Colonial Question Is Handed To UN

Big Four Representatives Fail To Agree On Disposal Of Italian Pre-War African Empire; Most Of Time Spent In Arguments

Paris, Sept. 15 (AP)—The problem of what to do about Italy's pre-war empire in Africa went to the United Nations today for decision. Representatives of the Big Four powers—Russia, the United States, Britain and France—struggled over the question until 3 o'clock this morning, but agreed on only one thing: that they could not agree.

By the terms of the Italian peace treaty signed a year ago today, the problem now passes to the United Nations assembly. The assembly convenes here next Tuesday. The veto does not apply there. In two days of conferences, the Big Four delegates—summoned to consider the future of Eritrea, Libya and Somaliland—spent most of their time arguing about whether they had the necessary authority to do anything. Russia said they hadn't because only France had a foreign ministry present.

When they got down to the question at hand, Russia demanded that all three colonies be placed under international trusteeship. The western powers said no. The western powers got together on a proposal to put Somaliland under Italian trusteeship. Russia blocked that.

In Washington, the State Department announced that the United States is backing a British proposal to turn over Crenaca, one of Libya's three provinces, to Britain, under U.N. trusteeship, until independence can be achieved. This morning's final Big Four session—concluding almost 15 hours of continuous argument—was unable even to agree on how to notify the United Nations that the four great powers were unable to agree.

The western powers said Secretary-General Trygve Lie should be told in a letter from the foreign ministers council. Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, said the meetings here were not sessions of the foreign ministers council, since only France had a minister of that rank present.

The delegates are meeting at noon to try to decide what to do. The Russian proposal for international trusteeship for the three colonies constituted an abrupt shift. Earlier, the Soviet Union had come out for putting them under Italian trusteeship. Vishinsky shifted course in the middle of an argument yesterday.

Lewis W. Douglas, ambassador to London, representing the United States, expressed amazement. First he said, Russia wanted to give Italy everything; then, she wanted to give Italy nothing.

Party Purge By Texas Demos As Dixiecrats Lose

Took Truman Forces Five Hours To Sweep Into Control On Test Votes

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 15 (AP)—The Democratic party of Texas has house-cleansed itself of members and especially leaders who would not pledge themselves to total party loyalty. This complete party-line purification, and formal certification of Lyndon B. Johnson as nominee for United States senator were the chief accomplishments of yesterday's 12-hour state convention grind.

It took the Truman forces five hours to beat the stubborn states rights minority down and sweep into control with two clear-cut victories on test votes. Then they ejected anti-Truman delegates from four counties. States rights sympathizers from five other counties walked out in protest. Pro-Truman delegations from Harris, Dallas, Tarrant and Harrison counties triumphantly streamed into the hall and took the seats vacated by those who were kicked out.

The party aimed these hard-fisted jobs at members who were even suspected of unwillingness to vote the ticket straight: 1. An overwhelming vote recommending the national committee replace Wright Morrow of Houston as a member from Texas, substituting Byron Skelton of Temple, floor leader of the Truman convention party, for him. Morrow has been under attack as a states rights sympathizer.

2. Ousting of Mrs. R. A. Thompson of Goliad—openly a states rights—as vice-chairman of the state executive committee and replacing her with Mrs. Claude Hudspeth of San Antonio. 3. Election of what amounts to a brand-new executive committee, minus anyone with states' rights leanings, and including a sprinkling of liberals.

4. Giving the State Democratic Executive Committee full power to recruit its members, county and precinct chairmen, and members of county executive committees to party-loyalty pledges or to be removed. 5. Ousting of five of the 23 presidential electors named in May because they have "not made it clear that they will support the nominees of the Democratic party."

This report said Alexander and his associates "had never made a persistent effort" to bring to the attention of top department officials the condition about which they testified they were disturbed. The committee also said that their testimony was "irresponsible in its lack of factual support."

Tension Appears Mounting In Big Labor Disputes

West Coast Police Alerted; Truckers And Longshoremen Are Still Out

Tension appeared mounting today in the nation's three major labor disputes—the oil and maritime strikes on the Pacific coast and in the two-week-old trucking walkout in New York City. Following yesterday's violence in the CIO Oil Workers' strike at Richmond, Calif., police were alerted to prevent further disturbances. Strikers were massed to halt AFL unionists from going to work at the Standard Oil Refinery at Richmond.

