St. Raphael's Opened Today
Children's eyes opened wide when they entered school today at St. Raphael's. Work on the building has been progressing for the past 18 months, and is at last nearing completion.

Several new classrooms have been added to the building. The nursery and the kindergarten rooms are decorated in pleasing colors and are furnished with new furniture. The floors are tile with inlaid nursery designs. Chairs and tables are "just right" for the children who sit in them. Ledges around the walls hold numbers of dolls, stuffed animals, toys and books which are most decorative and cheerful, and which the children may play with during their free play periods.

The nursery has a large wall blackboard placed at just the correct height for the little ones. The kindergarten has two blackboards for the five year olds. Numerous windows afford much sunlight.

The program followed for first, second and third grades allows for the teaching of art and music, in addition to the regularly scheduled subjects. Credits from this school are transferable to any public school. Outdoor play periods are always supervised and instructed.

The largest new room is the cafeteria, which can be converted into an auditorium. The stage is removable. On occasions such as Halloween, Christmas and May Day, gala entertainments are sponsored by the P. T. A. At these times parents and friends have an opportunity to see the little students perform and to witness the progress they are making under the teaching and guidance of the Sisters.

This year a library room will contain numerous books; some of which were bought by the P. T. A. at the close of the 1947-48 term.

Nursery and kindergarten children may attend from 9-12, or remain until 2 o'clock and have lunch in the school cafeteria. First, second and third grades are from 9 until 2:30 o'clock.

Christian Science Service
"Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, September 5.

Golden Text: James 3:13. "Who is a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you? Let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom." Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: This people have I formed for myself; they shall show forth my praise." (Isaiah 43:10, 21). And from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is tributary to God, Spirit, and to nothing else." (Page 481).

STORM VICTIMS

Turin, Italy, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Weekend storms killed 80 persons in north Italy, press dispatches said today. Damage throughout the piedmont was reported high. Thirteen persons were reported killed in Asti, near Turin.

It's Schooltime, Drive Carefully

Dear Drivers:

Today, my daughter who is seven years old, started to school as usual; she wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel whose name is Coot, sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education, as she waved goodbye and started off to the hall of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, the girl with the yellow curls, and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about the teacher who has eyes in the back of her head and about the trees in the school yard and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital unimportant things and then we studied spelling reading arithmetic, and then to bed.

She's back there now, back in the nursery, sound asleep with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's a doll) cuddled in her right arm.

You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? — You see, I'm her daddy; when her doll is broken, or her finger is cut, or her heads gets bumped, I can fix it, but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid; she can run like a deer and dart about like a chipmunk; she likes to ride horses and swim, and hike with me on Sunday afternoons.

But I can't be with her all the time. I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the school and intersections, and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.

Please don't run over my little girl!

Every Daddy,
Selected by Rev. C. L. Patrick.

Joe Joyner Guessed Right About Rain; Groundhog Restless

By CHESTER WALSH

Joe Joyner, important functionary at the Guaranty Bank & Trust Company, and noted for his ability as a weather prognosticator, was right the other day when he opined that "We are in for several days of steady rain and it won't be long in coming."

The rain came today about 11 o'clock and it was a wetting rain—just what some field crops and vegetable and flower gardens needed.

Joyner's pet groundhog, in a large cage at his home near Greenville, showed signs Sunday of "bedding down for the winter" and that means bad weather, he said.

Lowest temperature here Sunday was 67 degrees in the morning and 87 in the afternoon. This morning the mercury in the official Weather Bureau thermometer was rising steadily and at 8 a.m. registered 80 degrees. When the rain started there was a precipitate drop in the temperature, Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer here for the U.S. Department of Commerce, said.

Strength FOR THE DAY

BE YOUR OWN STATE DEPARTMENT

In ancient Rome the temple of Mars stood at the center of its life, representing the conviction of the nation that he who can wield the heavy club can rule the world.

It turned out at last, however, as Jesus of Nazareth prophesied it would—they that took the sword perished by the sword. Rome put all her confidence in arms; the time came when she had not put enough manhood to fill the ranks of her legions. She became frantic in her desire to hire mercenaries. She worshiped force, and at last the barbarian hordes from the North swept down upon her and destroyed
her proud civilization.

Everyone realizes today that war gets us nowhere. With this knowledge there is certainly enough resourcefulness in the world to keep us out of future conflicts if we but bestir ourselves. If we accept war as inevitable, it will surely come.
We can stop it if we will, not by burying our heads in the sand but by using our heads and exercising our religious faith. War is just as unnecessary as it is cruel.

Don't say you have no influence.
If you have a voice to protest,
a vote to cast, a prayer to offer to the God of Nations, you are as influential as the most outstanding diplomat.

AN EYE-OPENER ON OUR FOREIGN POLICY

The most recent and eye-opening account of war and post-war relations between the United States and Russia
should be read by every American who wonders why we are staying in Berlin today.

Written by William C. Bullitt, former American Ambassador to the U. S. S. R. and to France, the second part of
"How We Won The War And Lost The Peace" is appearing in this week's Life magazine.

The story Mr. Bullitt has told indirectly underscores the already accepted truth
that we cannot do business with the Kremlin any more than we could with Hitler or Tojo. The writer was in a position to know the inside story on American relations with Russia and the shaping of an appeasement policy which proved not only to be futile, but suicidal.

