Truman Backers Say Eisenhower Out Of Picture

Philadelphia, July 8—(AP)—President Truman's aides counted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower definitely and finally out of the Democratic presidential race today.

They did this, a Truman spokesman told a reporter, after receiving private assurances from two close personal friends of the general.

The word they took to the White House was that Eisenhower himself believes he left no loophole for draft movement in his statement that he couldn't take any party nomination.

The wartime European commander gave some public support to the view when he told a crowd of 5,000 gathered before his New York City home last night to chant "We want Ike" that "all I have to say I said in a letter the other night."

This was the statement in which the Columbia University president declared he "could not accept nomination for any public office."

Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath put the "definite and final" label on Eisenhower's draft renunciation at a news conference here yesterday, adding:

"I couldn't conceive that the Democratic convention would exercise such poor judgment as not to take General Eisenhower at his word."

There was evidence, however, that some Democrats were, and some weren't.

Out of the Deep South with its rebellion against Mr. Truman's civil rights program, came word from Senator Lister Hill of Alabama that he is not giving up on Eisenhower. Alabama, first on the roll call that could make it possible for Eisenhower's name to be the first offered to the convention.

Hill, who voted for the military draft, said that Eisenhower "can't escape a draft any more than the nation's youth.

"If we have to draft our youth," Hill said, "we can draft their commander-in-chief."

Former Gov. Chauncey Sparks said, on the other hand, that while he doesn't think Alabama or the South is for Truman, he thinks the President's nomination is a cinch.

But Queens Democratic Leader James A. Roe announced he will offer the convention a resolution asking that Mr. Truman step aside. He said he also plans to place Eisenhower's name in nomination.

Truman Appoints Envoy To Egypt

Washington, July 8— (AP)—President Truman today appointed Stanton Griffis, now Ambassador to Poland, as Ambassador to Egypt.

He named Waldemar J. Gallman of New York, a career diplomat, to be Ambassador to Poland, succeeding Griffis.

Two Of Seven Young Escaped Convicts Said Still At Large

Raleigh, July 8—(AP)—Two of seven youthful prisoners who escaped fom the Stanly County prison camp Tuesday were still at large today, prison officials reported.

The seven fled from a rock quarry at noon Tuesday, but five were recaptured yesterday on a dirt road five miles from the camp, the prison officials said.

Those still at large were listed as Howard Carlton Branch, 19, who was sentenced in Alamance county to 23 months for trespassing, carrying a concealed weapon and impersonating an officer, and Frank Jones, who was sentenced in Buncombe county to 10 years for breaking and entering.

Palestine War Resumes With Egyptian Offensive Reported

Cairo, July 8 —(AP)— Israel's high command announced today that Egyptian forces opened an offensive south of Tel Aviv in the waning hours of the Palestine truce.

Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, said at Rhodes that the Arabs rejected his plea to extend the four-week truce, although the Jews had accepted the proposal.

Renewed Arab-Jewish war on a full scale was expected tomorrow. The Jewish high command said the Egyptians already were throwing air, artillery and armored car attacks at Beer Tuvia, 23 miles south of the Jewish capital.

"The war is on," a Jewish spokesman said.

Bernadotte announced that the Arabs apparently turned down even a three-day extension, but "all necessary steps are being taken immediately for safe evacuation of United Nations observers, personnel and their equipment."

The United States, France and Belgium each have 21 military observers in the Holy Land, supervised by a small staff of Swedish officers. In addition the United Nations recently sent about 50 armed guards to aid in the truce job along with communications and staff personnel.

The U.S. naval carrier Palau arrived at Haifa to evacuate the U.N staff. The U.S. naval tanksihp Marquette is in Haifa Bay to remove personnel and equipment. Three American destroyers, the Putnam, the Henley and the Owen, are standing by at Haifa, subject to U.N. orders.

Bernadotte asked both Jews and Arabs to withhold military action until the end of the U.N. evacuation operations.

The four-week Palestine truce has less than 24 hours to go. Both sides were known to be preparing to resume fighting.

There was no indication in the Tel Aviv announcement whether the alleged attack was on a large scale or was another of the periodic clashes such as have marked the cease-fire.

The Israel communique said the Egyptians were attacking in the direction of Isdud, where an Egyptian spearhead was trapped temporarily before the armistice.

Tel Aviv dispatches said air raid sirens sounded in the Jewish capital shortly after noon, but there were no immediate signs of hostile planes

Will Pay Tribute To Demo 'Giants'

Memory Of Bryan, Wilson, FDR And Daniels To Be Honored

Piladelphia, July 8—(AP)—Democratic leaders pay tribute here next week to four of the party's "giants."

The quadrennial memorial service was begun in 1932 in honor of William Jennings Bryan, Representative from Nebraska and author of the famed "Cross of Gold" speech at a historic convention of the party.

It has been a part of each convention gathering since then.

Now three new names have been added for the event to be held Monday morning.

Joined with Bryan are former Presidents Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Josephus Daniels, confidante of both.

Convention delegations from the home states of the four men—Nebraska, New Jersey, New York and North Carolina—each will select an eulogy speaker.

"But we won't limit it to those speeches, it will be a free talkfest and get together," said Attorney Michael Francis Doyle of Philadelphia, co-chairman of the program.

Daniels helped promote the first memorial breakfast at the Chicago convention 16 years ago.

The breakfasting Democrats that year had a lot in common besides their mutual admiration for the silver-tongued orator from Nebraska.

They were all out for the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt and bucking the Al Smith forces at the Democratic convention.

Doyle, who also helped plan the breakfast at the Palmer House during the 1932 convention, explained today "We represented then, and still do, the progressive democracy spirit of the party. We were against the old reactionary spirit typified by the city politicians. You could call us crusaders, but in no way 'left wingers.' "

APPEAL TO UN

Lake Success, July 8—(AP)—Israel appealed to the United Nations today for emergency action to prevent a renewal of the Palestine war.

The Israeli government told U.N Secretary-General Trygve Lie that Egyptian forces had launched an offensive this morning and said a battle was now raging in south Palestine.

Missing General

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—in full uniform as general of the armies and in wax—was missing today from his accustomed niche in the steel pier museum.

The life-size wax figure disappeared during Tuesday morning's fire on the pier. Some youngsters had been seen in the area with stenciled "we want Ike" signs on their polo shirts.

Police wondered if the "General" would show up at Philadelphia Monday.

Sokol Congress Faces Red Probe

Czech Govm't Orders Inquiry After Slight Of Gottwald

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 8—(AP)—The Czechoslovak government will investigate a Sokol Congress that evidenced public enthusiasm for former President Eduard Benes and apathy for his Communist successor, Klement Gottwald.

Paraders at the Slet, or Congress of the Cultural and Athletic Sokol Society, Tuesday cheered for Benes and passed Gottwald in silence.

The Prague radio said yesterday ministers had been ordered to report on "results of the Slet" at the next meeting of the Communist-led cabinet.

"The question of future participation of Foreign delegations in the Slet will be studied," the broadcast said.

Yugoslav, Russian, Polish, Triestine and Bulgarian groups marched in Tuesday's parade, which also produced cheers for Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, lately criticized by the Cominform. American Czechs waved the stars and stripes.

Another government move signaled the start of a purge of Czechoslovakia's army. The army's education director, Gen. J. Prochazka, wrote in the Communist newspaper Rude Pravo that political instruction was beginning in the military establishment.

New officers will be accepted, he said, on "people's Democratic (Communist) principles," and "he who has no positive attitude toward the people cannot serve as a Commander." Workers and peasants will be put in military schools regardless of education.

Polio Total Still Continues Climb

Twenty-Nine More Cases Added Today; Count To Date Is 437

Raleigh, July 8—(AP)—Twenty-nine more cases of infantile paralysis were added to the state's growing total by the State Board of Health today.

The new cases brought the total for the year to 437 cases.

Included in the reports received today were seven June cases and 22 that were diagnosed in July. These made the total for June 265 and the total for July 46.

Five of the cases today were reported by Guilford county which also reported five cases yesterday. Guilford is one of four counties which have been designated as epidemic areas by the Board of Health.

Burke, another of the epidemic counties, reported one case today, and the other two, Moore and Cumberland reported no new cases.

Other counties reporting cases today were: Catawba three; Buncombe, Durham, Lee, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Surry, and Wilkes, two each; and Alexander, Chatham, Cleveland and Iredell, one each.

So far this year, Guilford has reported 74 cases, Burke 40, Moore 33, Mecklenburg 23, Gaston 20, and Cumberland 19.

The current outbreak is the worst on record for this time of year.

Thirty-seven cases were reported yesterday but this high figure was attributed to a three-day backlog of reports caused by health departments closing over the fourth of July week-end.

No quarantines have been imposed on swimming pools and theatres, as was the case back in 1944, when a record of 878 cases were reported. Parents have been cautioned, however, to keep children away from crowds.

The greatest severity of outbreaks has been noted in the populous central portion of the state.

Reds Lose Seats In Netherlands Parliament Vote

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, July 8—(AP)—Complete election returns revealed today that the Communists have lost strength in The Netherlands and rightist groups have scored gains.

The Communists were deprived of two of their 10 seats in the lower chamber of Parliament as a result of yesterday's general election. Their decline was particularly marked in Rotterdam, where they polled 30 per cent fewer votes than in the last election two years ago.

The middle-of-the-road Catholic People's Party retained its 32 seats. The Catholics polled 1,531,326 of the 4,933,735 votes cast maintaining their position as the nation's No. 1 political group.

But the Catholic-Labor Party coalition which makes up the present government lost some strength to the rightist groups—the conservative anti-revolutionary (Calvinist), Christian Historical (Protestant) and Freedom (conservative).