About 1,000 pickets and police battled for an hour yesterday. Meanwhile, negotiations to end the 11-day strike against six major oil companies continued in San Francisco and Los Angeles. There were no indications of early settlement of the wage dispute. In San Francisco, the Army went ahead with plans to move military cargo which has piled up during the 14-day work stoppage by 28,000 longshoremen at Pacific coast ports. Foodstuffs were reported jamming freight terminals all along the coast.

The Army said it needed 250 men at San Francisco and started to hire men after shipping employers refused to load or sail as they had to deal with what they termed "Communists party line leadership." Bridges has refused to sign a non-Communist affidavit under the Taft-Hartley Act. Chief issues in the dispute are wages and interpretation of the hiring hall. Some 150 vessels are idle.

Developments took a turn for the worse in the trucking strike in New York City and Mayor William O'Dwyer named a special mediator to clear up the "chaotic" conditions in the industry's labor relations. About 4,500 members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 807, still are on strike. But 4,000 are back at work after the union signed contracts with 77 individual trucking concerns which agreed to the 15-1-2 cent an hour wage increase.

New York City's second largest local, 262, boosted its wage demands to 25 cents an hour and about 3,000 of its 4,500 members quit work without a strike call. Paris Police In Fight With Mob 4,500 Strikers

Paris, Sept. 15 (AP)—A strike crowd of 4,500 rushed the National Aviation offices in Central Paris today and injured 96 policemen in rioting. An estimated 2,500 of the crowd were workers of the Nationalized Aviation Industry, denouncing recent layoffs of workers from the government payroll. Another 2,000 strikers from the Nationalized Renault Auto Plant joined them.

Anti-Trust Suit

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Justice Department today filed a civil anti-trust suit against the "Big Four" Meat Packers—Swift and Company, Armour and Company, the Cudahy Packing Company and Wilson and Company, Inc. Attorney General Clark said the suit was filed in Federal court in Chicago.

"The four defendants named in the complaint are charged with suppressing competition in the sale of meat and meat products," Clark said in a statement. Clark said the suit is aimed at dividing the big four packers into 14 "separate and competing companies." Swift and Armour each would be divided into five separate companies and Cudahy and Wilson each into the separate companies. Clark described the suit as "another in a series of cases instituted by the department of Justice in furtherance of its program to free the production and sale of food and food products from monopolistic restraints."

Republicans Push Senatorial Drive

Spurred By AFL Challenge And Fear Of Losing Four Seats

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Republican high command stepped up its Senatorial campaign today, spurred by an AFL challenge and confidential reports that Democrats now threaten four key GOP seats. Senator Capeworth of Indiana told a reporter he has accepted an invitation to join Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's western tour next week to help the GOP Presidential nominee give what he can to the party's Senate candidates. The Indiana Senator said it will be his job to see that the GOP nominees in Iowa, Colorado and New Mexico get together with the New York Governor for strategy conferences. He predicted that an "overwhelming" victory for Dewey will help the Republicans retain control of the Senate.

Their hold there now is slim, with only a 21 in 48 margin over the Democrats—a margin that would be overturned if the GOP suffers a net loss of four seats. The AFL served notice yesterday that it intends to fight for the defeat of at least eight Republican Senatorial candidates, as well as 113 House aspirants. Because of their stand on the Taft-Hartley law, the AFL blacklisted these Republicans: Senators Henry Dworshak of Idaho, Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota, C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois, Edward V. Rorabacher of Wyoming, Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, and George Wilson of Iowa; and Senatorial candidates Patrick J. Hurley of New Mexico and Ross Riley of Oklahoma.

It was learned meanwhile that reports to the GOP campaign committee indicate that Revercomb, Ball, Robertson and Riley all face uphill battles. Vance Statue In New Location

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 15 (AP)—The capitol square statue of Gov. Zebulon Baird Vance had a new location today—a warehouse here. But it won't be there long. When new stone work for a base and backdrop is completed, it will be set up at the east end of the hall at the head of Fayetteville street. The Vance statue was taken up yesterday from its base at the head of Newburn Avenue to make way for a new statue—one of the three Tar Heel-born Presidents, Jackson, Johnson and Polk.

