Peace Offensive Spreading Over Eastern Europe

USSR And Associates Appear Striving To Win Back Needed Prestige

Washington, June 17—(AP)—The Soviet peace offensive appears to be breaking out all over eastern Europe.

American officials are still skeptical that the Russians and their Allied Communist governments intend to make any major concessions on outstanding problems. But there is deep interest here in a whole series of current developments.

One of these—hitherto undisclosed—is an offer by Yugoslavia to settle claims by the United States against the Yugoslav government. Others include:

1. Bulgaria's willingness to enter negotiations with the American-supported Greek government on ways to reopen normal diplomatic relations. These talks are going on in Washington now between the Greek ambassador and the Bulgarian minister.

2. Russia's acceptance of an American proposal for a ten-nation conference looking to free navigation on the Danube. A place for the conference for July 30, reportedly selected somewhere in Europe.

3. A plan made by the Soviet Reparations Commission for Romania and Hungary.

One theory here held by some highly placed diplomats is that the Soviets and their Communist associates want to build the best possible record of pro-peace activity ahead of the fall meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Another parallel idea also widely held is that they are trying to regain some of their lost prestige by claiming leadership toward world peace while seeking to identify the United States and cooperating western governments as "warmongers."

Takes Dim View Of Prospects For Peace Talk

Tel Aviv, Israel, June 18—(AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion takes a dim view of long range peace prospects for Palestine and even doubts hostilities can be ended off until the four-week truce ends.

He expressed this view before the Israeli provisional state council last night after talks with Communist Party emissaries, United Nations mediator, who arrived from Cairo yesterday.

The prime minister said the Jews are ready to participate in peace talks at Rhodes "as full-right partners but we are not sure if the Arab leaders and their foreign advisers are also interested in peace."

"We hear," he said, "the British will accomplish evacuation during the month of June and at that time we can expect renewed Arab attacks on Israel from the land, sea and air. The Jews must be prepared for continued war because not only the state of Israel, but the existence of the Jewish people is in the balance."

Rumors Fill Convention City As Politicos Meet

By REILMAN MORIN Philadelphia, June 18—(AP)—This is Philadelphia on the eve of the Republican convention.

It's the Kentucky Derby with a human field. It's the Mardi Gras without the costumes. It's New Year's eve, the Fourth of July, and the night before D-Day. It's a colossal police game in Grand Central station.

And it has a theme-song that will-known refrain, "Rumors Are Flying."

In every corridor, you pick up a new rumor. You need only to move a few feet to the right or left. It's like twirling the dial on a radio.

There are rumors of deals that won't come to light until the fourth ballot. Juley reports of last-minute withdrawals, stories of battles and threats, broken promises and bleeding hearts.

The factual evidence for this is hard to find. What you get is something like this: "Well, I haven't got a copy of the . . . myself, but I know a fellow who has, and you'll see." Fill in the blank with the words, "letter," "statement," or "list of secondary strength delegates." The assertion is equally applicable to every rumor.

Republicans Bid For Demo Votes

Washington, June 18—(AP)—House Republicans tried to round up Democratic backing today in an effort to jam through a housing bill which President Truman termed "emasculated legislation."

More Fighters

Washington, June 18—(AP)—The United States is doubling its fighter strength in Europe. Air Force officials said today.

This will be done by shifting a unit of jet planes from Fannin to Germany.

That unit—the 36th Fighter Wing now stationed at Albright Field in the Canal Zone—will leave about Aug. 15.

At present there is only one group (about 15 planes) of P-47 World War 2-type conventional engine fighters based in Germany.

The 36th Fighter Wing will double that strength.

An Air Force spokesman said that transfer of the fighter wing should be viewed as "part of normal training policy to acousture crews of all United States Air Force planes with operation in any part of the world."

Haste Required For Compromise

Senate-House Conferees Have Little Time On Farm Bill

Washington, June 18—(AP)—Determined senators today began the short term job of trying to win the House over to their long range farm program.

With only two more days and nights of lawmaking definitely scheduled, even Senator Alben (R-Vt.) conceded to a reporter that his side probably must do a lot of "fast compromising."

It took Alben the better part of this week to push through the bill calling for an overhaul of the government's system of supporting farm prices.

Higher-priority legislation kept getting in the way. But when the final vote was reached late last night it wound up a whopping 79 to 23. Only senators Eton (R-Mont.) and O'Daniel (D-Tex.) voted "no."

The House has approved a straight-out extension of the present support system, which is due to return to pre-war level at the end of this year.

How the two chambers might get together and thus retain the incentives for all-out farm production remained to be seen. But Alben said he was hopeful of some sort of permanent plan.

Before passing his bill, the Senate got embroiled in one of its bitterest arguments of the current session.

Wallacites Take To Streets For More Signatures

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 18—Local supporters of Henry Wallace for President are button-holing twin citizens on the street this week and asking them to sign petitions to get the new progressive party on the ballot in North Carolina.

The petition-carriers have been especially active in the vicinity of the Forsyth county courthouse in the late afternoon. Many Twin Citizens have been stopped as they disembarked from buses on the square.

It is understood that the petitions gathered here and throughout the state will be presented to the State Board of Elections in an effort to place the names of Wallace and Glen Taylor, his vice-presidential running mate on the ballot in the November general election.

Wild Demonstration for Various Candidates Are More Than Slightly Misleading; It's the Quiet Political Work That Brings Results, Exampie In Chicago

By JAMES MARLOW Washington, June 18—(AP)—Don't let the convention applause and the big noise kid you.

You'll hear a lot of it—the wild demonstrations for whomever—the Republicans meet in Philadelphia next week to nominate a man for president.

There'll be 1,094 Republican delegates there and thousands of others who go to rubberneck or cheer.

Taft-Stassen Deal Called 'Possibility'

Behind-Scenes Meetings Of Supporters Whispered; No Official Sanction By Candidates For Conferences

Philadelphia, June 18—(AP)—The possibility of a deal bringing supporters of Senator Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen together in Republican presidential balloting arose today out of pre-convention conferences.

Aides of Taft and Stassen were reported meeting secretly in an effort to work out an agreement by which the former Minnesota governor might consent to help the Ohioan's bid for top spot on the GOP ticket to be picked here next week.

Those who set in, said these meetings had no official sanction from the candidates themselves, who were reported prepared to deny that they are engaged in such maneuvers.

The informal conferences were described by both Taft and Stassen backers as being fenced in with conditions that easily might make any agreement impossible.

As outlined to a reporter, these were:

1. Stassen will not join any combination until the possibility of his own presidential nomination has been explored thoroughly in early balloting.

2. The Minnesota's first choice is to switch to Senator Arthur Vandenberg if the Michigan lawmaker still figures materially in voting at any time Stassen might decide he has lost his own chance for the nomination.

3. The timing must be such that the government hurried its efforts today to break the soft coal contract stalemate.

Truman To Carry On Veto Battle

President Truman today carried on his veto battle with Congress into the 1948 campaign as a major election issue.

Overridden three times this week by the Republican-controlled national legislature, the Chief Executive said he is returning to Washington "to veto some more bills."

He left the threat of a veto of an "emasculated" housing bill with transients in Indiana and told an audience at Richmond, Ind., "You see, I have the habit of veto. But, I think I am vetoing in the public interest."

The presidential special is due in Washington's Union Station at 11:55 a.m. (EST).

Mr. Truman suggested for the first time at Richmond that he may return to his home at Independence, Mo., for a vacation after the congressional adjournment.

"I am going back home myself, as soon as Congress adjourns," he said, "and I hope I will have a chance to stay there for a few days and enjoy myself."

The President is scheduled to fly to Bolivar, Mo., July 5 to help dedicate a statue there to Simon Bolivar, South American liberal.

Dewey Manager Claims Ballots

Herbert Brownell, manager for Governor Thomas E. Dewey, claimed today the New Yorker had picked up 25 additional delegates since yesterday for the Republican presidential nomination.

"This makes us more confident that we will have more votes on the first ballot than any other candidate," Brownell told a news conference.

Hunting Formula To End Deadlock

Washington, June 18—(AP)—Sixteen talk-weary lawmakers looked for a formula today to break their deadlock over how many billions this country will spend on its global aid program.

The seven Senators and nine House members scheduled another session (1 p.m. EST) to battle again for a compromise figure covering funds for the European Recovery Program and aid to Greece, Turkey and China.

Johnson Assails Scott's Record; Defends His Own

Approximately 200 Attend Address In Pitt Courthouse To Hear Candidate

"Since I have been state treasurer I have handled 100's of millions of dollars of your money and have never lost a cent, my books have been audited 15 times and have never been out of balance, and I have never made a bad investment with your money. That is the record I run on and no one can honestly assail the record," gubernatorial Candidate Charles M. Johnson told some 200 or more people from Pitt and surrounding counties at the county court house last night.

Johnson called for improvements in the educational system of North Carolina and declared that the pupil load per teacher should be reduced and salaries of teachers and other state employees should be increased.

Practically every seat in the courtroom was taken and people stood outside the room to hear Johnson in his first speech in Greenville since the first primary three weeks ago in which he led in the governor's race.

Candidate Johnson was introduced by Dink James, judge of Pitt County recorder's court. Judge James introduced Johnson as "a state official who began many years ago as a plough boy in Pender County."

After a few introductory remarks, Johnson got down to brass tacks when he said, "Tonight I'm going to speak out in no uncertain terms, and proceeded to do just that. In answering his opponent Kerr Scott's charge that he had not invested (Continued on page ten)

No Progress On Coal Stalemate

Gov't Hurries Efforts; Another Meeting Today

Washington, June 18—(AP)—The government hurried its efforts today to break the soft coal contract stalemate.

Admitting "We haven't made any progress as yet" Federal Mediation Service Director Cyrus S. Ching called John L. Lewis and mine operators back today for further talks.