Court Order To End Coal Strike Is Likely Today

NLRB Investigators Have Only One Step Left Before Reporting To Denham

Washington, July 8 — (AP) — A government move to end the strike of the steel industry's coal miners by court order seemed likely today. The strike is in its third day.

Lawyers on the staff of Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, had only one step left in their investigation of the industry's charges that John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers Union are violating the Taft-Hartley Act.

That step was an interview with Lewis' chief attorney, Welly Hopkins. Denham wanted to get Hopkins' side of the charges before deciding whether a formal complaint against Lewis was warranted.

Denham aides already have obtained affidavits from steel industry representatives. They contend that Lewis' demand for a union shop without a prior NLRB election is illegal.

Denham was expected to issue a complaint against Lewis and the UMW during the day and to follow that up with the injunction plea. The court proceedings would come up before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, who already has issued three injunctions against Lewis and fined him and the UMW a total of $2,130,000 for violating two of the orders.

The whole argument this time is over the union shop clause in the new wage agreement accepted by the commercial coal operators. The steel industry was willing to accept the agreement's $1 a day wage boost and 20-cent welfar fund royalty provisions but balkd at the union shop proviso.

Under the union shop a worker must join the union within a set time after being hired. This form of compulsory unionsim is okay under the Taft-Hartley Act, but only if the workers involved agree to it in advance at an NLRB election.

Lewis and the commercial coal operators simply ignored the election requirement which the steel industry is insisting on.

McGrath Seeks Party Harmony

Demo Chairman Expects Confer With Truman Opponents

Philadelphia, July 8—(AP)—Democratic chairman J. Howard McGrath headed a new harmony move in his party's Presidential contest today as Southerners withheld their fire in a platform fight over civil rights.

McGrath told a news conference that before the Democratic convention opens here Monday he expects to confer with party leaders who have been seeking to sidetrack President Truman.

Chief of these has been James Roosevelt, California state chairman who still is talking about drafting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower despite the latter's statement that he could not take the nomination.

While McGrath said he will talk privately with Roosevelt and other leaders in an effort to get them back in the President's camp, the national chairman announced he won't attend an anti-Truman causus called by Roosevelt for Saturday night.

With this peace move under way, Dixie delegates decided to postpone their fight on a proposed strong civil rights plank until it goes before the convention's 104-member platform committee.

Duke Power Co. Rate Hike Plea Under Scrutiny

Raleigh, N. C., July 8—(AP)—The State Utilities Commission today had under advisement applications from Duke Power Company for increased gas and electric rates.

Company officials at hearings yesterday before the commission declared that increases in fuel costs and other operating expenses made rate increases necessary. They asked the changes be permitted starting Aug. 1.

Two attorneys who appeared in opposition to the electric power application were allowed 15 days in which to file a brief.

No opposition to the gas request was presented. Commission officials said a decision on the application would not be announced for at least several days.

Get Together On Railroad Issues

Washington, July 8— (AP) —The White House disclosed today that management and labor representatives are holding joint negotiations in the rail labor dispute.

Charles G. Ross, Presidential press secretary, told reporters that both sides met for four hours at the White House last night and will renew their talks this afternoon.

Drastic Cuts In Berlin Electrical, Gas Ration

Emergency Employment Schemes Being Worked Out As Industrial Workers Are Idled; Weather Hits Air Lift Schedule

Berlin, July 8—(AP)—The Russians' economic strangulation of western Berlin today forced drastic new cuts in the use of electricity and gas.

Unemployment grew among the 2,000,000 Germans in the blockaded American, British and French sectors of the city. The Western Allies were working out emergency employment schemes to keep idle industrial workers off the streets. An unemployment assistance plan giving workers between 50 and 60 per cent of their normal wages was introduced.

Col. Frank L. Howley, the American commandant, announced that the Western powers had decided to maintain the present food rations but to cut coal. He said:

"To meet the emergency, to save 2,000,000 Berliners from starvation as well as economic and social destruction, the United States, British and French military governments are engaged in the greatest air lift in peacetime history. Thousands of tons of food, fuel and medicine are being flown from the West to Berlin.

"It is, however, recognized that with the limited air fields available and the narrow air corridor allotted, the air lift cannot at present meet all of the requirements of the people of Berlin."

Unfavorable weather slowed the allied air lift this morning. By 10 a.m. only 19 American transport planes had arrived at Tempelhof Airfield.

American fliers heard complaints from two of their comrades of strange radio interference in the air corridor to Berlin.

There were unconfirmed reports that Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky had gone to Moscow for consultations, presumably regarding an answer to the Western Allies' protest over the Russian blockade.

Howley, in a statement to the Berliners, asked the people to "bear in mind that freedom and democracy always have been purchased only by struggle and suffering." He said he believed they would "measure up to the role which history has given you" to prove that real German democracy is being born in western Berlin.

He referred to the claim of the Soviet administration that "the economic strangulation of Berlin is caused by railroad technical difficulties," and added:

"If this is the case, it is hoped that prompt action by the Soviet military administration will restore normal traffic to Berlin."

Cuts in power in western Berlin brought about this situation:

The elevated railway will be shut down completely in the western sectors effective at midnight tomorrow, to reduce by a third its consumption of coal used to generate electricity.

Street cars and the subway will run only between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. and daytime street car service will be shaved. Buses will provide some transport for workers after 6 p.m. but gasoline is already short.

Electricity for homes will be supplied for two hours in the morning and two hours at night. Certain small industries will be ordered to stop using power.

ASSEMBLY LINE TIED UP

Detroit, July 8—(AP)—A shortage of engine blocks, resulting from a supplier strike, closed the Ford Motor Co. tractor assembly lines today, idling 750 workers.

Ex-General Again Faces Probers' Quiz - Session

Washington, July 8—(AP)—Bennett E. Meyers, the retired two-star general sent to prison by one congressional quiz session, is due for another.

This one deals with charges of a multi-million-dollar "gouge" of the government through World War II freight bills.

Chairman Bender (R-Ohio) of a House expenditures subcommittee investigating the freight rate matter told a reporter today he will subpoena Meyers from his Chillicothe, Ohio, jail cell before the summer is out.

His name entered the current hearings in testimony by Thomas F. Proctor, a former Justice Department official now employed by the postoffice department.

Referring to the period just ahead of that covered by the Senate War Investigating Committee in its hearings last summer, Proctor told the Bender group yesterday:

"As long as General Benny Meyers was running the Air Forces Materiel Command at Patterson Field, the Army Transportation Corps and the Air Forces traffic people in Washington were relegated to a position of secondary importance in traffic matters.

"This committee could very well direct itself to an investigation into the so-called service contracts which General Meyers negotiated with the oil companies on aviation gasoline during the war."

Proctor did not elaborate, but he told the committee:

"I can assure you the revelations would be most interesting and pertinent to the current inquiry."

Race Issue Hits Democrat Group Fixing Platform

Over Score Of Negro Organizations Present Demands For Civil Rights

Philadelphia, July 8—(AP)—The race issue, which has split the Democratic party, hit the party's platform writers like a thunderclap today.

More than a score of Negro organizations demanded a plank embodying President Truman's civil rights program, including anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and fair employment (FEPC) legislation. One organization, the National Negro Council, asked the platform writers to endorse an immediate call of the 80th Congress into special session to enact civil rights legislation.

Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, submitted a statement on behalf of 21 Negro organizations, declaring:

"The day of reckoning has come when the Democratic party must decide whether it is going to permit bigots to dictate its philosophy and policy or whether the party can rise to the heights of Americanism which alone can justify its continued existence."

White's statement concluded:

"We, therefore, urge and insist that the platform of the 1948 Democratic convention endorse without equivocation the entire program of the President's Committee on Civil Rights and especially those provisions to suppress lynching and mob violence, to ban the poll tax as a voting requirement, to afford equality of job opportunity and to abolish discrimination and segregation in the armed services, education and transportation.

"In addition, we urge that the platform pledge the full weight of the Democratic party to the amendment of the Senate rules to envoke cloture by a majority vote in order that filibusters which have disgraced America far too long, may be stopped in the United States Senate."

An organization identifying itself as the Civil Rights Congress demanded that the convention refuse to seat delegates "who are elected by poll-tax vote or who are members or supporters of the Ku Klux Klan."

The Negro and civil rights organizations distributed copies of their statements to the press prior to their appearance before the platform committee.

Southern members indicated they would submit these witnesses to vigorous cross examination.

Offers To Prove No Devil, No Hell In Ten Minutes

Annapolis, Md., July 8—(AP)—Alexander W. Andrews, who taught a Methodist Church school class for 30 years, said he can prove in ten minutes that there is no devil and no hell.

He challenged "any three protestant clergymen in Anne Arundel county" to a one-hour radio debate on it.

"They can have 50 minutes," he said. "I'll take ten."

Andrews' challenge was made in a quarter-page paid advertisement in the Annapolis Evening Capital. It also was signed by Edwin R. Mowbray, general manager of radio station WASL who agreed to sell Anderson time.

"I've thought it out quite a bit," Andrews said, "and come to the conclusion there is no devil."

ELKS BAR REDS

Philadelphia, July 8—(AP)—The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks today barred from membership persons who are "directly or indirectly" members of the Communist Party.

Approximately 78,000 Miners Still On Strike

Pittsburgh, July 8—(AP)—Approximately 78,000 soft coal miners remained idle today as United Mine Workers officials continued self described "missionary" efforts to get them back in the pits.

About 55,000 are "captive" miners—employed in mines operated by steel companies who have refused to sign a new contract with John L. Lewis. The remainder are employed in commercial mines.