Truman Involves Labor Fight In Political Wars

Accuses Ohio's Senator Taft Of Intervention In ITU-NLRB Conflict

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—President Truman tossed the nation's No. 1 labor dispute under the Taft-Hartley Act into the simmering political campaign today. The President accused Senator Taft (R-Ohio), co-author of the year-old labor law, of trying "to put the heat on" National Labor Relations Board officers to crack down on the International Typographical Union. The ITU has been locked in a long and bitter fight with the NLRB's general counsel, and with publishers and printing houses, over its traditional closed shop. The Taft-Hartley Act outlaws the closed shop, as such.

Taft, returning to Cincinnati after a Canadian vacation, promised a reply after studying the White House charges. The President's move in making public an exchange of letters with David P. Findling, associate general counsel of the NLRB, was interpreted as an open invitation to fellow Democrats to make heavy campaign use of the ITU case. The Taft-Hartley Act, which was passed over the President's veto, already is an issue in the presidential race. Democrats want it repealed. Republicans, generally speaking, have defended it and some have indicated they would go even further in restricting union activities.

This is the background of the latest dispute over the labor-management relations law. "Since last March 27, the ITU has been barred by federal court injunctions from pressing for the closed shop in its new contracts with publishers. At its Milwaukee convention last month, the union asked the President to investigate reports that Taft had called in NLRB officials last July 28 and suggested that they bring contempt proceedings against the ITU on the grounds that it violated the injunction.

The President received a report from Findling on August 19 to which he replied the next day. Texts of both letters were released by the White House yesterday. Charge Russians Incited Rioting

British Official Raps Soviet Commander In Berlin

Berlin, Sept. 15 (AP)—Britain charged today that Russian troops provoked German anti-Communists into the rioting last Thursday which resulted in street fighting at the Brandenburg gate. The statement by an official British military government spokesman rejected an accusation by the Russian commandant, Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, that inactivity of British military police encouraged "fascist provocateurs" to attack Russian soldiers and the Soviet war memorial. Britain told Kotikov he had his facts wrong and is guilty of a "piece of calculated self-inflation."

This was the third sharp rejoinder to Kotikov from the western allies in three days. It came within a half day of the tenth meeting in the Kremlin between western diplomats and high Russians on the Russian blockade of Berlin. Moscow reported the four power talks are expected to be resumed in Moscow by the end of the week. Talks here between the four military governors of Germany are in recess. Brig. Gen. Jean Ganeval of France rapped Kotikov last week. He implied publicly that the Russian commandant was a liar as well as a breaker of pledges for permitting Soviet troops to kidnap 19 western Berlin police who had been guaranteed safe conduct by the Russians from the city hall which the German Communists were besieging. Col. Frank Howley, U. S. commandant, recently said Kotikov was responsible for "international shame" in failing to protect Berlin's elected city council against Communist rioters.

Secret Types

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Air Force acknowledged today that half a dozen hitherto secret combat plane types are being built for speeds ranging up to supersonic. Most are jets and rocket powered. Acknowledgement of the new types came after a summary of them was printed in American Aviation Daily, an industry news letter published here. The new types, some being flown secretly at Muroc, Calif., Airbase and others nearing completion, are: McDonnell XF-88, a two-engine penetration jet fighter. Northrop XF-89, a two-engine all-weather jet fighter. Lockheed XF-90, a two-engine penetration jet fighter with rocket engines for emergency speed bursts. Top speed is supersonic. That is faster than sound travels, or about 766 miles an hour.

Republic XF-91, a single engine interceptor jet fighter, with rocket engines for use at very high altitudes. Top speed is supersonic. Consolidated Valtec XF-92, an interceptor jet fighter with a VIWing, using rockets for top operational speeds over 800 M. P. Boeing XB-52, a huge Bomber in the B-36 class powered with a Turbine-propeller combination. Not Encouraged By Developments

Sec. Marshall Uncertain As To Length Of Stay In Paris

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today that because of the international situation he is uncertain how long he will remain at the United Nations meeting in Paris. Asked at a news conference whether he expected to see Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the French capital, Marshall said that he assumes Molotov is going to be at the U. N. meeting opening Tuesday. At the same time, Marshall indicated a lack of encouragement over any improvement in east-west relations as a result of developments of the past 10 days. "This became apparent when he was asked whether he agreed with a recent statement of former British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden that international affairs appeared to be going from 'bad to worse.' After a moment's hesitation, Marshall said he would content himself with the observation that he had not had any period of great relief in the last week or 10 days and would welcome any encouragement. He replied with a quick no comment however, when asked whether he meant that all the negotiations of the past 10 days have failed to improve the world situation. His remark about lack of encouragement and relief obviously covered the latest conference in Moscow on the Berlin blockade between Molotov, American Ambassador W. B. Smith and representatives of British and France.

