Announce Plans Dividing Germany

Western Powers Reveal Program To Create Separate Federal Government In West Germany And Plan To Block Future German Aggression

Washington, June 7 (AP)—In the face of certain Russian opposition, the western powers announced today a five-point proposal for creating a separate, federal government in western Germany.

At the same time they revealed new measures to block any further German aggression.

The agreements, results of a six-power western nation conference which ended at London a week ago, were announced simultaneously in London and Europe.

They are subject to formal acceptance by the governments of the United States, Britain, France, and the low countries and a stiff fight over them is expected at Paris.

The five steps projected for creating a federal German government are based on the expressed belief that the German people themselves should take maximum responsibility for each step.

The steps include an authorization meeting of the allied military and German heads of each western German state, election of delegates to a constituent assembly, drafting of a constitution by the assembly, ratification of the constitution by the German people, and consideration of needed revisions in German state boundaries.

It reportedly was to meet French security fears and ease French anxiety to bring western Germany into European control.

Another victory for the French was contained in an agreement for an international control of the Ruhr, which United States, United Kingdom, France, Benelux countries and Germany would participate in.

which does not involve the political separation of the Ruhr area from Germany.

The agreement contemplates control of distribution of coal, coke and steel of the Ruhr, the common language continued.

It also provides that the Ruhr industrial concentration in that area shall not become an instrument of aggression and on the other will be able to make its contribution to all countries participating in a European cooperative economic program, including, of course, Germany itself.

The official statement reports this general provision: "The United States, the United Kingdom and French delegates reiterated the firm views of their governments that there could not be any general withdrawal of their forces from Germany until the peace of Europe is secured and until prior consultation.

During this period there should be a general withdrawal of the forces of occupation of the United States, France or the United Kingdom without prior consultation. It was further recommended that the governments concerned should consult if any of them should consider that there was a danger of resurgence of German military power, or of the adoption by Germany of a policy of aggression."

The conference also agreed that the military governors of the western zone should create a military security board to assure continued disarmament and demilitarization in Germany.

Lewis Denounces Coal Operators As Talks Begin

No Wage Proposals By UMW; Expect 'Improvements'; Extends Strike Threat

Washington, June 7 (AP)—John L. Lewis opened soft coal contract talks today—with a blast of denunciation at the operators.

He called them "fat cats x x x magnificently opulent x x x digging deep and without restraint into the national purse."

He made two points clear about any agreement replacing the contract expiring June 30:

1. The United Mine Workers have no wage proposals, but they "expect improvements."

2. They want guarantees under the 1947 miners' welfare fund which has paid out nothing because it is tied up in a legal dispute.

He put the next move up to the operators. The miners will consider any offer "which you may persuade yourselves to utter," Lewis said.

This was in a statement which Lewis opened the negotiations.

He scornfully told the operators they had reduced collective bargaining "to mockery."

Lewis said he and his union attended the court-ordered bargaining conference "only through duress."

He was directed to negotiate with the Southern Coal Producers Association by Justice T. Alan Goldsborough, against his will and under injunction.

Goldsborough acted under the Taft-Hartley Act which Lewis called "the first major thrust of fascist tyranny in the republic."

Concerning the court action instituted by President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Coal Producers Association to force Lewis to bargain with him, Lewis said:

"As representative of labor, we sit here under attack; in reverse, our limbs are unshackled.

"You have no fear of the thought police, and when annoyed by one of your kind you can at will invoke additional processes of government to drag you in."

Free collective bargaining? You have reduced the words to mockery. In his formal statement, Lewis seemed to extend a definite strike threat with the statement that:

ECTC Graduates Hear Ehringhaus

Former Governor Of North Carolina Critical Of Those Who Distrust Established Leaders And Tried Philosophies

The Honorable J. C. Ehringhaus, former governor of North Carolina, spoke this morning at the thirty-ninth annual commencement exercises held at East Carolina Teachers College.

An audience made up of people from various sections of the state was present in the Wright auditorium on the campus to hear the distinguished speaker and to attend the graduation of 126 students at the college.

In his address Ehringhaus stressed the search for truth and identified the experience of the past as man's best guide in determining truth in the present and for the future.

The inquiry "What is truth?" he said, is "the epitome of educational effort. It is the end and aim of all study of the past that by study, by consideration and by thought we may acquaint ourselves as much as possible with the experiences of ourselves, our civilization and our forebears to the end that in today we may, with some slight degree of accuracy, appraise, evaluate and interpret the fundamental and eternal verities of life and point our efforts more surely and certainly towards accord with these verities in the future."

Ehringhaus warned against error into which one easily falls in the search for truth. The deceptive attractiveness of the new and the different and of labels standing for one knows not whom or what, he pointed out as a danger to our ways of thinking and of living.

"We like to think of ourselves as liberals," he said. Much that passes for liberalism he labeled, however, as "red radicalism," which considered judgment will disclose as threatening to the freedom of the individual.

He criticized those who adopt an attitude of doubt or distrust toward established leaders and tried philosophies, and especially toward those who in the field of international relations consider it a mark of superiority to praise other ways of life to the disparagement of our own institutions.

"In the main," he said, "your government, national and state, is clean and dedicated primarily to the consideration and service of the people."

Dr. John Decatur Messick, college president since last September, presided at the first June exercises which he has conducted here.

Three months ago Masaryk's son Jan, Benes' foreign minister, was found dead—a suicide, the Communist government said. That followed the Communist coup in February which sharply reduced Benes' powers. He resigned rather than accept the "Peoples Democracy Constitution" which the Communists put forward. He disagreed with its provisions and disapproved of the single ticket parliamentary election which the Communist regime held eight days ago.

The first announcement of the resignation said only that a communiqué would be issued later. There was no promise that the contents of Benes' resignation would be made public.

Czech President Resigns Office In Protest Move

Benes Quits Rather Than Approve Communist-Written Constitution

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 7 (AP)—Ill and exhausted, President Eduard Benes resigned today rather than approve a new constitution drawn up by the Communists.

Benes, 64, had served as president 11 years, in two terms, and his present term had five years to run.

Premier Klement Gottwald's office announced the cabinet accepted the resignation and voted to continue Benes' presidential salary and give him the presidential home at Lany.

He resigned once before—in 1938 after the Munich conference brought the German invasion—out resumed the presidency in London, July 21, 1940. He first became president in December, 1935, after Thomas G. Masaryk resigned because of age and illness. Benes had been Masaryk's foreign minister 17 years and helped him found the Czechoslovak republic.

Big Industrialist Died Yesterday Beverly Hills, Calif., June 7 (AP)—Death has stilled the heart and hand of one of America's leading industrialists, Charles Warren Nash.

Nash, who rose from an orphan farm boy to president of General Motors, succumbed at his home yesterday after a long illness.

Surviving are his wife, the former Emily Lou Turnage; three sons, Albert Coy, Jr., Robert P. and William Cabot Monk, all of Farmville; four grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. G. Horne of Durham, Mrs. John D. Gates of Richmond, Va. and Mrs. Annie H. Riggsbee of Farmville.

Mr. Monk was born in Durham County January 2, 1876. He was the son of the late William H. and Emma Lyle Cox Monk. His career was launched simultaneously with the opening of the Farmville Tobacco Market in 1903 as a tobacco buyer, and he bought the first pile of tobacco sold on this market.

He was founder and president of A. C. Monk and Company, Inc., one of the largest independent dealers and exporters of the Bright Leaf belt and was the active president until his death. His position in the tobacco world gave him a wide acquaintance in this and foreign countries, to which he often traveled.

Mr. Monk was president of the Bank of Farmville and an officer and director of other business concerns. He was known throughout Southern Methodism as a leading layman, and he served the local Methodist Church for more than 30 years as a member of the board of stewards, and was a past chairman of this group. He made generous gifts to the church and its causes from time to time, and his generosity included substantial benefits to the work of other denominations.

His stewardship was extended to civic life, as expressed in his contribution of a site and funds for the erection of the local DAR chapter house and to the Farmville Public Library. He was an active participant in the various campaigns connected with relief during both World Wars, and to humanitarian causes throughout the years.

More Engineers Enter Fight To Control Floods

Twenty-Six Officers Rushed To Critical Points As Columbia River Rises

Portland, Ore., June 7 (AP)—The army today threw a fresh engineering field command against the raging Columbia river. It was a desperate attempt to hold the weakening 100 mile dike front from Portland to the Pacific.

Twenty six officers of the army engineer corps rushed to critical points in the heavily barricaded lower valley as the great river built up pressure with its second flood wave in a week. The reinforcements, including five Lieutenant Colonels, flew in during the night from Fort Belvoir, Va.

The time was short, the task huge. Prevent expansion of the flood toll by the Columbia and Fraser rivers in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Canada's British Columbia—26 dead, 53 missing, about 60,000 homeless, damage of perhaps $140,000,000 (M).

