Writing History With Veto Upsets

Three Major Pieces Of Legislation Pushed Through Over Truman's Disapproval In Four Days As House Backs Up Bulwinkle Measure

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Congress made history today by passing major legislation over President Truman's veto for the third time in four days.

The No. 3 bill is one letting railroads make rate agreements of a kind now barred by anti-trust laws.

Final action was completed by the House. The Senate overrode the veto 53 to 25 yesterday.

The House vote was 297 to 102. This was 31 votes more than the two-thirds needed to make the measure law over Mr. Truman's objections.

Congressional officials said three vetoes slapped down within a week is a record not equaled by any other Congress.

Earlier this week Congress knocked down votes of a Social Security bill and an appropriation bill transferring the United States employment service from the labor department to the federal security agency. Both now are law, along with the railroad bill.

The railroad bill says railroads and other surface carriers cannot be prosecuted under the anti-trust laws for getting together and making agreements on rates and fares, provided the agreements are approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The ICC is the government's agency for regulating railroads.

When Mr. Truman vetoed it, he called the bill "inconsistent" with a "vigorous anti-monopoly program."

Last Monday the Senate and the House put on the law books over the President's objections a Social Security bill which Mr. Truman claimed would bar 750,000 persons from old-age benefits.

Yesterday, the two branches nullified his veto of a $675,914,000 appropriation bill which the President rejected because it transfers the United States employment service from the labor department to the federal security agency.

There were votes to spare in all three. A liberal sprinkling of Democrats joined Republicans to rebuff the President.

There are no other big vetoes in the GOP-controlled 80th Congress overrode his veto of the Taft-Hartley labor law but upheld him on 31 others.

During the present session, Congress has received 29 vetoes. Besides the past two this week it overrode Mr. Truman on the income tax cut and on exempting news vendors from Social Security.

As it carried on its latest battle with the President, Congress heard itself described by speaker Martin (R-Miss.) as "the best and most constructive Congress in many years."

How They Voted

North Carolina: For — Bulwinkle, Dougherty, Jones, East-Barden, Bonner, Durham, Folger, Redden.

Promises To Voters

Party Platforms Will Include A Lot of Promises to Win Votes; Many Will Not Be Kept; Examples From Out of Past; Both Parties Had Chance to Make Good

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The Democrats and Republicans are going to promise you, the voters, a lot of things this year.

They'll do it in their party platforms, carefully worded and worked out in their conventions at Philadelphia this summer. They'll say: "Here are the things we'll do or try to do in the next four years if you elect us to run the government."

Already Republicans are huddling to manufacture a platform to dangle before the voters at their convention which opens June 21.

The Democrats, you can be sure, will put in a lot of work on their platform before they unveil it at the Democratic convention July 12. But if history is any guide to the future, a lot of those promises won't be kept, no matter which party is elected in November.

If you doubt this, just look, for instance, at the promises the parties made in their Chicago platforms of 1944.

The two platforms differed a bit. For one thing, the Democrats' was fairly short, the Republicans' very long and detailed.

Maybe the Democrats thought they could be brief and win because President Roosevelt was still alive

Tobacco Growers Talk Means For Controlling Pest

Large Number At Courthouse Meeting; County Agent Outlines Procedure

By CHESTER WALSH

More than 500 farmers attended a meeting at the courthouse last night to discuss means of controlling a pest (plant lice, or aphids) which is now threatening to do extensive damage to the growing tobacco crops in the fields. County Farm Agent S. C. Winchester presided over the meeting. Assistant Farm Agent Sam Weeks described the life cycle of the aphid, and outlined methods of controlling the pest. R. R. Bennett, extension tobacco specialist from State College, gave valuable information and then the meeting was turned into an open forum. It was apparent that the farmers are alarmed over the threat to the tobacco crop and they indicated that they would get busy with sprayers today.

Following are the recommended methods of controlling the pest. Control with standard insecticides has not been satisfactory for this aphid (which is probably the green peach aphid). One of the new insecticides, tetraethyl pyrophosphate, is very effective for aphid control but extreme caution must be taken in using this material.

How to use tetraethyl pyrophosphate—Tetraethyl pyrophosphate is offered for sale under various trade names. In this state it is commercially available as a liquid concentrate under the trade names of Mulsifos and Vaportone XX. Mulsifos contains 10 per cent tetraethyl pyrophosphate and 15 per cent other phosphates. Vaportone XX contains 20 per cent tetraethyl pyrophosphate and 30 per cent other phosphates. These concentrated forms of tetraethyl pyrophosphate must be diluted before use. Applications of dilute spray should be made so that one pint (or more) of the ten per cent material or one-half pint of the 20 per cent material is used for each acre. Mix as follows:

10 per cent tetraethyl pyrophosphate—1 pint to 50 gallons water for one acre. (More than 50 gallons per acre may be needed if tobacco is large.) For small amounts use three teaspoonful to one gallon of water.

20 per cent tetraethyl pyrophosphate—1 pint to 100 gallons water for one acre. For small amounts, use 1½ teaspoonful to one gallon (Continued on page 10)

Truman Reviews His Struggles With Congress

Aboard Truman Train Enroute to St. Louis, June 17—(AP)—President Truman took Congress to task again today as he crossed his home state of Missouri on his return trip to Washington.

During a 10-minute stop at Sedalia, he reviewed his battle with Congress over price control. Earlier at Warrensburg he complained of Congressional delay in passing federal aid for education.

The Republican Congress, he said, "have done a grand job to the people, not for them."

He prefaced his informal demands to a crowd at the Sedalia station by saying he had made four "bitter campaigns" in Missouri, but that he never had seen such a big crowd at Sedalia.

A crowd estimated at 3,000 was at the Warrensburg station.

French Assembly Approves Plans Rebuild Germany

Schuman Gets Narrow Margin Of Support; Fix Conditions For Security

Paris, June 17—(AP)—The National Assembly reluctantly approved today a six-power agreement to set up a semi-independent government in western Germany. It tackled on six conditions intended to guarantee French security.

Premier Robert Schuman had on eight votes to spare on the final count—297 to 289, with 26 abstentions—after bitter debate in which his government was accused of failure to defend the national interests of France. The Communists and the Far Right joined in the fight against the government on the issue.

French approval was the final one necessary to start the new German plan rolling. The other five governments involved — Britain, the United States, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands—all gave their okay previously.

Premier Schuman gave his government's final appeal for French approval with a declaration that the time has come "to return to the Germans responsibility for direction of their internal affairs." That is the most conciliatory statement about Germany to come from any French statesman in years.

The deputies, nevertheless, decided that conditions were necessary and appended these six:

1. The government should try again for internationalization of the Ruhr mines and industry.
2. The government should make certain that France will participate in control of German industry.
3. The government should get an outright agreement on guarantees of peace before any Allied troops are withdrawn from Germany.
4. The formation of a centralized Reich must be prevented.
5. The government is to keep on trying for agreement with the Russians on Germany.
6. Efforts to organize Europe politically and economically must be stepped up.

Wolcott Housing Measure Pushed

Senate Measure Is Smothered By Parliamentary Maneuvers

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Republican leaders started a new housing bill toward House passage today under tight rules blocking any vote on public housing and slum clearance proposals.

The first step was approval by the House Banking committee. That came on a 15 to 11 vote. Fifteen Republicans voted for it. Ten Democrats and one Republican, Hull of Wisconsin, against it.

A flurry of parliamentary maneuvers executed last night made it virtually impossible for the House to vote on the long-range T-E-W housing bill which passed the Senate under the drive of Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Blender (D-La.), and Wagner (D-N.Y.).

Instead, proponents face a choice between no housing legislation or the new bill introduced hurriedly yesterday by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.) while the Rules committee was tabling the T-E-W measure.

The new bill does not contain the controversial public housing sections that doomed T-E-W in the Rules committee. It calls for:

1. Renewal of government mortgage insurance on new houses, up to 90 per cent of value.
2. Priorities for veterans in buying war-built government housing.
3. A speed-up system of figuring depreciation allowances on new apartment or multiple dwelling construction. In effect, this means tax reductions for investors in rental housing.

This measure closely parallels a bill introduced some time ago by Wolcott and shelved by his Banking committee in favor of the T-E-W measure which Wolcott assailed as "socialistic."

Prices Hiked On Electrical Items

New York, June 17—(AP)—The General Electric Company has ordered price increases—ranging from 10 to 12 per cent—for numerous household articles and industrial products.

Charles E. Wilson, company president, said yesterday the price boosts will be effective immediately.

He said the move was made necessary by wage increases, higher freight rates and advanced costs of materials.

'Crude' Work In Flaming Cross

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 17—(AP)—A flaming 10-foot cross that burned at 10:45 p. m. Wednesday in the Buena Vista section attracted very little attention and no excitement, according to police Chief John M. Gold.

Chief Gold said the incident apparently was the work of pranksters and described the job as being very crude.

Renews Offer To Keep Mines Open

John L. Lewis Repeats Proposal At Meeting With Ching And Operators; Would Hinge On Agreement To Pension Plan

Washington, June 17—(AP)—John L. Lewis today renewed his offer to keep the soft coal mines operating after July 1 if mine owners agree to Lewis' $100-a-month pension plan.

Lewis repeated his proposal at a meeting with operators and Cyrus Ching, head of the federal mediation service. Previously the United Mine Workers' chief has made the offer to the operators.

The mine owners contend the Lewis pension plan is illegal. They have said it violates the Taft-Hartley Labor Act because it would pay pensions to miners retired in years gone by, and would deplete the $40,000,000 welfare fund.

