

Pacific Coast's Maritime Tie-Up To Be Prolonged

Industry And Longshoremen Accept Strike Issue As Battle For Survival

San Francisco, Sept. 3—(AP)—A strike paralyzing Pacific Coast ports today was accepted by the shipping industry and Harry Bridges' CIO longshoremen as a battle for survival.

The walkout, stretching from the Mexican to the Canadian borders, held some 120 ships in port, idled about 12,000 dock workers and kept 16,000 seafarers shorebound.

Bridges warned his union members to prepare to picket the waterfront pavements in picket lines for four to six months.

In Washington, President Truman said the government was powerless to act further except through negotiation. A federal court injunction banning the strike for an 80-day cooling off period expired yesterday as the strike began.

The President told a news conference the Administration is still trying to settle the dispute by negotiation but that he has no emergency powers left.

Across the nation effects of the deep water ports strike were felt as railroads halted shipment of most export freight to the coast, and some exporting manufacturers cut production.

The Waterfront Employers Association and Pacific American Shipowners Association declared survival of the industry was at stake.

They announced they no longer would deal with any union whose officers refused to file non-Communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board. Such affidavits are required to qualify unions for NLRB services. Bridges has refused to make such an affidavit but said he was willing to refer the question to the union membership.

He told 6,000 cheering longshoremen losing the strike would put the union out of business. Discussing negotiations which collapsed Wednesday night, Bridges said:

"I crawled on my hands and knees and all I got was a spit in the eye. We will prepare for a four to six months' strike now. There will be no more talks with the employers except on our terms."

Four other unions backed the longshoremen with pledges of "all for one, one for all."

Twenty Cases Of Polio Reported To State Today

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 3—(AP)—Twenty cases of polio were reported to the State Board of Health today bringing the state's total for the year to 1,885.

The list included the first September onset and 11 additional August onsets. The August total mounted to 612.

Rutherford county reported four cases, Cleveland, Guilford and Iredell 2 each, and Buncombe, Catawba, Cumberland, Davidson, Duplin, Harnett, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, New Hanover and Surry one each.

Air Passengers Stage Sit-Down

Shannon, Ire., Sept. 3—(AP)—Fifteen disgruntled passengers tied up a New York-bound Constellation for hours today by staging a sit-down inside the plane. By unofficial estimates the sit-down cost Pan American World Airways system about $4,500.

The passengers, irked because Pan American officials wanted to unload them here to lighten the ship because of strong Atlantic winds, slammed the door and refused to leave for seven and a half hours. After they finally yielded, the plane went on.

The Maritime Strike

Provides A Major Milestone In Unfolding History Of Labor Law; Government Power Under Taft-Hartley Act Tested; President's Hands Tied; Issues In Dispute

By MAX HALL

Washington, Sept. 3—(AP)—The West Coast Maritime strike is a major milestone in the unfolding history of labor law.

It is a test of the government's power under the Taft-Hartley act. This is the first case in which a strike has taken place after the exhaustion of the "National Emergency" procedures of the act.

An 80-day "cooling-off period" expired yesterday. An anti-strike injunction was dismissed. And the tie-up began.

President Truman told his news conference that he was powerless to do anything further to stop the strike through negotiations.

Actually, there is one more step to be taken under the National Emergency provision of the law. The President is supposed to send a report to Congress recommending "appropriate action."

But this step means little in the present case because Congress is not in session and isn't scheduled to be until January.

So the President's hands are tied. It is possible that the hands of Robert N. Denham are not. Denham is the general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board.

Progress Indicated In Berlin Parleys

Russians Said Making Technical Arrangements For Lifting Blockade; Communist Press Boasts Diplomatic Triumph

Berlin, Sept. 3—(AP)—German reports today said the Russians are making technical arrangements for lifting the 72-day-old blockade of Berlin.

The British-licensed German press service said the director of German railways in the Soviet zone had been summoned by Russian transport authorities to be given instructions for these arrangements. This report could not be confirmed in any official quarter.

An American transport official said there has been no indication from the Russians as to when they intend to reopen the rail line to Berlin from Helmsdorf and the east-west canal system. The trains were stopped by the Russians June 24 because of "technical difficulties."

Canal traffic was stopped a short time later.

"It is unlikely," the American transport official said, "that they will do so (reopen the lines) until they are satisfied with the results of discussions here and in Moscow."

"Nor will they get any coal or iron trains from the Ruhr to feed their zone's industry until they lift the blockade and restore normal communications to our satisfaction."

The four military governors arranged another session (10 a.m., EST) on this divided city's problems, as the Communist press of Berlin declared the negotiations—now in the fourth day here—were turning into a Soviet diplomatic triumph.

Authoritative informants said the negotiators had hit one tough snag. That, they said, was a Russian demand for a favorable exchange rate for their eastern German mark in trade between eastern and western Germany.

These informants said the Russians insist upon a straight one-for-one exchange of east-west marks, but German financial circles in the western zone contend one western mark should be worth at least four east marks.

Soviet-licensed newspapers gloated over reports that the western allies had agreed to adopt the Russian-backed mark for all Berlin, as the four military governors ended their fourth day of conferences on the east-west cold war.

At the same time they violently attacked German anti-Communist political leaders who, like Socialists Franz Neumann, appealed to the west to stand fast on currency, or be accused of another Munich.

Over $25,000 Spent To Improve Schools

School Plants Of Greenville Generally Considered In Better Shape Than At Any Time In Recent Years

Expenditures of more than $25,000 were made on improvements for the city schools during the summer months, Superintendent June Rose announced.

Two classrooms and a large science laboratory are being completed at the C. M. Epps High School. With the completion of this Science room and laboratory the C. M. Epps School will then be in a position to ask for accreditation by the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges. Practically all the work on this addition is being done by the classes in Carpentry and Building Trades taught by Professors Herman Foust and Frederick Seledge.

The Training School plant has been painted throughout by the College. The Third Street School has been painted throughout with the exception of the auditorium, which will be done shortly. The West Greenville School has also had its face lifted by painting all the classrooms, halls and assembly hall. The Fleming Street School has been painted from top to bottom.

The Greenville High School has had a new roof put on more than

Widow Confesses Killed Children

Portland, Ore., Sept. 3—(AP)—Detective Floyd Smith said today that a 39-year-old widow admitted slaying her two children because she could not support them on her $75 monthly relief check.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Irene McCurdy, was arrested beside a phone booth here after a mysterious call led police to her dead children 250 miles away.

The children, Pamela, 11, and Paul, 10, were found stabbed to death yesterday in an auto cabin at Grants Pass, 350 miles south of Portland.

Schuman Decides Abandon Effort To Form Gov't

Futile Negotiations For Coalition Cabinet; Deeper Political Tumult Seen

Paris, Sept. 3—(AP)—Premier-designate Robert Schuman abandoned today his attempts to form a new French government.

The leader of the Middle-of-the-road popular Republican movement (MRP) had labored since Monday night in an effort to lure reluctant politicians into a government for which many foresaw nothing but a short troubled life.

Schuman announced his decision to President Vincent Auriol after futile negotiations with other party leaders on construction of a workable coalition.

Despite his endorsement by the National Assembly Tuesday—by the margin of 11 votes—he was unable to draw enough Parliamentary support to build a cabinet.

Yesterday the Socialists, a strong factor in the previous moderate governments, refused to enter a Schuman cabinet because they disagreed with his economic policies, particularly with regard to keeping wages down in a war on spiraling prices.

Schuman's action threatened the country with deeper political tumult. France has had no government since radical Socialists (conservatives) Premier Andre Marie resigned early last Saturday. Marie himself had succeeded Schuman, who had quit as Premier when the Socialists refused to support him on a military budget item.

Serious doubts were expressed that anyone would be able to form a government at the present time. This presented the nation with the problem of how to proceed with its present Parliament.

Amsterdam, Sept. 3—(AP)—Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati told reporters today he will propose a revision of the report received by the World Council of Churches yesterday condemning both capitalism and communism.

