Argue Effect Of Truman Attacks During Campaign

Montanan Says President 'Making Hay'; Utah Solon Disputes Point

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Senator Murray (D-Mont.) contended today that President Truman is making political hay with his attacks on Congress, but Senator Watkins (R-Utah) promptly disputed this.

In a running argument that won't be settled until the Nov. 2 election, Murray told a reporter all the signs point to public approval—particularly in the West—of the criticisms that Mr. Truman has leveled at Congress.

"From the mud I'm getting," the Montana senator said, "the people think the President is right in making an issue of Congress' failure to do anything about the high cost of living. They are cheering him on."

But Watkins had another story. He said the only people in his state who are impressed by Mr. Truman's statements are those who would be for him anyway.

"Most of the people realize that you can't stop inflation by passing a law," Watkins said. "They know that some sacrifices are in order if we are going to continue to help keep the world on its feet. They don't think Truman is competent to handle the big job that is ahead and that's the issue the election is going to be settled on."

The same sort of dispute—only wordier—leaped into print in today's final post-session issue of the Congressional Record.

Rep. Haleck of Indiana, the GOP House leader, drafted a full-blown defense of the record of the 80th Congress. It ran some 10,000 words. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader and vice presidential nominee, whipped out a 200-word criticism of the special session, augmented by a long table aimed at countering Republican economy claims.

The Republican and Democratic National committees released the respective statements before they appeared in the Record.

Britain To Buy More Tobacco On Sterling Market

London, Aug. 18 (AP)—A government spokesman indicated today that Britain is planning to ease the nationwide cigarette shortage by buying more tobacco from non-dollar countries as a substitute for leaf formerly bought in the U. S.

Commenting on reports that the United States probably would not object to Britain buying more tobacco from sterling areas, he said: "There is a tacit understanding rather than a hard and fast agreement between the U. S. and British governments that has enabled us to purchase in soft currency countries commodities which we just cannot afford to buy in America."

"This understanding may well apply to the increased purchase of tobacco from soft currency countries."

Indonesians End All Negotiations

Batavia, Java, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Indonesian Republic broke off today all negotiations with the Dutch delegation at a conference under the auspices of the United Nations Good Offices Committee.

The Republican delegation notified the Good Office Commission of the decision by letter, which said all documents of the Republican Security Committee had been confiscated by Dutch police after a shooting incident at the Republican "national home" here Monday night.

The Atom In Business

Businessman Has Opportunities Now, Not In Distant Future Says AEC; Supplies And Equipment Needed; Application Of By-Products To Widespread Fields

By FRANK CAREY

Washington—Here's what atomic energy means to the business world—NOT in the distant future, but right now!

Even as research is going on looking toward development of atomic power and the further application of radioactive by-products to medicine, agriculture and industry, the businessman has immediate opportunities, says the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

In what way? By furnishing supplies and equipment needed for atomic energy research and application.

Such materials range from electronic equipment needed to detect and measure radioactivity right along the line to lead bricks and shielding needed to protect workers from dangerous atomic "rays."

Speaking of "isotopes"—the radioactive by-products of A-bomb development—the Commission said in its recent report to Congress:

"The businessman has reason to be interested in isotopes. Their utilization in scientific research has created a demand for new kinds of equipment and services which will continue to grow very rapidly in the years ahead. Their application to

President Invokes Powers To Prevent Longshoremen Strike

By MAX HALL

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—America's world-ranging maritime industry wallowed today in an ocean of labor-management bitterness, legal complexities, and general confusion.

The ships were still moving but the government had to take extraordinary measures to keep them going.

President Truman, for the second time in the shipping industry, used the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley law last night to stave off a strike of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association.

This strike is set for Saturday midnight. It would freeze all shipping between Portland, Maine, and Hampton Roads, Va.—including vessels bound for Europe with Marshall plan shipments. The central dispute is over methods of paying for overtime work.

Mr. Truman named an inquiry board composed of Saul Wallen of Boston, Joseph Miller of Washington, and Julius Cass of New York. He ordered it to report by Friday.

As soon as he receives this report he is empowered to seek a court order that could prevent the strike for about 80 days.

Another threatened strike by 60,000 CIO seamen was averted meanwhile when the National Maritime Union reached a wage agreement with 42 Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping companies.

After an 11 hour bargaining session in New York, the union and the operators agreed to a $35 a month pay boost for boatstains and a 12-1/2 cent increase for other ratings.

The pact—subject to ratification by the union membership—also provides for retention of hiring halls until a court ruling on the legality of this system under the Taft-Hartley act. Hiring halls—in which the union picks men for jobs—had been the main issue in dispute.

The NMU, along with several other maritime unions, had been under a strike-banning federal court injunction, but this was due to expire September 2 after which the seamen could walk out legally.

This settlement, however, does not affect the NMU dispute with the Great Lakes ship owners, or similar tangles on the west coast.

Serious Concern Over Charges In Soviet Protests

Marshall Says U. S. Will Formally Reply To Russia On Refugee Cases

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today the United States views with serious concern the Russian charges against this government and some of its officials in connection with refugee school teachers' cases in New York.

Marshall said Soviet protests about American handling of the cases probably will be answered formally within the next 24 hours. He said a note is in process of preparation, based on reports from authorities in New York City.

The note will be made public after it is delivered to the Soviets, Marshall said. Presumably it will be given to Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panushkin in Washington.

Panushkin made three of the four Soviet protests here. The other was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith in Moscow.

Marshall gave a "no comment" reply when asked whether the American reply to the Russians might include a request to Moscow to recall the Russian consul general in New York, Jacob M. Lomakin.

Such an action is known to be under consideration by Marshall's top advisers in the State Department.

In discussing the New York cases, Marshall referred particularly to the affair of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina. She escaped from the Soviet consulate in New York last Thursday by jumping out of a third floor window.

The pleasure boat master, Thomas H. Watts of Southport, interpreted that to mean their boat with immigration and customs officials who slapped a close Coast Guard watch on the vessel.

The Estonian vessel is a one-masted boat powered by sail and a small motor.

Provisions for the three refugees were hastily provided by Watts and members of a fishing party aboard his boat.

"They were out of fresh food but still had enough to eat aboard," Watts said. "In fact, they looked in might fair shape for the trip they had made."

