Israeli Claim Two Major Victories

Capture Of Important Airport And Defeat Of Egyptian Force Reported; Bernadotte Pleas For New Truce Falling On Deaf Ears

Cairo, July 10—(AP)—An Israeli government spokesman said today Jewish troops killed 300 Egyptians and captured 200 in a battle near Isdud, 25 miles south of Tel Aviv.

South of Isdud, however, the Jewish settlement of Negba was battered by artillery and air attack. Jews evacuated the isolated settlement of Kfar Darom, the Tel Aviv spokesman admitted.

The Egyptians claimed capture of Kfar Darom last night. Arabs also recaptured Beit Afiah in the same area.

Tel Aviv was bombed again today by two unidentified Spitfires. A Jewish communication said there were no casualties.

Jewish government leaders were reported drafting an answer to Count Folke Bernadotte's urgent appeal for a new 10-day cease fire which he had hoped would begin this morning.

In Cairo Arab League sources said the Arab nations would remain silent on this. Secretary General Abdul Rahman asen said the Arab League would not receive the U.N. mediator's appeal but the league political committee is no longer here and cannot act on it now.

Bernadotte left his Rhodes headquarters, en route to New York to lay the whole Palestine situation before the U.N. Security Council.

The Egyptian defense ministry claimed last night 325 Jewish soldiers were killed yesterday in the coastal-Plan Area below Isdud which is about 26 miles south of Tel Aviv.

New fighting broke out in Palestine yesterday with the end of a four-week truce.

"With the utmost urgency," Bernadotte proposed a new 10-day cease-fire to start this noon, Greenwich mean time (7 a.m., EST).

Neither side replied to this proposal. An Israeli government spokesman in Tel Aviv said the matter might be taken up today.

The Arab League here released a message to U.N. headquarters warning the expired truce "detrimental to the Arab cause."

The Egyptian defense ministry said in a communique Egyptian and Saudi Arabian troops and Sudanese volunteers killed the 325 Jews in capturing places the Jewish forces had occupied during the truce.

These places ranged from Beit Daras, 25 miles south of Tel Aviv to Kfar Darom, 10 miles north of the Egyptian border.

The ministry said the Jews attacked Iraq Suridan, below Beit Daras, six hours before the truce ran out but were beaten off in a four-hour battle.

Another High In Highway Traffic

Raleigh, N. C. July 10—(AP)—North Carolina's highway traffic last month was the heaviest in history with 61,040 vehicles passing the state's 20 regular counting stations every 24 hours.

The precious high was set last August, when 58,858 vehicles were counted daily. The June figure for 1947 was 52,830.

How Radio Is Growing

Industry Is Spreading So Widely It's Reaching Out To Cover People From Cradle To Grave; More Broadcasting Stations Than Ever; The FCC Controls Them All

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Radio is spreading so widely its reach is extending to cover people from the cradle to the grave.

A diaper service in the southwest wants a license for a two-way radio exchange between its office and its trucks.

And a cemetery near Chicago is so busy it wants an okay to use radio in directing traffic.

Actual Writing Of Demo Planks Gets Under Way

Platform Outline Expected To Lash Republican-Controlled Congress

Philadelphia, July 10—(AP)—Democrat platform writers finally began putting little words on paper today after blowing off pent-up steam in a loud and bitter argument over the race issue.

The words they will write during the week-end will not be cozy reading for Republicans in Congress.

The 1948 party platform may not follow the leader—Harry Truman—on the subject of civil rights, but it is sure to follow him in his campaign strategy of fending the record of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

That became clear in three days of public hearings during which members of the Democratic platform drafting committee seized every opportunity to beat Congress over the head.

Today a reporter asked Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, whether the platform will attack Congress' record and he came up with this:

"Of course our platform will make clear the essential differences of the two major parties and probably the best way to demonstrate these would be by calling attention directly and specifically to the wretched, miserable, totally bankrupt conduct of the Republican controlled 80th Congress."

There you have the party's plan of campaign for November.

The civil rights blow-off came last night as it was the climax of the hearings.

With harsh words sounding in their ears, a small subcommittee of Democrat leaders took a supply of headache pills into a room today and began putting some tentative planks into English.

Senator Myers said the subcommittee will make no recommendations, but just give the drafting committee something definite to act upon when it meets next—probably Sunday night.

Girl Acrobat In Her 'Last' Fall

Cliffside Park, N. J., July 10—(AP)—A girl acrobat who had promised her mother to quit the act next Saturday fell 110 feet from a broken trapeze in Palisades Amusement Park yesterday while 15,000 persons watched in unbelieving horror.

Although she suffered a broken right ankle, a fractured left leg and a fractured pelvis, the girl, Valentine Davis, 21, of New York City, said smiling from her Englewood Hospital bed:

"I guess I was lucky wasn't I. But I'll never go up again—never."

Expect Meeting Two Contenders

New York, July 10—(AP)—A friendly get-together of presidential candidates from opposing camps is possible here July 31.

Both Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP, White House contender, and President Truman, prospective choice of the Democrats, have announced they will attend ceremonies formally opening New York's new international airport on that date.

Cancel Leaves In Berlin Sectors

Berlin, July 10—(PA)—American and British communists canceled all leaves for their personnel in Soviet-blockaded Berlin today.

The French were expected to follow suit. Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, U.S. deputy military governor, declared the Americans have "no intention of submitting" to the latest Soviet restrictions on the last land route linking the city with the western zones of Germany.