Taft is an Episcopal lay delegate and a brother of Sen. Robert Taft, the Republican Senate leader.

The original report said "The Christian churches should reject the ideologies of both communism and capitalism."

Taft proposed that the report should read:

"The Christian churches should reject the ideologies of both communism and capitalism and should seek to draw men away from the false assumption that these extremes are the only alternatives."

The council represents 150 or so churches, exclusive of the Roman Catholic and Russian Churches, in more than 40 countries. It received another report today condemning anti-Semitism.

"Whatever position may be taken towards establishment of a Jewish state and towards the rights and wrongs of Jews and Arabs and of Hebrew Christians involved," the report said, "churches are in duty bound to pray and work for an order in Palestine as just as may be in the midst of our human disorder."

The new demands, were described by union leaders as their "rock-bottom" terms. They were adopted at a noisy, four-hour mass membership meeting yesterday.

Wide Political Scope Covered By Truman In Press Interview

Washington, Sept. 3—(AP)—President Truman bounded into a political slugging match with the Republicans today over Communism, high prices, health insurance and the L. Lawrence seaway.

The President took specific issue on those points with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee, Harold E. Stassen, who will open the Republican campaign next Tuesday, and other party members.

On the subject of Reds in government jobs, Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday it was "a lie out of whole cloth" for anyone to say that he ever protected a Communist or a disloyal person in a federal post.

The House Un-American Activities Committee earlier this week accused the White House of refusing to help protect the national security" and of hampering, by refusing to supply information, the committee's inquiry into "Communist espionage in the U.S. government."

Mr. Truman told the reporter who brought this up that the real spies during the war were German and Japanese, that Russia was an ally. He added that he never has heard of any search for former German and Japanese spies.

Declaring that he is standing behind his previous "red herring" description of the congressional Communist investigations, the President said he will prove his charge before the election campaign is over.

He scoffed at a statement by Dewey that Communists will be cleared out only when a Republican president is elected.

He thinks Dewey is mistaken about the number of Communists in government, the President went on. He said only a few had been found and they had been discharged long ago.

He added with a smile that he thinks Dewey's intentions must be to eliminate Democrats, not Communists, from the government.

The President used a little stronger language to describe a charge by Stassen that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan had tried to keep prices from going down.

That was just a misstatement of facts, that's all, Mr. Truman said.

He went on to say that the crop price support program is not a big factor in high prices.

Less than an hour before the President talked to reporters the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that wholesale prices had dropped one half of one per cent in the week ending August 28.

Farm prices, particularly those for wheat and corn, led the slight drop. But Mr. Truman had plenty of ammunition left for his announced campaign against the high cost of living.

The weekly wholesale average still was 9.4 per cent higher than for the corresponding week a year ago.

In his own reply to Stassen's charges, Brannan indicated the Democrats will accuse the Republicans of attempting to cut down the farm price support program voted by Congress.

The board ordered a man be hired to work under the supervision of the county health department and report to the board all unsanitary toilets in the city.

The board also passed a motion to pay the United States Census Bureau $200 for making a census of Greenville in the near future. Mayor Boyd read from a letter from the bureau which stated the census could begin within two weeks after maps and information about the city were received.

An ordinance was passed requiring all dogs over 13 weeks old be registered at the police department and wear a registration tag. In the ordinance provisions were made for a city dog pound and a city dog catcher would keep the streets free of roaming dogs. R. C. Stokes III was appointed poundmaster by the aldermen.

The members of the board agreed to have the lobby of the city hall painted and ask the utilities commission to pay half the cost. Police Chief Page's request for a new motorcycle for the police department was granted.

A letter from Highway Commissioner John G. Clark to Mayor Boyd said the highway commission would widen East Fifth Street to a 40-foot street from the Maple Street intersection as far east as the town would lay curb and gutter facilities. The board recommended the town pay one-third of the curb and gutter cost if property owners along the street would pay the remainder of the cost.

Paying of city bills and other routine matters were also attended to by the aldermen.

In the discussion about the unsanitary conditions in Negro sections of town, County Sanitarian Charles Morgan told the board, conditions are still "almost deplorable with privies over-flowing and making breeding places for millions of flies and maggots."

"To put these privies in a sanitary condition is possible," he continued, "but it will be only temporary. Without sewer disposal we can not expect to have good sanitary conditions."

Morgan estimated there are between 450 and 600 very bad toilets in the city which need correction. Mayor Boyd commented that the greater percentage of these bad toilets can be connected to city sewer lines.

J. C. Williams, who said he spoke for the owners of the property in question, told the board, "Property owners are willing to do all we can, but if you run this hardship over us we'll have to close our houses. We're the ones paying the taxes. If I put all this mess (water toilets) in, I'd just as soon throw my money

Tobacco Prices On Middle Belt Holding Steady

Sales Lighter Today, But Prices Close To Yesterday's Figures Of Opening Day

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sales were lighter today, but prices held firm at levels close to yesterday's opening figures, markets of the Middle Blue-Cured Tobacco Belt reported today.

The opening day average for the belt was estimated by the U.S. and N.C. Departments of Agriculture at approximately $54 a hundred pounds.

The Durham market reported prices today about the same as yesterday, when 1,011,025 pounds brought an average of $51.84. Sales today were expected to total around 500,000 pounds. Quality of the leaf was reported as not as good as on opening day.

Prices also held firm today at Henderson, where approximately 500,000 pounds brought an average of approximately $58. Sales volume also was lighter at Henderson today.

James Steed, sales supervisor at Louisville, where approximately 1,000,000 pounds were sold yesterday at an average price of $56.71.

Sales Supervisor Claude Allen of Oxford reported that sales were lighter today with an average of $55 expected for the day. He reported that sales yesterday totaled 622,718 pounds at an average of $55.55.

Prices yesterday by grades ran $150 to $14 higher than last year's opening. The U.S. and N.C. Departments of Agriculture reported. Most of the increases were between $5 and $10, however, the report said.

The Eastern North Carolina belt markets, meanwhile, experienced irregular prices. Wednesday's sales totaled 7,026,588 pounds which sold for an average $44.99 per hundred—78 cents under Tuesday's average.

Carolina Border belt prices continued downward, with most grades being 10 to 15 cents lower, however, red-leaf grades of $1 to $2.

Situation In Far East

An Encouraging Statement By General MacArthur On 'Moral Weapons' To Repulse Totalitarian Advance; The Military Angle; Buttresses For Democracy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

That was a vastly encouraging statement which General Douglas MacArthur issued in Tokyo on the third anniversary of Japan's surrender in the great war.

The general declared that Japan is equipped with the moral weapons "to repel the totalitarian advance." And he went on to link Nippon with the new South Korean Republic and with the republic of the Philippines in "a triangular buttress" for democracy in Asia.

Freely interpreted this strikes me as meaning there is unity of purpose between the Oriental trio and the United States. And to these three I think we must add China, whose spirit is willing though her flesh is weak.

General MacArthur confined his remarks to moral values, but your columnist for one finds it difficult not to expand the thought to include military considerations. After all, the Orient is seething with turmoil, and if there is another world war it most certainly will encompass that part of the globe—indeed it might well start there.

Let's analyze this Far Eastern situation ourselves from the military angle.

Japan and the Philippines not only are buttresses for democracy in the ideological sense, but they would be vital both for offense and defense in event of war with Russia.

Japan was the pivot on which the allied fortunes turned in the last war, and it was she who deprived us of the Philippines and other essential bases right at the outset. That won't happen again.

As for the Korean peninsula ("a dagger pointed at the heart of Japan"), it is of course one of the world's highly strategic positions. So long as it remains under American military occupation it is a bastion in democracy's defense. However, it lies under the muzzles of Russia's big guns, and it is given to wonder whether the U.S. high command would choose to defend Southern Korea in event of global war. There is such a thing as spreading your forces out too thin. Still, while the loss of Korea would be serious, the combination would be serious, the combination would provide a mighty defense, as our experience in the last war fully demonstrated. Moreover, General

The bridegroom had as his best man the Rev. Luther Morphis of Lexington, North Carolina.

