tiny yard and not being allowed to go out the gate."

"I know," Hildred said, her own eyes misty. She gathered him close to her for a minute, feeling his thin little ribs, the fierce pounding of his heart. "But you must try even harder, and keep on trying and after awhile it will be all right, honestly it will." But she was not sure.
For some children, yes, but maybe not for Jimmy, ever.

She said as much to Lucien, before the big car stopped the second time, at the apartment where she lived. "What Jimmy needs is someone all the time," she told him. "The security of lasting love."

"I agree with you," Lucien said, his voice unexpectedly gentle. "I give you my promise—as Jimmy did —to try to do my part."

Hildred thanked him—though of course she had meant things that even Lucien's generosity, and money, could not give.

"I'm beginning to see what it means, this being a county nurse," Lucien's eyes really smiled into hers
as he held her hand, a while longer than necessary, in parting. "Are all of them like you, wanting to give so much—love as well as service?"

Hildred shook her head. "A good nurse—she was quoting Randy now —does not let personalities, and sentiment, affect her. I don't mean she is not kind and humanitarian.
But of course it is only sensible to realize you—one person alone—
cannot do all you would like to do.
I wish I could take all the Jimmies and other children I know to my heart and give them all my love.
But I have to try not to; I have to fight against it. But I believe, once more, in that middle road—I think occasionally—as with Jimmy—I can make an exception and still be a good nurse, I hope!"

"I think you can." His handclasp tightened. "I think you are a very good nurse. I think you are a fine woman. I say that as the highest tribute a man can pay a woman—and I mean it, Hildred."

She saw that he did so—that,
impulsively, she returned his warm grasp. She said, "Thank you, Lucien.
Now we both have reached a full understanding of each other. Now we are indeed the friends we pledged ourselves to be."

"I wish," Lucien began, then stopped abruptly. "Never mind that now. Maybe someday I will tell you what I started to wish, if the time ever comes when such a wish could be made possible."

She could not imagine what he meant, but she felt the hot color spreading up into her face; she felt again an odd presentiment. The time would come when she would know what Lucien had almost wished for.

But now he raised her hand, as was his custom, to his lips in farewell.

"Until Sunday then," he said, his dark eyes smiling into hers, as if the bond between them was in fact cemented.

Well, maybe she could not have Randy, the man she loved, but it was a comfort—a warm, sweet feeling inside her—to know that she had the true friendship and liking of Lucien Lanier. It healed that other hurt a little. It would be something to cherish, if that other love never came true.

Greenies Down Wilson Behind Yohn's Hurling

Locals Take 6-4 Win Following Up Three-Run Lead in First Frame; Nash Gets Four Hits in Four Times At Bat

By BERT MOYE

Lefty Junior Yohn pitched the Greenies to a 6-4 victory over Wilson here last night scattering six hits, while his fellow hurlers were gathering ten hits off Monk Webb. The win for Yohn was his first in Coastal Plain League play as against one loss.

The Greenies put across three runs in the first frame when Phillips singled, Lastres sacrificed him to second, Cohen got an infield hit. Ramos was walked loading the bases. Nessing was walked forcing in Phillips and Nash clinched the victory in the third frame when Cohen reached first on Spos's error. Ramos sacrificed him to second, a passed ball enabled Cohen to take third, and Nash singled to bring him home and Carter doubled to bring home Nash.

Nash's single and Marvin Brett's triple accounted for the final tally checked up by the Greenies in the fifth frame.

The Tobs were held scoreless until the fourth frame when they pushed across two runs on a walk and two doubles, and ended their scoring in the seventh frame when they chalked up two more runs on a single, double, passed ball and long fly to deep left field.

The Greenies were charged with only one miscue during the game which did not figure in scoring and gave the approximate 1,100 fans present one of the best exhibitions of offensive and defensive play seen here this season. One double play was made by the Greenies in the first frame. However the work of the entire infield was functioning perfectly as they handled a total of 21 chances with only one miscue, with the work of the outfield also giving the fans a thrill as they roamed the field to account for nine putouts.

Wiley Nash with four singles in four trips to the plate, was the big gun in the ten-hit attack off Monk Webb. His four hits drove in two runs and he himself crossed the plate twice. Bob Cohen got two for five to take second place honors while Marvin Brett, playing his full game behind the plate for the Greenies contributed a triple and a caught in a run.

Junior Yohn let the Tobs down with six hits, all being scattered among as many players, and three of the hits were doubles. He walked a total of seven men, struck out three and despite his wildness at times he really bore on the Tobs in the clinches.

The Greenies travel to Wilson to play a double-header with the Tobs tonight with the first game scheduled for seven o'clock. On Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. they play the Kinston Eagles here when Johnny Kovachick will be on the mound seeking his fifth straight win for the Greenies.

Athletics Find Can't Get Rash With Vic Raschi

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Philadelphia Athletics are just about convinced they can't get rash with Vic Raschi.

When the lanky New York Yankee right-hander first joined the club late in the 1946 season from Newark of the International League, he made two starts, both against the Athletics and came through with two nine inning victories.

Last year, after being recalled in mid-season from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, he made one start against the A's and beat Carl Scheib, 8-2, for one of his eight triumphs.

Yesterday, Manager Bucky Harris called on the 29-year-old pitcher to cool off the torrid A's who barged into the Yankee Stadium with a ten-game winning streak.

Raschi came through in impressive fashion, shutting out the A's 3-0 on three hits. He walked only three and fanned seven, including the side in the ninth.

Scheib, a 21-year old right-hander who again was Raschi's opponent, yielded only four hits but two of the blows were homers by Johnny Lindell and Yogi Berra.

Lindell broke up the game in the third inning when he lined a 3-1 pitch into the left field seats with one aboard. Berra opened the fourth inning with his third homer of the season. Scheib then held the Yanks hitless the rest of the way.

Raschi didn't give up a hit until Hank Majeski singled in the fifth. He yielded the second in the eighth to Sam Chapman and the third in the ninth when Barney McCoskey doubled.

In addition to halting the A's winning streak, Raschi also ended the consecutive game hitting streak of Shortstop Eddie Joost at 17 games. The loss was Scheib's first in four starts.

The victory moved the Yanks to within four percentage points of the second place Cleveland Indians and a half game of the league-leading Athletics.

South Bend, Ind., May 15—(AP)—Johnny Lujack leads the "old timers" against Notre Dame's varsity today in a regulation game closing the Irish spring football practice.

A crowd of 20,000 will gather to see how well Frank Leahy's 1948 hopefuls can perform against an old timer eleven which in first string talent probably will be tougher than any Irish foe next fall.

In addition to Lujack, the elders will line up with stellar George Connor and Ziggy Czarobski at tackles, Bob Livingston and Bill Gompers at halves, Floyd Simmons at fullback, and George Strohmeyer at center.

Bill Vosselle was positive that Manager Billy Southworth was very conservative when he indicated that he was counting on Big Bill for 15 victories this season. Vosselle feels certain that he can reward the popular manager of the Boston Braves with 20 triumphs, a figure that should make the Braves a serious contender for the pennant if Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain come through with the total of victories expected of them.

Vosselle put in for repairs last winter and underwent an operation for varicose veins in his legs along with a corrective operation on his injured knee. Thus he was able to train properly this spring and was in the best condition of his career when the season opened.

Big Bill regained the form which enabled him to win 21 games as a freshman with the Giants in 1941 in the latter stages of the 1947 race and reeled off six straight triumphs before the curtain was rung down. He got off to a winning start this season and the 20-game mark he set as a goal does not appear impossible. One thing is certain, Vosselle is responding to the handling of Billy Southworth with happy results.

Chapel Hill, N. C., May 15—(AP)—William and Mary's tennis players won the Southern conference championship last year and it looks like they're going to repeat.