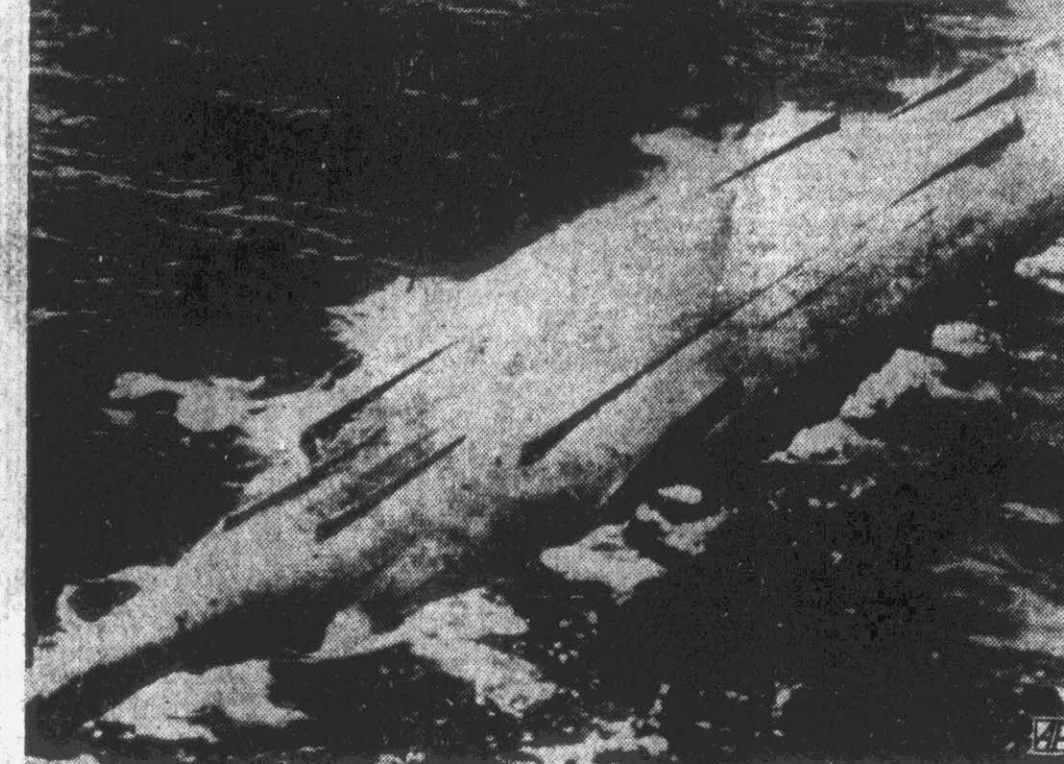

Reservists Call Off Army Feud

Washington, July 10—(AP)—The Reserve Officers Association, until recent weeks bitterly critical of the Army's treatment of its civilian reserves, apparently has called off the feud.

The new president of the organization, Col. Clarence Barnes, former mayor of Guthrie, Okla., told reporters today that the association "right now sees eye to eye" with the heads of the national military establishment.

He made the comment after he and three ROA vice presidents spent two days talking with Defense Secretary Forrester, Army Secretary Royal, Chief of Army Staff Omar Bradley and leaders of the Air Force and Navy.

Communists Say 'No' To Congress

Follow Russia's Lead In Refusing Yugoslav Invitation

London, July 10—(AP)—Communist parties throughout Europe began following Russia's lead today in turning down an invitation to the fifth Yugoslav Communist Congress in Belgrade July 21.

Rejections were reported today by Communist headquarters in Rome, Budapest and Prague. Russia gave her refusal Wednesday.

Meanwhile in Moscow Tass, the Soviet news agency, said a Soviet army delegation has arrived in Albania and has been welcomed by "thousands of inhabitants."

The move was announced yesterday by Rep. Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis.), chairman of the subcommittee, after three days of turbulent hearings.

He said he would recommend to the House Education and Labor Committee, of which the investigating group is a branch, that the nine labor leaders be cited.

All of them are officials of the CIO, Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union.

Churchill Warns Must Not Yield To Red Pressure

Woodford, Eng., July 10—(AP)—Winston Churchill said today the western allies risk war with Russia if they yield to Soviet pressure in Berlin.

"If we were to yield upon this grave issue, we would, in my opinion, destroy the best chance which is now open to us of escaping a third world war," he said in a speech at a Conservative party rally in his home constituency.

The wartime prime minister called the period of waiting for a Soviet reply to the Anglo-French-American notes protesting the blockade of Berlin "an anxious hour."

Dewey Likely To Speak In Raleigh

Raleigh, July 10—(AP)—The speech Governor Thomas E. Dewey promised he would make in North Carolina most likely will be made in Raleigh, according to Sam J. Morris, a member of the state Republican committee. Morris was in charge of arrangements when Dewey came to North Carolina last month before receiving the Republican presidential nomination.

No Candidate

Philadelphia, July 10—(AP)—The Philadelphia Inquirer today quoted Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas as saying in a telephone interview "I am not a candidate, never have been and don't plan to be a candidate."

The newspaper said it reached Douglas at Wallowa, in the mountains of northeastern Oregon, where he has been vacationing.

Will Seek Ouster James Roosevelt

Dissension - Ridden California Delegates Meet Today

Philadelphia, July 10—(AP)—John P. McEnery, vice-chairman of the California State Democratic Central Committee, announced today he would ask the California delegation caucus to demand the withdrawal of State Chairman James Roosevelt as national committeeman-designate.

McEnery's statement came shortly after the dissension-ridden delegation arrived in this Democratic convention city. Roosevelt has been a leader of the stop-Truman drive and a backer of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower despite the fact that the state's delegates are pledged to Truman.

Roosevelt is the eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Obviously angry, McEnery told a reporter "You can quote me right now on his plans to seek the ouster of Roosevelt."

He announced his intention only a few hours before the delegation is scheduled to caucus (1 p.m. Eastern Standard Time).

Roosevelt himself had said his future actions would be guided by the delegation's wishes after Eisenhower's "complete and final" refusal yesterday to accept the nomination.

Generosity Of Public Dropping

New York, July 10—(AP)—The American public isn't as generous as it used to be.

This is the conclusion of the national Stewardship Institute of the Golden Rule Foundation, which said yesterday that Philanthropic gifts "have taken a decided downward path, and present indications are that they will fall below last year's level which was less than $3,000,000,000 (B)."

$150,000 Fire In Louisburg Plant

Louisburg, July 10—(AP)—One of the worst fires in Louisburg's history destroyed the main plant of the South Atlantic Manufacturing Company early today. Manager W. M. Sanderlin set the loss at $150,000.

The fire was discovered by night watchman Turner Matthews during his 3 a.m. rounds. The big frame building, stacked with kiln-dried lumber and materials, was swept completely by flames when firemen arrived.

Report Senator Has Inside Track

Philadelphia, July 10—(AP)—Senator Scott Lucas (D-Ill) was reported today to have the inside track as President Truman's running mate on the 1948 Democratic ticket.

Although Lucas himself said he isn't a candidate, an associate of Mr. Truman said that unless plans are changed within the next 48 hours the tall, bronzed Illinois senator may be the White House choice for second man on the ticket.

Babson Discusses Fall Outlook

New York City, July 10—Business prospects for the second half of 1948 are now forecast as follows: Optimism, tempered by selectivity. The second half of 1948, I predict will be better than most businessmen expected and be almost as good as the fabulous first half.

I wish to stress strongly, however, that selectivity will become of ever-increasing importance. Some industries, such as the cotton textiles, face the possibility of a sharp shake-out. Others, such as building, can expect record completions, but a slump in new contracts. Automobiles, steel, petroleum, electric power, food manufacturing, and mining may beat all previous records. Contempt Charge Faces Union Men

House Subcommittee To Seek Action On 9 CIO Leaders

New York, July 10—(AP)—A House subcommittee will ask that nine CIO union officials, who refused to tell whether they are Communists, be cited for contempt of Congress.

The move was announced yesterday by Rep. Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis.), chairman of the subcommittee, after three days of turbulent hearings.

He said he would recommend to the House Education and Labor Committee, of which the investigating group is a branch, that the nine labor leaders be cited.

All of them are officials of the CIO, Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union.

Yesterday's session—the quietest of the three—ended on a fiery note after one union leader stood up and demanded a chance to call attention to "the lack of honor and lack of integrity on the part of this committee."