Talks In Moscow Nearing An End

Future Meetings Seen; No Optimism Or Pessimism Voiced

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Aug. 18 (AP)—The four power talks in Moscow about Berlin and Germany are nearing an end.

This was learned today on excellent authority from a source who refused to say whether the conversations would or would not end with published agreements.

One thing, however, appears certain: that there will be four power talks on a high level on the German problem as a whole at some future date.

There certainly will be another meeting of the envoys of the United States, Britain and France with the Soviets later this week, probably on Friday. There is nothing definite on whether this is to be the last or next to last conference, but the end is at hand barring some unexpected development.

The three western envoys have put in some long hours and hard work in and between their six talks with Molotov since July 31.

It is interesting to note that while progress had been made, there is neither optimism nor pessimism being expressed at any of the three embassies.

"One must wait," it was said, "until final terms are in and definitely settled. It is pointless at this time to wage either way on conclusions."

N. C. Dixiecrats Scent 'Victory'

Nearly 13,000 Petitions Believed To Meet Requirements

Charlotte, N.C., Aug. 18 (AP)—A North Carolina board of elections reported indicated today to David Clark of Charlotte, co-chairman of the state rights Dixiecrat party, that approximately 13,000 of the more than 18,000 petitioners for party recognition will meet this state's legal requirements.

"This assures that our party in this state will win its case and be legally recognized by the state election board," said Clark.

He explained that the board of elections notified him today that already 6,428 names on petitions have been certified as eligible signers under the board's limitations.

Clark said he is confident that Mecklenburg and Gaston counties, when their lists have been checked, will add at least 5,000 certified names.

The board has ruled that a minimum of 10,000 certified petitioners is necessary to obtain recognition for a new political party in this state. Among other restrictions, the board limits such petitioners to qualified voters who did not vote in this state's primaries several weeks ago.

So far only three cases of political isolation have been reported in the county. Conley stated the board of elections and the board of elections will meet within the next few days to discuss the situation and decide whether to open the schools as scheduled or to postpone the opening date.

It was recently announced that the opening of the Beaufort county schools will be delayed one week but school boards in other counties surrounding Pitt have not acted on the matter.

Mystery Fires Pursue Family

Macomb, Ill., Aug. 18 (AP)—The rash of mysterious fires that has chased the Charles Willey family from building to building on their farm is continuing to plague them, they reported today.

Within the last 10 days the fires drove them from their house to a garage and destroyed the house and a barn. Last night a new fire drove them from a temporary dining room in the milk house.

One theory under consideration, but far from conclusive, is that a fly spray used on the farm 12 miles south of Macomb might be responsible for the outbreak of between 100 and 200 small fires in the Willey home.

Air Force Close To Filling Quota

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—With ten months yet to go, the U. S. Air force is within 53,000 of having recruited its authorized strength of 483,000 by June 30, 1949.

Air force headquarters said today its reports show it has 397,500 men, of whom 126,000 are overseas.

The air force does not expect to need help from selective service.

'Temperance Tornado' To Sweep Kansas With Tour

Dodge City, Kas., Aug. 18 (AP)—The "temperance tornado" began its sweep of dry Kansas today.

The "temperance tornado" is a group of prohibitionists, starting a 12-day automobile tour of Kansas to oppose repeal of the state's anti-liquor laws.

They gave themselves the tornadoic title.

"Before we get through it will be just like any Kansas tornado—we'll gather strength as we move along," said Willard Mayberry, Elkhart, Kan. publisher who is heading the 15,000-mile swing around the state.

Kansas will vote in November on a proposal to repeal the 67-year-old prohibition law.

Infers Dead Man Victim Of Probe

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace says that Harry D. White, who died a few days after testifying before the house committee on Un-American Activities, died "a victim of the Un-American Thomas committee."

White, a New Deal figure and former assistant secretary of the treasury, died Monday.

Barkley Begins Campaign Talks

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18 (AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) said farmers must choose in November between a Democratic administration with "40-cent cattle and 30-cent hogs" and a Republican regime with lower farm prices.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee spoke on the "Democratic Day" program of the Illinois State Fair. It was his opening campaign talk.

Former Vice-President Garner's 'Right Hand' Dies

Uvalde, Tex., Aug. 18 (AP)—Mrs. John Nance Garner, Cactus Jack's "right hand," is dead.

The wife of the 32nd Vice-President of the United States died yesterday in the stately buff brick home her husband "built for Katie" twenty-eight years ago. She was 78.

Death came peacefully to the inseparable companion of the South Texas lawyer who rose to be Vice-President of the United States.

Forrestal Says Abrupt Return Was 'Planned'

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal says he was not "summoned" home from a U. S.-Canadian celebration yesterday but returned according to plan.

When Forrestal left the Ogdensburg, N. Y., ceremonies marking the joint defense pact it was announced there that he had been recalled for an "important conference at the White House."

But Presidential secretary Charles G. Ross quickly said no such meeting was scheduled and that the report was "utterly cockeyed."

Forrestal told newsmen on his arrival here by plane that he had received no summons from President Truman and had planned all along to get home in time for dinner.

Quit Village As Munitions Burn

Aldorf, Switzerland, Aug. 18 (AP)—All 800 inhabitants were evacuated from the village of Goeschchen today while fire in a nearby mountain redoubt began exploding stored ammunition.

Aldorf police, making this announcement, said no casualties had been reported, but telephone communications with the village, at the north end of the St. Gotthard tunnel, were broken.

Rail traffic was halted on both sides of the Swiss-Italian frontier and was rerouted through the Simplon tunnel.

Will Ask To See Russian Teacher

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Soviet Consul General Yakov M. Lomakin will ask police permission today to visit Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina in Roosevelt Hospital.

The Soviet vice consul, Zot I. Chepurnykh, announced Lomakin's move to visit the Russian woman school teacher who leaped from a consulate third-story window last Thursday. He said permission would be sought later today.

Leaves Baby And Spouse For Trip

Cambridge, Eng., Aug. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, 34, an ex-artists' model, left her husband, baby-sitting with their 18-month-old daughter today and took off on a projected round-the-world flight.