TO LIFT QUARANTINE

Gastonia, N. C., Sept. 15 (AP)—Dr. R. E. Rhyne, county health officer, announced today the polio quarantine in Gaston County will be lifted at noon Saturday. Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—Moving Day—Oct. 1—is nearing and if you get sore waiting for the van that day, just remember: Every day, including Sunday, all year round, is moving day for the government. Why? New agencies are born, old ones wiped out. Others are made bigger or smaller. Some agencies move to Washington, some away from it, and others from one building to another here in Washington. In short, the need for space by government agencies is always changing. That's why a government worker you talked to today on the phone, may not be in the same place tomorrow. You have to hunt him up. This doesn't happen with the main parts of a big agency, like the Commerce or Labor or Justice departments. They have their own buildings and their main offices are there. But you can see what happens from this: The Bureau of Labor Statistics is part of the Labor Department. Its main offices are in the Labor Department building. And it had a row of offices on the second floor.

Fast Passenger Train With No Headlight Plows Into Rear Of Stopped Train; 120 Injured, Including 80 American Soldiers

Witnesses said the fast train from Mokpo to Seoul, which had no headlight, telescoped the rear of a troop train, which had no rear light. One passenger on the soldier train likened the wreck and subsequent fire to a Dante's Inferno. Rescue workers worked all night digging out the dead and injured. The 35 American bodies were brought here early today. The injured were treated by American and Korean doctors and many of them were able to continue their journey. Charles McCafferty, of Chicago, a passenger, said the engineer of the Mokpo train apparently did not see the other train until it was 50 yards away. The engine plowed half way into the rear coach from which most of the passengers had jumped when the other train roared from the tunnel. The rear coach was ripped from its trucks and shoved into the coach ahead, where most of the casualties occurred. "We saw the train come out of the tunnel about 1,000 yards away," said McCafferty, a labor relations adviser to the military government in the American zone. "We yelled to the passengers and all got off except one man in the washroom who was not hurt seriously." Army officials said relatives of the dead were being notified but it may be necessary to bring personnel records from outlying detachments to complete identifications. Complete identifications were used to help open the search for relatives of the dead and injured. About daybreak today, a hospital train arrived in Seoul with 20 bodies and 16 of the injured. A medical disaster team and salvage workers were at the scene. Army physicians reported that at least three soldiers remained trapped in the twisted wreckage when the first hospital train left for Seoul. M. E. Perry of Flushing, N.Y., among 30 passengers in the rear coach of the rammed train, said he shouted a warning when he saw the other train approaching. The coach was emptied quickly. He said he ran alongside the train, waving a small pocket flashlight in an effort to warn the soldiers in the two coaches ahead. Seconds later and just before the crash, he jumped from the right-of-way into a rice paddy. The crash, he said, sent the rear car flying through the one ahead, riding through at the level of the seat tops. "I've got to hand it to an M.P. who was giving a warning from the other side of the train," Perry said. "He jumped onto one of the soldiers' cars and got caught in the restilube when the crash came."

Add Eleven New Cases Of Polio

Raleigh, Sept. 15 (AP)—Eleven cases of polio were reported to the State Board of Health today, bringing the state's case total for the year to 2,048. Lee and Madison counties reported three cases. Burke, Cleveland, Columbus, Johnston, and Union reported one each. All the cases were September onset and the total for the month mounted to 108.