They hold three of the four spots in today's semi-final singles. It was Ted Kovalski, Bernard Barten and Bobby Doll representing the Indians against North Carolina's E. Victor Seixas.

William and Mary sat equally well in the semi-final doubles. They had Barten-Kovalski and Doll and Bob Galloway in that stage of the tournament. Also in the doubles were Seixas and Clark Taylor of North Carolina. Another doubles team was to be selected early today.

The tournament's biggest upset came yesterday when Doll, a slender 21-year-old senior from Tampa, Fla., defeated North Carolina's Clark Taylor 6-3, 9-7 in the third round. He then moved through the quarter finals over the Tar Heels' Don Skalle, 6-2, 6-2.

Seixas, the top-seeded player of the tournament, had little trouble yesterday in two matches. He outplayed Caldwell Ragan of North Carolina, 6-2, 6-2 in the morning and the disposed of Howe Atwater of William and Mary in the afternoon, 6-1, 6-12.

Chapel Hill, N. C., May 15—(AP)—There's no use kidding, the 72nd running of the Preakness stakes at Pimlico today is going to find Citation home first or the records will have one of the greatest upsets in turf history.

The Calumet farm colt rates so far above the other three contenders that anyone who bets against him can be classified only as either a terrific gambler or sentimentalist. The trio containing upsets in their legs are Bovard, Vulcan's force and Better Self.

The betting, incidentally, is all or nothing. The Maryland racing commission agreed with Pimlico that Citation is such a "sure thing" that anything but straight betting would produce a terrific minus pool, costly to both the track and the state.

Racing Cars Try To Qualify For Motor Speedway

Indianapolis, May 15—(AP)—Nearly a score of brightly enameled race cars, best of the record-breaking field, were tuned up today for the opening qualifications for the 32nd annual 500 mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway May 31.

Eighty cars were entered and only two were definitely scratched from competition for the 33 starting positions.

One of the faster cars was temporarily out of action after Cliff Bergere, dean of speedway drivers, and Lou Welch of Novi, Mich., parted with strong words.

Bergere smashed the rear end of one of the $50,000 Novi Grooved piston specials late yesterday. Welch accused Bergere of being responsible for the accident and they severed relations. Bergere had competed in 16 Indianapolis races and he placed fourth with the same car last year as relief for Herb Ardinger.

The Toledo veteran's wreck was the third mishap yesterday as 22 cars warmed up for today's trials. Peter Romcevic of Gary, Ind., 11th last year, wrapped his car around a utility pole at the south turn but escaped injury. The brakes failed on the car driven by Anthony Granatelli of Chicago practicing for his first "500" but he merely coasted a mile and a half.

A big German Mercedes imported by Don Lee of Los Angeles apparently wasn't ready for today's trials. The powerful prewar racer was taken out of the garage yesterday but was towed back with fuel feed trouble. Ralph Heppburn, who has competed in only one less "500" than Bergere, was waiting to try out as a driver.

Cars ready to go today included Blue Crown Spark Plug specials that ran one-two last year with Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., and Bill Holland of Reading, Pa., at the wheels.

Thus far in the Coastal Plain League there have been seven shutouts turned in, four of them by Kinston pitchers. No other club has come up with more than one, although Greenville has been involved in four of them. New Bern shut out the Greenies by 2-0, Greenville duplicated that score over Wilson and was then later blanked, 8-0, by Rocky Mount. In the Greenies' only shutout, Kenneth Brooks stopped Wilson at the local park 2-0 on May 2. Of the Kinston shutouts, Sam McLawhorn has twirled two of them. He defeated New Bern, 6-0, in the first home game and later stopped the Greenies, 9-0, Rick Gausey hurled a 14-0 victory over Goldsboro and Tom Witz posted a 4-0 win over Roanoke Rapids.

Tarboro fans, who take their baseball seriously and have had plenty to cheer about thus far, let out a lusty roar on Friday when they heard the news that the club's top lefty during the 1947 season was on his way back. Eddie Neville, a 28-game winner during the regular season in 1947, was sent up to the Durham Bulls this year but has been languishing at his home in Baltimore. On Thursday, the Tars got word from Durham (both clubs are under the same management) they could have him back. A phone call by Manager Bull Hamons confirmed that Neville was ready and waiting to return to the Tars. He is expected to report within a few days—bad news for many Coastal Plain League clubs.

Announce Atomic Weapons Pass In Eniwetok Tests

Three 'Improved' Weapons Successful In Experiments On Pacific Atoll

Washington, May 17—(AP)—The White House said today that tests involving three atomic weapons of improved design proved successful in all respects recently at Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific.

The statement was made after the Atomic Energy Commission gave President Truman an official report saying the results "indicate very substantial progress."

Chairman David E. Lilienthal and the four other commissioners reported orally to Mr. Truman that the "present state of the commission's tests of atomic weapons is now concluded."

Lilienthal called the tests "a milestone in atomic development."

The White House statement about the report follows:

"The President today received from the United States Atomic Energy Commission a report on tests of atomic weapons conducted at the commission's proving ground at Eniwetok Atoll in the Marshall Islands. The tests were held pursuant to approval of the President given in June, 1947. The first series of the tests are now completed."

"The commission reported that the tests involving three atomic weapons, each of improved design, were successful in all respects, and that the results indicate very substantial progress. The President gave general approval of commission plans for steps it proposed to initiate at once for further nuclear development, based upon information gained from the tests."

"As previously announced by the commission, the tests were conducted under the security provisions of the Atomic Energy Act, and information as to the scientific results and technical details of the tests cannot be made public at this time. The area of the proving ground, as previously defined, remains closed to unauthorized persons."

"The secretary of national defense and the Atomic Energy Commission have authorized statements of acknowledgment of services of the commission engaged in the tests, for release by the military and scientific leaders of the project upon their return to Eniwetok tomorrow."

Negro Admission To UNC Left Up To Legislature

Raleigh, N.C., May 17—(AP)—The executive committee of the University of North Carolina board of trustees today left for the State Legislature to decide the issue of admitting Negroes to the university's graduate schools.

The trustees, meeting in Governor Cherry's office, issued a statement later which said:

"The matter of admission of Negro students to professional schools of the University of North Carolina was not considered by the executive committee of a point of order that the matter is beyond the authority of the executive committee and of the trustees under the law."

ABC On Newest War

History Of Palestine; The First Jewish Kingdom; Destruction Of Their State By The Romans; World Wanderers; The Arab Movement; Zionism and the Mandate

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 17—(AP)—Here is an ABC on Palestine and the Jewish-Arab war.

Palestine, the size of Vermont, is a strip of land with the Mediterranean on one side, a great desert on the other. It's been bloody ground.

It was land-bred between Egypt on the south and the great ancient kingdoms, like Babylonia, which sprang up and died north and northeast of it.

Camel trains and armies, heading north or south, barged through Palestine, using it as a highway or a battlefield.

For tens of thousands of years men have moved in, settled down, been crushed or ousted by others coming behind them.

About 1,200 B.C. the Jews, a Semitic tribe, strode in from the desert. They overran another Semitic tribe, the Canaanites, who were there before them.

By 1,030 B.C. the Jews were able to set up their first kingdom in Palestine under Saul. Came golden days, crushing defeats. The Romans wiped out their state in 37 B.C.

Then the Jews, once desert-wanderers, became world-wanderers, persecuted, discriminated against, home-

Auto Union Threatens Strike Of All General Motors Employees

Detroit, May 17—(AP)—The OIO United Auto Workers threatened today to call a strike of 225,000 General Motors employees within two weeks.

This threat came against a backdrop of a strike at Chrysler Corp. and an unexpected move by the Ford Motor Co. to cut wages.

T. A. Johnstone, acting director of the UAW's General Motors department, said there is "a very good possibility" of a walkout in 90 GM plants May 28 if no settlement is reached by then.