U.S. deputy marshals took hold of the man, Arthur Osman, president of Local 65, and led him from the room. Osman and another union official were forcibly ejected on the previous day.

During the hearings, the only union witness to answer what Rep. Fred Hartley (R-N.J.), a committee member, called "the $64 question," was John Altman, a department store director of the union.

Asked if he was or ever had been a Communist party member, Altman replied:

"I never have been and I am not. Even though I don't think it is a proper question to ask, I am absolutely not a Communist."

He charged the subcommittee was making "martyrs" of the Communists.

"You're giving them a field day," he said.

Law Doesn't Say Chicken Dinner Must Be Dead

Spartanburg, S. C., July 10—(AP)—The law doesn't say how a man should eat his chicken. Judge J. W. Nash ruled today in city court in dismissing the case against a Negro charged with eating a chicken alive.

Patrolman W. E. Baker testified he arrested the Negro and charged him with disorderly conduct when he saw the defendant eating a live chicken before a large crowd of spectators on a street here.

The officer said the party consumed chicken was still kicking when he arrested the man.

The defendant admitted eating the live chicken on a bet.

Large Farm Crop Prospects Ahead Says Government

Outlook Is For More, Cheaper Meat, Plus Full Scale Grain Shipments

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Prospects of the biggest general farm crop in history today gave American housewives and diplomats alike reason for rejoicing.

The outlook is for more and cheaper meat at home—eventually—plus full scale grain shipments abroad, where food is a big factor in combating communism.

A record corn crop of 3,328,862,000 bushels, nearly 41,000,000 above the previous top crop of 1946, was forecast by the Agriculture Department late yesterday. This is far above last year's total of only 2,400,000,000 bushels.

At the same time, the department predicted a wheat crop of 1,241,751,000 bushels, only some 125,000,000 bushels short of the record set last year.

In addition, excellent prospects were held out for most of the other crops to come off American farms.

The huge corn, wheat and other grain supplies will more than meet the needs of farmers who want to step up feeding of cattle, hogs and other meat producers.

The excess will be available for shipments abroad and building up depleted stocks carried over from previous years.

Last year's poor corn crop was pointed to by department experts as the reason for the drop in this year's meat production, and the big jump in prices.

On the other hand, the big feed supply outlook does not promise any immediate relief.

Holding off both hogs and cattle from slaughter while they are given extra rations of corn and other grains will keep the meat supply tight through this fall.

In addition, large numbers of hogs are expected to be held back for breeding purposes, further cutting the immediate supply.

Clung To Branch For 22 Hours Awaiting Rescue

Yakima, Wash., July 10—(AP)—A 75-year-old man was rescued from the waters of the Naches river here, officers said, he had clung to an overhead limb for 22 hours.

The man, Floyd Marsteller, was treated for exposure in a Yakima hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Runyon, who helped rescue Marsteller, said it was a miracle he survived.

The elderly man said he suffered a dizzy spell while fishing and fell into the water. The swift current started to carry him away, he said, and he caught an overhead limb.

He clung there throughout Thursday afternoon and night and until late yesterday. He was rescued when a group of boys, fishing on the banks, heard his faint cries for help.

Sen. Johnston Changes Plans

Philadelphia, July 10—(AP)—Senator Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina said today he would not introduce in the Democratic National Committee a resolution calling on President Truman to withdraw from the presidential nomination race.

Such a resolution, he said, would be "useless" now that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, whom Johnston favors, has eliminated himself from consideration for the nomination.

Charge Hungary Opposing 'Voice'

Washington, July 10—(AP)—The Voice of America beamed to Budapest today a charge that Hungary's Communist-run government is trying to frighten the people into dialing out news broadcasts from the United States.

George V. Allen, assistant secretary of state, declared there appears to be a systematic campaign of arrests to keep Hungarians from receiving news from outside Soviet eastern Europe.

FLY TO MANEUVERS

Cherry Point, July 10—(AP)—Transport planes today trundled down on this world's largest Marine Corps air station bringing Marine reservists from eastern America to the start of their 15-day summer maneuvers.

It's All Over

Washington, July 10—(AP)—The Nation's railroads were back under full private management today for the first time in the two months.

Seized May 10 by order of President Truman to thwart an impending strike, the carriers were turned back to their owners yesterday afternoon.

The action followed by a day the settlement of a wage dispute between the carriers and three operating brotherhoods which had led to government seizure.

The roads had been placed under nominal army control during the period of government seizure. In making the transfer back to the owners, Secretary Royal said in a statement that "the necessity for continued army control has ceased to exist."

Arguments An Warnings Of Western Powers Made Public; Declare Will Not Abandon Rights In Berlin To Threats, Pressure, Or Other Action

Washington, July 10—(AP)—American officials expressed today that Moscow will yield to western power arguments and warnings and lift the Russian blockade of Berlin.

If the Soviets do not give way, the only alternative course seen by diplomats here is for the United States, Britain and France to take the case before the United Nations in an effort to force Russia by legal means to give them free access to the city.

The arguments and warnings of the western powers were made public last night. Washington, London and Paris released the texts of similar notes which they had sent to Russia on the Berlin situation last Tuesday.

These notes advised the Soviet government directly for the first time that the three powers consider that (a) they are in Berlin by right, (b) they have the right of free access to the city and (c) they will not be forced out by threats or pressure.

In the words of the American note, which Secretary of State Marshall signed, the United States government "declares that it will not be induced by threats, pressures, or other action to abandon these rights."

Marshall then sought to clinch the point by adding: "It is hoped that the Soviet government entertains no doubts whatsoever on this point."

With some differences in wording, the British and French took the same line.

Together with the Americans they also offered to negotiate outstanding disputes between east and west in Berlin but demanded that the blockade must be lifted first. Marshall insisted that this be done without delay.

Throughout all three notes ran the implication of an appeal to the United Nations unless the Russians were willing to put an end to a situation which Marshall described as "intolerable."

The western powers are now sending 4,000,000 tons in the western sectors of the city with supplies brought in by air transport. Two blockades has been in force three weeks.

A specific reference to the United Nations appeared in the American note. Marshall appealed to the Soviets to join in a peaceful settlement of the Berlin differences in line with Article 33 of the U.N. charter. This article not only calls for peaceful settlement methods among U.N. members but also empowers the Security Council to direct them to use such methods whenever it deems necessary.

No policy decisions have been made on the U.N. appeal, however, and pending some answer or responsive action by the Soviets none is likely to be made.

Moscow up to early today had not a word to say about the three-power notes.

But shortly before the notes were made public, the Soviet-licensed news agency Adn announced in Berlin that the Russians would permit allied automobile traffic into and out of Berlin provided the vehicles carry special Soviet travel permits.

While this would ease the current highway blockade against Berlin-bound traffic, it would clamp new restrictions on west-bound traffic.

POLIO IN ROCKY MOUNT

Rocky Mount, July 10—(AP)—Dr. H. L. Large, city health officer, said today that the first local case of polio of the year was reported to the city health department this morning.

