Says Confession Of Slaying Girl Was 'All A Lie'

Shelby Woman States Husband Forced Her To Confess Crime Of Murder

Shelby, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Robert Howell today repudiated her alleged confession that she had slain her love rival, testifying that her husband forced her to confess under threat of harm to herself and their two children.

The statement she signed for Sheriff Hugh A. Logan, Jr., last Sunday was "all a lie," the 27-year-old woman testified at a preliminary hearing.

She said her husband had coached her what to say and she "would be sorry if she didn't."

Recorder L. T. Hamrick, Jr., ordered Mrs. Howell be held in protective custody in the Cleveland county jail to testify later to the grand jury.

She looked straight at her husband as she testified.

Howell, 28, and Ray Sellers, 43, also have been charged with murder in the death of Betty Smith, 15, an unmarried mother. They have been released on bond.

Miss Smith's body, clad in a slip, was found Aug. 18 in Sellers' fashionably furnished home between Kings Mountain and Cherryville.

The court ordered that Mrs. Howell be given quarters in the jailer's apartment and that her children, Kelda, 3, and Mary Jane, 7, be allowed to visit her. They are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dover, at a farm between Waco and Cherryville.

A. A. Powell, a lawyer retained by Mrs. Howell's family, asked the court to order Howell's arrest and forfeit of his $10,000 bond. Judge Hamrick said he didn't have authority to do that, it was a matter for the grand jury.

Howell was released in bond last Saturday. His wife testified that he came to see her at her father's home that day and told her to confess.

Howell told her, she testified that he had been advised by a lawyer that she claimed it was self-defense she would not even be locked up.

She testified Howell had coached her to say she found him and Miss Smith in bed together at the Sellers home.

Young 'Kingfish' Leading In Race

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Russell Long, 29-year-old son of the late Huey P. Long, today pulled 1,500 votes ahead of Judge Robert F. Kennon in the race for the United States Senate.

Long gained steadily as rural returns from yesterday's Democratic primary election were completed. Unofficial returns from 1868 of 1933 precincts gave Long 240,232, Kennon 238,732. About half the Parish (county) returns were complete and most of the missing boxes were in rural areas.

Spy Investigators Trace New 'Lead'

May Knit Together Claims That Spy Ring And Underground Existed; New Figure In Gov't Service Under Scrutiny

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Congressional spy investigators today ran down a new lead they said may knit together claims that the Communists operated a prewar underground and wartime espionage rings in Washington.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) said the lead was uncovered in efforts to verify the statement of Whittaker Chambers that he got a government "boondoggling" job in 1937 while a Communist party agent.

An admitted former Red, Chambers has testified he landed on the federal payroll with the help of two men recently accused of being part of the wartime Soviet spy network.

"A preliminary investigation," Nixon told reporters, "has established that a man with exactly the same name as one of the superiors of Mr. Chambers has, in fact, a long record of Communist activity and worked in the government under Nathan Gregory Silvermaster."

"The committee is not releasing the name at this time, or until it establishes beyond question that the man with the same name were not involved."

"If the inquiry does show that a Chambers superior and the individual whose record we have is one and the same, then an additional important link will have been established between the Chambers underground and the Bentley spy rings."

Now a senior editor of Time magazine, Chambers has said under oath that he was part of an underground in the Red's operated here in the mid-1930's.

That was the phrasing the committee used in inviting James E. Carey to testify voluntarily as secretary-treasurer of the CIO first president of the 12-year-old Electrical Workers union.

Carey, an outspoken foe of Communism, turned down the invitation. He made public a week old letter to that effect last night.

With biting criticism of past congressional efforts to expose Communist activities in labor unions, Carey said he must "respectfully decline" to testify.

Rep. Keenan (R-Wis.) subcommittee chairman, replied with a subpoena.

Carey told a reporter today he will be there as directed but "I'm sure yet just how much he will tell."

The Kersten group similarly invited U. E. President Albert J. Fitzgourd to appear voluntarily.

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS Northampton County voted today whether to stop the legal sale of wine and beer. Dries have won previous tests in 17 North Carolina counties.

Cumberland, Cherokee and McDowell counties yesterday voted on beer and wine. Nearly complete unofficial returns showed the dries scored a 9 to 1 majority in McDowell, 6 to 1 in Cherokee and 5-4 in Cumberland.

Certification of the Cherokee results awaits a court hearing Sept. 10 on an application for a restraining order.

A restraining order was denied in McDowell. But advocates of legalized beer and wine there have announced they will continue the fight at the September term of Superior Court.

Negotiations To Prevent Strike Is 'Last Hope'

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Negotiations called today in an eleventh-hour hope of averting a tieup of Pacific coast shipping at midnight tonight.

Prospects of reaching a settlement between the employers and five unions in time to avoid a work stoppage appeared slim. The unions have agreed that "all or none" will sign, and even with an agreement the mechanics of adjusting all contracts before the walkout deadline would require time.

Called together today were negotiators for the waterfront employers association and the CIO Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union which has been in the forefront of the dispute.

Army Will Weed Out Leftists Caught In Draft

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Army commanders were under orders today to screen out any Communists and fellow travelers inducted in the peacetime draft.

Although registrants are not asked whether they are Communists, the Army Department revealed yesterday that all officers and enlisted personnel are subject to loyalty checks and may be discharged if found to be members of a subversive organization.

A memorandum from the top command said the Army's policy is "to permit only loyal Americans to serve in the Army in any capacity."

It added that "membership in or close affiliation with the Communist party is inimical to national security."

New Cabinet

Paris, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Premier Robert Schuman began forming a new French cabinet today. He got the green light from the National Assembly by a margin of only 11 votes.

His coalition government is expected to include many of the ministers who made up the cabinet he headed for eight months until he was forced out last July 19.

The assembly confirmed Schuman last night by a vote of 322 to 185, the weakest support yet accorded a French premier on his initial appearance before the parliament. He needed 311 votes for confirmation.

Union To Reveal Inside Struggle

Leaders Of Warring UEW Factions To Testify At Hearing

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Warring faction leaders of the United Electrical Workers Union indicated today they will yield to Congressional orders and air their long struggle for control of the CIO's third largest union.

The conflict stems from the widening rift between left and right wing elements within the 600,000-member union.

The eight-year fight is headed for a new showdown at the U. E.'s convention in New York beginning next Monday, Labor Day.

First, however, a House Labor subcommittee has scheduled a hearing for tomorrow into what it calls the Union's failure "to get its House in order concerning its ideological aspects."

That was the phrasing the committee used in inviting James E. Carey to testify voluntarily as secretary-treasurer of the CIO first president of the 12-year-old Electrical Workers union.

Carey, an outspoken foe of Communism, turned down the invitation. He made public a week old letter to that effect last night.

Budenz Tells Of Peters' Place In Communist Net

Described As High Communist Functionary; 'Conspiratorial' Apparatus

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Louis Budenz, former Communist party official, testified today that J. Edgar Hoover had been engaged in "getting information in Washington and Hollywood" for the party.

Budenz, who renounced Communism a few years ago and now is on the faculty at Fordham university, testified at a deportation hearing for the mysterious Peters.

Peters was described by Budenz as a high Communist functionary who gave directions to the national committee, ruling body of the party. His role was similar to that of Earl Browder and Gerhardt Eisler, other top Communist officials, the witness said.

Budenz said Peters once told him he (Budenz) did not know anything about "the conspiratorial apparatus, the most important part of the party."

Peters said to him, Budenz testified, that "the Communist party is like a submerged submarine and I could see only the periscope."

The witness said he (Budenz) worked with Soviet secret police during three of his 10 years as a party member. He said that at their request he brought them a number of persons, "including a man named Jackson who killed Trotsky."

At sessions of the deportation committee, ruling body of the party, he was identified by former Communists as a one-time plotter of revolution and key Communist operator in the United States.

Tropical Storms Are Dissipating

Two That Ushered In 'Hurricane Month' Blowing Selves Out

Miami, Fla., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Tropical storms, both showing signs of dissipating before any serious damage is caused, ushered in the "hurricane month" of September today.

The first hurricane of the season which for six days moved steadily toward the mainland from below Puerto Rico, apparently was blowing itself out in the North Atlantic after skirting the North Carolina coastline.

Storm warning hoisted over the islands of Guadalupe and St. Lucia in the windward island chain were lowered before midnight as a small tropical storm with winds no stronger than 50 miles an hour pushed into the Caribbean sea.