She is flying a single-engine plane. Accompanying her is Michael Townsend, 25, a Cambridge student and former member of the Royal Air Force, who will do the navigating on the trip, which they expect to complete in about six weeks.

Warehousemen Prepare For Tomorrow's Opening Sales

'Deception'

Belgrade, Aug. 18 (AP)—The United States accused Russia today of "deception" in its plan for regulation of Danube River shipping and claimed Eastern Europe's Communist bloc has been used to achieve the Soviet objective.

American Ambassador Cavenish Cannon told the eleven-nation Danubian conference he could not accept a Russian free navigation pact as the basis for reopening the continent's 1,800-mile trade waterway.

Thus he joined Britain, France and Austria in saying no to the Communist-dominated countries' efforts to push through a convention which would exclude the Western powers from any say of administration of the Danube's shipping.

One by one, the Western powers formally recorded their rejection of the Russian draft—a move made chiefly by the historical record since its formal approval by the Soviet satellite majority is certain, probably early tonight.

15 Refugees Arrive At Southport 'Seeking New Life'; Won't Go Back

Southport, Aug. 18 (AP)—Fifteen Estonians were in the United States today after crossing the Atlantic in a small boat and their spokesman said "We would rather die than go back" to that Russian-dominated country.

They are members of three families. The skipper, who acted as their spokesman since he was the only one who spoke English tolerably, said they all had comfortable homes in Estonia. "But we couldn't stand it any longer," after the Russians took over.

Immigration authorities slapped a quarantine on their boat here. The refugees were being kept on board while their case was being studied.

The refugees, weary but happy, reached the North Carolina coast yesterday, ending a voyage in a 45-foot boat that began from Sweden June 23.

The 10 men and five women in the party said they were seeking a new life in America.

Their skipper told the captain of a pleasure boat, which escorted them up the Cape Fear River, they didn't mind the hardships of the trip but "the worst" is yet to come.

The pleasure boat master, Thomas H. Watts of Southport, interpreted that to mean their boat with immigration and customs officials who slapped a close Coast Guard watch on the vessel.

The Estonian vessel is a one-masted boat powered by sail and a small motor.

Provisions for the three refugees were hastily provided by Watts and members of a fishing party aboard his boat.

"They were out of fresh food but still had enough to eat aboard," Watts said. "In fact, they looked in might fair shape for the trip they had made."

Swedish Version Kosenkina Case

Soviet Embassy Trying To Force Return Of Young Girl

Stockholm, Aug. 18 (AP)—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter today identified the "Swedish Kosenkina" as Lydia Makarova, and said the 19-year-old girl who refuses to go back to Russia is a music prodigy.

The case is causing a sensation in Sweden. It parallels the case of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, Soviet teacher who leaped from the third story window of the Soviet consulate in New York last week.

A Swedish Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday the Soviet embassy here had asked repeatedly that the girl be sent back to Russia.

He said the Foreign Office had declined these requests and told the Russian embassy to "leave the girl alone."

Dagens Nyheter published an interview with the girl, who said she had fled to Sweden in 1947 after her mother had died in Leningrad. At the time she was 15 and considered a musical prodigy, she said. She has continued her studies in Sweden and will give her first piano recital at Stockholm's Concert Hall Jan. 29, the account said.

Lydia dreams of going to Paris to continue her studies, but she is afraid to leave Sweden and the protection she has had here, the newspaper said.

No New Bathroom, But Family Has Sons And Bikes

Indianapolis, Aug. 18 (AP)—The McDougall boys were back home today with new bicycles and their parents' forgiveness.

But there won't be a new bathroom at the John McDougall home for some time.

The McDougalls had saved $110, which they kept in a flour can. McDougall had promised to buy bicycles for ten-year-old Joey and 12-year-old Paul, but he decided to use the money for a bathroom.

The boys took the money and spent $79 of it for the bicycles.

They spent a night on a park bench before returning home.

They expected punishment, but got a joyous welcome instead.

"We can do without the bathroom, we're just glad they're home safe again," McDougall said.

Several Houses Already Filled With Quotas; Advance Indications Reveal Leaf Of Poorer Quality Than That Offered On Last Year's Opening Day

Warehouses of the Greenville tobacco market fairly buzzed with activity today as farmers flocked to town with tobacco for tomorrow's opening sales.

Before noon today several of the houses already were filled with their quotas for tomorrow's sales, and all the other houses are expected tonight to have enough tobacco to fill their selling time tomorrow.

Tobacco on the floors for tomorrow's sale is for the most part of poorer quality than that sold on opening day last year when the Greenville market averaged $42.98.

With prices for this year's crop continuing much higher than those paid last season, indications are that the opening average will be a good bit above last year.

Warehousemen and farmers questioned this morning predicted that tomorrow's average in Greenville will be at least 50 cents or better. Many were of the opinion the tobacco will average as high as 55 cents for the opening day's sales.

Bill Wheddes, sales supervisor for the Greenville market, estimated 10,000 baskets of tobacco will be sold here tomorrow.

Five additional markets are planning to join the Eastern North Carolina belt's 15 regular markets in starting 1948 tobacco sales tomorrow.

One of the additional markets is a new one—Dunn. The others are markets which in past seasons have operated with the state's Middle belt, which opens sales Sept. 2. These markets are Carthage, Aberdeen, Fuquay-Varina and Sanford.

The markets which regularly sell in the Eastern belt are Aokeskie, Clinton, Farmville, Goldsboro, Greenville, Kinston, Robersonville, Rocky Mount, Smithfield, Tarboro, Wallace, Weldon, and Wendell, Williamston and Wilson.

G. G. Cheek, sales supervisor of the Durham market of the middle belt, said his market would open at the regular time, Sept. 2. Earlier it had been indicated that Durham might open with the eastern belt if other tomorrow's markets planned to open.

Clifton Blue of Aberdeen said the four middle belt markets which plan earlier openings are doing so because in the past a large amount of the tobacco grown in their areas has been sold on other belts because of the middle belt's late opening.

He added that "we hope the major companies will be represented by buyers and have assurance that independent buyers will be here."

W. H. Farmon, Fuquay-Varina sales supervisor, commented "we believe buyers will be here."

Bill Carter of Carthage said the market there has assurance that some independent buyers will be on hand but that no such assurance has been received from the large domestic companies.