If, in his concise outline of our policy of wooing Stalin,
there should be corrections
or insertions to be made,
there is ample opportunity for Government officials to do so. But as it stands, it is the most amazing story of duplicitous and naive in adult and responsible governments that has ever been written. Nevertheless, in this Bullitt Account, the American public has one of the most enlightening articles yet written on the course of American-Russian relations
from the war years onward.

The famous meetings of Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam have a great deal of their glitter shaken from them in this new version. In fact, the reader is reminded of the typical confidence man (Stalin) "taking" his gullible victim at Teheran;
and is amazed to see the dupe
return for another trimming at Yalta. By the time the reader comes to the Potsdam meeting, he is surprised that the visiting Country Boy has anything left for the sharper to take, but he has.

Failures of American foreign policy are stressed, and Bullitt shows much concern
for today and the future...
even the possibility that the Berlin negotiations, now going on, might become another
"Munich" is not overlooked.
It is pointed out that while now the U. S. is avowedly awake to the Communist menace, the individual citizens of Western Europe still must ask himself whether or not he dares to come out against Communism... because in the end there is no assurance he will not be abandoned by our policymakers.

Like DeWitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst,
Bullitt believes we are now involved in a struggle for survival rather than security.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

FULL SWING—The state political campaign should be in full swing after the middle of next week. On Thursday night, September 16, the Republicans will stage an Eastern Carolina rally at Rocky Mount. That same night the Young Democratic Club state convention will get underway at Greensboro. By that time it is expected that itineraries for the Democratic high command's tour of congressional districts will have been announced, and there is possibility the campaign handbook will be ready for distribution. Usually these goals have been attained around the first of October, but because of the tensity of the 1948 battle all hands are trying to get in earlier start.

RALLIES—Chairman Capus Way-
nick of the State Democratic committee is now contacting candidates for congress in the several districts
as to time and place of the fall rallies. Custom has been to begin with the most westerly district and work east through districts 12 to eight, then jump to the extreme east and work westward from first to fifth district the second week, and catch the sixth and seventh about two weeks ahead of the election. If that schedule is followed this year the meetings will begin on October 4 and end on October 19. Every Democratic nominee for state office is expected to attend all of the rallies, and all local nominees are expected to attend in their own district.

DIXIECRAT—Leaders of both major parties recognize that the Supreme Court decision with respect to placing State's Rights candidates for president and vice president on the ballots will affect the method of campaigning. That decision may come before this item is read, is generally expected on first opinion day of the term, September
22. If the high court reverses Judge
W. C. Harris' mandamus order, the "Dixiecrat" candidates cannot go on the ticket; if the court sustains that order or if it fails to render any opinion until after November 2, the ballots will carry the printed names of Thurmond and Wright.

LIBRARIES—Further evidence that sponsors of improved public library service throughout North Carolina mean business is found in the call for seven regional or district meetings this fall. Beginning at Asheville on September 28, swinging eastward by North Wilkesboro on September 30, to Concord, October
1; Hertford, October 5; Greenville October 6; Clinton, October 8, and Raleigh, October 12. Various topics pertinent to library expansion will be discussed, not least of which will be requirement of larger financial support on part of the state.

DIVERSITY—Diversity of North Carolina minerals especially in the non-metallic class, has been widely publicized. Ceramics manufacture has become a substantial industry.

Now comes M. M. Croom, industrial engineer with the department of conservation and development, with findings to prove there is a place for several portland cement plants.
Raw materials abound near New Bern and around Sanford, and there are adequate labor resources and transportation facilities.

NAMES—Frequent appearance
of the words "Department of Conservation and Development" in the news has led to suggestion the title ought to be shortened. One reporter says the word "Utilization" would cover the case. In that connection also it has been noted that the Department of Labor is probably a misnomer,
in view of its expanding functions.
Tentative suggestion was made when the department was put into the constitution a few years ago that it ought to have been called the "Department of Industry and Labor,"
but that was too long. Suggestion now is that the one word "Industry"
would do the job.

ARGUMENTS—Supporting the suggestion it is argued that "Utilization" includes conservation, development and promotion. "Industry"
includes labor as well as all other phases dealt with by the department.

COVERED—Among all the talk about the egg-tomato pelting of Henry Wallace, one of the girls in the justice building comes up with the best gem. She quotes an unnamed friend as saying: "I utterly disagree with Wallace and detest
the things he stands for; but I think he is entitled to a hearing. I'm sorry
the egg-throwing episode occurred in North Carolina. If they had to happen I wish they'd happened somewhere else—and that the to-matos had been a little bit riper
and the eggs a little bit rottener."
That seems to cover the case.