Berlin Talks Will Shift To New Phase At Paris

London, Sept. 15 (AP)—Responsible diplomatic sources said today the talks on the Berlin crisis will be switched from Moscow to Paris after the western envoys' next meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at the Kremlin. The American, British and French representatives expect to see the Soviet foreign minister—and not Prime Minister Stalin—by the weekend, the informants said. The Paris phase of the talks is expected to take one of these two forms: If any hope of a direct East-West settlement remains after the next Kremlin conference, the matter may be taken up by the Big Four foreign ministers and their advisers, informally rather than at a formal meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers. If no hope remains of a settlement, the whole issue will be tossed by the Western powers to the United Nations. The informants said they had the impression that Molotov was been playing for time in the hope that the Western powers would choose the first of the two courses. All three of the Western foreign ministers will be in Paris early next week for the opening of the United Nations Assembly. Molotov, himself, almost certainly will be there too, the sources said.

'Silly Season' Is Taft's Response

Cincinnati, Sept. 15 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declared in a statement here today that President Truman's attack on him "is merely an attempt to curry favor with the labor bosses who control the labor publicity to which he is looking for help in the election." Taft declared the charge by the President "only shows that we have reached the silly season in politics."

Tale Of Appeasement

The Following Is The First Of Three Articles On The Anniversary Of Neville Chamberlain's Attempt To Appease Hitler, As Eye-Witnessed By The Writer

By DeWITT MacKENZIE This day ten years ago your columnist boarded a chartered plane in London and pursued Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who was flying to Adolf Hitler's Alpine retreat at Berchtesgaden, in the British statesman's first efforts to appeasing the Nazi dictator. That was the beginning of three tense weeks which changed the history of the world. Those dramatic days were part of my journalistic life, and I venture to recall them briefly in our column because after only one decade we again are faced with an international situation having momentous potentialities. The 69-year-old Chamberlain—an honest and high-minded but unlucky statesman—flew to Berchtesgaden in an effort to "try to find a peaceful solution to the crisis" which was menacing world tranquility. The phrase "peace in our time" was an irresistible magnet, and so the gaunt, gray, gentle old man made a date with the mad-dog dictator. War seemed to be approaching with terrible swiftness. Anthony Eden, who had resigned his position as British foreign secretary because of opposition to his prime minister's policy, was insisting that concess-

Mrs. E. B. Ficklen returned from Farmville, Va., this morning. Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church the Third New Bern Wesleyan Service Guild held its district meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Miss Laurie Askew, president of the Greenville Guild, beginning with all the members singing the Guild song, "This Is My Song." She then, very appropriately, gave the address of welcome, afterwards having Mrs. Milton White deliver the devotion. Mrs. White began her devotional by stating that the term for the Guild is "By His life shall the nations walk." She then quoted a few verses taken from the Gospel of St. Matthew; she compared life with a candle. "A candle of love," she said, "can smite all hate and selfishness and drive them out. Darkness is beautiful with a candle in it."

Ed Parkinson sang the beautiful "Our Father Who Art In Heaven."

Suit For Damages In Second Day

By CHESTER WALSH

Hearing of the suits of James H. Tucker for $300 for damage to his automobile and his wife, Mrs. Mabel E. Tucker, for $15,000 for injuries received in a collision last March with a car driven by Robert Whisenant of Beaufort county was in its second day in Superior Court today. The case was expected to go to the jury this afternoon. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill is presiding over the civil term.

Tucker and his wife instituted individual actions against Whisenant and his wife, but the cases were consolidated for trial.

In the action of M. E. Sutton against E. Carlyle Dixon, counsel informed the court that a settlement had been reached between the parties and judgment in the amount of $1,500 was ordered.

The case of T. C. Turnage against Hubert Joyner and others, which was set for hearing this week, was ordered set for the week of October 25.

Hearing of the case of L. W. Allen against W. H. Mercer was ordered set for the week of October 25.

Divorce decrees were granted to the following couples:

For two years separation: Clara Garris vs. Leon Garris; Sarah Tripp vs. Lewis Tripp; J. B. Tyer vs. Mary Ellen Tyer; Rubelle Nobles Brickhouse vs. William Brickhouse; Dorothy Bollin vs. Bruce Bollin; Ivan Lynn Lovie vs. Mildred Blanton Lovie; Lucy Mae Cannon Lockett vs. Daniel Lockett, colored.

For adultery: Emma B. Weatherington vs. Walter D. Weatherington.

Bevin Says Reds Intend Grab Asia

London, Sept. 15—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons today the Communists are following a plan aimed at seizing southeast Asia.

The Communists' aim is to "try to drive every western association out of that territory. In trade and everything else," he declared.