If he is unable to work out a solution Ching may set first to clear the way for President Truman to set strike-banning machinery in motion. This calls for naming a fact-finding board to study the causes of the dispute. After the board's report, the President then could ask the attorney general to seek a court order to bar a mine walkout.

The present union-operator contract expires June 30 but the miners start their vacation June 26, just eight days away. Lewis has broadly hinted the men won't come back July 6 unless a new contract is signed and sealed by then.

Further, Lewis has said that even if a stop-strike injunction is obtained the miners may not work very hard.

The government goes to court again against Lewis, and that seemed inevitable as things looked today, the case likely will wind up before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough. He's already fined Lewis and his union $2,130,000 for violating prior non-strike orders.

The atmosphere of the whole contract dispute may clear after Saturday. Goldsborough then is to hear arguments, and possibly rule on a suit brought by the coal operators to spell out how they and Lewis can spend the now-idle $400,000,000 welfare and retirement fund.

Work And Play At Press Meet

Pontana Village, June 18—(AP)—Balanced sessions of both work and play were on the menu as members of the North Carolina Press Association began the second round of their 76th annual meeting here today.

First on the program was the annual breakfast session of the North Carolina Association of Afternoon Dollies. Officers were to be elected at this session.

Later group meetings were set for both dailies and weeklies to be followed by a visit to Tapoco with the Aluminum Company of America as host.

District Favors Lutheran Union

Birmingham, Pa., June 18—(AP)—An immediate union of all the bodies now federated in the American Lutheran conference is favored by the Eastern district of the American Lutheran church.

The district at the same time urged the parent body of the church to continue efforts to join with the United Lutheran church of America.

Delayed-Action Draft Bill Is Passed By Lower House

Refugee Bill

Washington, June 18—(AP)—The House today approved a compromise bill to let 205,000 homeless Europeans into the United States during the next two years.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

The House adopted the measure by voice vote after a move to send it back to committee was beaten down 266 to 133.

Senate - House Conference group drew up the bill last night after the two chambers had passed conflicting legislation on admitting displaced persons.

Rep. Fellows (R-Mc.) House floor manager for the bill, said it will be next fall before the refugees began arriving here because transportation will not be ready until then.

Money Reform In Germany Slated

Western Allies Advance Steps; Old Marks 'Out'

Berlin, June 18—(AP)—The western Allies announced tonight a drastic currency reform to reduce the money in circulation in their zones of occupation and pave the way for German participation in the ERP. They set up a new mark called the Deutsche mark, and provided for the first steps in taking old marks out of trade channels.

All old money and holdings must be registered next week. There will be a full week's moratorium on all debts in western Germany.

Germans in the western zones may trade 40 old marks for 40 new marks Sunday. This will leave the 45,000,000 denmarks entitled to hold only the equivalent of $12 each.

The announcement said the rate at which the mark can be converted into or from other monies will be announced later. The Allies also left until later an announcement of how much in savings Germans will be allowed to keep.

Authoritative sources have indicated that further laws will reduce savings and business balances by 90 per cent or more. This supposition was supported by a provision in tonight's proclamation.

The provision said that small change from the old marks will be kept in circulation temporarily, but at a rate of new mark for 10 old marks. This small change ranges from one pfennig (one hundredth of a mark) to a mark.

In order to carry on business, firms will be able to borrow new currency from banks up to 80 marks for every person employed.

Classroom Teachers Gather At Meredith

Republicans Set Sights On Civil Rights Platform

Moving Toward Anti-Lynch, Anti-Poll Tax, FEPC Platform Plants

Philadelphia, June 18—(AP)—National Negro leaders severely criticized the Republican party today and demanded that the 1948 platform contain a strong civil rights plank.

Meantime, the Republicans, hard at work on a platform to be presented to the national convention next week, appeared to be moving toward what the Negroes were asking for—pledges of support for anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and fair employment laws.

Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a subcommittee of the GOP Resolutions Committee that the Republicans dominating Congress have "miserably evaded" similar platform pledges made in 1944.

Meanwhile, Harold E. Stassen, appearing at his own request, urged another group of platform drafters to pledge the Republican party to a continuing European recovery program on what he called "a businesslike basis."

Stassen told a news conference shortly before that the Republicans should lead the way toward international cooperation.

He said, however, that the party should "reject the proposition that we shall expend American money to further the socialization of foreign countries."

Dr. Canning B. Tobias, Negro religious leader from New York, told the civil rights subcommittee: "The Negroes of this country, mark my word, are a solid line such as you've never known before. I'm not just speaking through my hat."

A committee member, Mrs. Wm. Gates of Kentucky, demanded: "Is that a considered statement or a threat?"

Tobias said it was very considered. He said that "never before in the history of this country has there been such unity and determination on the part of the colored people to make American citizenship, in all that the word connotes, apply to them as well as other people."

W. C. Meekins of North Carolina, another committee member, asked Tobias to remember that the acts against Negroes of which he complained have largely taken place in states controlled by Democrats.

Committee member Orville Bullington of Texas chimed in: "And I've heard no condemnation of the Democrats here today."

Probe Plane Wreckage For Cause Of Tragedy

AT ENCAMPMENT Fayetteville, N. C., June 18—(AP)—Six hundred ROTC cadets from the Eastern seaboard began arriving at Fort Bragg today for a six weeks encampment. They will be formally welcomed Monday by Maj. Gen. Leroy Irvin.

Investigators probed through the scattered wreckage of a United Airlines DC-6 today, searching for the cause of the crash that took the lives of 43 persons, including that of the aircraft producer Earl Carroll.

The big airliner, enroute from San Diego, Calif., to New York, plowed into a 60,000-volt power line and exploded into flames yesterday afternoon near this eastern Pennsylvania Anthracite community.

The wreckage sprawled over an acre of woodland. The bodies—39 passengers, including two infants, and four crew members—were burned and torn, many beyond recognition. Their belongings were scattered everywhere.

"It is as bad a mess as I have ever seen," said Joseph O. Fluett, chief of region one of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Fluett arrived from New York a few hours after the disaster to head the CAB's investigators.

He was joined by experts from the United Airlines, Douglas Aircraft Co., manufacturers of the big plane and the airline pilots association.

They searched through the wreckage until midnight last night and returned to the task this morning.

"We expect to conduct a thorough and complete investigation but I can see we're going to run into difficulties because the disintegration is so complete," Fluett said.

Representatives of the Airlines and State Police spent most of last night going through the belongings of the passengers and crew. They found, among other things, a wallet containing Carroll's name and $1,024 cash. And they also found a new baby's purse with a penny inside.

Amendment - Loaded Measure Goes To Senate Where Possible Filibuster Threatened; Taft Replies Will Call Congress Back For Summer If Necessary

Washington, June 18—(AP)—The House today passed a delayed-action draft bill which would not draft anyone before next February 1.

The roll call vote on final passage was 283 to 120.

The amendment-loaded measure now goes to the senate. There it faces a possible filibuster that may kill it unless Congress returns after the political conventions.

The Senate passed a different bill last week. It provided for an immediate draft for two years of service.

The House bill calls for one year of service, with nobody to be inducted before next Feb. 1. Then they would be drafted only by order of the president. Induction ages in both bills are 19 through 25.

The threat of a Senate filibuster—talking the bill to death—came from Senator Glen Taylor (D-Idaho), who is a running mate with Henry A. Wallace on a third party ticket.

Taylor's threat brought a quick promise from Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to bring Congress back this summer to hammer out some sort of a draft law.

Angry words on both sides of the Capitol—punctuated by a warning from Secretary of State Marshall that war might follow a retreat from this country's "present line" of security actions—set the stage for today's climactic roll call.

The House bill already was staggering under the weight of 25 amendments, including one to postpone until next year any decision on actual inductions.

Rep. Hallett of Indiana, the Republican floor leader, told reporters before the session was called to order: "I think we have the votes to pass it."

But Rep. Egan (R-Mo.) leader of a three-party coalition that has held together for three days of acrimonious-filled debate, insisted: "We have better than an even chance of beating it."

Yesterday Short said it was only "an outside chance."

The final vote was put off until today because of one last gesture by another ringleader of the opposition, Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY). He demanded an engrossed—especially printed—copy of the bill.

The government printing office normally does not print engrossed copies until the day after a bill is passed, but any member can ask and get—such a copy—before the final vote. And that is an all-night job.

Briefly, the House bill would do this: Set up a high-powered recruiting drive to try to bring the armed services to full strength with volunteers alone.

If this failed, the President would have to proclaim, not earlier than next January 1, that a draft was essential. Then Congress—both House and Senate—would have to (Continued on page ten)

Blair Buck, General Federation President, in October; invitations were sent to new members; letters sent to Secretary of State Marshall, Senators Hoey and Umstead and Congressman Bonner regarding the resolution passed by the Club; monthly bulletin sent to all club members.

Art: Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, chairman, reported: Since Greenville has an Art Gallery which changes exhibits monthly and is open every afternoon our club cooperates with local gallery in announcing exhibits and inviting club members to see them. We showed two sections of N. C. Elementary school Art and arranged programs for all school children. Cooperated with Community Art Center in observance of National Art Week; held "open house" in craft rooms at local blind center; exhibited crafts and sold some for local people and exhibited and sold crafts made by students at Caswell Training School; had studio Tea in local studio of resident artists; presented program for public in December on "Religion in Art," at which time slides of National Cathedral in Washington, D. C. were shown and an Exhibit of Madonnas from the American Federation of Arts. Sponsored Elementary Art Contest in local schools and paid entry fees on all selections sent to Greensboro; presented with assistance of Greenville Music Club and Community Art Center our annual Community Fine Arts Festival. Seven programs were given at the Festival, featuring paintings, music, folk dances, dramatics, poetry, flower arrangements, dress designing, etc.; exhibits featured the N. C. 11th Annual Artists' Exhibition, paintings by local artists, school children's art, for which $29 was given in prizes; industrial art from high school and college—crafts of various types. More than 4,000, including visitors from twenty-four towns, attended this Festival. Paid contribution on Penny Art Fund; made radio talks; wrote more than 40 articles and notices for local paper on art and exhibits.

