

Crisis Stage In Oregon Flood As Crest Hits Tide

Lowlands Endangered;
Major Cities
Now Trying To Get Back To Normal

Portland Ore. June 2—(AP)—The crisis in the mighty Columbia's most disastrous flood came today for diked lowlands along the 100 miles from Portland to the Pacific ocean. The river's crest collided with a high tide surging in from the sea.

Water boiled toward the top of earthworks protecting towns, villages and fertile farms built mainly on diking and lumbering. In spots the difference between inundation and destruction was only a matter of a few inches.

The rush of water seaward meant the worst was over up river where the toll is 20 known dead, an unknown number missing.

The Vanport disaster, 50,000 homeless and damage to millions of dollars.

Flood crest has passed the cities — Portland, Oregon's metropolis; and Vancouver and Longview on the Washington side of the State-separating river. These communities and many others, are trying now to get back to normal.

It will be a long haul. An estimated 10,000 homes were swept away by the rampaging river. The entire city of Vanport was destroyed. Dikes were washed out. Communications were disrupted. Transportation was crippled. Hundreds of square miles lay under a murky shroud of water that will remain for days and weeks.

The fight now is against disease. To search for the dead, to bring families back together again, to feed and clothe those who lost everything, to supply temporary housing.

Impetus to the tremendous task came from President Truman. He ordered federal agencies into full speed rehabilitation of the stricken region. Volunteer agencies, local and national, struggled to get their own aid programs going.

The Red Cross and Salvation Army, both providing clothing, food, shelter and clothing. The Red Cross said it is caring for 7,000 families registered in the Portland area alone. It praised Portland's response in donating 20 tons of clothing and 200 tons of food.

The Salvation Army announced 30 canteens in operation in diked areas.

Says Reds Hope For Passage Of Mundt Measure

Washington, June 2—(AP)—Leon Henderson, head of Americans for Democratic Action, contended today that Communists secretly hope Congress will pass the Mundt-Nixon anti-Communist bill.

"The bill represents a handy short-cut to the kind of political terrorism on which they thrive," Henderson said. "It gives the Communists the one point issue on which they might be able to erect another united front with American liberals."

Henderson, who helped set up the ADA as a self-described non-Communist liberal political organization, issued his statement as foes of the House-passed bill headed for Washington and a noisy protest against it.

A group calling itself "The Committee to Defeat the Mundt Bill" whipped up the demonstration after the Senate Judiciary Committee closed public hearings on the measure Monday.

Flood Destroys Vanport, Ore., Within Minutes

Columbia river flood water nearly covers the city of Vanport, Ore., which was destroyed within a few minutes. Only the tops of buildings remain above the surface of the water. The war-built city with a population of 18,700 is regarded as a total loss. Hundreds of rescue workers are searching for dead and injured. (AP) Wirephoto.

Continue Effort To Solve Dispute

Steelmen Calls Another Meeting Of Railroad Union Men

Washington, June 2—(AP)—White House efforts to settle the railroad labor dispute went forward today in the face of prospects that today's meeting may greet President Truman on his cross-country speaking tour.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman summoned negotiators for the three disputing unions to another White House meeting.

Steelman has met alternately with the unions and with railroad management.

The unions want something more than the 15 1-2 cent pay boost and working rule changes that most other railroad unions settled for in 1947. The carriers have refused to change the pattern.

In his talks with both sides Steelman is understood to be exploring the possibility of getting some additional rules changes for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Engineers, and Switchmen.

A. J. Glover, head of the Switchmen, told a reporter yesterday that the rank-and-file of the three unions are making plans to picket the President's train at stops if there is no settlement by Thursday night when the Truman train leaves here for Chicago and the west coast.

Glover said the picketing idea started among union members and has not been encouraged by union leaders.

The nation's railroad system is under government seizure. Mr. Truman took over the roads and then obtained a court order against a strike on the eve of last month's threatened nationwide walkout.

Washington, June 2—(AP)—The United States and the leading countries of western Europe today announced provisional agreement on plans for the future development of western Germany. It reportedly includes full German participation in the European recovery program.

The State Department made a brief joint announcement and expressed hope that the agreement will be formally approved "at an early date" by all the governments involved.

In addition to the U. S., the nations which worked out the agreement in six weeks of negotiations at London are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The State Department said the agreements "seem to offer the prospect of constructive achievement in solving the problems facing us in Germany."

Possessing Slot Machines Costly

Four Machines Are Found, Court Imposes Fine Of $200

By CHESTER WALSH

In Pitt County Recorder's Court yesterday, Judge Dink James fined Carlton Heath, of the Fleming's Cross Roads section, $200 for possessing slot machines—four of them—"one-arm" bandits, as they are known since the State Legislature outlawed them some years ago.

The court also ordered the machines confiscated and destroyed. Incidentally destruction of the gambling device is mandatory under state law.

Checking on information given the sheriff's office some weeks ago the officers located four slot machines—two of them of the nickel type, one a dime and the other one a quarter—in a tobacco barn in the western part of the county, near the Fire Tower. The authorities said the machines were moved to a place in the Farmville section. However, they were confiscated, and the sheriff is looking for another man, Bruce Smith in this case. Smith is reported to be in Norfolk, Va.

Incidentally, Bruce Smith and W. V. (Smoot) Heath were convicted at the March term of Superior Court here for operating a gambling house and were each fined $500 and costs.

Sheriff Tyson said his office has two other slot machines, found in Carlton Heath's possession, which were stolen from a store in Greene county some time ago.

Seven Germans Die By Rope For Brutal Deeds

Landsberg, Germany, June 2—(AP)—Seven German doctors and SS (elite guard) officers died on American gallows today for war crimes. They were convicted of killing and maiming thousands in brutal experiments in Nazi concentration camps. Their victims were inmates of the camps.

They were the first to be hanged of 25 Germans sentenced to death by U. S. war crimes courts at Nuremberg.

Several died protesting their innocence and complaining against the American system of justice which convicted them.

All walked firmly to death on two black gallows in the court yard of the prison where Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf" while confined there after his Munich Putsch 25 years ago.

The executions went off without a hitch. The last man dropped to his doom just 62 minutes after the first stepped on the trap.

Four of those hanged were doctors. The court—headed by Judge Walter Beals of the Washington State Supreme Court—convicted them said they had perverted their science into a murderous practice on helpless living persons.

The other three executed men were SS officers convicted of directing the Nazi "research program."

Bulletin

Washington, June 2—(AP)—A record peacetime army-air force appropriation bill was whisked through the House today and sent to the Senate. The measure provides $5,509,939,000 (B) for the two services for the next fiscal year starting July 1.

The passage vote was 346 to 2. The two votes against the bill were by Reps. Marcantonio and Isacson, both of the American Labor party, New York.

The House scheduled for debate tomorrow another record peacetime defense money bill—A $3,686,733,250 measure financing the navy for the next fiscal year.

Hear Arguments On Lewis' Case

Goldsborough Says A Coal Strike Would Be 'National Tragedy'

Washington, June 2—(AP)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough told John L. Lewis' attorney today it will be a "national tragedy" if there is a coal strike next month.

