

Probe Debris Of Flooded City In Hunt For Bodies

Vanport, Oregon, Destroyed In Minutes As Dike Bursts; Death Toll Is Unknown.

Vanport, Ore., May 31.—(AP)—The waterlogged debris of this war-built city was probed today for possible victims of a flood that destroyed the town of 18,700 within minutes.

Officially, there are no known dead 12 hours after a wall of water burst upon the dike guarded community on the south bank of the flooding Columbia river late yesterday. But thousands of survivors who told of their escape and rescue left slight doubt that the toll will mount rapidly when the splintered dwellings are cleared away.

The search for victims went on under flood lights last night and the probe of the submerged automobiles and dwellings went into full force at dawn. Hundreds are injured and in hospitals.

Vanport—once the second largest city in Oregon in the wartime shipyard era here—is a total loss. Most of the victims are expected to be children. The playdays were crowded for Sunday games when the children were suddenly. Many are sons and daughters of veterans living in the public housing project and students at Vanport College centered in the town. The anxiety of most of the adult survivors is for their offspring. Dozens told of leaving children in upper floors of the buildings—believed in safety—buildings that later folded like tents when the flood impact struck the apartments. Others said children were torn from their grasp. Their fate is unknown today.

The disaster struck the community in a flanking of flood water from the swollen Columbia river. The backwater and lake it formed had weakened a railroad embankment on the west edge of the city. The river level had risen to 15 feet above the Vanport table-like ground level yesterday morning. The break came under the bridge at 5:15 (Pacific Time).

The prearranged siren signal for the townfolk was sounded. But within minutes the gap had spread to 60 feet, then 800 feet and a six-foot wall of water swept into the city.

Hundreds heard the warning signal, but thousands—lulled by earlier reports that they were in imminent danger—appeared to ignore the danger and scoffed as neighbors dashed for the higher dykes surrounding the mile square area. Today the scene was a placid pool on which the frame apartment buildings floated, shattered walls and roofs and household goods drifted aimlessly.

Denies Charge Of Gas Tactics

Lake Success, May 31.—(AP)—Paris El Khoury of Syria declared today the Jewish charge that the Arabs plan to use gas in Palestine is "a terrible lie."

The Arab delegate to the United Nations security council said in a statement that "we do not possess such material."

He added that it appeared the Jews might be trying to counter a complaint last week by Egypt in which Egypt announced the capture of the Jews who were alleged to have confessed they had been ordered to poison wells in Arab-held areas.

ADAMPTION FOR POLICIES

Guilford College, N. C., May 31.—(AP)—North Carolina's "refusal to join some other southern states in loose and violent talk about political secession in 1948 has the state new admiration North and South," Jonathan Daniels said here today.

Leader And Winners In Saturday's Primary

Pitt County's Voters Generally Follow Trend Of State Results

Fewer Ballots Cast Than Anticipated; Only Two Possible Second Primaries Loom For County Offices

Pitt County voters at the polls Saturday, in fewer numbers than had been anticipated, in most other respects followed the trends that had been predicted by those who had followed the campaign, by giving a majority to former Governor J. M. Broughton over U. S. Senator William B. Umstead, and giving Charles M. Johnson a small plurality in a field of six for the office of governor. The total vote cast was around the 8,000 mark.

William J. Bundy who a short time ago was appointed Solicitor of the Fifth Judicial District, led the voting in this county getting 5,900 votes against 1,582 for his opponent, Charles L. Abernethy of New Bern.

Frank M. Kilpatrick and Sam O. Worthington (both incumbents) were winners for Pitt County's two seats in the House of Representatives in a four way race in which three of the contestants won clear majorities. The vote was Kilpatrick 3,763, Worthington 3,719, W. Jasper Smith 3,568, and E. L. Henderson 1,850. In view of the fact that three of the men received majorities the question of a second primary between the second and third was raised but Attorney General Harry MacMillan ruled today that his interpretation of the law was that when more candidates than the offices involved, received majorities, the highest candidates were nominated.

While voting in some of the races for county officers was spirited and close, only two possible primaries looms for county offices.

Specific Platform For GOP Favored By Taft

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) came out today for a detailed Republican platform that will make the Democrats "get specific" in their presidential campaign pledges.

Taft told a reporter there has been the usual talk among Republicans of adopting a short, readable platform outlining the general principles on which the party will stand in the November election.

"But I don't think we can afford just to generalize," he said. "We have a record in Congress that must be spelled out in some detail."

"Besides, I want to put the Democrats in a position where they will have to get specific about where they stand on such issues as civil rights. If we dealt only in generalities, it would be an invitation to

On the basis of incomplete unofficial returns from the six counties in the Fifth Judicial District, William J. Bundy, of Greenville won the solicitorship over his opponent Charles L. Abernethy of New Bern by more than 3,000 majority.

Blank Ballots In Czech Elections

Prague, May 31.—(AP)—The Ministry of Interior said today 770,701 Czechs cast blank ballots in yesterday's parliamentary election—their means of showing opposition to the Communist-led government.

The Communist-led National Front ticket—the only one entered—received 6,429,145 votes, the ministry said. There had been no doubt of the Communist victory.

The ministry said the total vote was 7,199,846 of a registration of 8,005,887.

In some localities the protest ballot ran as high as 39 percent. Many districts returned votes for the government ticket from 96 to 100 per cent.

Robeson Defies Senatorial Body

Prefers Jail To Telling Whether He Is A Communist

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Paul Robeson, Negro singer, refused today to tell a senatorial committee whether he is a member of the American Communist party. He said he is willing to go to jail rather than tell.

Robeson appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee, along with several other witnesses, to oppose the Mundt-Nixon Communist control bill. He said he thinks members of the Communist party "have done a magnificent job in America."

But he declined to answer a specific question by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) as to his party membership.

Ferguson told reporters afterwards the committee will decide later whether to start contempt action against the singer. Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) expressed doubt that the committee would, but Senator Moore (R-Okla.) said he is in favor of it.

"Robeson seems to want to be made a martyr," Moore said, "and maybe we ought to make him one. Sometimes a year in jail cools some of these people off."

Robeson said that if the Mundt-Nixon bill is passed, he will not obey it.

Asked whether he would fight for the United States in case of a war with Russia, Robeson said he would have to decide that when the time came.

But he balked at the query about Communist party membership.

Stockyard Fire Quickly Spreads In Pens, Sheds

South St. Paul, May 31.—(AP)—Fire attacked the tinder-dry wooden pens of the South St. Paul stockyards company at 11:45 a.m. today and within 30 minutes had spread over a two-block area.