Explaining the current Communist uprising in Burma and Malaya, he said:

"This problem has been going on ever since the Marxist-Lenin theory was adopted, not merely in Malaya but elsewhere. It is part and parcel of the clash between two philosophies which will keep breaking out everywhere that it can."

Hours before Bevin's appearance in the House, the Foreign office announced that his statement on international affairs would contain no mention of the Berlin crisis or east-west negotiations now in progress in Moscow.

Girl Scout News

Several girls from Scout Troop No. 12 with their leader and Dorothy Nell Henderson spent the weekend at Camp Hardee. Saturday was rather chilly and the girls had to be content with rowing the new Scout boat and wading.

Sunday was a perfectly wonderful day, so the girls went swimming in addition to rowing. The weather was just fine to hike to Hill's Point and do many things that girls enjoy doing at camp. The party returned to Greenville around five o'clock Sunday afternoon after having a wonderful week-end at Camp Hardee.

generation, face a grave problem of mass unemployment, says Singapore Commissioner for Labor R. P. Bingham. The coming unemployment, he says, will be due to a rapidly expanding population and restricted "avenues of employment."

"Even today," Bingham adds, "there are more people of employ-able age in Singapore than there are jobs." In Singapore now there are 20,000 more births than deaths each year. This results, says Bingham in about 1,000 persons each month reaching the age to work. But opportunities for employment, he says, so far are limited by a lack of large industries in the colony.

VOTING—From 1920 through 1944 the people of North Carolina cast approximately four and three-quarter million votes for president and governor. During that period they voted an aggregate of 150,847 more votes for president than for governor. At the same time check of records show that only in the last three elections did the president vote exceed the gubernatorial. These were the times in which Franklin Roosevelt was up for re-election. (The 1920-44 period is chosen for study because women voted for the first time in this state in 1920.) PERCENTAGES—It is found that throughout the period Democratic candidates for president polled an average of 65.02 per cent of the total vote, while Democratic candidates for governor polled an average of 67.51 per cent, indicating that twenty to twenty-five thousand Tar Heel voters voted the Republican national ticket while sticking by the state Democratic candidates. Only in 1932 and 1936 were the national percentages higher than state ratio for the Democratic candidates. Lowest Democratic vote for president was 45.38 per cent for Smith in 1928; highest was 74.3 per cent for Roosevelt's third term in 1940. BREAKDOWN—The 1920 presidential vote was 305,447 for Cox, 232,848 for Harding, a Democratic percentage of 56.73 per cent; that same year the governor's vote was 308,151 for Morrison, 230,175 for Parker, a Democratic percentage of 57.24 per cent. A smaller vote in 1924 gave Cox for president against Coolidge a margin of 59.86 per cent while McLean for governor won over Meekins with 61.33 per cent of the total. The long-to-be-remembered 1928 debate cut the national percentage for Smith to 45.38 per cent and gave the electoral vote to Hoover; at the same time Democrats saved the state with 55.59 per cent for Gardner. Remorse felt by voters for this action resulted in a 70.4 per cent margin for Roosevelt and an even 70 per cent for Ehringhaus in 1932.

The bus routes are laid out by a trained employee of the state who has no reason to show partiality to any individual or group of individuals in the county. It is his job to route the buses so no school child in the county will have to walk more than one mile from his home to a bus stop.

If the bus route is not as near your home as you would like, bear with the school officials and don't seek individual favors. The routes are established and maintained for the benefit of all the children of the county and not for the convenience of a limited number of individuals.

CAN'T DEPEND ON TIME-WORN PHRASE.

If there's anything to that time-worn phrase "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," Candidate Harry Truman is already in line for condolences. It wasn't the fact that Maine Republicans won all the major offices in Monday's general election that gave the GOP national headquarters a shot in the arm, but the fact that the extent of their majorities were increased provided them with fresh optimism.

The principal victor, senator-elect Margaret Chase Smith, based her campaign on attacking President Truman for "too many blunders" in dealing with Russia and blamed high prices, in part, on his "inconsistent, inefficient" administration. Her Democratic opponent upheld the President and took an awful beating. Of course, attaching the importance of a weather-vane to Maine's early election is not good judgment. The political campaigning of the two big contenders is hardly under way. If anything, the Maine "trend" will spur Democrats to greater efforts in the final November test.