REVEREND—Capitol square
friends of Clarence Stone, veteran Rockingham county legislator and member of the advisory commission, have been chucking over clippings
received from Asheville newspapers, referring to him as "Rev." Clarence Stone. Any typist or printer knows what happened. The papers used abbreviations for the senators and representatives on the budget commission, and a typographical error
put a "v" instead of a "p" in dis-ignating Rep. Stone. Then the error was perpetuated in subsequent references. Everybody acquainted with the genial gentleman from Stoneville knows that, despite his very excellent qualities, "reverence" is about the farthest thing he is away from.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—The study of controversial issues in the schools often has been a bugaboo to teachers. But Howard Cummings, assistant specialist for government and economics, Division of Secondary Education of the U. S. Office of Education (USEO), says: "In a democracy,
where decisions on questions of policy depend on the conclusions reached by citizens generally, it is of utmost importance that all citizens have access to information needed to reach intelligent decisions."
And a committee of the National Council for the Social Studies for the National Education Association (NEA), says: "Controversial issues should be approached from the point of view of the right of the learner to learn. The primary task of the teacher is to act as adviser
and director of the problem, encouraging the pupils to clarify their facts and encouraging a calm search for the truth and or conclusion upon which wise action can be based."
To "facilitate and encourage study and thinking about one of the most important problems—world communism—in our times," the House Committee of Foreign Affairs makes three publications available to the schools. These are a report of "The Strategy and Tactics of World Communism" with two volumes of documents to read; "The U. S. C. outlines 'One Hundred Years of Communist 1848-1948," and another presents "Official Protests of the United States Government against Communist Policies and Action, and Related Correspondence."

Along with these publications,
USEO has prepared a study outline
by which a teacher might prepare,
after analyzing the report, to teach about Communism and Communist practices.

To a teacher planning a class study of the problem "How Can The United States and The U. S. S. R.
Cooperate in Developing a Peaceful Postwar World?" NEA suggests consideration of such factors as:
"1. Pupils should come to recognize the shallow thinking underlying many ill-considered remarks frequently heard in discussions of American-Soviet relations."

"2. The citizens of any nation tend to accept the long-range goals of their own country but are usually less well-informed about the national goals of other countries."

"3. Citizens tend to 'put themselves in the shoes of the other fellow' and try to understand why others feel as they do and want what they want. This helps one to make wiser decisions in thinking about the policies which are appropriate for one's own country."

"4. Only in a democracy do the people have access to the information needed to understand both sides of a question."

Amnesia Victim Will Not Go Back To His Old Life

Leeds, Eng., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Memory is returning to George Wallace, but he has decided not to return to his old life, the one he forgot during four years of amnesia.

Among other things, Wallace, 41, now remembers he was separated from his wife and daughter before he left to fight the war in North Africa.

So Wallace says he's going back to Birmingham and the window cleaning business he started four years ago when his memory went back only to the time he was released from a military hospital.

This return to the past started when he went to a dentist for an aching tooth. Under the anesthetic he repeated a name several times. The dentist, who knew of the amnesia, recognized the name and put Wallace—who had taken the name of John Chrisp—on the trail that finally led him back to his home town of Leeds and his brothers yesterday.

Wallace said his wife sent word "she did not wish to see me." He added, however, "but I would have liked to see my little girl. She was very young when I went away."

Tobacco Season Nearing Its Peak

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A lustrous season for Carolinas tobacco drew near its peak today with three of four fine-cured belts in full operation.

The fourth, the Virginia-Carolina old belt, opens sales next Monday. Sailing along at higher prices and with more and better tobacco on hand than last year were the eastern North Carolina belt, the border belt and the middle belt.

The latter opened last Tuesday, two weeks earlier than last year, and crossed $3.08 the hundred. This was $10.08 higher than last year's opening week average.

The border belt ended five weeks of sales before the Labor Day weekend and sold $3.92, 859 pounds for an average of $47.02.

On the Eastern North Carolina markets a total of 96,162,863 pounds have been sold this season for an average of $47.02.

W. E. Davis Died Tarboro Hospital

W. E. (Cotton) Davis, 39, of Farmville, died in a Tarboro hospital Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock of virus pneumonia after an illness of four days.

A native of Easley, S.C., Mr. Davis was part-owner of a chain of automobile accessory stores of Eastern North Carolina. He operated businesses in Tarboro and Williamston before moving to Farmville two and a half years ago. He was widely known in each of these towns.

He survived by his wife, the former Frances K. Allen; two foster daughters, Patsy and Mary Frances Allen, all of Farmville; his mother, Mrs. Lily A. Davis of Easley, S.C.; five brothers, Fred and F. F. of Easley, Albert of Sylacauga, Ala., C. C. of Catechee, S.C., and Melvin Davis of the U.S. Navy; four sisters, Cleo and Louise Davis, Mrs. Ronnie Massengill, and Mrs. W. T. Norris, all of Easley.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 4 p.m. from the Farmville Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. E. R. Clegg, Methodist minister, and Rev. E. W. Holmes, Baptist minister. Burial was in Hollywood Cemetery. Mr. Davis was a Mason, and had been a member of the Kiwanis club.

Death Overtakes Five Occupants Fast Speedboat

White Lake, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Five Fayetteville residents drowned in White Lake last night after they were hurled from a crazily spinning speedboat.

The five victims and three companions were riding in the high powered vessel when its throttle and rudder jammed, throwing all eight occupants into the lake.

Police Sgt. D. T. Faircloth identified the victims as: Mrs. Tommy Cronin, about 35, her son, Tommy Jr., 5, her sister, Donna Beard, 14, Fred Ritter, about 46 and Frank Owens, about 44. Those rescued were Peggy Joyce Cronin, 16, Mrs. Hazel Dale, about 30, both of Fayetteville, and Saydene Shandley, 16 of Durham.