The new flood crest was deep into the already hard hit industrial area, stretching Portland and Vancouver. Across the Columbia in Washington, it was surging downriver, building up the current that has been grinding away the dike since the first crest rolled down six days ago.

The Swedish Count returned to Cairo this morning from weekend negotiations in Lebanon, Palestine and Trans-Jordan. He told reporters he had seen "all parties."

The Jews said last night they expected the mediator to decide today when to begin the armistice.

But a correspondent with the Arabs reports negotiations for the armistice seems to be falling apart, and one high Arab authority says conditions laid down by the Jews may "kill any truce."

Arab-Jewish fighting in the Holy Land continued. Action was reported yesterday in Jerusalem, in Northern Galilee and on two approaches to Israel's leading city, Tel Aviv.

Last night the Israel government said in a communique, "It was understood that Count Bernadotte is expected to make up his mind finally during the course of tomorrow when he would communicate his conclusions to both sides, propose the deadline and expect the reply."

In Haifa earlier, Speriok told a news conference the Count probably would not regard his proposals as final in event they were not accepted. He said the Jews reserved the right to appeal to the Security Council.

That agreement provided for a nine-cent-an-hour wage raise and reinstatement without prejudice of all workers except those accused of alleged unlawful acts during the strike. Re-employment of any strikers so accused was to be submitted to arbitration.

Senate Votes Down Proposal To Forbid Segregation In The Armed Services; First Of Seven 'Amendments' To Be Offered; Draft Labeled 'Must' By GOP

Washington, June 7 (AP)—The Senate, pressing toward action on draft legislation, voted down today a proposal to forbid race segregation in the armed services. The roll call vote was 67 to 7.

The vote was not a direct test on how the Senate feels about race segregation. Senate leaders were confronted with the prospect of a filibuster from Southerners if the proposal was not sidetracked.

They are anxious to get final action on the draft measure which, as it stands, leaves to the Department of Defense the question whether the Army, Navy and Air Force are to have units of mixed race.

Senator Langer (R-ND) offered an amendment to prohibit discrimination or segregation because of race, color or religion in assignments or induction into the armed services.

It was tabled on a motion by Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Armed Services Committee. The motion was not debatable.

This was the first test of a set of seven Langer amendments covering most of President Truman's "Civil Rights" measures such as anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and anti-segregation.

Some Senators who favor the Civil Rights program opposed Langer's amendments. They said that the military manpower bill is not the place to fight out such issues.

Gurney told his colleagues before the vote that the two-year draft bill "is of paramount importance."

He said Civil Rights legislation should "stand on its own feet" and not be hooked on to the draft bill.

The Senate arranged to meet an hour earlier than usual to get on with the draft measure—tagged "must" by the GOP leadership.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Services committee told a reporter in advance of the session that he felt "pretty certain" the Senate would support his motion.

Senator Wherry (Neb.), acting majority leader, agreed.

And even Langer, who talked for three and one-half hours at the last session Friday, conceded defeat for his amendment plus six other "riders" he had planned to offer. These would have covered other parts of President Truman's controversial Civil Rights program, including its anti-lynch and anti-poll tax provisions.

"I'm against this draft bill in its present form," Langer told a reporter. "But I think I've said about all I want to on this. There may be some other who want to talk."

Earlier Langer had said he planned lengthy talks on each of his amendments.

Moral Rehabilitation

Growing Opinion That No Real World Recovery Can Be Achieved Unless Moral Rearmament Is Achieved; Hitler's Deliberate Sabotage; Organized Effort Made

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

There is a growing mass of opinion in many countries that no real world recovery can be achieved unless it is founded on moral rehabilitation.

During my travels abroad since the war I have found both statesmen and the general public reaching for new moral support. Churches and religious organizations have been swinging into action to meet the crisis.

That isn't strange when you stop to consider the widespread moral destruction wrought by the conflict. Some of it was deliberate, for Hitler undertook to kill moral values so he could more easily persuade his people to follow him in his barbaric aggression.

Many European countries still are struggling in the immoral morass he created. And, quietly but persistently, Bolshevism, continues the anti-religious crusade on the premise that religion is the "opium of the masses" and renders them less capable under aggressive totalitarian dictatorship.

Therefore many observers find great encouragement in the world assembly being held in California to celebrate the tenth anniversary of Moral—Re-Armament. Attending the assembly are political, industrial and labor leaders from some 24 countries, including representatives from the crucial areas of Europe and the Far East.

Dr. Frank Buchman, the Presbyterian clergyman who founded M.R.A., set the conference in motion with a worldwide broadcast in which he referred to the scope of MRA thus:

"Moral Re-Armament is the good road of an Ideology inspired by God upon which all can unite. Catholic, Jew and Protestant, Hindu, Moslem, Buddhist and Confucianist, all find they can travel along this road together."

And Paul G. Hoffman, European Recovery Program administrator, further interpreted the movement in a telegram saying in part:

"You are giving the world the ideological counterpart of the Marshall Plan."

So the assembly has got under way, to devise means of meeting a crisis which A. R. K. MacKENZIE, member of the British delegation to the United Nations, sums up like this:

"Without an inspired ideology democracy founders before the advancing tide of totalitarianism, and economic and military aid fall of themselves to turn the tide of alien

ERP Appropriation

Nations of Western Europe Built Plans for Recovery On Amount 'Authorized' By Congress; House Has Cut Ground Out From Under These Plans; Thinking

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 7 (AP)—Say a big fire wiped out your business. And you ask me for $10,000 to rebuild it.

I examined your plans carefully and although I didn't write the check right away, I told you "okay, you can figure on the $10,000."

Believing I meant to give you that money, you came around a little later, with the building ready to start, but then I said:

"Sorry, old man. No can do. I'm only giving you $7,500. I know you'll have to change your plans a lot but—Sorry."

That's what Congress is doing right now to the Marshall plan, the European recovery program (ERP), except that Congress is dealing in billions of dollars, not thousands.

which is really writing the check. Congress is free to change its mind between the time it "authorizes" something and finally gets around to "appropriating" money for it.

It may wind up "appropriating" less than it originally had "authorized."

Early this spring Congress authorized $5,300,000,000 on the Marshall plan—ERP—over 12 months.

Last week the House—previously had voted with the Senate for $5,300,000,000—voted to appropriate only $4,000,000,000 to be spent over 12 months.

This isn't final. The Senate still has to vote. It may vote to appropriate the full, original $5,300,000,000. Then House and Senate will have to agree on $5,300,000,000 or $4,000,000,000 or something in between.

This is only the latest move in a tremendously involved, long-drawn out problem.

It began June 5, 1947 when Secretary of State Marshall first suggested his plan for helping Europe back on its feet.

It needed, and still needs, help to become prosperous again. Unless it does, Communism may take over. That wouldn't be good news for us.

Some senators discussed the possibility of making the $4,000,000,000 the House allowed for 15 months of European recovery operations apply to 12 months instead. The administration had asked for $4,245,000,000 for the year, plus $85,000,000 already made available.

But there were indications that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), taking command of the fight for the full fund, has no idea of compromising on a smaller amount if he can help it.

Vandenberg, who will testify before the Senate Appropriations committee on Wednesday, is expected to contend that this country is likely to lose the cold war against Communism in Europe if Congress fails to vote the full amount it authorized in setting up the recovery program two months ago.

All foreign spending—including occupation and other costs in Germany, Japan and elsewhere—is lumped in the bill which cleared the House carrying $5,900,000,000. The administration had asked for $6,533,000,000.

Washington, June 7 (AP)—The Senate's oldest member, Kingly Arthur Capper of Kansas, is going to retire.

His decision not to seek re-election came as a surprise. He had announced that he would be a candidate again. More recently he said he had no plans to withdraw from the race despite the views expressed privately by some of his friends.

Capper will be 83 July 14, and his age had been a matter of public discussion in Kansas. Public efforts to get him to withdraw began with an editorial by William T. White of the Emporia Gazette. Then Roy A. Roberts, president of the Kansas City Star, announced his newspaper would not support Capper for re-election.

"I love him," Roberts told a University of Kansas student assembly May 10. "But I don't want a man 80 or 90 years old representing us in writing the (peace) treaty that will affect you students and my grandson."

Washington, June 7 (AP)—Three of the four Carolina Senators voted with the majority today when the Senate killed a proposal to write into the draft bill a ban on race discrimination in armed forces inductions and assignments. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina was not recorded.

His colleague, William B. Umstead, voted to table (kill) the motion.

As the primaries have been held in Pitt, it is now time for the friends of the different candidates to quit saying things about each other. You will all be needed working together some of these days. It costs so much to be a candidate these days that unless a man has a good sized war he has to keep out of the race. A pretty good argument that the primary system puts too heavy a tax on candidates and ought to be abolished.

Christian Science Service

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, June 6.

Golden Text: Psalms 86: 9, 10. "All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord; and shall glorify thy name. For thou art great, and doest wondrous things; thou art God alone."