Goldsborough tossed out this remark as Welly K. Hopkins, attorney for Lewis, and government attorneys argued over the government's request for a court order requiring the mine leader to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers Association on a new soft coal mining contract.

In what seemed an indication of sympathy with the government's request, the balding judge rocked in his chair in U. S. district court and remarked conversationally:

"Now I'm aware that you can carry a horse to water but you can't make him drink."

"But, if people sit down around (Continued on Page Eight)

Conflict Continues In Holy Land Despite 'Cease Fire'

Big Military Budget Is Set Before House

Appropriations Committee Also Releases Testimony Warning Of "Alarming Menace" Of Soviet Military Might

Washington, June 2—(AP)—The biggest peacetime military budget in the nation's history hit the House floor today—$10,196,672,250 for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The appropriations committee at the same time released testimony warning of the alarming menace of Soviet military might and disclosing that the United States fleet now in the Mediterranean is there for two reasons:

First, to serve as a warning to the Soviet Union not to try to overrun any of the free countries of Europe.

Second, to be ready to remove American forces if worst came to worst.

Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, told the committee just two weeks ago that the Mediterranean fleet of one carrier, three cruisers and 10 destroyers could be augmented quickly.

Two separate appropriation bills—given top priority for immediate action—provided $6,509,939,000 for the Army and the Air Forces and $3,686,733,250 for the Navy for the year starting July 1.

Their combined total is $505,000,000 greater than the services are spending this year and more than three times as much as the regular 1941 budgets for the armed forces.

The committee recommended a cut of 6.1 percent, or $241,005,450, for the Navy, and 9 percent, or $647,903,000, for the Army-Air Forces, from amounts President Truman had asked.

But both sums recommended are in addition to approximately $3,000,000,000 Congress recently gave the services to buy aircraft.

The new funds are intended to build up Army and Air Force personnel to a top strength of 1,234,500 and the Navy and Marine Corps to 552,000.

This compares with reported Soviet military strength of 4,000,000 men, which Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Chief of Army Staff, said presents "an alarming menace to the security of the United States."

The Navy bill furnishes money to start work on a 65,000-ton aircraft carrier, largest in the world, and on a "killer ship" to combat submarines, two high-speed submarines, and two submarines of "an entirely new character" not otherwise described.

Also provided are funds to convert a carrier and two submarines into ships whose nature was kept a closely-guarded secret.

The committee was told that Russia has at least 250 submarines. Testimony taken during the hearings shows that the Army plans to use 272,000 of its men overseas and 518,000 in this country. Its mobile striking force in the United States will include three infantry divisions, an armored division, an airborne division, two regiments of armored cavalry, four regimental combat teams, 12 field artillery battalions, 40 anti-aircraft battalions, two chemical motor battalions and supporting forces.

Alabama Delegation To Walk Out If Truman Nominated

By The Associated Press

President Truman's bid for another term faced new trouble from the South today. But elsewhere, his campaign picked up strength.

Alabama voters yesterday picked nine more delegates pledged to walk out of the Democratic National convention if Mr. Truman is nominated or if his civil rights proposals are put into the party platform.

Five others similarly pledged previously had been named, giving anti-Truman Democrats control of the state's 24-man delegation.

In Maryland, however, a state Democratic convention instructed its delegates to cast their 20 votes for Mr. Truman as long as he appears to have a chance to win. The convention decided to back Maryland's senior senator, Millard E. Tydings, for the vice Presidential nomination.

The President also picked up 54 more convention votes in California. This put his total pledged and claimed votes to 589—just 29 short of the 18 needed for nomination.

He had a good chance of adding eight more votes in North Dakota, where a slate pledged to him was leading an unopposed group in returns from yesterday's primary.

Smuts Back In Action

Aged Field Marshal Has Accepted Offer Of Seat In Parliament; The Issues At Stake In Union Of South Africa; Importance To Britain As To The Outcome

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Old soldiers don't quit under fire, and so Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts is back on the political battle line, unbowed either by his 78 years or by his defeat in last week's election.

The world-famous soldier-statesman's United Party was beaten by the Nationalists headed by Dr. Francois Malan, and Smuts lost the Prime Ministership which he had held since 1939. The Marshal failed of re-election even in his own constituency and who was deprived of his seat in Parliament.

There was speculation that Smuts might quit politics and retire to his farm. However, there were two big arguments against such a move:

1. The Nationalists had won by a narrow margin, giving them a majority of only five seats in Parliament. Actually, despite the seat distribution, Smuts still had nearly 60 per cent of the population back of him.

2. Dr. Malan and his followers stand for isolation from British Empire affairs and for the establishment of a Republic. They also aim at Social, Cultural and territorial segregation of the 9,000,000 non-Europeans in the population of some 11,368,000.

There we have the makings of a fight. Smuts has battled such policies throughout his life. Above all, while he has affirmed South Africa's autonomy, he stands for the solidarity of the British Commonwealth and Empire. He has held that any threat to the safety of Britain is a threat to the safety of South Africa.

So Smuts has picked up the gauntlet. Yesterday he accepted the offer of a seat in Parliament from a member of his party who was elected last week. The incumbent will be resign and a new election will be held for that constituency, with the Field Marshal as candidate. When he is elected (as is generally regarded as a certainty) he will continue active leadership of his party in the legislature.

This turn of events certainly will give rise to a sign of relief in Britain, which was dismayed by the implications of the general election. It wasn't that Malan could take South Africa out of the Commonwealth immediately, because that would call for a two-thirds vote of Parliament, which he doesn't have. However, England recognized the threat to imperial solidarity.

Whatever way you look at it, South Africa's withdrawal would be a blow to the British Empire. (Continued on Page Two)

Valley Stream, June 2—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor says she will take another "week or two" to choose the man she'll marry.

The attractive 28-year-old divorcee said she has been flooded with offers from suitors since she announced she was in the market for a husband willing to give her $10,000 in cash and support her two children.

Mrs. Lawlor had picked last night as the deadline for her selection. But a last-minute letter from another applicant, she said, caused her to switch plans.

The letter was from a man "who sounds like the best entrant yet," the blonde hat check girl said.

"His letter has a note of permanency to it that some of the others lack. I'm going to wait a week or two until I have time to find about him."

Mrs. Lawlor's matrimonial proposal was published first in the "Herald" (N.Y.) Newday. She had submitted an ad, headed "Wife for Sale," to the "Help Wanted Female" column. The newspaper rejected the ad but printed the story.

which opposed the Communists and which might, through election, supplant the Communists and change the government back to what it is now.

The Communists don't suggest the change be brought about by force or violence. As noted, they could be jailed for doing that.

(Nevertheless, enemies of the Communists say they're concealing their real purposes by carefully not mentioning violent overthrow.)

This is not something cooked up by enemies of the Communists. William Z. Foster, president of the Communist party, has stated the idea plainly.

In 1932, when he was running for president on the Communist ticket, he wrote a book called "Toward a Soviet America." In it he said:

"Under the dictatorship all the capitalist parties — Republican, Democrats, Progressives, Socialists — will be liquidated, the Communist party functioning alone as the party of the toiling masses."

Right now Congress is considering a bill that would cripple, if not destroy, the Communist party in this country.