Consider Parole For Mrs. Miller

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The state parole commission is considering a parole for Mrs. Mary Edna Currin Miller of Rowland, who was convicted of hiring a Negro to shoot her husband.

Mrs. Miller, 24, was admitted to prison Sept. 27, 1947, after her conviction in Robeson Superior court of felonious secret assault in the shooting of David Miller. She was sentenced to four to eight years.

She and her husband were reconciled after he recovered from a pistol wound in the chest, inflicted May 11, 1947, while he was asleep.

The Negro, Fred Wiggins, who admitted shooting Miller, was paroled last month. He was sentenced to three to seven years.

Mrs. Miller's case came up for consideration, the parole commission said, under a provision that prisoners are eligible for parole after serving a fourth of their term. With gained time for good behavior, officials said, she has completed one-fourth of her sentence.

Mrs. Miller said she would return to her husband and two small children if paroled.

Jeep Wreck Puts Miracle Healer Into A Hospital

Bangkok, Siam, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Siam's "Miracle Healer" is in a good old-fashioned hospital today. He tried to drive a jeep by intuition.

The "Healer" is Samanen Noi Ratenkosin, 12-year-old Novice Buddhist Monk. For months, crowds of hundreds daily have been coming to him in the relief his touch healed all wounds and cured sickness.

Enroute in a jeep to use his powers on a bedridden patient, the young Monk suddenly announced he felt an "intuitive inspiration" that he could drive a jeep. He never driven one before.

The jeep owner, Nal Runsee, gave him the wheel. Samanen ran a bus. His miraculous powers did not halt the bleeding from scalp wounds. Bystanders took him to a hospital.

Today will mark the close of the season in the Coastal Plain League and we find Greenville at Wilson, Goldsboro at Tarboro, Rocky Mount at Kinston and New Bern at Roanoke Rapids. Beginning Wednesday semi-finals play will get under way in the league with the Tarboro Tars, already winner of the 1948 pennant seeking to add to their laurels by capturing the championship of the league. Tarboro, by virtue of its strong finish this season, will be the big favorite to take the championship series, while Kinston, winner of the championship for 1947, will be out to seek their second crown. Regardless of who wins it should be a good series and well worth seeing. A total of six umpires will work the semi-finals game and four will work the finals. Those to work the semi-finals are Johnson, Gurley, Knight, Donahue, Toile and Simon, with the first four named working the finals.

Harold Dale, sportscaster for WGTC, has been taken by ambulance to his family's home in Goldsboro to recuperate from his recent illness. For the past week or more he has been in the Pitt General Hospital with a throat ailment.

Odds and Ends: Johnny Kovalchick will remain here during the winter months and attend ECTC. . . . Bakie Palmer, who has been manager of the Bears, has left the team and is in Chicago. . . . Both Pepper Martin and Pappy Williams of Rocky Mount have passed the old mark on total bases, set at 295 by Harry Soules of New Bern in 1947. . . . Williams has 310 to his credit while Martin has collected 298. . . . From the Rocky Mount Evening Telegram we find the following statement: "Greenville is dicker with Pappy Williams to manage their club in 1949."

Harry Melmann Day will be observed at Briggs Stadium in Detroit, September 11, when the broadcaster and former outfielder of the Tigers will be honored. The Tigers will be hosts to the White Sox that day and Melmann will be showered with gifts.

A fast-ball pitcher's delivery travels at the rate of 55, 75 or 90 miles per hour.

Ans. In a test made on August 30, 1946, at Washington, D. C. one of Bob Feller's pitches was timed at 95.3 miles per hour. The previous record was 94.7 miles per hour, made by Arley Donald while pitching for the New York Yankees in 1939.

Locals Drop Decisions To Tars And Tobs By 6-7, 6-11

See-Saw Scoring In Tarboro Saturday With Deciding Run Coming In Eighth; Locals On Short End Of Free-Hitting Game Sunday

By BERT MOYE

The Greenville Greensies lost both of their week-end tilts, dropping a 7-6 decision to the Tarboro Tars over in Tarboro Saturday night and then closed their home slate here yesterday afternoon with an 11-6 defeat at the hands of the Wilson Tobs.

Saturday's Game
The Tarboro Tars gained a split in their final two games with the Greensies by edging out a 7-6 win over in Tarboro Saturday night.

In a game which see-sawed back and forth in the scoring column, the Tars clinched the game in the eighth frame after Greenville had knotted the count at six all in their half of the seventh. In the eighth Eddie Neville doubled to right and took third when Ken Andrewah grounded to second. He scored on Jimmy Town's fly to deep leftfield.

Greenville scored two runs in the second on three singles, a double and walk; scored two more in the third on a double, single and walk; one in the sixth on a double and an error; and put across their final run in seventh on two walks, a single and an error.

Tarboro scored one in the first on a triple and single; two in the third on two walks, one hit and an error; one in the fifth on a triple and a double; and two in the sixth on four singles and a sacrifice.

Johnny Kovalchick started on the mound for the Greensies but was relieved after pitching six frames in which he allowed nine hits, by George Harrison who received credit for the loss, his fourth of the season and his second to the Tars. Jim Towns with a triple and two singles led the Tars attack.

