

Delaying Tactics Start In Senate

Southerners Begin Filibuster Preliminaries As Anti-Poll Tax Legislation Is Brought Up; Republicans In No Hurry; Will Wind Up Special Session Soon

Washington, July 29—(AP)—Anti-poll tax legislation was brought up in the Senate today and Southern Democrats immediately began filibustering tactics.

It was evident that this first measure to get consideration in the special Congress session would draw a lot of talk, but probably no action.

The anti-poll tax legislation would outlaw payment of state poll taxes as a requirement for voting in federal elections. It has passed the House.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) moved that the Senate consider it, saying he did so in a "hopeful spirit."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) promptly delaying tactics. He asked a quorum call. This is a call of the roll to determine whether a majority of the Senate is present.

Senator Stennis (E-Miss.) was ready to make a long speech.

For several hours late yesterday it appeared that a "gentleman's agreement" might hold a talkfest on the political issue.

Russell said he would drop the bill if the Republicans would agree (A) to call up only the poll tax repealer this session and (B) to change that House-passed bill into a proposed constitutional amendment. Since that would require ratification by 36 of the 48 states, the 11 Southern states, if they stuck together, would need only two more votes to block it.

Wherry, Russell, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and other leaders of both the majority party and Dixie Democrats held numerous closed-door conferences. But all came out saying no agreement had been reached.

"Even if we passed the poll tax we still must consider anti-lynch and FEPC," Wherry said.

And Taft, chairman of the GOP policy committee, added: "We will take up the poll tax bill as well."

Senator McCarthy (D-Cal.) giving his own version of the holdup, said his own report to the Republican position was "Oh, yeah!"

Across the House, Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) sponsor of the pending bill to outlaw poll taxes now required by seven Southern states and New Hampshire, took sharp issue with the proposed compromise.

He called any plan to substitute a constitutional amendment for an outright law "a shabby device to evade the issue" and "a meaningless gesture."

"In the Senate, there was no sign of any great Republican unhappiness over the impending filibuster."

"The Southerners are entitled to a reasonable time for debate," said Taft. He explained that sessions probably would run only until about 6 p. m. today and tomorrow.

As for next week and whether there might be night meetings if the Dixie contingent still held the floor, Taft said he didn't know.

But he recalled Mr. Truman's contention that the Republicans can pass an anti-poll tax bill if they want to and added: "We'll exhaust every parliamentary effort to do it."

The plain fact is that hours and days of time-consuming oratory by Southern Democrats will simply make it easier for the GOP leadership to carry out its formally announced promise. That is to give "consideration" to Mr. Truman's anti-inflation and other proposals and then wind up the special session "as soon as possible."

Bevin Hints End Demobilization British Forces

Government Considers Step; Decision Soon; Awaits Result Negotiations

London, July 29—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today the British government is considering a halt in demobilization of its armed forces because of the tension between Russia and the West.

He told a hushed House of Commons a decision will be reached "in a few days."

He held out hope that current diplomatic maneuvers of Britain, the United States and France with Russia might determine whether there is a chance of ending the cold war, hottest at Berlin which the Russians have blockaded for a month by land.

Bevin said the Labor government, in allowing British armed forces to be reduced at the rate of 20,000 a month, had not assumed "that the policy of our war time allies would lead to a situation which might involve the use of force."

"The situation that has now arisen has, of course, compelled us to reexamine the whole position," he said. "I have not given up hope."

War-time Prime Minister Winston Churchill pledged the Labor government the support of the conservative opposition he leads. He asked whether "modification would be halted until at least the Berlin situation is entirely resolved."

The ambassadors of Britain, the U.S. and France are expected to talk with Molotov within a few days about the Berlin blockade crisis and other problems.

"The object of the diplomatic steps now being taken is to clarify the position in order to ascertain whether there is any prospect of removing obstacles to discussions taking place with a view to a settlement which the British government desire and which we hope may lead to peace and security in Europe for us all," Bevin said.

I. G. Farben Found Innocent War Plot

Acquit Directors On Charge Plotting And Waging Aggressive War; Nine Convicted Of Looting; More Findings Friday

Nuremberg, July 29—(AP)—A U. S. military tribunal today acquitted all 24 directors of the giant I. G. Farben chemical combine of plotting and waging aggressive war, but convicted nine of them of looting in countries overrun by Hitler's Nazis.

Findings on two more counts—looting crimes against humanity—will be dealt with tomorrow.

The court found that the blame for plotting and waging war lay, clearly, with the politicians and the militarists of Hitler's third Reich.

The opinion delivered after an 11-month trial, dealt with five counts against Farben's board of directors. The court said evidence failed to support the prosecutions on two of the counts, dealing with aggressive war.

A third count, spoliation and plunder of occupied countries, was amply proved, the judgment said, against directors Hermann Schmitz, Georg von Schnitzler, Fritz Ter Meer, Ernst Burger, Paul Harffinger, Max Illmer, Friedrich Jaehne, Heinrich Oster, and Hans Kuegler.

The court will deal tomorrow with the remaining two counts—involving crimes against humanity. Sentences will be imposed tomorrow afternoon.

The plunder charge dealt with Farben's activities in France, Norway, Poland and Russia. Here, the court found, Farben officials preceded the army and laid plans before the war to take over and operate various industries.

Such planning and carrying out of such plans, the tribunal ruled, constituted a "war crime."

Supplant Eccles In Hearing Over Inflation Checks

Administration Switches Plans To Avert 'Chill' Being Put On Program

Washington, July 29—(AP)—The administration switched its plans today to shut off the threat of a chill being put on President Truman's anti-inflation program before it could get sympathetic airing.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe, a Truman appointee, was shown in as the first witness before the Senate Banking Committee. The committee is studying Mr. Truman's proposals to halt rising prices.

This speed-up in plans came after committee chairman Tobey (R-NH) said the first witness would be Marshall S. Eccles. Mr. Truman demoted Eccles from the FRB chairmanship when Eccles scoffed at the anti-inflation ideas advanced by the administration last November.

By squeezing in McCabe, who succeeded Eccles as FRB chief, the administration sought to assure the first licks would be in support of Mr. Truman's plan. Eccles, months ago, said Mr. Truman's program might curb but not cure inflation.

Until jettisoned by the threat of Eccles getting the limelight first, the administration had planned to center its fire at House Banking Committee hearings. These opened with former OPA administrator Paul Porter's testimony today.

Its strategy was to have McCabe and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, follow Porter before the House committee. Snyder also has differed with Eccles over credit control steps.

McCabe had said he couldn't be ready to testify before next week. Snyder had said he preferred to have McCabe testify before he did. The committee's call for Eccles forced the speedy revamping of plans.

Eccles may get an opportunity to give his views later.

Eccles told a congressional committee last November that the 10-point anti-inflation program President Truman presented then and has now revived with some changes was not the medicine needed.

Snyder said the variety of price and wage controls suggested by the President would be merely curbs rather than a cure for inflationist troubles, that a real cure should include cuts in government spending.

Home Economics Conference At East Carolina College Nears Close

Dr. Edgar M. Finck, supervising director of the Toms River schools in New Jersey and visiting professor of education at East Carolina Teachers College this summer, described for 135 North Carolina vocational home economics teachers now holding a five-day conference on the campus here a course in family relationships for high school students. Dr. Finck was principal speaker Wednesday morning at a conference on the family.

Dr. Finck discussed the need of providing through education wise guidance for young people in living happily and successfully in the home. He based many of his remarks on a course in family relationships which is now being given at Toms River and which has become nationally famous. The schools, he said, must share the responsibility of providing training which will enable young men and women to establish happy family relationships and to meet the problems of marriage and parenthood.

The 1943 conference for North Carolina vocational homemaking teachers opened at the college here on Monday afternoon. Representatives from forty-two of the eastern counties of the state are present to discuss plans for the coming school year, to hear addresses by experts in the field of vocational education, and to participate in a series of panel discussions on various aspects of family life.