Music: Mrs. J. L. Fleming, chairman, reported: Furnished music for club programs and special occasions; assisted in organization of Greenville Music Club; cooperated with Garden Show, Christmas Show and Art Festival in arranging music for each; selected and made arrangements for purchase of Grand Player piano for club.

Citizenship: Mrs. Dan Vornholt, chairman, reported: Worked with International Relations and Youth Conservation chairman, studying Political Behavior, Political bills, Parliamentary Procedure, and urging young voters to study State, National and World Government; urged club members to study conditions and take part in Government House. Mrs. N. C. Brooks, chairman, reported: New equipment has been bought for club and necessary repairs made on building and equipment.

Mrs. Arthur B. Corey, first vice president, and chairman of the program committee, reported that the program committee arranged and edited programs.

Mrs. Perkins reported, in absence of 2nd vice president James, that 15th district invited to hear Mrs. J. Blair Buck, general secretary, at Greensboro. Club members visiting were: Mrs. Ed Anderson, Greenville; Mrs. J. E. Ragsdale, Greenville; Mrs. E. P. Brown, Mrs. Arthur Greene, Mrs. H. M. Hobgood, Mrs. W. E. Hughes, Mrs. Charles Doak, Mrs. Gordon Maddrey.

At the conclusion of the reports Mrs. Perkins thanked each departmental and special committee chairman and each individual member who were instrumental in making these reports possible. Mrs. Rudolph Willman was installed as recording secretary. Mrs. Lee H. Moore, retiring secretary, was given a rising vote of thanks for her efficient work. Mrs. Perkins gave a brief report of the North Carolina Federation Convention and of the work being done in other clubs all over the state.

She announced that the Fifteenth District club meeting will be held in Greenville in October and that the State convention will be held next June in Goldsboro.

Mrs. J. Hicks Corey, chairman of the Hostess Committee, poured punch from a lovely table in the Sally Sountall parlor. She was assisted in serving dainty cookies and nuts by Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, Mrs. W. H. Woolard, Mrs. J. L. Fleming, Mrs. David M. Willford, Mrs. J. I. Winstead and Mrs. J. E. Dees.

13,062 Driving Licenses Taken Up During 1947

Raleigh, N. C., June 18—(AP)—Licenses of 13,062 North Carolina motorists were revoked last year, the Motor Vehicles department reported today. This was an increase of more than 5,000 over the previous year.

The report showed that 9,068 of the revocations for drunken driving—about 70 per cent of the total. Department officials said that in the nation as a whole about 40 per cent of revocations are for drunken driving.

The increase in revocations was attributed to more stringent enforcement of the motor vehicle laws.

Motorist Says Gave Ride To Wanted Man

Fayetteville, N. C., June 18—(AP)—Search for Norman Beard, wanted on a warrant charging assault on a female, extended to Smithfield today after a motorist reporting giving him a ride.

Beard allegedly kept a 16-year-old girl captive for a month, and beat her.

Strength FOR THE DAY

PONDER IT A WHILE
In his novel Les Miserables, Victor Hugo, referring to Napoleon's attempt to subdue Europe, says: "The hour had come for supreme inopportune justice to take notice. Napoleon had been denounced by the Infinite, and his downfall had been determined. He was obstructing God. Waterloo was no mere battle; it was a change of front on the part of the universe."

"No more battle" but a "change of front on the part of the universe." Here is something to ponder. God is in every human act. He is in the whole of history, but it is only at the great turning points that He becomes plainly visible to our eyes. We can see Him at Thermopylae and Tours, at the destruction of the Spanish Armada, at the rescue from the beaches of Dunkirk.

The acts of our lives are not really acts at all—they are God manifesting Himself in the world of things. History is not the story of a nation's life—it is the story of God's dealing with a multitude of people. Of this we can be sure, that when God decides against Napoleon or against any humble person who may manifest a set determination to disobey Him and flout his will, the jig is up for emperor and commoner alike.

This is some thing to think about—and seriously.

REFORESTATION — There are approximately a million acres of land in North Carolina in need of full or partial planting of trees in order to derive potential benefit from them, according to State Forester W. K. Belcher. To partially meet this need the state program calls for planting more than fifteen million seedlings by end of the next fiscal year. The reforestation program is nationwide, but southern states are doing more about it—with North Carolina doing its full part.

SEEDLINGS—The program mapped out months ago calls for production of more than 300 million seedlings in state supported nurseries throughout the south for the 1947-49 period. North Carolina's part of this total production is 16,100,000 in three state nurseries located in Johnston and Henderson counties. This total includes roughly fourteen million pines, a million hardwoods and another million of diversified and special type seedling trees. Mayor activities at the Johnston cuppy nursery are directed to loblolly and long leaf pine, and at the Henderson nursery to white pine and yellow pine.

Utilization—The overall program of reforestation and seedling planting was set up with two main ideas in mind: To utilize land areas not suited to cultivated crops for production of a cash crop in trees, and to meet the growing demand for lumber, pulp wood, fence posts and—believe it or not—Christmas trees. Sponsors of the program point out that the million acre term used with respect to available tree planting area is not accurate. Some of it is now barren, but for most part it is already wooded area which is not being fully utilized.

LUMBER—Scarcity of lumber for building and crating purposes was emphasized during the late war. Experiences then brought home to many people the fact that original growth timber was nearing exhaustion, and that replenishment was vital to national progress and defense. Similar shortage of newsprint and other paper products showed the increasing importance of pulpwood in present day economy.

FENCE POSTS — Another item which looms larger than most people think is that of fence posts. One of the small rural industries which the governor's commission discovered as practicable for North Carolina, especially in the east where hardwood and red cedar is scarce, was crocodile treating of fence posts. Since a bulletin on the subject was published by the department of conservation and development a few months ago, there have been seventeen plants established in the state to produce fence posts. That demand provides an outlet also for many red cedar and black locust posts.

DESTINATION—The forestry division has no way of determining the ultimate destination of the tree. The Christmas tree trade takes thousands of small cedars, with some spruce and pine, each year. Fence posts take a lot more. Pulpwood demand is continuously grow-

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York. —(P)—What to give my old man on Father's Day is no problem.

I can't give him anything. But like many men whose fathers have died, I'd like to tell him something. Just what I don't know—unless it is how much he meant to me when I was growing up, and how often I have missed him since he's gone. Not to learn on any more, just to talk things over with, or maybe take to a ball game.

My father was always big and powerful and young. He acted toward his five children more like an older brother than a parent. Until we were fully grown he could knock a baseball farther than any of his sons and outrun and outshoot us.

He was the son of an Irish immigrant who had 17 children and spent his life in the coal business—digging it. Dad ran a trapline as a boy of ten, and earned his way even after. He grew up to be like the animals he hunted in the wintry snow—simple, ungrudging, completely self-reliant and tremendously loyal to his kin and kind.

Dad hated to exercise authority over his sons, or to punish us for minor misdeeds. He thought boys had to get a few bumps in the process of learning to pit their strength against life, and he didn't think it him.

"All I want is the same chance Rockefeller had," he said. He figured if he didn't do as well then he didn't deserve to.

He hated gossip as a moral sin. Once a customer complained about his own wife in the store in the presence of a number of men, and after that my father no longer would wait on him.

"Any man who talks about his wife in public is a fool," dad said. He was the youngest-hearted man I ever knew. His only vanity was a desire to stay young. After he was 40 he went to the barber once a week and had his hair clipped short at the temples so the gray wouldn't show.

Dad worked 70 to 75 hours a week for 25 years, but he was working for himself. He always said he didn't want to live to be old. He died in 1937 at the age of 48.

We still keep his name listed in the Kansas City phone book. Death is something the living never quite accept. Thus when I call home long distance to my mother, I sometimes have the unreasoning feeling, even after the lapse of those years, that I'll hear my father's familiar voice answering: "Yes, son?"

He'll always live in more than a phone book.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Want to know how to get and keep good household help?

It's getting tougher and tougher bucking industry with its regular hour and work schedules and wage scales based on skill and experience.

The U. S. Women's Bureau gives some tips to would-be employers. First it says that efficient household planning and work simplification should be established. There is a definite relation between such management, says the bureau, and the amount and quality of the work done by employees. In estimating the time and skill required for specific tasks in the home, the employer should consider the physical structure and size of the house or apartment, the composition of the family (presence of small children, older persons, invalids), and the use of modern labor-saving devices.

The Women's Bureau suggests: "It would help the employer to achieve an efficient work plan and fair distribution of tasks among members of the family and employes if she would make it her responsibility:

1. To eliminate unnecessary labor by simplifying household routines wherever possible;
2. To teach children to respect home equipment and take care of their own toys and clothes as much as they can;
3. To use the best household machinery the family can afford;
4. To patronize professional and commercial services for such tasks as rug cleaning, laundering, window washing and the like."

The employer also should examine the length of the work week, the total and daily hours of duty. She should bear in mind the trend toward shorter hours. The specific times for beginning and ending each day's work should be clearly stated, as well as the number of daily and weekly hours of work.

"In deciding wages," the Bureau warns, "the employer should remember that she must compete with wages paid by local industry for comparable work."

In the absence of a local household employment committee, as set up in numerous communities, she may consult the state or federal employment service for information on prevailing rates. She should also follow the practice in industry of paying higher rates for more difficult jobs; for example, heavy manual work—washing walls and waxing floors—or special services such as catering, chauffeuring and fine laundering. The Women's Bureau says the initial interview with the employe should be conducted "in a business-like way: It can set the whole tone for the employer-employe relation in the household."