"A third area of suspicion," in the Gulf of Mexico located about 150 miles off Brownsville, Texas, apparently was nothing more than a squall wave and held little promise of becoming a tropical storm.

Ships and planes which had evacuated the North Carolina coastal area when the first hurricane threatened were returning and hundreds of residents along the Carolina beaches who had boarded up their homes and retreated to safer localities were coming home.

Storm No. 2 was reported heading westward into the Caribbean at about 12 to 16 miles an hour. Winds in the center were estimated at between 35 to 40 miles an hour.

N. C. Democrats Formally Open Campaign Office

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—North Carolina Democrats formally opened their headquarters here today for their fall campaign.

The offices—in the Carolina Hotel—are the same as those from which Kerr Scott launched his winning campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Many of the headquarters personnel were the same, too. Capus Waynick, who headed Scott's campaign workers, will head the party campaign by virtue of his post as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Charles J. Parker, who directed Scott's campaign publicity, will handle the party's campaign publicity.

Prices Weaken On Yesterday's Tobacco Markets

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Weakening prices marked yesterday's activity on both the Carolina border belt and Eastern North Carolina belt fire-cured tobacco markets.

The U.S. and N.C. Agriculture Departments reported most declines on the eastern belt amounted to $1 to $2 per hundred pounds, with some losses running as high as $4.

Monday's average was $48.60 per hundred, the report said, for a total volume of 10,843,246 pounds. This price was 43 cents higher than the average for Friday. The figures brought the season's sales to $1,458,281 and the average for the season to $48.28.

Berlin Governors Again In Meeting

Apparently Armed With Experts' Findings On Possible Ending Berlin Crisis; All Points Of Differences Under Study

Berlin, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The four military governors of Germany opened their second conference on the Berlin crisis today, apparently armed with experts' findings on possibilities of ending the 70-day Berlin blockade.

The French licensed newspaper Der Kurier reported that the "technical difficulties" which the Russians have said caused them to block the only rail line from Berlin to western Germany already have been overcome.

The newspaper quoted a leading official of the German railway administration at Magdeburg as saying the "double railway line between Magdeburg and the zonal border is capable of carrying all freight and passenger traffic."

The new session of the military government began shortly after 5 p. m. (10 a. m. EST), in the main allied control council conference room. Three groups—experts on transport, finance and economics—were believed to have been assigned specific tasks by the four commanders after the military government held their first meeting here yesterday since the Russians walked out of the allied control council March 20. The governors themselves are working on directives flown from the Moscow sessions of western representatives with Soviet leaders.

The groups of experts, like their principals, met at the allied control authority building. The economics meeting was described in notices as dealing with trade matters. The finance group obviously is studying the problem of a single currency system for Berlin.

An informed source said the problem centered on how the three western powers could supervise a single Soviet-backed currency for all Berlin while permitting the Russians to issue it.

The problem goes down to the roots of the 70-day Berlin crisis.

Big City Hit By Truck Stoppage

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A truck stoppage began in New York today and a union spokesman claimed it was halting the movement of all general cargo in and out of the city.

Union officials said that some 9,400 members of Local 807 of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, which rejected a new contract last night, had stopped work. It claims 13,000 members.

Meanwhile the city's division of labor relations said city, state and federal mediators would begin mediation efforts this afternoon to end the stoppage.

Wallace Encounters Quiet Crowd On His First Alabama Appearance

Decatur, Ala., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace's first appearance in Alabama today was peaceful and he even drew scattered cheers when he said, "I do not come south to preach disunity."

The Progressive party candidate, who was met with a barrage of tomatoes, eggs and boos in North Carolina, spoke to an orderly crowd of 600 from the front of the Morgan County court house.

His audience was not segregated, but only a few Negroes were seen. At the end of his talk, Wallace thanked them for their courtesy. Again there were some cheers, mingled with boos.

"I do not come south to preach disunity," he declared, "but to advocate that we all pull together. There is too much hatred in the world and I say it is possible to develop Christian cooperation."

Wallace spoke briefly on international relations. "I say the cold war must end if we are going to reduce the cost of living. The cold war has cost us and we can stop sending hundreds of millions to Greece, Turkey and China to back Fascist Regimes."

"Then," Wallace added, "we could spend billions for more TVA's." Bringing his campaign into the deep south, Wallace faced an icy reception from Municipal officials. One Alabama Mayor even wrote him, "your presence is not desired here."

Other city officials warned him they would strictly enforce segregation laws. Mississippi and Arkansas refused to permit the former vice president to speak from the steps of their State Capitals.

Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas all promised state high patrol escorts, although Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama said he didn't "believe anyone in Alabama will physically harm Mr. Wallace."

His schedule called for talks at Huntsville at 8:30 a. m., then at Albertville and at Gadsden at 1:30 p. m. At 4:30 p. m. he is scheduled to speak from the courthouse steps in Birmingham, following that up with another talk at nearby Bessemer and a radio address over an Alabama network at 7:30 p. m.

The Wallace party is scheduled to leave at 8:30 p. m. for Jackson, Miss., on the next leg of a southern campaign tour.

Wallace's running mate, Senator Glen Taylor (D-Ill.) was jailed in Birmingham May 1 on charges of disorderly conduct when he sought to use a door reserved for Negroes to enter a meeting of the Southern Negro youth congress.

Taylor was fined $50 and given a suspended jail sentence of six months. His appeal is pending.

Birmingham Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor, who earlier sent Wallace a copy of the city's segregation laws, said he would jail anyone caught throwing anything at the Presidential candidate.

More Gains For Truman-Barkley Ticket Expected

New York's Liberal Party Getting In Line; Warren's Tour Announced

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The New York Liberal Party was expected today to add its strength to the ranks of 1944 Roosevelt supporters lining up behind the Truman-Barkley ticket.

With the CIO in the fold by a 33 to 23 executive board vote, administration supporters counted on the Liberal party's help in a bid to carry electoral-vote-heavy New York.

The Liberal party committee headed by former New Dealer Adolf A. Berle, Jr., is expected to make its formal endorsement tonight after a speech by Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

Republicans, meanwhile, announced that Gov. Earl Warren of California will open their active campaigning September 15. The GOP vice presidential nominee will leave California that day on a 10-day swing which will include eight major speeches.

He will make short train stops, possibly for platform appearances, at Reno, Nev., Sparks, Nev., Ogden, Utah, Glenwood Springs, Colo., Trinidad, Colo., Las Vegas, N. M., Amarillo, Texas, Oklahoma City, Springfield, Mo., Evansville, Ind., Cincinnati, Marion and Toledo, O.

National Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., brought back a glowing report of Republican prospects from a day trip through the western part of the country.

Predicting the GOP will Senate seats in Montana, Idaho, and Colorado, Scott said the party is "receiving the active support of approximately 20 per cent of the nominal Democrats in the West."

The Scott report thus broadens the GOP's base in the West. And the Democrats were jolted up by the recent series of Truman-Barkley endorsements.

CIO endorsement of the Truman-Barkley ticket, made it clear the President will get top-heavy labor backing. Most AFL union presidents agreed last week to form a committee to work for Mr. Truman's election.

Volcano Menace For Islanders

Manila, Thursday, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Times reported today 5,620-foot Camiguin Volcano on the island of the same name erupted yesterday and grave fear was felt for the safety of the islanders.

The last direct word from Camiguin came from a government radio operator on the south Philippine island, who said panic was spreading among the people. Then the radio went silent.

Total War Going On

Communist Offensive In Far East Growing; Threat To Korea; Fighting Now Going On In Burma, Malaya, Indo-China And Indonesia; Communist Objectives

The new and widespread Communist offensive in the Far East is growing more menacing. The latest development is a threat by the Russian puppet regime of North Korea to destroy the democratic government recently set up in the United States zone of South Korea. Simultaneously the Chinese army newspaper of Nanking warns that civil war is impending in Korea, and Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, retiring U.S. Gen. in Korea, conceded that there is a possibility of civil war. Hodge, enroute to Washington, expressed the belief in Honolulu that South Koreans would fight any invasion from the north.

However, that is a threat which still has to be evaluated, although the Reds long have been causing disunity in the southern theatre. Of more immediate concern are the actual Communist rebellions raging in Burma, Malaya, Indo-China and Indonesia. This area is among the world's treasure houses, and one upon which many nations place reliance for essential supplies.