Serving as ushers were the Rev. Ronald Hill of Spindale, N.C., Mr. J. P. Crawley of Hollister, N.C., and Messrs. V. I. Mohorn, Jr. and David Lee Wilson, Jr., both of Littleton, N.C.

Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church

The fall rally began at the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church with the gathering of the people of the community and friends from other sections of Greenville on Wednesday night at 6:30 for the annual church barbeque and basket supper. It was a great occasion when neighbors and friends met to enjoy a most delightful and abundant meal and to launch the fall program of the church. The Sunday school and young people's work was discontinued through the month of August but will be resumed on Sunday, September 5. After everyone had enjoyed the good food from the over-loaded tables on the church grounds the group went into the church for a brief prayer and praise service. The program was begun by a congregational hymn, after which Messrs. Pat McLawhon, Ralph and Cliff Sullivan inspired us with two beautiful musical numbers. The pastor spoke briefly challenging the congregation to renewed consecration in the work of the church in the months ahead. The church hopes to make September a "Rally Month" leading up to Rally Day on September 26. Acting Superintendent Cliff Rhodus is very anxious to have everybody in the community at Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The young people will meet at the manse at 6:30 Sunday evening. The pastor urged everyone to attend the evening service at 8 o'clock. The meeting closed with two congregational hymns led by Mr. Hunter Keck, an elder from the First Presbyterian Church, and the benediction by Rev. O. C. Haas.

Matthews-Bullock Vows Spoken

The marriage of Mrs. Ethel Croom Bullock of Ayden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Croom of Henderson, to Mr. Edward Hill Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Matthews of Washington, N. C., was solemnized in a private ceremony which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woolard on Thursday morning, September 2. The Rev. Robert W. Bradshaw officiated.

The bridal couple entered the living room together and spoke their vows before the mantel, which was decorated with a large antique mirror, magnolias, white asters, gladioli and roses, and candelabra holding burning white tapers.

The bride wore a dress of dusty blue crepe and used black accessories with a corsage of white roses.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Woolard, uncle and aunt of the bride, entertained the bridal couple, members of the families and a few close friends at an informal reception.

American-Born Japanese Branded Traitor By Jury

Los Angeles, Sept. 3—(AP)—A verdict branding Tomoya Kawakita a traitor was returned by a federal court jury but it "can't stand," his defense counsel said as he prepared today to appeal the case.

The jury of nine women—including one Nisei girl—and three men returned the verdict late yesterday holding Kawakita, 27, guilty of eight overt acts of abusing American captives while he served as war-time interpreter in Japan's Oeyama prison camp. Kawakita was charged with 13 acts.

The exhausted jury announced its decision after eight days of deliberation following 11 weeks of testimony.

If upheld, the verdict could carry a death sentence, but U.S. Atty. James D. Carter made no demand for it. The penalty could range as low as five years imprisonment.

The government called more than 30 witnesses, most of them former inmates of Camp Oeyama, on central Honshu. Kawakita was charged with striking prisoners, compelling

A Wish Granted

Chicago, Sept. 3—(AP)—In the presence of six of her eight children, Mrs. Antoinette Blatnick, 66-year-old bedridden widow, was made a United States citizen yesterday.

Federal Judge Walter LaBuy went to Mrs. Blatnick's North Side home and administered the oath to fulfill her wish that before she died. Physicians have said she cannot recover from her illness, cancer.

"I am very proud and very happy," Mrs. Blatnick said. She was born in Yugoslavia and came to the United States in 1903.

them to work when sick, and on one occasion with participating in ducking an American in the camp cess-pool.

All these charges the little Calverico, Calif.-born Nisei denied, asserting that camp discipline was under the Japanese military and that his duties were merely those of an interpreter.

Hay Mower Sure Bet To Bag A Pheasant

Helena, Mont.—(AP)—Want to be sure of bagging a pheasant? Get a hay mower. The Montana Game and Fish Department reports one bird is killed in every six acres mowed and one nest destroyed in every 7.2 acres. The Department says there seems to be "no successful solution to this important loss of pheasants."

Move For Grand Jury Inquiry In Marijuana Case

Los Angeles, Sept. 3—(AP)—The district attorney's office moved today for a county grand jury investigation into the marijuana-smoking case involving Robert Mitchum, handsome film hero, and attractive actress Lila Leeds.

Dist. Atty. William E. Simpson announced that the chairman of the jury's criminal complaints committee had promised he will recommend an inquiry by the entire panel Tuesday when the group resumes sessions.

Simpson added that if the jury decides to take up the case, Mitchum, Miss Leeds and two others arrested with them early Wednesday will be invited to appear and tell their stories.

The four—Mitchum, 31, Miss Leeds, 20, Dancer Vickie Evans, 25, and real estate man Robin Ford, 31—were arrested early Wednesday when city and federal narcotics officers raided a secluded canyon home occupied by the two girls. All are free under $1,000 bond each. The motion picture industry, through a spokesman, Producer Dore Schary, appealed to the public not to "indict the entire working personnel of 32,000 well-disciplined and clean-living American citizens" in the industry because of the Mitchum case.

Schary, former production chief at RKO studio, Mitchum's principal employer, said in a statement that "implications that a widespread or considerable use of narcotics exists in the motion picture industry are shocking, capricious and untrue."

Police investigators said the Mitchum raid was a first step in a cleanup of the narcotics traffic in the film colony.

Mrs. Dorothy Mitchum, the actor's wife who was returning from the east with their two sons, was located in Las Vegas, Nev., where she told newsmen: "I am undecided what to do."

Dangerous Derelicts Condemned; Narrow Escape In Ayden

By CHESTER WALSH

Walter A. Dall, supervisor of the State Department of Motor Vehicles inspection lane, who is stationed at Ayden for several days, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday while a large truck was being jacked up in the lane and a hub fell off the axle. Corey Stokes, manager of the Chevrolet Garage in Ayden, who was nearby, also had a narrow escape. Dall said many motor vehicle derelicts have been condemned.

On the same day, the entire steering assembly on a passenger car was found to be attached by a strand of slender wire. It is alarming to see the defective steering apparatus on many vehicles," Dall said. Defective brakes are frequent cause of accidents.

The supervisor today warned all motorists to get into the September inspection lane before it leaves Pitt county. The lane will not be stationed in Pitt any more until the middle of October. The state law about inspections is strict and will be enforced, he said.

Sir Christopher Wren, famed British architect, also was known for his work as a geometer and astronomer.

Modern English Translation Of Old Testament

Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 3—(AP)—A new modern-English translation of the old Testament is being produced by the Roman Catholic Church to replace a text in use since 1609.

The Rev. Stephen J. Hartdegen said yesterday the project is nearly complete.

He is secretary of a committee of 30 scholars who have been working for the last five years on translations of ancient Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek manuscripts.

New versions of the book of Genesis already have been printed, and two copies have been presented to Pope Pius XII. General publication will begin Tuesday.

Father Hartdegen said the modernized old Testament will replace the Douay version which used for a text for more than 300 years.

Such words as "thee" and "thou" are being eliminated from the new version, and replaced with the modern pronoun, "you." "Thy" becomes "your" in the new version, and "see" is substituted for "behold."

The Rev. John Forest, director of the press which will print the new translation for general distribution, gave the following example of the modernization:

In the old version, one part of the 12th chapter of Genesis reads: "And the Lord said to Abram: go forth out of the country, and from thy kindred and out of thy Father's house, and come into the land which I shall show thee."

Here is the new version: "The Lord said to Abram: Leave your country, your kinfolk and your father's house for the land which I will show you."

Father Hartdegen said a new translation of the new Testament—along similar lines—was published in 1941.

Building Permits

Building permits valued at $1,122,750 have been issued in Greenville since January 1, 1948, George Gardner announced today.