Manager Kelly Kae, with two singles and a double led the eight-hit attack off the three Tarboro hurlers. Eddie Neville, who pitched the final seven frames of the game, got credit for the win his third of the season over the Greensies.

Sunday's Game
In a game which a total of 35 hits was obtained with the Wilson Tobs banging out 19 and the Greensies 16, the Greensies came out on the short end of the score 11-6 as they made their final appearance of the season before local fans yesterday afternoon.

Bruce Kramer, pitching his ninth win and his fourth of the season against the Greensies, gave up a total of 16 hits, while his teammates gathered 19 hits off of four Greenville hurlers.

The Tobs started their scoring in the second frame with two runs and continued to score two runs in each of the next four frames and added one in the eighth for good measure.

The Greensies were held scoreless until the fourth frame when they put across a singleton, added another one in the fifth and then two each in the seventh and eighth frames.

Highlight of the one-sided victory for the Tobs was the fielding of the Greensies, who executed four double-plays during the game.

Willie Mauney with three singles and a double and Moe Carter with three singles, led the 16-hit attack of the Greensies.

Al Rheim with four singles in four trips to the plate and Hayes with a double and three singles, led the 19-hit attack off the four Greenville hurlers.

Rockets And Bills Seek First Win

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Chicago Rockets and the Buffalo Bills—both looking for their first all-America football conference victories of the season, clash here today. It will be the home opener for the Bills who lost to San Francisco, 35-14, on the 49-ers home field. Chicago started the year with a 7-0 defeat by Los Angeles.

Hard Luck Guy

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Clyde Farmer has his bid in today as a candidate for the hard luck football pitcher of the year.

The Wilmington, Del., hurler pitched a no-hit game, fanned 75 and allowed only 10 hits in three games in the middle Atlantic tournament Saturday and Sunday. Yet he won only one game.

He pitched two games, including the no-hitter which he lost 1-0 Saturday while fanning 75 and allowing three hits. Yesterday he went 28 innings and struck out 45 but his Wilmington Steak House nine lost 2-1 to Georges of Baltimore.

His no-hitter was won by the Washington Beavers. His victory, 3-1, was over the Virginia Dairymen from Richmond.

Gallorette Runs For New Owner

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Gallorette, the world's greatest money-winning race mare, will be seen under the silks of her new owner for the first time today when she opposes five sturdy rivals in the $25,000-added Edgemere Handicap—the Labor Day feature at Aqueduct.

The six-year-old daughter of Challenger was purchased last week by Mrs. Marie A. Moore of High Pope Farm, the Plains, Va., from W. L. Brann of Maryland.

Gallorette must pack top weight of 123 pounds in this mile and one eighth event, being run for the 29th time. Trainer Ed Christman, who conditioned the horse for Brann and remains her trainer with the new owner, is expected to send her back again in the $50,000 Beldame Handicap closing day attraction at Aqueduct Saturday.

Strongest competition today is expected to come from Walter M. Jefford's Loyal Legion, winner of the Saratoga Handicap Aug. 21, in which Gallorette finished fifth. Loyal Legion was assigned 121 pounds. Gallorette will be ridden by Bob Jessop, with Ted Atkinson up on Loyal Legion.

Prior to the Saratoga Handicap, Gallorette won two straight at the spa, the Wilson and Whitney stakes, with Loyal Legion running second in the latter event.

Murray Murdoch, the "Iron Man" of hockey when with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, has been head coach of the ice sport at Yale since 1937.

Harry Jaenaski, the "other" end with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League during the Don Hutson regime, is now an assistant football coach at Yale.

Lots Of 'Ifs' In William And Mary Gridiron Outlook

Williamsburg, Va., Sept. 6.—(AP)—That two-letter word "if" may play an important role this season in the football doings of William and Mary's Southern Conference Champion Indians.

In fact, four big "ifs" have already cropped up on the Indian reservation although the 1948 football season is still very much in its infancy.

The four "ifs" and possibly in the order of their importance: 1—The Tribe's 205-pound unior fullback from Norfolk, Va. Cloud earned an All-Southern conference berth for the second successive year last campaign and made the All-America third team selections. He suffered an injury to his right knee in the Indians' 21-19 loss to Arkansas in Birmingham's Dixie Bowl, had to undergo an operation in March.

2—Tommy (the Kid) Korcowski, 168-pound senior tackle from Hopewell, N. J. Korcowski finished the 1948 season with the best average in yards gained per try of any college player in the nation. He fractured his left ankle in the third game of 1947 and missed the rest of the schedule. He's a speedster—a-la-deluxe.

3—Harry (Red) Caughron, 210-pound senior tackle from Johnson City, Tenn. Caughron was tagged the Indians' outstanding lineman against the toughest foes last year. He sprained a shoulder in the Dixie Bowl battle.

4—Henry (Blenkey) Blanc, 170-pound senior wingback from Jefferson City, Tenn. Blanc, fastest and shiftest of the Indian wingmen, is recovering from a shoulder injury.

"If . . . these four players come through the way we hope they will," smiled R. N. (Rube) McCray, coach of the Indians, "then, we'll be as strong as we were a year ago. If they don't, well . . ."

McCray's big problem is rebuilding the entire left side of the Tribe's forewall. Missing from the line are Robert Steckroth, left end; Ralph Szabo, left tackle; and Bill Sarko, left guard as well as Knox Ramsey, who starred at right guard.