Joe McCullers, sales supervisor of the new Dunn market, declared that he has been assured that buyers for the domestic companies and independent buyers will be there for the opening.

Sales on the belt this year are expected to fall short of last year's production, the U. S. and N. C. departments of Agriculture report, because of the acreage out of about 28 percent this year. In 1947 the belt sold 448,762,491 pounds at an average of $43.48 per hundred pounds.

World Isn't Ready

UN Arms Commission Agrees International Tension Must Be Ended Before Arms Reduction Practical; Only One Major Aggression Today; Can't Disarm Now

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The United Nations Arms Commission finally has reached the inevitable conclusion that the world isn't yet ready for arms reduction—that international tension must be ended before countries will be willing to slash armaments.

That is, 9 of the 11 nations on the commission have agreed on this point. The other two members—Soviet Russia and the Soviet Ukraine—of course say "no."

The Communists maintain that the way to create confidence is to disarm. The western powers, on the other hand, hold that this is putting the cart before the horse; they insist that peace and confidence are what will inspire disarmament. The majority hold that essentials for the establishment of world confidence include the following:

(1) Agreement on atomic control, (2) creation of a world police force, and (3) signing of German and Japanese peace treaties.

While the commission was debating this momentous issue at Lake Success yesterday, Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery (chief of the Imperial General Staff and so England's top soldier) made some pointed remarks on the same subject. In a speech calling for 150,000 reserves to back up the country's defenses the field marshal declared that "the best chance of avoiding war in modern times is to be prepared."

"A somewhat uneasy truce is brooding over the world," said Montgomery. "It is more of a truce than a peace; it is a period of exhaustion, ill-described as 'peace,' x x x we must be ready and prepared to face sudden attack by an aggressor. We cannot hope for breathing space as in 1939, at the outbreak of another world conflict."

Montgomery was speaking to a British audience, but he was only reading the writing which all nations can see clearly on the wall. It is obvious that peace and confidence must precede disarmament—so much a truism that it seems absurd to debate the matter at all.

Obviously the western powers could venture no other stand under existing circumstances. A nation doesn't disarm when it is in the midst of war—and there is no halt in the "cold war" which Russia is waging for the spread of Communism.

Monday was the birthday anniversary of Miss Mattie Moye King, one of Greenville's sweet and attractive young Misses. While not giving a formal birthday party in honor of her natal day she entertained a large number of friends from 9 to 12 p. m. at her home on Dickinson Avenue.

The party was held on the lawn in front of the residence, the entire arrangement being most attractive. An arch of electric lights was arranged over the gate and lines of incandescents festooned the lawn and verandas with tables placed on the lawn underneath the lights.

Upon arrival punch was served by Miss Mattie Moye King and Willie Wilson. The contest games of the evening were progressive whist and flinch. The prize was won by Carl Wilson. A very amusing event, the silver stars being stuck to the ceiling and the guests each having three trials at the stars, with a broom. A souvenir package of candy was awarded each one who brushed down a star.

Several young people enjoyed the barn dance on the concrete pavement near the residence. Elegant refreshments were served on the lawn, the food being specially ordered from Norfolk for this occasion. The cream in pink and white blocks in keeping with the color scheme of the evening.

The living rooms and hall were beautifully decorated with flowers and greenery to carry out a green and white color scheme which was repeated in the refreshments.

During the games ice drinks were served and later in the evening the hostesses served molded ices and decorated cakes. A miniature bride and groom topped the mold on the plate of the hostess.

Mrs. Paul Scott, Jr., was winner of the high score award and Mrs. Henry Andrews, Jr., the low.

Miss Elizabeth Austin, bride-elect of the fall, was presented a corsage of lavender asters and crystal in her pattern.

Miss Skinner was given a corsage of white asters and a dinner plate in her pattern of china by each of the hostesses.

Mrs. W. R. Skinner, Mrs. C. Rex Porter and Miss Eloise Warren joined the players at the refreshment hour.

Tucker-Barnhill

On Saturday afternoon, August 14 in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church at 8:30, Miss Aldine Barnhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barnhill of Greenville, became the bride of Richard Edward Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tucker of Minneola, Kansas. The Rev. Robert W. Bradshaw officiated using the double-ring ceremony.

Wedding music was rendered by Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, organist, and Mr. Harper Darden, soloist.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of nylon which featured a marquisette yoke with a scalloped border accented with seed pearl pendants. The veil of imported illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a purple-throated orchid with white streamers and tube roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Annie Sue Perry of Colerain as maid of honor. She wore a gown of orchid taffeta and net and carried an arm bouquet of pink asters. Mrs. W. B. Overton of Greer, South Carolina, attended her sister as matron of honor and wore a gown identical to that of the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. J. P. Barnhill of Raleigh and Mrs. O. A. Barnhill of Chapel Hill, sisters-in-law of the bride. They were gowned in pink and green taffeta and net respectively and carried arm bouquets of lavender gladioli.

Otha Barnhill of Chapel Hill, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Ushers were J. D. Barnhill of Raleigh, brother of the bride, Aldous James and Kenneth James of Greenville, cousins of the bride, and Ola H. Forrest of Paoctous.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of pink crepe with black accessories and wore a purple orchid. Mrs. Tucker wore a dress of sheer tan with white accessories and a purple orchid.

Mrs. Tucker received both her A. B. and M. A. degrees from East Carolina Teachers College and taught in Ayden high school and Georgia Teachers College, Statesboro, Georgia.

Mr. Tucker is a student in architectural engineering at Kansas State College. He served in the U. S. Marine Corps for three years.

For going away, the bride wore a blue summer suit with navy accessories and the orchid from her prayer book. The couple left for a wedding trip to unannounced points. After September first they will be at home in Manhattan, Kansas.

The bride's parents and Miss Annie Sue Perry entertained at an informal cake cutting at the home of the bride's parents on the evening of August 13.

Tuesday night Old Towne Inn was the scene of cross section of Eastern North Carolina in honor of Mrs. J. B. Spilman who resigned yesterday as manager of the local Employment Security Office.

These men and women spoke very appreciatively and feelingly of services rendered to them by Mrs. Spilman in the past and delighted to pay her honor for the gracious personality that is hers.