As the government neared its decision on whether to try and secure a court order against the strike, there was a return-to-work movement in some commercial mines. It was prevalent mostly in West Virginia where only 7,000 of 105,000 commercial miners remained idle.

Some 14,000 commercial miners in Pennsylvania and 3,000 in Indiana also were idle. John Busarello, president of United Mine Workers District 5 at Pittsburgh, said:

"We're still trying to get the miners back in Pennsylvania. We're acting like missionaries and doing everything we can but we're not having much success."

About 55,000 diggers in "captive" coal pits haven't worked since Monday when they returned from a 10-day paid vacation. Unlike the commercial miners they had no contract and followed the traditional miners' philo of "no contract, no work."

The steel companies which operate the "captive" mines refused to sign a new contract, contending a union shop provision violates the Taft-aHrtley Act. This provision requires anyone hired in the mines to join the union within a stipulated period.

Polio Hospital Ground Broken

Greensboro, July 8—(AP)—Four youthful polio victims were lifted abo ardgiant bulldozers at Huffine Mill road and East Bessemer avenue this morning to break first ground for the $60,000 Central Carolina convalescent hospital.

While over 100 Greensboro, High Point and Gibsonville officials watched, the children pulled the big construction tool into a 250-foot cane field with the aid of Workman Pell Barr.

Closes Clinic In Protest Action

Palmer, Tenn., July 8— (AP) —The only doctor in this east Tennessee coal mining community has closed his clinic in protest against what he called "racial discrimination" which he said denied Negroes the right to work on his new home.

About 3,000 persons, mostly miners and their families, are without medical protection.

Judge Orders South Carolina Democrats Enroll Negro Voters

Charleston, S. C., July 8—(AP)—The South Carolina Democratic party was ordered today by U.S. District Judge J. Waties Warning to permit Negroes to enroll in party clubs on the same basis as whites pending the outcome of a hearing on a petition of a Negro voter's request for a temporary injunction against the party.

The temporary restraining order was granted by Judge Waring who at the same time ordered party officials to appear in Charleston July 16 to show cause why the preliminary injunction should not be granted.

Considers Visit To Demo Caucus

Washington, July 8— (AP) —The White House said today President Truman is "giving consideration" to visiting the Democratic National Convention at Philadelphia in the event it nominates him for President.

Presidential Press secretary Charles G. Ross also said Mr. Truman is relying on Senator J. Howard McGarth of Rhode Island to be his personal representative at the convention, opening Monday.

The Television Boom

Since End Of The War, Television Has Been Growing Fast; Stumbling Start; How Television Networks Will Be Set Up; Trans-Continental Network Still Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 8—(AP) —Here's an ABC on television which is getting a big boost because of the political conventions.

During the war there were only six television stations operating in this country. And they were experimental, not commercial.

Now about 30 are operating from Los Angeles to New England.

Another 100 have been okayed by the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) to start in business.

And an additional 300 have asked the FCC for licenses.

Television got off to a kind of stumbling start right after the war for several reasons. This is one of them:

Manufacturers of television receiving sets were a little nervous about making them until a number of television stations were operating.

And the people who wanted to set up television broadcasting stations were a little nervous about starting till enough people had receiving sets.

This problem has been ironed out.

As of now perhaps 350,000 television receiving sets have been sold. They range in price from $169 to $2,500, not counting the cost of installing them.

There are four television broadcasting networks but most of their network operations are being done up and down the heavily-populated part of the Atlantic coast.

There is no trans-continential network and won't be for some time. This will explain the problem of getting a coast-to-coast network going.

There are three ways of sending television broadcasts:

1. Direct television. This is where a station broadcasts a television show but can only do so in its own local area. So it doesn't travel far.

2. Piping television through a special conductor in a cable from a station in one city to a station in another. Then the receiving station re-broadcasts the show but only locally.

This is called the Co-axtial method, so named because the cable through which the television conductor runs is called a Co-axial cable.

3. Micro-wave broadcasting. Television waves, sent through the air, are picked up and relayed by a series of special relay stations.

These are really pumping stations

Desire For Freedom

Moscow Is Learning That While Freedom Can Be Suppressed By Strong-Arm Methods, You Can't Take Away The Desire For Freedom; Weakness In Police State

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The totalitarian Communist regime in Moscow finally is encountering in an impressive way the age-old truth that you can suppress freedom by force but you can't suppress the desire for freedom.

The desire for liberty which currently is manifesting itself among the Russian satellite states of Eastern Europe is merely history repeating itself in a new setting, just as it has done through the centuries.

There is no country in which the love of freedom runs more strongly than in Czechoslovakia. And there could be no more striking demonstration of this than was given quietly but daringly during the parade of 80,000 people through the ancient city of Prague in connection with the Sokol Congress.

The marchers cheered for former President Benes, who was their leader before Bolshevism took over, but they had no salute for his Communist successor, Klement Gottwald. Many tiny American flags appeared among the paraders, and drew applause.

The Sokol long has stood as a symbol of independence in Eastern Europe. It is a cultural and physical training organization with units in numerous countries. Periodically there are congress meets, at which as many as 12,000 gymnasts appear on a field at one time and give amazing demonstrations of athletic prowess.

Having attended a Sokol in Prague myself, I venture to say that few could come away from one of these exhibitions without a feeling of having communed with the spirit of liberty. That is the spirit which now is showing itself not only in Czechoslovakia but in Finland, Yugoslavia and other shackled states.

Probably this development is no surprise to the Red regime. How could it be in view of the fact that the Russians themselves revolted time and again against the serfdom imposed by a totalitarian czarist rule? Still, it remains a curious trait of human nature that the Communists should be applying these self-same totalitarian methods to their own regime. Maybe they have figured that they could refine the system so that it would work.

And in truth, up until recently it has looked on the face of it as though the various police regimes were fairly fool-proof. They were established by strong-arm methods.

PETTY THEFT

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
July 8, 1908

Miss Alice Blow is the guest of her sister, Mrs. N. S. Fulford in Washington.

The weather is cool and pleasant today.

Curing tobacco is giving the farmers a busy time.

They seem to thrive elsewhere but somehow Greenville and moving picture shows do not get along well together.

With corn readily selling at a dollar a bushel the farmer who has a surplus of it is strictly in the boat. But the one who has to buy corn at that price is all overboard.

FDR Grandchild Becomes A Bride

Phoenix, Ariz., July 8—(AP)—In a quiet double ring ceremony, Anna Eleanor Boettiger, the eldest grandchild of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, became the bride of Van H. Seagraves of Oregon City, Ore., yesterday.

Fifteen years ago the bride was one of the best known and most frequently photographed children in the country. It was at that time, during her grandfather's first term, that she and her brother Curtis lived in the White House.

Dies In Effort To Rescue Dog

Northampton, Mass., July 8—(AP) A farmer who couldn't swim a stroke lost his life yesterday trying to rescue his dog from swiftly flowing Connecticut River.

Michael Kabelek, 55, plunged into the river when the dog got caught in a strong current while retrieving a stick the farmer had thrown into the water.

Kabelek sank as his wife, Margaret, looked on helpless. The dog finally reached shore.

REVOLT CRUSHED

Lima, Peru, July 8—(AP)—The government said last night it had crushed the revolt of an army garrison in Southeast Peru, and announced today it had ordered the leaders punished under military law.

Revise One Rule On New Parties

Raleigh, N. C., July 8—(AP)— The State Board of Elections yesterday made one change in regulations regarding organization of a new party but declined to make others.

On recommendation of its chairman, Hubert E. Olive of Lexington, the board voted to permit the Progressive party, after obtaining legal recognition, to nominate candidates for state and congressional offices in convention and enter their names on the ballots in November.

The board made official the victory of W. Kerr Scott in the Democratic Gubernatorial runoff primary June 26. Official returns gave Scott 216,384 votes to 183,920 for Charles M. Johnson.

The official vote in the race for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the seventh District was set at 23,708 for F. Ertel Carlyle to 16,041 for Hargrove Bellamy of Wilmington.

The board postponed a final decision in the appeal of D. M. Phipps, who was defeated for constable in South Williams township of Columbus county. It declined to hear a protest from Charles Krouse, defeated for Constable in Morehead City township of Carteret county. The board told Krouse he failed to follow proper procedure in neglecting to file a written protest with his county board of elections.

The board held that Phipps would have until the next meeting of the board, in August, to offer additional evidence. Oliver said that so far not enough votes had been challenged in upset the 13-vote lead of B. B. Courtney.

Record Catches Off Morehead By Fishing Parties

Morehead City, July 8—From a quantity standpoint, the largest catch of fish taken from the Gulf Stream were landed by two parties fishing from aboard two boats in the fleet of Ottis Purifoy here last week. In all, a total of 43 amberjacks, several dolphin and a grouper or two were taken.

Those making the catches included Becky Quinn, Pete Jenkins and Helen Privette, Kinston and E. V Hill of Beckley, W. Va. They were fishing with Capt. George Purifoy aboard the Sea Raven. Other party aboard the Shearwater, skippered by Capt. Jack Lewis, included C. A Smythe, Mrs. Frances Crews, Mr and Mrs. Warren Willard, of Bristol, Va. Each were guests of Mose J. Foreman, New Bern, N. C., jeweler, who last year landed the first large sailfish of the season.

Meter Profits

Asheville, N.C., July 8—(AP)—Asheville's 577 parking meters took in $58,453 in the last fiscal year.

For the statistically minded, the meters averaged $101.31. For the curious, there were 5,845,335 dimes, pennies and slugs. For the record, the take was $2,500 under anticipated revenue.