The American note to Moscow, demanding that the Soviet Union immediately lift the food blockade of western Berlin, is couched in a bluntness which is the only kind of language the Bolsheviks understand.

It is perhaps the most forceful communication ever laid before the post-war Moscovites.

It isn't belligerent and it doesn't make threats, but it leaves no doubt that Uncle Sam has had enough of bullying. He isn't taking any more.

Similar notes were sounded simultaneously by both Britain and France. So far as America is concerned, it will be sweet music in the ears of the average citizen, who has been waiting eagerly for this hardening against Communist aggression.

The "average" citizen, by the way, gives his loyalty to America. There are Communists and fellow travelers who are citizens in name only and take their orders from Moscow to whom the note will not be music.

The Communist food blockade is, of course, an inhuman effort to starve the 2,400,000 civilians of Western Berlin and thus force America, France and Britain to

Indicates Soviet To Reject Notes

First Russian Reaction Points To No Lifting Of Blockade

London, July 10—(AP)—First Russian-inspired reaction pointed today to the possibility that Moscow will reject the western powers' demand for an immediate lifting of the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

This reaction, appearing in a commentary by the Russian-controlled German news agency ADN, indicated the Russians will insist on holding four-power talks on the entire German problem before re-opening supply routes to Berlin.

Britain, the United States and France, in protest notes published last night, said they are willing to negotiate issues on the German crisis, but only after the Berlin blockade is lifted. They did not offer to resume talks on the future of all Germany.

All three powers insist they have the right to occupy their sectors of Berlin and warned they will not give way to "threats" or "pressure."

They said they are ready to negotiate the issues of Berlin—but first the Russians must lift their food and fuel blockade.

The Moscow note continued its blasts against the western powers but made no mention of the notes. Last night's broadcast launched a new attack on the six-power London conference that planned eventual self-government for western Germany.

British newspapers took a grave view of the situation.

Mayor To Lay A Smoke Screen

Stillwater, Okla., July 10—(AP)—Walter D. Skaggs is going to lay down a smoke screen over the six-crens village at Oklahoma A. and M. College here next week.

Skaggs is "mayor" of the GI settlement, and since Mrs. Skaggs had a baby boy Wednesday, he says it's cigars for everyone.

He bought 15 boxes of the stogies and soon as the weather clears he's going to charter a small plane and drop the cigars from the air.

The Right Site

The location of your home determines the environment in which you and your family may live for a quarter-century or more. Therefore its selection calls for careful consideration of community neighborhood and the specific lot.

Most of the standards by which any location is judged good or bad as a site can be applied equally well as a test for a ready-built house, an older house, or land on which you may plan to build a new house.

Don't buy a lot until you have figured your housing budget and how much of a house you can afford without sacrificing too much. You will have your likes and dislikes about homesites the same as home styles. But you will have to be realistic and possibly ready to compromise.

A hilltop home far in the country may figure in your dreams until you find that water cannot be obtained except by drilling an extra deep and expensive well. A location of this type, especially in northern states, may raise the problem of closed roads in winter.

Experienced architects will tell you that if you can find a ready-built house within your means in an established neighborhood, and if it fills or heartily fills your needs, the simplest thing to do is to buy it. Building is an adventure but it can be a costly experience, too.

In choosing a community, an important consideration is its accessibility to your place of work. How much will your commutation amount to monthly?

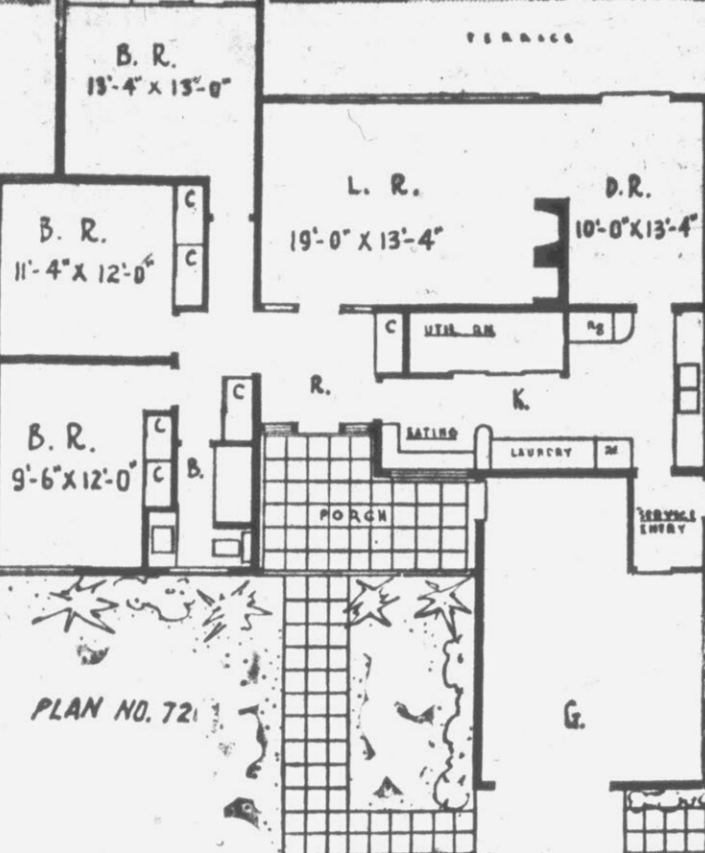

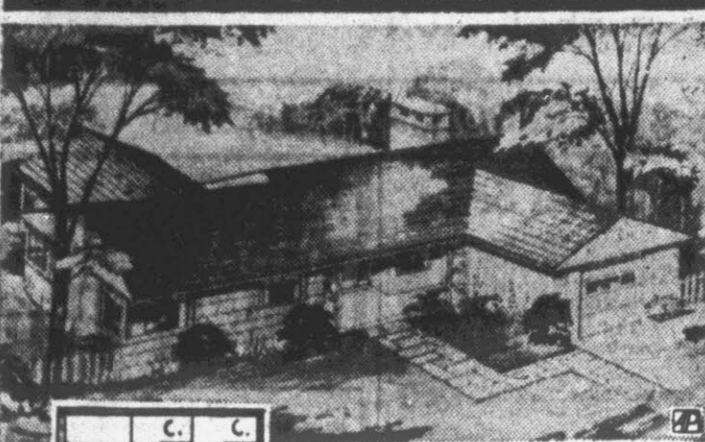

This commuting factor gives you a radius. Within the circle drawn on that radius there are probably various communities accessible conveniently, comfortably and in reasonable time. Cruise around them in your car. Take your time and get to know them.

Talk to neighbors, the local banker and real estate brokers. The real estate man knows his community and can give you sound advice. The seller pays his commission and wants the same price if the property is sold direct, so you have much to gain through the broker's services.

He will know the location of schools, churches, shopping centers, parks and recreational facilities, as well as local zoning restrictions, the trend of business development, factories and other undesirable encroachments.