Mr. Pollock last presented Mr. Herman Wellons, manager of the Kinston office, who spoke of the helpful suggestions and advice Mrs. Spilman had given him as an associate worker. He then presented with love and good wishes from each a gift of airplane luggage.

Mrs. Spilman graciously accepted this gift and expressed deep appreciation for all the expressions of love and devotion of her fellow employees during the years and pledged and promised anew to make some attempt to live up to the high tributes paid her. Mrs. Spilman summed up her response by:

North Carolina Dairy Industry Moving To Fore

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Aug. 18.—A bulletin just issued by the dairy division of the N. C. department of agriculture shows that dairying is rapidly moving into front ranks as a source of farm income. The income feature is illusive, because there is with respect to dairy products—as with all farm production—the uncertain element of value attributed to that part of the total which is used on the farm where it is produced.

The bulletin covers the period 1924-1946 and presents some interesting figures. In 1924 "cash income" derived from dairy products was seven and a half million dollars; in 1946 twenty-nine and a half million. For the same period "gross farm income" from dairying went up from thirty-one million to seventy million dollars.

Manufactured dairy products—ice cream, butter, cheese, etc.—have shown steady and sometimes remarkable increases during the two decades covered. There was a jump from two million to sixteen million gallons of ice cream; production of evaporated milk went from nothing to 32 million pounds, and of cheese from nothing to more than a million pounds. (One employee of the state department of agriculture said he'd wager any reasonable sum that the average Tar Heel had no idea his state produced over a million pounds of cheese a year.)

Fact is, which the bulletin did not emphasize, that a large part of the evaporated milk and cheese produced in North Carolina goes on the market under well known trade mark brands and carries no state identification label. For instance, Kraft has a cheese plant at West Jefferson; Carnation has one processing and four receiving stations in the state. Several other plants produce and package dairy products for the nationally known trade mark concerns.

Greensboro Firm Buys Bond Issue Stokes Schools

Vance Securities corporation of Greensboro yesterday purchased the $45,000 bond issue of the Stokes schools. Proceeds from the bond issue will be used to construct a gymnasium at the white school in Stokes and to make improvements at the colored school.

The gymnasium will be of all steel construction and because of the shortages of materials work on the structure is not expected to begin until late in December, D. H. Conley, superintendent of county schools said today.

The Vance Securities corporation low bidders on the bonds, bought the first $30,000 of the issue at a 2 1/2 per cent interest rate and the remaining $15,000 of bonds at a rate of 3 1/2 per cent.

Post Office In Bus Considered

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Post Office Department is considering a "Post Office in a Bus" to serve northwestern North Carolina.

J. B. McGee of Greensboro, district superintendent of the department's railway mail service, is making surveys in cities along the proposed route. It would be from Greensboro to Johnson City, Tenn., touching Winston-Salem, North Wilkesboro and Boone, roughly paralleling U. S. highway route 421.

Couldn't Take It

Bangor, Me., Aug. 18.—(AP)—A Bangor wife, about to become a mother, took everything calmly—But the father-to-be! He fainted, patrolman Clifton E. Sloan said, while police arranged for an ambulance yesterday.

Revived, the man was so distraught Sloan decided to take him to the hospital, too. On the way he fainted twice.

A baby daughter was born to the couple. All were reported doing nicely today.

Courthouse Will Get Face-Lifting

By CHESTER WALSH

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners awarded the general contract for alterations and repairs at the courthouse to V. P. Loftis & Co. of Charlotte for $70,899. Work is to be started right away.

C. L. Russ was given the heating and plumbing contract, $3,314. Hub Electric Company received the electric contract, $3,220.

The courthouse is to receive a face-lifting job from basement to roof. A recent grand jury ordered the improvements. The architect's plans provide for lowering the ceiling in the courtroom to improve the acoustics; removal of paint and repainting the interior, repairing windows and doors; installing a rest room for women jurors and adequate toilet and washroom facilities; drinking fountains on each floor; rearranging the basement and installing public restrooms for men and women, and covering the wood floors in the offices with asphalt tile.

The plans also provide for repairing worn steps, windows and doors and installing straight stairs in the basement vaults under the court clerk's and register of deeds' offices. The dome of the building has been repaired and repainted and copper cornices will be installed on the roof.

A. J. Maxwell Jr., Goldsboro architect, made the plans for the improvements and repairs, which will cost $82,242.

Business Education Department At College Growing With New Members

The appointment of W. W. Howells of Greensboro as a member of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty has increased the staff of the department of business education to seven members. President John D. Messick has announced. Three other new faculty members appointed for 1948-1949 will replace teachers who are on leave of absence or who are no longer connected with the college.

Howells will teach advanced accounting and selling at East Carolina. For several years he was head of the business administration department at Elon and for the past three years has been with King's Business College in Raleigh. He is a graduate of Elon and holds the master's degree from the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Howells will also be a member of the department of business education here during the coming school year. She taught last year at State College, Raleigh, and previously was for several years head of the commerce department at Elon. She is a graduate of La Grange College in Georgia and was awarded the master's degree at State. She replaces Audrey V. Dempsey, now on leave of absence from the college, and will teach typing.

James L. White of Scotland Neck, an alumnus of East Carolina now teaching at Georgia State Teachers College, Collegeboro, will join the staff of the business education department here this fall and will teach shorthand. After graduation from the college here, White spent three years in the army and was on duty in the Pacific area. On returning to this country he did graduate work at Teachers College, Columbia University, where he received the master's degree.

Dorothy Lewis of Farmville, at present registrar at Wilmington College, will teach accounting here. Miss Lewis holds both the bachelor's and the master's degrees from East Carolina. As a student she served as president of the student government association. After graduation she worked in the office of the college business manager before going to Wilmington.

Luis Taruc, leader of the Hukbalahap peasant army and a congressman, makes his most effective speeches in his native Tagalog, the language of central Luzon. But he writes his speech outlines in English. This, he says, is because he thinks better in English, having been educated in that language.

Deadly Weapon Cases Tried In County Court

By CHESTER WALSH
At Tuesday afternoon's session of Pitt County Recorder's Court Judge Dink James gave Arlester Coward, alias "Little Bud", four months on the roads for assaulting with a deadly weapon, a knife, Edward Pratt, colored. He suspended sentence on condition that Coward pay court costs now and Pratt's hospital and doctor's bill before September 1.