From these rich countries come rubber, tin, sugar, rice, oil and other necessities in war and in peace. The western democracies need some of these supplies for military security. The rehabilitation of Europe and the Orient call for all these products available. Indeed, untold millions of peoples in the Far East are dependent on Burma and other great rice growing areas for this "staff of life."

One of the objects of the widespread Bolshevik offensive in the Orient apparently is not only to deprive the Western Allies of military supplies but to block rehabilitation of nations being aided by America. The world revolution which the Communists are waging is "total war."

Burma is the biggest grower of rice in southeast Asia, exporting huge quantities of it to neighboring India and to other Oriental countries. The rebellion in this new nation—which received its absolute independence outside the British commonwealth only last January—was launched because the government refused to align itself solely with Russia.

Premier Thakin Nu a few days ago admitted that 5 per cent of Burma's armed forces had turned Communist.

Andrei Zhdanov, Close Associate And Likely Heir To Stalin, Dies

By EDDIE GILMORE Moscow, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The death of Andrei A. Zhdanov, removing one of the most powerful forces in international communism, placed Moscow in mourning today.

Tens of thousands of Russians lined up to view the body of the Communist leader lying in state in the Hall of Columns, with indications that close to 1,000,000 will see the bier before the body is interred in the Kremlin wall tomorrow night.

Zhdanov, known to Russians as "the closest associate of the great Stalin," died yesterday at 52—after a serious illness, the Communist party's bulletins said, although there had been no inkling of this in the Soviet press. Five surgeons announced he had heart trouble and hardening of the arteries.

(Zhdanov was regarded as a leading candidate eventually to succeed Stalin, but Moscow correspondents apparently were unable to speculate today on what the death meant in this connection. Stalin's health is a forbidden topic in Russia. He is 68.)

Prime Minister Stalin probably will be one of the pallbearers when Zhdanov's coffin is carried from the Hall of Columns, where it lay in state, to Red Square for funeral services tomorrow night. Black-bordered Pravda devoted several pages of Zhdanov, who was a member of the powerful Politburo, a founder of the Communist party and a leader in the Communist's attacks on Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Red flags edged in black fluttered above the street for the first time on such an occasion since former President Mikhail I. Kalinin died in June, 1946.

Zhdanov was very close to Prime Minister Stalin and often was referred to on occasions of ceremony as "the closest associate of the great Stalin." There is no doubt that with Stalin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, he was one of the Soviet Union's "big three."

(Abroad, Zhdanov often was regarded as a leading candidate for Stalin's job, when the time came. Others believed in the running were Molotov and L. P. Beria, secret police boss.)

The Russian public was deeply shocked at the sudden news of Zhdanov's death, broadcast in a brief bulletin just a half hour before midnight. There had been no previous hint that he was ill.

In addition to being one of the 14 members of the vital policy making Politburo, he was a driving force behind the activities of the Communist International, International Information Bureau. He was present when that nine-nation organization was founded in Poland last year and participated in a Cominform meeting only two months ago at which Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia was denounced.

What Is An 'Isotope'?

Not A New Word To Scientists, But Strange To Most People; Lesson In Chemistry; How Isotopes Are Used; Their Value; Helpful To Science; Major Development

By MAX HALL Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—There's a new word going around: "Isotope."

It is pronounced "ice-o-tope" and it is not a new word to scientists. But it is new to most people. We use it to describe the different isotopes of the atomic bombs were dropped on Japan.

Isotopes some day will be as much a part of your conversation as x-rays. You will be hearing about isotopes the rest of your life. Isotopes may even save your life.

What then is an isotope? First let's remind ourselves that everything—the air, dirt, rocks, water, trees, and our own bodies—is made up of elements.

Elements are things like oxygen, hydrogen, iron, copper, carbon, sodium and chlorine. Water is a compound of oxygen and hydrogen. Ordinary table salt is a mixture of sodium and chlorine. Blood is a compound of many elements.

An isotope is a form of an element that behaves exactly like other forms of the same element—chemically speaking—but at the same time is different from them. One big difference is in weight.

more than 800 isotopes. For example, the element carbon has five isotopes—a sort of "carbon family."

A chunk of carbon—say your pencil point—contains two isotopes of carbon. These two isotopes, having different weights and called "C-12" and "C-13," exist together in all carbon as it occurs in nature.

Besides these two natural isotopes of carbon, scientists have discovered how to make three others, which they call "C-10," "C-11," and "C-14."

These are artificial isotopes. They are also "radioactive." That means they shoot out "rays." Different isotopes produce different rays. These rays can be caught and measured with instruments.

Thus a scientist can locate any of these isotopes and identify it, even if the Miss Arlene Joyner of Ingellette, cutting the highest, was given the prize.

At a late hour delicious ices and cakes were served. The guests departed to their respective homes at one o'clock extending many wishes to the charming host that his college life would be very enjoyable.

School Problem Remains Despite Post-War Gains

By JANE EADS
Washington—As the school bell rings for the youth of the nation, officials say that certain war-born school problems have been overcome—but that gains are threatened by formidable problems ahead.

Among gains listed by officials of the National Education Association (NEA) and the U. S. Office of Education (USOE) are: 1. Public awakening to school conditions requiring action. 2. More generous support of schools. More than three fourths of the states have substantially increased appropriations. 3. Higher salaries for teachers in most states (although they still lag behind the cost of living.) This results in better morale, with fewer teachers leaving the profession. 4. Increased enrollment in teachers' colleges. 5. A start on rehabilitation of the vast American educational plant—building and equipment.

Still, both NEA and USOE express concern over the rapidly rising enrollment and the shortage of qualified school teachers. USOE estimates that almost 32,000,000 youth will enter the nation's schools and colleges this fall and that this number is destined to increase another 7,000,000 by 1956-57.

Rail I. Griggsby, acting USOE commissioner, says that unless a vast multitude of alert and able young men and women volunteer to enter the teaching profession in the years ahead, our children will suffer—and our nation will suffer.
Willard E. Givens, NEA executive secretary, says: "This postwar generation of elementary school-age children cannot wait for this knotty problem to be solved through slow-moving plans. They are arriving in the school rooms of America, and what they miss now in their basic education can never be replaced effectively later."

NEA recommends that Congress act early on federal aid to education. To meet the problems that lie ahead, NEA officials estimate that schools must expand their present 870,000 teaching staff by 300,000 within the next seven years, must increase operating revenues by $1,000,000,000 and must put up $10,000,000,000 worth of new school buildings.

The number of emergency permits issued to sub-standard teachers last year was about 98,000. USOE figures that while fewer of these permits will be issued to high school teachers this fall, the number issued to elementary school teachers will not decrease very much. The supply of elementary school teachers newly prepared during 1947-48 is only 73 percent of the number prepared in a fairly normal year.

Brussels — (AP) — The European population of the Belgian Congo has risen from 27,791 in 1939 to 43,408 in 1947. Seventy-five per cent of them are Belgians. During the same period, the Negro population has increased to 10,700,000. The Congo is eight times larger than Belgium, whose population is now about 8.5 millions.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

"If you ordained women as ministers, you would not be overwhelmed with the number applying," has been one of the chief arguments advanced during the years by advocates of this cause in church convocations. The argument seems borne out by the experience of the United Church of Canada, which after 16 years of admitting women to eldership, has only 17 women ministers; and only three of them are married. They serve largely in the isolated rural parishes.

The passage by the Danish Parliament of a bill which gave to women the right of ordination in the (state) Church of Denmark has caused so many protests from churchmen that it may lead to a further separation of church and state in that nation. The churchmen feel the question should have been decided within the church and not by Parliament. Now a committee has been set up by Parliament to consider relations between church and state, and it is believed the committee will recommend constitutional changes in 1949 which will give the church greater independence.

Emotional tensions within the family and the home are the principal causes that lead to anti-social behavior and the making of criminals, according to a study recently made by a group of Columbia University psychiatrists of the families of criminals. According to the head of the studies, Dr. David Abrahamson: "Fundamentally we have found that more than the economic and social position of the family, the emotional relationship between parents and children influences character development. Our experience proves that family tension, even of a subtle nature, breeds criminals. Homes where there is bickering and nagging cause children to tighten up with resentment and hostility, resulting in their rebellion against authority and responding to the will of the gang. Often the family stress comes from dominating or weak parents, or a brother or sister getting more than a right share of the family blessings. In all the families examined it was found that there was an emotional tension. This tension was found to be a breeding place for hostility and resentment which not only led to criminal behavior but also to bodily and mental diseases."