He can tell you if the homes in the neighborhood are owner-occupied and well kept up. He will tell you which neighborhoods are likely

Summer Home Is Meant To Fill A Special Need

A summer home is a shirt sleeve version of a house. Its main functions are to provide recreation and relaxation. Its character is essentially informal.

The kind of a summer home you want depends entirely upon your likes, your personality, your family needs, your bank account.

If you are an outdoor fan, a hunter, fisherman, back-to-nature advocate, fed-up with city crowds and hungry for the solitude of the wilds, you certainly will not want a summer cottage in a populous built-up colony.

But if your idea of fun calls for sports and parties and a good time had by all, coupled with a dread of loneliness and a demand for modern conveniences and comfort, you'll shy away from the remote backwoods.

So between those choices you'll find the cabin and the cottage—or perhaps the lodge and the "farm," depending on your budget.

Yet you may be so flush that you think of a vacation in terms of yachting, polo, country club dances, golf tournaments—in which case you'll be planning a summer home!

In any event construction, plan, decoration and furnishing will differ greatly from a year round dwelling. Each of those factors will be keyed to the idea of bringing the outdoors indoors much more than the most extreme functionalist would attempt in city or suburban architecture.

No matter what style summer home suits your fancy, the choice of its location is paramount. Convenience is a must. You can't spend most of your time traveling. And when you build you'll find long hauls for building materials add much to the cost.

Even a backwoods log cabin should enjoy accessibility. The wilds of Canada may offer excellent sites and be within a few hours drive from Canadian cities. But the resent of Atlanta, or Dallas, for example, will want his wilderness nearer home.

Trees also come high on the list when picking a site—unless you're a sun-baker headed for seashore or desert. But trees present their problems. Dense woods not only involve fire hazards, but shut out the sun, add to dampness and accelerate decay. Thinning out becomes necessary.

Tall trees, deprived of the protection of other trees, become a wind-storm menace. So it is well to strike a balance between shade and safety.

Fresh water is vital. It is easier to carry firewood than water. Springs from rock are usually safe, but if flowing from soil they should be tested. Lake water in the real wilds may be safe, but it is subject to animal contamination. Running streams can't be trusted for the same reason.

As for a well, the time to drill it is before you start to build. You'll want to know if water is there.

Laundry Chute Is Big Convenience

In two-story houses with laundry in basement, a clothes chute is a great convenience.

If this is built-in when the house is erected, it can extend down directly from a bathroom laundry hamper.

A self closing trap door at the bottom of such a chute is important for fire prevention. Held by a soft spring, the door will open under the weight of clothing and snap shut to close the chute against possible functions as a flue.

CLEANSING LAUNDRY TUBS
To keep inside surfaces of galvanized steel laundry tubs from becoming discolored, simply rinse them with clear water after each use. If a tub is already discolored, don't worry about it. The discoloration is caused by soap suds and is not harmful to rust-resistant steel.

How To Open Up Your Drain Trap

A rubber plunger known as a "plumber's friend" will usually loosen minor obstructions in a drain. Partly fill the bowl with water to provide strong suction. If this fails, put a pall under the trap, unscrew the drain plug in the bottom of the U and use a wire to hook out the obstruction.

Clean thoroughly with a bottle brush, replace the plug with a new washer and run hot water through the drain. Avoid the use of any compound containing caustic soda (sodium hydroxide), or what is commonly called "lye." These harden grease into a soap that is difficult to dissolve.

When all other methods fail, a strong solution of caustic potash (potassium hydroxide), and hot water can be tried to burn out the blocking. This turns grease into a soft soap easily washed away. But hands should be covered with heavy rubber gloves and the eyes protected, since this chemical can cause

Press Turns Out 'One Scent' News
Oklahoma City, July 10—(AP)—The words are different, but the fragrance lingers on. Such is the plight of the daily Oklahoman and Times after they cheerfully dumped 45 pounds of concentrated perfume essence into their presses Thursday.

It was all a gag to put sango into a department store's full-page advertisement for a perfume called "Black Magic." They pulled that ad out yesterday, but four morning and evening issues have gone by, and the company is still getting out one-scent editions.

"Where we made our mistake," one rueful and redolent pressman said, "was in pouring that stuff into the main ink fountain. We should have used a little one made for colored ink." "I had to let my wife smell one of those papers before she'd let me in," he added.

The department store (Halliburton's) is very, very happy. The perfume oil cost nearly $1,000, store executives said, but they feel they got their money's worth.

Another Crash In Chinese Dollars

Shanghai, July 10—(AP)—The Chinese dollar crashed to its lowest point in history today—6,000,000 to $1—on the black market. Commodity prices soared. The stock exchange closed five minutes after it opened.

Thousands of police combed markets for black marketers dealing in U.S. and Hong Kong money. The black market, which is China's main money mart, closed yesterday at 4,000,000 Chinese to $1. Rice jumped from 20,000,000 to 28,000,000 ($4.66) per 175 pound bag. Dealings refused to slide by government ceiling prices and dealt only through the "back door."

Police by the thousands swarmed through warehouses looking for hoarders. Local stocks skyrocketed to ceiling levels five minutes after the exchange opened. It was immediately shut down under government regulations which ban stock trading when shares exceed previous day quotations by 20 percent. It took only the first five minutes today for the maximum to be reached.

Express Regret General Leaving

Tokyo, July 10—(P)—Three influential Japanese newspapers—Nippon Keizai, Mainichi and Jiji shimpo—expressed regret today that Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, eighth army is leaving. The newspapers praised the American general for his sympathy toward Japan and for his part in ordering relief supplies to quake stricken Fukui last month.

General Eichelberger will leave for the United States on Aug. 4 for reassignment and early retirement from the army.

Sees 'No Chance' Truman Winning

New York, July 10—(AP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina said last night he didn't think President Truman "has a chance in the world to win" the presidential election.

Thurmond appealed to Mr. Truman to withdraw from the race and "cooperate in nominating a ticket which will enable the Democratic party to win."

BABE RUTH IMPROVING
New York, July 10—(AP)—Babe Ruth is reported "up and about most of the time" at Memorial Hospital. An attendant said yesterday that Ruth has improved steadily since entering the hospital June 24. He is receiving radiation treatments.

The average length of U. S. freight trains rose from 43 cars in 1928 to 83 cars in 1948.

Strength FOR THE DAY. MODERN TEMPO. In his wonderful story "Through the Looking-Glass," Lewis Carroll told how Alice and the Red Queen ran at top speed for a long time. When they finally dropped exhausted they were still in the same spot where they had started. Alice mentioned this fact to the Queen, who replied, "Here, you see, it takes all the running you can do, to keep in the same place. If you want to get somewhere else, you must run at least twice as fast as that." Often we find ourselves in a similar situation. Modern life moves so swiftly that we really do have to run just to stay in the same place, for to stand still nowadays is to be swept backwards. And if we are going to advance, then we must run twice as fast. Business and professions, manufacturing and agriculture, all are developing quickly; they will not wait—we must keep informed of improvements and progress, if we are to hold our own. But if we are doing all this running, let us make sure first that we are running in the right direction. Speed is no good if it takes us to the wrong destination. We must be certain to run in the direction which our conscience and principles tell us is right. We must be sure we are not running away from God.

him as their chief in politics and government. The parade lost nothing of its significance by being late. Earlier in the week a shindig at Hendersonville got off to a late start, too. That seems to be a common failing with such affairs, which influence of split-second radio timing has not been able to completely cure.