Yards employees turned their first efforts toward saving an estimated 2,000 head of livestock. Many of the animals were turned loose and fled to swamps near the fringe of the yards.

Firemen lamented the lack of wind, saying the flames spread in all directions, whereas a wind would have driven them in one. An unusually dry spring contributed to the hazard. The straw-strewn pens and sheds burned fiercely. Smoke could be seen for 10 miles.

New Pledges To Preserve Peace, Liberty Voiced

Memorial Day Services Held In Many Lands; President Joins In Rites

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
New pledges to preserve peace, freedom and liberty were voiced in many lands yesterday as Americans paid tribute to this country's war dead.

President Truman interrupted a weekend of Potomac river yachting to place a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

In a radio address he voiced the hope that the Memorial Day celebrations around the globe would underline two things: "That the government of the United States works only for peace in the world, and in order to attain that peace we must have the ability to enforce it."

In a second ceremony in Washington, Mr. Truman put a rose in a floral anchor that was dropped in the Potomac in honor of his predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The president also sent a message to Jewish war veterans of the United States, holding their 53rd annual memorial service in New York.

"It is not enough that we pay lip service to those who died in the fight to bring tolerance and good will to the world, he said that in that message. 'We must ever keep in our hearts the need for the understanding and peace among all peoples wherever they may be. Under God, let us hold high the torch of freedom and justice for all people.'

At the American military cemetery of Notre Dame near Dinant, Belgium—burial place of those who died in the Battle of the Bulge, in the Ardennes Wood and at Bastogne—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States commander in Europe, declared:

"We shall not fail these heroes on our efforts to establish and maintain freedom."

Francis Cardinal Spellman, visiting the American armed forces cemetery north of Manila, led the services for the dead and asked a blessing for the living, "who are fighting the good fight for peace."

Gen. Omar Bradley, army chief of staff, declared at Longmeadow, Mass.:

"Wars can be prevented just as surely as they are provoked and therefore we who fail to prevent them must share in guilt for the deed."

Suspect Youth Killed Father

Los Angeles, May 31.—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old, freckle-faced Robert Witzel was held today on suspicion of murdering his father, Elmer L. Witzel, 60, Glendale City prisoner.

Police accused him of firing seven shots into his father's face and chest in the family living room last night. His mother said the boy used a .22-caliber pump action rifle his father had bought him recently.

U.S. Ambassador Back In Moscow

Moscow, May 31.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador W. B. Smith was back at his desk today.

He returned to Moscow Saturday from a fishing trip in Normandy. He was not feeling well and went to bed, but was up last night for an embassy dinner for Mrs. Lucius D. Clay, wife of the American military governor of Germany.

Elections Board Preparing For New Primary, June 26

'Disaster Area'

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—President Truman today declared flood-swept sections in the northwest a "disaster area" and ordered use of surplus war property for relief and rehabilitation.

Mr. Truman acted aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg where he is spending most of the day.

The White House said the President "expresses his deepest sympathy" for flood victims.

Short Breather For Campaigners

Scott, Johnson Set Eyes On Coming Run-Off Primary

Raleigh, May 31.—(AP)—Clean-up details went to work today in the headquarters of all but two of the major candidates who tangled in Saturday's Democratic primary.

There'll be only a short breather for the campaign forces of State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson and Kerr Scott, former agriculture commissioner, who led the six-man field in the gubernatorial race.

Then back to work they'll go in preparation for a run-off primary between the two June 26.

A question that moved to the front in political interest was the question of what stand Wayne Albright, third man in the race for governor, might take in the runoff.

Albright wasn't saying. All he wanted to do, he said, was to catch up on his sleep. He added that he hadn't made "any kind of trades, arrangements or deals with anybody in this campaign" and he wanted to "rest a while before making any plans."

Johnson in a statement made a move in Albright's direction by linking their votes as "vindication for clean politics."

Scott issued a statement warning his supporters against overconfidence in a second primary.

Burlington Mills Employs Harden

Greensboro, May 31.—(AP)—Announcement was made here today by J. C. Cowan, Jr., president of Burlington Mills Corporation, that John Harden of Raleigh, until recently secretary to Governor R. Gregg Cherry, has been made director of publicity and public relations for Burlington Mills in the South.

Harden, a well-known North Carolina newspaper man, will assume his new duties at the executive offices of the corporation, located here, later this week.

Outlines Objectives Of South Korean Assembly

Seoul, May 31.—(AP)—Amid proud and colorful ceremony, South Korea's new assembly met for the first time today and heard its white haired leader urge quick action to get self-rule under way.

Chairman Syngman here outlined four objectives:

1. Adoption of a constitution.
2. Formation of Korea's first democratic government.
3. Initiation of direct, friendly negotiations with Soviet Russia—which occupies North Korea—and which boycotted the assembly election—"For the just solution of the critical common problems of the two nations."
4. Settle political, economic and other urgent problems with Japan, Korea's former master.

The strong-willed, conservative Rhee expressed hope American troops would remain in South Korea until the government sets up its own defense force. He added this was not meant to invite interference with the "exercise of our Sovereign rights."

Li Gen. John R. Hodge, U. S. commander in South Korea, assured the gray-robed Rhee the United States "does not intend to dictate to you" Assemblymen applauded. Hodge said military government stood ready to assist the recently elected assembly.

To Korean Communists, Rhee extended another—and "last"—opportunity to "repent and join hands with us in our common efforts toward the complete restoration of our nation."

Ceremonies which blended the new with the old followed the morning business session at which Rhee was named permanent chairman.

Arab Armies Try Encirclement Of Jews In Tel Aviv

Second Israeli Center May Soon Be Surrounded By Three Arab Groups

Cairo, May 31.—(AP)—Three Arab armies appeared trying today to encircle the Israeli center of Tel Aviv as they have ringed Jerusalem.

Encirclement rather than a hazardous frontal attack generally was believed to be the Arab aim.

Some Arab leaders talked of telling the United Nations the Arabs cannot accept its request for a four-week armistice unless the U.N. repudiates the idea of dividing Palestine into Jewish and Arab states.

There was no official word as to the nearest point hostile troops have approached Tel Aviv. Abbel Gellil El Raw, Iraqi charge d'affaires in Cairo, told reporters Iraqi troops were only three miles away. Pressed for details and the source of his news, he said it came from a private source.