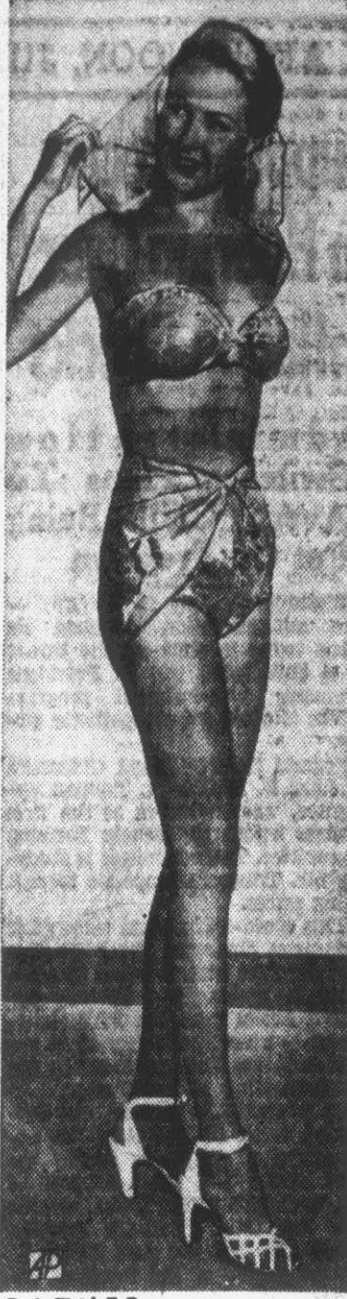

Catherine T. Dennis of Raleigh, state supervisor of home economics education, headed a list of teachers and supervisors who on Monday afternoon outlined the purposes of the conference. Those attending were welcomed to the campus by President John D. Messick and Mrs. Adelaide E. Bloxton, head of the home economics department of East Carolina. Margaret Lewis of Chapel Hill presided at the meeting.

A panel discussion on the techniques of evaluation in the North Carolina homemaking program was the chief event of Tuesday's session. Participating in it were five home economics teachers from this section of the state: Martha Black, Rolesville; Alice Williamson, Swan Quarter; Ruth Warren, Hope Mills; Christine Waters, Clinton; and Rob Cherry, Roanoke Rapids.

In addition to Dr. Finck, speakers who reported Wednesday morning on various aspects of education for family living were Miss Dennis; Doris Norton, Laurel Hill high school; Marie Shuffler, Grantham high school; and Alice Strawn, Greenville high school. With Emily Burt Person of Tarboro and Mabel Lacy of the East Carolina faculty they conducted a series of sectional discussions during the afternoon.

Mrs. Evangeline Thompson of the Dunn high school was presiding officer on Wednesday.

Those attending the conference will be entertained at a tea given this afternoon in the Classroom building. The meeting will come to a close tomorrow at noon.

Summer Glamor Pick-Up

By BETTY CLARKE

AP Newfeatures Beauty Editor

If you've been beachcombing this summer, perhaps you are beginning to look a little ragged around the eyes. After sun, sand and surf sessions you may take on a weather-beaten look and be more in need of repairs than your much abused sail boat or golf clubs.

Finger-nails take punishment. If you don't keep them short, you're bound to split the tips when wielding a tennis racket or a golf club.

During the summer months sometimes it is wise to go without nail polish for a week or two at a time. During this period some girls find it helpful to coat their nails with white iodine. They follow this up by rubbing a rich cream or olive oil around the cuticle and nail.

If you are a soak-up-the-sunshine girl with a brown-as-a-berry look, you'd better start creaming and oiling your skin after beach sunnings. This will help to prevent excessive dryness, the result of too much sun. It will also keep your skin smooth and youthful looking so

Cold Cuts Tempt Appetites

When the family straggles home, one by one, on a hot day, it takes real ingenuity to tempt their appetites. Meet them with a glass of iced tea and give them time to relax before serving dinner. Then be ready with a tempting menu high-lighted with delicious, nourishing cold cuts.

Assorted Cold Cuts

Variety Lends Interest

Variety lends interest and costs no more when it's cold cuts you're serving. So serve cold cuts often in hot weather. Remember they contain the same high quality proteins and important B vitamins as the meat you cook at home. Be sure you get highest quality by asking for Wilson's Certified Cold Cuts.

Potato salad, kidney bean salad, and a tray of celery, carrot sticks, and tomato wedges are excellent companions for cold cuts.

One Hot Dish

For the one hot dish, why not coffee or tea? ... and if you want special thanks, add hot rolls with Wilson's Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter. It's a combination that never fails to win warm approval.

The Wilson Label protects your table

Chicken Casserole makes an easy Summer dinner. Try this for next Sunday. Buy quick-frozen Wilson's Certified Chicken for Braising (it's all dressed, ready for the pan). Defrost in refrigerator, at room temperature, or immersed in cold water, depending on time available. Season (flour and brown in hot fat if desired), place in a casserole, top with slices of green pepper and onion, add 1/4 cup milk or cream, cover, and cook until tender in a moderate oven, 325° F., about two hours.

Reasonably Priced

You'll be pleasantly surprised at how reasonably Wilson's quick-frozen chickens are priced. Take your choice of Broiling, Frying, Braising, and Roasting Chickens but make sure it's Wilson's Certified.

Singers Will Present Program Thursday

The Ambassador Male Quartette will give a program of vocal music and of selections with Swiss bells in the Austin auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College on Thursday evening, August 5, at 8:00 o'clock.

The entertainment is the second to be offered during the summer session by the college entertainment committee, which earlier in the season sponsored a recital by Norman Cordon, North Carolina opera star.

J. O. Derrick, chairman of the college entertainment committee, has extended an invitation to the public to attend the program given by the Ambassador quartette.

Masons To Honor Fred M. Stokes

Greenville Lodge No. 284 A F & A M has selected Monday night, August 2, as the night on which to honor Fred M. Stokes. "For his outstanding achievement as the Architect in charge of constructing the Masonic Temple at the corner of Pitt and Fifth streets."

From the time he received the working tools from the Master of the lodge until its completion and dedication on March 20, 1947, Mr. Stokes "labored diligently and unceasingly to bring the project to a

Weather Control Potential Rival Of Atomic Bomb

Washington, July 29—(AP)—The United States is exploring the possibility of using the weather as a military weapon.

Secrecy as deep as that surrounding the atom bomb and germ warfare development cloaks these studies of "meteorological warfare."

Officials of the armed forces and national defense organization declined today to discuss the project or disclose what progress researchers have made.

However, a recent paper published in London by the international committee for study of European questions mentioned military developments of various nations and had this to say of the United States: "She x x x has got well ahead with her studies of bacteriological warfare and meteorological warfare. The latter is likely to become the most destructive of all."

What military scientists want is a method of controlling the weather and directing its effect on an enemy nation. Such control would offer various possibilities, not the least of which would be the ability to create droughts and thus destroy the food supply of a nation.

This—if attainable—would be a form of strategic warfare ranking alongside existing methods for destroying a nation's munitions factories by air bombing.

In World War II some infrequent and small-scale attacks were made on growing crops in Germany through the use of incendiary bombs to light fields of ripened grain. On a still smaller scale, there were occasional oil spraying attacks, mainly nuisance raids, on gardens of Japanese occupation forces. But these efforts in no way were on anything resembling a strategic scale.

Arrest Woman In Raiding Still On Outskirts Of City

Pitt County ABC Officers J. M. Ward and C. T. Manning seized and destroyed a 30-gallon steel drum type still Wednesday afternoon, with seventy gallons of sugar and corn meal mash.

Arrested were Claude Brown and Penieva Hinson, both colored and both of Greenville.

The still was located near the Evans Street extension, just outside the city limits.

Both defendants were placed in county jail in default of $200 bond each.

Officer Ward stated that he had been raiding stills for something over eleven years, but that this was the first time he had ever arrested a woman at one.