The permits were issued for 87 dwellings and 27 commercial constructions. According to Gardner this shows a considerable increase over last year's permits for the same period.

worked as a cashier. He was sentenced to from seven to 10 years in State Prison. When it went up on appeal, the Supreme Court ruled that there was insufficient evidence on which to try Moore for attempted rape and ordered a new trial.

Police had no clue as to the identity of Mrs. Moore's alleged attacker for several days. She had told police the man who followed her wore loud "clacking" plates on the heels of his shoes. Police Capt. Brewer had observed that Moore wore clacking plates and arrested him for investigation. Mrs. Jones identified him as the man who accosted her.

MAKE YOUR HOBBY COUNT

Kevin Quinagh many years ago wrote a book entitled "Inspired Aesthetics." He points out that some of the world's greatest tasks have been performed by people who did them as a side line. Herschel started out as a musician but became a famous astronomer. Grotte the banker earned fame as a writer of Greek history. Priestly the preacher discovered oxygen. Schliemann the merchant excavated Troy. Spinoza the lens grinder came to occupy a chief place among the philosophers.

People sometimes discover that their side line is so much more important than their main line that they decide to go all out as an amateur. A Philadelphia businessman decided some years ago to try his hand at engraving, and he has become nationally famous. A customer's man in a brokerage office was left flat after 1929 and, taking up painting as a means of getting his mind off his troubles, found that he made considerable more out of his landscapes than he ever did out of trying to spot the blue chips. Everyone knows, of course, of Winston Churchill's interest in painting and the modest fame he has acquired along this line.

The lesson is that amateur status need not overwhelm us with a sense of inferiority. Our hobby may make us famous if we can mix good luck and perseverance in proper proportions.

TIME FOR A SHOWDOWN!

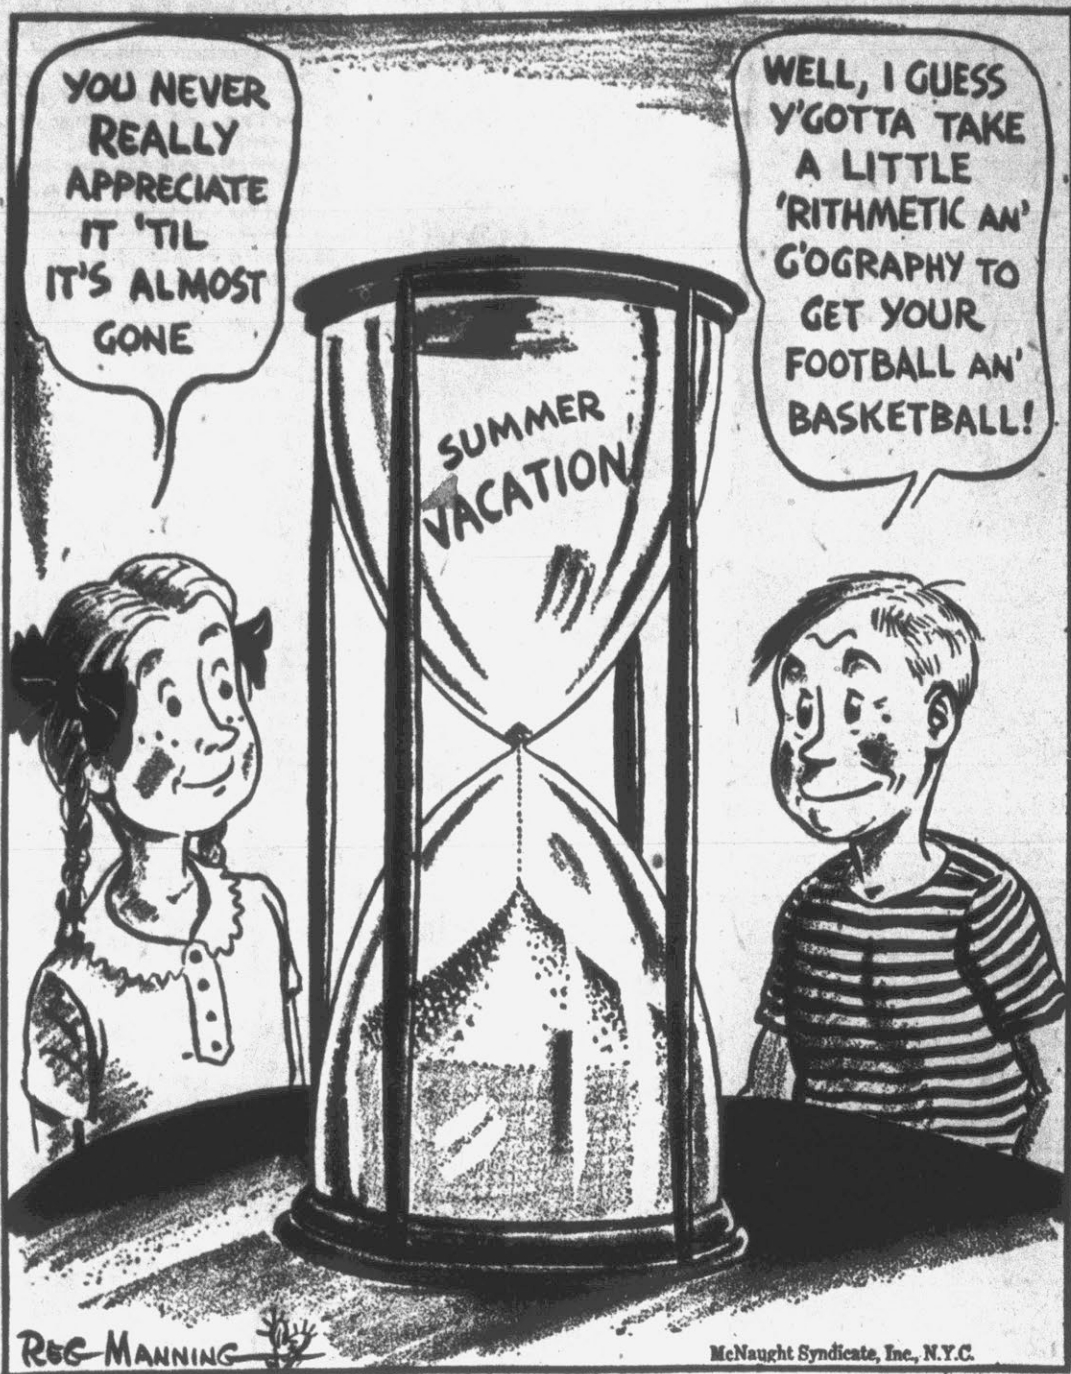

Greenville's Board of Aldermen last night again bowed, not too gracefully, to the loud bark of owners of property in the Negro sections of town over the question of water toilet installation and "sanitary privies."

At the Board's meeting last month, the property owners were given 30 days in which to put privies on the Negro property in a "sanitary" condition. In spite of the fact that County Sanitarian Charles V. Morgan reported that very few improvements have been made to remedy the terrible situation, members of the Board of Aldermen voted to extend the time two weeks for putting the privies in sanitary condition.

In 1928, a city ordinance was passed requiring sewer connections be installed in all dwellings within the city limits where connections could be made to the city sewer system. That was 20 years ago, and since that time the ordinance has not been enforced. Last night at the meeting the Aldermen again shunned the question whether they would require the ordinance to be enforced or whether they would continue to let deplorable conditions exist in residential sections of our city endangering the lives and health of the 18,000 citizens of Greenville just because city officials have not forced a hand full of property owners to obey a city law.

We realize of course that the unsanitary situation which exists in the Negro sections of Greenville did not come about in a matter of a few weeks or months and it can not be expected that it can be cleaned up in a short period of time. However, the citizens of the city do expect some progress to be made

New York—(AP)—The westward Ho progress of the Co-Axial cable is changing the life of America—toward peace.

Just what a Co-Axial cable is I don't know anymore than I do what Benjamin Franklin proved by flying a kite in a thunderstorm.