"Our people probably aren't going to work if there's no contract," he added.

The current UAW-GM contract, extended 90 days, expires May 28. Nearly half of the General Motors Union locals already have approved a strike, according to Johnstone.

A walkout at General Motors would boost the auto industry's strike total to 300,000. Some observers believe the union would be reluctant to strike two of the industry's "big three" companies at the same time. Ford's proposal met a crisp OIO rejection.

Chrysler, meanwhile, accused picketers of forcibly preventing white collar workers from entering some of the 18 strikebound plants.

Here are some of the developments on the many-sided auto labor front, affecting up to half a million workers at least indirectly:

1. The Ford Motor Co., pleading a cause of "public security," proposed that its wage "differential" with competitors be eliminated, meaning while rejecting the UAW's demand for a 30 cents hourly increase.

The bulk of Ford's 107,000 production workers probably would be affected in any reduction of pay rates. Ford's pay is said to be roughly about 10 cents higher than the pay of rival firms.

The Union, in a tart rejoinder, said "no," though offering to drop its wage demand if Ford would "successfully" exert its influence to secure a national price rollback to cut the cost of living.

2. The strike of 75,000 Chrysler workers for a 30 cents an hour increase entered its sixth day without a sign of a peace offering from either side. The UAW calls this the nation's "most important" labor battle. Ford local 600 voted the Chrysler strikers a defense fund of $125,000.

3. An estimated 10,000 to 12,000 General Motors workers approved a strike for a 25 cents an hour increase. The UAW is currently polling its 225,000 GM members on the strike question.

Whatever the outcome, all the industry's 500,000 or more workers likely would be affected in establishment of any new wage pattern.

Coal Operators Plan To Resist Lewis' Demands

Producers Huddle As Contract Negotiations Open Tomorrow; May Attempt To Sidestep Showdown On Pay Increase

Washington, May 17—(AP)—Soft coal operators, huddling over strategy for new contract negotiations with John L. Lewis, indicated today they will resist any demands for higher pay or bigger royalty payments to the miners' welfare fund.

The contract negotiations open tomorrow.

Lewis and the United Mine Workers 200-man policy committee also gathered in a negotiation-eve planning session. They kept mum on their plans.

The present contract expires June 30. However, the soft coal diggers have a short vacation coming up from June 26 to July 5, so the negotiators really have until July 5 to get together on a new contract.

The producers worked over a statement of their position at preliminary talks yesterday and conference of all major groups today. One thing considered is a proposal to offer Lewis a one- or two-year extension on his present contract.

The action was taken after Rep. Hays (R-Ohio) read a letter from Secretary of Defense Forrestal assuring that the nation's top military leaders all approve the super carrier project. Forrestal said President Truman and the Budget Bureau military planners also favor the project.

Lewis' coal miners received a wage boost of 18 1/2 cents an hour in 1946 and 15 cents last year. He also bargained out additional pay and welfare benefits. One benefit was a payment of 10 cents "royalty" to a miners benefit fund for every ton of coal mined.

U. M. W. district groups already have suggested that Lewis seek a 40 cent tonnage royalty to finance pensions. Some also suggested a return to the 35-hour work week with loss of pay. The current agreement calls for a 40-hour week. The base daily pay is $13.05. The Bureau of Labor Statistics says coal miners lead all industrial workers with average weekly earnings of $75.78.

Approve Plan Of Big New Carrier

Way Cleared For Further Action On Navy's Super-Ship

Washington, May 17—(AP)—A House armed services subcommittee approved unanimously today a bill clearing the way for the Navy to get started on a 65,000-ton giant aircraft carrier.

Navy authorities say the super-carrier, capable of cruising in Arctic waters, would be the largest ship of any type ever built. It would be about half again bigger than the Navy's present biggest carriers. Up to four years would be required for its construction.

Presumably, multiple-engine bombers capable of carrying an atomic bomb thousands of miles could take off from its flight deck. To clear the way for its construction, the subcommittee recommended to the full committee that the Navy be allowed to stop work on 13 unfinished ships. This would divert approximately $229,000,000 to build the proposed carrier and vessel designed to launch guided missiles.

The action was taken after Rep. Hays (R-Ohio) read a letter from Secretary of Defense Forrestal assuring that the nation's top military leaders all approve the super carrier project. Forrestal said President Truman and the Budget Bureau military planners also favor the project.

Treasury Backs Repeal Oleo Tax

Spokesman Discounts Argument To Safeguard Consumers

Washington, May 17—(AP)—The treasury today backed repeal of all federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Undersecretary A. L. M. Wiggins told the Senate Finance Committee the treasury would like to drop them and use the effort for collecting other taxes. The oleo taxes bring in $7,000,000 a year.

The committee called for the treasury's views at the opening of hearings on the oleo tax repeal bill already passed by the House.

Wiggins said that if Congress insists on using taxation to regulate production and distribution of margarine, it should at least cut the "present punitive tax rates" to "token tax requirements."

The treasury representative discounted the dairy interest argument that the margarine tax is needed to safeguard the consumer from having margarine sold to him when he asks for butter.

He told the committee the Pure Food and Drug administration is able to prevent such frauds.

Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) also urged repeal of the taxes. He said manufacturers and consumers "bear the burden of these ridiculous penalties far too long."

Maybank told the committee: "Margarine is denied the use of yellow simply because the dairy industry has misused its enormous political influence to drive a competitive product off the counter. This is discrimination and a violation of the American principle of open, competitive business."

Vote To Suspend UN Efforts For Atomic Controls

Gromyko Denies Further Talks Useless; Assails U.S. As Being Unwilling

Lake Success, May 17—(AP)—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission decided today to end its two-year effort to agree on world atomic control. The vote was 9 to 2.

Russia and the Soviet Ukraine voted against the suspension, which was proposed originally by the United States, Britain and France.

The move came after the Western powers concluded it was useless to continue the talks any longer in view of the deadlock between Russia and the commission majority.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the 11-nation U.N. Atomic Energy Commission he does not agree that further efforts are useless.

"The Soviet Union government stood, stands and will continue to stand for an effective international system of inspection and an effective international system of control," Gromyko said.

"Agreement is possible," Gromyko said, "but not under the United States plan. x x x The United States government does not want control of atomic energy."

Gromyko spoke as the White House announced that American tests involving three improved atomic weapons had proved successful.

Gromyko, in attacking the U. S., made these observations:

1. "We see unwillingness on the part of the United States government to prohibit atomic weapons, which is the first task to be implemented on control."

2. "We see unwillingness on the part of the United States to agree to simultaneous control on fuel and installations."

3. "We see unwillingness by the United States government to use nuclear fuel for peaceful purposes."

Truman Refused Free Radio Time

West Coast Network Draws Line At Political Speeches

By The Associated Press
A West Coast network of 40-odd radio stations has decided not to broadcast free-of-charge speeches by President Truman which it considers political.

It said other Presidential candidates will receive the same treatment.

The Don Lee network announced its policy after Kenneth D. Fry, radio director of the Democratic National committee, disclosed that Mr. Truman's speech to young Democrats Friday night was not broadcast on the West Coast.

The Don Lee network is the West Coast outlet of the Mutual Broadcasting system, which carried Mr. Truman's speech. It has stations in California, Oregon and Washington.

Fry said he didn't know the speech wasn't being broadcast on the Coast until telegrams and phone calls began coming up Saturday morning asking why.

Lewis Allen Weiss, general manager of the Don Lee network, provided the answer.

"We consider it a political speech," Weiss said. He added that the network will carry Mr. Truman's speeches whenever they are in the National interest, whenever he addresses Congress or whenever he speaks in a national emergency.

Negotiations On Rail Dispute To Be Tried Again

Washington, May 17—(AP)—The White House announced today that labor and management representatives will resume negotiations tomorrow in the railroad wage dispute.