The thing these parents of Pitt County school children do not realize is that the school bus routes are

Boyle's Column. By HAL BOYLE.

New York—(AP)—The new Miss America is a welterweight like Barney Ross or Mickey Walker, the toy bulldog. She is taller, I believe, than Jim London, the ex-heavyweight champion wrestler. Furthermore, Miss Beatrice Shopp, who won the Atlantic City beauty pageant, can drive a tractor, loves to clean fish, and plays the piano and drum. And this red-blooded, clean-cut Minnesota farm girl, richly served a ultimatum on Hollywood she will appear in no films unless they let her perform on the vibraphrap. All of this is very confusing to those who cling to the old-fashioned idea of romantic beauty as symbolized by a pale and lovelorn lady languishing in a high tower as she waits to be rescued. What knight wouldn't feel a bit silly galloping to the aid of a strapping lass who can kill, clean and cook a chicken for lunch and lays down stern terms to the movie moguls? Philosophers can see in the triumph of Miss Shopp a tribute to the new American worship of the dominant female. Of her beauty there is no doubt. She is clearly lovely. But twenty years ago what chance of victory would a growing 18-year-old girl, weighed 135 five feet nine inches, weighed 138 pounds, and had a 37-inch bust measurement? None at all. Beauty was admired in smaller packages then. The victory of this tall, robust, baby-faced brunette who neither smokes nor drinks is a clear confirmation of the belief held by most Europeans that Americans always demand bigger and better things. And there is no doubt that in the United States everything over the years is steadily growing bigger—from our population to our national d-

Miss America had to do more than demonstrate she had more curves than a mountain road. She had to display poise in an evening gown as well as charm in a bathing suit. She had to show cultural talent. And she had to evidence a winning personality. The judges estimated the personality by having breakfast with the contestants. This was a rough test indeed, for what woman feels her personality is best at breakfast time? By adding tests of character and culture as well as mere physical beauty, the Atlantic City contest shows a new trend in the American mind—its tendency to admire people of multiple talents. In the old days the American loved a hero with one outstanding virtue or ability. They went to see Babe Ruth hit a home run, and few cared whether he also took out books on spinoza from the public library. They liked to see Jack Dempsey come back into the ring and knock out Firpo, and if he couldn't dance the Rhumba—so what? Einstein was admired for his brain. Who worried how he looked in bathing trunks at the beach? But today a champion is expected to be able to do a lot of things. So are politicians. Abraham Lincoln might have trouble getting elected unless he learned to play the guitar. You have to be an all-around champion now. What chance would Helen of Troy have against Miss Shopp? Could sweet Helen, who launched a thousand ships and made men immortal with a kiss, drive a tractor or play a vibraphrap? Could the armless Venus be Mille Cook with her feet? And poor old Cleopatra—why she couldn't even earn a good conduct medal. No, the ancient beauties wouldn't win, place or show at Coney Island. Today a prize beauty has to be well rounded, about as well as below the ear. The average-size tree "drinks" from three to five barrels of water daily during the growing season. Most birds in the temperate zones raise a new crop of feathers twice a year.

WASHINGTON LETTER. By JANE KADS. Washington—An estimated 8,000,000 school children will have their teeth "painted" with sodium fluoride this year in a nation-wide demonstration of a treatment designed to prevent tooth decay. Clinical and laboratory tests already conducted in several states have indicated that by use of the sodium fluoride solution decay in teeth has been cut 40 percent. The complete treatment is relatively inexpensive, simple and painless. It consists of a series of four "tooth paintings." In order to "reap full benefits from new research developments" the U. S. Public Health Service has set up a million-dollar program to put on an intense and widespread demonstration and publicity campaign starting with the present school enrollment. The Service will help set up facilities to work with dentists, dental scientists and other outfits to demonstrate to the dental profession and the American public in general the "efficacy of the relatively new procedure of topical application of sodium fluoride to the teeth as a preventive against dental decay." Experts say that although the preventive is relatively simple, the "phenomenal" results obtained will be lost and the treatment falsely credited if an exact procedure is not followed. The procedure recommended is as follows: First the teeth are cleaned. Then a two percent solution of sodium fluoride is painted on with a cotton swab, or sprayed on. This is then permitted to dry. The process takes a minimum of three minutes. The application is repeated three times, the child coming back at three to seven-day intervals. These series of four applications should be repeated at three to four-year intervals depending on the child's age—the first at three years, the second at seven years, the third at age 10 and the fourth at age 13.