Wallace Resigns From Magazine For Campaigning

New York, July 8—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace has resigned as contributing editor of the New Republic magazine.

The third party presidential candidate said in a final article for the weekly:

"The strenuous three months ahead will require my full energies."

"Moreover," he added, "The New Republic editors should be completely free to support, without any embarassment whatsoever, the candidate and party which most appeal to them."

Wallace became contributing editor the magazine after he resigned its editorship to enter the presidential race.

In his final article, to appear in the July 19 issue, he said:

"I am bidding my faithful readers good-bye in one capacity, but I shall sooner or later be seeing them in another."

Withdraw From Wheat Council

London, July 8 —(AP)— Britain announced today she has quit the International Wheat Council.

The ministry of food said Britain is withdrawing from an agreement to take a guaranteed amount of American, Canadian or Australian wheat at fixed world prices.

The announcement said the withdrawal was effected two days ago at the meeting of the council in Washington.

Strike Series In Italy Continues

Rome, July 8—(AP)—About 700,000 metal-industry workers laid down their tools at noon today to back Italian labor's demands for more pay.

Their half-day strike was the latest in a series planned by the Communist - dominated General Confederation of Labor (CGIL). The strikes aim to force industry to give skilled workers wage rises proportionate to those already won for unskilled. Today's walkout came a few hours after police riot squads hurled tear gas bombs while cooling with labor unrest in Milan.

Tomorrow employes of the glass, ceramic and saccharine industries will have their turn to strike. Officials of the CGIL, which claims 6,000,000 members, say the individual strikes will involve at least 3,000,000 workers. They announced today that if these strikes fail to bring results, organized labor will be called out next week in a nationwide strike.

The CGIL executive committee said it would meet next week to "examine the eventuality of a general agitation of a national character."

The agitation will begin, the committee added, if such a step is made "necessary by the persistent stubbornness of industrial owners."

Depending on load temperature and wind velocity, the possible rise and fall of Brooklyn Bridge is 18 feet.

Strength FOR THE DAY

"THE CAT AND THE PUPPY"

A friend had a cat with a family of kittens. hen someone gave him a tiny pup. The cat and her family were quite content. But the puppy was young and all alone. The puppy looked across at the family of kittens and tried to make friends. But every time he came near, the cat would arch her back and snarl and spit.

One day the cat's head got scratched and she was not able to reach the wound with her tongue. She could only lie and moan with pain. The puppy came over and looked at the cat. Instinctively he saw what the cat needed, and reaching out his little red tongue, he licked the sore place for the cat. But the cat paid no attention then. Soon the wound was healed and the cat and the puppy became the best of friends. After that they were always together. And when the dog grew big, the cat would often come and lie down beside him. Placing her head against his soft side, she would go to sleep. And the dog would not stir until she waked up.

If cats and dogs can be friends so too can we. Was it not Jesus who said: "Love your enemies . . . Do good to them that hate you . . . that ye may be children of your Father in heaven." It can be done.

Around Capitol Square

ELECTIONS—The state board of elections spent an hour and a half Wednesday on a protest filed by a defeated candidate for constable in South Williams township, Columbus county. He had lost the nomination by a vote of 356 to 569 and he contended through his counsel that enough illegal votes were counted to change the result of the election. His counsel was Judge L. R. Varser of Lumberton, one of the recognized leaders of the North Carolina bar and a former associate judge of the state supreme court. Outcome of the 90-odd minutes of deliberation was decision of the board that further opportunity would be given the protesting candidate to file affidavits tending to show that more than 163 illegal ballots were cast in a total of 875 at the precinct. Announcement of this decision was coupled with warning that the affidavits would have to be good, since that was an inordinately big majority to protest.

TRIVIAL — Numerous comment was heard among casual bystanders and reporters attending the meeting about the state board of elections devoting so much time to such a trivial matter. Comment was also injected about a lawyer of Judge Varser's eminence participating in such a small case. One oldtimer pointed out, however, that although the annual compensation of the constable would be less than the legal fees involved, there is nothing trivial about the right of a citizen to have his vote count at full value. Not the size of the job or the amount of money at stake, but sanctity of the ballot was the real issue. To which sage comment a youngster replied that he hadn't seen much evidence of high regard for the sanctity of ballot during the recent primaries. A third observation was that the incident proves need for rewriting many phases of the election laws.

COMMITTEEMAN — As time approaches for delegates to leave for the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia, and with growing certainty that President Truman will gain the nomination, several Tar Heel delegates are said to be deciding not to go. Substitution of alternates for delegates, or failure of either to attend the delegation caucus Monday morning, might have controlling influence on selection of a national committeeman and committeewoman.

QUIET— Reports from Washington late last week indicate that contest between incumbent Joe Blythe of Charlotte and Senate-nominee J. M. Broughton of Raleigh for the [illegible] was less likely than appeared [illegible] days before. During the past few days, however, information has [illegible] grapevine channels that apparent quietude was all on the surface, and that Broughton plans to make a real fight for the honor. Rumor has it that prospect of such contest is one of the reasons some delegates have decided not to attend the convention.

CHAIRMAN — Talk about places on the national committee always hinges in consideration of chairmanship of the state executive committee. Last week end there seemed little doubt that Capus Waynick [illegible] the next chairman. That was based on a reported telephone statement by Governor-nominate Kerr Scott that if Waynick wanted the post, Scott would support him and the long established custom that the nominee for governor actually names the state chairman. Within the past few days there has arisen some conflict of desire among leading Scott supporters on this point. It checks back to the senatorial campaign in the first primary. Waynick, before joining Scott's staff as titular associate manager, but actually manager of the campaign was outspoken in advocacy of Broughton for the senate. After joining the Scott staff Waynick quit talking about senators and devoted full time to the governorship. Nobody doubts his continued personal support and vote for Broughton.

Who, Who?

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Chic Schwartz, just back from Japan, where he served as consultant for Secretary of the Army Royall, tells me an interesting story of the servant problems encountered by an American official's wife in okyo.

Chic, a former newspaperman, was having dinner with the American couple when the trouble began a-brewing. His hostess, after many difficulties getting a cook, had finally found "a gem." The night of the dinner, however, a small typhoon blew up in the kitchen between the gem and the couple's three other servants. When the hostess intervened, the cook told her she just couldn't stand the others. The hostess fired the others.

The next morning she was stunned when the cook came downstairs with her bags packed and said: "I'm responsible for the unemployment of three people so now I too must quit." Chic says the American woman, beginning her desperate search all over again, made sure all the help were good friends before she hired them.

Officers and American civilians of equal rank are provided $105 a month for a house, utilities and four servants. They may choose either a newly-built American style house or an elegant Japanese-type home.

There are 10,000 civilians in Japan under Army control and they take orders from Gen. MacArthur. Some of them complain about this because they are not used to Army restrictions. Certain trains and certain Japanese hotels are declared off limits to allied personnel, for instance.

Altogether, however, life isn't so bad. Good food, shipped over by the United States, is obtainable at the commissary. There's some night life, and Scotch and Bourbon are very cheap. On the whole, Chic says, the Japanese people are living better than they did before the war and most of them seem to like the Americans. Only once in a while do you hear instances of bitterness against the victors. One Japanese industrialist told Chic that a friend of his was encouraging his son to take up atomic research so that one day he'd be able to retaliate for Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Boyle's Column

New York —(AP)— Do you know how to tell if an orchid is happy?

This is one of many tidbits of horticultural knowledge picked up by a friend of mine who operates a penthouse farm for fun atop an eleven-story Manhattan apartment building.

Growing orchids on his electric refrigerator is just a sideline with this ardent rooftop Burbank, whose real love is his orchard outdoors. He puts the orchid pot atop the refrigerator in a pan full of gravel and water.

"The heat from the motor gives the orchid just the humid vapor it needs," he said.

"Once a week I give the plant a sponge bath and dry it off with a cloth. The green in the leaves and the steam really shines then. That's how you know the orchid is happy. If it's discontented, the green doesn't shine at all."

After playing nursemaid and psychiatrist to an orchid this amateur clod-breaker in the clouds really gets down to the heavy work.

"Why the farmer in the country doesn't know what real hardship is," he said, showing me around his terrace ranch. "It takes more than a green thumb to raise things in the city.

"You got to start from the concrete and build up. First you have to order the earth. I bought four tons at $20 a ton. The man who delivered it wanted to dump it in the street.

"There it was eleven stories below where I needed it. So I got fifty gunny sacks and kept loading them with my topsoil and brought it all up in the service elevator."

This, of course, put him in solid with the apartment house manager right away.

"Next," my friend continued, "I had to have some containers to grow things in. You just can't throw earth around on top of a roof. Along comes a heavy rain and where's your farm? Down the drain."

He solved the problem by buying up dozens of wooden egg crates and butter tubs and lining them with tar. Then he found he had to sand, peat moss, humus and fertilizer. Storage became a big problem, and his wife pointed out that being married to a penthouse farmer is something of a trial, too.

"One morning I woke up and became aware of a rather unusual aroma in the room," she said. "I finally looked under the bed—and there was a nice big bag of fertilizer."

"Only place I could find to put it," he said.

"Some husbands," she replied "bring their wives perfume."

The farm was started less than a year ago, but now he has more than fifty kinds of plants. Vines crawl all over the rooftop, and the wife has a haunted feeling that some night a tendril from a scarlet runner bean will slip into her room and strangle her in her sleep.

"I've had a lot of trouble with bugs," grumbled my friend. "I think they fall off passing airplanes. They certainly don't know how to use the elevator."