The Jewish Irgun Zvai Leumi reported, however, that an Iraqi armored column had forced its way back from Bas E Ain, nine miles north-east of Tel Aviv.

Along the coast 30 miles south of Tel Aviv, the Egyptian army is up against the Jewish defense line just inside the area assigned to the Arabs under the partition plan. An Egyptian communiqué said a Jewish counterattack in the Isdud region was repulsed and that Egyptian bombers hit targets in the Rehovot area, 11 miles southeast of Tel Aviv.

The British-controlled Near East radio said Iraqi troops occupied Kfar Yona and another Jewish settlement 18 miles north of Tel Aviv and five miles east of coastal Nahanya. If the Arabs thrust toward the coast at this point, the Jews undoubtedly will fight hard to stop it. Otherwise Tel Aviv and Haifa would be cut off from each other.

Claim Success In Latrun Area

Cairo, May 31.—(AP)—The Trans-Jordan Arab Legion announced today it had smashed a Jewish assault in the Latrun area, which controls the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway, and found 114 of the Jews dead on the battlefield.

The Amman communiqué said Jewish forces in the Latrun action left behind four armored cars and large quantities of arms, ammunition and trench digging machines.

New York, May 31.—(AP)—The National Association of Purchasing Agents has a worry, now that June is upon us.

BETTER SERVICE IS OUR WAY OF MAKING FRIENDS

Concerned Over Graduating Vets

New York, May 31—(P)—A new veteran problem is working the New York chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Almost a million veterans will be graduated from the nation's colleges in the next few weeks—all older and more experienced than the run-of-the-mill younger graduates.

Ages of the veterans will range from 22 to 45, with the average estimated at 27 to 30.

"Most levels of management ignore the potential or actual values derived from experiences gained during military or government service," the society says.

"This attitude compels the veteran, often with a wife and child, to cut four or five years completely out of his life and be willing, at 30, to start at a job usually offered to a 25-year old single lad.

"This man is bound to be resentful and to feel pushed around. He will be happy to do some pushing

Strength FOR THE DAY

LEST WE FORGET
Trump, tramp, tramp.
Whence comes that terrible thud as if thousands and tens of thousands of soldiers were marching by? The streets are clear. Only an occasional pedestrian is on the sidewalk, and the machines and trucks hurry along at their usual rate of speed.

Yet we hear the measured tread of unseen feet. There is something very dreadful and ominous and warning about the sound. It is the foot of those who have perished in great causes; and I think the reason we can hear their tread so plainly is because they would say to us from beyond the veil that if we can only realize it, most of the things for which men have fought in the past could have been settled by some other means than blood-letting.

We have nothing but devotion and honor for those who gave their all for their native land; but surely if the dead could come back to testify, they would warn us with great earnestness that nobody ever wins a war, and that what men call victory, historians in later ages call the beginning of a civilization's decline.

In more ways than one, Memorial Day is a day when we would cherish the memories of those who gave all for their native land; but it is a day also when we should remember that victory comes not through killing men, but through saving and enriching their lives.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

LEFT-DOWN—The tumult and the shouting dies, the captains and the soldiers depart. That is only partially true with respect to the 1948 primary, because tumult and shouting will continue for another four weeks in the governor's race. And whether hearts are contrite, there are some almost broken as sacrifice to the goddess of political luck.

QUARTER-BACKING—Capitol square folk have been indulging since Saturday in the traditional American custom of "Monday morning quarterbacking." Some of the big game. There are explanations and alibis, and an amazing number of folks ready to say "I told you so." There is perhaps less than usual effort on part of losing candidates and their supporters to make excuse. There is rather general concurrence in the opinion that every candidate for state office did his best, and that excuse or alibi is not called for.

SURPRISE—There were some minor surprises and some very keen disappointments, but the big surprise of the election was smallness of the total vote. Only a very few prophets had looked for a vote as low as 400,000, while many estimates went above 500,000, with majority of those regarded as competent observers predicting 450,000 to 475,000. Weather undoubtedly played large part in holding down the vote, but the attitude of indifference and apathy on part of the citizenship was the big factor. Popular concern over party nominees has shown progressive decline since 1936. This lack of popular interest occasions genuine concern among Capitol square folks who sincerely believe in real democracy.

RANKING—Major candidates finished the race in the order most people had predicted. Among the aspirants for governor it had been generally conceded that the finish order would be Johnson, Scott, Albright, Barker and Boyd and Stanley. As this is written, Johnson is

The Prince Of Wails

HE'S SO LONESOME! SOMEBODY OUGHT TO GET IN THERE AND TALK WITH HIM.

THE FRIENDS WHO TRIED TO GET ALONG WITH HIM.

5-31 McKnight Syndicate, Inc., N.Y.C. REG-MANNING are belated returns yet to be reported, but it is not probable they will change that order. Former Governor J. M. Broughton had all along been considered the favorite over Senator William B. Umstead. Johnson's lead over Scott was less, and Broughton's lead over Umstead was more, than most impartial observers had predicted.

PROSPECTIVE—A second primary between Johnson and Scott for governor is certain. With less than 10,000 votes difference and approximately 80,000 Albright-Barker-Boyd-Stanley votes lying around loose, a run-off is necessary in the name of democracy and popular control of government. Where Albright and Barker will land, and how much of their following they can take with them are potent questions. How much money will be available for either or both candidates is also a vital question. Perhaps more significant than either of these factors is what attitude the Broughton and Umstead groups will take. It was noted all during the first campaign that there was no general alignment of senatorial and gubernatorial candidates. Governor Gregg Cherry made no secret of his support for Umstead, but he stayed out of the governor's scrap. Both Johnson and Scott folks charged him with aiding the other. He may be an important element in the second primary.

OTHERS—Johnson and Scott headquarters personnel have set other four weeks of intensive work which may include the Albright and Barker forces. Joe Caruthers, Umstead manager, will return to his law office at Greensboro. Jeff Johnson, Broughton manager, will resume his practice at Clinton for the present. Later he can have anything within the power of Senator Broughton to give him. Meantime Broughton will be arranging affairs to go to Washington in December, while Umstead is expected to re-establish his law practice at Durham.

WASHINGTON LETTER
By JANE EANS

Washington—The need for nurses is "imperative" if present health programs, as well as anticipated expansion in health services, are to be carried out. This was revealed in a report by the personnel section of the National Health Assembly which met in Washington recently to prepare a 10-year United States Health program.