Officials of the three brotherhoods, which called a strike that led to government seizure of the carriers will meet with those representing the railroads at 9 a. m. (EST) in the Hotel Statler.

They will meet, the White House said, at the suggestion of Presidential assistant John R. Steelman "in an effort to reach an agreement under which the government can turn back the railroads to private management."

Reminds Issue Of Totalitarianism

Charleston, W.Va., May 17—(AP)—"Although the world is well rid of one kind of totalitarianism it is still threatened by another vicious ideology," Francis J. Hezel of Asheville, N.C., national treasurer of the Knights of Columbus, said last night.

Hezel spoke here at the opening of the order's West Virginia state convention.

He said that "we must surrender the illusion that there can be a common understanding between contradictory systems of human relationship." The Communists "realize that the world cannot exist peacefully x x x half totalitarian and half democratic," he added.

Workers Return To Struck Meat Plant

Go Through Picket Lines Under Eyes Of Guardsmen; Governor Demands Settlement Or Will Take New Steps

South St. Paul, Minn., May 17—(AP) Production workers went into the struck Swift and Armour meat packing plants here today past the picket lines of striking CIO United Packinghouse Workers and watchful Minnesota National guardsmen.

There was some call-calling by pickets but no incidents.

The production workers were the first to go into the plants since the union closed plant entrances by mass picketing last Tuesday. Eight to ten pickets were on duty today at the Swift plant, scene of disorders last week.

Some workers also entered the plant of the Cudahy Packing Company at Newport, across the Mississippi river.

In its daily strike bulletin, the union renewed its demand that Governor Luther Youngdahl, who called out the National Guard last Friday, close the plants.

"Failure to do this," said the bulletin, "will place upon the head of the governor full responsibility for bloodshed and violence."

The governor demanded quick settlement of the strike as he summoned packers and strikers to his office today.

If the strike is not settled promptly, the governor said, he will take new steps.

Egyptians Claim 30-Mile Advance

Salonika, Greece, May 17—(AP)—Twenty or more Communists were reported under questioning today about the strange death of George Polk, American broadcaster for CBS.

Polk's trusted up body, a bullet in the head, was found floating in the bay off Salonika yesterday.

"We are 1,000 per cent sure it is the work of Communists," said one leading government official who declined to allow the use of his name.

Polk was last seen a week ago Sunday after telling friends he was trying to interview Markos Vafides, Communist guerrilla leader. He was 34.

Police were reported authoritatively to be working on a theory that he made contact with the Communist underground and spent several hours in a hideout before being shot through the head and dumped into the bay.

A high police official discounted the theory that right wing extremists might have killed Polk when they heard of his effort to meet Vafides. Polk had criticized the government as well as the guerrillas.

Pepper Attacks New Labor Law

Durham, N.C., May 17—(AP)—Sen. Claude Pepper, denouncing the Taft-Hartley act as "iniquitous and infamous," yesterday called for a united labor front in North Carolina.

The Florida Democrat was here to address a state-wide meeting of the United Labor political committee.

Pepper told the crowd of 750 that through the Taft-Hartley act, management has overthrown principles laid down in the National Labor relations act through which President Roosevelt laid down "a great charter for the working man."

Oil Engineer To Study Site Of Well Explosion

Goldboro, May 17—(AP)—An oil engineer will make a study of the well at which an unexplained blast occurred last week.

Hubert Howell, Goldboro oil dealer, said the Continental Oil Company told him it would send a representative to the scene in the next few days. He will gather samples of the soil and fluid taken from the well and send them to the firm's main laboratory in New York for analysis, Howell said.

This news came after Howell told this story:

Last week Coon Bass was digging a well on the farm of Archie Gurley 11 miles from Goldboro. When he was almost overcome by gas fumes he was pulled to the surface. He lit a cigarette. A blast followed and the upper part of Bass' body was enveloped by flames. He suffered first and second degree burns of the hands, neck and face.

The 15-foot well with a three and one-half foot opening is 61 feet up from a gasoline tank at the Gurley store. Howell said that after digging about the tank and checking records, he was certain there was no leak in the tank.

Exercises Honor N. C. Republican

Gulford College, N.C., May 17 — (AP)—They turned back a page of history yesterday to honor "Uncle Joe" Cannon, a native son who made political legend as Speaker of the nation's House of Representatives.

The memory of the Republican leader was called up by House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., the principal speaker for the exercises. The House speaker appeared at a program sponsored by the Woodmen of the World at which a marker was unveiled near the birthplace of Cannon. Martin praised Cannon for his adherence to pioneer American principles and said that were he alive today, he "would be in the forefront of those urging the expulsion of all Communists, fascists and other subversionists x x x"

The shrew, vitrolic Republican who ruled the House with an iron hand from 1903 to 1911 was praised by Martin as one who rose above charges of "czarism and dictatorship" and retained "the loyalty of his associates x x x"

The present House speaker noted a statement by Cannon that America will always rise to meet her problems. Martin said he was happy to take part in a tribute to a man who "was as American as ham and eggs—a man who was blunt, frank, open. A man who typifies a memorable period in our history when America hewed logs and produced rough-hewn statesmen."

Cash Prize Being Offered Farmers For Big Corn Yield

College Station, Raleigh, May 17.—First official entry in North Carolina's ambitious 200-bushel corn contest has been received from Clifton Jones of Winston-Salem, Route 6, Dr. E. R. Collins, in charge of extension agronomy at State College, announced today.

Three other producers—T. C. Sawyer, Jr. and Eddie C. Bell, Jr. of Belcross, and C. H. Beam of Lawndale—have indicated they intend to enter the competition, but Jones is the only farmer thus far who has submitted an official application blank.

A total of $3,000 in prize money is being offered, as follows: $1,000 for Cleveland County only, by the Cleveland County Fair; $1,000 for North Carolina and South Carolina, by the Southern States Fair of Charlotte; and $1,000 for North Carolina only, by the North Carolina State Fair. Jones is competing for the last two prizes named.

Entry blanks, which are available from county agents or from Dr. Collins at State College, must be postmarked not later than July 1. Any farmer is eligible who produces 200 or more bushels of shelled corn, 15.5 percent moisture, on one acre of land. The acre must have four straight sides with a minimum width or length of 70 feet.

If more than one person produces 200 or more bushels per acre in any fair area, the person introducing the highest yield will receive the full $1,000 for that area. The contestant must exhibit livestock, grain or some other commodity at the 1948 fair offering the prize for which he or she is competing.

The parliament on the Isle of Man meets once a year—in the open air on a hillside.

Strength FOR THE DAY

JAPANESE CHERRIES IN WAR TIME

It was the 1943 before Easter in the year 1943. We were in the midst of our war with Japan. The preacher thought that we needed something beautiful from Japan to look at in those terrible days of hate. So he placed some branches from a Japanese cherry tree on either side of the Communion Table. There was scarcely a flower on any branch. But the buds were ready to burst, and in their stark simplicity they added a note of beauty to the Service of Communion.

The room was hot and when the candles were lighted and the worshipers came crowding in, even while the service was in progress, the heat caused those barren branches to burst into bloom. And at that service in memory of the death of Christ, the opening flowers delivered a better sermon than the preacher himself. They proclaimed that the cross is a doorway into realms of unending life. Only the Good-News of Christ can end the dark night of the soul and bring in the dawn of eternal day. Only such perfect trust in God can change the cry of despair, "My God, My God, Why hast Thou forsaken me?" into the triumphant shout: "Father into Thy hands, I commend my spirit."

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EAPS

Washington—The nation should take notice of the increasingly alarming proportion of youngsters dropping out of school annually without completing a high school education, warns the National Education Association (NEA).