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is none else" (Isaiah 45:22). And from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Mind is the only cause or principle of existence. Cause does not exist in matter, in mortal mind, or in physical forms" (Page 262).

Elizabeth Carter Is Announced As Winner Of Maria D. Graham Award

Elizabeth Carter of Greenville, a graduate at East Carolina Teachers College this morning, was announced as winner of the Maria D. Graham award in mathematics. Established this year by the Mathematics Club of the college and presented to a student today for the first time, the award honors a senior with an outstanding record of scholarship and of service in the activities of the club.

Maria D. Graham, for whom the award is named, was a charter member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers college and taught at the college until her retirement three years ago. Miss Graham died at her home in Warrenton last year, and the award is a memorial to her work at East Carolina.

Miss Carter received this morning the bachelor of science degree. At the college she specialized in mathematics and science and made an enviable scholastic record. Her name appeared on the honor roll every quarter during her college career; and this year, in an election to determine "senior superlatives," she was chosen by her classmates as the most intellectual student in the class of 1948. Recently, as one of the 14 highest ranking students in the senior class, she was given special recognition by the Greenville chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honor society.

In addition to her excellent scholastic record, Miss Carter has taken part in a number of student activities. She has been publicity chairman and vice-president of the Mathematics Club, treasurer of the senior class, secretary-treasurer of the women day students organization, and business manager of the senior play presented on the campus this spring.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Carter of Greenville.

ECTC Grads . . .

Among the 126 men and women completing their work at East Carolina, 92 received the bachelor of science degree, which is conferred upon those taking work preparing them for teaching; and 23 received the bachelor of arts degree. The master of arts degree was conferred upon 11 students. All graduates except three are North Carolinians. Women receiving diplomas numbered 95; and men, 31.

Announcement of five awards to students was made as part of the morning's program. Ellen Joyce Clark of Everett, junior at the college, received the Alexander B. Andrews scholarship; Dorothy Bennett of Edward, the Thomas C. Williams award, presented annually by the Pi Omega Pi honorary fraternity to the senior having the highest scholastic record for four years of work in the department of business education; Charles D. Connor of New Bern, the James Fenly Spear, Jr. Memorial award, given annually to a senior in the department of science outstanding for scholarship, leadership, and good citizenship; and Keith Hudson of Thomasville, the John B. Christenbury Memorial award to an outstanding athlete.

Elizabeth Carter of Greenville was the first student to receive an award established this year by the Mathematics Club at the college in honor of the late Maria D. Graham of Warrenton, charter member of the faculty at East Carolina.

After the conferring of degrees, Francis Colner of Newport News, Va., president of the Class of 1948, led seniors in a traditional ceremony during which graduates placed the tassels of their academic caps to indicate completion of work toward a degree.

Hickory Veteran Heads N. C. VFW For Coming Year

Winston-Salem, June 7—(AP)—Harry Vanderlinden of Hickory heads the North Carolina department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the coming year. He was named commander at the annual encampment which ended here yesterday.

The group elected to hold the 1948 meeting at Carolina Beach at a date to be selected later. Re-elected were Tom Broughton of Lenoir, judge advocate, and Dr. John Turner, Fayetteville, department surgeon.

Others elected were: William S. Humphries, Roxboro and Raleigh senior vice commander; Russell Burcham, Elkin, junior vice commander; Rev. John D. Barringer, Hendersonville, chaplain.

Mrs. Albert Varner, Greensboro was re-elected president of the VFW Auxiliary.

Shriners Gather In Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J. June 7—(AP)—Some 40,000 lodge brothers dressed in Red Fez caps virtually took over this resort city today as the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, moved in for its 74th annual convention.

The frolic starts tonight with a Mardi Gras procession on the Atlantic City Boardwalk, and tomorrow morning the Shriners hold the first of their two big convention parades.

France published the earliest fashion magazines; in America, Godey's Lady Book was first published in 1830.

April—this country was going through a period of real nervousness.

In Europe Communism was spreading. The Communists had taken over Czechoslovakia in February. There was a chance the Communists might win control in Italy in the elections coming up there in mid-April.

France was a little jittery. No one knew when or where the next Communist stroke might fall. There was need for action here to reassure the Europeans we really meant to help them.

So both houses of Congress—the Senate late in March and the House in early April—voted to authorize spending $5,300,000,000 on ERP over a year's time. They said it was okay to start spending some of the money.

Government officials here and the nations of Europe immediately keyed all their planning to $5,300,000,000 of help spread over 12 months. In the meantime, the Communists lost the elections in Italy. France grew staidier. And the Communists elsewhere stayed pretty quiet. And Russia even suggested nice, quiet peace talks with the United States.

Maybe this had something to do with the House changing its mind last week from thinking Europe needed $5,300,000,000 to thinking maybe it could get by on only $4,000,000,000.

Actually the House cut that $5,300,000,000 total only to $4,055,000,000. That $245,000,000 cut doesn't look like much of a cut.

But then the House did something else. It said "don't spend that $5,000,000,000 in 12 months. It must be spent within 15 months."

Now see what happens. Divide that $5,055,000,000 by those 15 months. It means $337,000,000 to be spent a month for 15 months.

But the money spent at the rate of $337,000,000 a month for 12 months, means only $4,044,000,000 spent in a year.

So the cut in a year's ERP spending would amount to $1,256,000,000.

Warehousemen Hold Convention Of Bright Belt

Myrtle Beach, S. C., June 7—(AP)—The three-day annual convention of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association opened here today, drawing tobacco men from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

Fred S. Royster of Henderson, N. C., head of the group, is presiding.

The annual meeting of the South Carolina Border Belt Association at 10 a. m. opened the fourth annual session.

Featuring the afternoon program was a testimonial dinner for Charles E. Gage of Washington, D. C., retiring director of the U. S. Agriculture Department's tobacco branch.

Tonight, principal speakers will be James E. Thigpen, Gage's successor from Tarboro, N. C.; Harry Caldwell, of Greensboro, master of the North Carolina Grange; and David L. Kelly of Winston-Salem, assistant secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau.

The president's breakfast for the Board of Governors will start the Tuesday session, with the annual meeting of the board to follow immediately afterward.

In the afternoon general session, J. B. Hutson of Washington, president of Tobacco Associates, Inc., will make the principal speech.

Also scheduled to appear on the Tuesday afternoon program are L. T. Weeks of Raleigh, N. C., secretary and secretary of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Growers' Association of North Carolina and a former Tar Heel Governor, will introduce the guests at the annual banquet Tuesday night. Broughton is general counsel for the Bright Belt group. Col. Jack Major of Paducah, Ky., will be principal speaker at the banquet.

The convention will close Wednesday following consideration of resolutions at a business session.

Rep. T. L. Owens Dies In Hospital

Washington, June 7—(AP)—Rep. Thomas L. Owens, 50, Chicago Republican, died today in the Bethesda Naval Hospital. He was stricken May 23 with a heart attack.

Owens was serving his first term in the House. He was nominated for a second term last April.

He represented the seventh Illinois district, with a population of more than 1,000,000. He sometimes mentioned that it was the largest in the nation and that he had more constituents than some Senators.

Owens had specialized in labor law and won a place on the House labor and education committee when he came to Congress. He was active

Summer's Arrival Is Still Two Weeks Off

Soaring temperatures yesterday reminded Carolinians that summer's official arrival is only two weeks away.

NLRB Delays Lewis Hearings

Baltimore, June 7—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today postponed for two weeks its hearing on a complaint of unfair labor practices against John L. Lewis.

The regional NLRB office announced the union had requested the postponement and the operators did not object. The hearing originally was scheduled for tomorrow. The new date is June 21.

The complaint was issued May 24 by Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the NLRB, on a petition filed by the Southern Coal Producers Association May 19 when Lewis refused to include the Dixie group in negotiations for a new work contract.

The government then sought an injunction based on Denham's complaint and Judge T. Alan Goldsboro last Friday issued an injunction requiring Lewis to include the Southern producers.

Fine Bus Driver For Accident In Camden County

Elizabeth City, June 7—(AP)—An accident in which a bus for Camden county Negro school children overturned and burned was aired in Camden county recorder's court Saturday.

According to the evidence, Moses Ford, 16, driver of the bus, had yielded to the importunities of his 15 year old friend, John Harris after discharging all passengers and had turned the wheel over to the younger boy when the accident occurred.

Ford testified that while Harris was driving the bus left the road ran into a ditch and burned. The bus was valued at $2,000.

Ford was sentenced to six months on the roads, suspended upon payment of a $100 fine and costs and was placed on probation for 10 months.

Women In The Church

Something is wrong in a society where men cannot carry on their homes without their wives entering industrial or commercial life, but it is worse yet when married women neglect their homes and children and go to work "to keep up with the Joneses" in economic display, according to Dr. William Ward Ayer, of Calvary Baptist Church, New York City. "This is nothing less than selling flesh and blood for cars, refrigerators, radios and other gadgets," he recently told his congregation. "It is small wonder that juvenile delinquency has assumed such large proportions. . . It is a law of morals and an edict of God that no nation can survive if families break up."