But that mysterious cable goes on creeping and crawling across the land like a rampant caterpillar with no future beyond the warmth of its own fume.

And in some mysterious way there is a strange new glimmer in the home called television that seems to follow wherever the Co-Axial snake lays its length. And it is going farther across the country every day.

After watching various homespun Paderewskis of the radio dial twirl their hopeful sonatas, I can certify television is a wonderful way to pick out the tweed pattern for a new fall suit.

If you are one of the majority-of-the-143,000,000 American people who await the arrival of the Co-Axial cable with bated breath, I say: Take another breath.

The thing you are most likely to catch in a television program is a Brooklyn Dodger outfielder stealing third base with Hamet's ghost riding his left shoulder while a quiet Cheviot Herringbone fights with a scotch plaid to wipe out the cheering bleachers.

The herringbone and the plaid are visual static. While the host is trying to dial them out, the wise guest calls Ebbetts field long distance—collect—to find out what happened to the outfielder. By then the player usually has been sold to a minor league farm.

The greatest friends of the turtle-slow Co-Axial cable and its shimmering gift of television are bartenders.

They report that Video—a medical term for this bifocal pictorial vitamin known as television—is a better sedative than the Mickey Finn. The barkeep's old reliable for filling obnoxious alcoholics.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Some folks are openly critical of the changes they see in our schools today. Some are pleased. Others are puzzled.

Miss Goodykantz, Director of the Division of Elementary Education, U. S. Office of Education, agrees that schools of today are different all right. "They ought to be," she says in a recent article in "National Parent-Teacher Magazine."

"Other things are different—the food we eat, the clothes we wear, our houses and their furnishings and utilities, the medicines we take. So are our manners, our recreations, our best sellers, the sermons we hear on Sunday. Time marches on, and our things and our ways must keep pace, schools along with the rest."

She points out that, for one thing, there are many new things to learn. She cites the story of the child who said history must have been much easier in dad's day—there was so much less of it. "So too with science, and with health information, and with geography and literature and the others. There is so much that is new and important to learn," writes Miss Goodykantz.

This brings about a critical problem in the schools, she points out. "They can't go on forever adding without subtracting something. Furthermore, some of the new curricula changes—adding the new, as a couple of semi-pro pugilists locked in silent anguish, the most bourbon-bedecked customer sinks into a stupor of eyeball awe."

"We haven't had a broken skull in the place since we put in our television set," said one Martini manager.

"It seems to hypnotize them. They don't buy as many drinks, maybe, but they don't get into as many fights either."

It's the first thing to come along to help the bartender in 2,000 years.

The State Department charged in Washington that Russian authorities framed up an espionage case against U. S. Navy Lieut. Robert Dreher (above), whom the Moscow press and radio accused of serving as an American spy. (AP Wirephoto).

subtracting the untrue."

Some of the new things children will study this year for instance will be perhaps a course on atomic energy, a new pointed-up version of current events, a course on international understanding, a course dealing with the development and wiser use of our natural resources, a course on money management.

Miss Goodykantz points to another reason schools today are different from schools a generation ago: "Teachers as a whole know more nowadays about how children learn. Scientific studies have pointed out better ways for children to learn to read, to subtract, to learn to spell, to memorize, to take notes and scores of other processes."

Another reason, she says, has to do with the fact that the teacher's telescope is now focused on the children—on what each one is like, what he knows, what he likes, what he can do best and can't do at all and needs to learn next."

Miss Goodykantz agrees with other educators there are some things that all children should learn. These include such items as developing efficiency in the basic communication and mathematical skills; making and taking responsibilities for decisions; being an effective member of a group developing skill in critical thinking.

TIMING—Timing is an important factor in political campaigns as well as in business deals. It looks to some observers like the council of state's political timing gear is slightly askew. Back in the spring the council of state authorized investment at interest of fifteen million dollars just a day or two after Ben L. Spence, Republican nominee for state treasurer, had castigated the incumbent Democratic treasurer for not investing surplus moneys. The Republican candidate went on the air Tuesday night of this week with another castigation of Democratic treasurers, incumbent and nominee, for their alleged attitude on this question. The following day, Wednesday afternoon, the council of state met and authorized investment of another twenty million.

TECHNICALITIES: There are legal and financial technicalities involved in these matters and nobody who knows the details thinks that official action in either case was remotely influenced by the Republican candidate's radio speeches. Because of necessary preliminary negotiation, it is just as probable that Spence learned about proposed investments and beat the Democrats to the draw. Unfortunately, on the Democrats, very few people know the steps necessary before such official action. Consequently the situation is susceptible to political interpretations which might be used to the advantage of the outs who would like to get in—but do not really expect to make the grade—as result of the November election.

PROFITABLE—Regardless of political credit, fact is the state of North Carolina will derive something more than $107,000 interest on the 23 millions between now and February 1. The general assembly will be in session then and will have authority to dispose of all the state's money except building sinking fund reserves as it sees fit.

PRaise—The governor's office has received numerous letters from sources inside and out of the state condemning action of hoodlums at the recent Wallace meetings. There has also been a goodly number of letters praising the folks who threw eggs and tomatoes at the Progressives presidential candidate. From far off Seattle comes a cute note to another state department. Returning a magazine advertisement coupon requesting booklets about North Carolina, Mrs. Louise N. Chamberlain of Seattle appends this: "Your state's reception of Henry Wallace has made me want to know you better! That old adage about it being an ill wind that blows no good is holding true."

BONING—State offices and assembly rooms these days are reminiscent of college study halls when students are boning for examination. The departmental staffs are getting ready for the budget commission hearings this fall. Last week the board of agriculture devoted two days to budget preparation. Thursday the board of education's committee buckled down with division heads of representatives of school administrative and teaching groups to work on the 1949-51 public school budget. Elsewhere around the capitol individuals and groups have their sleeves rolled up and pencils flying on the same kind of work.

PERSONNEL—The institutions throughout the state have a double problem of building and personnel. The departments are almost solely concerned with personnel and that has become synonymous with salaries. Expanding services by the state requires more people, and increasing living costs make imperative substantial increases in salary scales; that hits like a double-headed hammer, and will make next year's salary bill tremendously more than ever before.

Rabbits sometimes produce in a single year five or six litters of from three to 10 young at a time, which in turn reach maturity in about six months.

The invention of portable timepieces dates from the end of the 15th century.

Vienna's Living Costs Skyrocket

Vienna—(AP)—The cost of living in Vienna has risen nearly 500 percent in the past ten years. Figures compiled by the Austrian Institute of Economic Research show that in 1938 a worker's family of four persons spent 41.7 Austrian schillings ($4.17 at the present rate of exchange) weekly. The same family now spends 193.49 schillings ($9.35). Recently there has been a downward trend in the cost of living in Vienna from a peak in March of this year. The present figure is still three and one half times as great as that at the end of the war in 1945.

Verdict Of Jury Favors Payment For Mrs. Collins

By CHESTER WALSH

The jury in the case of Mrs. J. E. Collins, wife of Alderman James E. Collins, against J. A. Collins and R. L. Collins, administrators of the estate of J. H. Collins, well known farmer of the Ayden section, returned a verdict in Superior Court yesterday afternoon in favor of Mrs. Collins. The jury was out a very short time. Hearing of the case was started more than a week ago. Nearly 75 witnesses testified at the hearings.

Counsel for the administrators moved to set the verdict aside. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, who presided over the civil term of court at the city hall, said he would hear the motion to set aside when he returns to Greenville September 14. Judgment in the case had not been signed.

Mrs. Collins was suing the administrators for $6,000 as additional compensation for caring for her husband's father at her home for several years prior to his death early in 1947. The administrators contended that she was amply paid for her services and that she had agreed to this shortly after Mr. Collins' death.

Judge Albion Dunn was counsel for Mrs. Collins; J. Henry Harrell for James E. Collins, who was temporarily a party defendant in the case. J. B. James and Judge Dink James represented the administrators.