Dola, Ohio, is the geographical center of the nation's steel industry.

Graham Boosted For Peacemaker

Greensboro, N. C., June 17.—(P)—Dr. Frank P. Graham, University of North Carolina president, has been proposed to fill the role of peacemaker again.

The proposal, carrying no official weight, was made here last night by Rheinhold Schairer, executive secretary of the World Education Service Council.

In an address before the Carolina Institute on International Relations at Woman's College, Schairer suggested that Dr. Graham be sent to Europe for several years. There, he said, the North Carolina educator could meet a similar great humanitarian from Russia and the two could solve the differences of the present cold war.

Schairer spoke of Dr. Graham as one of the greatest living Americans who could, if given such a post, restore confidence in this country and promote peace.

Schairer said he had little faith in world government.

He termed it a futile dream and declared that reliance must be placed in the United Nations.

Strength FOR THE DAY

PONDER IT A WHILE
In his novel Les Miserables, Victor Hugo, referring to Napoleon's attempt to subdue Europe, says: "The hour had come for supreme inopportune justice to take notice. Napoleon had been denounced by the Infinite, and his downfall had been determined. He was obstructing God. Waterloo was no mere battle; it was a change of front on the part of the universe."

"No more battle" but a "change of front on the part of the universe." Here is something to ponder. God is in every human act. He is in the whole of history, but it is only at the great turning points that He becomes plainly visible to our eyes. We can see Him at Thermopylae and Tours, at the destruction of the Spanish Armada, at the rescue from the beaches of Dunkirk.

The acts of our lives are not really acts at all—they are God manifesting Himself in the world of things. History is not the story of a nation's life—it is the story of God's dealing with a multitude of people. Of this we can be sure, that when God decides against Napoleon or against any humble person who may manifest a set determination to disobey Him and flout his will, the jig is up for emperor and commoner alike.

This is some thing to think about—and seriously.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York. —(P)—What to give my old man on Father's Day is no problem.

I can't give him anything. But like many men whose fathers have died, I'd like to tell him something. Just what I don't know—unless it is how much he meant to me when I was growing up, and how often I have missed him since he's gone. Not to learn on any more, just to talk things over with, or maybe take to a ball game.

My father was always big and powerful and young. He acted toward his five children more like an older brother than a parent. Until we were fully grown he could knock a baseball farther than any of his sons and outrun and outshoot us.

He was the son of an Irish immigrant who had 17 children and spent his life in the coal business—digging it. Dad ran a trapline as a boy of ten, and earned his way even after. He grew up to be like the animals he hunted in the wintry snow—simple, ungrudging, completely self-reliant and tremendously loyal to his kin and kind.

Dad hated to exercise authority over his sons, or to punish us for minor misdeeds. He thought boys had to get a few bumps in the process of learning to pit their strength against life, and he didn't think it

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Want to know how to get and keep good household help?

It's getting tougher and tougher bucking industry with its regular hour and work schedules and wage scales based on skill and experience.

The U. S. Women's Bureau gives some tips to would-be employers. First it says that efficient household planning and work simplification should be established. There is a definite relation between such management, says the bureau, and the amount and quality of the work done by employees. In estimating the time and skill required for specific tasks in the home, the employer should consider the physical structure and size of the house or apartment, the composition of the family (presence of small children, older persons, invalids), and the use of modern labor-saving devices.

The Women's Bureau suggests: "It would help the employer to achieve an efficient work plan and fair distribution of tasks among members of the family and employes if she would make it her responsibility:

1. To eliminate unnecessary labor by simplifying household routines wherever possible;
2. To teach children to respect home equipment and take care of their own toys and clothes as much as they can;
3. To use the best household machinery the family can afford;
4. To patronize professional and commercial services for such tasks as rug cleaning, laundering, window washing and the like."

The employer also should examine the length of the work week, the total and daily hours of duty. She should bear in mind the trend toward shorter hours. The specific times for beginning and ending each day's work should be clearly stated, as well as the number of daily and weekly hours of work.

"In deciding wages," the Bureau warns, "the employer should remember that she must compete with wages paid by local industry for comparable work."

In the absence of a local household employment committee, as set up in numerous communities, she may consult the state or federal employment service for information on prevailing rates. She should also follow the practice in industry of paying higher rates for more difficult jobs; for example, heavy manual work—washing walls and waxing floors—or special services such as catering, chauffeuring and fine laundering. The Women's Bureau says the initial interview with the employe should be conducted "in a business-like way: It can set the whole tone for the employer-employe relation in the household."

Less Than Half Of N.C. Voters Cast Their Ballot

Raleigh, N. C., June 18—(AP)—North Carolina now has 1,029,313 registered Democratic voters, but less than half of them voted in the gubernatorial race during the May 29 primary.

According to figures released by the State Board of Elections yesterday, exactly 41.2 per cent of the state's registered voters in the six-man gubernatorial race.

The figures were compiled from reports received from the chairmen of local elections boards in the state's 100 counties. They were issued by Raymond Maxwell, executive secretary of the State Board of Elections.

About half of the reports, Maxwell said, were based on estimates of the county registration while the others contained the exact figure. It is the first time in many years that an accurate estimate of the state's voter registration has been compiled.

The figures showed there are 234,392 Republicans registered for the primaries, and 1,352,304 voters registered for the general elections.

The peak vote in the May 29 primaries was 423,125, cast in the gubernatorial race. The low vote was 321,255, cast in the two-man race for state auditor.

Mecklenburg county has the largest number of registered Democrats, 49,811, while Guilford has the most Republicans, 12,000.

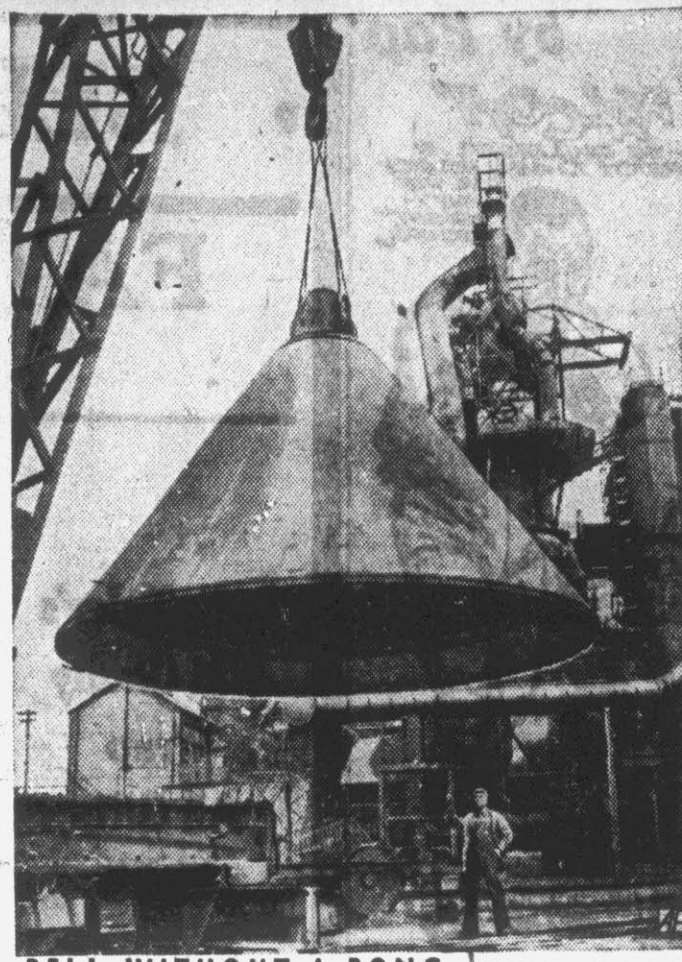

Reminds Vets Of Deadline Dates

Student veterans entitled to increased monetary benefits because they have more than one dependant are reminded by VA of two important deadline dates to be observed if they are to receive increased allowance retroactive to April 1.

One deadline affects veterans taking full-time educational courses. The other affects veterans taking part-time courses, combination school-job training courses are entitled to increased benefits due to new subsistence-earned income ceilings.

Veterans in full-time educational courses who are entitled to $120 monthly subsistence because they have more than one dependent must submit evidence of additional dependency before July 1 in order to have the higher payments retroactive to April 1.

Veterans with more than one dependent and taking part-time school training, combination courses who are affected by the increased income ceiling must submit proof of additional dependency by September 1. In most cases, veterans in this group may submit this evidence on a form which they will receive from VA.

of the bug. The aphid, which attacks tobacco plants from the underside of the leaf, cannot be poisoned by a stomach poison. An effective poison must be by contact with its body. Incidentally, the poison used to destroy them is very toxic to human beings and it must be handled with care.

Weeks told the farmers that the aphid does not lay eggs. Its babies are born in litters of from five to 50, and when the babies are one week old, they are ready for motherhood and begin to give birth to the devastating insects on the underside of the plant leaves.

Plant lice did considerable damage to the tobacco crop in Georgia. Extension service specialists from State College advise prompt use of sprayers when the pest is discovered.

Another of the problems confronting tobacco farmers is the fact that when the plants are dusted with poison it must be when the leaves are thoroughly dry. If dusted when there is moisture on the plants, the poison damages the plants. The instructions for controlling plant lice on tobacco, printed in yesterday's Reflector, are valuable, and the county agent warns that the poison used is very toxic to man. He advised prompt spraying as soon as the lice are discovered.

Seeks Break In House Schedule To Introduce Bill

Washington, June 18—(AP)—Rep. Eaton (R-N.Y.) looked for a break in the jammed House schedule today to bring up his bill designed to strengthen the United Nations and throw America's support to a western European defense organization.