Miss Irene Hoskins, well-known for her missionary-educational work among the Navajo Indians of Arizona and New Mexico, has been named by the Home Missions Council of North America to direct a literacy campaign among members of this tribe. They are reported to be 8 percent illiterate, and there are 40,000 teen-age and adult members who have never had school opportunities. Miss Hopkins will work from Fort Defiance, Arizona, first teaching the people to read in their own tongue by the use of "Laubach charts," and later teaching them to read in English. Miss Hoskins was formerly associated with the Wycliffe Translators and is expert in the use of the Navajo language.

"Women can stop war," says the United Council of Church Women (156 Fifth Avenue, New York City), and to attain that goal the Council is securing the signatures of one million American women in a nationwide "mobilization for peace." The signatures are to make a great book eventually to be presented to Congress by Mrs. Ruth Mouney Worrell, executive secretary. The commitment which the women sign says: "As a Christian woman, I rededicate myself to Christ. I pledge to join with other women in a great crusade for peace. I will pray more and work harder for my church and for the Church throughout the world. I will give courageous, intelligent, prayerful support to the United Nations and to Christian movements for World Order. I will seek to establish civil rights and brotherhood in my own community. I will work for the extension of human rights and economic justice around the world. I will pray that women of all countries may soon join in this crusade."

THE CHURCH AND WAR

"As a result of the revival of war talk during the last year, church leaders have been doing some hard thinking to determine their attitude towards a possible future struggle which promises to be the most terrible holocaust the world has ever known. On the whole, their thinking has been rather unproductive. Most declare cautiously that although war is wrong, there are some circumstances under which it is justified — with no specific statement as to the nature of these circumstances."

There is no doubt that war is the greatest moral problem of all time and that the church must take its share of the blame for failing to solve it. Yet there are valid reasons, if not excuses, for this failure. The Scriptures give us two somewhat contradictory examples of the duty of a Christian confronted with evil. On the one hand is the calm resignation and patient suffering of the beatitudes; on the other is the picture of the militant Christ whipping the money-changers from the temple. "Turning the other cheek" contrasts markedly in spite of figurative interpretation — with the Christ who declared, "I came not to bring peace but a sword."

If war comes and our opponents are "wrong," should we suffer the wrong for a spiritual advantage to ourselves, or should we oppose it with arms to prevent it from harming others? This is a hard question, particularly since we can never be sure that our opponents are entirely "wrong." Only a full searching should satisfy the Christian.

RECRUITS

— Additions to the Johnson and Scott headquarters staffs for a more intensive campaign are in the nature of rearranging heavy artillery batteries, rather than new recruits. This is particularly true in the Johnson camp. The Scott folks have acquired open support of several avowed Albright leaders. For most part, new recruits will be sought among the ranks of private voters, rather than for the officer's corps.

POWER

— On top level, Johnson has developed a real political powerhouse through bringing to Raleigh Don Elias of Asheville and John Dawson of Kinston. Both men have well earned reputation for political sagacity and shrewdness. New features of their status include location and concentration — both were for Johnson from the first, but they operated from their home bases, and both had some divided allegiance. Elias was interested in Broughton and Dawson was interested in Umstead. Now they have only one love — Johnson. Same is true of Claude Ramsey, news editor of the Asheville daily papers, who will assist with Johnson publicity.

DIFFERENCE

— Formal announcements emanating from the rival camps indicate a difference in early strategy. The Johnson publicity has dealt chiefly with additions to the central state headquarters, while Scott has emphasized enlargement in many county organizations. Johnson folks had an enthusiastic meeting of leaders from all sections of the state at Greensboro, while Scott people have had several sectional conferences. Johnson leadership is predominantly of seasoned campaigners, while Scott seems to be depending more upon the younger men and women.

RUN-OFFS

— Second primaries for several legislative seats and county officers are expected to boost local interest and total vote on June 26. A second race is assured in the seventh congressional district between Ertel Carlyle and Hargrave Bellamy, although it cannot be formally called until after the state board of elections certifies the vote on Tuesday. For that matter, neither can a second primary for governor be formally requested until after official certification, although Scott let it be known before midnight of the first primary day he would demand a run-off.

DEADLINE

— The law says formal demand for a second primary must be made within five days after official certification of the vote. For county and legislative offices the vote was officially certified last Tuesday, June 1, and for state and district offices it will be certified on Tuesday, June 8. In both instances the fifth day thereafter falls on Sunday and that has led to some discussion about whether Saturday or Monday is the deadline for filing requests. Members of the attorney

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York — (AP) — Lou Stillman runs the best known sweat shop in America, but it isn't producing as much sweat as it used to.

"That's one reason boxing isn't the best thing — the boys just won't train hard enough," said Lou, who is the Elizabeth Arden of the job and jolt set.

For thirty-one years Lou has operated Stillman's gym, an international indoor spa where professional boxers — the best and the worst — beat each other into shape for their next fight. It is also a kind of flat stock exchange where sharp-faced managers bang their brows together and arrange bouts.

In this dusty garden of the cauliflowerer, loud with muttered oaths and the thud of worn leather on worn flesh, redolent of pintergreen oil and old sweat, Stillman has watched more rounds of boxing than any man in history, perhaps 1,250,000 or more.

Seven days a week, five hours a day, for more than three decades Lou has sat on a stool under the timing gong, watching muscles strain and grieved fists whack into people's faces.

"I figure 98 per cent of the boxers train here," he said. "I've had all the champions — from Dempsey to Joe Louis."

general's staff say they do not recall a specific ruling on election laws, but that general practice is that when the last day of a legal period falls on Sunday, the following Monday is counted. On the other hand, Sunday counts as one of the limitation days if it falls within. Instead of at end of the period. Application of that general rule means that county candidates have through June 7 and state candidates through June 14 to make formal demand for a run-off.

worked to get in condition. The kids today want to train with one foot in the gym and the other in the street."

Lou no longer will have much to do with a muscle after working hours. He's tired of them. Doesn't care to see bouts often, and doesn't associate with the fight crowd. He also has given up his hobbies — horseback riding and oil painting — and recently quit taking piano lessons.

Couldn't get along with the teachers, he said. "I wanted to learn to play tunes and she wanted me to learn to play scales."

Did he ever box himself? Lou looked around the gym forest of sweating arms, legs and bobbing heads. "Think I'm crazy?"

Stillman provides only the gong, the rings, the punching bags, and the showers. And maybe a bandage here and there. He doesn't charge by the bruise. The boxers pay $6 a month for a small locker, $10 a month for a room. Spectators fork out four bits a visit.

His life as tycoon of the open pore and nubby of the expanding bicep has conferred upon Lou a good-sized fortune, a dual personality, and the weary eye of a philosophic shark. His vocabulary has a double faucet like a shower — it runs pleasantly warm or murderously cold.

"Drop dead" he greets a bum or drifter, with a voice like shovelled coal. He also keeps a "throw-em-out" list of boxing hangers-on. Every time they climb the stairs to his gym, he has them bounded down the stairs like used pingpong balls.

"This is a tough business," Lou said. "I learned early there was a rough element in boxing, who'd run over you if they could. You can't be kind to them. They think kindness is weakness."

Occasionally unpaid fights break out in his gym between rival managers, between managers and their fighters. The cause is usually spontaneous combustion arising from disputes concerning the dollar.

Lou's grating snarl is enough to break up most fights. But he long ago put in a house rule banning knives and guns.

"You'd be surprised at some of the well known boxers I've had to take knives from," he said.

Lou says modern boxers are more intelligent and better educated than the flat-nose heroes of yesterday, but lack their stamina.

"The oldtimers — fighters like Dempsey and Benny Leonard — really

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON — It's the world's biggest private yacht, but its owner, Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, wife of the former U.S. Ambassador to Soviet Russia, describes the 350-foot long, 50-foot wide slipper "Sea Cloud" as "just a family ship."

The Sea Cloud, which was stripped for action with the Coast Guard during the war, has been reconverted to the style for which it was intended and after months of cruising is now anchored at Annapolis, Md.

The slim, white floating palace actually is furnished like a beautiful home, vying in elegance with the fabulous residence in Washington. It's a four-mastered, air-conditioned clipper ship. Its sail require eight miles of lines. There are 72 in the crew, housed in modern quarters on both sides of immaculate galleys. It has 800-horsepower Diesel-electric engines and carries three good-sized launches. One is for the owners and guests, one for the crew, another for fishing. It can carry 35 tons of food — a six-month supply for on board. It can carry 555,000 gallons of fuel — good for 21,000 miles. It has a cruising speed of 12 knots.

Below, there are six master bedrooms and two small sitting rooms. Mrs. Davies' own room is a French boudoir. It has delicately carved ivory-paneled walls, large mirrors and gold-toned upholstery. crystal lamps and Dresden figurines. Mrs. Davies' bed is canopied from a golden crown in flowered French brocade. Aubusson rugs cover the floor.