Suit News . . . By Forbes

Suits are slender and sensible again. They are sound, classic fashions that can be worn for several seasons to make them worthwhile investments. Jackets are trim and precise . . . with narrowed shoulders, padded just enough to assure proper fit and good hang. The trim Tailleur is the favorite, but many of the new looking styles feature a dip or a ripple in the back. Silky gabardines, menswear worsteds, broadcloths and tweeds are the favored suit fabrics. Many black suits are being featured. Popular colors are dark greys, forest greens, all the browns and deep wines.

You'll find exclusive suits here for Matron and Miss bearing the genuine "Forbes" label.

Strength FOR THE DAY

WATCH THE ROAD SIGNS
An authority on mental diseases has, within the past few weeks, made the statement that thirty million people in this country need some form of mental hygiene treatment. Add to this the alarming reality that of the 300,000 hospital beds in this country half are occupied by mental cases, we can readily see that unless the tide turns for the better, there may some day be so many people in the asylums of the country that there will not be enough normal folk outside to take care of them.

What is the matter with the mind of America? Why does our population seem to be headed for a nervous breakdown on a national scale? Evidently it is because of the way we live, either because of the things we do or the things we leave undone. One thing is sure — the American people are drinking too much whiskey. When four million of our population are permanently disabled because of drinking and the per capita consumption is what it is, we may well begin to regard this problem with grave concern.

Another cause of widespread nervousness is the feverish persistence of our activities. Even the weekly lay of rest is filled now with so many activities that it takes most people a couple of days and nights to recover from the week-end.

There are rules for the highway of life, and we need to observe them.

New York—(7)—Watching a naked child crawl out of the ocean like seeing the world being born all over again.

I learned about babies from Michael, who loves life, belly laughs and the sea.

No wonder the population of the world is growing. I can understand now the reason most people would rather raise babies than dogs, cats, hollyhocks or hades. Michael taught me.

For two vacation weeks we shared a bungalow in the sand dunes of Hitt. Michael, thoughtfully, since he's been fifteen months old, he brought along his parents, Mary and John Crosby. John is the well known radio critic.

I don't know one end of a diaper from the other (Editors note: who does?), but Michael really heir-conditioned our vacation. The next time Frances and I go to the seashore I think I will rent a baby for the outing. They are more company than the seagulls.

Babies nowadays generally come in three sizes—wrigglers, crawlers, and wobblers.

Michael, so far as I could tell, had only one real problem: Whether to stay a crawler or become a Wobbler; that is, a baby able to explore the world on his feet instead of his hands and knees. So far he has postponed the decision.

I think I came to love Michael because he was the most completely honest human being I have met in years. There was no hypocrisy in his baby gobbledycock. He was completely true to the inner man. He laughed only when he was happy. He complained only when he was sleepy, hungry or kept from eating glass ashtrays.

There are two types of babies—the ones that try to entertain grown-ups, and those who graciously permit the grown-ups to entertain them. Of the latter was Michael, judicious and critical beyond his months.

The only thing he never wearied

WASHINGTON LETTER
By JANE EADS

Washington — Hattie Robinson, pushing 74, sat by her sidewalk herb stand in the market place, a man's battered panama hat on her head and a clean white butcher's apron covering the voluminous rolls of her body.

"I ain't feeling so good today," the kindly old Negro woman confided. "I goes out digging herbs too much in the yard, and he says 'Hattie woman, you'll be kept,' so I ain't worrin' none. He's done kept me this long."

Hattie has her herb stand in the market place for nigh onto 50 years — she can't remember exactly — but she says it must be that long. "She calls me 'mither of the market,' she told me with a small smile of pride.

"People comes from all over to see me and buy my herbs—from New York and Miami they comes." When I asked Hattie how she came to get interested in herbs, how she knew their medicinal qualities and such, she told me assuredly: "I was born with the gift. It just come to me natural-like."

On the table beside her were all manner of herbs, picked and dug by Hattie from the fields and woods of nearby Virginia and Maryland counties and tied crudely in little bunches. "Dis here is for the liver and very good," she said, pointing to a bunch of spear-like green leaves which she said were called "Lion's Tongue." "Dis is piff-sissory—'deed I don't know how to spell it, but it's good for the bladder. You stick a little bit of this and a little bit of that together, put in a pinch of sugar, and you get something. Folks come back and tell me I done helped them. That there over yonder is gall-of-earth roots," she continued. "It's good for the liver and blood and run down condition. Boll it up like tea."

There were mullen for colds and wild cherry bark for coughs and sassafras for high blood pressure and bone-set for asthma. "An' that root over yonder there—that's good for keeping your husband home when he gets to rovin' 'bout. Lots of folks buy that there. Women chews it, all time callin' the name of the man they loves. They say it takes effect on him later." Hattie was selling that herb for 15 cents a spouse home for a lifetime. Hattie is at her stand every week day, except for part of Mondays and Wednesdays, when she goes out digging for herbs. "I just goes whenever I feel like, walks till I get tired. When I get tired I comes on back."

AUTO INSPECTIONS ARE REALLY PAYING OFF

Is auto inspection a real benefit to the people of the state, or just another political scheme to get more people on the state payroll and more dollars from the taxpayers?

This question has been tossed around in North Carolina since the first of the year when automobile inspection began in this state. Many citizens have taken the attitude that it is just another political plum to be used by those in high state offices, but when the condition of automobiles of the state is brought to light by the inspections, it is clear that the movement is doing a real service for the people of the state.

An official at the inspection lane which has been in Greenville for several days reported yesterday that 80 per cent of the cars which went through the inspection the first time were rejected as unsafe for use on the highways.

It is true that most of the cars are passing the inspection after a few minor adjustments have been made to the brakes, lights, or steering apparatus, but these thousands of minor adjustments are no doubt saving North Carolina citizens from many highway deaths and injuries and a vast amount of property damage.

Auto inspection may be an inconvenience to some people of the state, but through the detection and correction of minor defects in motor vehicles, the auto inspection service is making the highways and city streets of North Carolina safer places on which to travel.

Consider the auto inspection cost to the people of the state and the damage to lives and property prevented by the inspection, and you have an answer within itself.

Hurricane Plane Guided To Base; Fuel Supply Low

Elizabeth City, Sept. 1—(AP)—Because they had only a ten-minute supply of gas, the crew of a PB-4 Navy bomber spent last night at the Coast Guard air base here instead of the hurricane-torn waters of the Atlantic Ocean.

The four-engine, Privateer bomber was out plotting the course of the Atlantic hurricane yesterday afternoon when it discovered it was running low on gas and not quite sure of its location.

It radioed its Miami base at 5 p. m. EST that it was 300 miles east of Atlantic City, N. J., and might have to be ditched in the ocean. The Coast Guard dispatched planes to hunt for the big plane, and alerted all its and the Navy's landing fields along the coast.

At 8:30, it radioed that it was about 200 miles east of Norfolk, with the fuel getting dangerously low.

Finally, at 7:15 p. m., the Elizabeth City Coast Guard air base picked up the plane with a direction finder and guided it to the coast. Then the base fired high altitude flares into the sky, and the plane crew spotted them with 10 minutes fuel supply left.

The plane was guided safely to the field. The moment its wheels touched the runway, the motors sputtered and the last drop of fuel was exhausted.

The pilot, Lieut. (jg.) A. B. Carlson of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and his seven crew members thought it was well timed.

HOST TO KIWANIS CLUB
Director Hunter B. Keck will be host at supper to the officers and directors of the Kiwanis Club at the Country Club Tuesday evening, September 1, at 7 o'clock. It is a custom in Kiwanis for an officer or a director to entertain the group at the monthly business meetings.

There are about 12 different species of walnuts, eight or nine of which are cultivated.

Between 700 and 800 Pitt County men and women gathered at the Winterville high school for the annual county meeting and barbecue of the Pitt County FOX Service.

The election of new officers, speeches and several contests took place during the afternoon after which a barbecue supper was served on the high school lawn.

Mark H. Smith of Greenville route 1 was elected chairman and presided over the business meeting. Elected to the board of directors of the Pitt FOX service were J. V. Taylor of Bethel, J. B. Speight of Winterville, Mark H. Smith of Greenville route 1, J. Sam Fleming of Greenville and L. W. Cherry of Greenville. The directors were elected for three year terms.