"All of these places are wide open," McCray said, thumbing an Indian squad roster. "Wide open . . ."

Lend-Lease Aids Baltimore Colts

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The strengthen-the-weak program of the All-America football conference has paid immediate dividends to the Baltimore Colts, the doormat of the eastern division in 1947.

The Colts trounced the eastern champion New York Yankees, 45-28, yesterday in their opening game. The big gun was a lend-lease quarter-back with the imposing name of Yelberton Abraham Tittle.

This 21-year-old rookie, a gift of the Cleveland Browns, set a conference passing record of 346 yards and accounted for five touchdowns, another conference mark, in his pro debut.

Tittle passed 80, 60 and 48 yards for touchdowns. He sneaked through to score one himself and later rallied for the fifth. Actually he was in on the Colts' scoring play since Billy Hillenbrand tallied after taking a hand-off from him.

Tittle played his college football at Louisiana State where coach Bernie Moore classed him as the equal of Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack. A specialist in under-the-center work, Tittle has fit like a glove into coach Cecil Isbell's T-formation.

Small, But Fast Field In Closing Race At Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Five speedsters, headed by Calumet Farm's Ferret, were ready for today's $50,000 Washington Park Handicap, a mile and a quarter test which ends Chicago's rich summer racing season.

Although the field is exceptionally small, all five are consistent competitors. A crowd of about 45,000 was expected to watch the colorful fixture at Washington Park.

Ferret will face such contenders as Augustus and Nahn's Eternal Reward, Dixiana's Star Reward, E. E. Voynon's Stud Poker and Hal Price Headley's Pellicle.

Calumet will be seeking its third straight triumph in this event with Ferret. Armed won in 1946 and 1947.

Cup Captain . . . by Pap

Until Adrian Quist staged his comeback and captured the Australian singles championship early this year there were few who gave the Aussies a chance of reaching the Davis Cup challenge round much less regaining the international trophy. The 35-year-old Quist, worn weary by the gruelling campaigning at New Guinea during the war, seemed in poor health and far removed from further big time tennis competition. He fought his way back regained his health and tennis form to rally the Australian Davis Cup forces.

Quist played a major role in winning the Davis Cup from the strong United States team in 1939, just before the war broke out. The little Aussie outgamed Bobby Riggs in a dramatic match on the third day and enabled the Australians to carry the big cup back home.

It was little more than a sentimental gesture that prompted his selection for the doubles match in the challenge round last year. Quist was still a long way from complete recovery when the American Jacks—Kramer and Schroeder—trounced him and his partner, Jack Bromwich. Today, Quist presents a real problem to the American squad which is none too strong since the repatriation of Kramer from the amateur ranks. He's a smart, determined veteran who will play in the smashing American style. And he has a score of two to settle.

Red Sox And Yankees Set For Home-Stretch Effort

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
It becomes more apparent every day that the eight home-stretch games between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees will decide the American League pennant.

Either team has it in its own power to strike a decisive blow in its own behalf. Should either the front-running Red Sox or the runner-up Yankees capture six or seven games, they would come close to clinching the flag. On the other hand, a split in the eight games could conceivably enable the third place Cleveland Indians to take the bumping.

Of the three contenders, the Indians are favored most by the schedule since they play only six of their 26 games on the road. The Indians are booked for only one more game each with the Red Sox and Yankees, both at home.

The schedule gives the Yankees the worst of it, in addition to three games with Boston, the Yankees play only two of their remaining 25 games at home. Both are against the four place Philadelphia Athletics today. The Red Sox play 11 of their remaining 26 games at home.

Both the Red Sox and Yankees have been hotter than firecrackers of late. Joe McCarthy's Sox went 10 innings yesterday to defeat the Athletics, 4-3. It was their 20th victory in their last 24 games and enabled them to retake their half game edge over the Yankees.

The Yankees kept pace with the Sox, whipping the Washington Senators, 5-3, for their eighth straight triumph and the 19th in their last 22 games.

Willie Turnesa Is Newest Ruler Of Amateur Golfers

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 6.—(AP)—There's a race track adage that certain horses win on certain courses. The proverb apparently doesn't hold true in amateur golf.

Willie Turnesa at Emsford, N.Y., is the new ruler of the amateur linksmen—winning the title the second time he ever played on Bermuda grass greens.

He defeated Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., in the 36-hole final over the 6,617-yard course of the Memphis Country Club Saturday, 1 and 1. Not until the day the tourney started had Billows ever seen a Bermuda grass putting carpet.

The two were the last survivors of the 1,221 candidates who started out a month ago for the title Robert (Skip) Rieser of Monterey Park, Calif., won a year ago. Two hundred and 10 of the players qualified for the final here—the first ever held in the South and the first played in modern times on Bermuda grass greens.

Bermuda grass is the type of grass you have in your front lawn at home. It differs from the bent grass used on most golf greens in that it stands erect and does not bend down uniformly.

The bent grass is not used in the South because it can't withstand heat. It is generally preferred in other areas for putting surfaces because it always "reads" the same. Bermuda grass greens vary almost from minute to minute.

Even such a great golfer as Bobby Jones of Atlanta, only man ever to win golf's four major titles in one season, hesitated for some time before climbing on the bandwagon to bring the amateur South because of the greens.