Ching is attempting to revive on-track negotiations between the operators and Lewis in an effort to head off an economy-shaking strike next month.

The mine owners brought the talks to an abrupt end Tuesday when the claim it was "misleading" to the public and to the government—meaning the conciliation service—to keep on attending negotiating sessions at which Lewis refused to discuss a new working agreement. The present one expires June 30.

Lewis, in turn, stood pat on his refusal to talk about a new compact until he had a promise from the operators to start spending the $40,000,000 now in the 1947 welfare fund.

Part of Lewis' program for spending that money is to assume some $20,000,000 in advance commitments to distressed miners and their families. The obligations were taken on by Lewis and the trustees of the 1946 welfare fund, set up during government operation of the mines. The $26,000,000 raised for the 1946 fund by a 5-cent-a-ton coal royalty is about exhausted. Lewis wants the payment kept out of the frozen 1947 fund.

Bernadotte And Jews To Confer

UN Mediator Flies To Tel Aviv After Talks With Arabs

Cairo, June 17—(AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte took off for Tel Aviv today to talk with Israeli leaders about permanent peace plans for Palestine. The first week of a 28-day armistice ends tonight.

Bernadotte, mediator for the United Nations, has been talking with Arab leaders here for the last two days.

Just before he left, a letter he wrote to Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha was made public promising the military situation in the Holy Land will be restored to what it was when the truce took effect.

Bernadotte's letter was in response to Nokrashy's complaints of Jewish truce violations on Palestine's Southern frontier.

In Tel Aviv, Bernadotte intends to ask Israeli authorities whether they plan to send consultants to his headquarters on Rhodes. He said the Arabs have promised to send four experts there next Monday.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary of the league, emphasized that the experts will not represent Arab countries, but merely will supply Bernadotte with data and documents he may need.

Bernadotte pointed out that sending of experts to Rhodes does not mean there will be a roundtable conference attended by both Jews and Arabs. The Arabs already have turned down any such talks.

Settle Dispute At Oak Ridge

Oak Ridge, Tenn., June 17—(AP)—A three-months labor dispute was ended last night when atomic laborers voted to accept a new work contract calling for an average 15½ cents an hour wage increase.

The contract with increases ranging from 6½ to 40½ cents for 875 employees of Oak Ridge national laboratory was ratified at a union meeting by a vote of 271 to 60.

Doctors Mobilizing For Struggle Against Polio

Greensboro, N. C., June 17—(AP)—Greensboro's health fighters today continued their mobilization against the current outbreak of infantile paralysis.

Given a respite yesterday when no new cases were reported, health authorities today studied the nursing situation at the polio center here to determine if additional nurses are needed.

Red Cross officials and state representatives of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis came here for the conference on the recruiting of nurses.

Officials from 16 North Carolina counties were here yesterday. They coordinated plans for combating the dread disease.

Surge Of Strikes Across France; Unrest Quickly Snowballing

Paris, June 17—(AP)—More than 25 towns have been hit by a surge of strikes snowballing across France and there are indications that 100,000 Frenchmen will be off the job by tonight.

At least 50,000 workers were idle yesterday, most of them in sympathy with strikers at Clermont-Ferrand, who were tossed out of a factory yesterday morning by police and state troops. Acid, slingshots to throw ballbearings and rubber clubs made in the factory were used as weapons in the bloody fighting there.

The Rightist Press accused the Communist-dominated General Federation of Labor of taking orders from the Soviet-backed cominform.

House Votes To Put Draft In Standby Until Next Year

Texan Will Help Fix GOP Plank On Civil Rights

Southern Interests Represented On Republican Subcommittee

Philadelphia, June 17—(AP)—The race issue broke in the Republican platform committee today as a delegate from Texas protested that no southerner had been assigned to the subcommittee that will write the GOP plank on civil rights.

Orville Bullington, of Wichita Falls, Tex., arose in the committee session to tell chairman Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., that "the south is more interested in this question than anything else." He demanded that a southern delegate be put on the civil rights committee.

Lodge, a Massachusetts Senator, told the 104-member platform group that it was in order for members to swap their committee assignments if they desire.

Mrs. Agnes Jones Gifford, South Orange, N. J., immediately announced that she would yield her civil rights committee post to Bullington. The Texan then was assigned to this committee and Mrs. Gifford took his place on the subcommittee dealing with economics and small business.

This dramatic development occurred shortly after the platform committee had organized, electing Lodge as its chairman and designating nine subcommittees to conduct hearings on party platform planks.

When the morning committee session adjourned, Bullington told reporters "it is time the South became a two-party country and we don't want to keep pulling Democratic chestnuts out of the fire."

He told newsmen emphatically he opposes the FEPC (fair employment practice committee) and anti-lynch legislation.

FEPC, he said, "is not constitutional," and as for anti-lynch laws, he declared "we don't need them. We have no lynchings any more."

Anti-lynch laws would "harm the colored people," he asserted. Bullington insisted that "both sides" be heard on the civil rights question, saying that this had not been done at some previous Republican conventions.

Pacific Hero To Retire July 1

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Admiral Raymond A. Spruance, one of the last of the famous Pacific fleet commanders on active duty, will retire July 1, the navy said today.

Spruance, who will reach the legal retirement age of 62 July 3, is now serving as president of the naval war college at Newport, R. I. He commanded the fifth fleet in its brilliant trip hammer strikes against the Japanese, after decisively beating the enemy carriers at the key battle of Midway.

Iron Lung Fails To Save Life

Fayetteville, June 17—(AP)—A two-year-old boy died of polio here today in an iron lung.

Luther B. Fowler had been rushed 40 miles to the Cumberland County health center last night from his home in Laurinburg. He was put in the lung immediately but died five hours later. He was the son of Mrs. Lorine D. Fowler.

Campaigning For Safer Driving

Fayetteville, N. C., June 17—(AP)—Police authorities today started a safe driving campaign in Cumberland county, where a record 18 traffic deaths have been reported this year.

The State Highway Patrol will maintain a 24-hour road check, and eight Port Bragg military policemen will help local authorities. A long-range radio and press education program will get going.

Close Vote

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The Senate today voted 41 to 40 an amendment to the long range farm bill to guarantee tobacco growers 90 per cent parity support.

An Agriculture Committee bill would have authorized government price support for tobacco and a few other selected commodities at from 69 to 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a computed price intended to give a farm product the same purchasing power it had in a previous base period.

Kuhn Caught

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, was recaptured today. Munich public safety officials disclosed.

Kuhn escaped from the German internment camp at Dachau under mysterious circumstances Feb. 4. The camp director, Anton Zingibler, was dismissed as a result.

Kuhn had been awaiting trial before a German denazification court. He was convicted in absentia April 20 and sentenced to 10 years at hard labor as a "major Nazi offender."

Although they beat Van Zandt's amendment, it was clear that backers of the bill lacked control of the situation.

The whole outlook was so uncertain that some friends of the legislation were seriously questioning whether Congress may not eventually adjourn without enacting any draft law.

Since the House began debate, the measure has been whittled down steadily.

Another Rupture In Allied Council

Russians Walk Out From Last Four-Power Berlin Agency

Berlin, June 17—(AP)—Three committees of the Allied Kommandatura for Berlin met today, with the Russians absent. Their angry walkout last night from the Kommandatura itself, last functioning four-power agency in the city.

They walked out of yesterday's long session shouting: "There won't be any next meeting." Col. Frank L. Howley, the U.S. representative at that meeting, said he believed the Russians intend to boycott the Kommandatura, as they have the Allied Control Council for Germany since March 20. A Soviet walkout broke up that agency.

The Kommandatura is the administrative agency for the city of Berlin, a four-power island deep in Soviet-occupied territory. The Control Council is the four power agency for governing all of occupied Germany. There were hints today that the Russians might be intending to revive the council to sound off the new six-power power plan for a government in western Germany.

Kommandatura attaches said today's public works, finance and economy committee meetings proceeded normally. Nevertheless, British officials said they were prepared to accept the view that the Soviet walkout on the Kommandatura itself is final, until there are some indications to the contrary.

The first such indication probably will come on June 25, when the deputy commanders of the Kommandatura have a meeting scheduled.

Rumblings In Malaya

Censorship and Lack of Outside Interest Conceals Full Details, But State of Emergency Has Been Declared In Part of Federated States; Background Outlined

By JAMES D. WHITE

Malaya is in an uproar. This simple statement covers all the confusion of the British empire trying to get out of a Tower of Babel in the midst of an outcropping of the Chinese civil war.

A state of emergency has been declared in four of the states of the new Malay federation. While planing and Chinese brokers are being killed allegedly by Chinese Communists, Tin labor unions have been outlawed by decree. The death penalty has been proclaimed for anyone caught packing a gun without permission. Planters in some areas are being armed and their women and children ordered out to safety.

To get inside this picture, let's go back to 1942, when the Japanese army conquered the peninsula from the British, partly in a drive that advanced on bicycles.

After V-J Day the British came back. The Malayans sultans more or less welcomed them because they knew their own people were outnumbered by the huge Chinese and Indian minorities. Imported long ago to work the tin mines and rubber plantations.

The British proposed a Malayan union, designed to set Malaya free some day. The sultans signed up. Then they read the document and changed their minds. It would have given too much of their local power to their own central government, and besides would have made Malayan citizens out of the Chinese and Indians.

In the meantime a succession of strikes and other labor troubles had arisen. This was due partly to a guerrilla army of several thousand men in the interior who had been fighting the Japanese. This army was too big to be disbanded, and it was mostly Chinese. Many of these Chinese were Communists, and already they were organizing the workers in tin mines, on rubber plantations, and along the docks.