Big Enrollment

A registration of 555 students at East Carolina Teachers College for the second term of the summer session has been reported from the office of Dr. J. K. Long, registrar. The period for enrollment closed on July 26. As compared with a registration of 495 students for the same term last year, this summer's figures show an increase of 60 students.

Men outnumber women at the college this term by 307 to 248. A total of 103 students are enrolled for regular graduate work leading to a degree or for advanced courses. Among undergraduates there are 40 freshmen, 96 sophomores, 165 juniors, 149 seniors, and two special students.

Plastic Cocoon Fleet Of B-29s Back In Service

Tucson, Ariz., July 29—(AP)—B-29 Superforts at Davis-Monthan Field are rolling back into active duty.

Put away in plastic cocoons for preservation last year, the big bombers now are being stripped of protective coatings and readied for flight once again.

The Air Force won't say just now many of the big planes will be called from retirement. Officials here say the planes are called from storage by serial numbers sent from Washington.

It was a little over a year ago that 107 technicians went to work putting a $1,200 coat on the 750,000 B-29s. Each was given five coverings of the protective plastic and tucked away. The number put in the cocoons was never officially announced.

Holds Out Hope Of Draft Delay

Washington, July 29—(AP)—The army cheerily said today that if enough men continue to volunteer maybe you won't be drafted after all.

Lt. Gen. William S. Paul, Chief of Army Personnel, held out that hope to draft-age men in reporting that 18,000 swapped civvies for GI duds during the first two weeks of July. This is more than half the 30,000 monthly average the army has figured it will need during the next year to boost its strength from 543,000 to 790,000.

Paul noted, however, that three-year enlistments of some 240,000 soldiers are now expiring. He said the army is making an intensive drive to get these trained men to sign up for another hitch.

Despite the volunteer upsurge, draft officials are proceeding with preparations to organize a military manpower stockpile from which the armed services can draw as needed beginning around October 1.

Costing More

New York, July 29—(AP)—The American Tobacco Company has raised the wholesale price of Lucky Strike, Herbert Tareyton and Pall Mall cigarettes by seven-tenths of a cent a pack, effective today.

Retailers expect the action to result in a one-cent per pack increase for consumers.

Life Insurance In State Increases

New York, July 29—(AP)—North Carolina was one of only 14 states to show an increase in ordinary life insurance purchases in the first six months of this year, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

Analysis of the purchases of ordinary life insurance by states, made by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association of Hartford, Conn., shows that in the first half of this year North Carolina purchases were $133,583,000, up 2 percent from the corresponding period last year.

EX-SENATOR DIES

Washington, July 29—(AP)—James Ed Watson of Indiana, Republican leader of the Senate during President Hoover's administration died today at the age of 84.

Build Memorial To U. S. Airmen

Berlin, July 29—(AP)—The people of western Berlin have erected a memorial to two American fliers who died last Sunday flying food to the blockade city.

The tablet was built on the spot where Lt. Charles H. King of Britton, S. D., and Lt. Robert W. Stuber of Arlington, Calif., crashed. Each left a widow and child at Wiesbaden.

The plaque was placed in the apartment house which the C-47 cargo plane struck. It is decorated with flowers and bears these words: "Two American fliers here became sacrifices of the blockade of Berlin. You gave your lives for us. Berliners of the western occupation sectors will never forget you. We stand deeply moved at this spot which has been dedicated through your deaths. Once we were enemies, yet you now gave your lives for us. We are now doubly in your debt."

Berlin groups are collecting funds for the fliers' families. The Women's Union of west Berlin arranged an outdoor memorial service for next Sunday.

The Santa Fe Trail was once known as "Mexican Trace."

LOOK FOR THE BEAUTIFUL

A home in which I am frequently entertained is filled with beautiful things — beautiful books, antique furniture, plaques, pictures, and things artistic gathered from all parts of the world. Recently I asked the gracious man and woman who preside over this home how they went about it to collect so many beautiful things. Their reply was, "You have to be interested in beautiful things, be on the lookout for them all the time, and visit the places where you expect to find them."

I was struck by the fact that the principle underlying this declaration is usually applicable to the living of every-day life.

Look for the beautiful, seek it out, go where it is. This is sound advice for anyone seeking a happy life and peaceful relationships with others. Strife generally arises from a disposition to look for trouble; unkindness from refusal to tolerate the weakness of others. If we are alert for the beautiful, we shall be surprised how often we find it where we least suspect its existence. If we seek out the places where beauty is to be found, it will refresh and strengthen us and send us away with its benediction of peace.

By LYNN HISBET

DIX HILL—State hospital at Raleigh, commonly known as "Dix Hill," is the oldest of state institutions for care of mental patients. Although the 1245 acres of land is only one third the acreage at Morganton, about the same as that at Goldsboro and Caswell, the Raleigh unit is carried on budget account books at highest value of any state hospital. Even so, the $4,815,687 book valuation is generally conceded to be much less than half its actual value in cash on today's market. The newly acquired Camp Butner hospital unit may be worth more, both as the real value and budget book figures. (Butner was acquired since the latest budget book was printed and has not been assigned a value. The state has invested approximately a million and a half dollars, but all estimates of real value range from seven and a half to twelve millions on current replacement costs.)

COSTS—These current costs and anticipated further rises are giving budgeters and administrators of state institutions severe headaches. The long range permanent improvement appropriation bill of the 1947 generally allocated $2,092,334 for buildings at Dix Hill. Advance information respecting tentative bids for a new epileptic building indicates this amount will do little more than half what was contemplated when the allocation was made nearly two years ago. Similar experience was had in major improvements included in the regular biennial appropriation. Considerable remodeling and refurbishing has been done, but only because the budget bureau permitted transfer of funds originally designed for other uses. Inadequacy of current appropriations is also encountered with respect to keeping and obtaining efficiently trained personnel. That condition is not peculiar to hospitals, but runs through every activity of state government—institutional and departmental.

DESPERATE—The situation at Dix Hill is more immediately desperate, but serves to emphasize a general trend. The 1947 legislature allocated $3,051,687 for operation of the hospital for the 1947-48 biennium. In keeping with budget practice this overall amount was broken down into such items as doctors and nurses salaries, food and custodial care, plant maintenance, etc. A few weeks ago both the resident superintendent and the assistant superintendent resigned to take other positions at much higher salaries. Dr. David Young, general superintendent of the hospital system, has been devoting much of his time to keeping this one institution running. No competent person has been found who would take the job at the fixed salary of $6,000.

SPECIAL—The state hospital board at a recent meeting adopted resolutions asking for more adequate allocation for salaries of trained personnel. The advisory budget commission on occasion of its visit to Dix Hill informally authorized General Superintendent Young to get a resident superintendent, even at more than budget scale. Immediate urgency of need seemed to justify this action. At the same time,

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOWLE

New York—(AP)—This is the tale of the piece of burnt toast that back-fired.

Wilbur Peebles awoke with a bad taste in his mouth. It may have been that extra cigar, or it might have been that he got hold of a bad olive in a martini.

It was late.

"Just cawfventoes," Wilbur yawned, heading for his shower.

His loving spouse, Trellis Mae, translated this to mean her soulmate didn't want to wait for his usual ham and eggs. She had the coffee steaming ready when he hit the breakfast nook. But the toaster was stuck.

Wilbur fiddled impatiently, little curls of smoke rose from the toaster. Then up clicked the toast. Burned. Too burnt to eat.

"Ugh-h-h-a-a-r-o-w-w-r-r-r," said Wilbur, making zoo noises. But there was no time to wait for more. He gulped his coffee and left.

Wilbur missed his toast. He still had the bad taste in his mouth, and as he drove to work his annoyance grew. It didn't help any when his secretary, Miss Alice Squelch, reached the office 15 minutes late.

"I don't mind your not knowing how to spell," Wilbur greeted her, "but aren't you old enough to tell time yet either?"

Miss Squelch didn't answer. She just flounced down to the drugstore to get some orange juice and coffee—against all office rules.

"Out late with your boy friend last night?" said the counterwoman cheerfully.