Coward testified that he had frequently warned Pratt about going with his wife and that he found him with her in a car on the River Road, between Greenville and Belvoir on the night of August 10, and admitted that he attacked him with a knife. Pratt testified that Coward cut him on an arm, on the chest and under an arm, the wounds requiring numerous stitches.

The court gave Joe Pugh, Negro of the Haddock's Crossroads community, six months on the roads for assaulting Ray F. Sawyer, white, with a deadly weapon, a knife, on August 8, following a gambling game. Sentence was suspended on condition that Pugh pay court costs, $115, to Sawyer for doctor's bill and $45 for time lost from work on account of his wounds.

'Up To Drivers' Says Chief Page

At its weekly meeting on Monday night, the Greenville Lion's Club had Chief of Police Lester Page as its guest speaker.

Chief Page spoke briefly and interestingly on the general subject of "Safety", laying particular emphasis on the part each individual citizen must perform in order to have a minimum number of traffic accidents with their resultant deaths or serious bodily injuries.

"It is not enough that the police department has signs denoting dangerous intersections," said Chief Page, "these are but warnings to motorists. Unless they are obeyed, the sign itself means nothing."

"Not only must we practice safety at intersections," he continued, "but we must constantly be on the lookout whenever and wherever we are driving. With the large number of children out of school and playing around the streets, it is more incumbent upon us than usual to practice individual safety measures."

"The problem of Traffic Safety is made even more urgent for the citizenry of Greenville than for most other comparable cities, due to our narrow streets. This condition is now in the process of being alleviated by the widening of many of our city streets. Though this is expected to aid materially in the flow of traffic and to lessen the dangers of traffic accidents in an appreciable degree, it will in no way permit us to become lax or careless in our driving habits."

In conclusion, Chief Page noted that his department was doing all in its power to make the streets safe for pedestrians and motorists, but asked the cooperation of all in the efforts of his department to stamp out the unnecessary loss of lives and physical injuries.

E. C. Brown, a recent arrival to Greenville, was a guest of the club.

Tobs Sweep Two-Game Series; Greenies Held To Seven Hits, Saved From Shout By Circuit Cloud Over Leftfield Wall By Wiley Nash

By BERT MOYE

Manager Bob Latsch's Wilson Tobs pounded 14 hits, including two home runs, a triple and three doubles, good for 27 total bases, with nine base on balls, off Ken Brooks to take a clean sweep of the two-game series between the two clubs, 14-1 at Wilson last night.

The Tobs scored in every frame with the exception of the fourth. They put across enough runs to win the game in the first frame when two runs tallied on two hits, one a triple, aided by a costly error.

They scored in the second frame without a hit. Manager Bob Latsch's homer in the third accounted for a run and Dale Sanner's two-run homer accounted for two more markers in the fifth inning. Three runs were added in the sixth on a double, two singles, error and a sacrifice. Four runs scored in the seventh on three doubles and two singles and in the eighth a singleton was scored on an error and a sacrifice.

The Greenies were saved from a shutout when Wiley Nash hit a 340-foot homer over the leftfield wall—his ninth of the current season.

Neil Laffer, on the mound for the Tobs, held the Greenies to seven hits, winning his third game of the season against the Greenies. He has dropped two decisions to the Greenies. Joe Spota and Ken Brooks each got a double and a single to lead the weak attack of the locals.

Ken Brooks went the route for the Greenies and received credit for his twelfth loss of the season—his second to the Tobs. He has four wins this season.

Manager Bob Latsch hit three for three, including a homer, double and a single, and scored four runs to spark the Wilson offensive. Joe Moss, Tobs' leftfielder, connected with two doubles and a single to help out the winners.

The Greenies open a two-game series with the Goldsboro Bucs here tonight at Guy Smith Stadium. Incidentally, the Bucs have been victorious in 12 of the 16 games played between the two clubs this season.

Very Good, Eddie... by Pap

Eddie Joost is virtually playing his head off to keep the Athletics in the thick of the pennant race. And the motive behind the burning ambition to get the Philadelphia club into the World Series this year is two-fold—Joost wants to repay Connie Mack for giving him his second chance in the majors, and he wants a crack at the Boston Braves for top National League honors.

Joost had a very unhappy experience with the Braves and wound up back in the minors, with Rochester. That was bad enough, but the ugly rumor spread about the big leaguer concerning Eddie's weakness for the cup that cheers him might close to eliminating any chance of his re-

Ruth Returns To Yankee Stadium

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A black and gray hearse moved slowly into Yankee Stadium late today bringing Babe Ruth home to the scene of many of his triumphs.

Hundreds of Ruth's admirers watched silently as a mahogany casket bearing the body of baseball's home run king was lifted from the hearse and placed in the Stadium's rotunda against a background of potted palms.

Atop the casket was a single spray of American beauty roses.

Ruth had come home to Yankee Stadium, there to rest until tomorrow night while thousands visited the bier for a final tribute to their idol.

The body of Ruth, who died in New York City's Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases after an illness of nearly two years, was borne into the rotunda by eight pallbearers.

The doors to the great Stadium then were closed and the crowd outside formed a line, waiting to be admitted for the walk past the casket.

First In Line

The first person in line waiting to pay tribute to Ruth as the body lay in state was 27-year-old Albert Morton, a Bronx clothing salesman, who said he never had seen a game of baseball.

"But I admired Babe Ruth in every respect," Morton said as he explained that he had returned home from Philadelphia on learning of Ruth's death.

Rugged Redskin

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Art Pollard, rookie halfback of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League, was captain of the University of Arizona's 1948 varsity boxing team.

The first chairs were symbols of authority and hence usually were, in effect, thrones.

Small Sailfish Is First To Be Landed Off Morehead Coast

Morehead City, N. C.—Even though his fish was small, honors for catching the first sailfish of the summer season off the North Carolina coast at Morehead City goes to S. B. Wooten of Goldsboro. He caught the fish, one that measured 18 inches from tip to tip, last weekend while trolling for mackerel from aboard Capt. Johnny Styron's charter boat "Sylvia."