It is estimated that approximately 554 nurses will be needed in 1960 for federal services, non-federal hospitals, private duty, public health and industrial service.

Because of the increased services required of professional nurses, the report further states their educational program must be broadened.

The number of graduate nurses employed by hospitals with schools of nursing has increased by 270 percent since 1945. Of the country's approximate 1,250 hospitals with schools of nursing, there were 20,500 graduate nurses in 1946 and 50,700 in 1948. Public health service is expanding rapidly, the report states. It estimates that public health nurses make more than 16,000,000 home visits annually. From Jan. 1, 1947, the number of nurses employed by all public health services was 21,500.

The personnel section recommends that nursing should be included in the curriculum of all institutions of higher learning, and that nursing education should be available to qualified applicants without discrimination as to race, color or sex. It believes that two years of general education beyond the high school level should be a requirement.

Other recommendations: (1) Scholarships for qualified students, otherwise unable to finance their nursing education, should be made available through the schools; (2) Fellowships should be made available to encourage training of teachers and research workers in nursing; (3) Research funds should be available to improve the practice of nursing, investigate the use and need for professional nurses, practical nurses and other auxiliary workers and to study the role of the nurse in the health team.

Study Of Communism

How Leadership Is Attained; Basis Of Thorough Training; The Average Leader And His Experience, Ability; Mature Responsible Men Behind Revolt

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—A Communist leader gets to the top the way a man gets to be a bank president: he has to work his way up.

He may join the party for a number of reasons: idealism, romanticism, frustration, or a cold belief that Communism is best for mankind.

He may be young when he joins. But by the time he reaches leadership he's generally a middle-aged man.

By then he has had behind him long experience in the party. He's been tested. He's been trained in Communist doctrine and tactics.

A subcommittee of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs has made a study and report on 506 Communist leaders.

They're leaders in countries outside the Western Hemisphere. Which means they're leaders in Europe, Asia and the Pacific. The report shows this:

The average age of those 506 leaders is 46. Many had not been workers. At least one out of five had university schooling.

Among them are a lot of professional men: teachers, architects, doctors, engineers, lawyers, and economists.

Nearly half have been imprisoned many more than once. And many, although still alive, were sentenced to death.

About one out of four has been active as a labor organizer, about one out of three as a Communist journalist, and at least one out of four has done guerrilla fighting against the Nazis or other forces.

More than one-half of the 506 have been Communists since 1922 or before, while fully three-fourths have been Communists since 1927.

The report says:

"Prison and exile have been their common fare, but that their careers have not been failures so far is marked by the fact that 30 per cent of them today hold cabinet posts in various governments, while 40 per cent are members of their national legislative bodies."

"The lives of the men and women who have devoted themselves to Communism are in accordance with the doctrine and strategy. They are in accordance with the book x x x few groups in all history have ever conformed so closely to a pattern."

This study of the subcommittee makes clear that the direction the Communist revolutionary parties is in the hands of experienced men and women, not youths.

But the same thing was pretty true in the French Revolution.

In his book—"The Anatomy of Revolution"—Crane Brinton, a Harvard history professor, points out that even in the French Revolution the leaders were mature, middle-aged people.

Brinton went to France some years ago and studied the tax rolls and other sources for information on the members of the Jacobin Clubs during the period of the French Revolution, 1789-95.

These clubs were political groups spread all over France and in time became the center of the revolution. The members were called Jacobins.

They started out moderately enough with members who were dissatisfied with the unlimited power of the French king. Brinton says "the Jacobin was neither a noble-

"As far as the rank and file of these clubs went, the notion that Revolutionists are recruited from the young and irresponsible is not borne out."

Brinton studied the membership of ten Jacobin clubs and found the average age was 43, or four years under the 48-year average age of the present Communist leaders.

Lenin was 47 in 1917 when his Communists grabbed power in Russia. But Robespierre, bloody leader of the Jacobins, was in his early thirties in France's Revolution.

Overflow Crowd At High School Sunday Night

By CHESTER WALSH
An overflow audience heard Rev. Robert W. Bradshaw, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church deliver an impressive baccalaureate sermon at the Greenville High School last night. The popular minister used as his subject, "Freedom," and in his ringing message of Christian citizenship, he talked heart-to-heart with the seniors and left a lasting impression upon them and the grown-ups present. Alfred Smith, president of the Senior Class presented the speaker.

The High School orchestra played several selections before the exercises commenced. The orchestra played for the senior processional, "God of Our Father" by Warren and accompanied the audience in singing "Come, Thou Almighty King." Rev. J. A. Nelson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, said the invocation and read the Scripture. The Mixed Chorus sang for the response, "Hear Our Prayer, O Lord." The congregation, standing, sang "Holy Spirit, Truth Divine" by Gottschalk. The Boys' Glee Club sang "The Word is Like a Garden, Lord" by

'Poppy Day' Sales Were Gratifying

Approximately 6,000 poppies were purchased by grateful citizens of Greenville and Pitt County last Saturday—official Poppy Day—according to Mrs. T. K. Fountain, chairman of the Poppy Day sales for the Greenville Auxiliary of the American Legion, Post 39.

Mrs. Fountain pointed out that Saturday's sales, which would probably top that of the past several years, were possible due to the full cooperation of the press and radio and a sympathetic public, with special credit due Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other school children who patrolled the streets during the entire day. The Auxiliary plans a party within the next few days for all of the children who assisted in the sale of poppies. Prizes will be awarded to three children who lead in the sale of poppies.

Although all sales reports are not complete, Mrs. Fountain stated that all the 1948-made poppies were sold before lunch Saturday and that almost all of the 1946-47 left-over poppies were sold during the afternoon. All the money derived from the sale of poppies will be used for the benefit of hospitalized veterans of the two World Wars in the state, it was pointed out.

Too Much Rain

The Weather Bureau here reports that one and three-fourths inches of rain fell in Greenville during the past week. Rainfall here for the month of May totaled four and one fourth inches. Mrs. G. E. Malden, local observer for the U. T. Department of Commerce, stated today. It was raining here at 11:30 a. m. today while this was being written. Rainfall has varied in numerous sections of the county. In some areas the precipitation has been light, but generally there has been sufficient rain to keep farmers from cultivating their crops in many places.

More than 100 graves of comrades who served in World Wars I and II were decorated with the flag and flowers Sunday throughout the county, according to S. A. Fire In Ahoskie Destroys Half Business Block Ahoskie, N.C., May 31—(AP)—Nearly half a block of business buildings on Ahoskie's main street were destroyed by fire yesterday. No estimate of damage was available today.