W. E. Little, Mark H. Smith and R. B. Tyer were elected delegates from Pitt County to attend the district meeting in Washington next week.

M. G. Mann, general manager of the Farmers Co-operative Exchange, delivering the principal address of the meeting declared that all phases of agriculture must be organized if this county is to have a balanced economy.

"Our entire economy depends on agriculture," Mann declared, "when it fails both labor and industry suffer as a result."

He pointed out how farmers can profit through organization through desired legislation in Congress. "The North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative association has in the last three years alone, saved the farmers of North Carolina more than ten million dollars through its classing on a grade and staple basis through scientific marketing."

Mann urged farmers not to "sell cotton until May," but to put it into bonded warehouses and turn it over to the government if prices do not increase.

During the afternoon contests Vance Whitehurst of Robersonville route 2 received a gold medal as winner of the horse-shoe pitching contest and Dave L. Clark of Greenville route 2 was runner-up and received a silver medal. Whitehurst will represent Pitt county in the third annual Carolina Horse-shoe tournament in Raleigh on September 28.

Mrs. J. E. Whichard of Stokes route 1 received first prize of $15 as winner of the dress contest. Miss Miss Lorraine Boyd of Greenville won second prize. Mrs. Clarence J. Little of Greenville route 1, third prize, and Miss Sue Worthington of Greenville route 4, fourth prize.

For the dress contest, dresses are made from printed feed bags and are modeled by the contestants. Mrs. Whichard will represent Pitt County in the Carolina Dress Contest in Raleigh this month.

Mrs. J. S. Fleming of Greenville won the prize for guessing within $1,000 the volume of business done by the Pitt FOX during the last 12 months.

Other awards went to the oldest mother at the meeting, Mrs. Gertrude Tripp, 80 of Greenville route 1; the oldest fathers present, L. H. Roundtree of Greenville route 1 and J. M. Clark of Bethel route 3. Both are 79 years old.

Door prizes were won by D. L. Grubbs of Greenville route 2 and Mrs. Mary Boyd of Greenville route 2.

Etiquette

Chicago—(AP)—Etiquette has reared its pretty head on a strip of West Madison street where the boys can't toss whisky and wine bottles into the gutter any more. They have been notified by signs in saloon windows that the empties must be placed in yellow barrels at convenient corners.

"We had to do something," said John W. Tenky, the ward boss. "One of my street cleaners picked up 466 bottles between Halsted street and the river (three blocks) in eight hours one night."

Resigns To Vote For Dixiecrats

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 1—(AP)—A States' Right Democratic attorney has quit the Democratic State Executive committee after the chairman urged him to stay on and "vote the straight Democratic ticket."

Chairman Caspus Waynick last night announced the resignation of Edwin H. Malone of Louisburg as a committee member. Malone is representing States' Rights in a court action in which they seek party status.

Waynick said he had urged Malone to remain on the committee, stay in the party and vote a straight Democratic ticket this fall. Malone promised support for the party's state ticket, the chairman declared, but not President Truman.

Prior to receiving the resignation, Waynick had issued a prepared statement calling for party unity.

"We face in North Carolina a decision between Democratic control and Republican control," he said. "There is no third choice."

He said Malone had asked him whether he should resign from the committee and added:

"I reminded him of his long party regularity and suggested that he limit his services to the profession in the case of his clients and do as he always has done—vote a straight Democratic ticket in November."

Two Cars Collide At Fourth And Cotanche

Police arrested Ben Harper, taxicab driver of Snow Hill, and William L. Dixon, taxi driver for Harper Taxi Company, yesterday afternoon after their cars had collided at Fourth and Cotanche streets and charged them with reckless driving, failure to keep proper lookout and disregarding signal lights. Harper's car was damaged to the extent of about $250; Dixon's about $300, it was estimated.

The arresting officer quoted both men as saying that they thought they had the green light. One car was going east on Fourth street, the other north on Cotanche street.

Boy Painfully Hurt When Struck By Car

Bruce Henderson, 13-year-old boy of near Winterville was painfully injured when he walked into the path of a car driven by W. D. Keck, of 402 Student street, Greenville, at 10th and Greene streets yesterday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock. He was taken to Pitt General Hospital for treatment.

Police quoted Keck as saying that he did not see the lad until he heard a noise and saw him on the radiator and that when he applied the brakes the youngster fell off. No arrest was made.

BERLIN REVIEW—Gen. Lucius Clay, U. S. military governor in Germany, reviews Berlin headquarters guard.

Survivor Of Sinking Is Alive, Thanks To Radar

Solomons, Md., Sept. 1—(AP)—After clinging to a fragment of his sunken vessel for more than eight hours, an exhausted boat captain was rescued early today by a chance radar signal.

The U. S. City of Norfolk, making its regular Chesapeake Bay run from Baltimore to its home port, picked up the unexpected impulse about 50 miles south of Annapolis. Swinging a searchlight after the radar the crew discovered a piece of a pilot house on the surface of the water, with Richard Christy, 33, clinging to it. Officers said he had been buffeted by the heavy seas and was "too exhausted to talk" when they lifted him aboard.

Christy's vessel, the 55-foot freight boat C. A. Christy, had been swamped by the high waves yesterday while carrying slag from Crisfield, Md., to Baltimore. It went to the bottom about 4 p. m. (EDT), while Christy was trying to reach it near the point where he was rescued.

Amphibian planes from the Coast Guard base at Elizabeth City, N. C., and the Patuxent naval air station, as well as Coast Guard rescue craft had conducted a fruitless search for him.

The only other crewman, Carroll Clayton Evans, 18, of Crisfield, managed to jump to a life raft just before the boat went under. He was picked up by a tugboat which notified the Coast Guard.

Quiet Rites For Former Justice

New York, Sept. 1—(AP)—Charles Evans Hughes, former Chief Justice of the United States, was buried yesterday in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Approximately 1,500 persons, including present and former Supreme Court justices and other public officials, attended funeral rites for the nation's elder jurist in Riverside Church.

Burial services were private.

Mine Detectors Unearth Relics

London—(AP)—Mine detectors, which a few years ago were warning Allied troops of the presence of German mines, are being used to unearth Saxon relics of 1400 years ago.

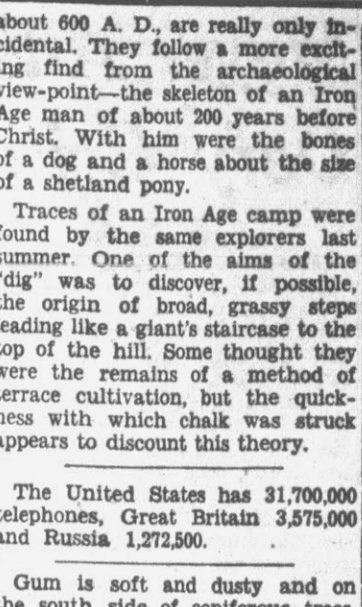

Archaeologists working on Blewbury Hill, near Blewbury, on the Berkshire Downs, have discovered a pagan Saxon burial ground with four skeletons. The "whistle" in the phones of the detectors led to the finding of metal rings and brooches and other personal ornaments. One of the skeletons is of a "teen-age girl."

The finds, which date back to about 600 A. D., are really only incidental. They follow a more exciting find—the skeleton of an Iron Age man of about 200 years before Christ. With him were the bones of a dog and a horse about the size of a shetland pony.

Traces of an Iron Age camp were found by the same explorers last summer. One of the aims of the "dig" was to discover, if possible, the origin of broad, grassy steps leading like a giant's staircase to the top of the hill. Some thought they were the remains of a method of terrace cultivation, but the quickness with which chalk was struck appears to discount this theory.

The United States has 31,700,000 telephones, Great Britain 3,575,000 and Russia 1,272,500.

Meyer And His 'Pickup' Pirates Defy Critics, Challenge League

By JOE REICHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Meyer, Pittsburgh's freshman manager, is the talk of the baseball world today as his "pickup" Pirates defy the critics and challenge the league leaders.

Manned largely by castoffs, and generally picked to wind up in a nice soft second division berth, Meyer's brash, bold Buccaneers have proved a bigger surprise than even Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

They're in third place only two games off the pace. Talk about your rags-to-riches club, the Pirates are it. This is practically the same team that finished in a tie for last place in 1947.