Only 453 pupils out of every 1,000 are in school when the final year of high school is reached, NEA states in a survey just completed. The survey is based on "school survival rates" for the nation, computed by the U. S. Office of Education over a number of years. This means that over the nation each year 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 children drop out. They are quitting from "disinterest, discouragement, or for other reasons."

"If secondary education constitutes an essential minimum of training which should be the common heritage of all citizens of this democracy," says NEA, "the nation can ill afford the prodigious waste of human resources represented by the numbers who leave school prematurely."

During the decade preceding World War II, the school survival rate into the final year of high school increased steadily. With the coming of World War II, however, this trend was halted and then reversed, the survey reveals.

NEA says no single cause is responsible and points out "that many are forced by straitened financial circumstances in their families to go to work. Others lack the sympathetic interest and encouragement at home . . . A few withdraw for health reasons."

The authors of one recent study of school withdrawals were led to the following conclusions: "Perhaps the best explanation of the fact that children who are past the upper age limit of the compulsory attendance law are not in school is simply that they do not like school. The reasons behind this attitude are many, chief of which are a dull and uninteresting offering, discouragement through failure, poor and indifferent teaching, inadequate buildings and equipment, lack of interesting extra-curricular activities, and the inconveniences of bus transportation."

NEA along with other educators see in the proposed federal aid to education legislation, "an effective positive step" in keeping young people in school.

"When more communities can have the facilities, the personnel and the program that are essential for a 'good' school, more and more of the boys and girls will see the value of that program and will remain in school to complete it."

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—Cancer kills slightly more women than it does men.

But the women are taking a far greater proportionate interest in the best way yet found to cut down cancer deaths—early detection and treatment.

A large share of the American Cancer Society's $12,000,000 budget last year went for the establishment of clinics and the distribution of factual information on the disease that kills one person every three minutes in this country.

Since last September some 135,000 requests have been received at the society's national headquarters here for information on cancer and its seven danger signals.

"About 85 per cent come from women," said Russell G. Smith, "and the question they ask most often is where they can obtain an examination."

The requests are relayed to medical chairmen in each state, who direct them to the nearest detection center. The society has 200 of these centers and is adding more.

A common source of disappointment to many seeking to check whether they have cancer is the time required for examination. The disease, particularly when it attacks internal organs, is often difficult to diagnose. Yet it is this type which causes most deaths. Ninety per cent of skin cancers are regarded as curable if treated early.

Many of the letters are touching in their simple pleas for help or their sublime bravery.

"My throat seems like it is full of something," wrote one uneducated man. "Makes me want to hark it out but I can't hark it out. And at night it seems to want to stifle me in my sleep. I want to know if you can give me something to clear up my throat."

Another elderly man, told by his doctor he was beyond cure, sent in a contribution toward further research with the simple wish "it may help a luckier fellow."

Daily letters come giving suggestions on the cause and cure of the disease on which scientists have been working for centuries.

Two girls, 11 and 12, wrote: "We believe that the organism breeds in coal mines and is carried to the people by the miners and on coal dust."

An old woman's contribution: "I had an unusual dream which may turn out to be a help to mankind. I dreamed that the serum from the milkweed was a cure for cancer." Another was sure sheep sorrel weed would help.

One man suggested cures could be obtained by draining out all the afflicted persons blood and replacing it with new blood. Another said he heard of a cancer being cured by tying a live load on it. The cancer, he said, dissolved the load—and the load dissolved the cancer. Still another recommended drink the blood of a strange Brazilian animal immune to poison. He didn't mention the name of the animal.

These "remedies" are generally all old wives' tales to cancer researchers, exploded long ago. But the suggestions are passed on to medical authorities for what they are worth.

The society emphasizes that cancer isn't due to a germ, isn't inherited and isn't contagious or communicable. Warning against quacks who victimize cancer victims who grasp at any straw of hope, it points out that the disease is merely the uncontrolled growth of cells or body tissues and says:

"There is no saline, oilment, radium water, mineral water, liquid medicine, pill, Indian charm or needle injection that has ever cured a proved case of internal cancer."

"Surgery, X-ray and radium, alone or in combination, when used by recognized men of medicine are the only effective methods of treating cancer at present."

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN HISBET

Hughes Rhodes, assistant attorney general, was scheduled to appear in Robeson county court Monday to represent the state board of education. Major objective was to protest having the state board as a body, or its members as individuals, made parties defendant in a suit respecting the erection of school buildings. Argument advanced is that the location and construction of school buildings is responsibility of the local governmental units, not the state. Furthermore, the state board of education (or any other state department) cannot be sued without consent of the state.

Complicated—the Robeson county situation is somewhat complicated, and has been developing over a period of years. Schoolhouses for Negroes admittedly are below the standard of white schools and in some instances they are nothing to brag about. Months ago health and fire prevention authorities condemned for sure one of the largest colored school buildings in the county. The county and city administrative units are going on with plans for new buildings, but progress has been slow. Racial discrimination is being charged. The National Association for Advancement of Colored People has entered the picture, and its attorney is asking a court order to perpetually enjoin discrimination. The original complaint was directed at the Robeson county commissioners, the Robeson county board of education, and the school board for the Lumberton administrative unit. Then effort was made to make the state board of education and its members parties defendant in the action.

Complications—This situation involves many questions of local autonomy or centralized state control, and is indirectly related to other issues affecting administration of election laws, special legislation and a wide range of problems.

Elections—During the past few weeks Governor Cherry has been importuned many times to take some action with respect to alleged discrimination against Negroes by registrars in several North Carolina counties. The complainants were referred to the state board of elections, which in turn said the state could act only upon orderly appeal from decisions of county boards of elections.

Years ago Col. William T. Joyner, then chairman of the state board of elections, proposed that the attorney general be given de novo authority to institute proceedings against violators of the election laws. That proposal was quickly vetoed by other officials and the general assembly, on the theory it tended to destroy the entire fabric of local responsibility for law enforcement. Some of the larger newspapers are now editorially suggesting that the state board of elections ought to initiate action in the registration cases.

Discord—This attitude is entirely out of harmony with the prevailing trend for more local autonomy. When the state board of education did take a hand last year in a school matter which directly involved handling of state money, criticism against centralization and authoritative state control was heard on every hand. One of the leading candidates for governor has been campaigning for years on the platform of more local autonomy in government, more authority for county and municipal boards. Formal resolutions adopted by the association of county commissioners and the league of municipalities have stressed the need for larger local discretion. The last general assembly voted down two bills which would have provided state financial aid, with accompanying right of voice as to type and location, for school buildings. A subtitle attached to the department of justice observed the other day that the same folks who are requesting state authorities to use local powers, would probably be the most violent protesters if that course were followed. He added there is apparent need for legislative clarification of state and local governments.

You Make The Choice

When you come to Goldsboro and park your car, you make a choice.

The parking is all free. But on certain parts of Center street's four rows of angle parking and on some side streets, there is a 2-hour limit. Not quite so close to Center and Walnut, parking time is free all day long.

The latter is the case on James street in front of the Goldsboro News-Argus office.

Three Performances Of Play Win Praise

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" presented in three performances on last Thursday and Friday by members of the senior class and the Teachers' Playhouse of East Carolina Teachers College, has won praise as a production of unusual merit.

A number of students from Greenville took part in the production and successfully played important roles in the fast-moving comedy. Mrs. Rose Force, wife of William Force of the college faculty, and Claude West, Jr., had the romantic leads. Jerome Worsley, talented character actor, in the part of Banjo, a Hollywood eccentric, and Betty Jo Wilson as the sorely tried nurse of a troublesome patient, were particularly successful as members of the cast. Virgil Clark and Billy Sutton, were also principals.