Boyle's Column. By HAL BOYLE.

New York—(AP)—Strange people with long hair keep sidling up to me at literary teas and whispering: "Young man, why don't you quit chasing fire engines and write a play? There's fame and fortune in it. Look at Tennessee Williams. Surely you have a play in you." This makes me mad. Because I did have a play in me—but it's been outside me now for some years. I wrote it when I—Hal (Missouri) Boyle—was in college with Tennessee (Thomas Lanier) Williams. While I was earnestly studying the history of early Roman hand instruments and other cultural subjects, Tennessee wasted his prime in literary doodling. But the drama critics have been turning cartwheels over his "the glass menagerie" and "a streetcar named desire." Perhaps now, in fairness of the theater, I should at long last publish my play. Well, you don't ask for it, but here it is: (The curtain rises and discloses a luxurious anteroom in a hospital so plush that even death can't get in without showing a calling card. A venerable, white-haired lady and a high priced medical specialist stand stable.) Many cracks are made, especially by visiting firemen, about Washington weather—especially it's humidity. But Mr. Ramsey says Washington isn't any worse than some other spots, like Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Richmond, for instance. As a matter of fact, he says it's better than lots of places. The humidity here is frequently 100, or close to it. Less frequently it drops to as low as 16 or 17 percent. Once, in March 11, 1929, it dropped to six percent. During Washington's hottest month, July, the average relative humidity runs at around 81 percent at 7:30 a. m., 55 at 1:30 p. m. and 67 percent at 7:30 p. m. The average temperature for July is about 88 degrees.

WASHINGTON LETTER. By JAMES EADS.

Washington—The next time you're ready to complain "It's not the heat—it's the humidity" remember humidity is really one of the blessings of the human race. In fact, Ernest Ramsey, weather forecaster for the District of Columbia, points out that humidity helps to create the "right sort of climate for human activity." Mr. Ramsey says that when the average person talks about humidity, he is really talking about what the weather bureau calls relative humidity—the amount of moisture vapor in the air compared with what the air can hold at a given temperature and at a given atmospheric pressure. The forecaster told me that the amount of comfort, or discomfort, a person experiences depends on how well the automatic "thermostats" of the human body are operating. "What happens when you begin to complain about the humidity in the summer is that your body thermostats are having a hard time keeping your skin temperature at what it ought to be for your comfort." Mr. Ramsey says that if the humidity rate is relatively low the human perspiration is absorbed rapidly by the outside air. If the relative humidity is high the outside air has about as much moisture it can stand and is slow about taking up any more. "And that's when the heat—and the humidity—become uncomfortable," says Mr. Ramsey. "The human system, however, has an amazing ability for accommodating itself to changing conditions. This ability is likely to be more highly developed in places with quick temperature changes like Washington than in climates that are more

Around Capitol Square.

HOMING — Governor-nominate Kerr Scott thinks that the same sort of rural revolt but in reverse order, that led thousands of North Carolinians to desert the Democratic party half a century ago will bring the grandsons and granddaughters of those "rebels" flocking back to the party this year. That thought was implied in several things he said at Laurinburg Thursday night, occasion being his first scheduled public appearance since his nomination as governor. He extended invitation and issued challenge to the second generation after debacle of the middle nineties to "come back home."

It impossible to impose sanctions because of the Russian veto, yet the condemnation of democracy would be registered. Moreover, that's not the end. Any block of democratic countries could impose their own sanctions, outside the U. N. Those sanctions needn't involve the use of force. Economic and diplomatic sanctions can be very terrible punishments. It wouldn't be necessary to go so far to bring Russia to reasonable terms.

Outside States Plan Polio Care.

Chapel Hill, July 10—(AP)—Hospitals in states adjoining North Carolina are making space available for treatment of polio patients from this state, Phillip S. Randolph of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today. Randolph, state representative of the National Foundation, said the latest hospital to offer assistance was the Anderson Memorial Hospital of Anderson, S. C. The hospital wired that "all facilities and equipment at Anderson Memorial Hospital at your disposal in case needed," he announced. Randolph said the Shrine Hospital in Greenville, S. C., had offered to help and that the Spartanburg General Hospital would make space available in the event of emergency. In Portsmouth, Va., Randolph said, the Maryview Hospital belonged to the network of 21 hospitals whose doors were open to North Carolina polio patients. Maryview, he said, serves 10 northeastern counties of North Carolina and is equipped and staffed for polio treatment with the assistance of the National Foundation's Virginia Chapter and the 10 North Carolina counties' chapters. Randolph said the first polio patient from the 10 counties—a five-year-old girl from Gates County—has just been sent to Maryview for treatment.

Chapter 28

"The bodies hadn't lost quite all the heat they'd had in life, and there wasn't enough rigor mortis to be noticeable, except to a trained medical man. Only its first traces. Enough to help me judge the time of death—approximately."

"How does a body cool off?" I asked.

"Body temperature is normally around ninety-eight degrees, and you must have known that. With cooler conditions surrounding it, this heat radiates and lessens itself by degrees. Then comes rigor mortis."

"Doctor," I said, "did you check the temperature in that room where the bodies were lying?"

He nodded. "Certainly I did. It was part of my routine examination. And the air was stuffy. I had a sense of heat, but it was a false sense. The temperature was seventy-two or three degrees."

"I'd remembered that stuffiness, and my own check of the thermometer that regulated Dr. Stokes's automatic heating system. 'Suppose,' I said, 'that the temperature had been very high up, earlier. Ninety degrees or more, let's say.'"

"Then of course they'd have cooled more slowly."

"Thanks, and excuse me for butting in," I apologized. "Now about the bullets. Beyond all doubt they killed those men."

"Beyond a reasonable doubt," he corrected me. "I myself explored the wounds and extracted the bullets."

"I'm sorry," I said. "I'm sorry."

Petroleum, electric power, coal operators and food manufacturers will continue to provide a powerful support to the general level of business. Furthermore, those industries where a decline is expected are by no means candidates for a sharp slump, with the possible exception of cotton textiles.

What About Building?

Building construction to be completed may be sky-high compared with the first six months of 1948, but I am predicting that new building contracts will suffer more than their usual seasonal decline. Likewise, our railroads will be held at a high rate of operations until after the October crop peak, at which time I expect a more than seasonal recession in traffic.