The infield, with the exception of their baseman Frank Gustine, is composed of castoffs from other clubs. Three of the five outfielders were obtained from rival teams. The catching staff consists of a castoff and a rookie. Nine of the 11 pitchers were traded or let go by other clubs.

Yet this is the same squad that is battling with the favored Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and St. Louis Cardinals for the National League pennant. Only the front-running Dodgers have lost fewer games.

"The fine showing of the boys places me in an embarrassing position," said Meyer. "When I first took over the club I was told the Pittsburgh fans would be satisfied if I brought the club in fifth. Now they're all clamoring for a pennant. They seem to have forgotten that this is supposed to be a fifth place team."

If the Pirates do win the flag—and the outlook right now is bright—Meyer easily would rate the title of a miracle man.

The Pirates picked up a game and a half on the Dodgers yesterday, nosing out the New York Giants, 5-4, while the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs upset the Braves twice, 3-0 and 7-2.

Pittsburgh remained two games behind the runner-up Braves (who climbed within two percentage points of Brooklyn) by defeating the Reds in Cincinnati, 3-1. The fourth place Cardinals also moved within two games of the top, whipping the Philadelphia Phils in St. Louis, 5-0. The cards, however, were two points below the Pirates as they've won and lost three more than Pittsburgh.

Harold Dale, sportscaster for WTCZ at Greenville, is confined in Pitt General Hospital with a throat ailment. A visit to him yesterday afternoon revealed that he was well on the road to recovery and hoped to be out real soon. Speedy recovery is the wish of the writer of this column and, also your many wide listeners.

The recent decision of the Carolina League to go to Class B baseball from C may have its effect on the Coastal Plain League next season as well. Four of the Carolina loop teams voted to remain in C and four voted to move up. The president cast the deciding vote.

One team particularly uncertain about remaining in the loop is Martinsville which is controlled by the Philadelphia A's.

Jim Fulghum, sports editor of the Wilson Daily Times, says that Wilson and Rocky Mount will definitely leave the Coastal Plain after this season if a proposal to increase the rosters required gets through.

There has already been some talk by club officials who see the imminent downfall of the league if continued at the present pace with suspicion at least every club is exceeding the $2,500 salary limit for 15 players exclusive of manager.

The attendance in the Coastal Plain this year, reports through June indicate, will be close to the record breaking turnout of three quarters of a million last year which B and C leagues. But even so, meeting the payroll has been a bit of a problem in most of the clubs.

One sports writer used to quip at the games: "I wonder who the club will sell this week in order to meet the payroll." That was perhaps an exaggeration of the situation but the directors have begun their campaign to increase the rosters to at least eight next year in place of the four this year. To increase the rosters will necessarily cut down on the number of experienced players which can be carried. This year the classification permitted four veteran players (with three or more years of professional experience), eight limited service (less than three years of professional experience) and four rookies.

Fulghum in a recent article quoted Frank Walker, president of the Rocky Mount Leafs, as saying Wilson and Rocky Mount are definitely ready to enter the Carolina League if vacancies occur. Wilson officials refused comment to Fulghum but did say that Wilson will not be in the Coastal Plain under proposed conditions. The proposed conditions refer to the increase of roster players.

Meanwhile, Martinsville, Va., club officials said that the franchise of that team is for sale. Fulghum continued, "Martinsville doesn't see how it can stay in the league and there is a possibility that Durham will drop out. That would easily leave a place for Wilson, Rocky Mount and possibly Charlotte, the team that is known to be ready to make an effort to get into an all-North Carolina league with a B classification.

"If the Wilson club directors are holding up because of fan reaction, observers here said that they might as well go to the Carolina league at once. Fans on the streets feel that Wilson can and will support a B grade ball club."

Should Wilson and Rocky Mount pull out of the Coastal, the league would be left with six teams unless other teams were added. Henderson is making overtures toward getting into professional ball again and would be a possibility of a seventh team. Smithfield tried to get in at the time Roanoke Rapids was voted in.

Should Smithfield be voted in, the Tobacco State League would be put in jeopardy, thus the fact that the Carolina has moved up and the Coastal Plain wants to cut operations costs, may have its effect on three leagues in this area.

Able Amateur... by Pap

Julius Boros, an able amateur golfer from Bridgeport, Conn., suddenly found himself projected into the spotlight when he turned in a record low qualifying score of 135 in the test for the national amateur golf championship. Boros paced the nation's qualifiers when he toured the trying Deepdale course in 66-69, and established himself as a real threat in the championship. Julius qualified for the national last year but the long trek from Bridgeport to Pebble Beach, Calif., discouraged him from playing.

Although tabbed an unknown by the Metropolitan New York golf writers, Boros has quite a reputation in his native New England. In addition, Julius won the James E. "Sonny" Fraser invitation tournament at the Atlantic City Country Club last fall. The Fraser invitation, an exclusive tourney packed with a field of crack amateurs, had in the past been won by Fraser himself, Gary Middlecott and Howard Everett. Boros indicated that he would be a future threat in any amateur tourney by his smooth, effortless swing and all-around fine play. He hits the ball well with all of his clubs and gets great distance despite his apparent lack of effort.

A former Air Force lab technician Boros attends business college. He is built like a football guard, standing five eleven and weighing 195. He is 28 years old.

Isn't Perfect

Boston—(AP)—Ted Williams, probably baseball's foremost hitter, has had only 45 days in which he got as many hits as times at bat—and on only one occasion has he ever collected five hits in a game.

The Boston Red Sox slugger had five perfect days in 1939, his first year in the majors, when he hit .327. In 1940, when he hit .344 he had four perfect days. In the 1941 campaign, when he hit .406 he had eight perfect days, but every one was a "one-for-one" session. Because he is walked so often, many of Williams' perfect performances have been of the one-for-one variety.

In 1942, when Ted batted .356 he had five perfect days. After three years in service, Ted came back to his .342 and had eight perfect days. The same total prevailed last year, when he hit .343.

Heavyweights To Fight For Crown

New York, Sept. 1—(AP)—A series of bouts is shaping up which may produce a serious claimant to the heavyweight boxing championship when and if Joe Louis officially retires.

Five assorted heavyweights in three fights in the next three months figure in the picture with Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati the key man.

Charles meets Jimmy Blvin in Washington Sept. 3, and signed yesterday to tangle with Joe Baksi of Kilmport, Pa. for 5 rounds in Madison Square Garden, Nov. 12.

The other bout involved is the Sept. 21 engagement in Jersey City, N. J., between ex-light heavyweight champ Gus Lesnevich and Jersey Joe Walcott, two-time loser to Louis.

If Charles can dispose of both Blvin and Baksi, he might be matched with the Walcott-Lesnevich winner. Such a pairing probably could draw official sanction as a title match.

A promotional war could be a fly in the ointment. Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting Club, which has had a heavyweight title monopoly for more than a decade, is putting on the Charles-Baksi go.

The new tournament of champions, which has made no bones about its intention of breaking Jacobs' grasp on the heavens, is promoting the Lesnevich-Walcott affair. Any meeting of the winners would require some peace-making.

Zale Steps Up Training Work

Chicago, Sept. 1—(AP)—Tony Zale, world's middleweight champion, tomorrow settles into the intensive part of his training in preparation for his 15-round title bout with Marcel Cerdan, French challenger, in Jersey City Sept. 21.

The champion, enjoying a layoff today, plans to step up his boxing to six rounds daily. He weighed 169 pounds, one pound above the middleweight limit, after yesterday's workout.

Penn State Wins 'At Home' Games

State College, Pa.—(AP)—Penn State football teams have won 90 per cent of their home games in the 61 seasons since the game first played by the Nittany Lions in 1887.

State grid teams rolled up 50 consecutive home field victories in the 19 seasons from 1889 to 1908. More recently the Lions went 29 games without defeat between 1919 and 1924 and ran a string of 22 games without a loss in the years from 1939 to 1944.

Michigan State, an opponent here again this year, was the last opponent to leave the Nittany Mountains with a Penn State scalp. Michigan State came from behind in 1944 to win an exciting 19 to 16 game.

Proving they are still tough on the home lot, the Nittany Lions have been undefeated at State College for the past three years. And with another powerhouse on tap for 1948 it may be at least another year before any opponent finds it worthwhile to visit the lair of the Lions.

Long, Straight Drives Pay Off In Tourney Play

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 1—(AP)—The long and true drives down the middle pay off in golf just as they do in baseball, says William (Memphis Bill) Terry.