Bright chintz and dainty white furniture deck the bedroom of her daughter, Mrs. Stanley M. Rumbough, Jr., of New York, who Mrs. Davies says grew up on the yacht.

The four guest rooms are decorated in Colonial and Early American style, with fine old chests and highboys. Currier and Ives prints and other rare items.

Aft, on topside, is a "shelter deck," furnished like an outdoor sitting room and completely protected from winds and weather.

There is a smoking room and bar. Floor, walls and ceiling are fashioned from teakwood. In mid-deck there is a spacious living room with a real fireplace. A handsome paneled dining room has four large windows looking out over the water.

Mrs. Davies was responsible for most of the ship's planning and decor. It was built in 1931, in Kiel, Germany.

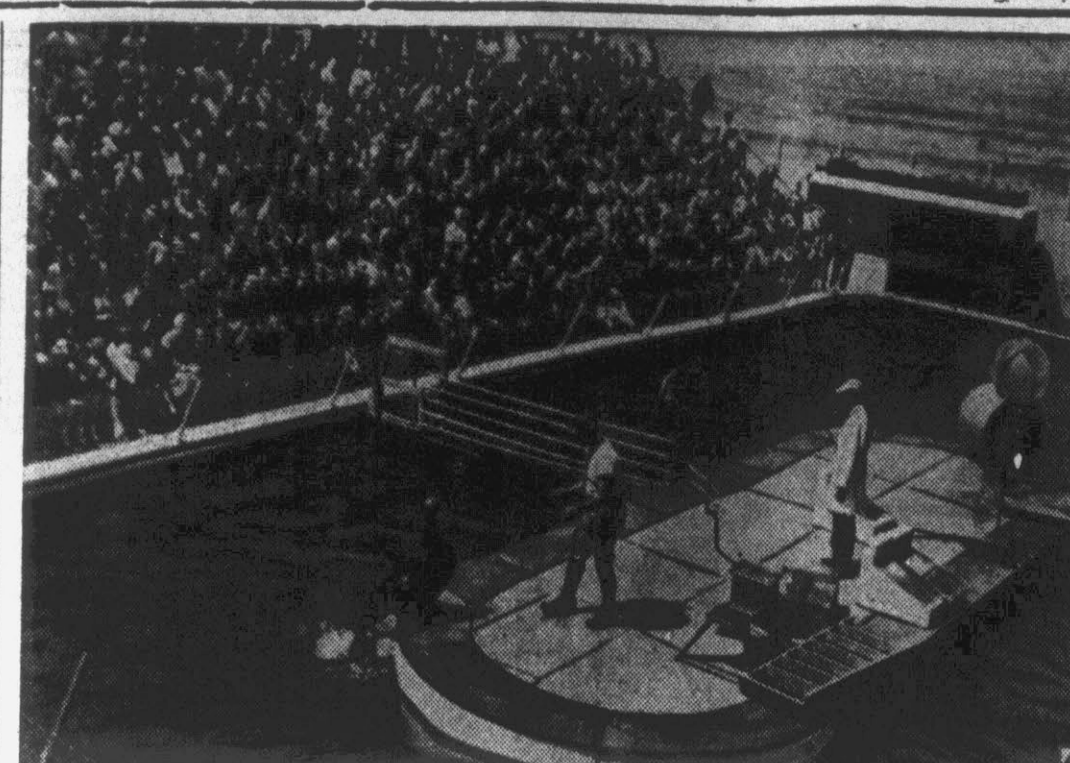

Many tons of gold and silver are lost annually through the rubbing together of coins.

Dr. John Bright Delivers Sermon To 126 Graduates

Dr. John Bright of Richmond, Va., professor of Hebrew and the interpretation of the Old Testament at the Union Theological Seminary there, delivered the commencement sermon to graduates of East Carolina Teachers College on Sunday morning. Addressing the 126 students who are scheduled to receive diplomas at exercises on Monday morning, Dr. Bright spoke on the text "Ye are not your own; for ye were bought with a price."

Churches of Greenville joined in the service, which was held in the Wright auditorium on the campus and was attended by a large congregation from the city and other sections of the state.

The invocation was spoken by the Rev. Leonard W. Topping of the Greenville Presbyterian church. Under the direction of Dr. Karl V. Gilbert, the College Choir sang Gretchenhoff-Cain's "Holy Radiant Light." As the academic procession of graduates, special guests, and staff members moved into the auditorium, the college orchestra played Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance."

Dr. Bright spoke again on Sunday evening at a vesper service conducted by the YMCA and the YWCA of the college. We were introduced by Jean Bostian of Wilmington, president of the YWCA. George Morris, of Winston-Salem, YMCA president gave the call to worship.

A candlelighting service, a traditional program during commencement here, followed Dr. Bright's talk and ended with a procession of the cabinets of the organization and the sounding of "Taps" from the portico of the Wright auditorium. Leon Jackson, pianist, of Pikeville, gave a special program of music for the vesper service.

Car Collision Is Fatal For Negro

By CHESTER WALSH
Arthur Lee White, 31-year-old Negro farmer of near Greenville, was killed Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock when his car and one driven by Joseph E. Cannon of Greenville collided at Chestnut street and Broadway.

Policeman Pete Peterson said White was thrown out of his car and landed under it. His skull was fractured. He died en route to hospital.

Police officers said Cannon had approached the intersection with caution and that he did not violate any law. No arrest was made.

Peterson said White's car struck Cannon's vehicle on the right side and knocked it 35 feet to the curb. White's car skidded 30 feet after the collision and turned completely around. Cannon was painfully injured. Both cars were badly damaged.

Alonzo Moore, 34-year-old Negro, of 608 Pamlico avenue, a passenger in White's car, received head and hand injuries. Jack Tatum, 50-year-old Negro, 512 West 12th street, received cuts on the arm and body injuries. He was taken to Pitt General hospital.

Patrolman Tommy Gladson, who assisted in the investigation, said a third passenger in White's car disappeared.

ABC Officers Confiscate Slot Machine, Booze

Pitt County ABC officers J. M. Ward, J. L. Taylor, Claude Manning and Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Manning arrested Woodrow Haddock white man, who operates a service station on Evans street extension beyond the southern city limits of Greenville, Saturday night and confiscated 14 pints of whiskey. The officers charged Haddock with possessing an illegal quantity of whiskey for the purpose of sale. He will be tried before Judge Dink James in County Court Tuesday.

The officers said that after arresting Haddock, they searched the premises of John D. McLawhorn, Negro, and found a slot machine. They confiscated the machine and arrested McLawhorn.

Three Greenville Students Graduate At Duke University

boro students will graduate and receive their degrees of bachelor of arts at Duke University Monday morning. They are Miss Mary Anne Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Duncan of Greenville; Miss Suzanne Kilgo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kilgo of Greenville, and Joseph K. Register, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Register of Greenville, and Miss Elizabeth Ashley of Vanceboro.

Owen J. Roberts, former justice of the United States Supreme court, will deliver the commencement address. Governor R. Gregg Cherry, a Duke alumnus and member of the board of trustees, will deliver a special message.

The commencement program this year featured reunions of 14 classes, with special emphasis placed on reunions of the 10th, 25th and 50th year classes.

Police Court

In Police Court Friday, Judge J. W. H. Roberts convicted Dave Creech of being drunk on two charges. Creech gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

Samuel H. Roebuck, driving drunk, $100 and costs and his driver's license was ordered revoked a year.

Larceny: Jesse Mae Best, colored, $25, costs deducted and paid the check. Roy Hamby, guilty, appealed.

Drunk: Johnny Mabry, colored, $15; J. O. Manning, two charges, $15 in each case.

Herbert Evans, Jr., colored, paid $15.85 costs and paid prosecuting witness for his damages to car.

Ernest Sharp, colored, paid $50 costs deducted for reckless driving speeding and operating a motor vehicle without lights.

Failure to keep proper lookout while driving: Harold B. Humphrey and Edward L. Corey, Leslie S. Haddock and Charlie J. Daniels, the last named, colored, were not guilty.

First..in Safety

Those bright little badges you see on a Trailways' bus driver's cap mean plenty! They are safety awards, and represent 3, 5, sometimes 10 or more years of constant driving without an accident. In earning these coveted awards, our drivers established for us an outstanding safety record.

The National Safety Council's report for 1947 placed Carolina Trailways FIRST IN SAFETY for all bus companies operating more than 200 coaches.

We're proud of this record, and we're prouder still of the men who earned it. In driving day and night, through sunshine and rain, your comfort and safety is their first responsibility. Next time . . . Go Trailways . . . for Safety . . . and Economy!

Recreation News

Greenville playgrounds opened last Wednesday with a good attendance. In the three and one-half days the attendance was as follows: Cotanche Park, 422; West Greenville, 359; 14th and Charles, 351; Third Street, 254.