Confidence in his own ability to hit the ball is the reason why Preston Ward was installed at first base when the Brooklyn Dodgers took to the field against the New York Giants on opening day and has been there ever since. On the eve of the curtain raiser, Manager Leo Durocher asked Ward where he would like to be sent, where he felt he might be able to hit. Ward came right back with, "I don't know that I can't hit in this league."

Durocher had planned to use Ray Sanders, obtained from the Braves in the Ed Stanky deal, at first but Sanders was not physically fit. Pete Reiser took a crack at first but failed.

Wilson Takes Doubleheader By 5-1, 13-0; Kinston Wins Sunday Game By 8-5 To Give Kovalchick His First Loss

By BERT MOYE

Three games, three losses, was the result of the three games played by Manager Bill Phebus' Greensboro team both ends of a double bill in Wilson Saturday night, 5-1, and 13-0, and then returning home Sunday afternoon were handed an 8-5 loss by the Kinston Eagles for their third straight win over the Greens in this season.

Saturday Games

In the first game played at Wilson Saturday night, Charlie Nordmeyer, the big right-hander of the Tobs, was the big obstacle in the Greens' way as he held the Greens to four hits while his mates collected nine off Luis Arroyo, who lost his sixth game of the season for the Greens as against one win.

The Greens' only run came in the second frame when Ramos singled, Nessing sacrificed him to second and Carter singled to bring him home. The Tobs scored one run in the first frame, added another in the fourth and clinched the victory in the sixth when Dale Sanner homered over the left field wall with two mates aboard.

Score by innings:

Greenville	0	10	0
Wilson	5	1	0

In the second game of the twin bill Manager Bill Phebus made his second appearance on the mound for the Greens and yanked himself out at the end of the third frame after yielding nine hits and six runs, one of the hits being a two-run homer by Ashley over the right field wall and also a double by Winstead. The Tobs scored in every inning with the exception of the sixth and eighth frames. Young and Laffer shared the pitching honors for the Tobs and held the Greens to five hits, all singles, and scattered among many players. Kenneth Brooks relieved Manager Phebus in the fourth frame and allowed 10 hits and seven runs in the remaining five frames.

Score by innings:

Wilson	8	5	1

Sunday's Game

The Kinston Eagles spotted the Greens two runs at the end of the third frame and then came back in the seventh to put across three runs on Turk's homer, and "Pappy" Williams' two-run homer, to go out in front for the remainder of the game and defeat the Greens, 8-5. Johnny Kovalchick, who was chased to the showers during the seventh inning uprising, received credit for his first loss of the season as against three wins. He allowed nine hits and seven of them run and Kermitt Schmidt who relieved him pitched four-hit ball and allowed only one run. The Eagles got a total of three homers, two by "Pappy" Williams with a mate aboard each time, one by Turk, and two doubles for their 13 hits, while the Greens collected three doubles in their 13 hits off Lou Herrington.

Sidelights—Greenville collected a total of nine hits in the twin bill at Wilson Saturday night ... The shutout handed them in the second game was the fourth whitewashing job by opponents this season. In the first five innings of the second game at Wilson the Greens had a total of 12 men stranded on bases ... Marvin Breit suffered a broken thumb in the second game and will be out of the lineup for ten or more days ... Mel Pasteris has been optioned to Wilmington of the Tobacco State League for the balance of the season ... Vernon Blas, also optioned to Wilmington, was recalled when Breit suffered his injury Saturday night ... Sam McLawhorn, ace hurler of the Kinston mound staff, is suffering with a sore arm and will be out of action for a week or more ... Greens play in Kinston tonight and return here Tuesday night for a double bill with the Rocky Mount Leafs with the first game getting underway at seven o'clock.

Calumet's Stars Provide Money-Making Problem

Baltimore, May 17—(AP)—Calumet Farm, Warren Wright's fabulous horse flesh factory, sat down to do a bit of calculating today on a mildly pressing problem—how to extract the maximum of racing's rich three-year-old purses with Citation and Coaltown.

Trainer Jimmy Jones, who saddled Citation for his smashing Preakness triumph, was tacking it over.

It's too bad a fellow couldn't have had these two in separate years, for they're both such outstanding horses. One in 1948, and the other in 1949, he mused. That would have been nice.

Coaltown, Citation's flashy stablemate, arrived at Belmont Park in New York Saturday just about the time Citation was making monkeys of three other colts in the $134,000 Preakness. Jones said he thought Citation would be shipped to Belmont tomorrow.

But, here's the problem. There are a lot of good races coming up, and we've got to spot them for these two fine horses.

"We will try and split them as much as possible, because it's just like batting each other brains out to run them together."

The "we" meant Jimmy and his father, "plain Ben" Jones, Calumet's general manager who saddled Fairfloss and Prevent for their one-two punch in the Gallant Fox handicap at Jamaica on the same afternoon. Citation scored in the Preakness.

It was the most sensational money-winning day in turf history for a single stable—a $167,170 cleanup for the three horses.

Last June 7 William Heilts' horses won three stakes at three tracks and collected a total of $61,000. Jobstown won at Atlantic City, Rippey at Aqueduct, and Elpis at Delaware Park. Azucar won the 1935 Santa Anita handicap and netted $108,400. Add up the win and you still fall more than $7,000 short of Calumet's good day.

There are plenty of handicap events for Calumet's older horses to aim at, and right now Jimmy Jones is trying to map a program for Citation and Coaltown leading up to the Belmont stakes.

Chapel Hill, N. C., May 17—(AP)—North Carolina held the Southern Conference track championship today for the 12th time in the competition's 24-year history.

The Tar Heels won Saturday with a total of 69 1-7 points, topping second-place Maryland which earned 44 1-4 points. Maryland was the pre-meet favorite.

North Carolina got the edge of eight second places while Maryland was able to gather only two of these.

Norman (Scott) Bucks, a dashingly fellow from the University of South Carolina, set a conference record by running the 440 in 1:11.4.

The two-mile run, Frank Liddell of Virginia Military Institute also broke another conference record, negotiating that distance in 9:33.2.

Duke finished third with 40 25-28 points. Back of the blue Devils were North Carolina State 31; South Carolina 14 1-4; VPI 13 1-7; Clemson 9; VMI 7; Furman 4 1-4; Richmond, 3 1-7; Washington and Lee; William and Mary 1-7; and Wake Forest 0.

As seven-man tie for fifth in the night jump caused the fractional nightmare.

Injuries Plague Phillies' Players

Philadelphia, May 17—(AP)—Manager Ben Chapman of the Philadelphia Phillies, is beginning to wonder if he shouldn't issue a pair of crutches and a first aid kit to each player as standing equipment.

The Phils have come up with as many injuries in the young 1948 season that the fans have taken up the chant—"someone's going to get hurt today, the Phillies are playing."

First baseman Dick Sisler became the latest Phil to drop by the wayside yesterday when he was forced out of action with a possible fractured finger on his right hand.

Sisler was hit by a pitched ball at Brooklyn May 1 but remained in the lineup during the Phillies' recent western trip. Yesterday, however, his finger was so swollen and sore he was replaced by Howie Schultz.

Sisler today joined third baseman Bert Haas at Temple University Hospital for a checkup. Haas suffered a possible skull fracture last week at Cincinnati and is expected to receive word today on whether or not an operation will be necessary.

Also on the sidelines are Schoolboy Rowe, big right-hander out with a thumb fracture, and lefthander Ken Heintzelman who will be used sparingly for several weeks after a severe cold that almost turned into pneumonia.

The finish line. Black was critically hurt.

Racing Fatality In Georgia Event

Jefferson, Ga., May 17—(AP)—Swain Prickett, racing car driver of Cornelia, Ga., was killed a few seconds after he won a feature race here yesterday.

Prickett's car and a car driven by Truet Black, also of Cornelia, collided after the two cars had crossed the finish line.