Terry, ex-manager of the New York Giants of the National baseball league, was referring to going on in the 48th National amateur golf championship which moved into its third and fourth rounds over the Memphis Country Club course today.

"The guys who can't keep 'em on the fairways on this course don't have a chance," Terry said.

Terry, who is tournament press relations chairman, could illustrate his point with the fact that only three of the six former champions in the contest survived the second round yesterday.

Two other ex-kings barely made the grade. In each case it was a matter of keeping the ball out of the rough, a rarer deep mass of Bermuda and water grass that borders the 6,617 yard, par 70 championship strip.

Still around for today's two rounds that will reduce the field to 16 players by nightfall were Robert (Ske) Riegel of Monterey Park, Calif., defending titlist; and former champions Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., 1939 and 1941, and Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., (1938).

The 58-year-old Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, who won the first of his two national banners in 1919; Richard Chapman of Pinehurst, N.C., (1940), and Stanley (Ted) Bishop of Deadham, Mass. (1945), were among the prominent also rans.

Only Turnesa had a comparatively easy go among the successful ex-champs. Such guys as present British and Canadian crown bearer Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, twice finalist Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, Calif., 1947 runner up, squeezed by the second round.

Midnight Check Again Is Order For N.Y. Giants

Pittsburgh, Sept. 1—(AP)—When Leo Durocher succeeded Mel Ott as manager of Giants last July 16 he abolished the custom carried over from the late John McGraw of checking players in their rooms at midnight.

Members of the club were put on their honor to retire at suitable hour. But after losing last night's game to the Pittsburgh Pirates, which was the Giants' seventh straight defeat, Durocher instructed Willie Schaefer, trainer, to resume the midnight checkup system.

The move was regarded more as a form of punishment than anything else, inasmuch as none of the players was known to have abused the new and short-lived freedom.

Favor Michigan To Top Big Nine

Chicago, Sept. 1—(AP)—Big Nine coaches unanimously agreed as football drills opened today that Michigan, Purdue and Minnesota would battle down the line for the 1948 championship.

Northwestern was viewed as the season's darkhorse. Wisconsin was named as a threat since the Badgers play neither Purdue nor Michigan.

The extent of Northwestern's destiny will be determined early, for the Wildcats must meet consecutive Purdue, Minnesota and Michigan after opening against U.C.L.A.

Upwards of 600 players, including 232 lettermen, answered the first practice call today. Included in the pack were 62 regulars of a year ago.

In the coaches' poll, conducted by the Associated Press, Michigan, defending titlist and Rose Bowl winner, received 21 out of a possible 37 points as the championship favorite. Purdue rated 17 and Minnesota 14.

Athletics Grab Sandlot Pitcher

Philadelphia, Sept. 1—(AP)—Dick Blauman, 19-year old Detroit sandlot pitcher, has been signed by the Philadelphia Athletics and will report to the A's training camp next March.

The A's said yesterday the six-foot-five inch sandlot star was signed after he struck out 18 batters in a game last week while holding his opponents to three hits.

Blauman formerly pitched for Detroit's Baldwin high school and an American Legion team.

Broken Hand For Phils' Sparkplug

Philadelphia, Sept. 1—(AP)—Richie Ashburn, star rookie outfielder for the Philadelphia Phillies, will be out of the lineup for the rest of the season with a broken left hand.

This was disclosed yesterday by Dr. John Royal Moore, of Temple University hospital, who performed an operation on the hand. He said it was broken in two places.

Ashburn, sparkplug of the Phillies with a .333 batting average, hurt the hand when he slid into second base at Pittsburgh last Saturday.

Higbe Reverses Usual Role, Now Stellar Reliever

Pittsburgh, Sept. 1—(AP)—They put Curvin Kirby Higbe on relief and the Pittsburgh Pirates went on a winning spree.

Higbe is a Brooklyn Dodger alumnus who looked somewhat less than sensational until Bucco Manager Billy Meyer effected a complete change in his pitching character.

He came here with a winning record as a starter, but a reputation for requiring old Hugh Casey as the other half of the late innings act at Brooklyn.

Now all that's been reversed. Higbe seldom is seen as a starter. He's the guy they call to help the other fingers over the bumps. Last year he started 30 games for the Bucs, more than any other Pirate hurler. This year he's started only eight.

The Hig has twirled 133 innings in 45 games for seven victories and six losses and a 3.10 earned run average.

Higbe showed the stuff of which he's made last night as he was called upon to hurl the last two innings of the Pirate-Giants game.

The 5-4 victory was credited to Elmer Riddle, starting Big Herler. But it was another moral win for Higbe. He retired three men with ease in the eighth and got the first two in the ninth before giving up a walk.

Trout Succumbs To Father Time

Mt. Shasta, Calif.—(AP)—It isn't the same around the state fish hatchery. A 24-year-old Mackinac trout who came from Minnesota as an egg in 1923 has passed on. He was always pointed out to tourists, as he got to weigh 15 pounds and was 28 inches long.

He is survived by three other outside specimens, who also crossed the plains as fish eggs in the early twenties. The average life span of a trout is 3 to 5 years, says the State Division of Fish and Game, which adds that it stopped inviting Mackinacs into the state in 1924, when it found they ate other game fish.

Chapter 10

George Akers took refuge from the storm in another line rider's shack some miles farther east. He burst into the place with a sigh of relief after stabilizing his horse in the sturdy lean-to behind the shack. He took off his wet jacket, slung it over the table that stood against the wall, hunted around by match light for a lamp. He passed the single window and the wind and rain that poured through brought him to a surprised and abrupt stop. He found upon examination that there was no window pane in the window frame.

"O-h, fine," he muttered. He retraced his steps to the table, caught up his jacket and carried it to the window, hung it over the glassless frame.

"Reckon that oughta do it," he said and turned away.

The wind whirled it off the window and sent it whirling back at him. He slammed it down on the table. There was a bunk directly below the level of the window. . . .

"Match" light revealed a folded blanket at the foot of the bunk. . . . George picked it up and spread it out. It was just as wet as the bunk and even dirtier. He probed the rest of the shack. The one discovery that surprised him consisted of a chair that still retained its back rest and its four legs. He dragged it away to a far corner, slammed it against the wall and finally seated himself.

"This is what I call something awright," he muttered. The first thing I'm gonna do when I get back is have Phil load up a wagon with stuff 'n' run it out here. An 'he's gonna hafta fix that danged window, too."

He was tired and presently his eyes closed.

He awoke with a start, looked about him quickly. He got to his feet, winced and made a wry face. . . . his neck was stiff as were his arms and legs. He trudged to the window and peered out. The night had gone and in its stead the sky was filled with a drab light. It was nearly dawn. The rain too had ceased and now the air was heavy with the smell of wet earth and soggy damp clothes.

"That's that," he said. He caught up his jacket, slung it over his shoulder. "I'm gonna make tracks for home, get me a lotta hot grub, then I'm gonna hit the hay and sleep for a week."

He stalked out of the shack, swung around to the lean-to at the rear. He pushed the door open and plodded inside. His horse neighed a greeting. George eyed him, touched the walls, looked down at the straw and hay on the ground. The animal neighed a second time.

"Awright," George said gruffly. "Quit crowin'. So you were warm 'n' comfortable in here while I half froze 't' death in the rain. Awright."

Actor And Three Others Nabbed In Narcotics Raid

Hollywood, Sept. 1—(AP)—Movie hero Robert Mitchum was arrested with three other persons in a narcotics raid on a Hollywood home early today.

Mitchum, real estate agent Robin Ford, actress Lila Leeds, 20, and dancer Vickie Evans, 25, all were booked on suspicion of violating state and federal narcotics laws.

The screen leading man and Ford also 31, were cast in the unglamorous roles of marijuana smokers by arresting officers.

Det. Sgts. A. M. Barr and J. B. McKinnon of the Los Angeles narcotics detail said that both men were smoking reefer (marijuana-containing cigarettes) when the officers broke into the home.

Mitchum surrendered a package containing 13 more of the cigarettes. Sgt. Barr said, and Miss Leeds, a blond film hopeful, gave up several.

The home was rented by the young women, the officer said. At another apartment which Miss Leeds maintains, Sgt. Barr said he found another reefer.

The raid, Barr said, culminated an investigation of more than six months.

Mitchum said he and Ford had dropped in at the home after a day of house-hunting, officers reported. The actor said his wife, Dorothy and their two sons were en route from the east by automobile.