The supervisors at each park are: Cotanche, Miss Frances Hobbard; West Greenville, Miss Jane Hadley; 14th and Charles, Miss Carolyn Corey; Third Street, Miss Ruth Taylor.

This week new basketball backboards are being put up on Third Street, Cotanche, 14th and Charles and West Greenville. Also new horseshoe pits are being added.

Doeskin—originally the skin of the female deer—is now obtained from baby lambs.

Chapter 30

Hildred spent that Saturday afternoon with Lucien and Jimmy. She could not have spent it alone, waiting for the wire Randy had promised to send as soon as the operation was over. She must spend it as if she were not waiting — otherwise she could not have got through that time at all.

When she and Lucien were alone — Hildred told him that she would marry him.

"There's something I want you to do for me," she said.

"You know, without naming it, that I will gladly grant any request of yours, my sweet." He looked up long enough to flash her a smile.

"It's about Jimmy. I am sure I have found the best—the right solution." She had decided to make the telling seem to be her decision, rather than explain that Robin had come to her first. "You know, Lucien, legally, so that his whole future will be the same. Well"—she drew a long breath—"I talked with Robin—you know how fond he and Ellen are of the boy—and it seems they both had already had that idea—that they would like to adopt him."

"You believe that would be better for the boy than for him to stay on with me?"

"I believe so." Her look did not waver. "In fact, I am willing to marry you, Lucien, if you will agree—and help make it possible."

"There! She had said it!"

"You mean that?"

"I give you my word," Hildred answered.

"That is good enough for me," Lucien said. He did not come over to her now, as she had supposed he would. He surprised her even more, by adding, "I agree it will be best for Jimmy. Liz and I would ruin him between us. He should grow up to be a fine man—her to know that you are the one sane, normal man—with Robin and Ellen to guide him."

"I am glad you see it that way." She could let out her breath now, slowly. That, then, was settled — and it was a solution to which Randy, also, would agree.

And this made it stranger still that Lucien should speak of him now. "How about that doctor of yours, the one so young, so handsome? You have found, then, that you did not love him as much as you thought? You do not mind—you will not regret putting him out of your heart—your life forever?"

He had said he did not care if Hildred loved someone else; but she saw that he did. Lucien was only human, after all. She would have to be honest with him, yet she could make it as gentle as possible. "I will put him out of my life and heart," she said, making it a vow unto herself. For she would do that no matter what it might cost her, once she became Lucien's wife. She had not said that she did not love Randy; she would love him always.

He knew why he was here—why he had come, himself, instead of wiring. It was written in the firm line of his stern lean jaw, the resolute set of his fine mouth; it was in the steadfast regard of his clear gray eyes.

Without thinking, without words, Hildred got up and went to him. Straight into his arms, that opened to receive her as if they had been waiting just for that. She buried her head against his chest; she clung to him, as a child might have, as if he were her strength, her rock, as indeed he was in this moment.

"You know then, Hildy?" His voice was very gentle, very tender.

for him; one of his hands stroked her hair, bent head; the other arm held her fast, tightly against him. "There is no need for me to tell you."

"Yes . . . I know . . ." Yet, she did not. She knew that her mother was dead. But she could not know it, in its fullest sense of reality—not yet, anyway. That would have to come more slowly, as this numbness that seized her, choking all emotion, all thought, gradually drifted away.

(To be continued)

Greenies Trounced During Weekend; Lose 3 Contests

Roanoke Rapids Takes Saturday's Double-Header And Kinston Rubs Salt In Wounds Taking Sunday Game By 11-5

By BEET MOYE
The Greenville Greenies dropped a notch in the standings over the weekend as they lost all three of their games, losing a double header to the Roanoke Rapids in Roanoke Rapids Saturday night by scores of 6-3 and 6-5, and then returned home yesterday afternoon to drop their third straight game of the weekend to Kinston by the score of 11-5.

Saturday Night Games
The Greenville Greenies lost both ends of a doubleheader to the Roanoke Rapids Jays over in Roanoke Rapids Saturday night with the scores of 6-3 and 6-5. The double loss by the Greenies was their fourth of the season by opposing teams.

In the first game, a seven inning affair, the Jays capitalized on the wildness of Jerry Chitty to gain their first win of the evening. Chitty, who went the route for the Greenies lost his eighth straight game of the season and his second of the season to the Jays.

The Jays went out in front in the first frame when they put across two runs on one hit and three walks. Bolick walked, stole second, went to third on Hammack's single, then stole home on Chitty's long wind-up. Meyer and Gonzales walked and then with one away Stalls hit long fly to left field with Hammack scoring from third.

The Greenies put across two of their runs in the third frame to knot the count at two-all at this point on two singles, a walk and an error. Lastres walked, Cohen singled into centerfield with Meyer letting ball getting away from him and Lastres advanced to third and Cohen to second and Wiley Nash timely singled scored both runners.

The Jays came back in the third frame to score two more runs and go out in front for keeps.

The Greenies' other run of the game came in the fifth frame when Sposa reached first on a fielder's choice and Cohen singled to advance him to second and Wiley Nash singled to bring home Sposa.

Bob Cohen with three for three and Wiley Nash with three for four, who also drove in all the Greenies' runs, led the eight-hit attack off Paul Branch who resisted his first win for the Jays this season. Bolick and Hammack with a double and a single each led the eight-hit attack off Chitty.

In the second game of the twin bill the Jays had two big innings, the fourth and fifth, when they scored three runs in each frame to defeat the Greenies 6-5.

In the fourth frame the Jays scored three runs on five successive hits and in the fifth frame Val Gonzales homered over the score board in right field with two mates aboard accounted for the other three runs.

Greenville scored one run in the fourth frame when Wiley Nash pitched a 325 foot homer over the right field wall after two men were out.

The Greenies rallied for four runs in the eighth frame on four hits and an error after two men were out. Phillips singled, Lastres singled with Bolick erroring ball on a bad throw to second, Sposa singled to bring home Phillips, Cohen singled to bring home Lastres, Nash doubled to bring home Sposa and Cohen.

Kenneth Brooks started on the mound for the Greenies and after yielding six hits, three runs and two walks, was replaced by Manager Phelps who went the rest of the route giving up five hits and three runs.

Pete Kunis, pitching his last game as Manager of the Jays went the route for the Jays and held the Greenies to eight hits, all of them being well scattered with the exception of the eighth frame.

Sunda Game
The Kinston Eagles flew high here yesterday afternoon as they collected a total of 22 hits including an homer and a slugfest from Greenville 11-5.

Greenies 11-5
The Greenies and put across what proved to be their winning runs in the fifth frame when three men crossed the plate. Peters singled then Williams homered to bring him home, Collins singled, Pliska singled advancing Collins to third and then when Pliska was trapped between first and second Collins raced home for the third run.

Greenville's big innings was the eighth when they scored three runs on two hits and an error. Cohen reached first on Tepedino's error at short and then Wiley Nash slammed a homer over the left field wall to clear the bases. Riggs walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch and came home on Phillips double.

The Greenies used three hurlers with starting pitching Johnny Kovachick getting credit for the loss, his second of the season. Kovachick in his four and two-third innings allowed six runs, 13 hits. Brooks went in and pitched one inning and allowed three hits and three more runs and then Junior Yohn pitched the remainder of the game allowing six hits and two runs.

Claude King, making his debut with the Eagles, pitched the route for the Kinston club and allowed nine hits, Nash with a homer and a double, and Lastres and Nessing with two singles each led the attack of the Greenies.

On paper, the Detroit Tigers figured to have a terrific mound staff with veterans Hal Newhouser, Stubby Overmire, Dizzy Trout, Virgil Trucks and Freddie Hutchinson, plus young Art Houtteman. But things haven't shaped up that way. Only Trucks measured up to expectations, with Hutchinson showing some consistency in form. The big disappointment has been Newhouser.

Trucks may have the best season of his career. A newly developed sinker may be the difference between his continuing as a fair hurler and becoming one of the game's top twirlers. In the past, Trucks had a good assortment of stuff but all of his pitches were delivered at the same speed and about the same height. His low-dipping sinker could be the answer to his problem for, with it breaking well, Trucks has a pitch that can keep the batters off balance.

It was apparent that Trucks was serious about his pitching this season when he reported at training camp very close to his pitching weight. The new pitch was discovered quite by accident while tossing to Hal Wagner. On one of the pitches the ball took a crazy dip so Virgil tried it again. The result was the same so it was included in his bag of pitching tricks. Unlike his other pitches, the sinker is thrown with a sidarm effort rather than overhand as are his other offerings. Trucks doesn't hesitate to use the tricky pitch in a pinch and it is likely to become more effective as his confidence grows.