Carolinian Tops Hogan; Newest Pro-Golf Star

Philadelphia, May 17—(AP)—A stocky young man headed westward today tagged a definite threat to the stars of golf in his first try for the PGA championship.

Johnny Palmer, from the little town of Badin, N.C., earned the tag and a comfortable $2,500 by a sterling demonstration of skill and courage that won the Philadelphia Inquirer Invitation Tournament.

To do it he had to beat off a determined challenge by Ben Hogan, and overcome the added hazard of pouring rain on a long and difficult golf course. His closing round of 69 strokes, four under par for the 6,870 yard White Marsh Valley layout, gave Palmer a 261 total, four strokes better than Hogan.

Unofficial Mark In 100-Yard Dash

Fresno, Calif., May 17—(AP)—The swiftest man-run 100 yard dash—9.3 seconds—was recorded at the 22nd annual West Coast relays Saturday.

Mel Patton, University of Southern California speedster, led the show with the unofficial world record time—one tenth of a second better than the mark held by himself and four others.

Shotgun Figured Saturday Night Brawl Near City

By CHESTER WALSH

Sheriff's deputies arrested Dewey Brooks, storekeeper on the Grimesland highway, near the Port Terminal, shortly after midnight Saturday and charged him with assault with a deadly weapon.

Deputy Loyd Manning quoted Brooks as saying that he ordered Joe and Arthur Forbes and James Alton Harrington to leave his premises, that they resisted and that in an altercation his (Brooks') shotgun exploded, inflicting slight injuries on all three men.

The officer quoted one of the men as saying that if Harrington hadn't knocked the gun down that some of them would have been seriously wounded. The deputy sheriff said that in the scuffle Harrington badly beat up Brooks.

The officer took the men to Pitt General Hospital for first aid. Several stitches were taken in Brooks' face. Stray shot punctured Joe and Arthur Forbes' legs and one struck Harrington on the forehead. All four men were arrested. They will be given a hearing before Magistrate H. L. Jenkins Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

gave Palestine to Britain as a mandate. Which means: Britain was to run it until the people living there found some way of running it themselves.

The British let some Jews flow into Palestine. The Arabs protested bloodily. Since 1923 a dozen world commissions have been set up to study the problem of letting the Jews have a nation or government, side by side with the Arabs, in Palestine. No solution was found.

Then last year Britain told the United Nations she'd give up her mandate and take her troops out of Palestine by May 15, 1948. Britain for a quarter of a century had troops there to keep peace.

On Nov. 29, 1947—with the backing of the United States and Russia—U.N. voted to partition Palestine, split it in half between Arabs and Jews.

That started fierce fighting between Jews and Arabs. On March 19, 1948, the United States reversed its stand on partition and asked the U.N. to set up another mandate, called a trusteeship.

Warren Austin, chief American delegate to the U.N., said heavy fighting and chaos would result when Britain got out on May 15. Between March 19 and May 15 the fighting got worse.

On May 15 the British withdrew. The Jews immediately declared an independent Jewish state, called Israel (God rules), in those sections of Palestine assigned them under the U.N.'s partition. But the U.N. still hadn't agreed on a trusteeship.

And on May 15 President Truman announced this country recognized the new Jewish state. The fighting grew worse. The Arab world closed in on Palestine.

half movement like an old side-wheel steamer getting into its berth—also has been a horror in the past.

In pre-war days these courts always were a period of torture for the American Embassy because of the flood of applications from American women to be "presented." Comparatively few could be chosen, and those left out cried their disappointment to high heaven and into influential ears back home. The selected few then had to be schooled in the courtesy and other court ways, and near hysteria wasn't uncommon among the trainees.

Women IN THE CHURCH

Despite a plea made by Professor Georgia Harness, of Evanston, Ill., and by a number of other women leaders of the Methodist Church, the general conference of the denomination, meeting in Boston, voted down by a close margin the proposal to admit women as members of the annual conferences and appoint them to the "travelling ministry." At the present time, women may be ordained to the ministry and appointed as "supply pastors" to Methodist churches, and hundreds of them so serve. Prof. Harness, theologian and author, is in the peculiar position of being a member of a faculty which trains men for a position which she herself cannot occupy. She is a staff member of Garrett Biblical Institute.

Because so many young women and young men, particularly college students, crowd into Atlantic City, N. J., during the summer and obtain jobs, mostly as waitresses and waiters, a number of local Christian groups have banded together to form the Atlantic City Student Aid Council. The Council is prepared to help young people find suitable jobs, and then to care for their recreational and religious needs. The Council has been formed by the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., the New Jersey State Council of Churches, the Atlantic City Hotel Association, and the Home Missions Council.

Pleading for an extension of home mission services by the Methodist Church to neglected situations throughout America, Mrs. J. D. Bragg, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, recently told the denomination's general conference: "With only 50 per cent of the population of the United States bearing relationship to any religious faith—Protestant, Catholic or Jewish—effective Christians are a small minority in the midst of a secularized world. Upon them rests the responsibility not only of extending the evangelistic outreach of the church, but home mission institutions should be strengthened by more adequate support through money and personnel. We feel that the decrease of 30 per cent in juvenile delinquency and the 25 per cent decrease in di-

As an American citizen your opportunities are greater than in any other country on earth. And for that very reason you have an obligation to defend America and its freedoms—to make this way of life secure.

CHOOSE YOUR FIELD OF SPECIAL TRAINING BEFORE YOU ENLIST!

If you are 18 to 34 (17 with parents' consent) and a high school graduate, you can select your course of training in the Army or the Air Force before enlisting.

Under the Army Technical School Plan you can specify two different courses that appeal to you in each of two fields. The Army will check to make sure there is an opening in one

Visiting Nurse

by Kathleen Harris

Chapter 12

Hildred had hoped at first, though now she had discarded the idea as hopeless, to open Randy's eyes by receiving the attentions of another man. But it was over Jimmy, rather than Lucien, that this awakening started.

As a matter of fact, it was because he chanced to overhear the tail-end of her conversation over the phone with Mrs. Jones, arranging for Jimmy's visit, that Randy opened the argument. It was an argument that soon threatened to run into what appeared to be the first serious difference between the young doctor and his assistant nurse.

"Anything the matter at the Home?" Randy asked, as she hung up the receiver.

"She had not heard him come into his office and so Hildred gave a decidedly guilty start. 'Oh... I thought you were busy with Mrs. McCarty and her baby... The Home? No, no, nothing is wrong that I know of.'"

Randy looked at her with an odd, puzzled expression. "You were talking with Mrs. Jones, weren't you? I heard you say something about coming out... one of the children... if anything is wrong I ought to know about it."

"I didn't know you were listening to my conversation," Hildred returned. "Nothing is wrong, as I told you before."

"I did not intend eavesdropping," Randy's tone was curt, professional. "It was my impression you were talking with Mrs. Jones, discussing a patient. If it was a personal conversation, I am sorry."

"You need not be," Hildred no longer felt guilty; she was angry. She had stood for Randy's lordly attitude far too long. "It was not personal. I was talking with Mrs. Jones. The conversation was in regard to Jimmy. And, since you seem to think you have to know everything that goes on, I was arranging to call for him tomorrow to take him home with me and keep him over the weekend."

"I see." He did not look as if he did. There was a deep line between his sandy brows. "Don't you think you might have discussed that with me? He's down in his swivel chair, crossing his long, lean legs. 'You know how I feel about such matters, Hildy. That it is better not to interfere. The sooner a child gets adjusted to a new environment the better.'"

"Jimmy will never get adjusted," Hildred said. She leaned against the other side of the desk. She needed its support.

"The doctor usually gives the prescription," Randy's gray eyes were hard and cold as flint.

"The prescription—and the doctor could be wrong," she said. "Patients have been known to die, because doctors think they are so infallible."

"I don't think that. Any more than I think Jimmy is going to die. What has got into you, Hildy? You've never questioned my judgment before."