"Save that guff for your wife, Baldy," snapped Miss Squelch. She departed without leaving her usual nickel tip.

The counterwoman viciously banged some dishes on the tin drain. He looked in the mirror at the bald spot on his head. When the dairyman came in an hour later to deliver his milk, the counterwoman bawled him out for being alive.

And so it spread from person to person throughout the day. Wilbur's ripple of resentment over his burnt toast grew into a wave of contagious ill-will.

Sometime after noon the dairyman dropped a case of milk on the foot of the man who owned a grocery store in the suburbs, the store where Mrs. Peebles traded. The owner later bawled out his delivery boy.

Still smarting the delivery boy honked his horn sharply as he sped across an intersection. The traffic cop, nerves tingling, leaped three feet in the air as the truck whirled past.

Back in his office something had happened to change Wilbur Peebles' whole outlook. The boss had called him in and given him a raise.

Wilbur came out grinning, his heart full of good will.

"Take the rest of the day off, Miss Squelch," he said cheerfully. "I'm going home early."

"I'm giving my two weeks' notice," she told him surlily.

As he reached an intersection near his home Wilbur failed to see the light was changing, the traffic cop blew him to a halt.

"Another wise guy," said the cop, the same one started by the grocery truck's horn. "Maybe a ticket will slow you down."

Wilbur meekly took the ticket and drove on. As he parked before his home, the delivery boy emerged.

"Good afternoon," said Wilbur. "What's good about it?" said the boy.

When he entered his door, Wilbur met a baleful glare from Trellis Mae.

"That smart-aleck delivery boy?" she exclaimed. "Always full of lip. And now I suppose I have to drop everything and get your dinner. Why don't you come home at the same time every day—like a normal husband?"

Wilbur was a little overwhelmed. His good will evaporated.

"What's the matter with everybody today?" he demanded crossly. "Has the world gone crazy?"

He didn't even remember the piece of burnt toast that started it all.

"Good afternoon," said Wilbur. "What's good about it?" said the boy.

When he entered his door, Wilbur met a baleful glare from Trellis Mae.

"That smart-aleck delivery boy?" she exclaimed. "Always full of lip. And now I suppose I have to drop everything and get your dinner. Why don't you come home at the same time every day—like a normal husband?"

Wilbur was a little overwhelmed. His good will evaporated.

"What's the matter with everybody today?" he demanded crossly. "Has the world gone crazy?"

He didn't even remember the piece of burnt toast that started it all.

And so it spread from person to person throughout the day. Wilbur's ripple of resentment over his burnt toast grew into a wave of contagious ill-will.

Sometime after noon the dairyman dropped a case of milk on the foot of the man who owned a grocery store in the suburbs, the store where Mrs. Peebles traded. The owner later bawled out his delivery boy.

Still smarting the delivery boy honked his horn sharply as he sped across an intersection. The traffic cop, nerves tingling, leaped three feet in the air as the truck whirled past.

Back in his office something had happened to change Wilbur Peebles' whole outlook. The boss had called him in and given him a raise.

Women IN THE CHURCH

Mary Fowler

The fourth National Assembly of the United Council of Church Women will be held in Milwaukee, Wis., from November 15 to 18. Every woman who is a member of a Christian Church is invited to attend.

Representing the China Nutritional Aid Council in the United States at the present time is Mrs. M. H. Kiang, a former executive secretary of the Council, and whose husband is a member of the United Nations secretariat. Mrs. Kiang was recently entertained by nurses and nutrition authorities at a luncheon in the New York hospital.

When the Mary Porter Gamewell high school of the Methodist Church opened in Peking, China, 75 years ago, there were only two students enrolled, and one of these ran away, frightened by the new manner of life, before noon of the first day. Now there are 900 girls in the school, and there is a continual waiting list for admission. Several thousand girls have graduated from their courses, and many hundreds of them have gone on to college. The school is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Chang Nai Ching, the former a graduate of the University of Michigan and of Garrett Biblical Institute, and his wife a second-generation graduate of Gamewell high school. They kept the school open all through the war years, even when a Japanese "adviser" sat in the principal's office to see that proper "thought" was given the students.

Chinese farmers in the region of Kuitun, 100 miles up the China coast from Foochow, Fukien Province, where the Methodist Church has had missionary service for 100 years, are in desperate plight because of recent inadequate harvests, plus general food shortage and the high cost of foodstuffs. Word of their plight comes to the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church from Miss Martha Graf, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a missionary in Kuitun. According to Miss Graf, many farm families are digging up the grass roots on the hillsides for food.

Mrs. Harper Sibley, president of the United Council of Church Women, has been named by the War Department as a member of a team which will spend this summer in Germany to aid in the restoration of cultural, religion and social institutions especially among the women.

Difficulties For N. C. Dixiecrats Over Signatures

Raleigh, N. C., July 28—(AP)—The North Carolina state's rights Democrats today were circulating petitions over the state seeking 10,000 qualified signers to get the new fourth party on the ballot.

The Dixiecrats had two problems on their hands. One was a ruling by the state elections board that petition signers, to be certified, must be registered voters who did not vote in the last Democratic or Republican primaries. The other was a ruling that the petitions must be certified by midnight next Tuesday, 90 days before the November General election.

The State's Righters took action to meet both problems.

The petitions were accompanied by letters saying "there is no time to lose. Please sign the petition and get at least 10 other good citizens and qualified voters to sign with you."

David Clark, Charlotte commercial publications owner, who has been chosen co-chairman of the petition committee, challenged the elections board ruling on the proper procedure for a new party to get on the North Carolina ballot. He did that in a public letter to attorney General Harry McMullan.

McMullan replied that the Dixiecrats might challenge the ruling in court. But he advised them first to comply with the ruling by getting 10,000 certified names on a petition. He pointed to a similar position in which the Wallace-for-President Progressive party of North Carolina found itself. The Progressive went to court to protest the state elections board ruling. Wake county Superior court held that Mary Price of Greensboro, state Progressive chairman, should have handed in the petitions before taking legal action. Her protest was dismissed. Progressive party petitions now are being checked by county boards of election.

Phillip S. Finn, Jr., North Carolina Dixiecrat chairman, said the party was consulting lawyers on whether it would be advisable to challenge the election board ruling in court.

Australia Also Sees Increased Cost-Of-Living

Sydney —(AP)—Living costs in Australia are on the way up. The climb has become steeper in the past few months. Recent increases have been made in the fixed maximum prices of beef and mutton, eggs, butter, cheese, chocolate, cocoa, tobacco and soap. Rises also were permitted in the prices for gasoline and diesel oil. Fares also have gone up.

Most increases have been around 10 percent. Price ceilings recently were taken off lamb, which now is about 25 percent dearer than early this year. Fresh vegetables, not subject to price control, are the dearest Sydney can remember. Fresh string beans cost up to 40 cents US a pound, peas almost as much.

The Sydney housewife estimates that food costs for a family of four rose between $2.45 and $3.25 a week in the first six months of 1948.

Switzerland Curbs Power Of Army Head

Bern, Switzerland —(AP)—The Swiss Federal Council has set up new military regulations which will curb the authority of the commander-in-chief under conditions of armed neutrality. The council declared that hereafter it should be clearly understood that the council will decide matters dealing with calling up troops. In time of war, however, the commander, as heretofore, is authorized to exercise free choice over personnel and materiel.

NO INQUEST SCHEDULED IN DEATH OF INFANT GIRL

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said today there would be no inquest in the death of an infant girl born to Mr. and Mrs. James Knight (colored), who was found dead early yesterday morning at their home on the Farmville highway.

The coroner attributed the death to natural causes, saying the infant apparently did not live over 2 1-2 or 3 hours after it was prematurely born. No doctor was in attendance; a midwife aided in the delivery.