Eaton, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told a reporter he has received permission from Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) to introduce the measure at the first opportunity.

But chances for such an opportunity appeared slim with the House engrossed in draft, housing and other top priority legislation.

Summer School Enrollment Is Biggest To Date

East Carolina Teachers College has this year the largest summer school enrollment in its history, according to figures released from the office of the registrar on Thursday at the close of registration for the summer session. A total of 924 students is now registered for work at the college. For the same period last year the number of students was 715.

A breakdown of this year's figures shows that 551 women and 373 men are now enrolled at East Carolina. Of these 188 are graduate students.

BUSY EATERS—Three collie pups busily dig into their plate of food unmindful of the presence of screen actor Claude Jarman, Jr. and Lassie, the movie dog.

By classes the figures are as follows: freshmen, 56; sophomores, 159; juniors, 247; and seniors, 222. Special students number 48 and those doing observation work, 4.

Robert Lee Humber Pays Tribute To Pitt County People

By CHESTER WALSH
Robert Lee Humber, who spoke at the Woman's Club Tuesday night at the meeting of representative people of Pitt County in behalf of the 230 million starving children of the war-torn countries, was very impressed by the sincerity of purpose of the more than half a hundred men and women representing every phase of the community life, he said after the meeting. He recalled that the schools, churches, fraternal, civic, literary, commercial and industrial and all other organizations again that when Pitt countians are called on for public service, they responded promptly and effectively. Mr. Humber had praise for Mrs. J. Vance Perkins of the Woman's Club, who presided, and for the Woman's Club for assembling the group for a "good neighbor" purpose.

"The Crusade for Children" is endorsed by governmental, church, educational, civic, youth and union groups. The field workers of the various agencies distribute food, render medical care, provide clothing, shelter and aid in rehabilitation of millions of people in lands still torn from the recent war. Under the United Nations Appeal for Children they have set up a "World Community Chest" to raise the necessary funds to provide food, clothing

No Birth Control In Life Plant Lice In Tobacco Fields

Locals Notch Another Win By Topping Roanoke Rapids

Greenies Take Lead In Bottom Half Of First Inning And Go On To 10-7 Victory In Free-Hitting Contest

By BERT MOYE

Manager Bill Phebus' Greenies registered their fourth straight win last night by turning back the Roanoke Rapids, 10-7 in a free-hitting game. The win for the Greenies put them in full possession of sixth place as the Bears defeated Wilson.

The Jays started things humming in the first frame when they put across three runs to go out in front. Walks to Hammack and Meyer and Herb May's 330-foot homer over the rightfield wall to clear the bases accounted for the runs.

The Greenies came back in the bottom half of the first frame to put across five runs on five hits, a walk and an error, and went out in front for keeps from then on. Lastres singled, Cohen singled, Nash singled bringing home Lastres. Riggs walked leading the bases. Cohen went home on Hammack's error and then Joe Sposa homered over right field wall to clear the bases.

Ray Phillips' single, walks to Cohen and Nash and Larry Riggs' triple gave the Greenies two more runs in the second frame.

The Jays scored two runs in the fifth frame on three walks, a single and a double, and added singletons in the seventh and eighth for the final two runs.

A run in the seventh provided the Greenies with the necessary margin of victory. Ray Phillips doubled into centerfield and Bob Cohen singled to right. Wiley Nash's single to left sent Phillips home.

The Greenies added two more runs for good measure in the eighth frame when Sposa and Carter walked, Lastres doubled to bring in Sposa. Phillips reached first on May's error at third to load the bases, and then Bob Cohen lifted a long fly deep right field with Carter scoring on the out.

Kenneth Brooks started on the mound for the Greenies and received credit for the win, his fifth of the season as against four losses and his second over the Jays this season. Brooks ran into trouble in the fifth frame when he loaded the bases and Junior Yohn came to his rescue and pitched five-hit ball in the last five frames for a great relief role. Herb May with a homer, double and a single, and Hammack with a double and two singles led the 12-hit attack off the two Greenie hurlers.

Lastres, Phillips, Cohen, and Nash with two hits each led the eleven hit attack off the three Jay hurlers.

Ted Williams And Boudreau Keep Top Poll Spots

Chicago, June 18—(AP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Lou Boudreau of Cleveland maintained their one-two position as individual vote getters in the major league All-Star baseball poll today, but there was a new man in third spot, Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The balloting, which is being conducted by 448 newspapers, magazines and radio stations, will decide the starting lineups for the 15th annual All-Star game in St. Louis July 13.

Musial took over third place in the latest tabulation with 4,419 votes, 129 more than Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankee slugger, who was the poll's individual leader last year.

Williams led the parade with 4,793 ballots, followed by Boudreau, who has 4,622 votes.

Americans Fill London Tourney

London, June 18—(AP)—The United States filled all the women's semifinals brackets and half the men's today in the London tennis championships, the last big test before next week's Wimbledon Classic.

Welterweights Meet On Monday

Chicago, June 18—(AP)—The battle for the world's welterweight championship must hang in the balance until next Monday night.

The bout between Ray "Sugar" Robinson, 147 pound titleholder, and his challenger, Bernie Docusen, the swiftly from New Orleans, was put over until Monday because of a drizzling rain and heavy overcast last night. They were to have met in a 15-round title bout in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox. The White Sox are using their ball park for the next three days, with Monday being the first vacant day.

The fledgling champion today was irritable over the enforced postponement and was considering making demands for $2,000 additional expense money.

Robinson must continue hard training because of the need for making the required 147 pounds a second time. He just managed to make the weight yesterday, tipping the beam at exactly 147. He was so fearful that he might be an ounce overweight that he stripped to nakedness, even taking off his shoes, before stepping onto the scales. Docusen scaled 145 1-2 pounds.

The 21 year old New Orleans lad was so satisfied with his condition that he decided to take the day off. However, he will sharpen up his boxing in the gymnasium tomorrow and Sunday.

Learned Defense With Hands Tied

(AP) Newsfeature

Seattle—Remember the schoolboy bully who boasted he could whip you with one hand tied behind him? Seattle welterweight, ready to call 'em, had Buford Ransom, young his bluff and go him one better—Buford learned to box with both hands tied.

Frisco McGale, Ransom's manager, came up with the idea when his boy waded into every opponent swinging for a knockout—and paying no attention to defense.

Stretching a short length of clothesline rope from each of Buford's wrists to his arms, McGale trussed Buford so he couldn't hit. But the Negro schoolboy still had freedom enough in his arms to ward off blows. Frisco tossed him into the practice ring against the best boxers available and told them to shoot the works.

"These days" Frisco grins, "Buford is a hard boy to hit."

The record bears him out. Buford posted 12 knockout victories in his first 15 fights and was shaded only once.

Athletics Sign Son Of Coach

Philadelphia, June 17—(AP)—Earl Brucker, Jr., 21-year-old catcher, son of the Philadelphia Athletics' battery coach, received $30,000 for signing a contract presented by Connie Mack.

The Athletics announced yesterday the slugging catcher from San Diego State College received the largest bonus ever paid a rookie by the Philadelphia American League club.

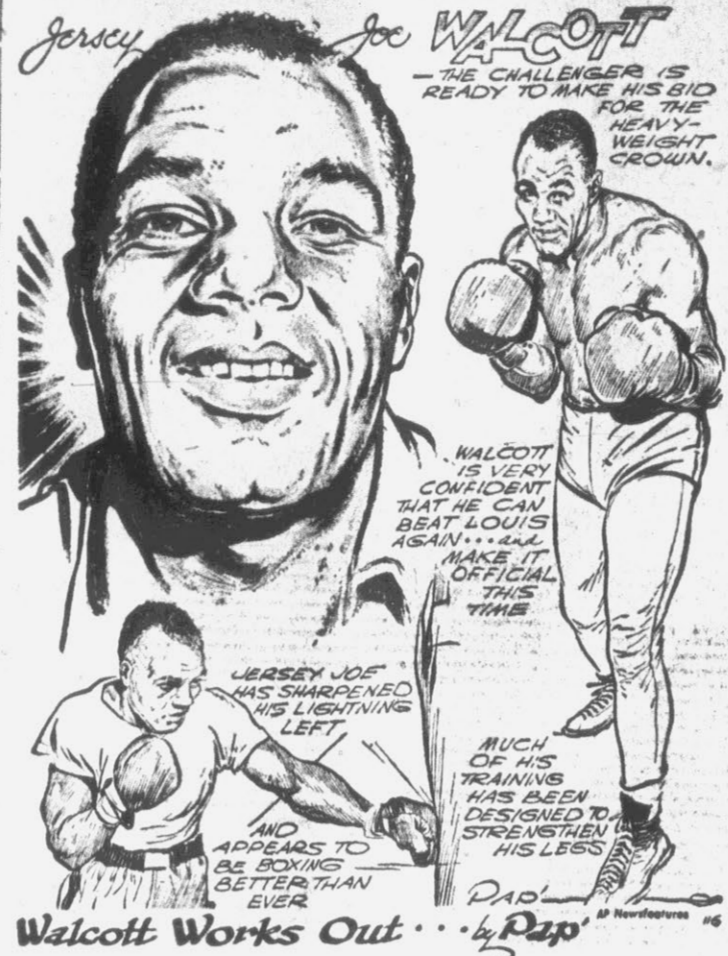

Bill said he had been told that rumors were circulating concerning his having money bet on the game. He laughs at that, but says the fans have a right to their own opinion. As for an investigation by Ray Gooden, loop prey, Bill says there is nothing to investigate.

"Sutt knew he was to work the full distance before the game started," Herring said. "He did his job, although it was far from impressive. That's that."

BOY'S LEAGUE Schoolboy Sets Pitching Record

By DEL BOOTH AP Newsfeature

St. George, S. C.—Pistol Pete Pate's 184 strikeouts in 81 innings this season make him one of the best professional baseball prospects on record, his coach believes.