The fire was discovered shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday and many people left church services and their homes to fight the blaze which raged for three hours.

Fire Chief L. A. Williamson reported that buildings housing a cafe, a florist shop, a beauty shop, local offices of the Roanoke-Chowan News, and a barber shop were "95 percent destroyed."

The blaze was brought under control before a large garage was seri-

Chapter 24
The Countess' dramatic statement came as a distinct surprise to Hildred. But how was she, the little county nurse, supposed to react? What could she say, even as a friend? Lucien sat beaming at her, and his mother was smiling, so it was evident they did not want condolences.

Lucien said, "I hadn't told her, Liz. You might have left it to me. And, as you can see, Hildred, I am not left brokenhearted. The jilted suitor, as a matter of fact, is greatly pleased."

The Countess said, "I am also pleased that we have discovered, in time, that Dorothea is capable of such a thing. To marry another, when she could have had my son-to-do in such a common, cruel manner. And the man is a most ordinary person—they will be poor enough I am sure!—he is an instructor, in swimming or some such thing, if you can imagine that!" Apparently the Countess could not; she sank back to sip her hot tea gratefully, closing her eyes a moment.

This was why she did not see the big wink Lucien directed at Hildred. "Liz, like every other mother, cannot conceive how any girl could prefer any man to her precious son. I tell her Dodo and I never pretended to be in love. I am delighted she has found someone she cares for. And I admire her spunk in handling it the way she did!"

"I expect he is a fine physical specimen," Lucien chuckled. "Dodo is rather given to athletics, you know. And every girl falls for brawn, rather than brain. As for the Lanier millions, I also expect Dodo and her instructor will manage without them. I have heard, haven't you, Hildred, that people can survive on love alone?"

"Nonsense!" The Countess sniffed elegantly. But she seemed in better humor, no doubt because Lucien was in such high spirits. "That is a fallacy. It does not work in this modern world. You will see, my dears, that the day will come—and soon!—when Dorothea will regret her wild action. She will be writing me for money—and eventually she will get it of this person."

"I hope, if she writes, you will send her sufficient funds to carry on until she does get rid of her man, if she ever does. Liz, if not, I shall send her financial help, myself. If only in repayment for this freedom she has given me."

He turned toward Hildred now, taking her cup from her as he saw she had finished. Again his look was deep into her eyes. "I am free, Hildred," he said. "You know, I am free, now."

If the Countess was aware of any hidden meaning in these words she now came to her young guest's rescue. She leaned forward to give one of Hildred's slim hands a gentle pat. She said, "I am afraid you find us too outspoken, too emotional. No doubt you are thinking we should not discuss all this before you. But you are very close to us, my sweet child, and the time may come when you will understand more fully. Meanwhile, Lucien, I think we should proceed too rapidly. I think we should startle our little nurse..."

"This is the first time I have seen you in your nurse's uniform!" she broke off, to change the subject tactfully. "It is most becoming, is it not, Lucien?"

Hildred managed to murmur an appropriate thanks. But she still was uncomfortable. She could not help wondering at the Countess' complete change of manner toward herself. Lucien's mother had become more friendly than at that first meeting, but now she seemed to have taken Hildred to her bosom, as Mamie might have expressed it.

As soon as she gracefully could, Hildred asked to be excused, explaining that she was anxious to get home now that she knew Jimmy was all right. Her mother still was not well.

The Countess was all commiseration. "Lucien has told me about you, your poor mother. Something should—and must—be done about it. Of course we will excuse you, my dear. But we will want you back again very soon, shan't we, Lucien?"

"Hildred always dines with me on Thursday evening," Lucien said. "The anniversary of our meeting."

Hildred wanted to say that it might not be convenient this week, again because of her mother. But she did not like to say so just then. If, when Thursday came, her mother was not feeling well Hildred would break the dinner engagement.

It was her mother, however, who insisted Hildred must not do that. "I am perfectly all right," she insisted. "I want you to go, darling. Mrs. Archer will run in during the evening. And how could you refuse after Lucien and his mother sent me all these lovely flowers?" For once more, the little apartment was overflowing with a profusion of flowers.

"I suppose I'll have to go," she said, and wondered why she should feel that way about going when it was not the way she should feel at all.

Lucien told her, upon her arrival, that they were dining in his rooms. "Just the two of us," he added, his dark eyes smiling down into hers. "Liz has other guests and so I begged off—until later, anyway. Does that please you?"

It pleased her so much that perhaps her response was more ardent than it should have been. "I'm glad, Lucien, terribly glad—I'd much rather dine just with you." Her blue eyes smiled up into his.

Greenies Win Fourth Game In Row, 2-1, Against Bears

Double-Steal Scores First Marker As Kovalchick's Fifth Victory Includes Batting In Winning Run

By BERT MOYE

Manager Bill Phebus' Greenies, after being idle since last Thursday night, returned to action yesterday afternoon in New Bern and extended their winning streak to four straight victories as they turned back the Bears, 2-1, behind the five-hit hurling of Johnny Kovalchick, who registered his fifth win of the season and his second over the Bears.

Greenie scored its first run in the initial frame when Phillips walked, Nash singled with Phillips advancing to third, and then a double steal resulted in Phillips scoring.

Greenie clinched the victory in the seventh with a singleton on a walk, sacrifice and a single. Carter walked, Mitchell sacrificed him to second and then Johnny Kovalchick singled to bring Carter home for the winning tally.

The Bears were held scoreless until the seventh frame when two walks and a single produced their lone run. Sheehan and Gaskins walked, and Kolback singled to bring home Sheehan.

Johnny Kovalchick, in addition to pitching five-hit ball and providing the single that drove in the winning run, struck out a total of five men and walked three. Kolback the Bear's shortstop, with a double and a single in four trips to the plate, led the attack off Kovalchick. Dennis Gaskins, on the mound for the Bears, pitched four-hit ball against the Greenies, struck out eight men and walked four. Danny Lastras with two singles in four trips to the plate led the Greenies attack. Wiley Nash and Kovalchick secured the other two safeties.

The Greenies play a double bill with Tarboro today, playing over in Tarboro this afternoon at 2 p. m. and returning to Greenville to play here tonight at 7:45. On Tuesday night they meet the Roanoke Rapids Jays here.

Huskies Remain Unbeaten Crew

New York, May 31—(AP)—When they sound the "ready all" at Poughkeepsie June 2 there will be only one crew answering with an undefeated record so far this year. That will be the University of Washington Huskies from Seattle.