This bill says Communists every where are part of a world conspiracy to set up a Communist dictatorship for the benefit of a foreign power (Russia isn't mentioned, but Russia is meant).

If the bill passes, the attorney general—if he can prove it—can decide American Communists are part of such a world conspiracy and they can be jailed.

One of the big arguments by opponents of the bill—and many opponents are not Communists—is this:

If what Congress says is true, why doesn't the attorney general jail the Communists?

There are laws on the books which could send Communist world conspirators to jail without a new law?

These opponents of the bill say Congress, if it passes the bill, will really be trying to deprive the Communists of the civil liberties guaranteed them under the Constitution.

in particular. South Africa has great resources, among other things being the world's richest country in gold and diamonds. Her imports from England—in effect paid for in gold—are invaluable to the mother country. And this spring South Africa made Britain a gold loan which was the equivalent of $250,000,000—a godsend in view of the economic crisis.

Strategically Britain and South Africa are enormously important to each other. South Africa is a vital link in the chain of Imperial defenses, and the Dominion at this juncture needs the protection of the British sea and air fleets.

That is the picture as Field Marshal Smuts swings back into political action. The fight between solidarity and isolation is on again, and the stake is mighty from the viewpoint of both.

NBC Offers To Step Out Of 'Voice' Program

Washington, June 2—(AP)—The National Broadcasting Company today offered to step out of the "Voice of America" programs and lease its international radio stations to the government for $1 a year.

Charles R. Denny, NBC vice president, made the offer to a Senate investigating group that is trying to learn why a government-financed propaganda program contained what Congress regards as slurs on state and sectional pride.

He made the offer after explaining just what happened to bring congressional fire on the program. The protested programs were in Spanish and beamed to South and Central America.

Still under consideration by the investigating group is whether to ask Alberto Gander, former program supervisor, to return here to testify. Gander, now in his native Cuba, was in charge of the Latin America programs which NBC put on for the State Department.

General Fund Revenue Collections Drop In May

Raleigh, June 2 — General fund revenue collections for May were down a quarter million below the comparable month last year, but for the eleven months of the fiscal year they were up more than thirteen millions. As has been the case every month recently, except March, most tax schedule yields fell below last year. The sales tax receipts have been consistently up.

Excess of income receipts in March and decline in April and May is explained by changed policy requiring small taxpayers to ante up the full amount instead of paying in installments. It was expected that subsequent months would show decline, as they are doing. The increased sales tax yield is credited, or charged, depending upon viewpoint—to higher prices rather than to greater volume of merchandise buying.

last year for the eleven months is less than last year. The yield, while still ahead of expenditures, is not so great as the increased appropriations. General fund appropriations for the current year were about eighteen million above last year. At present rate receipts will be up about a million and a quarter a month. So while receipts are still ahead

Most of the camps are located in Lower Silesia districts, formerly a part of Eastern Germany, and in the Carpathian mountains along the Polish-Czechoslovakian frontier. The parents will pay 8 percent of the total vacation costs. The remainder is to be paid by coal and other industries.

Grows Mushrooms Where Mushrooms "Can't Be Grown"

DENVER.—(AP)—About 25 years ago some agriculture experts told

Charles W. Savery mushrooms could not be grown profitably in Colorado's high and dry climate. But Savery rigged up some caves under a viaduct. He began to have hopes of a going business when the chief of police called to say citizens objected to fertilizer being hauled through the streets every few days bound for the mushroom caves.

So Savery bought a hilltop farm seven miles north of Denver. Then he and his son, Robert, went back to Chester county, Pennsylvania and really studied the mushroom business. Now the farm is one of the three largest mushroom producers in the west, turning out 2,700 pounds of buds daily.

EARLS TO HEAR Often we meet people who are hard of hearing. They can hear much of what is said, but some things in conversation escape them.
Yet we often find these people, though hard of hearing, catching a word or two which we didn't intend them to hear or hearing what it benefits them to hear. Most of these people are not consciously pretending deafness, but are just inattentive. Their minds, wrestling with other problems, do not hear what is said. Yet when they catch a word of something important to them, they are instantly alert; they hear every word.

We say about such people, "They could hear if they wanted to"; so we might say the same thing about a person's soul. Every single soul on earth is potentially receptive to God's voice, for we are all God's children, though human and frail.
Many people feel that it isn't possible to hear God. Others feel that they are not in God's good graces.
Most of us continually run faster and faster to keep up with life and have no chance to hear God.
But the most money-mad, skeptical, or even wicked person can hear God speaking. We must get our attention back on God, not on life's petty worries. God may be speaking to us each day, although we fail to hear Him. Let us sharpen our soul's hearing to become aware of God's voice. "Be still,
and know that I am God."

MILK—Most of those who attended the "kick-off" breakfast for June Dairy Month at State College Tuesday morning already knew the facts presented, but the emphasis on value of milk as food and need for greater production in this state aroused greater enthusiasm toward development of a real dairy industry. Observance of Dairy Month is sponsored by the N. C. Dairy Production Association, and N. C. Milk Producers Association, and State College Dairy Foundation. The breakfast program was mostly serious, but it had a lighter side.

QUANTITY—When one of the speakers cited the fact that there is twice as much milk sold in North Carolina as is produced here, Earl Garrett, head of the soil conservation service in the state, whispered to a table companion "that is another argument for keeping topsoil from washing down the streams." Miss Jane Umstead of the National Dairy Council presented facts and figures in such attractive manner, that Senator-nominee J. M. Broughton, who came a little later on the program, observed he was "glad that was not the Umstead I was up against in the late primary."

FORWARD—Reasonably generous allocation of state funds to the dairy division at State College during the past few years, plus the support of the Dairy Foundation which has set a minimum goal of $100,000, were cited as justification for prediction that North Carolina is going forward in dairying. Broughton got a big hand for his suggestion that the next legislature can well afford to invest $100,000 more in the college dairy plant. It was also noted that while there's still a long way to go, progress has been rapid.
Milk production has increased 48 percent in the state in the last quarter century along with a 33 percent increase in number of cows.
The industry now provides a cash income of eighty million dollars to farmers, and the processing plants furnish employment for thousands of workers.

HANDS-OFF—Governor Cherry was undoubtedly as interested as anybody else, but he made it very clear at his press conference that he was continuing the policy adopted throughout his first primary campaign of staying completely out of the governor's race. He said even if, Cherry does not know how he would feel Saturday and he has not intended to anybody how he will vote next time. Supporters of both Johnson and Scott have claimed his support and both have charged he was helping the other. The governor says all of them are wrong.

ATTITUDE—Both Johnson and Scott supporters are being very angry until lines are more definitely formed for the runoff.
Among the unattached Johnson supporters there is marked resentment at Broughton's forces and frequently heard accusations that "Broughton let us down." Early in the campaign there was some evience of prospective Broughton-Johnson alignment. Before Kerr Scott got into the picture, this kind of talk had abated and after that it was not heard except in the far west and in small spots scattered over the state. There were too many folks for Johnson-Umstead and too many for Broughton-Scott to make general statewide alignment wise, even if it had been possible. Now that Broughton has proven himself to be the best vote-getter in the major races, there is somewhat natural resentment among supporters of others that he did not "carry them along." Fact is, each candidate was on his own in the first primary, and it looks now very much like the run-off candidates for governor will be in the same fix.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EARLS

WASHINGTON—Weekly, when Italians tune in to "America's Freedom Station" WRUL, they hear a warm and lovely feminine voice broadcasting from the nation's capital.