His orchard at present consists of several rows of tubs planted with apple and cherry trees, two Lombardy poplars, a black walnut and a lilac bush.

"What are you going to do when all these trees really get to growing," I asked. "You'll have a jungle here."

"Oh, I only signed a two-year lease," he said happily. "When it's up I'll retire from farming, move out—and leave an axe behind for the next tenant."

Severed Finger Is Whole Again

Los Angeles, July 7— (AP) —One-year-old Sherry Lynn Plumb waved her hands cheerily to show all of her 10 tiny fingers are just as good as new.

That was today, some 46 hours after she had severed her right middle finger reaching for a cold cream jar at home.

Queen of Angels hospital surgeons who declined use of their names, sewed the finger together, administered penicillin and put her whole hand in crushed ice.

The ice therapy was continued for two days. When surgeons undressed the finger it was returning to normal.

Lady Luck Ready For A Killing.

Hunger-Crazed Bear Kills Child Of Forest Ranger

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 8—(AP)—A black bear lumbered out of Michigan's north woods yesterday, carried off the little daughter of a forest ranger and left her mangled body beside a forest stream.

Minutes after the body of three-year-old Carol Ann Pomrankey was found a quarter-mile from her parents' isolated cabin, an angered crowd shot and killed the animal.

The searching party had been frantically called by Carol Ann's mother, 28-year-old Mrs. Arthur Pomrankey, who saw the bear carry off her daughter. Another child, six-year-old Allen, was playing in the cellar.

The scene of the strange tragedy was the Pomrankeys' lonely cabin at the Mission Hill fire tower in the Marquette National Forest, 30 miles northwest of here. Pomrankey is a towerman at Mission Hill.

Carol Ann was playing on the back porch of the cabin which is situated on a knoll. At about 3 p.m. Mrs. Pomrankey heard a scream and looked out the kitchen window to see the bear disappearing over the knoll dragging Carol Ann by the neck.

She tried chasing the bear with a broom and then ran into the house for the pistol. When this failed she called her husband, who was at National Forest headquarters.

Pomrankey and his associates immediately broadcast a radio appeal for help which was relayed by commercial stations. In a short time a band of almost 100 men was formed in the isolated area and the hunt began. At 4:30 p.m. the body was found, a quarter of a mile from the cabin, lying in dense underbrush. Officers said the little girl apparently died instantly when the hunger-crazed bear seized her by the neck.

Coroner's Jury Wants Murderer

Gastonia, July 8—(AP)—County officers were ordered today to dig up every possible clue to determine who killed eight-year-old Rhonda Pearl Mitchem.

A coroner's jury decided last night that the child met death in her home near here June 16 at the hands of a party or parties unknown.

The jury's decision came after two hours' deliberation that followed two hours of testimony.

LeGrande Mitchem, 17-year-old uncle of the girl, testified he and his brother Jimmy, Rhonda's father, broke into the door of the home June 17 and found the child dead in bed, her chest pierced by eight .22 caliber bullets. On another bed, he said, lay Mrs. Jimmy Mitchem with six bullet holes in her chest.

Frankie Mitchem, sister of LeGrande and Jimmy, told the jury she found a note signed by Mrs. Mitchem, indicating the mother might have slain her doughter and then attempted suicide. The mother remained unconscious several days but is recuperating now at a Gastonia hospital.

Two Pilots Die In Wreckage Of C-47 Transport

Greenville, S. C., July 8—(AP)—Two pilots died last night in the flaming wreckage of a C-47 plane at the Greenville Air Force base.

The transport crashed to the ground and burned seconds after cutting loose two gliders it had been towing on a training mission. The gliders landed safely.

The victims were identified as 1st Lieut. Bernard M. Nickerson and 2nd Lieut. Clarence L. Ferrero, both assigned to the base here. Their hometown addresses were not released.

Dependents Get Social Security Benefit Outlays

Figures recently released by the Social Security Administration disclose that the average payment to a widow with two children is about $48.70 a month; to a widow with three or more children, $51.80.

In quoting these figures, Marshall Barney, manager of the local office explained that these amounts are not flat amounts received by all widows and children, but represent the average payments. He pointed out that the law shows special consideration for children and their mothers. Children under 18 and widows who have children under 18 in their care are eligible for monthly benefits even when the deceased worker was employed in covered jobs only about half the last three years of his life. Mr. Barney emphasized, however, that no benefits are paid automatically. When a wage earner dies, it is important for his family to file claims at once at the nearest ocial ecurity Administration field office. Monthly benefits to survivors are retroactive for only three months. Thus, if a claim is filed in the fourth month after the month in which the wage earner dies, one month's benefits are lost.

Shortages Ahead For Appliances Household Use

Chicago, July 8—(AP)—Household appliances probably will be short this fall and prices higher.

That is the consensus of manufacturers attending the International Home Furnishings market. The prediction was based on the European Recovery Program and military preparedness.

An increased price of steel also is expected to be reflected in the price increases.

Sales Manager W. C. Conley of the Coolerator Co., Duluth, Minn., said at a round-table news conference that shortages of materials will cause allocations to continue until 1949.

Manufacturers also said that more than 17,000,000 electrically wired American homes are without vacuum cleaners.

There is expected to be a big demand for television sets in the near future.

Draw Blanks On Quizzing Of Trio

New York, July 8—(AP)—A House subcommittee has drawn three straight blanks in quizzing New York City labor leaders to find out if they have Communist affiliations.

In a tumultuous opening session yesterday, three union leaders flatly refused to answer when the House investigators asked if they were Communists.

One of them, Arthur Osman, president of Local 65 of the CIO Department Store Union, told committee members:

"We are going to take people like you and run you out of Congress."

His threat was answered by a burst of applause from spectators that packed the 13th-floor hearing room in the federal courthouse.

Rep. Fred Hartley (R-NJ), chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee of which the investigating group is a part, said it would be decided later whether contempt charges will be pressed against the three who refused to say if they are Communists.

No Injunction On Beer-Wine Vote

Hickory, July 8—(AP)—Superior Judge J. Will Pless took no action yesterday on a petition for an injunction enjoining Cleveland County from holding a beer and wine referendum.

A group of Cleveland county citizens sought to halt a vote on the issue on August 28.

Find My Killer

By MANLY WELLMAN

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 24

I headed for Bensinger's hotel, to find J. I had got there first. I faced J. D. "Find anything?"

"Lots of things." She pointed to drawers she'd opened and papers she'd strewn around. "But nothing about why he should have been killed. The clerk did tell me that Al Bensinger got a phone call last night. It was a voice with an accent —Alchisez, who seemed to want to see Bensinger."

"See him last night?"

"Apparently not, because Bensinger went to bed. He left early this morning—about seven-thirty."

"Good. Now let's push along, you and I. The boys in blue are going to be up here and they'll feel hurt if we get in their way."

Her car was at the curb and we whizzed back to the office. We found Holmgren just putting on his hat.

"Hi-ho, hi-ho," he sang as we came in, "it's back to work I go."

"To the department, you mean?" I asked.

"Yes, they just phoned me. My suspension's been revoked. Keep in touch with me, you lucky people."

He left, and J. D. and I sat down. Her eyes were like two dips out of the sea, noon and evening. "I think," said she, "that we have more things to work on and more things to figure out."

J. D. was making notes again. "We must find the gun or guns in this new shooting. The only derringer we know of is in the possession of Diane Ealing. If she used it, or let it be used—"

"Somehow I figure her out of it," I said. "She's no killer, unless she learned awfully fast since I was out there this morning. She pulled a gun on me and wasted so much time talking herself into using it, I took it away from her."

"You did n't tell me about that," said J. D., her eyes growing wide.

"I haven't had time, but I'll tell you now." And I did. Also of how Kuhl was definitely in the clear. More notes by J. D., and discussion of them. It was noon when the phone rang. J. D. answered it, then held it out to me.

"Yates?" said Raniel's worst-tempered voice.

"That's right."

"Will you come over her to my office?"

"Sorry, Raniel. I'm just going out to lunch."

"I'll buy you your lunch," he offered, and I gave in a little.

"Buy it for both my boss and me and maybe we'll come."

"Okay." He named a restaurant and I hung up.

"Free chow," I said to J. D. "Our genia lhost is Lieutenant Raniel, bright star of the homicide detail. He has a great, big, green olive branch in his hand."

Raniel was waiting and a big fat blonde waitress took our orders. "Now," said Raniel, looking as if his corns hurt him and I was to blame, "I vote we all stop fighting and start working together. Let's forget all our squabbles."

"I deduce," and J. D. turned to me, "that you've been cleared in every aspect of the case."

"That's right," nodded Raniel, as if admitting it gave him ulcers.

"So now what?" I said.

"You've made several mistakes," he said, "but I think you're up on some things I'm not. Let's pool our findings and go after this murderer together."

"Just what are the findings?" I asked.

"You tell me."

"No," said J. D. "This is your proposition, Lieutenant, and your move. For one thing, what does the medical examiner say, and what is the laboratory doing?"

He made another sad grimace. He hated to give out a single word, but he did. "Bensinger and Alchisez were killed at about the same time. Very shortly before you phoned me, Yates. Couldn't have been earlier than nine o'clock, and probably later. By that time, as Dr. Stokes's office can prove, the doctor was in his consulting room. He didn't leave until he got your call."

"Which again clears him of suspicion," I summed up.

"How about the murder gun?"

He shook his head. "Not gun. Guns. That was Holmgren's first finding when he came back to work. Two guns, both .41 caliber, with lightly charged shells. Probably another pair of derringers like those at the Ealing house. Now, what else do you people know?"