The Huskies, already Pacific Coast champions after a victory over California, last Saturday drenched the University of Wisconsin Badgers, one-length conquerors of Navy, in record time on Lake Washington.

They'll Be In Indianapolis Race

Thirty-Three Top Racing Drivers In Speed Classic

Indianapolis, May 31—(AP)—Thirty-three of the nation's top drivers in some of the fastest racing cars ever built are ready to go in the world-famous 500-mile automobile race today. It is the 32nd renewal of the Indianapolis Speedway Classic.

The start is scheduled for 11 a. m. EST.

Time trials winnowed out the 33 top cars from a record entry list of 80 powerful, high-speed racers. Nine of the leading drivers from America's dirt tracks and midwest saucers were ready to burn the bricks, along with 24 speedway veterans. The nine freshmen already had proved themselves adept on the two-and-a-half-mile track by earning starting spots in the fastest field ever brought together.

The 33 cars, ten of them brand new and the others rebuilt from proved racers, had averaged 125.163 miles an hour in qualification runs. That was about three miles an hour faster than any previous starting field. Five cars averaged more than 138 miles an hour for another record.

The standard favorites were Rex Mays, Ted Horn, Bill Holland, Mauri Rose and Duke Nalon. Rose, winner last year and co-winner with Floyd Davis in 1941, was the only starter who ever had received the victor's checker flag.

Holland was second last year in his first race after thinking, through a mixup in pit signals, that he had beaten his teammate on the Blue Crown Spark Plug Team.

Lee Wallard of Schenectady, N. Y., one of Holland's opponents on the eastern tracks, earned top ranking among the newcomers. He made a qualification run at 128.420 miles an hour in the Iddings Special, a rebuilt dirt track car supposedly incapable of such speed.

Americans Win First Round Of British Tourney

St. Anne's-on-the-Sea, England, May 31—(AP)—Nine of the 10 Americans bidding for the British women's amateur golf crown won last year by Denver's Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias, triumphed in today's first round.

The only casualty was Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, an alternate on the victorious U. S. Curtis Cup team. She was defeated, 3 and 2, by Jean Stewart McIntyre, one of Great Britain's better golfers.

At least one American contender will be eliminated this afternoon in the second round over the 6,666 yard, par 73 Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course. The pairings pit Peggy Kirk of Pindlay, Ohio, against Mrs. Estelle Lawson of Chapel Hill, N. C.

Next stop on the rocky road to London's Wembley Stadium is the National Collegiate A. A. Championship at Minneapolis, June 18-19, and many of the NCAA winners will be there for the showdown, although some will be trying different events than those they won the past weekend.

New York, May 31—(AP)—Newly-crowned intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field champions looked forward today to the coming Olympic games but most of them will have to improve on their performances in the 72nd annual meet here last Saturday if they make the boat to London.

Rain Checks

The rain checks received last Wednesday night when the game was rained out here between Wilson and Greenville, will not be honored at the game here tonight as this is a holiday game and league rules forbid it. The rain checks will be good on Tuesday night when Roanoke Rapids plays here. This also applies to all holders of local passes to the game.

Stranahan Guns For Nat'l Open

New York, May 31—(AP)—Frank Stranahan, the new British amateur golf champion, was scheduled to return home by air today to hurry preparations for the U. S. National open, the second phase in his ambitious plan to duplicate Bobby Jones' links "grand slam."

The open gets underway June 10 at Los Angeles, preliminary qualifying tests are scheduled tomorrow but Stranahan is exempt, having finished in the top twenty last year.

The 25-year-old Toledo, Ohio, Star announced he planned also to play in the British open and the U. S. amateur.

Jones won these big four tournaments of golf in 1930, the first and only player to achieve the feat.

After the U. S. Open, Stranahan said he would return to England for the British open, in which he was runnerup to Sam Snead last year, and then come back for the U. S. amateur at Memphis in late August.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary placed another wreath at the base of the statue of Franklin D. Roosevelt in Grosvenor Square near the American Embassy.

The only casualty was Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, an alternate on the victorious U. S. Curtis Cup team. She was defeated, 3 and 2, by Jean Stewart McIntyre, one of Great Britain's better golfers.

Club Must Meet Debts Amounting Nearly $10,000

ville Ball Club should be authorized and sold to Greenville fans to meet outstanding obligations of approximately $10,000.00, was the consensus of a group of prominent citizens and fans gathered at Respass' on Thursday last week to hear a frank and open report by acting President Reynolds May.

It was felt that under the leadership of new local officers, and with new capital, the revitalized Greenies, who now have won four games in a row, would move on toward the first division.

The group definitely concluded that Greenville could not afford to lose its ball club on account of accumulated debts brought about, in part, by the expenditure of funds for large capital items—now on hand—consisting of new bleachers, scoreboard, and improvements to plumbing and shower rooms in the field house. The scoreboard has been sold to Planagan Buggy Co. for $600 a year for five years. $600 has been received for this year.

Mr. May reviewed the Club's history frankly, in order that fans would know all the facts. Up until a few days ago, he said, it was accepted without question that Mr. Doty's associates held controlling interest through Doty, President and Business Manager. When it recently became clear that something had to be done, the directors were informed by Mr. Doty that these associates had had nothing to do with the transaction after the team left Tarboro, and would not.

Doty had signed two notes, each for $3000.00, as payment for 600 shares, but only one note had been paid, and he therefore held only 300 shares. During his administration, he was placed in complete charge. The Club now owes approximately ten thousand dollars for bills incurred prior to Doty's resignation.

At the time of Doty's resignation, with only about $300.00 in the bank and a payroll due on Tuesday, a prominent citizen agreed to and did purchase 1-2 of the shares not paid for by Doty, which provided $1500.00 to meet immediate needs.

The group of fans and business men took the position that whatever mistakes had been made were now history, and that the main point was to pay off, start anew, and put out a winning ball club owned and managed locally.

They felt that when all the facts were placed before the fans, their support would be secured.

Confidence was expressed in Mr. May, and the group appointed committees to begin work immediately to increase and sell the new authorized capital stock to Greenville fans, to bolster weak spots in the ball club, and to pay off all debts.

Mr. May is now presenting his frank story of the situation to all civic groups in Greenville.

Lowest Score In Bowling Classic

Detroit, May 31—(AP)—The 80-day American bowling congress, which opened here today, has set a new record for the lowest score in the history of the 45-year history, was all over today for everybody except the auditors and clerical aides assigned the mammoth task of distributing $410,948 in prize money.