As the Malayan union plan displeased the sultans, the British produced a plan for the present federation. The sultans signed again, this time after reading far enough to see there was a provision which did not give equal rights to the Chinese and Indians.

Not only the Chinese left-wingers were sore about this. So were the rich middleman class of Chinese, who control much of Malaya's business, belong to the Kuomintang, and contribute to Nanking's coffers.

Somewhat recently, the alleged Communists in the interior have been

Accepts Amendment To Postpone Registration And Inductions Until After January 31; Drive To Finish With Bill Before Nightfall

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The House voted today to put the draft in standby—like a shotgun behind the cabin door—until next year.

Debating its draft legislation, it accepted an amendment by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) to postpone registration and inductions until after January 31. The standing vote was 125 to 90.

The amendment may be subject to a rollcall later.

Republican leaders were driving to finish with the bill before nightfall, although opponents were delaying the proceedings as much as possible.

Earlier, the House had refused to give blanket exemption from the draft to all World War II veterans. Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) tried to put it into the bill, but lost on a voice vote. As the measure stands, it exempts veterans who served a year or more in the armed services. Those with as much as 90 days service, but less than a year, would be exempt if they joined the National Guard or a reserve unit.

Although they beat Van Zandt's amendment, it was clear that backers of the bill lacked control of the situation.

The whole outlook was so uncertain that some friends of the legislation were seriously questioning whether Congress may not eventually adjourn without enacting any draft law.

Since the House began debate, the measure has been whittled down steadily.

Angrily, Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.), who is helping pilot the measure, hurled a charge in effect that some ostensible supporters are trying to destroy it.

Senator Morse (R-Ore.), noting corridor talk of a filibuster, told the Senate that Congress should stay in session "no matter how long it may take" to enact a draft measure. He said that if the bill is not passed, the failure to act "would be heard the globe around and would carry with it some very serious implications."

In two tentative decisions yesterday the House voted to cut the term of draft service from two years to one, and to back plans for a special registration and draft of medical men. Both actions may be subject to alter roll call votes.

The latest remaining hurdle appeared to be a proposal by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) to pass the bill but put off any actual drafting at least until after January 31, pending a stepped up recruiting drive.

This plan has the support of Rules Chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.) and Rep. Harness (R-Ind.), both of whom opposed the draft and have been critical of army recruiting activities.

Shafer spent yesterday button-holing House members, and told reporters his plan "has a very good chance" of being adopted. It probably will come to a vote late in the day.

Foes of the two-year draft revival measure were jubilant after the House voted 156 to 88 to cut the period of service from 24 months to 12. The amendment was sponsored by Rep. Coudert (R-N.Y.), and drew enthusiastic support from both Republicans and Democrats.

Bride-Mother Luncheon
Miss Elizabeth Kittrell and her mother, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, entertained the summer brides and their mothers at a beautifully appointed luncheon at their home on East Fifth Street Saturday at one o'clock.

The home was decorated throughout in the bridal colors of green and white creating a cool and airy setting.

Miss Kittrell and her mother welcomed their guests and invited them into the music room where Mrs. H. H. Duncan served tomato juice from a crystal punch bowl. Appropriate hors d'oeuvres were passed.

The guests were then seated in the dining room where covers were laid for fourteen at a lovely bride's table. The table was covered with an exquisite handmade white satin and lace cloth. In the corner was an all-white arrangement of gladioli, lilies, and gardenias. Flanking the centerpiece was a bride and groom and net bags of rice tied with pale green ribbons, which bags were later used as favors for the guests. From the crystal chandelier hung an arrangement of gladioli, wedding bells, roses and lily-of-the-valley tulle. Corsages of a single white gladioli with pink rosebuds in the center marked the bride's places.

A two course luncheon was served followed by a dessert course consisting of ice cream wedding moulds and homemade cake.

At the end of the meal the hostesses presented the honorees gifts of silver and china in their selected patterns.

Proceeding the wedding, a program of bridal music was presented by Mrs. F. A. Toll, organist, and J. G. Currin, soloist of Clarksville, Virginia, cousin of the bride. Mr. Currin sang "Because" and "Through the Years" and "Prayer Perfect" as a benediction.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Dorothy Nell Henderson, the bride's only attendant, wore turquoise Moynashel linen with a full skirt, fitted bodice, and double bertha outlining a portrait neckline. She also wore a pink picture hat and matching mits and carried a colonial nosegay of mixed flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Bradford Ellis, of Newnan, Georgia, was attired in a white Moynashel linen gown, fashioned with fitted bodice, lace-edged pep-

She wore a heart-shaped lace hat with fingertip linen streamers and matching long lace gloves ending in a point over the hand and carried a maline-edged colonial bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis, and daisies surrounding a white purple-throated orchid. Mrs. Currin, grandmother of the bride, was gown in a gray flowered print with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of sheer navy blue finished with ecru lace. She wore navy accessories, a flower-trimmed Leghorn hat, and a shoulder corsage of red roses.

Following the marriage, a reception was given the bridal party and out-of-town guests at the home of the bride by Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Currin. Guests were greeted by Miss Virginia Gaylord and introduced to the receiving line by Miss Johnnie Grey Currin of Washington, D.C.

Mrs. R. E. Fleming of Smithfield served punch, and Misses Phoebe Moore of Kingston and Marjorie Boyd of Winterville assisted in serving in the dining room. Others receiving in the house were Misses Susanne Kilgo, Hennie Ruth Whitchard, Elizabeth Ricks, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Currin of Clarksville, Virginia. Presiding over the bride's book was Miss Lillian Wooten.

The bride is a graduate of Greenville High School and is now attending East Carolina Teachers College. Previous to two years' service in the armed forces, the groom attended Campbell College. He is now attending East Carolina Teachers College.

Following a short wedding trip, the young couple will be at home in Williamston.

Following the rehearsal on Saturday evening, a cake-cutting was given in honor of the wedding party by Miss Dorothy Nell Henderson at her home, which was attractively decorated with mixed summer flowers.

On arrival, the guests were served fruit punch by Mrs. Getsinger, the groom's mother. The dining table was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white snapdragons, daisies, and gypsophylla. Lighted white candles in silver candelabra were entwined with southern smilax. The three-tiered wedding cake, after being cut by the bride and groom, was served by Miss Johnnie Grey Currin. From the other end of the table Mrs. Currin, grandmother of the bride, served ice cream. Other refreshments included decorated mints and nuts.

Many Farmers Enter 200-Bushel Corn Growing Contest

College Station, Raleigh, June 17—Fifty-four farmers have entered North Carolina's 200-bushel corn contest, and it is expected that additional entries will be received prior to the July 1 deadline or filing applications. Dr. E. R. Collins, in charge of Extension agronomy at State College, announced today.

Entry blanks are available from county agents or from Dr. Collins and they must be mailed not later than July 1. Any farmer is eligible who produces 200 or more bushels of shelled corn, 15.5 per cent moisture, on one acre of land.

Dr. Collins said the grand total of prize money being offered has been raised to $3,300. In addition to the three prizes of $1,000 each which are being offered by the Cleveland County Fair, the Southern States Fair of Charlotte, and the North Carolina State Fair, the North Carolina Foundation Seed Producers will award a $100 savings bond to the winner in each of the three contest areas.

If more than one person produces 200 or more bushels of corn per acre in any contest area, the person producing the highest yield will receive the full $1,000 cash and $100 bond for that area. The winning contestant must exhibit livestock, grain, or some other commodity at the 1948 fair offering the prize which he is to receive.

Robert Lee Humber In Demand Many Places As Speaker

By CHESTER WALSH

Robert Lee Humber, world traveler and nationally known advocate of world peace, lives an unusually active life and gives generously of his time and talents to all good causes. Last night the distinguished Pittsford, N. Y., resident spoke at the Women's Club here in behalf of the State Federation of Women's Clubs for its "crusade for children in war-torn countries," sponsored by the American Overseas Aid—United Nations Appeal for Children. He left this morning to speak on the same subject before American Legion Post No. 39 at the Rirport Inn.

Today he left for Fayetteville to speak before a joint meeting of all of the men's clubs of the churches of Fayetteville. On Thursday morning Mr. Humber is to speak before 700 officers and non-commissioned officers at Fort Bragg. He will be the speaker at the Aberdeen Lions' Club's "ladies' night" banquet in Aberdeen Friday night.

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock he will speak to the Baptist Brotherhood of North Carolina, meeting at their summer assembly grounds at Fruitland Institute, near Asheville.

Incidentally, Mr. Humber recently returned from speaking engagements at the Cotton Seed Crushers' Association at Myrtle Beach, S. C., and the Pilgrims' Conference of the Episcopal Church of South Carolina, presided over by Bishop Thomas N. Garruthers of Charleston; the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs meeting at Hendersonville, and the meeting of ministers of North and South Carolina and Virginia at Duke University, in Durham.

Eight Cats Have Never Tasted Diet Of Meat

New Haven, Conn.—(AP)—Eight college-bred cats have never tasted meat—mouse or otherwise—and don't seem to miss it.

The cats are full-grown and the first ever to be fed an entirely artificial diet since they were weaned. They live in cages at the Yale Nutrition Laboratory near hundreds of white mice and rats, but show only a neighborly interest. Their food consisted of a fatty, pasty ration composed of table sugar, casein from milk, mineral salt, lard, corn oil, and all the known vitamins. Although they never had meat or whole milk, their growth appears to be normal. One 10-month-old tomcat weighs 10 pounds, and has a thick coat of fur.