"Oh, haven't I? That shows how blind and stupid you are. I don't question it when it comes to purely professional, medical and surgical matters. But this is another issue, one in the realm of psychology. No, beyond that, it's a matter of a woman's instinct telling her, in this case, she knows more than any man."

Randy was looking at her as if he never had seen her before, as indeed he never had in this mood—not as aroused as this.

"You are the one who is making an issue." His tone was cold. "I don't question the wisdom of psychology, or even the power of woman's intuition. However, in this particular case—history I feel that the child should make the necessary readjustment, though it will, I grant you, be difficult for him, without the interference I spoke of before."

"I cannot agree!" Hildred wondered that she dared interrupt, but she now dared anything.

"Do you think if I were not sure I was right I would insist upon holding to my judgment?"

"I think you could be wrong—this one time." She hated to talk this way to Randy—not because it was against all her training as a nurse, but because she loved him. "I think you should let me have a chance to prove I could be right, for once. Of course I realize you can give orders that I cannot take Jimmy from the Home."

"It is not a question of that," Randy broke in this time. The line between his sandy brows was a scowl. But now it cleared as if a storm had suddenly blown away. His eyes remained cool, his manner aloof, but he said briefly, "Very well, have it your way. I'll give you the chance. I shan't give any orders you may consider it your case from now on."

Hildred leaned her weight even more heavily on the desk, resting the palms of both hands on it for support. Victory had come too abruptly, too unexpectedly—and much too completely.

"I hope your intuition works out successfully—for the boy's sake," Randy said. "Maybe it will. I admit I could be wrong. I hope I am this once."

"She knew she was right. All she had to do to reassure herself was to remember the perfect day spent with the little boy and Robin and Lucien."

"Lands sake!" Mamie whispered, in the tiny closet that served as a sort of lab. "You and the Doc sure had it, didn't you?"

Hildred nodded silently, still lost in thought.

"You sure let him have it!" Mamie shook her gray crop of hair in approval and awe. "Couldn't get the words of course. But couldn't help hearing the way you raised your voice."

It was as well that Mrs. McCarty and her baby—the last patients for this day—had departed. Hildred had not thought about Mamie, though if she had, it would not have mattered. The only thing that mattered now was to make things right for Jimmy.

Keep a Farmer

with National Legislative experience on the job!

Senator William B. Umstead is the only man with adult "dirt farming" experience to serve North Carolina in the U. S. Senate since Hon. F. M. Simmons.
Born on a farm in Durham County, the Senator spent the first 21 years actively engaged in growing tobacco and other farm crops.

He Knows Farmers And Farmers' Problems

And—He DOES something about them. As a member of Congress he voted for the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Rural Electrification Act, the Farm Tenant Purchase Program, the Soil Conservation Act, and the Tobacco Control Act.

"Bill" Umstead Is The Only North Carolina Senatorial Candidate In This Election With Any Personal Farm Experience.

With critical farm legislation facing the Congress, North Carolina farmers cannot take chances on changing.

Big Attendance Anticipated For Demo Convention

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, May 17.—More than 4,000 Democrats are expected to move on Raleigh Thursday for the 1948 state convention of their party. Hundreds of them will come the day before to take part in pre-convention conferences, and many will not bother to attend the formal convention session. At least that will be the case if usual custom is followed. Party rules provide for each county to send one accredited delegate and one alternate for each 100 votes or major fraction of that number cast for governor in the last election. There were 528,995 votes cast for Governor Gregg Cherry, which means that between 3,526 and 3,600 delegates can be sent with a like number of alternates. Traditionally some counties send fewer than the allotted quota, while others send more. County voting strength ranges from four votes for Tyrrell, which cast 571 Democratic ballots for the governor last time, up to 188 for Mecklenburg, which led the state with 28,184 Democratic votes. The Raleigh auditorium seats slightly less than 4,000 people and is seldom filled by any occasion. Party leaders predict that the audience Thursday will approximate house capacity, but will not represent the total number of Democrats attracted to Raleigh by the conven-

Jerry Wald's Band To Play For Wilson Sudan Dance May 19

Jerry Wald and his 15 piece orchestra will play for the pre-ceremonial dance at the Spring Festival of Sudan Temple which will be held in Wilson on Wednesday, May 19.

It is no secret in music circles that swing music is on the decline. Many bandleaders have broken up their outfits because of this trend, while others strive desperately to rearrange their libraries to fit the times. "Jive" is no longer a major factor in dance music.

Jerry Wald was one of the first to realize that music needed a shot in the arm. After a closing engagement at the Hollywood Palladium late in 1946, Wald reorganized his entire setup and started working on a new idea in music. Now he is probably the most talked about young man in music, for his present orchestra is different, fresh, and appealing to all. Unlike many other popular bands, the Wald band features a melodic kind of music that is completely danceable. Show tunes, standards, popular hit tunes and memory songs are all contained in his library. Everything from the waltz to the samba with a spread out to all types of tempos make this orchestra one of appeal to everyone. Three violins, one viola, one cello, two trumpets, three rhythm units, a boy singer, and the famous clarinet of Wald himself combine to give music lovers and dancers real entertainment.

Wald himself admits that he has produced something new in the musical world. "But," he says, "my first duty is to my fans, and as long as I give them what they want, then I'll keep on doing my best."

One prize will be for the best high school band, given by the Junior Chamber of Commerce; another for the most representative Shrine club, given by the Hargrove display service, Washington, D. C.; the third prize is offered by the Wilson Shrine Club for the most characteristic float.

Kiwanis Minstrel Wednesday And Thursday Nights

By CHESTER WALSH
The Kiwanis Club's annual minstrel show will be presented at Austin auditorium at the college Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8 o'clock.
Eli Bloom, producer of the show, will be the emcee.
Tige (Sweetpea) Gardner, one of the stars of the show for many years, will head a cast of exceptionally funny end men, some of them prominent Greenville citizens.
Tickets are on sale by the Kiwanians and at J. Hicks Corey's real estate and insurance office, 615 Dickenson Avenue. Proceeds of the minstrel are for the benefit of the Kiwanis Underprivileged Child committee, which is doing outstanding "Good Samaritan" work among deserving persons.
Impressario Bloom said the jokes are all new; the music will be tuneful and sparkling; the dance, under direction of Mrs. Marie Smith Wallace, are different and better than ever. The scenery and lighting effects are brilliant. The chorus in blackface, has been carefully selected and the songs are catchy and tuneful. The show is expected to be a sell-out. President Nathan C. Brooks said.

Legion Elects New Officers Tuesday Night

Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion, will hold its May dinner meeting at the Airport Inn Tuesday night, May 18, at 7:30. Commander James S. Jenkins will preside.
Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw, who is presiding over Superior Court this week, has been invited.
Officers for the coming year are to be elected and nine members of the Pitt County Fair Board of Directors are to be named.
James E. Worsley, chairman of the Boys' State Committee, will announce the number of boys the post will send to Boys' State at Chapel Hill this summer. The Pitt County Bar Association recently announced that it will send one boy to the annual event at Chapel Hill, and some of the civic clubs are planning to send boys to the annual "school of government" for youngsters.

Regional School Sponsors Plan Continue Work

Raleigh, N. C., May 17—(P)—U. S. Senate shelving of a bill authorizing southern regional schools will not deter sponsors of the plan, says Dr. Clyde A. Erwin.
In a statement, he declared the program has been "crucified upon the cross of political expediency and political prejudice." Erwin, who is North Carolina's superintendent of public instruction, made the statement as president of the Southern Council of Chief State School Officers.
"I am giving notice," he said in the statement, "that we shall continue our cooperation with the Southern Governors conference to bring about the development of regional cooperation in higher education because we believe it to be the only plan through which the South can meet the needs of its people in this respect."