Their job was just beginning but tournament officials said the prize checks would be in the mail June 15.

Standing by awaiting delivery of the big tournament's top cash awards plus champions' diamond medals were:

Harry Helmer of the Leafs was leading the loop in strikeouts with 56, while Tarboro's See ranked next at 53. Luis Arroyo was in third position with 52 to his credit. He struck out 10 in his last game pitched at Wilson last Thursday night.

A local semi-pro baseball club known as the Greenville Cubs will play their second game of the season against Vanceboro here on Wednesday evening.

Herb Pennock's dream is coming true—the vision of a crop of young ball players growing up in the farm system and joining the Phillies to make the team a winner. The late, well-loved squire of Kennett Square Pa., was denied the pleasure of seeing the dream come true, but the farm system he founded only four years ago has already started producing the type of players he sought.

The Phillies' farm system established by Pennock has sent up three outstanding examples. Ashburn, Caballero and Hanner the farms have furnished several likely looking young pitchers as Curt Simmons, Al Porto and Charley Bicknell.

When Pennock undertook the chore of building the Phillies' 15-club farm layout, with Joe Reardon as boss of the lot, he expected it would take five years to put the project on a producing basis. It is only in its fifth year now, thus betters Pennock's hopes by a full season.

In addition to sending up such budding stars as Ashburn, Caballero and Hanner the farms have furnished several likely looking young pitchers as Curt Simmons, Al Porto and Charley Bicknell.

Official figures released by the Howe News Bureau and including games through May 25 reveal that Bob Cohen and Wiley Nash are the only two Greenies hitting in the 300 class. Cohen in 36 games has been at bat 159 times, collected 56 hits for a .352 percent, while Wiley Nash in 35 games has hit safely 49 times in 142 trips to the plate for a .345 mark. Nash last week was hitting at .282.

Jack Hussey, Goldsboro's hard-hitting first sacker, took over the lead in individual batting with 418 average after hitting safely 56 times in 194 up. In addition, Jack holds the lead in two other fields, total bases with 100 and was tied with John Hanley of Rocky Mount with 10 homers and shares the lead with Bob Cohen in hits with 56.

Harry Soufas, eagle-eyed manager of the New Bern Bears, holds down second spot behind Hussey with 409, while Jack Daniels of Tarboro rates the third slot with 395.

The individual average of other Greenies listed this week are Johnny Kovalchick .269; Emil Carter .265; Danny Lastras .257; Bill Sweet .226; Joe Nessing .200; Ray Phillips .186.

Athletics Lead League; Yankees Not Yet Worried

Philadelphia, May 31—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics may be atop the American League ladder today but it doesn't bother the world champion New York Yankees.

"The season's too young," says Yank Manager Bucky Harris. "I'm certainly not going to worry about the A's."

Athletics Boss Connie Mack, seeking his first pennant since 1931, chuckled.

"I'm not worrying about the A's either."

Only Mr. Baseball Fan is getting excited. 1948 looks like a pennant race not dominated by the American League "Big Four"—Detroit, Cleveland, Boston and the Yankees.

Connie, who in 47 years at the helm of the Athletics led them to nine pennants, has watched his A's wallow in seventh or eighth place 11 times since 1932.

Now the 85-year-old Mack says "this may be Philadelphia's year."

But Mack insists the emphasis be placed on the "may" and he refuses to revise a pre-season statement picking the Yankees to repeat their 1947 pennant triumph.

"I think I have the best pitching staff in the majors," Mack says modestly. "And the rest of my team has been playing good ball."

That's as far as he would go. Harris wouldn't look into the future at all.

"I'd be a fool to make any prediction," Bucky said. "It's too early in the season to try to figure anything out. Baseball is a tricky game and anything is bound to happen at anytime."

"I'm out to win every game. And I always put my best team in the field. You can say I'm shooting for the top."

Wilson still rates as the best fielding team in the loop with a .907 mark and only 58 errors. Greenville is in seventh place with .938 and has made a total of 89 mistakes. Attacks Myth Of U. S. Militarism

Winston-Salem, N.C., May 31—(AP)—The Army of the United States "belongs to its creators—the people of this country," Assistant Army Secretary Gordon Gray told Salem College graduates today, attacking the suddenly prevalent charges of militarism leveled against the United States government.

"The Army is the property of the people and, if they wish, they can disband it overnight, or make it big and strong, or small and weak," he said. The sovereign people of the United States can, by failing to appropriate funds through their Congress, simply let the Army expire.

The Winston-Salem publisher and assistant secretary of the army, branded as a "postwar myth" the term "military mind" and called attention to the danger involved in recent vague charges of militarism directed against military men who had been appointed to high civilian offices on their own merits.

He pointed to military men in government throughout United States history, but also traced the cycles during which businessmen, professorial types and others pre-dominated among the non-career officials in the nation's government and explained the swapping of uniforms for civilian official garb as a normal course of events immediately after any war. Now the businessmen already are beginning to move back into the capital, he said.

Gray's address was made at Memorial Hall at Salem College in the annual commencement exercises. Eighty-two members of the graduation class received their diplomas from Salem President Howard E. Roundthaler.

Capt. Johnny Murphy Likes To Feast On 'Possum, 'Chittlins'

By CHESTER WALSH

The whereabouts of the 'possum that was the object of a hunt one day last week in the vicinity of Fifth and Colaniche streets has been ascertained. Traffic on East Fifth street stopped to permit the varmint right of way toward Belk Tyler's Department store, where it made a bee-line down an aisle. The last seen of the animal was when a store employee was chasing it. Then it disappeared. It has been learned that "Cap'n Johnny Murphy, 63-year-old former river boat pilot who sells popcorn had barbecued it and feasted on 'possum and sweet-potatoes and bread and invited in a few friends. When asked what else he had at his feast, "Cap'n" Murphy said, "Nothing else. There's nothing in the world better to eat than 'possum 'soup'."

Incidentally, "Cap'n" Murphy was a river pilot on Tar River more than 40 years ago, when he commanded the "Alterio," swift passenger and freight craft, on its runs between here and Washington. Reminiscing, he recalled moonlight excursions on the river and related some interesting anecdotes. He recalled that traveling salesmen in those days en route to Washington would have their sample trunks sent by train to the "city on the Pamlico" and make the trip on Murphy's boat because they would get there quicker.