The cats are being studied by Dr. Willard A. Krehl, assistant uro-ssor of nutrition, and Isaac D. Velt, research assistant, of the department of physiological chemistry at Yale School of Medicine. The next question is whether the artificial food can propagate themselves. One purpose of the nutrition studies was to learn exactly what the cat needs in food to grow and be healthy. Thousands of cat owners will be interested. Further, the cat may help answer some puzzles about nutrition in men and other animals.

Remains In Coma After 27 Days

Fayetteville, N. C., June 17—(AP)—Fayetteville's sleeping beauty went into her 28th day today without regaining consciousness after an automobile accident.

She's Vicki Louise Kilby Thieme, 23, of Mt. Pleasant, near Charlotte. She was a waitress here. Doctors say she has massive brain injury. She stirs and yawns in her hospital bed, but is still in a coma.

Speeding Auto Cuts Swath Of Death At Night

Gate City, Va., June 17—(AP)—A speeding automobile cut a swath of death through a group of pedestrians returning from a church service near Lancaster, about three miles north of here last night, leaving three persons dead and six injured.

Virginia State Trooper C. G. Cunningham identified the driver of the car as G. G. Dean, 20, of Pennington Gap, Va.

The youth was quoted by police as saying he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle and did not know the pedestrians were there until he felt the impact and heard the screams of the injured.

Cunningham said Dean was being held under a technical charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CAN WE PROVE GOD?
Too often today many of our self-sufficient friends come to us and, with their assured, slightly superior air, say to us, "Prove us your God!"
We do not prove God. Even the Bible will not prove God's existence. First and foremost, the Bible reveals God. But this revelation is enough for us. Do we have to prove a God "who hath measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and meted out heaven with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in measure, and the hills in a balance?" The prophet Isaiah pictures Him counting off the stars in their course. "Behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number; he calleth them all by name. . . . Observe the countless manifestations of his glory! Jesus said, "Consider the lilies of the field. . . . even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. . . . Raise your right arm, move a finger. There is a God-miracle for you—a thought, a wish, as intangible as the very air we breathe, transformed into action.
Are you secretly sorry that your God does not periodically appear in a flaming chariot with legions of angels round about Him? You need not be, for with such blessings daily from God, with such overruling miracles around us, can we do anything else but stand up and say simply and proudly, "I believe in God."

Around Capitol Square

(Guest writer today is Dan Tompkins, veteran legislator from Jackson county. Tompkins has for some years been trying to get the Eastern Cherokee Indians out from under federal control. Many Cherokees prefer the present status to proposed "independence.")

CHEROKEES—Thousands of visitors from this and other states pass through the domain of the Eastern Cherokees each year. Most of them stop to buy souvenirs—either genuine Indian handicrafts or the dime store junk offered in the roadside shops. They have pictures made with an Indian chief in feather headdress or a squaw with papoose on her back, and pass on. Few inquire into why these Indians are in North Carolina, when most of their kinsmen are in the west; or what brought to present status the once proud nation that ruled the southeast and with their Iroquois relatives organized a great American government long before white men came to these shores.

RESERVATION—There have been reverberations in congress about the plight of the Navajos in the west, but little has been known about how the policies of the Bureau of Indian Affairs has affected the Eastern Cherokees on their "reservation," which isn't a reservation. The approximate 70,000 acres of land in Cherokee, Graham, Jackson and Swain counties included in the loosely designated area is not in reality a reservation, for the reason that the federal government never had any land in North Carolina to "reserve" for the Indians. These lands were bought and paid for by ancestors of the present Indian residents and title was first taken in the name of Col. William H. Thomas (Will Uddi to the Cherokees). And when a few years ago the federal government established the center at Cherokee it purchased the land upon which the school and hospital are located from the widow of Nimrod Jarret Smith, last Great Chief of the Cherokees. She held title under authority of an 1899 legislative act incorporating the Eastern Band of Cherokees and providing for individual allotment of land by the Tribal Council.

SOVEREIGNTY—There is the double question of title to land and governmental sovereignty over it. Prior to 1924 the Tribal Council paid taxes to the state and the several counties, and individual Indians paid taxes on their personal holdings. In 1924, after a roll of the band had been compiled containing about 3,000 names, the Tribal Council was induced to deed the entire holdings to the federal government in trust, pending allotment to individual members of the band. That allotment has not been made, and few people now expect it will ever be made. But the Bureau of Indian Affairs has assumed increasing jurisdiction over affairs of the tribe and every Indian.

QUESTIONED—Competent lawyers have voiced grave doubt as to the validity of this agreement.

Bundle For Britain

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York — (AP) — Ever been around the world in a single day? That's the way I travel when my pocketbook is already too pleasure-bent to support a journey. I buy a hypothetical hop to anywhere I choose and enjoy it at home.

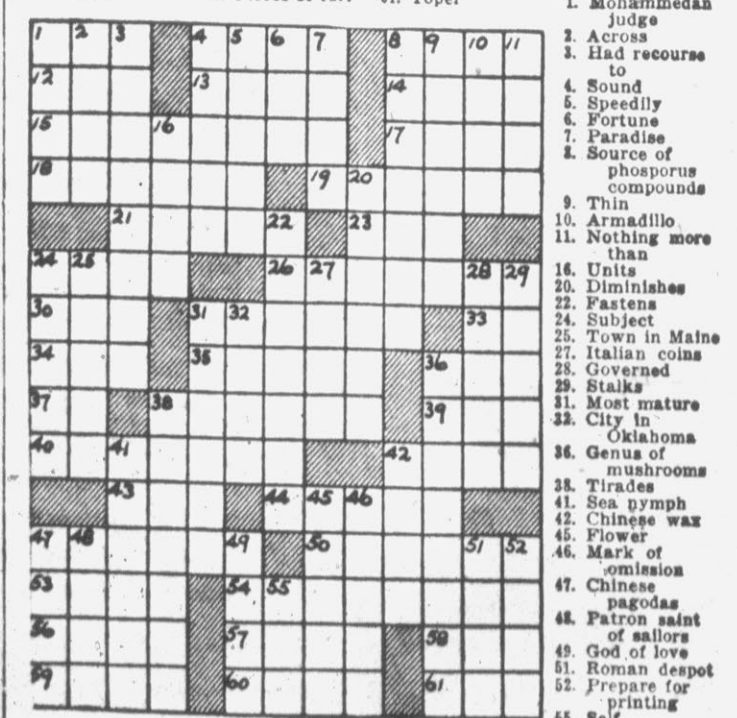

It's the only way I know that two can travel as cheaply as one. I go first class, take Frances along and scatter 95 tips like grass seed. I don't have to look at museums I never wanted to see. I don't have to admire the dispirited grandeur of local ruling pointed out by a guide whose dogged good nature doesn't hide the fact he's tired of them, too. I have to fail for Niagara Falls or lean toward the Leaning Tower of Pisa—unless my bent inclines that way. I don't have to get accustomed to the local customs, or be a customer of the customs men. Like Stephen Leacock's hero, I can jump on my horse and ride off.

well established principle of law that the federal government cannot acquire title to any land within the borders of the thirteen original states, for any purpose, without consent of the state; and North Carolina has never given its consent for acquisition of any lands within the state for establishment of an Indian reservation.

GUARDIANSHIP—However, the Bureau continues to treat every Cherokee as a ward of the federal government. He is as helpless as a child in business transactions, because any deal involving more than a trifling amount must be approved by his guardian. Meanwhile, Congress has conferred voting citizenship upon him. The Cherokee Indian is a free American citizen only on election day, and then only for the purpose of casting his ballot. He pays no taxes; even the state sales tax is not collectible on goods sold in the stores, cafes and souvenir shops on his lands.

Why Ireland? Not so much because it's green and beautiful, but because every American in his heart wants to go back and see where his ancestors came from. I want to check up on whether the English really ran my grandmother out—as he said—or whether his neighbors did.
As for Finland, no one I've known who has been there has anything but admiration for the honesty and courage of its people. I want to have a look at this small tough land whose independence even the Russians have come to respect.
There goes my mythical $10,000—and it'll give me a ten grand time. Where would you spend yours—in a wonderful one-day journey?

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—It was Class Day at the Congressional Club, with Mrs. Clifford Davis, wife of the Democratic congressman from Tennessee, "head mistress," presiding.
The faculty of the Club's "school" was introduced. Class songs were sung. Then various classes showed off their learning, and diplomas were awarded the students—all wives of members of the 80th Congress.

Awards were then given to Mrs. William T. Reed, daughter-in-law of Rev. Daniel Reed (R-Ky) and Mrs. John Kunkel, wife of Rep. Kunkel (D-Pa.). They were winners of a three-months' marathon conducted by the bridge class of Mrs. Charles Clason, wife of the Republican congressman from Massachusetts.

Mrs. Fred Bradley, widow of the late Republican congressman from Michigan, and head of the Congressional Club bowling class, presided over a finish match, played off on a miniature alley. The match was between last year's champ, Mrs. Aime Rhoad, wife of the Democrat from Rhode Island, and this year's top scorer, Mrs. William Reed, wife of the Democratic congressman from South Carolina. Mrs. Reed won.

One of the highlights was a fashion show put on by the 25 members of the school's personalized dress design class. Mrs. John Taber, wife of the New York Republican, exhibited a blue changeable taffeta evening dress she'd made. Mrs. Wayne Morse, wife of the Oregon Republican, wore a turquoise blue crepe gown. Mrs. John J. Williams, wife of the Republican senator from Delaware, modeled a fashionable print. While Mrs. Leroy Johnson, wife of the Republican representative from California, wore a rose-colored wool suit with cape jacket. Mrs. Walter Judd, wife of the Republican congressman from Minnesota, showed some dresses she had whipped up for her daughter.