There is a possibility that the textile industry will witness a sharp recession. The cotton surplus promises to cause uncertainty in the price of this important fiber. Such a situation may induce a suspension of buying during the transition from the old crop prices to the new fiber quotations. Hold off before stocking up with spools, checks or most cotton goods.

Miscellaneous Forecasts

Apparel and other merchandise buyers have been flocking here into New York City in unprecedented numbers, anticipating good fall retail business. Actual buying, however, is not yet heavy.

Summer resort business will be good generally. But, aside from that, free-and-easy spending is less. More liquor price-wars, at retail, are said to be ahead, although I am not an authority on this business!

Motion-picture industry sees cloudy weather ahead, partly because of television and also because of court orders to "divorce" producers from theatre ownership.

Men's clothing volume has been "off," although leading brand-name manufacturers have their output for fall well committed. Men's shoe industry is bad and you will soon see some interesting markdown sales.

Meat prices are unlikely to drop much. Big corn crop, however, should result in a drop in prices of meats, eggs and poultry. Better buy fish products and other canned goods now. This especially applies to canned peas, citrus fruits and other vegetables and fruits. Consult your grocer.

The oil industry, mindful of fuel oil shortages last winter, is moving toward voluntary allocations. Sufficient

He peered at me curiously. "May I ask just where these questions are leading?"

"I have only hopes," I said, as I had said to Ramiel.

I got back to the office with five minutes to spare. At five-thirty, right on the nose, I walked Mrs. Pettigrew.

I led her into the back office and switched on the light. "Sit down," I told her. "I'm going to start by asking you if you shot Mr. Ealing, your boss; or Alchises, or a man named Al Bensinger, who were found dead today at the home of Dr. Carl Stokes."

"No," she said. "I didn't. I give you my word. If I dropped down dead this minute, I never did that, or ever thought of doing it."

"You like Mrs. Ealing?"

"Better than any woman I ever knew."

"Then every truth you tell me will help her. That'll make you glad, won't it? Now, about Gwynne Ealing. You used to have a job with him."

"I don't see what that has to do with it," she argued.

"I'm beginning to think that it may have a lot to do with it. We're looking for a motive, Mrs. Pettigrew. Think back to when you worked for Gwynne Ealing. About that bad heart of his. When did he find out that his heart was bad?"

"He had that condition when I first came to work for him. He'd been that way for years. Dr. Stokes was looking after him, studying him and treating him all the time."

"Dr. Stokes gave him medicine?"

"All the time. Different kinds. I don't know what they were. Anyway, Mr. Ealing began to get better. He'd talk about his heart improvement to Dr. Stokes and he'd feel better still."

"The night he died?" I began.

"I wasn't there," she said.

"She'd been gone from both the Ealings when they died, I reflected. "But you discovered him dead," I prompted her once more.

"I came home after he'd gone to bed, and in the morning when I didn't hear him moving around, I looked in. He didn't move when I spoke to him. So I called Dr. Stokes, who came over and—"

"And pronounced him dead, yes?" I finished for her. "But while you were waiting for the doctor, did you observe Gwynne Ealing? How did he look?"

"Natural," she said. "He was an old man, pretty pale from being sick and indoors so much. He lay there in his bed and looked—well, just natural."

"I see," I said. And I was seeing, more and more clearly, through five or six tangled and crumpled veils.

"Now, after that, you and your husband went to work for Gwynne Ealing's nephew, Richard Ealing."

"That's right."

"Try to think of anything that may have happened between Dr. Stokes and Richard Ealing a month ago."

She clicked her tongue a little. "Well," she said, "the doctor was over one afternoon when Mrs. Ealing was gone. And the two of them talked quite a while, pretty seriously. I've never thought much about it until now."

"Think about it now," I told her. "Well, I was in the hall and they were in the gun room. The door was open. I heard Dr. Stokes say something about 'Hasn't this gone on long enough? How long do I have to wait?' And Mr. Dick said, 'Just trust me, but don't try to shove me, or you don't get anything. This isn't what you call a formal business deal.' Then the doctor said, 'You mean for me to forget it?' And Mr. Dick said, 'I'll fix up you, and I will.'"

"Fix the doctor up how?"

She shook her head. "I couldn't see. Because Mr. Dick heard me or saw me and called out. Is that you, Mrs. Pettigrew? Bring us in some soda and a bottle of rye. I went and got it, and when I came back, Mr. Dick was laughing at something the doctor said. Mr. Dick said, 'That might scare some people, Carl, but not me. You know you'd have to be scared, too. You'd be even worse hit than I would.' I brought in the whiskey and the soda, and they closed the door when I went out."

client supplies next winter are probable, assuming Mideast-Palestine is not cut off and defense needs are normal. But better order your fuel, coal or oil, now.

Greenies Drop Fourth Straight Game By 4-2

Wilson Comes From Behind To Beat Locals; Kelly Kee's Second Loss; Two Teams Meet Here Tonight

Manager Bob Cohen and his Greenville Greenies dropped their fourth straight game last night as the Wilson Tobs took a 4-2 victory over the Greenies in Wilson in the first of a two-game series. The win for the Tobs was their fourth against the Greenies this season.

The Greenies scored one run in the second frame when McQuillen doubled, Nash and Riggs walked to lead the bases and Kee was walked to force in McQuillen.

The Tobs came back in their half of the second frame to knot the count at one-all when Jos Moss first man up, hit a 340-foot homer over the left field wall.

The Tobs then went out in front in the fourth frame with a home run, which was scored without a hit. Rehm reached first on Nessing's error, Dickens and Moss were walked, leading the bases, and then as Sanner hit into a double play Rehm scored from third.

The Tobs clinched the victory with a run in the fifth inning and added an insurance marker in the sixth. Burkhead walked to lead off the fifth, and after Polink had struck out, went to second on a hit. In the sixth Rehm doubled and a home on Dickens' single.

The Greenies scored their other run of the game in the seventh frame when Sposo led off with a double and Riggs singled to bring him home.

Bruce Kramer went the route for the Tobs to win the victory, giving up only six hits scattered among as many Greenville players.

Three double plays by the Greenies helped to stave off the Wilson killings. The Tobs made two twin killings.

Three of the Greenies at the present time are hitting above the .300 mark, according to the latest figures from the Howe News Bureau, which includes all games through July 5th. Bob Cohen, acting manager of the Greenies, is leading the trio with a .350 percent, boosting his average of last week by 13 points. Cohen, who has seen action in 75 games, has been at bat 320 times, collected 112 hits for 174 total bases, which included 21 doubles, 8 triples and three homers.

The other two Greenies hitting above the .300 mark are Joe Spina with a .310 percent. In 67 games he has been at bat 248 times, collected 77 hits, for 95 total bases, which included twelve doubles and two homers. Last week Spina was hitting .316. Wiley Nash in 73 games has collected 81 hits in 299 trips to the plate, good for 135 total bases, including 20 doubles, 5 triples and 5 homers.