But the change in putting surface failed to halt either Billows or Turnesa. Each won seven matches before they collided in the final Saturday.

Many of the galleryites insist Billows' putting kept him in the running. In eliminating Frank Stranahan of Toledo, pre-tourney choice of many, Billows used only 13 putts on the front nine holes.

Chapter 14

Gay came into his thoughts and he forgot about everything else. Gay with her warm, eager lips, her white throat. His horse slowed to a jog presently, finally stopped altogether. Phil suddenly looked up. There was the shack, almost directly ahead of them. A horse was idling in front of the shack, too, and Phil eyed it with surprise. He nudged his mount and they clattered up to the shack. The door opened as they pulled up. Framed in the doorway was Gay Hollis.

He climbed down from his horse and sauntered up to the door. "Shit! So you're on leave in the Circle-A?" he asked with a smile.

"More so than ever," he laughed, hitched up his pants. "Let's go inside," he said. "Got something to talk to you about."

Gay looked at him, questioning. He turned without further delay. Phil followed her inside, closed the door behind him, leaned back against it. Gay stood by the table.

"When would you like to go?" "I'd go, then very minute," she answered, then she added, with a wan smile, "if I could."

"How 'bout tonight? That be too late?" "Phil," she said breathlessly. "You... you didn't."

He laughed; softly this time. He had evidently hoped for this moment, and now that it had materialized, he was enjoying it to the fullest.

"And how I did!" he said. He dug into his pocket, yanked out the roll of bills. "What's that look like, huh?"

She drew her arms around him, held him tightly.

"Phil!" he heard her say. "Phil, you great big darling!"

"There's more'n enough in that roll," he said, and she laughed happily. "Oughta be seventy-five hundred bucks there, maybe even eight thousand."

He came up behind her, wrapped his great arms around her, buried his face in her hair.

"Happy?" he asked.

"Oh, yes!" she replied. She turned around in his arms. "Phil, let's go to California."

"Awright," he said. "Anywhere you like."

"Ain't you even 'curious' to know where I got all that dough," he said, "after telling you last night that I didn't have any?"

"I knew you had it. You were just testing me. That's all."

"Oh," he said.

"I'd better start back," she said. "Cathy will be wondering if I don't get back shortly." She turned toward the door. "Bye, darling."

"Wait a minute," he said, and she stopped, looked at him over her shoulder.

"Yes, Phil?"

He strode across the shack floor to the door, stood with his shoulders

Conflict Found Between Profits And Education

budget commission on its recent statewide tour of institutions found several places where apparently immediate cash returns are given precedence over the educational phases of the schools.

The State School for Deaf at Morganton is an outstanding example. The school reported last year more than $20,000 income, mainly from farm and printshop operations. The printing plant accounted for nearly half the total amount. The school has training courses in sewing, weaving, woodworking, machinery and others. It is understandable that some profitable production might come out of these operations without damage to the instructional features. But while management of the school and budgeters boasted of printing income, instructors moaned that they could not conduct a training school and a commercial printer combined. Yet the school has contracts to do printing for other state agencies amounting to $8,000 a year. Since the contract obligation must be met, the competent instructors must see that the printing goes out on schedule—leaving too little time for training new workers.

The publishing and printing industry needs competently trained personnel more than ever, and that is one field in which the deaf can make good. O. W. Underhill, director of vocational education at the Morganton institution, himself a deaf mute, said all authorities agree that the same shop cannot function for commercial production and training young printers. Result is that many of his print shop "graduates" do not occasion pride. Still worse, some of them cannot hold the jobs they get, and give the school a bad reputation as a source of competent printers.

Western Carolina Teachers College at Cullowhee has abandoned its farm because the management found production was being paramount above vocational training.

tered the morning air. She jerked her mount to a stop, twisted around in the saddle and looked back. She pulled her horse around and dashed back to the shack, ran to the door and flung it open.

"Phil!" she sobbed as she burst in. She stopped in her tracks and stared hard with fear-widened eyes. "Phil!"

There was no response from Phil Martin. He lay on the shack floor, a big, awkwardly sprawled-out bulk of a man, his left arm doubled up under him, his right arm outflung. Clutched in his right hand was his Colt. Gay pressed her clenched fist to her mouth to stifle the scream that arose in her throat.

"Phil!" she whispered. "Phil!" She tiptoed around the table, peered down at him. She frowned. . . . she was evidently debating something. Then she moved toward him, swiftly and purposefully. She bent over him a second time, put her hand into his pants pocket. She straightened up shortly, thrust the roll of bills into her sweater, then she wheeled and went out. She retraced her steps, pulled the door shut, ran to horse, mounted him, sent him racing away.

Film Folks Give Act For Charity

Hollywood, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Movie-land's most spectacular benefit performance was a jumbled memory today of peanut shells, aerialists, jugglers, film star barkers, and Greer Garson on an elephant.

It united 200 performing film folk with regular acts of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus Saturday night before a sell-out crowd of 10,000.

Danny Kaye scampered across the backs of four elephants. Gary Cooper was Robinson Crusoe, and Edgar Bergen got his baldish pate kissed by a giraffe.