Since his sail was the first of the season to be taken with rod and reel, he, Angler Wooten, won several prizes and is in line to win even more. Capt. Otis Purifoy, owner of seven charter boats in the Gulf Stream fleet, gave the angler a deep sea fishing reel and Willis Tackle Shop gave a rod. Purifoy also gave Wooten as part of his prize enough line to load the reel.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Richmond Times-Dispatch today quoted North Carolina State College officials as saying that they voluntarily have declared Leslie (Footsie) Palmer, the nation's leading punter in 1947, temporarily ineligible for further Southern Conference competition.

At the same time, State College adopted a policy of watchful waiting on the outcome of the University of Maryland's protest to the league's executive committee over the barring this past weekend of Lucien Gambino.

A member of the school's Athletic department told the Times-Dispatch that the school considers the Palmer and Gambino case similar. He said State, therefore, had decided not to ask Colonel William H. Couper, conference president, for a ruling on Palmer's eligibility. "The executive overrules Couper on Gambino."

First indication that Palmer might have played out his college eligibility, the Times-Dispatch said in an article appearing in this morning's edition, came last Friday, two days before the Couper word on Gambino was made public. It was announced then that State officials were investigating Footsie's pre-war competition at the University of Virginia.

Their investigation showed yesterday the Times-Dispatch said, that:

1. Palmer had played two games with the Mountaineer freshman in 1941.
2. Palmer had been a member of the West Virginia Varsity squad in 1942.

It was the fact that Palmer was a varsity man in 1942 that finished him under Nolen Couper's interpretation of the "three-year rule" in barring Gambino.

Palmer, like Gambino, had played one pre-war year of varsity ball. Palmer, like Gambino, played two years of post-war football in 1946-1947.

It's War Between Basketball Loops

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—An official predicted "open warfare" today between the Basketball Association of America and the National Basketball League after the two professional circuits failed to reach an agreement.

The two-day "peace" conference ended yesterday with both sides acknowledging a stalemate.

Ike Duffey, president of the National Basketball League, said the NBL withdrew from the conference when it became apparent there was "no common ground on which an agreement could be completed."

"I fully realize this means open warfare with the Basketball Association of America," Duffey said.

Maurice Podoloff, head of the BAA, said, "We could make no headway."

He added he had instructed BAA teams not to raid NBL teams but warned: "If raiding starts we will retaliate."

In Second Day Of Competition

Wilmette, Ill., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Eastern skippers apparently were in full charge today as the 110 class International yacht regatta moved into its second day of competition.

A fleet of 24 boats bucked unfavorable weather in yesterday's two-race session of the three-day championships. Johnny Marvin of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Bill Burke of Hull Bay, Mass., grabbed firsts.

Twice-A-Week

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Branch Rickey is starting a drive to have all-America conference football teams meet twice a week.

And Jim Breull, owner of the Buffalo Bills, says:

"Football is coming to a twice a week schedule anyway. We may as well pioneer it. We have pioneered a new major league. Why stop there?"

Rickey, head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Breull made their views known at a greater Buffalo advertising club gathering yesterday.

They said they would seek adoption of a 28-game schedule at the conference's first winter meeting in December.

Rickey called it "only fair to the thousands of fans who would like to see our teams and to the owners who are being whipsawed financially under the present setup."

Fourth Round In Singles Tourney

Newport, R. I., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Australia's Frank Sedgman was the last of the five foreign entries in the historic Newport Casino singles tennis tournament today as the 16 survivors prepared for fourth round action.

During yesterday's third round action, all 16 of the domestic seeded players were victorious but several had narrow escapes.

Top-seeded Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., last year's Casino winner, was extended before defeating Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., 6-4, 7-5, and second seeded Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, had a difficult task turning back Jack Turo of New Orleans, 12-10, 6-3.

Sedgman advanced with a 5-2 8-6 win over the capable Jim Brink of Seattle, Wash., but Eric Sturgis of South Africa, was sidelined by Eddie Moyle of San Francisco, 4-6, 7-5, 10-8, and Guy Jackson of Dublin, Ire., was ousted by Harry Likas of San Francisco, 6-0, 6-4.

The others to gain the fourth round were Bob Falkenberg, Pancho Gonzales, Budge Patty, all of Los Angeles, Sam Match, Earl Coen, Arthur Larsen, Tom Brown, all of San Francisco, Irvin Dorfman and Bill Talbot of New York, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Buffalo Downs Brooklyn 21-19 In Charity Game

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—George Ratterman tossed three touchdown passes for the Buffalo Bills as they downed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 21-19, in a pre-season exhibition game last night.

The two All-America conference teams played for charity before a crowd of 27,630 in Civic Stadium.

Bob (Hunchy) Hoernschmeyer of the Dodgers also heaved three passes for scores.

The Bills led 14-0 after the first quarter and 21-7 at the end of the third, but the Dodgers rallied in the last period.

Pepper Martin, the former St. Louis Cardinal baseball star, kicked the first extra point for the visitors, but shanked the second into a churning line. Hardy Brown, entrusted with the third, was low. Bob Stauber's three placement kicks provided the victory margin for the Bills.

A MAN IN THE HOUSE

By Florence Stuart

Chapter 20

Abruptly Jane pushed him away from her. She was looking at him oddly, not so much with distaste as if at someone she had never seen before. "Until we're sick of each other. That's what you started to say, isn't it, Ted?"

"Well," he grinned, "if that should happen—"

"It would happen," Jane said quietly. "And very soon, no doubt." It was happening to her now, before it had even started. His kisses, which she had dreamed of with self-stimulated ecstasy, were in reality as flat as cold pancakes. They had aroused nothing in her, not even revulsion.

"No," she said, frowning, and her hand held him away from her. "Don't kiss me again, Ted. I don't want you to."

His handsome face looked bewildered, vaguely annoyed. "Look here, honey, now that this golden opportunity has arrived, now that it's okay for us to get down to brass tacks, you aren't going to start playing coy, hard to get? You haven't done that up to date," he reminded her. He grinned to take any unpleasantness from the words. "Why, right along you've all but thrown yourself at my head."

"I suppose I have, at that," Jane said, taking no offense.

"Well, then, why start playing games now?"

"I'm not," Jane said quietly. "I'm all through playing games." She added: "That's what I've been doing for the last three months. I just found it out."