"This is Francesca, your friend in America," the voice says in Italian.
What the radio listeners do not know is that their friend Francesca is the attractive Italian-born wife of Rep. John Davis Lodge (R-Conn.).

Talented Mrs. Lodge helped organize a series of special broadcasts to Italy just before the general elections in that country, pleading with the Italian people not to vote Communist. Her husband, who speaks fluent Italian, gave two broadcasts in the series. Her brother-in-law Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass.), also participated in the broadcast.

"To sustain the note of friendship beamed to Italy during the crisis," the station is now broadcasting 15-minute programs made by Mrs. Lodge in Washington. They are in the nature of geography lessons, with top officials of 48 states as teachers. "The idea," says Mrs.
Lodge, "is to show we were not just interested in the election. We hope it will lead into a forum, with clubs over there writing us what they'd like to hear about."

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—Do you feel
crowded?
Well, no wonder. You ARE getting crowded.
Every third breath you take somebody's born in the United States. But go on and breathe. If you held your breath an hour, it wouldn't cut down the population—except by one.
And that wouldn't help either.

WRUL was started in 1935 in Boston with the help of the Rockefeller Foundation. The station, which calls itself World Radio University (the L in the letters stands for listeners) considers itself an independent citizens' Voice of America.
During the war the government took over the work, facilities and Voice of America call of WRUL. The station still leases the morning and evening hours for State Department broadcasts but puts on its own afternoon programs. Mrs. Lodge's broadcasts are among these. Some of her talks are "piped" to Boston, but chiefly she makes recordings at the broadcasting studio at the capitol.

Mrs. Lodge has had Senator Baldwin (R-Conn.), Senator Hill (D-Ala.), Senator Ives (R-NY) and Rep. Keating (R-NY) on her programs. Former Under Secretary of States Sumner Welles was another speaker.
Each lawmaker tells something about his own state. Mrs. Lodge introduces them, translates into Italian what they say.
"Most Italians," says Mrs. Lodge
"know very little actually about the United States. They think Americans are either all Red Indians or millionaires, every square is a market place and every street a Fifth Avenue. We tell them that America is a whole world in itself with a great past made up from all other histories. We tell them the part Italio-Americans play in American life. We've had scores of letters already. They indicate a desire for information about American schools, agriculture and women's activities."

Home-Made Farm Tractor Works

Des Moines (AP) Two Manchester farmers have a tractor they built themselves after a visit to junk yards and used car dealers. Commencement At High School Brilliant Affair

By CHESTER WALSH

An impressive program featured commencement exercises of Greenville High School at Robert M. Wright auditorium at the college last night. Sixty-seven boys and girls received their diplomas from Joseph M. Taft, vice-chairman of the City School Board, and acting for Chairman J. B. James, and Principal O. E. Dowd.

Supt. June H. Rose made the announcements and presented the special awards to the winners.

The High School band, under direction of E. B. McDowell, and the Girls' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus, under direction of Miss Ona Shindler, provided the music.

The appearance of the graduates while the band played the "Recessional," by Warren, was an impressive scene.

The climax to one of the best years in the history of the Greenville High School was a brilliant affair.

A feature of it was the awarding of Roscoe Little's diploma to his father, representing his son, who was out of the city.

Supt. Rose was eloquent in his expression of appreciation to Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina Teachers College, for cooperation from him and the college. He thanked the parents for their support, and paid tribute to the teachers. Incidentally, it is interesting to comment here that 70 percent of the Greenville High School graduates enter college, and the nation's average is only about 20 percent.

Special awards were made to the following students:

Dramatics—Janice Owens. Dixon Cup (athletics)—Glynis Perkins.

Perfect attendance—Alef Collins. The Woman's Club award of $5 each was won by Shelley Beard and Eugene Carter.

The J. Con Lanier college or university scholarship award was won by Alfred Smith, president of the Senior Class. This award is in honor of Stanley Woolfolk, who lost his life in World War II.

Eugene Carter won the Keech Distinguished Service award.

Alfred Smith, president of the Senior Class, presented a check for $300 to the school as its gift, to purchase a wire recording machine for the school and for other purposes.

Features of the commencement exercises, Supt. Rose said, were the joining of the alumni with the Mixed Chorus in singing Schuetky's "Send Forth Thy Spirit," with Leon Fleming directing; Ann Morton's singing of Allison Hearne's composition, "Lullaby," with Miss Hearne as accompanist, and the wonderful work of the band, under direction of E. B. McDowell, and the Glee Club and Mixed Chorus, under Miss Ona Shindler.

Senior Class officers are Alfred Smith, president; Billy Williams, vice-president; Lucile Laughinghouse, secretary; and David Jones, treasurer.

Frederick Brooks and Betty Anne Young were chief marshals. Other marshals were Sam Northrop, Dorothy Stauffer, Frances Bendall, Dorothy Whiteley, Carolyn Rowlett, Barbara Clement and Walter Wilson.

Most Republican Delegates Named

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — Republicans have selected all but 29 of their 1,094 national convention delegates.

Indiana picks the last delegation to the Philadelphia June 21 convocation in district caucuses and state convention June 10 and 11.

The Hoosier group will be either uncommitted or instructed for Rep. Charles Halleck as a "favorite son."

None of the 13 men having first ballot delegate support so far comes anywhere near the majority needed for the presidential nomination.

However, the camps of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Harold E. Stassen and Senator Robert A. Taft claim each will enter the convention with upwards of 300 delegates.

The standing of the 1,095 delegates so far chosen, including pledged and claimed without dispute:

Harold E. Stassen 99
Robert A. Taft 81

Earl Warren 53

For over forty-five years the Children's Home Society has been caring for homeless babies all over North Carolina. The Society is the only licensed one of its kind in the State and it supplements, but does not duplicate, the work of any other organization.

The Children's Home Society takes babies from all parts of North Carolina who have no families to provide for them. Every effort is made to place a baby with its own relatives. Only when this is impossible does the Society then place them in carefully selected foster homes.

The Society is faced with budget requirements of $74,500 which is the largest in its history. The increase in budget is necessitated by the increase in the number of babies the Society anticipates helping during the coming year. Three hundred babies were cared for in the year just ended and more than five thousand in the past forty-five years.

Voluntary contributions are the organization's only means of support. This week a committee of local representatives will conduct a private solicitation by mail in this community.

The local committee for this drive is headed by Mr. James S. Ficklen. Mr. Ficklen's committee includes Mrs. R. M. Garrett, Mrs. J. H. Blount, Mr. James T. Little, Mr. J. H. Waldrup, Dr. K. B. Pace, Mr. J. B. Kittrell and Mr. Lewis G. Cooper.