A spokesman said between $200,000 and $250,000 was raised to build a 100-bed wing on St. John's Hospital at Santa Monica.

Barry Fitzgerald landed safely in the dirt in a buggy mishap. A rein snapped, he said, and he "half jumped, half fell."

The movie stars performed free and obviously had a good time. Keenan Wynn was barker for Gar-gantua the gorilla. Keenan's dad, Ed Wynn, was a clown. So were Ronald Colman, Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, Jack Carson, Dennis O'Keefe, Buster Keaton and Van Johnson.

Decorating floats were Betty Grable, Virginia Bruce, Elizabeth Taylor, Dianna Lynn, Audrey Totter, Elizabeth Scott, June Haver, and Ann Blyth in a mermaid's tail.

The William Powells played Punch and Judy. Virginia Mayo and Lucille Ball rode bareback horses. Those elephant-borne included Celeste Holm, Margaret O'Brien, Sabu, Ann Miller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Lex (Tarzan) Barker, Esther Williams, Robert Cummings and Rhonda Fleming.

Carmen Miranda, with a two-foot pile of artificial fruit on her head, pranced along with a clown costumed like her. Bob Hope was valet to "Gorgeous George," comedy wrestler, in a bout with Burt Lancaster.

A "Dixie" spectacle had Glenn Ford, Alan Ladd, Dorothy Lamour, Loretta Young, Peter Lawford and Irene Dunne in horse-drawn vehicles and Claudette Colbert and Barbara Stanwyck riding sidesaddle.

The Greenville city schools opened today with a large attendance. The system will be functioning smoothly in a few days. Sept. 6, 1948. There is a considerable increase in the number of pupils in the first and senior grades.

The Negro city schools also opened with good attendance at C. M. Epps High and Fleming Street schools. Prof. W. H. Day-entertained.

The county schools will open tomorrow.

Poison Gas May Menace Island

Manila, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Rescue efforts on Camiguin Island in the southern Philippines were spurred today by a warning that fiery Mt. Hibokhibok—erupting lava for the sixth day—may spew poison gases.

Nearly 35,000 of the small, fertile islands' estimated 45,000 population have fled by sea since the volcano rumbled to life Sept. 1 after 77 years of inactivity. Two villages have been buried by the lava flow; five others are threatened.

The Philippines constabulary reported five persons buried alive under the scalding ash and molten rock. A sixth escaped with severe burns.

However, the government was warned of an even greater menace to the estimated 10,000 Filipinos huddling under the sulphurous smoke on Camiguin's coast. Dr. H. Coley Beyer of the University of the Philippines said the volcano might soon generate deadly chlorine gas.

Dr. Beyer was an eye-witness to the disastrous eruption of the Lake Taal volcano, 30 miles south of Manila, in 1911. He recalled that chlorine gas was responsible for 1,300 deaths at that time.

Police Arrest Man On Serious Charge

Police arrested Alvin R. Griffin, 21, Sunday and charged him with assaulting with a deadly weapon Jimmy Melton at the Green Oil service station, on the Bethel highway, a short distance beyond the bridge. The officers also charged Griffin with disorderly conduct and vulgar and profane language.

Eggs splash on the window of car in which Henry Wallace (rear seat, center), is riding as he leaves a radio station at Shreveport, La., where he broadcast a campaign speech over a state-wide hookup. Scientist Said Suspended From British Atomics

London, Sept. 6.—(P)—Dr. Cabot Sgton Bull, 45, a British scientist, said today he had been suspended from work at a government atomic energy research station in a purge of suspected Communists, fellow travelers and fascists in defense departments.

A government source confirmed the report.

Bull was employed to develop electronic robots to control uranium. The institute of professional civil servants said it would protest.

Samuel Wayne, secretary, said the institute is "not satisfied that he is being properly charged."

Both Bull and the ministry of supply, which directs atomic research, declined to give details of charges.

A Costly . . .

A non-qualifying local union may get along all right so long as the employer finds it to his advantage to continue dealing with it, or so long as no rival union appears in the plant. But if there is another union which the employer would prefer to deal with, the plight of the non-qualifying union may become desperate.

One of the main functions of the NLRB is to conduct plant elections to determine whether the employees shall be represented by a union, and if so, by what union.

A non-qualifying union can't ask for such an election (but other unions can, and so can the employer).

If an election is held, the non-qualifying union can't get on the ballot. There is no way for the workers to vote for it.

Furthermore, that union can't even get a hearing in the case. It can't object to the way the election was conducted.

It can't file charges of unfair labor practices against the employer, and neither individual employees nor the national union can file charges on its behalf.

If it calls a strike and the employer hires permanent replacements, the strikers are no longer considered employees and can't vote in the election.

If the employer doesn't try to operate the plant, the strikers are still employees and can vote, but they can't vote for the non-qualifying union.

So a strike by a non-qualifying union is not the powerful weapon a strike usually is.

He said one of the things "most shocking" about the Taft-Hartley act has been the "pious speeches" about it by its proponents. He said they pictured "labor" as a "spoiled child" that "needs to be spanked," adopting the attitude that "this hurts me worse than it does you."

"Make no mistake about it," Mr. Truman said, "it doesn't hurt them, but it does hurt you." He said the act is only a forerunner of what you'll get if the Republican reaction is allowed to continue to grow."