She stared at him thoughtfully, started to speak, then shook her head. There was no use trying to make him understand that she was not in love with him and never had been. It was difficult enough to make herself understand it.

She remembered their talk that night, out at Aladdin's Lamp, and some of the things Ted had said. They had sounded very wise at the time and they were wise. He had told her that the trouble with her was her youth, that she was playing with dreams, that she was in love with her husband and hadn't the wisdom to realize it. It had all been so true, so terribly true, and she saw it now for truth.

But recalling Ted saying the words, they had now a hollow ring, as if they might have been something he was parroting from a book he had read.

He would be quite willing to take her now. Now that she could never say she had given up any great thing for him. Now that the terms, for him, would be so much better. A man who had simply married a woman after her first husband had walked out, married her while she was on the rebound, so to speak, would always have the upper hand. And too much could not be expected of him.

Still watching him, Jane thought: Ted's all right, for what he is. But the trouble was, he had never grown up and probably never would. He would never know great responsibility because he would always steer his course carefully away from it. He would never love any woman enough to be hurt by her, because he would never love any woman as much as he loved himself.

Legion Elects Fair Officers

By CHESTER WALSH

Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion, at its monthly supper meeting at the Airport Inn last night, presented the post's retiring commander, James L. Jenkins, with a gold past commander's lapel pin in appreciation of his services. Commander T. K. Fountain presided.

Herman McLawhorn was elected a delegate to the state convention of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion in appreciation of his outstanding work in securing new members.

June H. Rose stated that no memorial plaque or any complete record exists of the Pitt County men who died in the service of their country in World War II. Commander Fountain appointed a committee to secure the names of all such men through the media of advertising and record searching, and to study and report upon the feasibility of installing a bronze plaque, listing each man by name, at the courthouse. Members of the committee are Arthur B. Corey, chairman; Jack Edwards and Charles F. Gaskins.

Report was made to the post that the Fair Association Committee met on August 16, 1943, and elected the following officers: Walter Cherry, president; Carroll Chaucery, vice-president; Larry Averette, treasurer; J. Hicks Corey, director; and Arthur B. Corey, counsel.

New members welcomed included Roy Watts and Jesse Williams. Dr. Leo Jenkins welcomed as a guest, Dr. Herbert, who recently joined the college faculty.

Atom Plant Work Near Standstill

Los Alamos, N. M., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Construction work slowed to a near standstill at the Los Alamos atomic project today as union workmen met to discuss complaints against a contracting firm.

This occurred as the atomic energy commission already was plagued by a strike at its Oak Ridge Tenn., project, where 100 electricians are off the job.

Cat Driven To Drink Is Study In Human Behavior

San Francisco, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The story of a cat that was driven to drink was told to American veterinarians today to point up what they might do toward combating psychoneurosis in humans as well as in animals.

Protest Idea Of Men In Kitchen

London, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Men's place in the kitchen—at least part of the time—the International Youth Conference was told today.

Miss Emilie Arnold, of Belgium, presented a report by a commission dealing with women, girls and the family relation to work. The report said "Men should be compelled to do certain housekeeping tasks without thinking it is beneath their dignity."

It made no recommendations, however, on methods of accomplishing this.

Mrs. Sigridur Valgeirsdottir, a beautiful blond from Iceland, offered a few suggestions.

"Men should receive some education in subjects such as child psychology and in learning to do the simplest things of the home, including some lessons in cooking," she argued.

This, she said, would bring "better understanding" into homes.

Men predominated in the discussion from there.

"The main task of women is to look after children," said Abdil Razzak Naman, of Baghdad. "Women do not have to go out to work."

State Aims For A Death Penalty

Smithfield, N.C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The state began calling witnesses today in an effort to obtain the death penalty for James R. (Jimmy) Creech, 37, for the slaying of his estranged wife, Mrs. Mattie Creech.

Solicitor Jack Hooks is conducting presentation of the state's case before Judge Clawson L. Williams in Johnston Superior Court here.

Selection of a jury was completed late yesterday after a full day's session of court. Opposing counsel examined 110 prospective jurors. The regular venire of 20 and 83 members of a special venire were called during selection of the jurors. Seven more veniremen were examined before the alternate juror was seated.

Creech, well-known in this county as a tobaccoist and farmer, is under indictment for first degree murder for the shotgun slaying on July 28 of his estranged third wife. She was slain in the Brodgen community near here.

Noon prices were 30 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. Oct. 31.12, Dec. 31.14 and March 31.08.

Cotton futures declined into new low ground for the day as increased New Orleans and local selling developed toward the close. Easiness in grains was an influence.

Futures closed 10 to 88 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Plans To Make Malaria Survey In Greenville

D. F. Ashton, entomologist from the U. S. Public Health Service, who is now assigned to special duty with the North Carolina Department of Public Health in Raleigh, in the division of malaria investigation and control, is now in Greenville. He and J. R. Carrington, mosquito control specialist with the Pitt County board of health, today and tomorrow are making an investigation preliminary to a general survey of the malaria situation here.

Present plans provide for making a mass survey of malaria conditions in this community after the public schools open. Carrington has been engaged in a DDT spraying campaign in dry villageplaces for mosquito control in the community and the city of Greenville spread oil on open ditches and other places where mosquitoes breed. Mayor Jack Boyd said this control work will continue through the summer.

World Isn't ...

The Bolshevik world revolution, under direction of Moscow, is the only major aggression today. And it is indeed an ironic circumstance that the Soviet, while making this war, should try to persuade the United Nations to vote for disarmament. Naturally the Muscovites would like to see their opponents lay down their arms and thereby ease the Red conquest, but it does seem strange to see the argument advanced seriously in the UN Arms Commission.

Under such circumstances, agreement by the western powers to disarm would be the ranklest sort of appeasement towards Bolshevism. And it would be suicidal appeasement of which the Redism would take prompt advantage.

There is just one way in which we can get the peace which may lead to disarmament. That is for the Communists to call off their "cold war" and show some degree of cooperation.

Until the Bolshevik aggression is definitely ended, there can be no real peace, and the world's nations must remain armed.

Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A decidedly weak undertone developed in all commodities dealt in on the board of trade today. Corn showed the widest losses, but the slump extended through all grains, soybeans and lard. Trading was fairly heavy.