Offer Reserves New Inducement

Members of the United States Army Enlisted Reserves Corps, who are skilled in certain specialties, will be offered the opportunity to volunteer for a nine to twelve months tour of active duty at one of the five recruiting main stations in the Carolinas, according to an announcement made today by M-Sgt D. D. Boswell, commanding officer of the United States Army and Air Force Recruiting Station located at New City Bldg., Greenville, N. C.

In anticipation of procuring increased numbers of personnel for the armed forces in the near future, the Department of the Army has authorized an increase in personnel of 87 men for the Columbia Recruiting District to meet the requirements for the expansion of examining facilities at the recruiting main station located at Columbia and Greenville, South Carolina and at Charlotte, Fayetteville, and Durham, N. C.

This increase in personnel will be met entirely through voluntary recall of Enlisted Reservists.

Individuals recalled under this program will be generally qualified as Classification Specialists, Clerk Typists, Personnel Consultants, Medical Technicians, or Medical Laboratory Technicians. These men will be guaranteed assignment within the Columbia Recruiting District, which includes the states of North and South Carolina, and where practicable, will be assigned to the main station nearest their home.

Change in strength requirements, however, may necessitate later reassignment to another main station within the Carolinas.

Enlisted Reservists will be recalled to active duty in the grade held in the reserve, and will be entitled to the same allowances and privileges as Regular Army men of the same grade.

Interested members of the ERS are invited to contact the local recruiting station for further information on this unprecedented offer.

Barden Opposes New Draft Law; States Position

Goldboro, June 2 — (AP) — Opposition to a new national draft law except in case of extreme emergency was expressed by Rep. Graham A. Barden (D-NC) last night. He stated his position in an address before graduates of New Hope School.

Barden said no emergency sufficient to warrant a new draft exists now.

The United States must maintain a fully adequate national defense system, he said, but this system should be built on a desire to service. Pay scales for those in the armed services are too low, he declared. Increase of pay for men in the service would bring voluntary enlistments sufficient to provide for national defense, he added.

New York, June 2 — (AP) — Seaboard Airline Railroad Co. announced today it had placed orders for 500 box cars with the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. Seaboard has also called for bids on about 500 identical freight cars, the company said.

Nearly Million For Buildings

By CHESTER WALSH

City Building Inspector George Gardner issued permits during the first five months of this year for nearly $1,000,000 worth of residential and business buildings. The permits included 66 dwellings and 17 commercial buildings, up to May 31, value, $910,000.

Permits issued during May were for 18 dwellings, valued at $125,000, and six commercial buildings, valued at $47,000 — total for the month, $172,000.

Under the building code, provided by state law, it is unlawful for any person to construct or erect any building without first obtaining a permit from the authorized building inspector.

The United States must maintain a fully adequate national defense system, he said, but this system should be built on a desire to service. Pay scales for those in the armed services are too low, he declared. Increase of pay for men in the service would bring voluntary enlistments sufficient to provide for national defense, he added.

Chapter 26

Long after she went to bed that night Hildred thought of what Lucien had told her—that he knew he would kill himself if she would not help him, by marrying him.

Randy had warned her that her friendship with a Lander would lead her into trouble—and she had promised to go to him. If it did. But she could not go to Randy with this. She had promised Lucien that she would keep his dark secret, as he called it. Besides she and Randy were drifting further and further apart, it appeared, with each new happening.

She could make Jimmy the price of a marriage she could tell Lucien she would marry him if he would legally adopt the boy. That, then, would take care of this one important issue. But even to give Jimmy such security it was a big price to pay. For Hildred did not want to marry Lucien.

How she wished she had taken Mamie's advice and had gone only that one time to visit the big house, knowing that it—and its people—were too far separate from her, and her kind, ever to mix.

She had tried to make that clear to Lucien. But he would not listen to her. He simply kept insisting that she must marry him, as if it were an obsession with him, as if it were the one slender thread of hope he had found to cling to.

And he had told her that his mother was ready—even eager—to accept her as her daughter-in-law. The Countess also believed that Hildred was her son's salvation. So that there were the two of them against her. It was like a web that would tighten until there was no escape.

Well, she could indeed tell Randy now that she was headed for that altar—if against her own will—with another. But would it do any good? Would it wake Randy up?

It had not mattered to Lucien that she did not love him. It had not even mattered that she had told him she loved someone else. Lucien was so sure he could buy everything he wanted. He would buy her now—first with Jimmy—she saw why he had taken an interest in the boy, even though it was growing into a genuine one now next with her mother—on and on, so that there would be no escaping the web.

Hildred had not said yes, but she had not said no. There was no need for either. Lucien took it as an established fact that they were betrothed. He had not asked her if she would marry him. He had said, "You know I am going to marry you, Hildred." And afterwards—long after they had gone to say good-night to Jimmy and had joined his mother and the other guests downstairs in the big drawing room, Lucien had behaved as if it were all settled.

When Hildred got home from the clinic the following day her mother told her that she had had a visitor. "I was that surprised," Mrs. McNaughten said, "you could have knocked me over with a feather. And you might know she would catch me when I had been having my afternoon nap, and in my old way of thinking, she was a very friendly and could be and we had a cup of tea and a piece of your cake. Hildy dear, and a right nice little chat."

For the visitor had been none other than the Countess. Yet Hildred was not as surprised as she might have been. Was this not another link in that tightening web? Also, she felt that the Countess, as her son had done before her, had come partly in order to convince herself that Hildred's background was what she said it was—and probably, also, to see that it was not too bad for the future daughter-in-law of a Lander.

Her mother's gentle face wore an expression that was slightly troubled, even though the visit had been a pleasant one. When Hildred did not show any surprise about such an unusual visitor, her mother said, "You must have known, then, that she was coming. You might have prepared me, dear! And I do think, too, that you might have prepared me for the things the Countess told me."

She tried to make her tone very casual. "What were the things, darling? When I came in last night you were sound asleep and you were even snoring when I left this morning so how could I prepare you for anything?"

"I was only joking," her mother returned, smilingly. "The Countess said you did not know she was coming to call today. What things did she tell me? Well, for one, she went on at great length saying what a lovely girl she thought you were, which I could agree with perfectly. And she told me that her son also thought a great deal of you."

No more than that? Hildred drew an inward sigh of relief.

"Well, that was about all, along that line," Mrs. McNaughten's kind eyes still were a bit troubled; something was wrong, she felt sure, though she did not see what it could be. The Countess had indeed been gracious. It had been kind of her to make the little call, and Hildred did not seem upset about it, or even much surprised. "She talked about Jimmy, what a fine little boy he is and how they enjoyed having him. And, oh yes, she told me that there is a famous surgeon coming to visit them next week—she spoke of him as if he were a very close personal friend, and she insisted that she wanted me to allow him to look me over—because of my spells, you know—and she made it so that I could not very well refuse, though I did not like to accept such a big favor from her."

Hildred could readily understand how Lucien's mother could make it exactly that way.

She said, "Mummy."

Joke Ordinance Is Coming True

Kissimmee, Fla. — (AP) — Are thousand-passenger airplanes in the offing? They are if a municipal ordinance proposed as a joke by the mayor and city attorney of the Kissimmee nearly 40 years ago proves as prophetic in this field of aviation as it has in many others.