Quick flower arrangements were demonstrated by the class of Mrs. James Davis, wife of the Democratic congressman from Georgia. "Hats of the Moment" were featured by the millinery class of Mrs. Albert Gore, wife of the Democratic congressman from Tennessee. The ones that drew top applause were Mrs. Lowell Stockman's "June in Philadelphia" number and Mrs. Tom Abernathy's "July in Philadelphia."

Law Bans Political Acts For Employees Of Govm't

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

Washington—This being a campaign year, the government is warning about 2,000,000 federal and other public employees not to play politics. Signs posted in government buildings in Washington and throughout the nation are headed by the word "Warning" in big black letters. Underneath this word the signs say: "Political activity of federal employees prohibited by law" and "Political activity of certain employees of a state or local (city) agency prohibited." The United States Civil Service Commission is distributing these warnings and telling officials to post them conspicuously.

In a town like Washington, where politics are the vitamins of social life, this may sound like the pot calling the kettle black. The big shots can play politics but the little people can't. But there are good reasons for the "no politics" rules. They are written into the civil service regulations and are contained in a federal law, the Hatch Act. A proven violation is punishable by dismissal from the federal service.

One reason for the rules is to prevent the building up of a great political "machine" among federal employees and the hundreds of thousands of other persons employed by state or local authorities on projects sustained in whole or part by federal money. The 2,000,000 federal employees and their families alone represent 7,000,000 or more votes. If each was for the same candidate and persuaded only a friend or two concerning his vote, the total number of votes involved, or "influenced," might be over 10,000,000. This would have been a big chunk of the 45,000,000 votes cast in the 1944 Presidential election.

The law doesn't forbid employees to discuss elections and candidates privately with their families and friends. But it does forbid outright electioneering, like making a speech.

The danger of creating a formidable federal machine was apparent as long ago as 1891, when a presidential directive by President Tamm as Jefferson forbade non-elected federal employees from engaging in politics. The civil service rules have contained a "no politics" clause since 1883. Briefly the rules are:

1. Civil service rules apply to all civil service employees in Washington and other cities. The great majority of federal workers, outside the military, come under them.
2. Most other government employees come under the Hatch Act.
3. Neither the law nor the civil service rules apply to the president, vice president, cabinet officers or other top officials who set government policies.

Also exempt are the people of the law-making (congress) and law-interpreting (judges, etc.) branches of government.

4. The Hatch Act also covers employees of state or local agencies, like highway departments, that obtain all or part of their funds from the federal government.
5. In general, an employee can't serve in any official political capacity or make campaign speeches or solicit political funds. He can't run for political office if party politics are involved.
6. The employees are permitted to take part in local elections not run on a party basis. As an instance, one might be a candidate for a school board if none of the candidates was running as a member of a political party, and no party issues were raised.
7. The rules and the law do not forbid individuals from expressing a political opinion at a private gathering such as a bridge party.

Federal offenders are dealt with by the Civil Service Commission. If it is proved that an individual violated the civil service rules or the Hatch Act, the commission must discharge him. The commission also may decide about the guilt of a state or city employee, but it can't discharge him. It informs his boss of his guilt. If his boss doesn't fire him, the commission may cause a sum of money, equal to two years' pay for the individual, to be withheld from the federal money due the state or city.

Nutrition Group Discusses Needs Of Eastern N. C.

The nutritional needs of eastern North Carolina and the use of the resources of the area to meet those needs were discussed at the eastern regional meeting of the State Nutrition Committee held yesterday on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College.

Gathered at the college to participate in programs and committee work and to hear a group of speakers were forty-five men and women from 36 counties in this section of the state. These represented the Extension Service of State College, the Farmers' Home Administration, the Parent-Teacher Association, and the departments of welfare, public instruction, agriculture, and health.

Dr. John D. Messick, East Carolina president, keyed the meeting with an address in the morning on "Resource Recognition in Eastern North Carolina." He emphasized the idea of making people conscious of the possibilities of preserving the land and of discovering through study and experimentation what is best adapted for the various types of land in the different communities. He said that farms of this area should supply more of the food consumed here. Stating that "the possibilities for human happiness have not yet been scratched," he pointed out how various agencies can contribute toward a happier and more healthful life for the individual.

The afternoon session was devoted largely to a discussion of dairying in eastern North Carolina. Dr. W. J. Peterson of State College, chairman of the State Nutrition Committee, outlined the nutritional need for more and better dairy products in this section. The effects of publicity on improving nutrition were pointed out by Harriet Pressley, public affairs and woman's commentator for WPTF in Raleigh. Joe Outlaw of Seven Springs reviewed 4-H club projects with emphasis on better nutrition. Florence Cox, chairman of the eastern region of the State Nutrition Committee was in charge of the program for the meeting. Present also was Virginia Blount, executive secretary of the committee.

Use Irish Potatoes For Livestock Feed

By S. C. WINCHESTER, County Agent

S. C. Winchester, Pitt County farm agent, reports that plans have been completed for diverting Irish potatoes (grades 1, sizes B and No. 2) to livestock feed. Any farmer who has livestock can secure these potatoes free for the unloading. It is recommended that potatoes for hog feeding be steamed or cooked in a large pot. For cattle they should be chopped for feeding. Livestock should begin the Irish potato ration, receiving not more than 4 pounds per 100 pounds live weight. A 400 pound calf should receive 160 pounds or less. This can be increased gradually up to about 8 pounds per 100 live weight. Irish potatoes are worth about one fourth that of grain, that is 4 pounds potatoes are worth 1 pound of grain.

Farmers receiving the potatoes must certify that the potatoes will be used for livestock feed, and they must unload the car and are liable for any demurrage charges due to slow unloading. Potatoes come packaged in 100 pound bags, 300 bags per car. Bags should be worth the unloading. Farmers desiring potatoes should contact the county agent's office immediately.

Greenies Trounce Jays By 4-1; Meet Again Tonight

Kovalchick Keeps Roanoke Rapids In Check As Teammates Score On Eight Hits And Five Errors By Jays

By BERT MOYE
Rookie Johnny Kovalchick checked the Roanoke Rapids in his last night over in Roanoke Rapids as he pitched the Greenville Greenies to a 4-1 win over the celebrating Jays. The win for Kovalchick was his sixth of the season and his third win over the Jays. He has suffered three defeats.

Three runs in the sixth was enough for Kovalchick to post his triumph. After two men were out, Larry Riggs started things rolling with a double, Joe Nesson followed with a triple to bring home Riggs. Sposa's hit single to the mound scored Nesson, and Sposa went all the way to third when the throw was wild. He scored later on a passed ball with the third run of the inning.

The Greenies added another run in the ninth frame for good measure on two hits and an error. Lastres doubled, Ray Phillips got on when shortstop Hammack let the ball go through his legs. Bob Cohen was given an intentional pass to first to load the bases. Wiley Nash hit to short who threw home catching Lastres at the plate and then Larry Riggs flew out to centerfield with Phillips racing across the plate on the out.

The Jays collected three of their six hits in the seventh frame to account for their only tally. Singles by Irvin and Brown and Meyer's single to bring home Irvin produced the run.

Alton Brown, the starting hurler for the Jays, was credited with the loss and was taken out of the game in the sixth frame when he stopped Sposa's hard hit ball. Pete King went in at this point and pitched three-hit ball the rest of the game.

Joe Sposa with three singles in five trips to the plate and Danny Lastres with two doubles in three official trips to the plate, led the slight hit attack of the two Jay hurlers.

Alton Brown was the only Jay to get more than one hit off the offerings of Kovalchick, getting two singles in two trips to the plate.

The Jays and the Greenies meet tonight in the second game of the series at Guy Smith Stadium at 7:45 o'clock.

Favor Robinson To Retain Title

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the Harlem hurricane, was a 3 to 1 favorite to retain his world's welterweight boxing crown tonight against his No. 1 contender, Bernard Docusen, of New Orleans, in a scheduled 15-round bout in Comiskey Park.

Promoter Irving Kovin predicted a turnout of 15,000, with gate receipts hitting the $100,000 mark. The champion's cut will be 37 1-2 per cent. The challenger will receive 20 per cent.

Robinson, seeking his 33rd successive triumph, will be shooting for a quick knockout against his 21-year-old foe who popped out of nowhere to become the No. 1 contender. A quick victory would improve Robinson's chances for a lucrative autumn match with Middleweight Champion Tony Zale in New York.

Tonight's bout will be Robinson's third defense of the crown he won by defeating Tommy Bell on a decision Dec. 20, 1945, in New York. He stopped Jimmy Doyle in eight rounds last June in Cleveland and on Dec. 19 he knocked out Chuck Taylor. Doyle died following the knockout.

Robinson and Docusen have had only one foe in common. He is Norman Rubio, whom Robinson defeated in 10 rounds in 1945. A few months later Docusen won an eight-rounder from Rubio.

Mankind knew nothing about the circulation of blood in the human body until 1628 when William Harvey of England published proof of a continuous flow from the heart through the arteries and back through the veins.

Bo Bo Butler, a student at East Carolina Teacher's College, is at the present time the official scorer of the Greenville Baseball Club. He also handles the announcing at the local ball games. He replaces Sam Northrop, Jr., who resigned several days ago. A tip of the hat to the College View Cleaners for their fine sportsmanship in giving to the outstanding players at each game a nice cash prize. Vernon Blasi has been given his release by the club.