Charlie Chute, ex-Greenville now with the New Bern Bears, is leading the Coastal Plain League hitters with a .423 percent.

Wiley Nash is leading the Greenies in RBI's with 53 to his credit while Bob Cohen is close behind with 51. Rusey continues to set the pace in RBI's with 52.

Joe Nessing with 15 stolen bases is second in the league in this department, being exceeded only by Cox of Tarboro, who is leading the league with 26.

In team batting the Greenies continue to cling to the cellar position with .261, the same average they had the previous week. A total of 2635 have been at bat, scored 967 runs, collected 687 hits for 923 total bases. They have hit 117 two baggers, 28 triples, 21 homers (the least of any club in the league). The league-leading Tarboro Tars continue to set the pace in team batting with .315 percent.

In team fielding the Greenies this week moved from fifth position held last week to third place this week with a .950 percentage. The Greenies are second in double plays with 66, and second only by Kinston who has 76. The Greenies have committed 150 errors for fifth place among the other teams in the league. The seventh place Wilson Tobs continue to set the pace in team fielding with .959 percent.

Three of the Greenies' pitchers are pitching .500 or better ball with John Kovalchick leading Greenville pitcher at the present time with 8 wins and 5 losses. Arroyo has a .500 percent with 9 wins and 9 losses and is second in the strikeout division with 129 to his credit, being topped only by Harry Helmer of Rocky Mount with 148. Junior Yohn with 6 wins and 6 losses and Kelly Kee with one win and one loss are the other two Greenville pitchers in the 500 class.

Three men share the spotlight in the pitching department in the league with Eddie Neville of Tarboro being the leader with his 8 and 0 record. However, two Rocky Mount chucks are setting a fast pace. Benton has 17 and 3 record while Helmer has won 16 and lost 4.

Mel Patton Falls To Old Timer In 100 Meter Dash

Evanston, Ill., July 10—(AP)—Old timer Barney Ewell, showing his heels to youngsters like Pell Mel Patton to win the 100 meter dash, goes after a sweep in the sprints today in the 200 meter feature of the qualifying windup of the American Olympic track tryouts.

The explosive triumph of the 31-year-old Ewell over heavily-favored Patton topped the first round of the trials last night. The barbeque-ed Negro whizzed through the 100 meters in 10.2 seconds to match the world record set by Jesse Owens of Ohio State in 1936 and equaled by Hal Davis of Southern California in 1941.

The former Penn State star, too young for the 1932 and 1936 Olympics, was considered possibly too old for the London games next month. He had been rated probably a third in the 100 meter event. The favored Patton, labeled the "world's human," got off to a slow start and never caught up. The Southern California streak inched out Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace for second.

The surprise win by Ewell, who holds six national sprint titles, sets up today's 200 meter dash as the finale highlight.

Eleven events, with the first three finishers in each winning an Olympic berth, are scheduled. The wind-up will start at 2 p. m. EST and a crowd of nearly 35,000 is expected to turn out. Some 20,000 saw last night's events in Northwestern's Dyrche Stadium.

Hank Behrman has returned to the Brooklyn Dodgers but that doesn't mean that all is well with Hank. Although Hank was born in Brooklyn and lives in the suburbs of that fair city he was most reluctant to leave Montreal and return to the Dodgers. In the past couple of seasons Hank had been shuffled about more than pleased him so when he found Montreal to his taste it was only natural that he wanted to remain there. He was doing all right on the mound, too, as his record of eight victories against two losses should indicate.

The first time the Dodgers recalled him from Montreal, Behrman simply ignored the order to return and stayed with the Royals. It took all the gulle Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher could muster to convince Hank that all was peace and quiet in Brooklyn and that he could mean a pennant to the Dodgers. They assured him that he was ready to stick in the big show this time. Only then did Hank agree to return to Flatbush.

The 28-year-old right-hander came to the Dodgers in 1944. He was sent to Pittsburgh last season along with Kirby Higbe but the Pirates weren't pleased with his efforts and returned him to the Dodgers. He won five games for the Brooklyn club last season, two at the expense of the Pirates. Hank helped the club considerably as a relief hurler during the torrid pennant drive and thought he was set for the coming season. His feelings were injured when he was sent to Montreal this spring and he decided he wanted no more of the Dodgers.

BOYS LEAGUE

In one of the best played and most dramatic games of the season the Orioles of the Training School won their second straight game over the strong Giants of Third St. by the score of 6 to 5 in an extra inning game. The win gave the Orioles a one-game lead in the second half of the Intermediate League. The usual big bats of the Giants were practically dormant until the seventh inning at which time the Orioles were leading by the score of 3 to 1. In the top of the seventh, the Giants broke loose with a rash of hits. Larry Flye, the first hitter of the Giants, hit a long one down the leftfield line for a triple, John Sideris, the next batter, promptly scored. Flye with another lusty triple into left center. After Joe Rowland had filled out the pitcher, Kent Lee doubled to right to score Sideris with the tying run. Before the side could be retired Sydney Briley hit his fourth homer of the week to score Lee ahead of him to put his team two runs ahead. Before this outburst of extra base hits the Giants had been able to get only two hits off the slants of Doug Morgan, the Orioles' ace chucker. In the Oriole half of the inning the home team failed to score twice to deadlock the score. In the extra inning the Giants went out in order. In the last half of the inning two errors enabled the Orioles to score the winning run. The Orioles played a sparkling defensive game and were led at the bat by Jody Taylor with three singles and a double and Leon Moore with a double and single.

Training School's Red Sox went into a tie for first place with the Dodgers of Third St. by defeating the Lions of W. Greenville by the score of 8 to 5. One big inning by the Sox proved the undoing of the Lions. The Sox scored five runs in the second to take a commanding 6 to 1 lead that they never relinquished. Leroy Quinn with two singles, a double and homer and Dallas Evans and Bobby Nunn with two hits each were the leaders for the Sox. Jerry Phillips and Jimmy Hendrix hit triples for the Lions.

Olympics Exploiting Kids Says Russian Newspaper

Moscow, July 10—(AP)—The United States and western European nations were accused by a Russian newspaper today of "exploiting children" in the coming Olympic games.

Russia is not competing in the Olympics.

The Moscow News said: "Exploitation of children is widely practiced in the United States and western Europe.

"Jimmy McLane, the American Olympic hope is a 16-year-old lad. (McLane, now 17, is one of the three Americans who qualified yesterday for the 400 meter event in swimming. He is from Akron, Ohio.) According to the French newspaper record, Australia will be represented at the Olympic games by a 13-year-old, Marjorie Mackaway and England by 14-year-old Eleanor Gordon and 15-year-old John Wadrop.

"The National teams of many western European countries will evidently likewise include children whose sport careers are doomed to be crippled before they get a chance to mature."

The newspaper pointed out that exploitation of child athletes was impossible by law in the USSR.

While the Olympics are going on in England the USSR is going to see one of its greatest summer sports seasons. But it will be a season in which juveniles are forbidden to enter races or other events against adults.