Hearing of the Collins suit was held in the courthouse last week. It was transferred to the city hall last Monday to make way for Judge Luther Hamilton of Morehead City to convene a one-week criminal term of Superior Court.

Globe Hardware Company

GREENVILLE, N. C.

Here and There—Fred Pittman, who pitched his 13th win for the Wilson Tobs last night, is reportedly sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Well, all the trouble between Bull Hamons and Ken Andrews seems patched up and matters are running smoothly in the camp of the Tobs. Both Bull and Ken appeared before a meeting of the club's Board of Directors yesterday afternoon and Ken agreed to the $50 fine. Al Jarrett, the Mr. Big of the Rocky Mount pitching staff last season, is doing all right at Thomasville. Al, a control artist with a baseball head, has posted 27 victories this year, his best in organized baseball. During the current season Turkey Tyson has been ejected from the game four times and Bull Hamons three. A poll to name an All-Star team, which will be the official team of the circuit, is now being conducted by the Coastal Plain League Sports Writers Association. This will be announced at a very early date.

In a recent game with the Philadelphia Phils, Pitcher Kirby Higley of the Pittsburgh club slammed a ninth inning homer to break a 3-3 tie and win his own game. It was the first of his four batters of the season. It was also a repeat of a similar incident in 1947.

Can a runner steal third base with the bases loaded? Ans.: Yes. The following incident which occurred in a game between the San Francisco Seals and Salt Lake on June 21, 1917, illustrates how the trick can be accomplished. Ray McKee of the Seals, who was on second, went to third, was declared safe, and the man on third scored when a balk was called on the Salt Lake pitcher.

Joe DiMaggio's twenty-seventh home run of the year in the seventh inning at Philadelphia gave the Yankee Clipper at least one in every park of the league. He had only lacked one at Shibe Park to complete the circuit.

The Braves had gone 29 successive scoreless innings until they counted a run in the sixth frame of the game with Detroit, August 20. Then they went on to win in ten rounds, 5 to 4. The league record is 40 innings.

Al Schoendienst, who had not started a game since July 29 and not played nine innings since July 28, returned to second base for the Cardinals August 24. He had been out with a bad shoulder, and had been used only as a pinch-hitter.

Paul Minner made his first start of the season for the Dodgers August 23, when he went seven and one-third innings against the Braves, before being lifted. All of his 16 previous appearances had been in relief.

Slump Said Due Overnight Trips

Boston, Sept. 3—(AP)—After dropping nine of their 18 recent road games and seven of the last 10, the Boston Braves limped home today to launch a four-game series with the Phils.

A week ago the Tribesmen were leading the National League by four games but their slump dropped them into second, two percentage points below the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"The team is tired from all those overnight trips we had to make during this last road trip," Manager Billy Southworth explained. "But we still have as good a chance to win as anybody and, for one thing, the remainder of the schedule is in our favor."

The Tribesmen will get one welcome break this afternoon. They will not be called upon to face the South-type of pitching that ruined them in the west.

The Phils were down to open with the aging Schoolboy Rowe and Southworth had high hopes that dependable Bill Voiselle would be able to turn in his 15th win.

Failure of Warren Spahn to measure up to the brilliant pitching standard he had set for himself in winning 21 games for the Boston Braves last season caused Manager Billy Southworth no end of concern even when the club was loping along with what appeared to be a comfortable lead. Spahn was too sound a pitcher. Southworth figured, to be a mere morning glory who was destined to fade from the picture after showing such promise.

It was Spahn himself who discovered the cause of his pitching woes. While watching a sandlot game where a skinny left-handed youngster was hurling, Spahn saw a flaw in his own delivery revealed. He had developed a habit of straightening his right leg as he came down with his left arm and this prevented him from following through properly. The trick of bending his right knee slightly, observed on the sand-lotter, brought about a return of Spahn's former effectiveness and it could mean a pennant to the Braves.

A combat engineer in the European theater of action, Spahn was wounded and received the Purple Heart. He pitched four games in Heidelberg, Germany, with the army of occupation team and fanned 73 batters. After his discharge from the service, Spahn rejoined the Braves and won eight games in 1946. He came into his own last year when he won 21 and lost 10, and pitched a total of 290 innings.

Boxing In Siam 'Shatters' Sensitive Sports Writer

By JOHN RODERICK

(AP Newsfeatures)

Bangkok—You ain't seen nothing yet until you've seen a Siamese boxing match. I did yesterday, and it's left me shaken to the core.

As a sports editor on a small daily back in the United States, I grew up in awe of the rules laid down by that sporting Britisher the Marquis of Queensbury, huh!

No kicking, no gouging, no elbows in the eyes, said the distinguished Marquis. Fight clean, no rough stuff in the clinchers, break when the referee says so.

The Marquis of Queensbury is a social climber in Siamese boxing. No good, upstanding Bangkok boxer would give him house room. During yesterday's bouts I said a small prayer for the repose of his soul.

The Siamese boxers dress about as you would expect any boxer to dress—in the usual boxing shorts. He also wears boxing gloves. But after that resemblance to an Olympic boxer is purely diabolical.

The carnage is preceded by a nine-minute ceremony. It's this sort of business which draws the tourists.

Each boxer kneels on the ground at the foot of the steps leading into the ring and knocks his head on the earth a couple of times. Then, upon entering the ring, each kneels making a grand salaam in the direction of his boxing coach, repeats this twice then springs to his feet.

For the next two minutes, the Siamese boxer does an intricate dance, shadow boxing around the ring with gestures as graceful as a premiere danseuse.

After a conference in the center of the ring, in which the referee presumably makes each contestant vow to insult the Queensbury rules the battling begins.

It escapes all description. First there's a right to a jaw, then a left foot to the middle, an elbow in the right eye, a rabbit punch as Joe Bangkok starts staggering. Elbow, feet, pushing, pulling—

Almost anything goes. You can't kick a man when he's down, though. Now as if this wholesale unethical business wasn't enough to start the blood flowing, the Siamese have added a more macabre touch. It's an orchestra. This consists of a couple of tom-toms, a pair of hand clackers and a flute. As the right progresses, the beat of music increases, until at the kill it is a mad thing, pulsating, pounding the blood.

Taking everything into consideration, Siamese boxing has its points. There was a regulation western style fight thrown in for the less civilized. It nearly put me to sleep.

Have Indians' Sign

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The Washington Redskins are the only team in the Eastern Division of the National Football League to hold a decided advantage over western members. Since they joined the loop in 1937, the Redskins have beaten western teams 23 times and lost only 10 times. The next eastern team is New York, with 16 victories, 13 losses and four ties in international play.

Of the four highest priced yearling race horses—New Broom, Hustle On, Pericles and Broadway Limited—only Pericles ever won a race, and that was an obscure contest for four-year-olds. Hustle On never went to the post.

Under new All-America pro football Conference rules teams must get the ball in play 25 seconds after the ball is dead, instead of 30.

Phantoms' Squad Working Out For Opener, Sept. 17

With their opening game only two weeks from tonight, the Greenville high football squad has been working out twice daily under the watchful eye of Coach Bo Farley and his assistants.

The Phantoms open their season September 17 in Edenton.

The squad of approximately 40 boys is headed by 13 lettermen, five of whom were members of last year's starting lineup. Coach Bo Farley, is planning to use these monogram winners as a nucleus around which to build this season's team.

After a week of light drills the squad has turned to heavy equipment and is now getting plenty of blocking and tackling practice along with drills on the execution of plays.

At present the Phantoms have an eight game schedule consisting of seven conference games and one non-conference game with Dunn. Of these games four are to be played in Greenville.

Amos Sexton, a guard on the East Carolina College team for the past two years, is assisting Mr. Farley this season as line coach. Before entering E. C. T. C. Mr. Sexton attended University and served in the United States Marine Corps. Also helping with the coaching duties are William Pendleman and Bill Kirtell.