The measure, suggested in 1908 when there probably were less than 25 airplanes in the world, would have imposed a license tax on aircraft, required them to carry parachutes and regulated low flying. It would have licensed airports too—a step which now has been taken by 39 states—and it even forecast airplanes of over 200 miles per hour. The only catch to the Kissimmee ordinance is that it never was adopted. The proposal was printed in the Kissimmee Valley Gazette. The day after it appeared, the mayor declared he had been "ridiculed out of town" and planned to leave the next day for California. However, his mind was changed by the attention the proposal drew. Scores of tributes were paid the "wise and far-sighted" mayor and city attorney. Requests for copies of the ordinance came in from foreign countries.

This still didn't make Kissimmee adopt its ordinance. But it wouldn't have to make many changes to put it into effect today—though it might see fit to eliminate the provision requiring airplanes to carry and use bells, whistles or horns.

Farmers Attend 'Pasture Tour'

Four hundred Pitt County farmers turned out for a pasture field meeting held Friday on the John T. Thorne estate farm, located at Farmville, R. F. D. 1. The crowd was one of the largest to attend a pasture tour in the state this year.

Roy Bowling, manager of the farm, showed the group 50 acres of improved pastures, most of which had been seeded to permanent mixtures. Temporary grazing practices were also observed.

The farmers were particularly interested in the growth of Ladino clover. They saw one 11-acre field of Ladino which provided good grazing this spring despite the fact that it had been flooded three times last winter because of heavy rains.

Bowling told the group that Ladino will provide grazing at least nine months in the year, and that a temporary mixture of crimson clover and Italian rye grass will furnish grazing the other three months. He asserted that a good Ladino pasture will cut grain feed costs at least one-third and at the same time increase milk production more than 25 per cent.

The farm manager estimated that one acre of Ladino is worth about $360 per year to a dairy farmer, and in most cases, he added, the pasture can be grown on land which is not able to produce a good money crop.

S. C. Winchester, Pitt County agent for the State College Extension Service, who conducted the tour, said there are about 6

Greenies Take Fifth Straight Win In Row Against Jays

Newcomer Larry Riggs Displays Power At Bat

Joe Nensing Singles In Clinching Run; Yohn's Relief Work Stands Out, Letting Jays Down With One Hit In Final Frames

By BERT MOYE

Ken Brooks and Junior Yohn combined here last night to defeat the Roanoke Rapids Jays, 5-3, for the Greenies' fifth victory in a row. Brooks, who received credit for the win, registered his third victory of the season. He has suffered two defeats.

Roanoke Rapids took the lead in the first frame with two runs when Meyer walked and Gonzalez clouted a homer over the right field wall to bring him home.

Greenville came back in their half of the first frame and chalked up a run when Lastres was hit by Pitcher Branca, stole second, advanced to third on Cohen's long fly to right field and then scored on Branca's wild pitch.

Larry Riggs' homer over the left field wall to bring home Nensing who had singled ahead of him in the second frame put the Greenies out front at this point.

However, the Jays knotted the count at three-all in the top half of the fourth when Gonzalez walked and May doubled to bring him home.

Joe Nensing's timely single in the fifth after the bases were loaded on Lastres' walk, Cohen's single and an intentional walk to Nash, to bring home Lastres and Cohen clinched the victory for the locals.

Brooks allowed seven well scattered hits in the five and two-third frames he worked, walked two and struck out four in gaining his first win over the Jays this season.

Junior Yohn, who relieved Brooks in the sixth frame, did one of the best relief jobs seen here this season as he let the Jays down with one hit, walked two men and struck out four in the three and one-third frames which he worked.

Larry Riggs, making his debut for the Greenies behind the plate last night, won the admiration of the fans as he homered, doubled and singled in three official trips to the plate, being walked intentionally on one occasion, to lead the eight-hit attack off the two Jay hurlers. Joe Nensing with two singles in four trips to the plate was the only other Greenie to collect more than one hit.

Stalls with two doubles and Gonzalez with a homer and a single led the attack for the Jays.

Greenies Already In Line For New Players On Team

The climbing Greenville baseball club has signed a catcher, on option, from the Class A Sally League, where he hit at the rate of .280 as an irregular player.

Club officials state that they expect to sign other players in the next few days; an outfielder with a batting average of .378 in the Tobacco State League last year, now playing semi-pro ball, and one other player batting over .350 in the Coastal Plain League two seasons ago.

Meanwhile, the Greenies won another game last night, making five out of five in their past five games. Enthusiasm among their followers is spreading and "Baseball Rally Day" is expected to enjoy a record turnout.

Fans appeared to appreciate the candor with which acting President Reynolds had summarized the local club's condition, and many have expressed a desire to have a share in the new capitalization.

The club directors have stated their belief that a wide distribution of ownership among the fans of Greenville is desirable for the welfare of the organization. It was pointed out that with shares priced at $10, it would be possible for everyone to participate.

Recent rainy weather has prevented home games. Attendance of 1,000 to 1,500 is required to meet operating costs. With an average of approximately 1,000 to date for a losing team, the new Greenies should be able to draw a profit-making attendance, regularly.

Rifle Team Has World Champion

Bern, Switzerland.—(AP)—Robert Buerchler of Zurich, world champion rifle marksman from the prone position, will lead Switzerland sharpshooting team at the London Olympics this summer.

Although final selections have not been made, the team is expected to include Otto Horber of Zurich, and Emil Gruenig of Kriens, both of whom have placed high in international competition.

Buerchler last August in Stockholm, at the world competition, placed second to the Finn Janhonen in individual performance, and ranked first in shooting from the prone position. At the Stockholm meet it was at the prone position where the Swiss accumulated enough points to overcome Finnish and Swedish leads in kneeling and standing positions.

When Switzerland's half million riflemen were advised that competition for the Olympics team was open, scores of candidates reported.

Jeffersonville, Ind.—(AP)—Billy Herman, once manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and now a paint purveyor, isn't letting the pigment pushing interfere with his passion for the national pastime.

Herman plays second base on the Jeffersonville semi-pro club and he's one of the leaders in a campaign to bring organized baseball to southern Indiana.

His team has lined up games with Bedford, Bloomington, Vincennes, Tell City, Jasper, Huntington, Edinburg and Princeton. One of these days some or all of those towns probably will blossom out as a new Class D league.

Univ. Is Building Own Golf Links

Greensboro, June 2.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina is building its own golf course at Chapel Hill, the gift of A. E. Finley of Raleigh.

Construction of the par 72, hole course is underway and should be completed next spring. University Comptroller William D. Carmichael, Jr., told the trustees. It is on the Mason Farm property and an additional 50 acres deeded to the university by Dr. W. C. Coker, professor of botany at Chapel Hill. The course was designed by J. B. McGovern.

The word "elastic" comes from the Greek verb meaning "to drive" but acquired its modern meaning through the writings of a 17th century experimenter in air currents.

It couldn't have been anything more than a hunch that prompted Manager Billy Meyer to seek Elmer Riddle for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Certainly, Riddle's record with the Reds last season, one victory and no losses in some 14 relief efforts, was anything but impressive. Prior to then, Elmer had been completely lame arm.