On one of his trips down the river the Alterio stuck on a sandbar. While getting the craft into the water "Cap'n" Murphy lost his eye glasses while he was in his forties. He stopped reading for several years and did without his "specs." One day while in his sixties he casually picked up a piece of newspaper and discovered that he had recovered his eyesight. Now, he can read the daily paper without glasses and does so with ease. Nearly everybody knows "Cap'n" Murphy as the "pop-corn man" especially high school and college students.

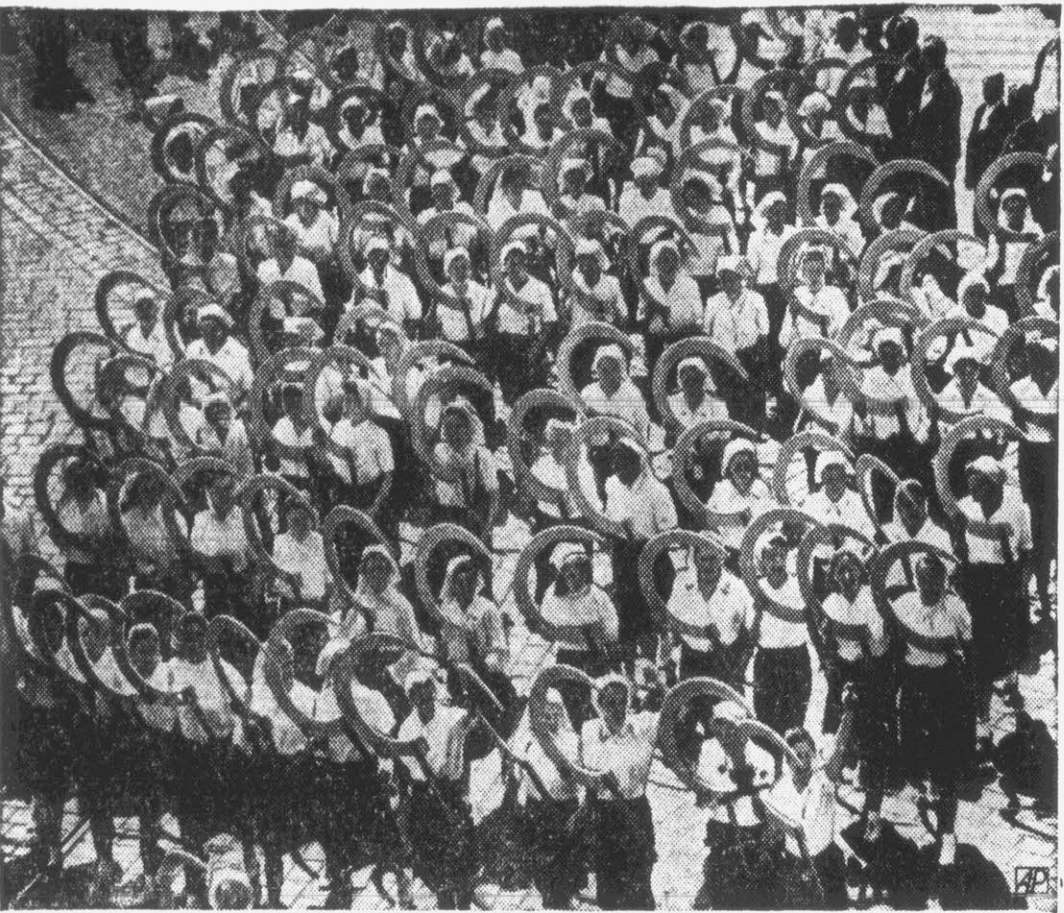

The former river pilot has never gotten over the trouble he caused the fire department several years ago. He was cooking a "mess" of "chittlins" on a small stove in the rear of the store next to Belk-Tyler's. He left them on the fire while he went to the drug store. Black smoke, with an unusual odor was escaping from the store, and up comes the fire department. The suspected fire was "Cap'n" Johnny's "chittlins," not well done, but burned to a crisp and including a very disagreeable odor.

under $5,000 bond each today for their appearance in the August term of Superior Court on charges of concealing the birth and death of a baby.

M. C. Benton was arranging bond today following a hearing before Magistrate Carlisle Jackson, but Miss Agnes L. Long, 22, remained in the Sampson County jail.

At the hearing Miss Long accused Benton of being the father of her child, whose body has not been found. She stated that the baby died after birth and that she buried it in a wooden box next to a hog pen.

Officers searched the place where Miss Long said the baby was buried. They found the box but no baby.

Dr. Jones, Farmville dentist and farmer and former county Democratic chairman, in his first race for political office, slated only 184 votes of a clear majority over both the other candidates. The vote was Jones 3,801, Arthur 2,132 and Corey 1,852. Arthur was running years ago in a three way race but declined at the time to force a second primary with Senator Corey.

The other possible second primary is between Marvin W. Smith, (incumbent), and Wayland L. Hunsucker, for the office of county commissioner of the fourth district. In a three way race the vote was Smith 3,235, Hunsucker 3,068 and W. Leslie Elks 1,166.

Radioactive Ship Poses Difficult Atomic Problems

Washington, May 31—(AP)—Civilian defense experts find in the latest sinking of a radioactively "hot" ship a sobering hint of the problems an atomic war would bring.

When the Cruiser Salt Lake City was sent down off the California coast by gunfire, bombs and torpedoes 22 months had elapsed since it got its coating of the radio active spray and solid green water thrown up by the submarine burst of an a-bomb in the Bikini tests of 1946.

Yet the ship remained so contaminated that it was deemed unsafe for workmen to scrap her for salvage metal. This bore out the predictions of scientists that some of the Bikini ships might remain dangerous for years before the slow decay of the residual radioactive material was complete. Attempts to cleanse the target ships of the invisible but deadly poison brought little success.

Experts of the national military establishments civil defense planning unit are giving close attention to residual radioactivity, the results of "fission" products, bombs and torpedoes of the explosive material flung outward by the bomb when detonated in water. Translating the target ships into terms of cities, defense workers can foresee the possibility of communities made inhabitable for prolonged periods if a bomb should be exploded in nearby water.

msllet. An air burst bomb b.s.u. An air burst bomb, such as those used in the attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, presents no problem of residual activity because the fission products ascend into the air and drift away.

It has been suggested, however, that in the absence of a large body of water near a city a bomb could be exploded in the middle of rain clouds. The dispersion of fission products over the ground might then be even more complete than in an underwater burst.