The Kinston Baseball Association was in the market for a heavy-hitting outfielder today. The qualifications were quite simple: he must be a limited serviceman, a left-hand hitter, good fielder with a powerful throwing arm and capable of replacing a 360 batter.

The search was instituted when it became apparent that J. W. Deaton, the Eagles regular first baseman, had packed his bag and headed home to stay. His sudden and unexpected departure to all intents and purposes meant the end of Deaton's short and promising career in organized baseball, for jumping a club in mid-season is a serious offense. As a result of his action the rank first baseman may be banned from baseball.

It will be first come, first served when the Sportsman's Park Dodger street ticket windows open at 9 a. m. today, for the sale of tickets to the major leagues' All-Star game to be played in St. Louis, July 13th. The only exceptions, according to General Manager William O. DeWitt of the Browns, the host club, will be holders of season box or reserved seats for all Browns games, and purchasers of season grandstand tickets, who will be allowed to buy reserved seats via mail orders. The reserve-seat buyers must get in line at park and a limit of four tickets to a customer will be strictly enforced.

The New York Giants will hold a try-out camp in Hickory, North Carolina, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 12, 13 and 14th, at Lenoir-Rhyne Field, under the supervision of Giant's Scouts William (Bill) Harris and Dale Alexander.

The Evansville Braves of the Three I League, who held their Spring training here in Greenville, are now in second place in league standing with a record of 23 wins and 14 losses in games played through June 10th.

The steel pipe installed in Washington's Pentagon building would stretch from Chicago to Indianapolis—about 200 miles.

Babe Dons No. 3 For Last Time

Wearing his familiar No. 3 uniform, Babe Ruth, greatest home run hitter of all time, leans on his bat near home plate during ceremonies marking the 25th anniversary of New York's Yankee Stadium. No other New York Yankee ever again will wear No. 3. The number was retired permanently in special ceremony at home plate as Babe returned to the scene of his greatest baseball feats. After dropping his first start this season, Vic Raschi caught fire and reeled off seven straight triumphs to take over the No. 1 spot of the Yankees' hurling staff. His seventh, a three-hit shutout of the Browns, saw Raschi at the very peak of his form and if there is a more effective working in the majors at his current writing he has escaped our gaze.

The fact that Raschi has added some 20 pounds to his six, two-frame very likely has much to do with his great improvement over his form of last year. Vic was apt to show signs of weariness after five or six frames a year ago but this he seems to get stronger as the innings roll by. He was frightfully

Mound Is Blue

CLEVELAND—(AP)—There's a reason behind that faint blue tinge that marks the pitcher's mound at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. A special blue clay, dug up from the bottom of Lake Erie, is used on the Indians' pitching hill.

Yale Stands On Brink Of NCAA Baseball Title

Winston-Salem, June 17—(AP)—Yale stood today on the brink of another Eastern NCAA baseball championship, thanks to fine pitching and hard hitting.

The Ells last night became the only undefeated team of the four qualifiers of the current series here by slaughtering LaFayette University, 11-2.

Jim Duffus held LaFayette to six hits, while his mates cracked 15 blows. His performance fell only slightly short of that of the previous night when Yale's Frank Quinn beat North Carolina, 6-1, by yielding only five hits.

North Carolina and LaFayette came to grips tonight at 6 o'clock and the winner will go up against Yale at 8:30.

Know Your Golf Shots

By HERMAN BARRON
Written Especially for AP
Newfeatures

So you're satisfied with your golf game. Well, that's fine. In that case there's no use reading what I have to say. It never pays to have anyone tamper with your game—providing you're getting satisfaction and results.

However, many golfers—even the top pros—often become discouraged with the way things are going. Sometimes a golfer's putting is off. Sometimes he feels his drives are not what they should be. Or maybe he is bothered about his iron shots.

A disgruntled golfer is like a person in ill health. The sick person generally goes to his doctor and the disgruntled golfer—well, he either gets out on a course and practices or he sees a professional for instruction. The club pro is like the doctor. Both can help you better than you can help yourself.

But on with our golf game. Let's start from the beginning with the drive. Take a few practice swings. Make a full turn of your hips and shoulders on the backswing. Do this several times.

Then try to accentuate the follow through in the forward swing. This will give you a maximum amount of distance and direction.

Now you're ready to address the ball. Take a square stance and fix the position of your feet so that the ball is played off the left heel. Your hands should be even with the ball. This way the hands will be slightly ahead of the clubhead.

Relaxation of balance is important, too. Keep your weight balanced and both legs very relaxed with your feet spread no more than the width of your shoulders.

Of course, the position of the hands are very important. I prefer the regular overlapping Vardon grip. It's the one used by the majority of your star pros and amateurs.

But remember! Start your backswing by pushing your left hand back and coordinating a full turn of your hips and shoulders. And try to hold your head still through the complete swing.

After you're having trouble off the tee you will notice the change almost immediately. You'll be hitting the ball straighter and longer.

TOMORROW—The No. 4 wood.

New Chairman Of Intercollegiate Athletics Group

J. B. Cummings, faculty member of the department of geography at East Carolina Teachers College, will serve as chairman of the intercollegiate athletics committee at the college during 1948-1949. The committee met early in June for reorganization and appointments for the next school year have just been announced.

Other staff members at the college who will serve on the committee are Dr. Beecher Flanagan, secretary; and Norman H. Cameron, Herbert L. Carter, F. D. Duncan, Dr. Fred Irons, Coaches James Johnson and H. G. Powell, and Dr. John O. Powell. The committee is in charge of a number of activities connected with intercollegiate sports, such as approving the sports budget, determining the number of games for each sport, and handling transportation for teams and advertising and ticket sales for games.

Before the war, there were about 25,000 privately owned airplanes in the United States.

Bar currency antedated the introduction of coins in Britain.

Tigers Reviving With Newhouser

Detroit, June 16—(AP)—Prince Hal Newhouser is hot and the Detroit Tigers are beginning to catch fire all over.

Barely a week ago the Bengals were flailing with seventh place. Five straight victories have lifted them into a firm fourth, just two games back of the third place New York Yankees.

That's no immediate cause for alarm among the league leading Cleveland Indians, seven full games away but it's adequate warning Detroit may cut a figure in the American League flag fight after all.

Round Steve O'Neill, the Tigers' portly pilot, is glowing in the upsurge but the man from Minooka, Pa., isn't exactly excited about it.

"We're still seven games behind and that's a lot, even at the middle of June," Steve said cautiously. "But we're coming along, playing the kind of ball I was confident we would when we got squared away. If we keep getting the pitching we can cause trouble."

The Tigers' move upwards stems directly from their steady mound staff. Not once in Detroit's last eight games has the pitching yielded more than eight hits. Only one of those games went into the defeat column. Newhouser, who came back with a bang after dropping four of his first five games, now has won seven straight, the latest last night's two-hit performance that enabled Detroit to slap the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 1.

Menhaden Fishing Is Underway On Coast

Morehead City, June 17 — Morehead City is a maritime ocean port and here the vacationists see just about every type of vessel from small sailing craft to large steamers and freighters that put in to the local ocean port terminal. The most picturesque of all boats in this sector, however, are the menhaden craft. These vessels are identified by their crow nests and Jacobs ladders leading to same. Winter time is usually the season for mass operation of menhaden boats here out a small summer fleet is currently going to sea daily from a processing plant in nearby Beaufort.

Grid Star Goes Into Baseball

Boston, June 17 —(AP)—Jack Welschberger, who scored three touchdowns New Year's Day for Michigan's Rose Bowl champions and who played for Montpelier in the Northern (Independent) baseball league last summer (has signed with the Boston Braves. He will be assigned to a Tribal farm.

Off-Track Actors

New York—(AP)—Some of the famed Calumet Farm horses are performers around the barn as well as on the race track. Armed sticks his tongue out to beg for a carrot and the two year old Good Ending (last foal of Dustwhirl, dam of Whirlaway) has a playful habit of taking a mouthfull of water from his bucket and blowing it out over visitors.

Charlie Keller

New York—(AP)—Though Charlie Keller of the New York Yankees, who is making a comeback with the World Champions, never has won an American League home run title he twice was runner-up for the honor. Charlie's 33 homers were four under Ted Williams in 1941. In 1943 he was three behind Rudy York's top total of 34.

Home-Grown Talent

Santa Clara, Calif.—(AP)—Three members of the four-man grid strategy board of the University of Santa Clara are graduates of the Mission school. Head Coach Len Casanova is a '27 graduate, Backfield Coach Jack Roche earned his sheepskin in '40 and Frosh Coach Eddie Forrest graduated in '43. Only non-Santa Clara is Herm Meister, assistant coach, who boasts nearby St. Mary's College as his alma mater.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

From the Rector Kitchens
The Rector Kitchens, founded by the late George Rector, serve Wilson & Co. Inc. exclusively. From these kitchens come the recipes, menus, nutritional advice, economy suggestions, and housewives' hints that you read in Wilson's Weekly Bulletin.

Father's Day Special

Celebrate Father's Day with a dinner that's extra-good... yet let's you stay out of the kitchen most of the time on Sunday. We've planned one that does just that.

Veal Birds
Cut 1 1/4 lb. veal cutlet (1/4 inch thick) into 4 squares and pound very thin.
Make your favorite bread stuffing with 2 cups soft bread crumbs, adding 1/4 tsp. WILSON'S B-V dissolved in 1 tsp. hot water.
Spread stuffing on veal squares, roll like a jelly roll, wrap, and tie with clean cord. Brown on all sides in 2 tbsp. WILSON'S BAKE-RITE or ADVANCE SHORTENING.
Transfer to a casserole.
Add 1/4 cup hot water, cover tightly, and bake in a moderate oven, 350° F., about 1 hour. Uncover last 15 minutes. Serve with gravy made with the drippings, adding WILSON'S B-V to taste. Serves 4.