Pate, who will be 18 in August but still has two years of high school left, is a calm, almost phlegmatic lefthander who has shot that third strike past batters with annoying regularity.

His best strikeout record is 25 in a nine-inning game. His lowest is 13 in a five-inning game halted by rain.

In the 10 games he has pitched this year, he has given up but 23 hits but only one earned run.

Five feet 10 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds, Pate uses a speed ball most of the time. His control is phenomenal, Coach Felix Neal insists.

His hitting is as good as his pitching. He has a .470 average. In one game he rapped out a single, three doubles and a triple, driving home six runs.

Wedel Signs Up With Cardinals

Chicago, June 18—(AP)—Richard Wedel, Wake Forest College guard who was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League for the 1948 season, has signed his contract, Ray Bennigen, president of the Cardinals, announced today. Wedel's home is in Port Pierce, Fla.

'Big Four' Of Pro Tennis Will Meet In Finals

Forest Hills, N. Y., June 18—(AP)—Professional tennis "Big Four"—Bobby Riggs, Jack Kramer, Don Budge and Frank Kovacs—will fight it out in the semi-finals of the National Professional Tennis championships.

Fulfilling the confidence of the tournament committee, these top-ranked performers came through quarter-final tests and set the stage for this lineup Saturday.

Defending Champion Riggs, No. 1, of Altadena, Calif., vs. Frank Kovacs, No. 4, of Oakland, Calif.

Jack Kramer, No. 2, of Los Angeles, vs. Don Budge, No. 3, of Hollywood.

Growing Suspicion That Louis Is In For Surprise

Greenloch, N. J., June 18—(AP)—There is a growing suspicion in this converted amusement park where Walcott trains that heavyweight champion Joe Louis is going to be in the surprise of his life Wednesday night in the Yankee Stadium.

"The training that's going on here don't mean a thing," warned Charlie Sheppard, the Baltimore fighter who twice fought Walcott, and now spars with Jersey Joe. "He may come in there with something entirely different," he said yesterday after working hours. "You saw him working with his left hook. He can hit you with both hands. I know that he's much better than he was when I fought him in 1939 and 1946. He didn't move around like that before. Man, his legs really are in shape."

"I pick Walcott to stop Louis in eight rounds," he added. "And I have been in there with both of them. Walcott beat me in 10 rounds at the old Rockland Palace in Harlem nine years ago when I had a $1000 payday. He knocked me out with seconds to go in the east and tenth in Baltimore two years ago. I sparred with Louis when he was getting ready for Johnny Paycheck in 1940."

Walcott himself rates Sheppard as one of the hardest punchers he has seen.

Chris Dundee, well-known fight manager, goes along with Sheppard, picking Walcott to floor Louis five or six times and stop him.

Bill Daly, manager of Lee Savold, Pat Comiskey and other top flight crappers, also likes Jersey Joe to win by a knockout. It's really quite amazing the amount of support you'll find among the fight mob's insiders who like Walcott's chances.

Latest quotations from the bookmakers say that Louis is a strong favorite. Right now the Bomber is 5 to 13 to retain his crown in his 15th defense. It figures to shrink around 1 to 2 or lower before fight time.

Budge Says Open Tennis Tournaments Still For Future

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Forest Hills, N. Y., June 18—(AP)—Open tennis tournaments are on the way—three years off, maybe five—says Don Budge, but first the professionals must get their house in order.

"We can't blame the amateur groups for our not having open tournaments," the Hollywood, Calif., redhead said. "The fault lies with the pros."

"We'll never get anywhere until we have an organization like the Professional Golfers Association," Budge, competing in the National Pro championships at the West Side Tennis Club, added he was sure the sport's governing fathers would recognize the mercenaries if they set up a body with some prestige.

"Right now," he said "we're so helter skelter."

Budge, formerly the world's greatest amateur, predicted Britain would be the first to hold an open championship, with pros allowed to mix with the simon-pures.

"Their tennis over there has reached such a state they must do something progressive," he said.

England's tennis chieftains recently relented and gave the pros permission to perform on the famous Wimbledon Courts, hitherto unassailed by a professional drop shot.

It was the first noticeable break in the amateur tennis bodies' long-standing snub of the money players.

The pro netters' only profitable venture today is the barnstorming exhibition tour between the top performers which, Budge said, "only helps a couple of guys."

However, the money group now grabs off the world's best amateurs at their peak—Jack Kramer, as an example—and has a hold on the cream of existing talent.

Crows Try Out On Hudson For Tuesday Races

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 18—(AP)—All eleven colleges entered in the Poughkeepsie Regatta were on the scene today, testing their oars in the Hudson river for next Tuesday's races.

Wisconsin, the last arrival, set up head starts yesterday and immediately got down to training.

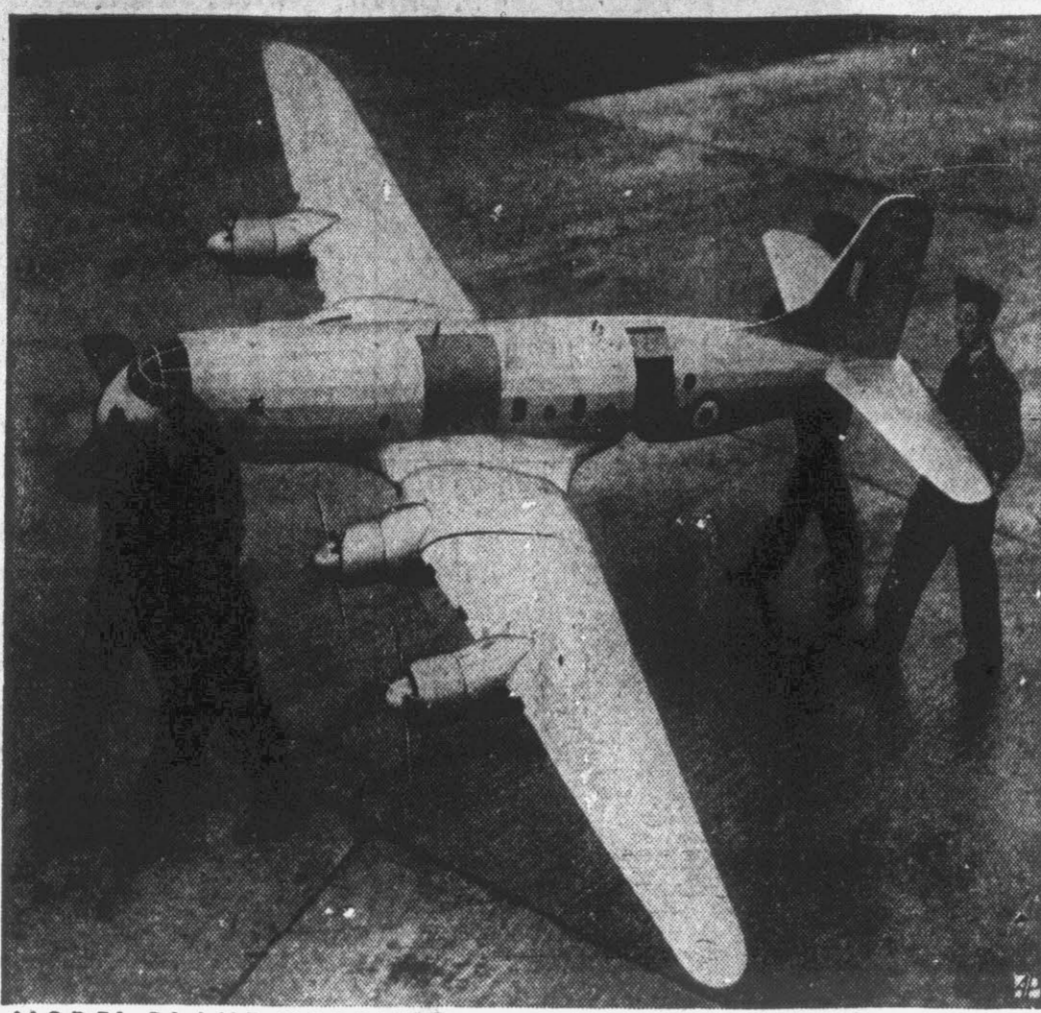

Coch Norman Sonju announced a lineup would be the same that owed against California in Madison

Monday.

Navy's varsity is defending champion and one of the favorites in this year's three-mile test.

Well-liked crews are Washington and California, from the west coast, and Cornell, the 1947 runnerup.

Other college crews on the scene are University of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Columbia, Rutgers and Syracuse.

Jockeys Skipped Six Races After Track Accidents

Charlestown, W. Va., June 18—(AP)—Jockeys at the Charles Town race track decided two accidents in the same spot were one too many, and skipped the last six races on yesterday's card.

Shoot First crashed into a fence on the water-logged track Wednesday, broke a leg and had to be shot.

Jockey Clarence Wright flew through the air but was uninjured.

But when Rendova was banged up against the fence in the second race yesterday spraining Jockey Ed Kratz's ankle, the riders decided they had had enough racing for the time being.

A. J. Boyle, president of the Charles Town Jockey Club, said tractorists had gone to work on the mire and that racing would be safe today.

Throng Attends Formal Opening Motor Company

By CHESTER WALSH

More than 1,000 persons from here and other parts of the county attended the formal opening and reception of the Wagner-Marshburn Motor Company at its showrooms on Dickinson Avenue and the intersection of the Farmville and Winterville highways last night.

The new Lincoln and Mercury cars were elaborately displayed. The modern, brightly illuminated and decorated with flowers and music and refreshments were served. The program was broadcast over WGIC with Charles Whedbee as master of ceremonies. Mayor Jack Boyd and other citizens felicitated the members of the firm on their enterprise in presenting the Lincoln and Mercury automobiles.