Bob Doty, who recently "resigned" as business manager and president of the Greenville Baseball club has been named general manager of the Greensboro Patriots' club of the Carolina League. He succeeds Dick Zimmerman who resigned due to other business duties. The Patriots at the present time are in the cellar position in the Carolina League. The following is from Sunday's Greensboro Daily News relative to the appointment of Doty as business manager: "Doty recently left the Greenville team in the Coastal Plain League where he sold half of his stock to local fans. The team was in the cellar at the time. He still holds 30 percent of the stock in that club, he said yesterday. His major fame in baseball comes through his association with an old college mate, George Steinweiss of the New York Yankees, in the Steinweiss baseball school at Bartow."

Two new players have been added to the Greenville roster, Augustine De-Laville, who hails from Cuba, and was recommended to the Greenville club by Danny Lastres. He is left-handed and can pitch or play in the outfield. He has had considerable experience in Cuban baseball leagues. Johnnie Tate, right-handed pitcher has been added to the Greenville's pitching staff. Tate played last season with the Dunn-Erwin club of the Tobacco State League and had a record of 10 wins and 7 losses last season. In the 22 games that he saw action he had a strikeout record of 120 men and an earned run average of 3.73. His batting average last year was 200 percent. Bob Mitchell, rookie outfielder, has been sent to the Dunn-Erwin club.

Virgil Payne, former manager of the Greenville club, who played for the Goldbugs last season, has been named manager of the Smithfield-Seina Leafs of the Tobacco State League. Payne has been acting manager since Sam Narron resigned. Payne has been filling in as a utility player, holding down shortstop, third base and second.

Stu Martin, who was beamed by the Goldbugs during the spring training period, has returned as an active manager of the Roanoke Rapids Jays and will hold down the third base position. Pete Kunis, who has been acting manager, will remain with the club and take his turn on the pitching end of the game. Jim Gudger, the tall speedball artist, who last year won 16 and lost 11 with the Rocky Mount Leafs, has joined the pitching staff of the Leafs following his graduation from Western Carolina Teachers' College last week.

The Kinston Eagles have returned right-hander Bill Lloyd to Burlington and Walter Barist, who has been on the suspended list, has been returned to the active roster. Red Cochran, who has been playing centerfield for the Goldsboro Jays, has been handed his unconditional release. A graduate of Wake Forest College, Cochran is due to report to the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League on June 28. He plans to play with the Plymouth entry in the semi-pro Albe-Marle Baseball League until he departs for Chicago.

The following are the double-headers scheduled in the Coastal Plain League up until the present time: Tuesday, June 8th, Greenville at Tarboro; Goldsboro at Wilson; New Bern at Kinston; Rocky Mount at Roanoke Rapids; Wednesday, June 9th, Tarboro at Greenville; Roanoke Rapids at Rocky Mount; Kinston at New Bern; Thursday, June 10th, New Bern at Roanoke Rapids; Friday, June 11th, Wilson at Greenville; Tarboro at Goldsboro; Monday, June 14th, Kinston at Tarboro; Wilson at Roanoke Rapids; Tuesday, June 15th, New Bern at Greenville; Roanoke Rapids at Wilson.

Record Number Of Crews Facing June 22 Regatta
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 7—(AP)—More boats than ever before will take to the Hudson River June 22 for the Poughkeepsie regatta. Eleven crews representing Cornell, Syracuse, Penn., Navy, Princeton, Columbia, Washington, California, M. I. T., Rutgers and Wisconsin will take part in the three-mile varsity race.

All but California will have crews in the two mile freshman race and only Wisconsin and Rutgers will not be on hand for the three mile Junior varsity event.

Last year 29 crews took part in the three races.

Brechen Thinks This is His Year Of 20 Victories

St. Louis, June 7—(AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brechen, the St. Louis Cardinals' southpaw pitching ace believes this is his year to post 20 victories—and he already has five. "The Cat," so called because of his agility in fielding his position, never has succeeded in climbing to the prized 20 mark in his five seasons with the Redbirds. His best effort was 16, made in 1944 and 1947. But his early season efforts this year are especially noteworthy. His first three victories were shut-outs. His one defeat resulted from errors by his mates. Another game was stopped by rain after six innings with the score tied 1-1. Not once has he been battered from the box.

His earned run average is less than one a game and he's issued only eight walks in 57 innings. Brechen, who is as handy with a rifle and fishing rod as he is with a baseball, would find 20 victories far sweeter than any number of 10-pound trout or prize bucks. "If the goal I have worked and hoped for ever since joining the Cardinals," he said yesterday, "and I believe this is the year I will make it."

The likeable little Oklahoman barely tips the scale at 165 pounds and needs at least five days rest between games in order to pitch effectively. This keeps him from working as many games as a more robust pitcher can. "My size was my greatest handicap when I tried to crash the majors," he said. "I wasn't able to fog 'em by the batters like bigger pitchers. I had to develop pitching skill and try to outsmart the batters."

His Sunday pitch is a screwball which he finds especially effective against right handed batters. It seems to be breaking better than ever this year.

Honor Graduate Enlists In Navy; Prefers Training

Eugene Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Carter of Greenville, and recent honor graduate of Greenville High School, successfully passed the Navy's qualification test for electronics training and was enlisted in Raleigh on June 4, reports the local Navy's qualification test for electronics training.

It is reported that Carter was offered at least two scholarships to engineering colleges, but after investigating Navy's electronics training he stated that he was satisfied that the forty-two weeks course given to the qualified men by the navy afforded him the best opportunity to get the specialized training he desired.

Carter enlisted under the High School Graduate training program, and is assured that he will be enrolled in the school of his choice.

Cleveland's Mound Corps Emerges As Major Asset

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
From a "good-hit-no pitch" team of a few weeks ago, the American League leading Cleveland Indians have suddenly burst forth with one of the finest mound corps in the majors. Remember when the Tribe's pitching staff was derisively described as "Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and R A I N?" With the aid of several postponements due to the weather, Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau was in position to pitch Feller and Lemon almost exclusively during the first two weeks of the season. Of the Indians' first 11 games this year, Feller pitched in five and Lemon four. On the rare occasions when the starter was other than Feller or Lemon, the Indians' fireman crew headed by Russ Christopher and Ed Kleiman had to get busy.

With the change in weather, there also came about a change in Cleveland's effectiveness on the mound. No longer was Boudreau forced to depend on the elements. His first pleasant surprise was the "discovery" of Rookie Gene Bearden as a first rate starting pitcher to team up with his reliable, Feller and Lemon.

The young leftlander from Helena, Ark., pitched a three-hit victory in his first starting assignment May 8, and has been hurling splendid ball since. To date Bearden has won five games and lost only one. He has allowed only 10 runs and 32 hits in 50 innings, an average of about five hits and two runs per game.

Feller, with his five victories and two shutouts, needs no introduction, of course. Lemon appears to have wrested the No. 1 rating from Feller with eight triumphs including three shutouts. The Indian pitchers boasts seven shutouts, more than any staff in the league.

The fourth starter likely is Steve Gromek. The 28-year-old right-hander from Hamtramck, Mich., who won 19 games in 1945, and who twirled a six-hitter in his first start of the season yesterday.

Gromek teamed with Lemon in pitching the Indians to a pair of victories over the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3 and 11-1. The double triumph increased the Indians' first place margin over the Athletics to two and a half games.

Goldsboro Jaycees Get Recognition For Public Education
Goldsboro, June 7—(AP)—The Goldsboro Junior Chamber of Commerce has been awarded first place in the nation in a project on public education for cities under 25,000 population.

G. C. Carawan, president of the Goldsboro Jaycees, received the award for the group at the 26th national convention in Philadelphia Saturday afternoon.

The award was made for a detailed study of Goldsboro schools. Carawan was chairman of a 13-man committee which made the survey and presented the facts in a series of articles in the Goldsboro News-Argus.

third inning of the second game and was charged with his eighth loss of the year. He hasn't won a game all season.

Houtteman had been wearing number 15. Dizzy Trout persuaded him to change it.

"I couldn't win with it," quipped Trout. "Neither could Hal Manders nor Johnny Gorsica."

The number didn't bother Kell much. He got five hits in nine trips.

Demaret Winner Of Albuquerque Open And $2,000

Albuquerque, N. M., June 7.—(AP)—Crooming Jim Demaret pocketed a $2,000 check as winner of the Albuquerque Open Gold tournament and led the pro brigade farther west today.

Next stop is the National Open this week in Los Angeles. Demaret, from Ojai, Calif., by way of Texas, blew in with a 67 yesterday—his average for four 18-hole rounds—to cop first money in the par-battering local tourney.

Altogether, 17 other pros and a pair of amateurs bettered par for four turns about the hilly, nastily-trapped University of New Mexico course. Regulation figures for the 6,813 yards are 35-37-74.

Highlight of Demaret's final round was a spectacular eagle three on the 489-yard No. 5 hole. His whistling second shot missed the cup by inches for a near duce on the par five hole.

Four strokes behind Demaret came Stewart (Skip) Alexander. Finally pulling his booming drives within bounds, the big-shouldered Lexington, N. C. shooter posted a 207-65 for $1,400 second money.