Stay Out of the Kitchen
A dinner that almost prepares itself on Sunday includes, besides the veal birds, baked potatoes, new peas in cream with plenty of Wilson's Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter, cabbage salad, hot rolls, and Dad's favorite pie. Scrub the potatoes, roll the veal birds, shell the peas, and make the pie on Saturday. Then stay free of the kitchen on Sunday until time to start the potatoes baking.

To make the cabbage salad extra-tasty, add grated onion and a bit of green pepper and dress with Wilson's Mayonnaise.

Supper Quickie
For a quickie supper dish, use Mer instead of veal cutlet in the veal bird recipe. Cut Mer (either beef, veal, lamb, or pork) in thin slices, bread-wise, and shorten baking time to 25 min.

Luncheon Cooler
Salad plates are appreciated on hot days. For a really tasty main salad, mix 1 can Wilson's Certified Deviled Ham with 1 cup cottage cheese. Add 1/4 cup diced celery and 2 tbsp. chopped chives or 1/4 tsp. grated onion and mix well. Serve in lettuce cups or in the center of tomato roses.

A Statement From J. E. WINSLOW

YES... farmers did squirm during the days of depression BUT—while they were squirming the farmers developed a successful farm program that resulted in... Prosperity and better living conditions for the entire State of North Carolina and adjoining states.

Charles Johnson Did Not Help Develop That Farm Program

I have known Charles Johnson for over twelve (12) years, in my connection with agriculture. I have known Kerr Scott for over twenty (20) years in his connection with agriculture. I am going to vote for KERR SCOTT for Governor in the primary June 26th because of my own knowledge of Scott's association with his farming, his county agent work and as Commissioner of Agriculture for North Carolina. His knowledge of farming gained by his nation-wide association with agriculture, that he will make the best Governor for the interest of agriculture in North Carolina, and he is better qualified to help in our work for a national farm program. I am paying for the following political advertisement because I think it is my duty to let the farmers know of my knowledge of these two men and that I think KERR SCOTT WILL MAKE THE BEST GOVERNOR.

J. E. WINSLOW,
Farmer... Greenville, N. C.

LET'S KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT

KERR SCOTT, a man of the soil, a graduate of North Carolina State College, all his life has fought for the best interests of the farmer without penalizing the rights of others.

He took over one of the WEAKEST departments of AGRICULTURE in the Nation in 1937, revitalized it and turned over to his successor the STRONGEST DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE IN THE SOUTH.

Kerr Scott took the sand out of fertilizer, the sawdust out of feed, and short measure out of scales and gasoline pumps.

Kerr Scott, a dirt farmer, a dairy farmer, has lived all his life on a dirt road, and knows first-hand how badly rural road improvements are needed to serve the best interests of the farmer and the buyers of the farmer's produce—that is, ALL the people.

Kerr Scott resigned as Commissioner of Agriculture when he announced for Governor, refusing to conduct a campaign at the expense of the taxpayers that would keep him out of his office most of the time. He will not neglect his duty.

Character and intellectual honesty are interwoven in Kerr Scott. He is fair, honest and straight forward. He says what he means and means what he says.

E. G. Moss, former director of the Tobacco Experiment Station at Oxford, says:

"Keep the record straight. Granville Tobacco Wilt cost the tobacco farmers of North Carolina millions of dollars prior to 1944. Many of us worked with this problem, but not until Commissioner of Agriculture Kerr Scott got us the equipment and appropriation did we produce the resistant variety, better known as Oxford 26 that has saved the farmers of North Carolina from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually."

The farmers of North Carolina, recognizing the character, honesty, vision and administrative ability of Kerr Scott, went to the polls three times to elect him Commissioner of Agriculture. Kerr Scott served the farmers of North Carolina well as Commissioner of Agriculture. He will serve the farmers and ALL the people of North Carolina well as Governor.

GO FORWARD WITH SCOTT!

Find My Killer

By MANLY WELLMAN

Chapter 8

I went into the hall and to the gun room. The light was on.

I studied that smear of blood and tried to decide which way Ealing had fallen. I even got down on one knee, half lowering my body to the floor to help my guess-work.

At once I saw something and put my hand down for it.

"Are you finding everything you want?" asked Diane Ealing's voice.

I straightened up and faced the dormer where she stood. She was giving me the searchlight look again.

As if she expected printed letters to pop out on me and give her a message she longed to read. The last time she had stood there looking at me she'd pointed a gun at me.

"Where's your derringer pistol?"

I asked her quickly, and she flinched.

That moment of surprise gave me time to slip what I'd found inside my coat pocket.

"It's upstairs," she said. "In my

the gun room.

"Mr. Yates," said Diane Ealing,

"you reminded me just now that you were hired to find out everything you could in this case. You mean you will find and expose the killer—no matter who?"

"No matter who," I said, and met the stare of her green eyes full and level, and her eyes were the first to waver.

"Of course," she almost whispered, gazing at the carpet. "That's what you should do."

"I'll be going now," I said.

"Goodbye," she held out her hand. I took it and she held mine firmly. Now those intent green eyes fixed themselves on my hand.

"You have such strong hands," she said, and she seemed to have trouble saying it. "It's good to see strong men on my side. I trust you,

Mr. Yates. I want you to trust me and to come and see me again,

soon."

I went away, wondering about her.

I'd really found out very little. Plen-could get them away from Diane flattering me and the rest trying

Hopeful Prospect Over Wilmington Shipyards

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The Maritime Commission today is considering an offer of the North Carolina Ports Authority to buy or lease the shipyards at Wilmington.

Rep. Clark (D-NC) said yesterday that the authority is nearer to obtaining the shipyards than it has been for two years.

After the commission's first hearings in two years of negotiating, Clark told a reporter "things indeed look favorable." Previously, the commission has rejected the offer to buy or lease.

He added that "emphasis was placed upon the fact that this movement is not just a local proposition. Attention was called to the fact that for a long time the state has been interested."

R. B. Page, publisher of Wilmington newspapers, and chairman of the Ports Authority, said the state legislature has been generous in establishing the Ports Authority and that the governor as well as candidates for governorship this year endorse the port movement.

The North Carolina congressional delegation has brought pressure on the commission.

PICNIC AT BAY VIEW SUNDAY

St. Paul's Episcopal Church school will have its annual basket picnic at Bay View next Sunday afternoon. Cars will leave the church at 2:30 p.m. Those who do not have transportation should communicate with Rev. Roscoe Hauser, rector, or Sam O. Worthington. Since Sunday is "Father's Day," mothers and fathers are invited to accompany the children to the picnic.

Formal Opening Of Firm Tonight

By CHESTER WALSH

The formal opening of the Wagner-Marshburn Motor Company's thoroughly modern showrooms and garage, 2201-2211 Dickinson Avenue, at the intersection of the Farmville and Winterville highways today and tonight, is an elaborate public event, with the showing of the new Lincoln and Mercury cars as the main feature.

There is music and refreshments and special prizes, including one which will entitle the winner to have first choice of buying the first 1949 Mercury car.

The company has invited the people of Pitt county and this area of Eastern Carolina to attend the opening and public reception.

Visitors are being registered as guests and the registration books will be open until 7:30 to give all an opportunity to win some of the valuable prizes and gifts. Hundreds of persons from here and elsewhere visited Lincoln and Mercury showrooms during today.

Ty Wagner is president of the Wagner-Marshburn Motor Company. Rosamond F. Wagner and Ione H. Marshburn are vice-presidents and Col. Owen Marshburn is secretary and treasurer.

There are 400,000 retail food stores in the country.

'Jury' To Decide GOP Disputes Over Delegates

Philadelphia, June 17—(AP)—The Republican national committee was summoned to sit today as a jury in six convention delegate disputes.

The contests involve delegations from Georgia, South Carolina, Maryland, Mississippi, District of Columbia and Alaska.

The contentions of both sides in each case have already been considered by the 40-man contest committee, of which Attorney Ezra R. Whitla of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, is chairman.

The findings of Whitla's committee will be referred to the full national committee today for decision. The rulings of the national committee may be appealed to the convention credentials committee with a further appeal permitted from the floor of the convention if a dissatisfied delegate so chooses.

The Georgia contest is between two factions—one a 16-vote delegation headed by Roy C. Foster of Wadley, regarded as favoring the nomination of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. The other group, headed by W. R. Tucker of Dawsonville, was seated at the 1944 convention and is considered to favor the nomination of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

In South Carolina, two groups of six delegates and alternates were named. One delegation was named by a faction headed by J. Bates Gerald of Charleston, who won recognition for his group in both the 1940 and 1944 conventions. The second group was named by a faction headed by B. L. Hendrix of Estill and I. S. Levey of Columbia.

The Alaska dispute centers around two sets of delegates, one named by the Republican Central Committee of Alaska and the second chosen by the Republican clubs.

Whitla said two sets of delegates were named in the District of Columbia and in Maryland 20 delegates were named instead of the 16 allowed that state.

Handicrafts Are Getting Better

Honolulu—(P)—The sophisticated South Sea Islanders of today are turning out handicrafts that look as if they might have come from Fifth avenue.

"If we want anything primitive we have to make it ourselves," complained one importer. "Pacific natives are up on all the new trends—including the one toward high prices."

One Honolulu trader penetrated the remote Fiji islands not long ago taking along his own jewelry designs. With the samples to go by, islanders now fashion sleek, modernistic watch bands and brooches of tortoise shell.