Riddle had enjoyed a pair of great seasons with the Reds, in 1941 when he won 19 games and in 1943 when he chalked up 21 victories. In 1941, his first full season in the majors, Riddle led the National League hurlers in the won and lost percentages and had the best earned-run average—2.24 per nine-innings game. His arm went dead in 1945 and remained useless through 1946.

He was a great disappointment last season so the Reds asked waivers on him.

Manager Meyer was pleasantly surprised at Riddle's free, easy motion when he started working in training camp. Riddle was one of the sensations of the exhibition season and by the time the season's opener rolled around he had won a regular starting berth. Elmer stepped right out and won his first three starts in impressive style. He appeared to have all of his old-time speed and stuff, none of that soft stuff of a cute veteran staging a comeback. Riddle ran into his first defeat when he tangled with Harry Brecheen and the Cardinals but the 33-year-old veteran is going to add many games to his victory string before the current season has run its course.

Musial, Holmes Leading At Bat Kiner Takes Fan Mail Seriously

New York, June 2.—(AP)—Outfielders Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals are locked in a tight battle for the National League batting leadership with the Braves' slugger out front by the margin of one percentage point, .394 to .393. The official averages include Monday's games.

Although Holmes has hit safely in his last 10 games, the speedy flycatcher found it a herculean task to maintain his 413 pace of last week and dropped back 19 points. Musial, too, tapered off slightly during the past week and slipped a bit from 398 to 393.

The biggest drop among the leaders was experienced by Frank Gustine of Pittsburgh, who skidded from a league standing of .425 to a third place 386.

Johnny Blatnik's batting average also shrunk considerably, from .397 to .369, but retained his fourth place rating, five points in front of his Philadelphia teammate, Richie Ashburn. The fleet-footed rookie outfielder was hitting .364 through Monday's games.

Amateur Skating Champ Signs A 'Pro' Contract

Brockville, Ont., June 2.—(AP)—Olympic Figure Skating Champion Barbara Ann Scott has signed a professional contract to skate for money and charity.

The pretty blonde ballerina of the ice signed yesterday with Music Corporation of America Artists, Lt. She will be booked for various engagements with part of the proceeds being retained as a salary and the remainder to go to a Canadian charitable organization, St. Lawrence Foundation.

"MCA could book her for an appearance in Honolulu or Hollywood, whichever seemed most advantageous, but the foundation's approval," said Miss Scott's advisor, H. H. Caldwell.

Caldwell is a director of the foundation, which he said would use the funds to help crippled and underprivileged children.

Williams Again Leads Batters In American League

Chicago, June 2.—(AP)—Boston's Ted Williams batted 13 hits in 33 trips last week to climb back into the American League batting lead with a .374 mark.

Williams also gained in the specialized bracket. He took the lead in hits with 52, runs with 35, and added seven RBIs to boost his total to 42.

Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's shortstop-manager, dropped to second place in the hit parade with a .359. He slipped 37 percentage points after collecting only six blows in 27 appearances.

Al Zarilla also skidded, 29 points but took third place through Monday's games with .352. The fourth spot went to Bob Brown of New York, a newcomer to the top ten list, with 309 in 109 trips. He was followed by Walt Evers of Detroit and George McQuinn of New York with 340 apiece.

Rocky Sees Ring Title As Way To Future Security

New York, June 2.—(AP)—To Rocky Graziano, the middleweight champion of the world means just one thing—Money.

"I want enough to take care of myself and the kids," he said yesterday in his cubby hole of a dressing room at Stillman's gym where he is preparing for his title defense against Tony Zale at Newark, June 9.

"Maybe later after you're done," he tried to explain, "maybe it means something else. Maybe then you know what it really means to be champ. Right now, you know what I mean, it's money."

"I've got an annuity, half paid for. I'll put the rest in after this fight. Eight years from now, I'll get $150 a week the rest of my life. Even if I went down to the guy and said 'here give me $10,000' he couldn't give me a nickel."

The Rock took the day off from boxing but went through a strenuous routine that would flatten an ordinary man. As a closing gesture he let trainer Whitely Bimstein bounce a 15-pound medicine ball off his stomach for practice.

That is the Graziano champ's idea of preparing Rocky for Zale's searing body blows. The champ has an intimate knowledge of Tony's crushing right under the heart. He was knocked out by that punch in 1946 and is taking no chances this time.

Graziano's strategy is simple. "I'm going to fight him just like I did before," he said, "you don't try to change your style. You don't guys like that, not too careful, you know. Just like I did last time."

"These mugs around here tell me 'after the first four rounds, he'll be a pushover.' Who do they think they're kidding? He's better now than he was at 21. The more I hit him the more he came back. He'll fight the same way too. A guy don't change when he's as old as that."

Shift Site For Olympic Trials

Philadelphia, June 2.—(AP)—The Olympic rowing trials will be held on Lake Carnegie at Princeton, N. J. instead of on the Schuylkill river in Philadelphia.

The rowing committee, headed by Lathrobe Cogswell of Baltimore, decided on the shift last night after deciding the Lake Carnegie course is more nearly comparable to the Olympic course at Henley, Eng.

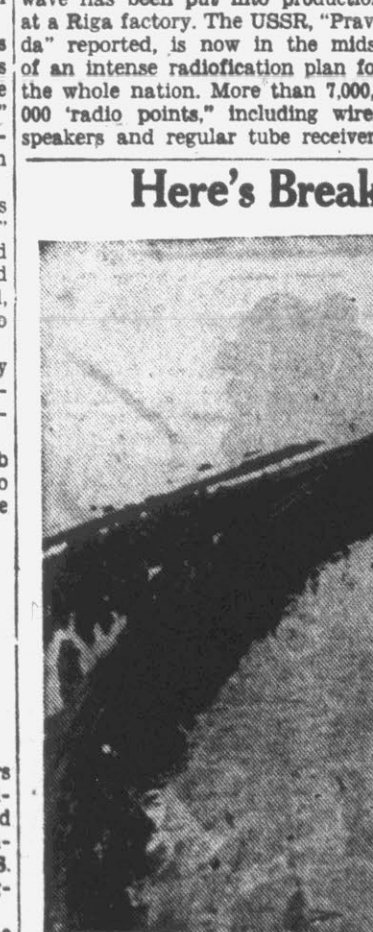

Trials for the eight-oared crews are scheduled for June 30, July 3.

Police Take Up Inquiry In Banning Of Baseball Men

Winston-Salem, June 2.—(AP)—Police investigation continued today where organized baseball left off yesterday in the banishment of two men from the game for life.

A lifetime ban was placed against Bernard Deforge, pitcher-manager of the Reidsville, N. C., team of the Carolina League, and Ed Weingarten, an official of the Florence, S. C., club of the Tri-State League and Leaksville, N. C., of the Blue Ridge loop.

They were banned on charges of bribery, gambling and game-throwing.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, ruled the two men out of organized baseball yesterday at his Columbus, O., offices.

Trautman said Deforge admitted throwing a game for $300. Weingarten denied any connection with the incident.

Police Chief John Gold and Detective Captain W. R. Burke of Winston-Salem said no criminal charges had been filed but that "an investigation is being conducted and we are cooperating with baseball people in this thing."