"That Alchisez called Bensinger last night and apparently asked him out for a conference this morning," said J. D. "Likewise, that Bensinger left his lodgings around seven-thirty a.m. If he wasn't at Stokes's before the doctor left for his office, that gives us an hour to wonder about him."

"We can also wonder about what the killer took from his inside pocket," I added. "Something was taken out, and his coat buttoned up."

"I figured that out myself," said Raniel, and the tone of his voice showed he hadn't figured anything of the kind.

"Personally," Raniel said, "I think it begins to eliminate down to the Pettigrews. One or the other, or both."

"Mrs. Ealing got home about the time they did," I told him.

"Maybe she's in it, too," said Raniel.

"I can alibi her myself," I said. "I was with her around nine o'clock and quite a little while past, this morning."

"Where were the Pettigrews?"

"The man was working in the yard. Mrs. Pettigrew was out shopping. She didn't come in while I was there."

"Get it?" he said. "She could have been at Doc Stokes's place, killing those two with guns stolen from Ealing's collection."

"Mrs. Pettigrew as Two-Gun Tessie?" I said.

"I'm going to bring her in," decided Raniel, "and ask her some rude questions."

Old Battlewagon Couldn't Take It

Aboard U. S. Carrier Boxer, July 8—(AP)—The once tough old Battleship New York—survivor of two wars and two atomic bomb tests—sank finally yesterday with just a 'slight push" from small bombs and shells.

Navy Task force officers expressed regret that she didn't survive an experimental attack long enough for them to test their weird Bat Bombs.

The exercises began with Oahu-based navy and Marine planes plastering the New York with 100-pound bombs, followed by light fire from surface vessels. Then, planes from the Carriers Boxer and Princeton hit her with 500-pound bombs and the Carriers whammed her with five inch shells. The navy's composite night attack group of planes applied the Coupe De Grace with at least six solid bomb hits on her keel, and she slid beneath the waves, bow first. The water at that point is 15,000 feet deep.

Scott To Speak At Dedication Of Park Project

Laurinburg, N. C., July 8—(AP)—W. Kerr Scott, Democratic nominee for Governor, will speak here tonight at the dedication of a $150,000 Park project.

It will be Scott's first speech since his nomination on June 26.

Scott will enter Laurinburg late today at the head of a motorcade parade, according to sponsoring officials. They expect 12,000 persons to attend.

Bands expected to participate in the parade are the Shrine band from Charlotte, the 82nd Airborne Division band from Fort Bragg and the Fort Jackson (S. C.) band.

The evening program will start with another parade. Entrants representing American Legion Posts, Civic Clubs and other organizations within a 50-mile radius of Laurinburg will take part in a beauty contest.

Mail express, baggage, newspapers and milk in cans, usually transported in cars nearest the locomotive, are known to railroad men as "head-end traffic."

Maryland Muskrats Top Oysters In Value

Baltimore — (AP) — Maryland's economic fame lies in its oysters, but this is an injustice to muskrats. The State Game and Inland Fish Commission obesrved in an annual report that the yearly muskrat fur catch often equals or exceeds in value a season's oyster output. In fact, the agency added, the Free State is second only to Louisiana as a producer of valuable fur.

Aluminum is the most abundant of metal on eath.

'Satch' Says He's Not As Fast As He Used To Be

Cleveland, July 8—(AP)—Leroy (Satchel) Paige admits he's not as fast as he used to be, but he's confident he can help the Cleveland Indians in their pennant drive.

"I know this isn't Kansas City," said the fabulous Negro hurler who was purchased yesterday from the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro National League.

'Maybe they'll knock me all over the lot in league competition, but I'll have to see them do it.

"I'm starting my major league career with one thing in my favor, anyway. I won't be afraid of anybody I see in that batter's box. I've been around too long for that."

Satchel has been pitching for 20 years or more but he only admits to 39 years of age.

"I ain't as fast as I used to be," he remarked, "but I'm a better pitcher. I used to overpower 'em; now I out cute 'em."

Satchel throws overhand, sidearm and underhand. He throws fast curves and slow curves. He throws a blooped ball, a screwball, a knuckleball and a slider. He even throws a "hesitation pitch" which he guarantees will frustrate a batter.

The six-foot, three-inch native Alabaman almost got into his first major league game last night.

He warmed up in the bullpen as Bob Feller staggered through the first inning against the Chicago White Sox, but soon sat down as Feller recovered and coasted to a 10 to 2 victory.

Rocky Mount Triumphs Over Greenies By 5-4

Ex-Navy Man To Head Athletics

Raleigh, N.C., July 8—(AP)—N.C. State College has turned again to ex-Navy brass to fill a big athletic job.

Roy B. Clogston, 44, St. Lawrence University athletic director who was a wartime Navy commander, yesterday was named to a similar post at State.

One of his associates at the Raleigh school will be Everett Case, the Hoosier basketball wizard who in four seasons elevated State's cage teams to top-drawer national ranking.

Selection of Clogston, who has been at the Canton (N.Y.) university since 1929, was announced by Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman of State's Athletic Council, after a meeting in which it interviewed three applicants.

The others, recommended by a council committee along with Clogston, were K. C. (Gerry) Gerard, Duke University's head basketball coach, and Tom Hines, N.C. State track coach.

State's new athletic director will report here the first week in August. He said he had notified St. Lawrence officials of his decision to come here and had submitted his resignation.

In addition to serving as St. Lawrence's athletic director, Clogston also was football coach and professor of health and physical education. He holds a physical education degree from Springfield College and a master's degree from New York University.

Minor Leagues To Help Finance Olympic Entries

Columbus, O., July 8—(AP)—Minor league baseball fans will be asked Sunday to make up a $90,000 deficit in U.S. Olympic team funds.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leages, suggested yesterday that Sunday be designated "Olympic Day" at every minor league game and the fans "be given an opportunity to make voluntary contributions to the Olympic fund."

Trautman said he took the action after learning the United States Olympic Committee might be forced to leave at least 70 qualifiers at home because of lack of money.

"We don't expect to raise the full $90,000 at Sunday's 200-odd-minor league games," Trautman said, "but at least we can help to some extent."

See-Saw Contest Until Fifth Frame; Locals Staged One-Run Rally In Ninth But Two Men Stranded On Bases At Final Put-Out

By BERT MOYE

Manager Turkey Tyson's Rocky Mount Leafs bunched eight of their nine hits received off Ken Brooks here last night to edge out a 5-4 win over the Greenies. This was the seventh loss that the Leafs had handed the Greenies this season. So far the Greenies have won three contests from Rocky Mount.

Rocky Mount went out in front in the second frame by scoring two runs on two singles, a walk and a secrifice. McJunkin singled, Denson walked, Martin sacrificed them around and then Dave Fowler singled to bring them in.

The Greenies scored singletons in the first and second frames to knot the count at two-all at this stage of the game and then came back in the fourth to score another tally to go out in front for their only time during the game. In the first singles by Wood and Carter and Cohen's long fly to centerfield scoring Wood accounted for the first run. A walk to McQuillen, Nash's single and Riggs double to deep centerfield scoring McQuillen, brought in the tying run at this point. In the fourth Nash singled and scored on Rigg's second successive double of the night.

The Leafs went out in front for keeps in the fifth frame when they tallied two runs and then put across what proved their winning run in the sixth. McJunkin walked, Denson reached first on Nessing's bad throw to first, Martin singled with McJunkin scoring and Fowler singled scoring Denson. Successive singles by Smith, Webb and McJunkin accounted for the wining tally in the sixth frame.

The Greenies staged a one run rally in the ninth and as the frame ended two men were left stranded on the bases. After Kovalchick, who went on to pinch hit for Brooks had struck out, Wood singled, Carter singled, Cohen forced Carter at second and then Nessing singled scoring Wood. Joe Sposa flew out to centerfield to end the game.

Red Benton, pitching his 18th victory of the season, gave up 12 hits, but he kept them well scattered to protect his lead. Moe Carter and Wiley Nash paced the attack of Benton, each collecting three safe blows. Larry Riggs got two doubles in four trips to the plate and drove in two of the Greenie's four runs.

Ken Brooks on the mound for the Greenies, suffered his third defeat of the season at the hands of the Rocky Mount Leafs. The loss was his fifth of the season. Brooks got himself into trouble with walks as two of the five men he walked later scored. Walt McJunkin and Dave Fowler with two singles each led the nine-hit attack off Brooks.

Valuable Valo . . . by Pap

Elmer Valo is back in the line-up and the Philadelphia Athletics' mound staff is happy again!

Until a cracked rib forced him out of the lineup, Valo was making a practice of contributing spectacular game-saving catches almost every day in right field. The chunky, Czechoslovakia-born outfielder risks life and limb in going all out to make a put-out. In a game with the Yankees, Valo made three spectacular catches before he knocked himself out making a flying leap to rob Yogi Berra of a certain home run and was carried off the field on a stretcher. In St. Louis Valo crashed into the wall and cracked a couple of ribs and was forced to drop out of the line-up. Long before he was ready to return to action, he pestered Connie Mack to distraction with his pleas for a chance to pinch-hit, pinch-run, or get into the game somehow.

Because of his daring, all-out play, Valo has been subject to injuries throughout the season but it takes a major accident to put him out of action. In addition to the bruised hip he suffered in the Yankee Stadium and the cracked ribs, Valo was struck on the head by one of Sid Hudson's pitches, pulled a leg muscle in the final exhibition game with the Phillies and dislocated a finger sliding into third base in a game with the Browns. The chances are that he'll pick up several more injuries if he continues at his daring pace. And that's the only way he knows how to play—for keeps.