Our Farm Folks

National Farm Safety Week July 25-31 has been set aside as National Farm Safety Week. Since as many accidents happen on the farm it will be gratifying if every member of the family will eliminate at least one hazard during this week. Some of the hazards which cause hundreds of accidents each year are as follows: rotten boards or planks in porches or haylofts; worn ropes, defective hand tools, stairs without handrails, in need of repair, unsafe ladders, faulty mechanical or electrical equipment, inadequately lighted haymows and barns, loose boards with nails in them, uncovered water tanks, cisterns, wells, oil saturated or paint rags; loose matches, horn on cattle, makeshift harness, small rugs at stairs, that loaded gun, matches within reach of children, improperly stored tools, toys, supplies, any tripping hazard, such as mops or brooms on stairs, and any of the scores of unsafe practices.

The leading types of accidents to farm people as revealed by the National Safety Council are: falls of persons, accidents involving machinery, accidents involving animals and hand tools, burns rank next to falls as a type of home accidents. Motor vehicle accidents kill more farm residents than any other type. Judging from past records, one out of every 18 farm residents will suffer a disabling injury. Accidental death will occur in one out of every 320 farm families. Accidents, on the average, will kill 81 farm residents every day. According to the National Fire Protection Association, four farm buildings will be destroyed by fire every hour of the day, every day of the year.

Your cooperation is needed to help reduce the great toll of lives, suffering, and expense caused by needless accidents. You can help by eliminating farm hazards, unsafe practices and by observing safety 52 weeks a year.

Method for Freezing Peaches The best varieties are Elberta, J. H. Hale, Golden Jubilee, Hale Haven and Georgia Belle. Select uniformly ripe, sound fruit. Scald in boiling water long enough to loosen the skins. With ripe fruit, scalding from 30 to 60 seconds is adequate, if water is boiling. Cold-dip in water to cool.

Remove skins, and slice or halve immediately into cold sugar-syrup containing ascorbic acid to help prevent discoloration of fruit while it is in storage and also upon thawing. To 2 cups of water add 1 level teaspoon of powdered ascorbic acid, or 2 1-2 grams. Stir and then add 3 cups of sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved and chill. This will make about 1 quart of syrup for 8 to 12 pints of peaches. Powered ascorbic acid can be ordered through the drugist or freezer locker operator. If ascorbic acid is not available, use a plain 60 per cent syrup, 6 cups of sugar to 4 cups of water. However, the appearance and flavor of the fruit treated with the syrup containing ascorbic acid is decidedly superior to that frozen in plain syrup. Fill packages with fruit and syrup, seal or close package, and freeze without delay. The most satisfactory product is obtained when only a few peaches are scalded at a time. Fruit should be cut and syrup-covered immediately to prevent darkening.

Sidelights—George Harrison is the name of the Greenville pitcher who hurled the first eight frames of last night's game with Wilson. He is a rookie and is here on option from Richmond of the Piedmont League. . . . Charlie Chute is reported to have had a falling out with Manager Tal Abernathy of the Bears and has packed his bags and headed for home. . . . After a hard and terrific struggle the Greensies have finally made it and are now resting on the bottom. . . . Congratulations to the Roanoke Rapids Jays, they have certainly been playing ball of late. . . . Ken Brooks' loss to the Tobs last night was the eighth of the season and his first to the Tobs. . . . The Greensies are still ahead of the Tobs in their series with the Greensies being victorious in nine of the fifteen contests between the two clubs this season. . . . Weather permitting the Greensies will meet the second place Rocky Mount Leafs here tonight at the local park. . . . Incidentally the Leafs have won 11 out of the 14 contests between the two clubs this season.

Many players in the major and minor leagues will have to register for the military draft in late August and September, although most war veterans will be exempt from call-ups. The registration age bracket, 18 through 25, includes a large percentage of the players in Organized Ball.

Carl Purillo of the Dodgers suffered a broken nose when he was struck by a line drive off the bat of Coach Ray Blades during pregame practice at Chicago July 20. He was sidelined for more than a week.

Hoot Evers' seventh homer of the year which came with the bases loaded in the fifth inning against Vic Raschi of the Yanks in New York July 18, was the first grand slam homer by any member of the Detroit team this season.

Nelson Potter, after pitching many years in the American League, scored his first National League triumph July 18 as he beat the Pirates at Pittsburgh, 10 to 2. Likewise, he made his first National League hit in his first trip to the plate.

Lou Boudreau, Ken Keltner and Joe Gordon, three-fourths of what is generally rated as the majors' best infield, all committed errors as Bob Feller and the Cleveland Indians lost to the A's in Philadelphia July 18th.

Hank Greenberg of the Pittsburgh Pirates makes all the road trips of the club by airplane. He claims he's too long to fit into a Pullman berth.

The year that Ted Williams hit 406, he went into the last day of the season with an average of .308, technically letting him into the manager circle. Joe Cronin, then manager of the Red Sox, offered to pull Ted from the lineup to protect the mark. "If I'm gonna be a champion, I want to win as a champion," he told Cronin. To prove that he was he made six hits in eight times at bat.

Greenies Move Into Cellar As Tobs Win By 3-2 Score

McQuillen Homers In Second Inning To Give Greensies Advantage They Held Until Eighth; Final Frame Rally Fatal

By BERT MOYE

The Greenville Greensies dropped their third straight game to the Wilson Tobs over in Wilson last night, 3-2, to move into the cellar position of the Coastal Plain League as the Roanoke Rapids Jays defeated the New Bern Bears, 8-5, at Roanoke Rapids.

The Tobs for the third straight game rallied in the final frames to defeat the Greensies and last night it was the ninth inning that they pulled the trick by shoving across a single run to take the win.

The Greensies took the lead in the second frame when Carl McQuillen sent a homer over the left center-field wall—350 feet—after one man was out.

They shutout the Tobs until the eighth frame when the Wilson lads went out in front by scoring two runs on two hits, walk, sacrifice, wild pitch and an error.

In the top of the ninth inning Manager Kelly Kee went in to pinch hit for Pitcher Harrison and came through in grand style as he connected for a homer over the center-field wall—365 feet—to tie the score at 2-2.

But Wilson came back in its half of the ninth to tally once and give Pitcher Neil Lefler a mound decision. Lefler himself led off the rally with a double and was sacrificed to third by Irv Dickens. Dickens was also safe on the play and a walk to Junior Yohn. Brooks was credited with the loss.

George Harrison, rookie, making his debut with the Greensies, pitched the first eight frames, allowing two runs, seven hits and struck out three and walked 5. He was taken out in the ninth when Kelly Kee went in to pinch hit and Ken Brooks then pitched to the next three men, loading the bases when he gave up to Junior Yohn. Brooks was credited with the loss.

Chuck Ehlman with three singles in three trips to the plate led the eighth-inning attack of the Tobs off the three Greensie hurlers.

Neil Lefler, the Tobs' hurler, held the Greensies to four hits and in addition to the two homers by McQuillen and Kee, Billy Wood and Willie Mauney also got singles for the other two hits collected by the Greensies.

BOY'S LEAGUE Tigers Rough On Winning Streaks

In the first game of the series, which is being played between the winners of the first and second halves in the Intermediate League, the Giants of Third St. outscored the Orioles from the East End to win 14 to 10. The series is being played in the mornings at Guy Smith Stadium. The Giants went ahead in the first two innings but the Orioles came back in the fourth and fifth to score seven times to tie the score. With the score tied up, the Giants got three more counts in the fifth on Virginius Haynes' circuit blow with two runners on base. Billy Brady and Bobby Watson got three hits each for the losers. Kent Lee and Haynes were the leaders for the Giants with three safeties each.

The Lions of W. Greenville won the second half of the Junior League by defeating the Red Sox of Trautman in a thriller that took two extra innings to decide the issue. The Sox were leading 4 to 3 when the Lions came in for their last time at bat and before they were retired they had scored two runs and were in the lead. In the Sox half of the inning they scored one run to tie up the game. After one scoreless inning the Lions came back for three runs to sew up the game and the right to battle the Red Sox who won their first half, in the post season series for the championship. Gene Hudson with two singles was the only Lion to hit safely twice. Leroy Quinn got two doubles and a triple for the Red Sox.