Bucs Penalized By A. B. Chandler Over Bonus Rule

Cincinnati, Sept. 3—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League faced a $2,000 fine today on a charge of violating the bonus rule of baseball.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, in hanging the penalty on the Pirates yesterday, said they had breached the rule by signing M. Dan Lynch, Sr., of Dallas, Tex., to a scouting job at the same time his son, Danny, was signed to a $5,000 contract.

Chandler declared the player a free agent, nullified the father's contract and also fined Raymond Kennedy, director of the Pittsburgh farm system, $500.

"There is no escaping the conclusion," Chandler said in a statement, "that the signing of Lynch, Sr., on the part of the Pittsburgh organization, was designed to encourage the boy to sign a Pittsburgh contract."

M. D. Lynch, Jr., signed for the maximum amount permissible without becoming a bonus player.

"The commissioner considers the amount paid M. Dan Lynch, Sr., as a scout, as actually bonus to the boy."

The father was signed to a contract calling for $1,200 a year and received $600 in cash at the time, Chandler reported.

At Pittsburgh, A. Roy Haney, general manager of the Pirates, told newsmen: "If we made a mistake—we've made a mistake. At least it was an honest mistake. There was nothing under the table. The kid (Danny Lynch) received only what he was entitled to under the bonus rule."

"x x x We signed the elder Lynch because of his baseball experience. After all, he had 18 years in the minors, you know."

The Lynch boy, a second baseman and shortstop from Southern Methodist University, was assigned to Waco in the Big State League after being signed last June 3. Manager Buster Chatman of Waco said he would be pulled from the lineup immediately.

Cubs Have A Lot To Say On Who's To Get Penant

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They aren't going any place themselves, but the Chicago Cubs are having plenty to say in deciding the National League pennant winner.

Mired in the basement almost from the start of the campaign, and destined for one of their worst seasons in history, the Cubs have assumed the role of spoliars' with a vengeance. They are raising havoc with the league leaders.

First they threw a monkey wrench into the pennant plans of the New York Giants, then the St. Louis Cardinals, then the Boston Braves and now the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Giants were the first to feel the claws of the Bruins. Back on June 9, they were sitting in the driver's seat, enjoying a two game lead on the Cardinals. The Cubs came to the Polo Grounds and proceeded to knock the Polo grounders right out of first place by taking three out of four.

Three weeks later, on June 29, the Cardinals were waging a neck-and-neck struggle with the Braves for the top rung. Boston had a one game lead. The high flying Redbirds came into Chicago bent on taking over first place at the expense of the Bruins. The Cubs sent them out of two much subdued after knocking them off three straight.

Only a week ago, the Braves, still riding high arrived at Chicago with an idea of increasing their league lead. Instead, the Cubs whipped them three out of four to set the stage for Brooklyn to take over the lead the next day.

The Dodgers came to town last Tuesday sporting a seven-game winning streak. They had just crushed the Cardinals four straight, and were expecting to fatten up on the cellar-dwellers. The Cubs set them back by sweeping a doubleheader.

The Brooks bounced back this next day to shut out the Cubs. But instead of folding up, the Bruins snarled back yesterday, edging out Burt Shotton's pennant-minded crew, 7-6, to win the series, three games to one.

The defeat cut Brooklyn's first place margin over the runner-up Braves to two percentage points. The Cards, in third place, are only a game and a half behind, and the fourth place Pittsburgh Pirates trail by three games.

On A 'Spot' Over Gamble For Cup

New York, Sept. 3—(AP)—Ted Schroeder—and the U.S. Davis Cup selection committee—will be squarely on the spot in the challenge round against Australia starting tomorrow at Forest Hills.

I Ted, co-hero with Jack Kramer of the last two international team matches against the Aussies, wins both his singles matches, all will be dandy. But let the California star stumble, and the big cup leaves these shores, and somebody's ear will burn to a cherry red.

In choosing Schroeder to share the singles burden with Frankie Parker, the selection committee simply "played the percentage."

It picked a player who in the past two years has won three challenge round singles matches against the Aussies while losing none.

But at the same time, it also picked a player who has had almost no top competitive tennis for the past year and who plainly is far below his best form. In two tournaments since he came east to get in shape, Schroeder was beaten by Parker and by Victor Seixas.

Possibly the nimble Californians will catch fire when he faces Captain Adrian Quist of the challengers in the second of tomorrow's opening singles matches. He is a clutch player who can rise to the heights when something big is at stake, and that undoubtedly is what swayed the committee.

Chicago is the only team in the All-America pro football Conference which carded no exhibition games for 1948.

Chapter 12

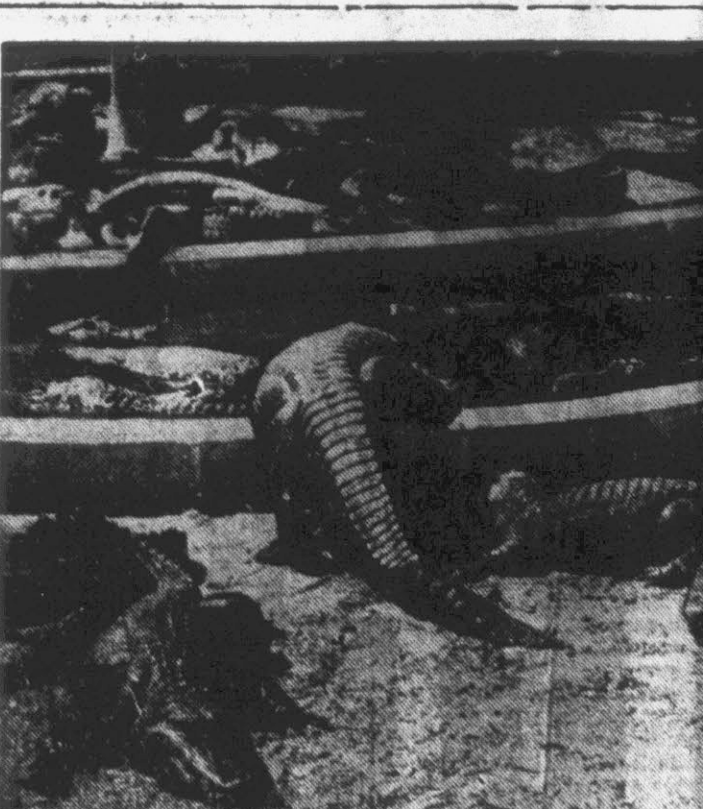

"Look, Gay," he began. "It ain't fr me or fr anybody else 't try 't tell you what you can do or what you can't do. You're old enough to know what's right and what ain't right fr yerself."

"O-h, thank you!" He disregarded her tone of sarcasm. "I just don't like any messin' around. You know what I mean, so cut it out."

"There's just one thing more," George continued. "You heard me tell it to Corbin. Long's you live on the Circle-A, you're gonna behave yerself or you're gonna get off it. This is the last time I'm gonna mention it. Gay, if you don't cut out this messin' around, I'm just gonna tell you 't pack up and get goin', and that'll be that, 'b've me."

She pushed past him, started away, but he reached out, caught her by the arm and halted her. "I hadn't intended mentionin' this, but long's you're gonna act nasty 'bout things, here goes. This carryin' on with Phil Martin..."

"I'm givin' you just one warnin', stay away fr Phil. Understand?" "I hate you," she screamed. "If you think you're going to run my life, you've another thought comin'! You... you..." George simply quickened his pace, turned in the direction of the bunkhouse, disappeared in the enveloping night light. Gay stumbled along, sobbing brokenly. A shadowy figure stepped out of the brush, halted in the road. Gay, her head bent, collided with him, backed away from him in fright. "Gay, honey, what's the matter?" She stared at him for a brief moment. "Phil!" she sobbed and threw herself in his arms. "Phil!"

SHE'S NOT AFRAID—Four-year-old Pam Post appears to be unfrightened as she stands inside pen housing century-old saurian at a St. Augustine, Fla., alligator farm.