Ty Wagner, president; Mrs. Rosamond F. Wagner and Mrs. Ione H. Marshburn, vice-presidents, and Col. Owen Marshburn, secretary and treasurer, and others connected with the company, welcomed the guests. At the conclusion of the formal opening and reception, the members of the firm were hosts at a steak supper at Proctor Hotel to out-of-town guests and a few local friends.

Out-of-town guests included Major H. M. Cunningham, district manager for the Lincoln-Mercury Division, Washington, D. C., and his wife; Jerry Horine and Alex Marinoff, also of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Marshall and Mr. Stripes, Lincoln-Mercury dealers of Goldsboro; McClegg and Mr. Petree, Lincoln-Mercury dealers of Rocky Mount; Mrs. Charles Umstead of Rocky Mount and Earl O. Umstead of Raleigh and O. Milton Marshburn of Rocky Mount; Col. John G. Tyndall and wife of Washington, N. C., and others.

Stymie Ahead Of Money-Making Pace For 1947

New York, June 18—(AP)—Don't feel too sorry for poor old Stymie, the world's champion money-winning horse. Although he hasn't been burning up the race tracks this season, he's still ahead of his 1947 pace when he banked $299,775.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' 7-year-old chestnut campaigner, weighted down with 132 pounds, was second yesterday when Maine Chance Farm's Knockdown, totting only 113 captured the Queens County Handicap at Aqueduct.

Three lengths back of Knockdown, Stymie missed the winner's pot of $15,025, but salted away another $4,000 and hoisted his all-time earnings to $863,635.

Stymie has been to the post seven times this year and has been in the money six times, with two victories, three seconds, and one third.

Know Your Golf Shots

By HERMAN BARRON
Written Especially for (AP)
Newsfeatures

The spoon or No. 4 wood is about the easiest club to use. That's because the clubface is lofted and gives the ball a better rise.

The average golfer usually hits a No. 4 wood shot well because the club head is small and the shaft is shorter than the other woods.

In using the No. 4 wood the ball is moved slightly backward between the left heel and the center of the feet. Everything else is the same as in the tee shot except that you're not playing the ball off your left heel.

The clubhead should rest naturally on the ground so that the face of the club remains absolutely square. This will help you to hit the ball straight. The No. 4 wood may be used in the rough as well as on the fairway.

The spoon is often preferred over the brassie or No. 2 wood because it is the shorter of the two clubs and brings you closer to the ball. And it is much easier to hit the ball into the air. This in itself is one reason why the average golfer has much more confidence with a 4 wood.

The square stance is recommended in the spoon shot. Be sure to take a full turn of the hips and shoulders on your backswing and concentrate on a complete follow through with the head remaining still throughout the entire swing.

The oldest sport in the United States is lacrosse, played by the Indians as far back as the 17th century.

L. M. Cullipher Joins U.S. Marine Corps

Leslie M. Cullipher, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cullipher of Rt. 4, Greenville, enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps, June 16, for a period of three years. Leslie will take his basic training at Parris Island, S. C. Upon completion of his training he will normally be promoted to Private First Class, and given ten days' leave, then report back to Parris Island for assignment to a regular outfit. He hopes it will be aviation.

A PREDICTION about your next car

Your next car will be a dream to drive. Every wheel will be cushioned on soft coil springs. The engine will barely whisper—and you won't hear rattles and squeaks—because your car of tomorrow will have a welded frame and body.

We know these are features planned for all future automobiles—

But all of them are embodied in a Nash "600" today. And so important have they proved to Nash owners, every new car buyer will demand them soon.

Forty-Seven Attending Resource-Use Program

The Resource-use now being conducted at East Carolina Teachers College as part of the state program in resource-use education is being attended by forty-seven men and women, mostly teachers and principals from this section of the state. According to participants, progress is being made in the discussion of community projects and the formulation of plans for practical application of resource-use through the public schools.

The first unit of work, given under the direction of E. O. Hollar of the college faculty, deals with the social studies as applied to resource use. Dr. Harold Jones of the science department will direct a two weeks' course in science education beginning June 23, and Dr. N. M. Jergesen of the faculty will conclude the program with a unit on health and physical education.

A series of talks by off-campus speakers has been included in the program of the first two weeks of the workshop. Among those who have appeared on the program are J. Herbert Waldrop, Greenville banker, Wyatt Highsmith of the Pitt County Farm Agent's Office; K. T. Futrell, Pitt County Welfare officer; Tom Grier of the State Welfare office, Raleigh; the Rev. J. A. Nelson of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Greenville; Judge J. W. H. Roberts of the Greenville city court; and Mrs. J. E. Spilman of the State Unemployment Service, Greenville.

During next week Dr. P. W. Picklesimer of the college faculty will discuss the tobacco industry in eastern North Carolina, and D. H. Conley Pitt County Superintendent of schools, will talk on the role of the school in resource-use education.

A number of those enrolled in the workshop are participating in a contest sponsored by the Sloan Foundation which offers prizes from $500 to $100. Contestants will submit projects for publication and present studies in resource-use education from the first through the twelfth grade levels.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18—(AP)—Murray Becker, chief photographer of the Associated Press, today won the $500 first prize in the National Press Photographers Association contest, for his members entitled, "The Best Pictures of My Life."

Becker took top honors with one of his shots of the burning of the dirigible, Hindenberg at Lakehurst, N. J., May 6, 1937.

A $250 second place prize went to Russell Scott of the Flint (Mich.) Journal for a human interest picture showing a dog sitting beside the body of a dead dog in a snowstorm.

The third place $100 award was given to Joe Costa who pictured a jailer beating being flogged by a jailer in a Baltimore, Md., jail as punishment for his act.

date to solve the Korean problem. This may be completely unwarranted as it overlooks the fact that America's policy in Korea is only part of a general policy of holding the line against Russian Communist expansion, and that this is largely the result of Russia's refusal to cooperate—on any terms but her own—in Korea and many other places. It ignores the fact that this American policy is a bipartisan affair, and that no matter who wins the election it is unlikely to change fundamentally unless or until the main reason for it changes. That reason is Russia, not Korea.

This assumption by Koreans may be more than wrong. It may be very dangerous. Until now the moderates in the opposition to Rhee have been able to persuade the extremists that action now would only make things worse, probably prolonging the occupation and delaying independence.

More recently even the moderates have been persuaded that after the American election the time for action will have arrived. Word from Korea is that large scale demonstrations are planned in the South for that time—for national unity, independence, and an end to the occupation.

No doubt the Communists favor these plans because any chance for violence improves their own prospects of taking over the whole country.

The moderates appear to think a big blow-off would convince any post election American Administration, that America should get out of Korea and abandon Dr. Rhee's government.

Jap Coal Mine Blast Kills 61

Tokyo, June 18—(AP)—Sixty-one Japanese miners were killed or missing in a northern Kyushu coal mine explosion today, the newspaper Asahi reported.

Asahi said 55 bodies were recovered.

Eight miners survived the gas explosion in the Mitsubishi coal mine at Umimachi, several miles east of Fukuoka. Kyodo news agency reported the blast occurred at a depth of 2,000 meters.

Chinese Flood Is Major Disaster

Canton, China, June 18—(AP)—Three hundred persons were reported dead and thousands homeless today as flood water inundated Fashan county, about 70 miles southwest of here.

The reports were not confirmed. The rain-swollen East, North and West rivers in South China also overflowed and flooded vast farming areas.

Sixty persons were reported drowned in the East river when three junks struck rocks and sank.

Former Greenville Man Died Tennessee

Victor M. Davis, who died suddenly at his home in Knoxville, Tenn., on May 30, lived in Greenville many years ago and was well known in educational and religious circles. He was president of the University of Tennessee for 22 years. He was executive secretary of the University of Tennessee Alumni Association and director of the University Bureau of Personnel. He was a native of Millington, Tenn. and a veteran of World War I.

Halt Exports of Steel To Arabia For Pipelines

Washington, June 18-(AP)—Senator Wherry (R-Neb) said today the government has decided to hold up shipments of steel for construction of an oil pipeline across the Arabian desert.

Wherry told reporters three cabinet officials have assured him that no new exports will be approved at least until the second week of September.

Wherry is chairman of the Senate Small Business committee. That group has received complaints that American business men have been unable to get needed steel pipe while shipments were going abroad.

Postoffice Wants Bids On Vehicles

J. Knott Proctor, postmaster of Greenville, N. C., will receive proposals until 4 p.m., June 23, for the hire of vehicles with closed bodies (screen, panel, etc.), without drivers on an annual basis, for use in collecting, delivering and relaying mail, and for special delivery service during the year beginning July 1, 1948. Two passenger cars or small trucks will be needed and they must have 50 cubic feet of space back of the driver's seat. The vehicles will be used 5 1/2 hours on week days, but not on Sunday or holidays. The owner of the vehicles will be required to equip them with adequate locking devices; keep them in satisfactory condition at all times; and bear all necessary expense in connection with the operation and maintenance of them. Proposal blanks may be obtained from the postmaster.

Plans are under way for extending the delivery of mail to the suburb recently taken into the corporate limits.

Negro Farmer Dies Of Heart Attack In Potato Field

Joe Daniel, 60-year-old Negro farmer on the Clarence Whitehurst farm, three miles east of Ayden, suffered a heart attack while digging potatoes in a field about 9:30 a.m.

yesterday and died before a physician arrived.

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said Daniel had suffered with a heart ailment for several years; that in the field yesterday he and Dallas and Ed Worthington, his wife's sons by a former marriage, were digging potatoes when he was stricken. Death resulted from natural causes. There will be no inquest, the coroner said.

Scott Supports Retroactive Pay

Raleigh, N. C., June 18—(AP)—Gov. Scott promised yesterday that if he is elected governor he will "urge" retroactive pay for teachers and other underpaid state employees.