Martinsville, Va., July 29—(AP)—Carolina League leaders will have to meet again to continue discussion whether the loop should seek to go a notch higher into Class B next season.

A meeting at the home of President Carroll Brown here yesterday reached no decision. Directors divided evenly, and it was decided to let Brown set the date for another meeting.

But other 1949 league activities were agreed on. The All-Star game will be played July 10 at the home park of the team leading on July 1. Any All-Star player passing up the game without just cause will be suspended 10 days without pay. The 1949 season will open April 20, close Sept. 7.

No Decision By Carolina League On Class B Ball

Purses Going Up

New York—(AP)—Calumet Farm won four races and placed once to earn a total of $102,975 at the recent Belmont Park meeting. Thirty years ago J. K. L. Ross was the country's leading owner with earnings of $99,179 for 64 winning races, 52 seconds and 57 thirds during the entire year.

Has Suggestion Outwit Hunters

Boise, Idaho—(AP)—An open season on cattle is suggested by an Idaho livestock grower of a means of reducing the killing of cattle during big game hunting seasons.

"Every year," says John J. Highgate, "scores of cattle—to say nothing of horses, mules, sheep and other hunters—are shot by hunters who mistake them for game animals. Deer and elk are thereby saved, and continue to roam our hills in unabated numbers. All we have to do is to declare an open season on cattle and close the season on deer and elk."

No-Hit Indians

Cleveland—(AP)—Of the five active hurlers in the American League who have registered no hit games during their career, three are with Cleveland and the other two with the Philadelphia Athletics. The Indian hurlers are Don Black, Bob Lemon and Bob Feller, who has a pair. With the A's are Dick Fowler and Bill McCahan.

Batting Opposites

Sets Weight Mark

Moscow—(AP)—Soviet Sport reports that I. Maltsev of Simferopol has set a new world record for weight lifting with the left hand. Maltsev lifted 110 kilograms, 600 grams (about 244 pounds). The announcement says the previous record for left-handed lifting was 107 kilograms. It was set by a German in 1936.

Shakeup Proves Tonic For Both Giants, Brooklyn

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Burt Shotton-Léo Durocher managerial shakeup is proving a tonic to both the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

Since kindly old Burt replaced Leo at Ebbets Field, the Dodgers have swept 11 of 15 starts. Under the fiery Durocher, the Giants have won nine of 14 games.

Brooklyn's surge toward the top of the National League has been the most exciting news in Ford Frick's circuit. Even before the change, that is, the Dodgers were rolling. Now the count is 20 won and six lost since that dark evening July 2 when they were stretched on the cellar floor.

What's more, the customers are coming back. Fans who stayed away in droves while Durocher and Branch Rickey juggled players between Brooklyn, Montreal, St. Louis Mobile and Fort Worth, are showing up at the ball park.

Some 12,000 were turned away when Durocher returned with the Giants Monday night before a sell-out crowd of 33,932. The next afternoon the St. Louis Cardinals drew 21,918 through the Ebbets field gates and yesterday they brought in 19,491. That's the best week day business of the year in Brooklyn where attendance has been behind the 1947 level.

The Brooks made friends and influenced people in Flatbush by thumping the cards yesterday, 12-4, dropping St. Louis into a third place tie with the hustling giants. Brooklyn remains 5 1-2 games behind first place Boston.

The Giants who are supposed to have no pitching got their record straightened out against Cincinnati as Clint Hartung blanked the hapless Reds with three hits, 5-0. Larry Jansen applied the whitewash the night before.

Durocher appears to have brought order to the New York staff which has popped up with six complete games in its last seven, including four shutouts.

Close observers of box scores probably were astonished to note the name Walker Cooper in the stolen base column. But it was true. The slow-footed Giant catcher hustled over to second while Herm Wehmeier took his windup. Another incident that does not show in the box was Johnny Mize scoring from first on Willard Marshall's double. The home-run-hitting Mize never has been noted for his speed.

Leo definitely has the club up on its toes, trying for everything and hustling like all get out. Whether this is temporary or permanent remains to be seen. In success, the Giants look like a new ball club.

As the old saying has it, the bigger they come the harder they fall. When Detroit broke out with an 18-hit assault that snapped a 13-game victory string of the Boston Red Sox, 13 to 0, here yesterday the Tigers claimed the distinction of cracking the major league's longest winning streak for the second year in a row.

Dizzy Trout, scattering six harmless singles, was the No. 1 villain as Boston's American League leaders succumbed to their worst pasting of the 1948 season.

Almost exactly a year ago the New York Yankees rode into town in first place with a record-equalling season of 19 straight wins, replete with minimum stonks the Yanks on their ears to take a two-hit shutout decision on that occasion, winning 8 to 0 behind a similar 18-hit Tiger uprising.

It was just a matter of tit-for-tat as the Tigers crumpled Boston's newest victory rampage.

Two weeks ago today Detroit steamed into Boston with a seven-game winning streak, the Bengal's longest in two seasons. The Red Sox proceeded to take it apart by sweeping a doubleheader.

Today the Tigers felt adequately avenged.

Sport Slants by Pap

Old Man Barney Ewell is still rolling along. At the ripe old age of 31, the Lancaster, Pa. sprinter is abroad with the United States Olympic team and will wear the red, white and blue shield in the 100 and 200-meter dashes. He filed a claim for an Olympic berth by winning the National A. A. U. 100-meter title and then reported the triumph in the final Olympic try-outs.

National titles are old stuff to the former Penn State ace who won his first championship at 16, and who has won more than a dozen National titles while papa's overseas. "It was a wonderful thing to do," Barney says, "because it freed me of that worry and enabled me to concentrate on the Olympic games."

Barney was then at his peak, winning the 100, 220 and broad jump handsily in college. Barney scored a triumph not yet equalled when he won the 100, 220 and broad jump championship three years running.

After serving in the war, Ewell returned to Penn State and completed his college course. For the past year he has been employed in a Lancaster foundry. In order to make the Olympic effort possible, a Lancaster newspaper raised a fund to provide Barney's wife and baby, Barney, Jr., with all the things they will require while papa's overseas. "It was a wonderful thing to do," Barney says, "because it freed me of that worry and enabled me to concentrate on the Olympic games."

Trumpets' Blast Sets In Motion Olympic Opening

Olympic Stadium, Wembley, England, July 29—(AP)—A sharp blast of trumpets set in motion this afternoon the elaborate, stately ritual opening the 1948 Olympic games.

Thousands gathered early in the big sports stadium. The heat was oppressive, although greatly to the liking of the American coaches who are counting on winning the lion's share of glory in the main sports—track, swimming, and crew.

The temperature rose to 89 as a brilliant sun beat down from a cloudless sky and black British umbrellas popped open in the low spreading stands that can accommodate 84,000 persons.

The freshly laid, dead level red track made a ring of color around the bright green infield.

Among early arrivals were the three score members of the International Olympic Committee, extremely stiff and uncomfortable in cutaway suits. Shiny black stovepipe hats predominated in this select group, but some of the British members wore tall grey hats. All had red carnations in their button holes.

Action began with the appearance of 14 trumpeters of King George's household cavalry, clad in yellow striped uniforms. They lined up in front of the royal box and played a fanfare.

The massed drums and fifes on His Majesty's brigade of guards, in red jackets, with black trousers and tall black busbies, then paraded in, followed a little later by the Scots pipers of the same brigade.

Boy Scouts stood guard at the wicker boxes holding 7,000 pigeons to be released as symbols of peace—the prime goal of the Olympics.

Outside 5,000 athletes from 59 lands sweltered and grumbled.

Despite the exhausting heat, the ceremony proceeded with relentless British dignity.

British nobility, visiting royalty and members of the International Olympic Committee began to emerge timidly into the sunlight from out of the cool shadows of the passageway under the royal box a full half hour before the king's appearance.

Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee and international Olympic vice president, elected to wear the blue blazer and white trousers of the American team rather than the formidable formal attire of other committee members. This was because of his place in the parade of athletes.

Fishing Is Good When Sea Calm

Morehead City—Gulf Stream fishing off Morehead City is very good now, when weather conditions are favorable for going offshore, according to Capt. Otis Purifoy, owner of seven of the craft which make up the Gulf Stream fishing fleet here. Weather conditions, sou'westers, have blown most of the week and as result most of the fishing boats got no farther out than Cape Lookout where they landed Spanish Mackerel and Bluefish. The sou'westers were blowing themselves out as this dispatch is written and there seems to be no reason for not believing that conditions for fishing offshore this weekend will be ideal, according to Purifoy.

Cage Star, Too

Cincinnati—(AP)—Walker Cress, six foot, six inch pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, established a basketball scoring mark which still stands while playing for Hiwassee Junior College in 1937. He tallied 527 points in 25 games before moving to Louisiana State where he starred in baseball, football, basketball and track.

Competition For U. S. Swimmers

London, July 29—(AP)—In five and take poolside predictions the girls from Denmark and the one and only Alex Jany of France rank as standout favorites to carry off the big share of Olympic swimming honors.

The Americans rate strong favorites to carry off the big share of Olympic swimming honors.

The Americans rate strong favorites in all diving events but they may meet strong challenges from the Mexican boys and the French and English girls.

In the expert opinion of observers from many nations, gathered for the 14th modern Olympic games, Jany, a big overgrown French boy, looms as the Johnny Weissmuller of this postwar generation.

Others such as America's Walter Ris may challenge him in the 100 and 400 meter water sprints but the French kid is rated by the U. S. coach Bob Kipphut as the world's greatest.

Jany also is entered in the 1,500-meter distance race, an event that will be strange to him. Unless he scratches out of it, he may be an Olympic triple winner.

nations taking part in the eight days of track and field competition starting tomorrow are considered likely to capture two titles.

They are California's Mel Patton in the 100 and 200 meters and Czechoslovakia's running machine Emil Zatopek in the difficult 5,000 and 10,000 meter double.

World standards in peril are the 400 meter and 1,000 meter relays to the Americans; 10,000 meters to Zatopek; the hammer throw to Hungary's Imry Nemeth; broad jump to California's Willie Steele; 400 to Jamaica's Herb McKenley and perhaps the high jump to California's amazing George Stanich.

Pebbles were first used on counting tables—from which the abacus Oriental counting device, was developed—by early Greeks and Romans.

A MAN IN THE HOUSE

By Florence Stuart

Chapter 13

"See here, sweetheart," Carl said, "you're behaving rather oddly to-night. Aren't you feeling well?"

"I'm feeling perfectly well, thank you. That is—" her smile was strained, bitter—"I'm feeling as well as any wife could be expected to feel who has just discovered that her husband is becoming bored. That he has begun seeking amusement elsewhere. That he is practicing deception."

Her words were overly dramatic; they held a touch of Aunt Maebess. They were a perfect reflection of Jane's mood. "It would be so much better, Carl, if you'd simply tell me the truth. I couldn't blame you too much if you were getting tired of me. You're such a brilliant person, while I never claimed to have much in the way of brains. But I've loved you, Carl. I suppose I've loved you too much. That's where I've made my mistake. You were all that I wanted, and I thought you felt the same way. I thought if I made a lovely home for you, looked after your comfort, was here for you to come home to—"

She sighed. "It wasn't enough. I begin to see that now."

Carl was getting more and more at sea, and he looked it. "What in thunder gave you the idea that I'm getting bored with you?"

Carl said: "See here, Jane, what is all this nonsense about Helen Talbot?"

"It isn't nonsense," Jane said then, "and you know perfectly well what it's all about. Everyone in town knows it. That last time you went to Washington you were seen in a hotel with her. If you had only mentioned it to me, then at least I wouldn't have felt such a fool when the news finally got to me."

Slowly the tears came and spilled down her cheeks. She did not try to stop them or to wipe them away. Her mouth quivered helplessly. "I had been thinking how precious these three years had been. I had been thinking about how much I loved you, more even than the day we were married. And how much I believed that you loved me. And then—"

"Yes!" Oddly, Carl's tone was cold, slightly belligerent. "Then what happened? I suppose," he said slowly, "you had a visit from your Aunt Mae. Some busybody saw me in Washington, and spread the news around town. Aunt Mae got hold of it, turned a harmless incident into mountainous proportions, and then came running to you trying to make trouble. She would."

"As far as I'm concerned, you can stop slandering Aunt Mae. Maybe you imagine if you get all steamed up about her, I'll forget this Helen Talbot business. But—"

"There is no Helen Talbot business to forget," Carl said curtly. "It's true that I ran into Helen in Washington. It was the sheerest accident. However, if you want to believe a lot of rot, if you prefer to rely on gossip rather than take my word for what happened if you're trying to start a quarrel between us—"

"I'm not trying to start anything."

"Well, you certainly sound as if you were. I have to wonder if you're getting bored with me, with the quiet of our life, and want a quarrel for the sake of the excitement. Women have been known to do that."

"You know that isn't true."

"I know nothing I'm no longer sure of anything. But it seems that at the first acid test, you're ready to knock the whole thing over, like a house of cards."

"It's not me that's knocking it over; it's you."

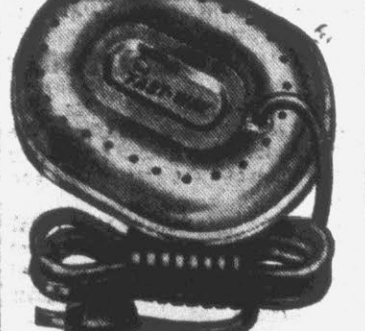

"No. No, that isn't true. You don't trust me, Jane. That's what all this gets down to. And that's what hurts."

He came back to her and stood looking at her. "I want you to understand this, Jane. From the very beginning, I loved you more than I had ever dreamed I could love any girl. But it doesn't mean that if I happen to take some girl to dinner or to a show, through chance circumstance, I am guilty of disloyalty to you. And if I do this and forget to tell you about it, simply because it was of so little consequence that I forgot all about it."

it, it doesn't mean that I deliberately neglected to tell you because I'm in love with the girl and afraid for you to know."

Jane knew that he was right, but she wasn't quite ready to admit it. "That's all very well," she said. "It sounds fine, Carl, the way you put it. From your standpoint it does. Well, do you expect me to like it? Well, I didn't, don't like it. And if that means I haven't enough faith in you, okay, then I haven't enough faith. Then I'm just a suspicious, jealous wife who doesn't like to hear from outsiders that her husband has been dining out with another girl."

He could not answer that, for he knew in his heart that Jane was right. He recalled his momentary, furious jealousy when he had noticed those roses and heard that some boy had sent them to her.

Jane shrugged wearily. Suddenly she felt tired, terribly tired. She lit a cigarette, took one puff and crushed it out on a little tray. "Well, I believe you, Carl," she said. "I believe you, Carl. About the Helen Talbot business. But the evening is pretty well spoiled, isn't it?"

Enjoy Your Own Swimming Pool at Home Now!

Summer days at the beach are wonderful but imagine bringing the beach to your home where you can enjoy it every day of Spring, Summer and Fall! A cool dip on the hottest days... moonlight parties 'round the pool... tiny tots learn to swim safely at home... "teen-agers" no longer worry about "what shall we do today" or "where shall we go tonight"... your pool will become a popular social center.

20 Beautiful SWIMMING POOLS

only $2750⁰⁰ each

(In the RALEIGH and DURHAM area — slightly more elsewhere)

Almost everyone has wanted a private swimming pool but the cost has always been too great. To overcome this problem, the Paddock Engineering Co., world's largest builder of private and public pools, designed two standardized types—a 16x32 foot rectangular and 17x34 foot oval pool. Early this year they offered to build 100 such pools at this amazingly low price in the area of their home city, Los Angeles.