Kelly Kee was given a three day suspension and fined $25 by President Ray Goodmon for an altercation with the umpire following the game here on last Sunday . . . The suspension period will be over tomorrow . . . A word in reference to the status on Willie Mauney . . . Mauney was here last Sunday and stated that he was all set to play ball with Greenville and really wanted to come back but that it was up to the Concord Club officials to act . . . However, all efforts to contact the Concord Club president by local club officials have been futile as the Concord League president refuses to answer the telephone when called . . . Johnny Kovalchick is bringing to the Greenies a pitcher from his home town in Pennsylvania . . . More details on him are forthcoming . . . Walt Barton, who joined the Leafs pitching staff only last Saturday night after being suspended for more than a week, finds himself back on the sidelines, but this time in a manner not quite so comfortable . . . Barton received an injury when he accidentally was spiked by Stu Martin in the first game of a doubleheader on Monday. He will be out of action anywhere from two weeks to a month and Douglas Page, son of Vance Page of Elm City, has been added to the roster to replace him. Page is a rookie.

The records of President Ray Goodmon shows that attendance figures through May 30 in the league have dropped 6.5 percent as compared with last year. Four teams—Rocky Mount, Kinston, Tarboro and Goldsboro are showing gains over last season, while the other four clubs have shown decreases. The Greenies up to the same period last year had 17,810 paid admissions and up to the same period this year have had 16,745 pass the turnstiles. The entire league has suffered a decrease of 12,187 paid admissions this year. Total paid admissions last year up to May 30 for the league were 186,782 as compared with 174,595 for the corresponding period this year.

Jim Fulghum, in his column called Second Guessing, which appears daily in the Wilson Daily Times, had this to say in his column yesterday relative to the umpires in the Coastal Plain.

"What apparently started at the beginning of this season as a step in the right direction by Coastal Plain League officials has now turned into probable step in the wrong direction.

"Last season Ray H. Goodmon president of the league, was hounded day and night with protests and the like from managers around the league. The umpires were given a great deal of trouble by the managers and the managers were constantly starting a rhubarb which ended in a rout.

"This season Mr. Goodmon decided to do away with all this stuff and gave the umpires almost unlimited power. As always in the good game of baseball the umpires were given the right to fine players.

"With all this new arrangement in the Coastal Plain, Mr. Goodmon brought in several new umpires (new to the Coastal Plain) and so the season got underway. Many of these new men in blue were young, some inexperienced, but all were honest.

"Since the opening of the season arguments have decreased but fines have increased.

"Now players in the Coastal Plain League don't make the kind of money that is being carted off them by the umps. A $25 fine is excessive and should not have to be paid.

"The players say they are treated like convicts under the new setup and it will not be surprising to see some of the umps get a mauling after some game if things don't improve.

"Is it not outrageous to fine a pitcher $5 for asking why a pitch was not called a strike. It happened in the Coastal Plain last week.

"The umpires this year are the bosses but it seems that half of them at least make plenty of mistakes."

Indictments Face Baseball Figures

Winston-Salem, N.C., July 8—(AP)—Indictments today faced four men accused of manipulating a Carolina League baseball game.

The four were indicted yesterday by the Forsyth County grand jury only a short time before their scheduled trial was postponed until September.

Named in true bills were Emanuel (Ed) Weingarten, former club official in two leagues; Barney DeForge, former player-manager of Reidsville in the Carolina League; and Tommy Phillips and W. C. McWaters, both Clover, S.C., used car dealers.

All four were indicted for conspiracy and all except Phillips were named on bribery counts.

The postponement was granted because of the critical illness of Weingarten, now confined to a Greensboro hospital.

Both Weingarten and DeForge were banished from organized baseball after DeForge told minor league head George M. Tratman he threw the May 14 game with Winston-Salem here.

Meet In Zonal Davis Cup Play

Montreal, July 8—(AP)—Mexico met Canada today in the first matches of the North American zone of Davis cup tennis competition.

Henri Rochon, Canada's No. 1 player, was matched against Francisco Guerro of Mexico in the opening singles match. Brendam Macken of Canada took on Armando Vega in the day's other engagement.

The Canadians figured their chances depended on whipping Guerro twice and sweeping the doubles tomorrow. Doubles pairings haven't been announced.

Wildlife Body Meeting Opens

Raleigh, N. C., July 8—(AP)—The State Wildlife Resources Commission today opened a three-day meeting at which it will establish hunting regulations for 1948-49.

The commission also will adopt a budget for operations in the next 12 months.

Clyde P. Patton, Commission Director, said it hoped to work for uniformity in the hunting regulations and to eliminate numerous local exceptions to the rules.

Pitches Perfect Game In Arkansas

Hot Springs, Ark., July 8—(AP)—Righthander Dickie Strahs pitched a perfect no-hit, no-run game here tonight as the Hot Springs Bathers swept a Cotton States League doubleheader from Pine Bluff.

Strahs' feat came in the second game, which the Bathers won 2-0.

Not a Pine Bluff batter reached first base. Strahs struck out seven and the Bathers' air-tight infield backed him up with sparkling plays.

Slate Selection Of Olympic Track Team Tomorrow

Evanston, Ill., July 8—(AP)—Selection of the Amelcan Olympic track team counted on to win ten firsts at London starts tomorrow at 6 p.m. EST in Northwestern University's Dyche Stadium and concludes Saturday afternoon.

There was increasing confidence on all hands. With one notable exception, the 200 athletes have come this far without serious injuries. Even Gil Dodds, best of the distance men who has a strained achilles tendon in his left leg, is rounding back into shape.

Next Monday the track squad of about 65 men will assemble in New York for "processing" before the S.S. America sails on Wednesday with most of the American team. The exact number in track depends on how many spares are carried to round out the sprint and 1,600 meter relay teams.

The time between selection of the team and sailing is so limited that a tailor must be taken on the ship to fit the snappy blue and white parade uniforms.

The 1948 American Olympic team looks for eight of its 10 firsts in the field events, and two in the hurdles.

But there is a possibility one American may achieve a sprint victory which would make up for any losses over the longer flat races. He is Mel Patton of Southern California, slender and delicate. Whether his legs can stand the long series of Olympic trial heats is a big question.

After running the 100 yard dash in :09.3, one tenth of a second under the world record, he had leg trouble. But he won convincingly in the National Collegiates and then bowed out of the National A.A.U. championships.

Bucky Harris, Durocher Round Out All-Star Teams

Chicago, July 8—(AP)—The sides were chosen for the major league's 15th all-star game at St. Louis Tuesday with the completion today of the Domineering American League's full squad.

The hot-shots from the junior circuit, 2-1 winners at Wrigley Field in Chicago last year, will be slugging for their 11th decision over the National Leaguers.

Manager Bucky Harris rounded out his 25-player American roster by nominating eight pitchers and nine replacements for the starters named at the other eight positions in a nation-wide poll of fans.

The National League's squad was marshalled to full battle size yesterday by Manager Leo Durocher, who elected only six pitchers—two under par for the all-star course. Brooklyn Lippy took up the slack by picking four third basemen instead of the customary pair.

Pilot Harris' own New York Yankees grabbed the most American all-star berths, six, including pitchers Vic Raschi and Joe Page, the perennial reliefer.

The rip-roarin' Cleveland Indians placed five solid candidates, among them the hurling "Bobsy" twins, Feller and Lemon.

Boston and Detroit landed four players each. Washington and Philadelphia each had two nominees. Chicago and St. Louis contributed one apiece for all-star representation by all eight clubs.

Harris picked his own Yankee coaches, Charles Dressen and John Corriden, as all-star aides.

The American pitching staff is neat but not gaudy. Lemon and lefty Hal Newhouser of Detroit are the league's winningest tossers, each with a dozen verdicts. The converted tribe utility man, Newhouser and possibly Raschi appear to be Harris' strongest mound punch.

Feller, who won't strike fear into the hearts of National league swingers off his current struggling season, Walt Masterson of Washington, Joe Coleman of Philadelphia, Joe Hawnes of Chicago, all righthanders, and Southpaw Page, round out the corps.

This eight-some will be pitted against the National's right-handers Ralph Branca, Brooklyn; Johnny Sain, Boston; Elmer Riddle, Pittsburgh; Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati; and Southpaw Harry Brecheen, St. Louis, and Johnny Schmitz, Chicago.

The Americans, as lined up by the fans, will have virtually the same starting aggregation as last season—and a slick, seasoned bunch it is.

Yankee Joe Di Maggio, center fielder, will be playing his ninth all-star game in 10 nominations (he missed the 1946 game). Terrible Ted Williams of Boston will be in left field with a .500 batting average and nine RBI's in five previous games.

Court Rules So 'Foster Brother'

Bridgeport, Conn., July 8—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Patrick B. O'Sullivan ruled here yesterday that a fraudulent adoption in a New York court 13 years ago, made an unwed mother legally "the foster sister of her own son."

Judge O'Sullivan's decision gave the mother, Katherine T. Hill of New York, sole rights to the $14,000 estate of her son, Robert, on the grounds that she had no knowledge of the fraud.

The estate consists entirely of a negligence award resulting from the death of Robert following an automobile accident.

The case had its inception, Judge O'Sullivan said, when Robert Hill was born out of wedlock in New York on July 7, 1927.

The child's grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hill, took him into their family, the judge continued, and he "never learned that the plaintiff (Katherine T. Hill) was his mother."

Judge O'Sullivan said that fraud entered the case when the grandparents, attempting to "protect both their daughter and her child," adopted Robert Hill through representing to the Richmond County, N. Y., Surrogates Court, that he was the son of a Mrs. Rogers who had died.