A North Carolina statute makes "fixing" of athletic events a criminal offense.

At Florence, S. C., where Weingarten was general manager and major stockholder of that city's entry in the class B Tri-State League, minor stockholders said the team would continue league play.

Following Trautman's decision, Charlotte Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn said he had assigned two detectives to investigate reports of a betting coup at the Florence-Charlotte Tri-State game at Charlotte, May 15.

Littlejohn added that investigation thus far revealed no evidence of a "fix," but he ordered a "crack down" on all gambling at local games.

Albright Drops Out of Picture; Has No Favorite

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, June 2.—There was manifest disappointment among ardent supporters of candidates remaining in the race for governor but no great surprise when Wayne Albright's eagerly awaited statement said "I shall take no part in it" (the second primary).

Ever since early returns Saturday night indicated a run-off between Charles M. Johnson and Kerr Scott, with Albright's 73,000 votes representing balance of power, both surviving candidates had hoped for a favorable attitude on his part.

In heaving strictly to middle line policy, without even disclosing his choice between the remaining candidates, Albright incurred neither enmity nor appreciation from either and assumed no obligations for the future.

There is some question whether he fully discharged the obligation he assumed when he asked North Carolinians to vote for him for governor. Since he was eliminated in the first primary, Albright is technically a private citizen whose voting is his own business. From another viewpoint he is titular leader of 70-odd thousand citizens who looked to him for suggestion and guidance which they did not get.

But in bowing out of the picture without complaint and without attempt to influence his following, the youthful candidate is maintaining the policy established early in his campaign. By not continuing in the political picture, and by going out of the state for a much needed rest, he may be—as many observers think—permanently bowing out of the North Carolina political picture. Whether he means it that way or not many people look upon his action as dodging and ducking—and North Carolinians have never shown appreciation for that attitude.

Approve Request For Nat'l Guard

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—A $361,000,000 program to build up the civilian reserves of the army and air force was recommended today by the House Appropriations committee.

The giant 1949 military money bill approved by the committee would give the national guard $240,000,000, the organized enlisted and officer reserves $100,000,000, and the reserve officers training corps (ROTC) $21,000,000 for its courses in high schools and colleges.

The total is $333,975,000 larger than Congress voted last year for the three civilian branches. The bill would provide money for the year beginning July 1.

The National Guards' full request was granted by the committee. It received $134,000,000 last year.

The guard's total is to have 100,000 men in 5,000 functioning units by the end of the fiscal year on June 30, 1949. The air national guard is shooting for 341,000 men in 5,514 units. Approximate present strengths the committee said, are 271,000 men in 4,800 ground units and 21,000 in 355 air units.

The committee voted to give the guard authority to use land made available to it by private persons and corporations as well as local governments. Heretofore, the guard has been limited to state-owned land.

Social Reforms Urged By Pope

Rome, June 2.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII today called for "just and necessary social reforms" to solve problems "growing out of the ruin and revolution of the world and its aftermath."

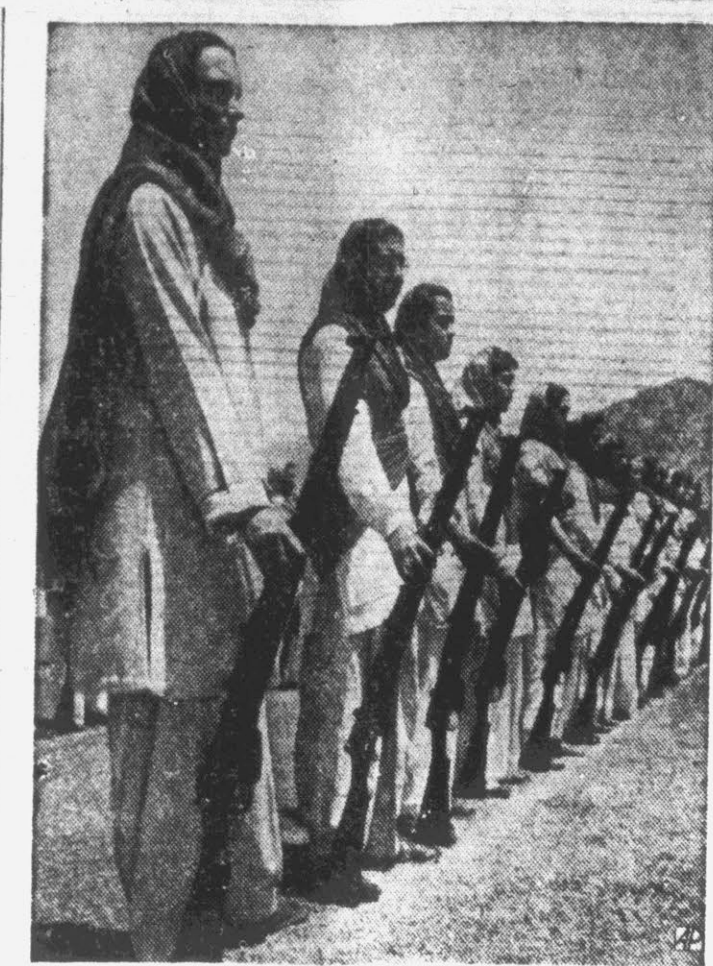

Not otherwise, he said, could "wayward and embittered hearts" be won back to the "true concepts and sound ideas about the world and God."

The government asked an order requiring him to bargain with it on grounds that such bargaining is required by the Taft-Hartley law. The government fears a mine work stoppage when the present contract runs out June 30 if a new working agreement is not reached before then.

Americans Going Would Send U.S. Deeper Into Debt Fleet To Israel

Washington, June 2.—(AP)—Americans went $1,282,000,000 deeper into debt on the installment plan during the first six months after time payment controls died last November.

A Federal Reserve Board report showed today that the installment credit for retail buying reached the highest point in history, $6,736,000,000, at the beginning of May.

Total consumer credit also reached a record high of $13,596,000,000. This also includes charge accounts and loans repayable in a lump sum, neither of which has been under government control for 17 months. But it was in the installment field that on-the-cuff buyers piled up debt fastest—at an average of $213,670,000 for each of the first six months after dealers were left free to fix their own down payment rules and length of time to pay the balance.

The average monthly increase had been only $166,330,000 for the previous 12 months under controls. These generally had required a downpayment of one-third and repayment of the balance in 15 months.

The Arabs did not announce any cease fire order but Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok told a Tel Aviv news conference the Jews would resume fire unless Arab forces stopped shooting.

Never too late...

Whatever its birth date... your car will live a longer life if you regularly drain out old oil and OIL-PLATE with Conoco Nth Motor Oil.

And here's the reason why. The moment Nth Motor Oil (Patented) enters your engine, a special added ingredient fastens an extra film of lubricant so closely to metal that cylinder walls and all working parts are literally OIL-PLATED!

This protective OIL-PLATING stays right up there... won't all drain down to the crankcase, even with your engine idle over night! That's why Nth Motor Oil extra-protects from "dry-friction" starts... from metal-eating combustion acids... from sludge and carbon due to wear!

So, for full-time protection... for more miles per quart, make a date now...