Their offer was a sensation. It was written up in national magazines such as "LIFE." A deluge of orders poured in and this firm has built over 400 such pools already with twice as many in prospect for next year. By personal visit to Los Angeles, we have arranged for 20 of these same pools to be built here this year in the Raleigh and Durham area—the same construction and equipment as the world-famous pools of Beverly Hills.

- Each pool has automatic filtering system with small electric pump that recirculates entire water every 18 hours. Pool is not drained or refilled all season. The clear blue sapphire water is pure enough to drink.
- High-strength concrete over the sides and rounded bottom is applied over heavy steel mesh by the pneumatic pressure method known as "Gunite." This concrete has the equivalent strength of 10 inches of poured concrete.
- Surface is finished with silicate plaster, hardest known substance for such purpose. It has the appearance of polished marble. Trimmed with colored tile along top edge.

THESE FINE POOLS
are all
PADDOCK
Engineered
These pools have been designed and engineered by "Paddock" of Los Angeles, with 25 years experience in building over 3,000 pools.

Guaranteed to be the finest pools built regardless of size or price.

Pay Only $275.00 At This Time If You So Desire

These pools can usually be completed in six working days. You have many weeks to use the pool yet this year, but due to the advanced season you need pay only $275.00 down and small monthly payments which will amount to only one-third of the price between now and next May. When the new season is at hand you can pay the balance or continue the monthly payments for two more years if you so desire until entire price is paid.

Construction will start as soon as orders for five pools are placed. Get full details now and order your pool TODAY. We cannot guarantee this remarkably low price next year.

Strong Men vs. Horse

Lebanon, Ore., July 29—(AP)—The men in this part of the country keep insisting they are better than horses.

The trouble is they can't prove it. There was Chet Fitzgerald, the 250-pound poolroom strong man, who told everyone that no horse would move him in a tug of war—that is, if he were allowed to lie flat on the ground and brace his feet against a timber.

Everyone got bets down. Chet took his position and a horse took the other end of a 100-yard rope. Chet went flying head over heels and half the countryside was broke for days.

Since three other men similarly have been put in their place by the same horse, Old Baldy of Waterloo, Ore.

Now comes Paul Smith, 63, of Mill City, convinced no horse can outdo him. His specialty is walking. He has challenged any horse—over one from Waterloo—to a walking contest.

"I can outwalk any horse. A horse has to stop for grass and water. I eat as I go. And I get there first," he asserted.

Well, they found a horse just three miles from Waterloo to take up the challenge. A ten-year-old cow horse named Larry.

The match, over a 100-mile course to be determined later, will come off Labor Day. Smith said he would stick to walking, but for all he cared the horse could gallop or even run.

Nominations Are Handed Senate

Washington, July 29—(AP)—President Truman today sent nearly two dozen nominations to the Senate in the face of a decision by the Republican leadership not to consider any appointments at the extra session.

Included were a large number of recess appointments on which the Senate hasn't yet had a chance to act.

On wages, the legislation: Establishes wage controls over employees only when a maximum price has been established affecting the employer and when the employer expects to use the wage adjustment as a basis for seeking a price increase.

A wage board would be created, and would have power to rule on whether a proposed wage increase was necessary: 1. To compensate for increases in the cost of living or prevent lowering of living standards; 2. To correct inequities in the wage structure; 3. To correct substandard of living; or 4. To maintain essential production.

Many grades picked up $2 and $3, the department reported, and better qualities were generally steady to slightly higher.

Allocates Money Secondary Roads

Raleigh, N.C., July 29—(AP)—The State Highway Commission today received news that Governor Cherry has allocated an additional $2,500,000 for secondary roads.

The news was given to the commission by Chairman A. H. Graham at a regular meeting.

The commission took these actions:

Approved a recommendation by Chief Engineer W. Vance Baise to add 59.41 miles of roads to the state system.

Approved low bids, opened June 29, on 20 road improvement projects covering 129.69 miles.

Approved all but one of the low bids opened last Tuesday on 19 projects covering 107.84 miles. A bid on a Rutherford County project was held in abeyance.

Lifted a 40 m.p.h. speed limit on U.S. Highway 29-70 between Whitsett and Greensboro except in front of the county home and two curves. The regular 55 m.p.h. limit will prevail elsewhere along the stretch.

Approved relocation of a portion of U.S. 29 in uptown Greensboro.

Price Gains For Tobacco Market

Valdosta, Ga., July 29—(AP)—Price gains, especially in the lower quality grades, have strengthened the Georgia-Florida flue cured tobacco market.

The U. S. department of agriculture said that increases up to 46 per hundred in low quality grades pushed the average price above Tuesday's level.

Many grades picked up $2 and $3, the department reported, and better qualities were generally steady to slightly higher.

The Southern Democrats are in a minority in the House. So it was simple for the other members to push through the bill when the Southerners had used up their talking time.

In the Senate the Southern Democrats are in a minority, too. But there they can make their strength felt, out of all proportion to their numbers, through the filibuster.

That's because the Senate, unlike the House, has no limit on debate. There a senator, once he gets the floor, can filibuster—which means talking without interruption—until he finishes or collapses.

When one senator goes on a filibuster he can slow up the work of the Senate for a day or two.

But when a whole group of senators—like the Southern Democrats—start a filibuster, they can talk in relays and prevent the Senate from doing any other work for weeks.

Wallace Is Given 'Time To Reply'

New York, July 29—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace will discuss President Truman's message to Congress in an NBC radio address at 7 p. m. (EST) tonight.

The network provided the radio time to the Progressive Party's presidential candidate after he demanded "equal time to reply" to Mr. Truman's message.

E. S. Briggs New Lions President

New York, July 29—(AP)—Dr. Eugene S. Briggs, 58, president of Phillips University, Enid, Okla., became president of Lions International today at the final session of the service organization's four-day 31st annual convention.

He succeeds Fred W. Smith, of Ventura, Calif. Briggs and most of the other nominees were unopposed in this morning's voting.

'Quite A Time' For 4-Year-Old

Danbury, Conn., July 29—(AP)—An unidentified boy who appeared to be no more than four years old, had quite a time for himself here today.

He turned in a fire alarm from a box in the center of Danbury's congested factory district, bringing three fire companies to the scene.

After firemen arrived, he gave the alarm box hook another yank which brought out all of Danbury's fire fighting apparatus together with 150 firemen.

Fire Chief John A. McNamara said the second alarm was equivalent to a general alarm because of the nature of the area.

He also explained that the boy was able to reach the fire alarm box the first time because "it was a low hanging one."

The boy turned in the second alarm, the chief said, while he was struggling in the arms of a fireman who saw him standing near the instrument.

"He slapped the fireman in the face with one hand and turned in the alarm with the other," the chief said.

During the excitement of apparatus arriving to answer the second alarm, the chief said, the boy disappeared in the crowd.

Grain Market

Chicago, July 29—(AP)—The trend in grains was a bit lower today. Losses were small except in the "thin" rye market, where prices dropped the 10 cent daily limit at times. Soybeans also weakened for relatively large losses.

Wheat closed ¼ to 1 cent lower, September $2.27½-¼, corn was ¼-2½ lower, September $1.72½-1.72, oats were ¼-1½ lower, September 74½-¼, rye was 10 cents lower, December $1.68, and soybeans were 4 to 6 cents lower, November $2.77.

Wholesale Food Price Index Off

New York, July 29—(AP)—The Dun and Bradstreet wholesale food price index dropped 12 cents this week to $7.18 but still was 67 cents above the corresponding week of last year.

It was the second consecutive decline from the record high of $7.36 for the week that ended July 13.

The index represents the sum total of the price per pound of 31 foods in general use and is not a cost-of-living index.

Consider Bids On 19 N. C. Road Projects

Raleigh, N. C., July 29—(AP)—The State Highway and Public Works Commission today considered $1,979,087 in low bids on road work.

The bids, opened Tuesday, are on 19 projects for grading and surfacing 107.84 miles.