Lathe-turned mahogany towels from the Society Islands are in Waliki beach shops alongside "antique" wood carvings of pagan gods. Delicate shell necklaces from the Holiday Islands complement the "new look" gowns at resort hotels in Hawaii. Table mats and handbags woven from Hawaiian hala tree fibre could appropriately be tagged with "made in California" labels.

Stassen Concedes He'll Be Third At Beginning

Philadelphia, June 17—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen conceded today he will be third man on the first presidential nominating ballot at the GOP convention opening here Monday.

But the former Minnesota governor told a news conference shortly after his arrival he remains confident he will win the nomination by the ninth ballot.

"I am here to lead the liberal and younger forces of the Republican party in a fight to win," Stassen said.

"I expect to be in third place on the first ballot and in first place on the last."

Stassen said he thinks it is "a close question" whether Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York or Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio will be in the lead on the first convention roll call.

Stassen was asked how he views the possible candidacy of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. Vandenberg is being boomed in certain quarters as a dark horse candidate in the event of a deadlock.

"I consider Sen. Vandenberg to be one of the outstanding statesmen of the Republican party," Stassen said.

"I make no attempt to anticipate what his moves will be in this convention."

Says Lawmakers Backing Johnson

Raleigh, N. C., June 17—(P)—A young war veteran asserted last night that 93 of the members of the 1947 state House of Representatives and 39 of the Senators are supporting Charles M. Johnson in his race for Governor.

Gene Simmons, Tarboro tobacco-nist who spoke last night in support of Johnson in his race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, said:

"Here you have over 77 per cent of the lawmakers endorsing the candidacy of Charles Johnson. Isn't this a good indication of what those familiar with our state government think of Charles Johnson? Isn't it also a fact that to move forward and have progressive government in our state we must have harmonious relations between the chief executive and the law-making bodies?"

He asserted that charges by Scott that Johnson is a "machine" candidate are "utterly ridiculous."

Assistant County Farm Agent Speaks Pactolus Ruritan

By CHESTER WALSH

Sam W. Weeks, assistant county farm agent, guest speaker at the Pactolus Ruritan club's supper meeting Monday night, spoke on "What Tobacco Means to North Carolina."

He said, in part: "North Carolina needs to grow a better quality of tobacco to obtain better prices on the leaf sold at home and abroad."

Canada and some other countries have started growing tobacco on a larger scale and are increasing their acreage each year. These countries, however, cannot grow the quality of tobacco grown in the United States.

He called attention to the experimental work going on to improve plant bed fertilizer and encouraged the practice of side-dressing crops with fertilizer. He discussed the experimental work going on at Oxford for improving the curing process by controlled ventilation.

Some experiments have shown that a barn of tobacco could be cured in 48 hours. Weeks also told of experiments with double resistant tobacco against black shank and Granville wilt in the Winterville community.

The Ruritan club authorized a letter to the County Board of Education, thanking it for its good work toward building the new school. Guests were Mrs. Carner Wallace, Ernest Gullifer and S. S. Swain of the Pine Town Ruritan club, and Gus Briley and D. G. Whitford of the Pactolus community.

Charges Attempt To Silence Facts

Raleigh, N. C., June 17—(AP)—A young editor asserted last night that supporters of Charles M. Johnson had promised to make it "financially and politically worth my while if I would not print the facts and figures about deposits of state money without interest."

Ferd Davis, editor of the Zebulon Record, made the charge in a radio broadcast last night in support of Kerr Scott, Johnson's opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Davis referred to charges made repeatedly during the first primary campaign by Scott that state funds were kept on deposit in banks where they did not draw interest.

Johnson answered the charges at the time by asserting that under federal regulations banks are not permitted to pay interest on demand deposits and that under state law only surplus funds may be invested and only then in federal and state bonds.

UN Again Faces Indonesia Crisis

Lake Success, Jr. 17 — (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today faced a new Indonesian crisis after months of quiet on that front.

It was not clear just how serious the current Batavia difficulties are, but some high U.N. authorities feared a complete collapse of Dutch-Indonesian peace talks is imminent.

The new turn of events came after the Security Council had called a meeting to consider a series of reports from the council's good offices committee on recent political developments in West Java and Madura.

The council also had before it the atomic control problem, which was carried over from yesterday. It was agreed the atomic issue would be taken up after the Indonesian problem was discussed.

A report from U.N. officials in Batavia said a serious situation had developed there after publication of a confidential proposal which the U.S. member of the good offices committee had submitted to the Dutch and Indonesian representatives.

The Dutch rejected the proposal announced they thought it a time being. They also refused to attend a meeting of the steering committee of the Netherlands-Indonesian conference.

Predicts Senate Won't Confirm Judge Warlick

Washington, June 17 — (AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) predicted today the nomination of Judge Wilson Warlick, Newton, N. C., to be federal judge of the western district of North Carolina will not be confirmed by the Senate before Congress quits this week.

Wiley is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which must act if the Senate is to consider the nomination.

He told a reported today there is "some doubt" as to whether he can get his committee together again before Congress adjourns.

Senator Langer (R-ND), chairman of a judiciary subcommittee, told a reporter earlier it would not be today on the nomination and the full committee would consider its recommendation tomorrow.

Feature Of Greenville Aero Club's Air Show

The picture above shows Grady Thrasher standing beside his airplane on what is billed as the "world's smallest airport," a platform on top of a car which is seven feet shorter than the airplane. In the big air circus scheduled for Sunday afternoon, June 27, at 2 o'clock at the Greenville Airport, Thrasher will land and take-off from this tiny airport. The event is being sponsored by the Greenville Aero Club.

Promises To . . .

Both parties promised an income tax cut, and taxes were cut. True, it was the Republican-controlled Congress which rammed through a big cut over President Truman's veto.

The President argued that he wanted to cut taxes but in a different way.

Both parties said they wanted to see an independent Jewish state in Palestine. (President Truman recognized the new Jewish state, without any say-so from Congress.)

But there were plenty of things both parties promised but didn't do. For example:

Civil rights. The Republican platform very specifically promised action on wiping out the poll tax, passing an anti-lynching law, and setting up a fair employment practice commission.

The 1944 Democratic platform, far more vaguely, suggested doing something about civil rights, meaning more civil rights for Negroes.

(The Southern Democrats were pretty touchy on this issue in 1944 so the platform vagueness was an effort to appease them.)

But, vague or definite, no civil rights law has been passed since 1944.

The Democrats very carefully said they "recommended" action to get equal rights for women. This hasn't been done.

The Republicans promised to bring under the benefits of Social Security all those people not now covered. They haven't done it.

Both parties promised—in an extremely vague way—to do something about letting Hawaii and Alaska become states. That hasn't happened.

Some of these promises made for the four years following 1944 probably will appear again in the 1948 platforms. Some of them may even pop up again in 1952.

What are the British doing? Here is the record for what it's worth. In addition to emergency measures in Malaya itself, they have sent Commissioner-General Malcolm MacDonald to Nanking where he talked with Chiang Kai-Shek about undisclosed matters. He also denied the statement of a British naval spokesman that H.B.M.'s Pacific fleet headquarters were being moved down to Singapore from Hong Kong.

When Malayan questions arose in Commons, a colonial office man in London said there was an organized campaign in Malaya to upset the economy through labor unrest. He declined, however, to confirm the statement of a Foreign Office source that the unrest is Communist in-water.

Apply when plants are dry. Better coverage may be obtained just after dew has dried. One spray application may be enough but if not, follow with another application in three or four days. Tetraethyl pyrophosphate sprays do not have any residual power.

Equipment to use — Tetraethyl pyrophosphate is a contact insecticide and its effectiveness depends on good coverage on the bottom of all leaves and especially in and below the bud. Inasmuch as most infestations of aphids are spotted in the fields, hand sprayers are to be preferred to the regular horse-drawn sprayers. For small tobacco, horse-drawn sprayers can be adapted by lowering the booms, directing the spray downward and to the right and left away from the operator. If the infestation is general over the field, then the hand sprayer may be too slow. In such cases the horse-drawn sprayer can be modified for use even for large tobacco.

For tobacco nearing the topping stage or large, eight nozzles should be provided to insure good coverage. Two of the nozzles on each side should be mounted low and set to spray at an angle, up and through the tobacco, one nozzle should be set straight out directing the spray through the upper part of the plant.

and one nozzle should be set to point downward into the top of the plant. Some of the companies manufacturing horse-drawn spray equipment have attachments similar to the one in the diagram. The nozzles should be equipped with a disc that will produce a fine mist. A sprayer rigged up in this way should be driven down each middle to direct the spray to cover both sides of the plant. Low pressure equipment may handle only four nozzles at a time—enough for one side of a row. In such case the sprayer would need to be driven down each middle twice.

Caution — Tetraethyl pyrophosphate sprays must be used immediately after mixing. These sprays break down readily and are ineffective 30 minutes after mixing. Therefore, do not allow tetraethyl pyrophosphate sprays to stand before using them.

Tetraethyl pyrophosphate is extremely toxic to all animal life. Operators and work animals should not come in contact with either the concentrate or the dilute spray. Wash off any spray hitting any part of the body immediately. Work animals should be washed down with a hose. Do not wear clothing wet with spray. Use a respirator to avoid inhaling the mist. Protect the body from spray by using a rubber raincoat and boots or other protective covering.

Note that these suggestions for the use of tetraethyl pyrophosphate are not to be considered as recommendations for the use of this material. In view of the need for control information, these suggestions are presented for their representation the best control information available to date.