The former agricultural commissioner made the declaration in a statement released yesterday while attending a conference on the teacher shortage held at Meredith college.

After leaving the conference, Scott traveled to Gatesville, where he addressed a rally at the Gates county courthouse.

Scott said in his statement that "some time ago, I recommended the calling of a special session of the general assembly to meet this crisis. I do not know whether the governor will call it or not, but there is something I wish to say to you as a man who aspires to be governor. . . . I pledge you that if the special session is not held, I as governor, shall urge upon the general assembly of 1949 prompt retroactive adjustment of pay for teachers and other underpaid state employees."

Political . . .

most no lightning.

I never saw Dewey there and I never saw more than a handful of people wandering in to look around. There wasn't much to see except a couple of Dewey workers scribbling away at a table in the corner.

After looking at that a couple of days and nights, I went up to Dewey's real headquarters on an upper floor and found one of his most trusted right-hand men there, alone, in his shirt sleeves.

I tried to needle him. I said, "you fellows had better wake up Bricker is downstairs shaking hands with everybody in Chicago."

The Dewey man laughed.

I said, "Bricker is talking to a lot of people."

"Let him," the Dewey man said. "We've already done our talking with the people who are going to give us the votes."

And he was right, although Bricker wasn't convinced for a couple days more. Then, for the first time, he went into the convention hall and faced the crowd.

But he only went there to announce he was stepping aside in favor of Dewey.

Yet the crowd screamed and roared for fifteen minutes before he could say a word. If you'd been listening to it over a radio, you'd think they were nominating Bricker.

Then, when they quieted down and Bricker finished his talk, they nominated Dewey.

Same noise. Same whistling, same parades.

Delayed-Action . . .

pass another bill upholding the President's view.

That done, men 18 through 30 would be required to register with local draft boards. As many of those 19 through 25 as needed would be inducted for a single year's active duty.

It was during bitter—sometimes screaming debate—over the hold-off-until-next-year amendment that the House heard Marshall's warning.

It was relayed by white-haired Rep. Eaton (R-NJ), chairman of the Foreign Affairs committee which heard the Secretary of State review the world situation at a locked-door meeting earlier in the day.

Johnson Assails . . .

state money as it should have done, Johnson remarked. "If I had done what he (Scott) suggested, I would be running from the sheriff tonight instead of for governor."

"I'm going to talk about his record and tell the truth," Johnson asserted and then referred to the large tobacco crop of 1939 and Scott's effort to form co-ops. "When they wouldn't let him form the co-ops, he made his famous statement, 'go home and let the tobacco farmers squirm,' and I dub him Squirm Scott," Johnson continued, "and Scott can squirm most any way he wants to go."

Commenting on machine politics in the state, Johnson remarked, "If any man has benefitted by a machine it is my opponent. This gentleman rode into office on M. Hoey's coat-tail and admitted it several years ago. If I had been running with any machine I never would have carried every county in the state in 1944."

The candidate suggested that the state make some provisions by which it would help build schools in the various counties. At the present time the state supplies no money for the construction of school buildings. "By the end of the year we are going to have a 75 million dollar surplus in our current funds, and it's got to be handed back to the people," he said.

Along the same lines, Johnson called for a better health program in the public schools, especially in the poorer counties.

After Johnson finished speaking Gene Simmons, young businessman of Tarboro, made a short talk in behalf of the main speaker.

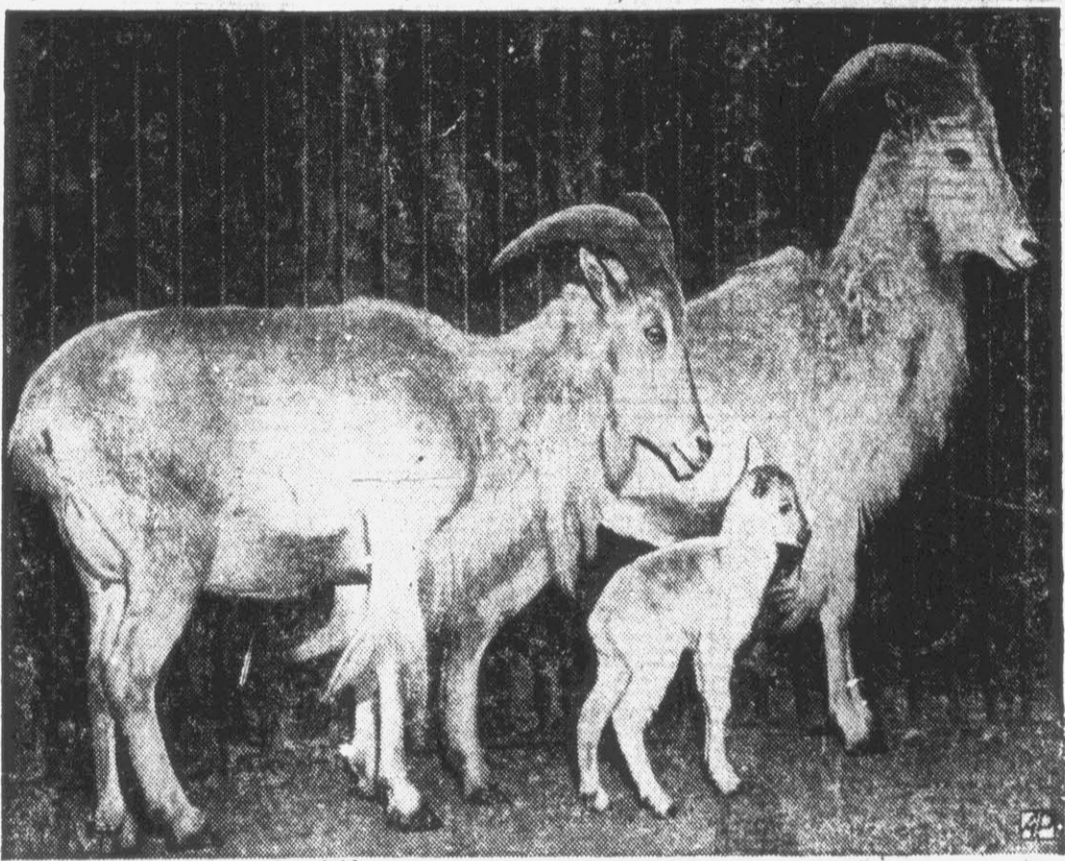

Pitt Counties On Nationwide Hookup

Two Pitt county farmers and one farm woman will appear on the Mutual Broadcasting System's program, "RFD America," in a nationwide hookup Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock (Eastern Daylight Saving Time). They are Hilton P. Carson and Richard Barnhill of Stokes and Mrs. Dorothy Moye of Farmville. These contestants for prizes on the program will be guests of "RFD America" during their three-day stay in Chicago. The three North Carolinians will compete against the master farmer of the previous week.

'Final Speech'

Philadelphia, June 18—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen, in what he described as his final campaign speech for the Republican Presidential nomination, today called on the party to break down "the machine line of reactionary thinking."

In an address prepared for a meeting of the union league, Stassen urged the GOP to take a middle course between socialism and "the pernicious theory that allows human selfishness to go unbridled."

Police Cleared Up Series Robberies With Two Arrests

In Police Court today Judge J. W. H. Roberts found probable cause in three cases charging Robert Crandall Ward, 17-year-old white youth, with breaking, entering and larceny, and bound him over to Superior Court. The court convicted Dave Harden Satterfield, 34, white, on three warrants charging him with receiving stolen property. He gave notice of appeal.

Ward was charged with the larceny of two pistols from Gordon Chesson's home; a rifle from Jake Stauffer's home, and a rifle from Chesson's home. Police said Ward sold the loot to Satterfield.

CONTRACTOR PRAISES RETONGA FOR RELIEF

Suffered Distress From Nervous Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Constipation. Has Regained 10 Pounds And Is Now On Job Every Day. Tells of His Case.

"Within one week after I started using Retonga I began to feel better," gladly states Mr. Charlie Beazley, widely-known contractor and paper hanger of 2011 9th Ave. North, Nashville, Tenn. A member of the Church of Christ, Mr. Beazley has been working in and around Nashville for over 50 years. He gratefully discusses his own case:

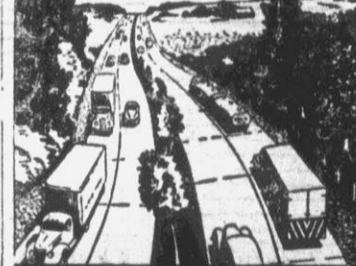

"I felt so weakened and run-down that I could hardly get up on a ladder to do my work. I couldn't seem to regain any of my lost weight or strength because I had little or no desire for food. I would suffer tormenting distress from nervous indigestion. I had to use one harsh laxative after another to get relief from sluggish elimination, and the least disturbance would upset me and put me on edge.

"The relief that Retonga brought me proved that it does more than is claimed for it. My appetite came back and I now enjoy every meal, sleep restfully the whole night, have regained much of my strength and 10 pounds of my lost weight. I am on the job every day and can climb a ladder like a piper many years younger than myself. Retonga brought me the only real relief I ever had and I put it in a class by itself."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. If the first bottle fails to give you gratifying relief, your money will be refunded. You can get Retonga at Bissette's Drug Store.—Adv.

Better Highways are built with

Money-saving CONCRETE

Concrete has the strength and stamina to carry heavy truck traffic and it is ideal for fast-moving passenger cars. It is skid resistant, drains quickly, improves visibility and cuts driving costs by saving on gas, tires and repairs. Concrete has the durability to keep traffic rolling without pavement shutdowns for repairs.

Concrete offers all these advantages at low annual cost. Its first cost is usually less than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity, its maintenance is less, and its life is longer.