CRUISE ON SEINE—Students of France, Switzerland, Belgium and Great Britain leave Paris on trip down the Seine after getting together to study each others language.

heard voices outside and she raised her head. Midway between the cottage and the house were three men, Phil, George Akers and a third man, a man with a thin face and white hair.

"Like I said before, Snediker," she heard George say. "I'm willin' to do business on that herd I got in the north pasture, but I don't aim 't give them four hundred head o' cattle away. What's your proposition?"

"Seventy-five hundred bucks, cash," the white-haired man said in a gruff voice. "Take it or leave it."

"I'm leavin' it," George said coldly. "You don't wanna buy cattle, Mister. You wanna steal 'em."

Snediker whipped out a roll of bills. He waved it under George's nose.

"What does that look like?" he demanded angrily. "You danged fool you oughta be tickled 't death that I'm offerin' 't pay you anything. In another couple o' weeks them head o' cattle won't be yourn 't give away, much less 't sell."

"Not interested, Snediker." The cattleman turned to Phil. "Martin," he said. "You're foreman o' this half-baked outfit. Think you can talk some sense into this danged fool?"

Phil grinned and shook his head. "He's got all the sense he needs, Snediker," he said. "You know same's we do that seventy-five hundred is just half what that herd's worth."

Snediker glared at him, shoved the roll into his pants pocket. George hitched up his belt. He turned to Phil.

"I'm goin' in and have s'me breakfast," he said. "You had yourn already?"

"No," Phil replied. "I'll get me a cup o' coffee down at the bunkhouse and get goin'." I got things 't do."

Phil grinned again. "C'mon, Snediker, I'll walk you down 't the corral. You left your horse there, didn't you?"

Nettle watched them swing past the house, then they swerved from sight. Slowly she lowered the window.

Grimesland Will Open School On Tuesday, Sept. 7

The Grimesland school committee today announced the opening of the Grimesland school for the 1943-44 school year at 9:00 a. m., Tuesday, September 7.

Due to the Polio epidemic there will be no general assembly on opening day, or at any other time, until the epidemic shows more definite signs of abating.

Several changes in the faculty have been made during the summer, bringing to the Grimesland school for the first time, the following teachers: Mrs. Ella R. Stall and Miss Dorothy N. Henderson in the primary school; Mrs. Margaret G. Bright and Mr. Thomas G. Moore in the elementary school; Mr. Robert D. Wheeler and Mrs. Dorothy D. Hendrix in the high school, and J. L. Cashwell as principal.

MacArthur's statement would seem to encourage the belief that Japan not only would be available as a "battering" or democracy but that she would in fact be an ally of the Western powers.

Why all this talk about another war? There's no special significance in it. Everybody knows by this time that there is danger of war. Still there is no present indication of any major explosion in the near future.

War as a far distant possibility is another proposition. But why cross far distant bridges when there are so many close ones to go over first?

As regards the near future, belief that Japan and the Philippines would be on the side of the democracies certainly would make Moscow tread circumspectly.

Alderman Edmund Waldrop told his fellow board members, "Twenty years ago the Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance requiring sewer connections in the city wherever available. Are we going to sit here 20 years later and say it is a bad ordinance while we prolong the misery?"

The ordinance to which Alderman Waldrop referred was passed in 1928 and gave property owners in the city 90 days to connect with city sewer systems where available. A fine of $5 was to be placed on a violator for each day beyond the 90 days that sewer connections were not made.

Two-thirds of the building and the halls have been painted. Also eighty per cent of the classrooms have been painted. The old Band Room in the semi-basement has been converted into two large modern classrooms for the Commercial Department and the School Bank. A new Band Room is being built adjacent to the park in front of the High School. In other words the school plants of Greenville are today in better shape than at any time in recent years.

School supplies were ordered last June and have been delivered. The school books for the first eight grades, coming from the State of North Carolina Textbook Commission, are in the supply room. The coal is already in the bins and all members of the staff of all the schools are ready for the year's work. The principals of the schools will be the same as last year. High School, Mr. O. E. Dowd; Training School, Miss Frances Wahl; West Greenville, Miss Agnes Fullilove; Third Street, Miss Laura Foley; Principal of the C. M. Epps School and Supervising Principal of the Negro Schools, Mr. W. H. Davenport; Fleming Street School, Miss Sadie Saulter.

The Maritime . . .

Since the hiring halls comprise one of the issues in the West Coast dispute, Denham presumably could—if he chose—ask for an injunction to halt the walkout.

Whether the Denham office will choose to use its authority is another question.

A peaceful settlement, of course, would be more to the liking of Government officials. And some officials here believe there is a good chance of a settlement before the end of next week.

The employers have offered to continue the hiring halls on the present basis, pending a decision by the NLRB and the Federal Courts on their legality.

This is the same settlement made in maritime disputes on the East Coast and Great Lakes.

Another issue in the dispute is wages. All along, the Longshoremen's Union has claimed that the wage issue was more important than the hiring hall issue.

If the dispute were over wages only, Denham would have no authority to seek an injunction.

The only other "National Emergency" case in which the 80-day injunction ran its course without a settlement was the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) atomic energy dispute. But although the injunction was dissolved and the strike ban thus lifted, the AFL unions involved did not strike, and the dispute was settled later.

Superior Court Adjourned Today

By CHESTER WALSH

In Superior Court yesterday, Robert Taft, colored, who was charged with assaulting with a deadly weapon with intent to kill Heber Chapman, colored last February 29, submitted a plea of assault with a deadly weapon and Judge Luther Hamilton gave him 18 months on the roads.

Testimony in the case indicated that Chapman had been too familiar with Taft's wife.

Johnnie N. Gardner and Lee Roscoe Perkins, both colored, were each given six months on the roads for violating the liquor laws. The court suspended the sentences on payment of court costs and ordered that they not violate any law for two years.

In the case of John T. Kooner, Farnville man, who pleaded guilty several days ago to nine charges of larceny, ranging from chickens to an electric generator, the court today changed sentence from seven to ten years to three to five years in State Prison.

In the case against J. Madison Smith, charged with larceny, a nol pros was ordered.

Frank Parker, charged with burglary, rape and assault on a female, was given two years on the roads.

Howard E. Moore, colored, who was convicted of assaulting Mrs. Evelyn Jones with intent to commit rape about two years ago on West Fifth street, today pleaded guilty to assault on a female and Judge Stevens gave him a year on the roads.

Moore was convicted in 1946 of the more serious charge and given a long term in State Prison. He appealed to the Supreme Court and that tribunal ordered a new trial for lack of evidence.

Judge Hamilton signed several orders and heard one minor civil matter at this afternoon's session and planned to adjourn court.

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill will preside of civil court terms here beginning September 13 and September 27. A criminal term will be held here the week of November 1.

Vessel Boarded In Seeking Arms

Haifa, Palestine, Sept. 3—(P)—The steamer Mala—once the American Presidential yacht Mayflower—arrived at Haifa today with a group of Jewish refugees from Europe. She flew the flag of Panama.

Three United Nations observers boarded the ship to investigate a report that she was carrying a cargo of arms for Israel, in violation of the Palestine truce.

The 52-year-old vessel, which served American Presidents from Theodore Roosevelt to Herbert Hoover—sailed from Marseille, France, eight days ago.

U. N. sources in Tel Aviv said they heard the ship sailed secretly from Marseille with arms.

The Mayflower had been recon- ditioned in Brooklyn, N. Y. Navy Yard last April preparatory to a trip to Genoa, Italy, where she was to have been overhauled completely.

Spokesmen at the navy yard at the time said she was destined for short haul cargo duty in the Mediterranean.

New York, Sept. 3—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 5 to 30 cents a bale lower.

Noon prices were 10 to 35 cents a bale lower than the previous close. Oct. 30.85, Dec. 30.72 and March 30.50.

Cotton futures turned firm in late dealings on covering movements, prior to the extended holiday. Buying was influenced by reports of a hurricane off Louisiana coast which some traders thought might do damage to the cotton crop in that area.

Futures closed unchanged to 45 cents a bale higher than the previous close.