The fraudulent adoption, Judge O'Sullivan said, created "an unusual situation where, in contemplation of certain legal relationships, the mother became the foster sister of her own son."

Charges State Is Derelict In Duty

Dunn, July 8 —(AP)— Harnett county's commissioners charged today in a letter to Gov. Cherry that North Carolina is derlict in its duties to the mental unfortunates of the state.

The letter asked the governor "to take proper action to provide relief for Harnett and other counties."

Chairman Angus A. Cameron said the county board sent the letter of protest after he said the state failed to accept Harnett citizens in the state hospital and a number of epileptic children.

Kiwanians Were Dinner Guests Of W. H. Woolard

By CHESTER WALSH

Te officers and directors of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, at the regular monthly meeting, were supper guests of Director W. H. Woolard, at his cottage, at Summer Haven, on Pamlico River, below Washington, last night.

It is an "old Kiwanis custom" for an officer or director to entertain the group each month, either at his home or elsewhere.

The meeting last night was one of the best of the year. President Nathan C. Brooks presided, and he and Secretary David C. Moore, Jr., recited some of the achievements of the present year, including the successful Kiwanis minstrel at the college, for the benefit of the Underprivileged Child Fund.

Kiwanian Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina Teachers College, was a special guest. Incidentally, he is a former president of the Salisbury Kiwanis Club. Other guests were Washington Banker Roland Modlin and Greenville Banker W. H. Woolard, Jr.

The officers' and directors' meeting last night was something of a "round table" discussion of the club's activities. During the discussions it was pointed out that the club now has a long "waiting list" of applicants; it was suggested that the club keep the membership within the limits of a city the size of Greenville; praise was given J. D. Hise for his good work as chairman of the Underprivileged Child Committee; President Brooks suggested that the Public Relations Committee Chairman get something in the Kiwanis International Magazine about the club's activities; the officers and directors expressed appreciation to the men in the club; individuals expressed appreciation of the work Attendance Committee Chairman Bryan Brown and Program Committee Chairman Wyatt Highsmith are doing, and, incidentally, commended the Kiwanis Bulletin editor for "writing for the best interests of the club."

Dr. Messick extended to W. H. Woolard the thanks of the Kiwanians for his hospitality. Kiwanian J. D. Hice had his cruiser there and provided rides on the Pamlico for the Kiwanians.

In addition to President Brooks and the special guests, those present were Past President Eli Bloom, Vice-President W. Arthur Tripp, Secretary David C. Moore, Jr., directors, Tyge Gardner, Milo Smith, W. H. Woolard, the host; J. D. Hice, Dr. Melvin P. Hoot, Wyatt Highsmith, Hunter Keck, and Chester Walsh, Public Relations chairman. J. Arthur Collins and Tom Wilson were unable to attend.

Larger Acreage

Washington, July 8—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that 23,653,000 acres of cotton were in cultivation on July 1. This compares with 21,500,000 a year ago.

No forecast on production was given. But should the yield per acre equal 250 pounds—a fair average—the crop would total about 11,815,000 bales. Last year's crop was 11,851,000 bales. The ten-year (1936-45) average was 12,190,000.

The planting goal set by the department was 21,894,000 acres.

Polio Continues To Increase In Piedmont Area

By CHESTER WALSH

North Carolina's polio total continues to increase, the State Health Department reports. The outbreak has not reached state-wide epidemic stages, but officials of the National Association for Infantile Paralysis describe the outbreak as the worst in North Carolina history at this time of year.

The polio outbreak appears to be heaviest in Guilford and some other Piedmont plateau counties which are thickly populated. The largest number of cases since January 1 was reported from Guilford, and that county had 41 cases with onset during June, Dr. S. J. Phillips, Pitt County health officer, said today.

He said very few polio cases had been reported in this part of Eastern Carolina. He warned against panic and suggested ordinary precautions and common sense. He advised against persons in non-affected counties visiting in the areas where polio prevails.

Educational Films To Be Presented To Students At College

Dr. Allan S. Hurlburt, director of the department of administration and supervision at East Carolina Teachers College, has arranged a program of educational films to be presented before students enrolled for the second summer session at the college. Showings are scheduled over a period from July 29 through August 12.

As visual aids useful in school work, the films cover a variety of subjects included in educational programs from the elementary school to the college. The wide range of subjects included in the program covers such branches of study as spelling, punctuation, reading, science, mathematics, and health, and presents also personality problems of the adolescent.

Dr. Hurlburt, who has been on the teaching staff at the University of Texas for the past several weeks, will return to East Carolina on July 18 to take up his work here at the beginning of the second summer session.

The Television . . .

probably 30 miles apart, which push the micro-waves from one to the other till they reach a regular television broadcasting station which then sends the show out in its own area.

Co-axial cables for television are being laid across the country now. And pumping stations are being built in certain areas.

But it will be some years—probably at least two—before there is any coast-to-coast broadcast of a television show.

For example:

Right now, because of the Co-axial or micro-wave system already set up in the area, a televised event can be sent up and down part of the Atlantic seaboard.

Which means: The Democratic convention in Philadelphia next week can be seen simultaneously in Washington and New York.

But people in St. Louis or San Francisco can't see it at the same time. That's because the network hasn't been extended that far west.

People in San Francisco will see it if films are rushed there by plane and then televised from a San Francisco television station to the people in that area.

Right now all television broadcasts are in black and white. Someday television will be in color. That's being worked on now.

Some time ago the FCC decided commercial television wasn't far enough along in its development to okay it for broadcasting.

But that will come in time.

Desire For . . .

Active opposition was eliminated by liquidations, by imprisonments and by condemnation to slave camps. The terrors of the secret police have taken care of the rest.

However, none of these methods could suppress the desire for freedom. Folk who have once been free will not indefinitely submit to a police rule which denies them all the items of man's bill of rights, including freedom of worship. One of Communism's greatest weaknesses is its anti-religious tenet, which in itself is enough to turn away Christians, Jews, Mohammedans and all other believers in a god.

How will Moscow meet this disaffection? It's difficult to see how the Bolshevists can do otherwise than continue their policy of force. There are rumors of Russian troop movements in Eastern Europe, but Moscow has given no indication of its plans.

Grain Market

Chicago, July 8 —(AP)— Wheat prices sank today under the weight of record-breaking receipts at Kansas City and very heavy bookings of cash grain to arrive at this market. Corn and oats were mostly lower with the bread cereal, July corn showing pronounced weakness at times.

Wheat closed 1⅝-2⅛ lower, July $2.29⅞-⅝, corn was ⅝-2½ lower. July $2.05¾--$2.06, oats were ⅝ lower to ⅜ higher, July 88⅞-89, and soybeans were 3 to 4 cents lower, July $4.05.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, July 8—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 25 cents a bale lower to 15 cents higher.

Noon prices were 35 to 80 cents a bale higher than the previous close. July 35.07, Oct. 32.48 and Dec. 32.24.

Cotton futures sagged into new low ground for the day on late liquidation. Failure of the market to respond to the lower than expected acreage report, increased pressure of nearby July, and the quiet export situation contributed to the easiness.

Futures closed 15 to 85 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

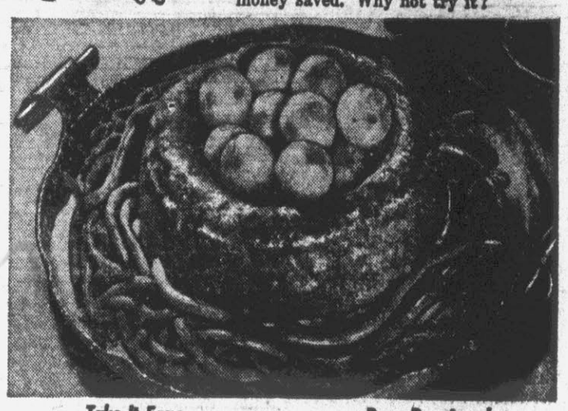
"Piggy Bank" Meals Can Be Easy!

Budget meals can be easy . . . and attractive, too. All it takes is a little planning and forethought. This can be fun if you have definite plans for the money saved. Why not try it?



Take It Easy

Prepare meat loaf in the cool of the morning and store in the refrigerator until time to slip it into the oven. Cook potatoes in their skins and cool well before peeling. Brown on top of stove in Wilson's Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter; then slip into oven around the meat loaf to finish heating through.

For quicker cooking and greater attractiveness, slice the beans lengthwise before cooking. Shortens cooking time to 12 to 15 minutes. Serve with Wilson's Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter.

Busy Day Lunch

Top a piece of toast with thickly sliced tomatoes, cover generously with cheese sauce, and top with two slices of Wilson's Certified Bacon, broiled or pan-fried. Serve with milk and let the young fry have as many as they want. Nutritious and delicious.

Cheese sauce is easy. Make 1 cup thin white sauce (2 tbsp. Wilson's Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter, 2 tbsp. flour and 1 cup milk) for four sandwiches. When thickened, stir in ½ lb. Wilson's Certified American Cheese, grated (½ cup).

Meat Loaf

Add 1 cup milk to 2 cups day-old bread crumbs and let stand until needed.
Dissolve 3 tsp. WILSON'S B-V in ¼ cup hot water
Add to 1 lb. ground meat (all beef or ½ beef, ½ veal)
¼ tsp. salt
1 CLEAR BROOK EGG, beaten
3 tbsp. finely minced onion

Add bread and milk mixture, mix thoroughly and pack into a 4-cup, well-greased ring mold or loaf pan. Place upside-down in a shallow baking pan and bake in a 325° F. oven for 30 min. Remove mold and continue baking at 350° F. for 25 min. Serves 5.