Mitchum in the past two years had graduated from western films to starring roles in major productions.

Given Sentence In State Prison

By CHESTER WALSH

In Superior Court yesterday, Judge Luther Hamilton of Morehead City, presiding over a one-week criminal term, sentenced Andrew Jenkins, colored, to serve from 18 to 23 years in State Prison. Jenkins, who was charged with the murder of Robert Overby, colored, last June 29, tendered a plea of second degree murder through his counsel, Blount and Tait.

John Koonce, white man of Farmville, who pleaded guilty to nine charges of larceny, the loot ranging from chickens to an electric generator, was given from seven to 10 years in State Prison.

L. T. Dickerson was fined $100 and costs after he pleaded guilty of driving drunk. His driver's license was ordered revoked for a year.

Willie Johnson, colored, who pleaded guilty to larceny, was given 18 months on the roads. He was not guilty of the larceny of a bicycle.

Willie Golsby, colored, two cases of breaking and entering, was given 18 months on the roads.

Willie June Clark, colored, was not guilty of larceny.

O. K. Harrison and Cleostor Page, both colored, breaking, entering and larceny. Harrison failed to appear and a capias was issued for him. Page tendered a plea of larceny of personal property of less than $50 and was given a six months' suspended sentence on the roads and ordered to pay to Larry Barnhill $10 and court costs and be of good behavior for three years.

Willie Harrison and Priscilla Harrison, both colored, aiding and abetting in larceny. Both defendants pleaded guilty to larceny of personal property under $50. They were both given six months' suspended sentences and ordered to pay $10 to Larry Barnhill, colored, the prosecuting witness, and be of good behavior for three years.

James Clifton Taylor, colored, was given two years on the roads for false pretense and larceny.

Estate Case Now In Its Sixth Day

By CHESTER WALSH

The Collins administrator's case, which was started in Superior Court here last Wednesday, was in its sixth day today. About 75 witnesses have appeared in the action of Mrs. Annie S. Collins of Greenville, wife of J. E. Collins, in which she is suing J. A. Collins and R. L. Collins, administrators of the estate of J. H. Collins, well known farmer of the Ayden section who died early in 1947, for $6,900, claimed for services rendered Mr. Collins at her home for several years prior to his death.

Court officials were of the opinion today that the case might go to the jury tomorrow afternoon. Judge J. Paul Fritzsche of Snow Hill is presiding.

An unusual feature of the case is that J. E. Collins, husband of Mrs. Collins, was made a "party plaintiff" to the action upon request of the defendant administrators.

Mrs. Collins, according to papers filed in the case, contends that she is due $6,900 in addition to what was paid her for nursing and looking after her husband's father in his declining health.

The administrators contend that Mrs. Collins was amply compensated for her services, and that she and others had agreed that what had been paid at the court house last week, was made at the court house last week, was moved to the City Hall courtroom last Monday to make way for Judge Luther Hamilton of Morehead City to convene a scheduled one-week criminal term of Superior Court at the courthouse. This is the second time that two terms of Superior Court have been held in Greenville at the same time. A civil term was moved from the courthouse to the City Hall when it continued over into the period set for trial of the Meadows case.

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)—Women are better credit risks than men, a survey by the Federal Reserve Board indicated today.

Heat Wave Ends

The tropical hurricane off the Atlantic coast is believed to have brought relief from the heat wave straight from the northeast at noon today cheered the sweltering populace after experiencing a temperature of 105 degrees last Sunday, the hottest day here in nearly half a century, old-timers said, and the hottest since the local weather bureau was established.

The highest temperature Tuesday was 92 degrees; the lowest last night, 82 degrees. At 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 79 degrees, Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau here, reported.

Blast In Which Three Killed Is Still A Mystery

Fort Jackson, S. C., Sept. 1—(AP)—Battered Army officers, after some 20 hours of investigation, were still unable today to say what caused the explosion which killed three soldiers and injured 23 others.

Capt. Anderson P. Neely, public relations officer, said the accident "is still a big mystery."

"He said four platoons of 80 men each were marching in column over a well traveled road to witness a machine gun demonstration yesterday when the lead platoon was shattered by the explosion.

All of the men, Capt. Anderson continued, were recruits undergoing basic training.

Tiny, Home-Made Plane In Races

Burlington, Sept. 1—(AP)—Tom C. Dixon hopes that his 16 months work building a small plane will pay off at the air races opening in Cleveland Saturday.

The plane has a 17-foot wing span and can hit 80 miles an hour, enough for the home-made, original design class, the Burlington builder says.

Charlie Bing of Lynchburg, Va., a professional pilot, will fly the plane in the race.

were being produced in small quantities by electrical machines called "cyclotrons."

But it was not until the atom bomb project that important amounts began to be produced. The same plant that turned out materials for the bomb also produced radio-isotopes as a by-product.

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission says isotopes are helping science in two ways.

For one thing, they are being used as "tracers."

Suppose a tiny amount of a radio-active isotope of carbon is put into food and fed to a human being. With instruments, a scientist can trace the passage of that carbon into various parts of the body.

Scientists have injected an isotope into a man's arm and found that it came out in perspiration on the other side of his body in less than one minute.

The "tracers" also are used to follow the passage of fertilizer from the soil up into a stalk of corn. They are being put to work in industrial processes. They have almost unlimited possibilities.

The other way in which isotopes are helping science is this: They act as sources of radiation, or "rays," for the treatment of diseases.

For example: a radio-isotope of iodine is being used to treat diseases of the thyroid gland. The thyroid gland is a neck gland that naturally attracts iodine. Under certain conditions the isotope finds its way quickly to the gland, where its rays are brought directly to bear on the diseased area.

No wonder a committee of distinguished doctors recently reported that "the availability of radio-isotopes is contributing more than any other factor today to the advancement of medicine and biology."

Cherry To Talk Over Pay Hikes

Raleigh, Sept. 1—(AP)—Governor Cherry plans to confer with the State Budget Bureau about salary increase requests from the Highway Commission.

After talking with a commission delegation yesterday, the governor told reporters: "I've got to hear both sides of it." He said he would try to see highway officials today after talking with the bureau.

Meanwhile, something on "the other side" came from R. G. Dayton, head of the bureau, which was criticized last week at a highway commission meeting.

W. H. Rogers, Jr., administrative assistant to Highway Chairman A. H. Graham, told the commission that the bureau had failed to act on 302 requests for pay increases submitted since June 1. Also, he said, salary levels made it impossible for the commission in some instances to keep employes or get new ones.

Dayton said he told Rogers the week before last that "there was no money" for general salary increases. The 1947 general assembly, which appropriated funds for this biennium, made no provisions for raises other than those which were granted July 1, 1947, Dayton declared he informed Rogers.

traitor. He declared that the other 95 per cent were waging war on the rebels with modern weapons, but emphasized the seriousness of the situation.

Meantime heavy jungle fighting is proceeding on the Malay peninsula to the south of Burma. In other countries Communist agitation has been intensified and very obvious preparations for uprisings are under way. All Indonesia is seething with Red maneuvers aimed at the establishment of Communist governments.

All this adds up to a significant fact: Moscow apparently is shifting the weight of its Communist drive to the Far East. A vast new war theatre is being opened up while the Bolsheviks undertake consolidation of their gains in Europe.

Big City . . .

New York commercial activities were hard hit by a trucking strike in 1946.

It was not immediately clear whether the stoppage was spreading to two other locals—282 and 816—which accepted a management offer of a 15-cent an hour wage increase. Under the old contract truck drivers got $85 weekly and helpers $60 a week.

In New Jersey union spokesmen said their men were "riding all trucks" today pending further negotiations.

Earlier Local 807 officials had indicated the stoppage might spread to include 28,000 workers in 11 other locals in the metropolitan area and New Jersey.

Withdraws

Raleigh, Sept. 1—(AP)—A second Progressive Party nominee has withdrawn from the congressional races in North Carolina.

L. G. Smith of Raleigh said he was announcing his action in a letter to Mary Price, party chairman. He declared he was not at the Durham convention of the party last Sunday which nominated him for Congress from the Fourth District.

His decision, Smith said, was prompted by the party's stand on race relations.

Harold Murray of Asheboro, the party's nominee for Congress from the Eighth District, previously had said he was withdrawing.

The new cases brought the state's total for the year to 1,844.

Duplin County and Johnston County reported an additional polio death to bring the death toll for the epidemic to 68.