Wide-cracking E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, from Little Rock, Ark., added a 69 to three other sub-par rounds for 275, good for third and $1,000.

But ponderous, short-spoken Clayton Heafner, who won Fort Worth's Colonial Invitation a week earlier, finally saw his string of rounds under 80 snapped at seven with George Schneider, PCA Tournament chairman from Ogden, Utah. Dick Turner, Oklahoma A&M student from Stillwater, deadlocked Lloyd Mangrum for 16th at 285.

Two amateurs finished up among the top pros. Lee Griffith, 44-year-old Albuquerque insurance salesman who didn't take up golf until he was 35, tied for seventh at 279 with George Schneider. PCA Tournament chairman from Ogden, Utah. Dick Turner, Oklahoma A&M student from Stillwater, deadlocked Lloyd Mangrum for 16th at 285.

Clemson Athlete Chosen As 'Tops' In Current Term
Greenville, N. C., June 7—(AP)—Most outstanding athlete in the Southern Conference for the 1947-48 scholastic term was Frank Gillespie of Clemson.

Southern Conference sports writers chose the hard-working football, basketball and baseball and track star in their first annual vote. Smith Barrier, executive secretary and sports editor of the Greensboro Daily News, announced.

Gillespie won on 136 points; Leo Kattaveck of North Carolina State College was second with 97 points, and Dick Diekey, also of North Carolina State was third with 87.

Elections Board To Meet Tuesday To Canvass Vote

Raleigh, June 7—(AP)—The State Board of Elections will meet here tomorrow to canvass officially returns of the May 29 primary.

The board also will call for two run-off primaries: a statewide race between Charles M. Johnson and Kerr Scott for the Democratic nomination for governor, and a race in the Seventh congressional district between F. Ertel Carlyle of Lumberton and Hargrove Bellamy of Wilmington.

In addition, the board probably will consider a protest lodged by the Progressive Party of North Carolina against a ruling which—unless it is altered—will keep the party's candidates for state and congressional offices from appearing on the ballot in the November general election.

Board Secretary Raymond Maxwell released figures which showed that Johnson had a lead of 7,945 votes in the primary on returns from the state's 100 counties.

The returns:

U.S. Senate: short term, J. M. Broughton 206,605, William B. Umstead 188,420; regular term, Broughton 207,981, Umstead 183,865.

Governor: Johnson 189,238, Scott 161,292, Mayne Albright 76,281, Oscar Barker 10,871, Olla Ray Boyd 2,111, W. F. Stanley, Sr. 2,428.

Lieutenant Governor: H. P. Tsyler 240,251, Dan Tomkins 100,079.

Secretary of State: Thad Eure 257,260, John T. Armstrong 103,118.

State Auditor: Henry L. Bridges 192,458, Charles W. Miller 128,797.

State Treasurer: Brandon Hodges 180,240, James B. Vogler 122,656, Z. W. Frazelle 36,200.

Commissioner of Labor: Forrest H. Shuford 212,139, Donald Boone Sherrell 115,533.

Commissioner of Agriculture (Republican): Wait H. Gragg 9,732, C. L. Williard 5,265.

Solicitor fifth district: William J. Bundy 11,981, Charles L. Abernethy Jr., 8,950.

State Allotment Teachers Made For Next Term

The state's allotment of teachers for the Pitt County schools has been released. Following is a list of the high school and elementary teachers for the 13 schools:

Belvoir—High school, 5; elementary, 8.

Falkland—Elementary, 8.

Bethel—High school, 4; elementary, 9.

Sokes—High school, 3; elementary, 7.

Pactolus—High school, 2; elementary, 10.

Grimesland—High school, 4; elementary, 12.

Chirod—High school, 5; elementary, 16.

Grifton—High school, 3; elementary, 9.

Ayden—High school, 8; elementary, 13.

Winterville—High school, 4; elementary, 13.

Arthur—High school, 3; elementary, 9.

Farmville—High school, 6; elementary, 15.

Fountain—Elementary, 8.

Present plans of the County Board of Education is to open the schools for the fall and winter session on August 31. There are many advantages in opening the schools early, a school official pointed out today, when he said the early start provides opportunity of making up time whenever the schools have to temporarily close for bad weather or other causes and avoids running the school term too far into the summer, to interfere with farm work.

There is a slight gain in the number of teachers for the white and negro schools.

Coroner's Inquest Into Negro's Death

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse will hold an inquest into the death Saturday night of Arthur Lee White, 31-year-old Negro farmer, who lived on the farm of R. E. Harris, Jr., at a rural point near the Falkland highway. The hearing will be held at the city hall Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

White was killed when his car collided with one driven by Joseph Earle Cannon of Greenville at the intersection of Chestnut street and Broadway, police said. No arrest was made.

Police Report Miscalculation By Parachutist

Little Rock, Ark., June 7—(AP)—A hitch-hiking Army corporal, packing an opened parachute, told curious police today he had bailed out of an Army transport in an effort to reach home to see his new-born child.

The corporal said he had intended to jump over Oklahoma, but miscalculated and landed near Memphis, Tenn.

Patrolman R. E. Bennett identified the soldier as Lee Orange of Arandarko, Okla., and quoted him as saying he had been denied a furlough from an undisclosed Army station to see his new offspring.

The policeman said Orange told of boarding a California-bound transport anyhow and then jumping without the pilot's knowledge.

Orange was turned over to Army authorities at Hot Springs.

Record Class Of UNC Graduates

Chapel Hill, N. C., June 7—(AP)—A record class of approximately 1,000 will receive degrees from the University of North Carolina in exercises in Kenan stadium tonight.

Preceded by a band concert, the graduation exercises will include the presentation of diplomas by Gov. R. Gregg Cherry and a farewell address to the seniors by Dr. Frank P. Graham, University president.

Warning

The State Highway Patrol has issued a warning to out-of-state motor vehicle owners that they must procure North Carolina license plates or be subject to arrest if stopped by patrolmen.

The law requires that out-of-state motorists obtain North Carolina license plates as soon as they become regularly employed. College students are excepted.

Colored News

The Eppes High School Chapter of the New Homemakers of America entertained its mothers recently at a "mother-daughter get-together" in the H.E. department. The gala affair was attended by a large number of mothers, who enjoyed an hour of group singing, readings, yells and remarks by the persons present.

The menu consisting of a salad and an ice cream course was served against a setting of navy blue and white and red roses—the N.H.A. colors and flower.

The mothers enjoyed the get-together so much until they suggested unanimously that it become an annual affair. Of course we are out to please them.

The time is here again for canning. Are you ready for this task? Maybe you would like to have some assistance with your problem of providing adequate food, for a minimum cost, for your family the year round. Pack up your canning troubles and head for the Canning Clinic at Eppes High School in the Home Economics Department Tuesday, June 8, at 7:30 p.m.

The clinic will meet twice weekly for the next two weeks. If necessary, there is a possibility of the clinic being held in the afternoon as well as in the night. Arrangements will be made to meet the convenience of the persons desiring to attend.

There will be no charges for this service. Miss E. C. Staplefoote will be in charge of the clinic.

Come and bring someone else with you.

Mrs. Lady Bird Whitaker died Saturday evening after a short illness at her home on East 2nd St. Funeral services will be held from Sycamore Hill Baptist Church Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Prepare For Big Polio Outbreaks

New York, June 7—(AP)—The national foundation for infantile paralysis is preparing for possible widespread outbreaks of polio in densely populated areas.

The foundation, announcing its preparations yesterday, cited a sharp rise in cases during the past month.

A total of 514 cases were reported during the four-week period ended May 29—compared with 148 in the same period last year. Dr. Mart E. Van Riper, the foundation's medical director, said.

Duke Graduates 1,006 Students

Durham, June 7—(AP)—Duke University gave degrees to 1,006 students today in annual commencement exercises.

Owen J. Roberts, a former associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, delivered the principal address of the exercises given in the university's gymnasium.

Dr. Robert L. Flowers, Duke president, presided, and a brief address to the graduates was delivered by Gov. R. Gregg Cherry.

Massachusetts' Major Unions In Political Pact

Boston, June 7—(AP)—The AFL and CIO in Massachusetts signed a political peace pact today to work jointly for the defeat of "anti-labor" candidates and "labor-crippling" legislation in this fall's campaigns.

Leaders said it was the first time the two big unions had reached such an agreement in the Bay State. Joining with them are the American for Democratic Action.

Spokesmen for the three factions—claiming up to 1,000,000 members—said in a statement the unions would conduct a campaign to defeat all anti-labor candidates and unfair labor laws.

Marshall Will Be Speaker At UNC

Chapel Hill, June 7—(AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall will deliver the address at University of North Carolina commencement exercises tonight, President Frank P. Graham announced today.

Graham said that an invitation was extended to the Secretary of State several weeks ago but that he was not able to accept at the time because of the international situation.

Marshall is scheduled to fly here and then return to Washington by plane immediately after the ceremony.