Experts point out that children of this age provide an excellent opportunity for assessing the tooth decay in baby teeth and to study the initial decay rates of the permanent teeth. Mobile field demonstration units with portable equipment will be established in each of the states. Each demonstration team will consist of a dentist, two dental hygienists and a clerk, employees of the U. S. Public Health Service, who will be assigned to the State Health Department and will be under their direction. It is expected that from five to 12 communities in each state will receive the benefits of the demonstrations each year. Dental health experts emphasize that this treatment is NOT a cure-all, that children will still have to keep up the amount of sweets, brush their teeth regularly and see their dentist about the 60 per cent of the cavities not prevented. A record of 38 per cent of summer term students made the list by maintaining an average grade of B or better.

City Finds Crime Is Not Very Profitable. Eldorado, Ill.—(AP)—Experimentally, the city of Eldorado fined a five cent fine on each motorist who either failed to deposit a nickel in their parking meters or upon overtime violators. The violators were even permitted to pay the nickel fine in any handy meter and not be haled to the city hall. Revenue fell off one-third during the two-week trial. So the city council voted to get tough with violators—and fine 'em two bits. Hogs constitute a billion dollar industry in the United States.

Wilkinson Says Debate Refused

Raleigh, Sept. 15—(AP)—John A. Wilkinson, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, asserted today he had challenged the Democratic nominee, J. Melville Broughton, to a joint debate on campaign issues in vain.

Wilkinson said that State Democratic Chairman Capus Waynick had replied to his challenge by saying that plans for a series of Democratic rallies throughout the state would not allow time for the debate.

In a speech which is being broadcast this week over 40 radio stations, Wilkinson asserted that Democratic leaders "don't dare permit him (Broughton) to expose himself to the periods of joint debate" because he couldn't avoid committing himself and letting the people know exactly how he stands on a number of issues.

Wilkinson then challenged Broughton to state in plain and simple language "if he agreed with the Democratic platform on (1) repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, (2) the civil rights program, (3) reimpementation of price controls, (4) a national housing program, and on other issues.

100 years from now may be munching food made out of wood and seaweed—or even food produced without growing and plants at all.

That's what Dr. Farrington Daniels, University of Wisconsin chemist, told a meeting of scientists today.

The energy of the sun, he reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, can be used to produce a wide variety of foods and fuels from unsuspected sources.

Dr. Daniels found that fact "comforting," in the light of current "unequal distribution among the nations of the world due to war and political short sightedness."

These are some of the things he foresees: fuel alcohol from wood and corn stalks, sugar from seaweed, motor fuel from a combination of carbon monoxide and hydrogen obtained from waste products.

It may even be possible, he said, to produce food by placing carbon dioxide and water in shallow tanks and setting them out in the sun. No living plants would be involved in that process.

"We must learn," he said, "how to use our rich heritage of sunlight more efficiently so that we can be prepared against such catastrophes as war, over-population, exhaustion of oil and coal, or the return of the glaciers."

More than 90 per cent of forest fires are started by carelessness.

Greenland Grew Magnolia Trees

Washington, Sept. 15—(AP)—It was once so warm in Greenland, says a Harvard scientist, that magnolia trees flourished there.

The earth," Dr. Donald Menzel told the American Association for the Advancement of Science, has undergone a number of separate and distinct periods of glaciation, with interim periods when the climate was appreciably warmer than at present.

No one knows why these climate changes occurred, said Menzel, but here's his own idea:

For about a million years, the sun passed through great clouds of cosmic dust which would "scatter" the sun's rays as they were reflected back into space from the earth—and send them earthward again.

Thus, the earth got a double-dose of sunlight—and Greenland got magnolias.

The "Ice Ages" came, he said, when the sun's dust-clouds thinned out and the warm rays bouncing off the earth just kept going on going, instead of making a second trip.

John A. Davenport Died Tuesday Night

John Ashley Davenport, 78, died at his home near Grimesland at 7:50 o'clock Tuesday night. He had been in failing health for three years and suffered a stroke of paralysis early Saturday morning.

Funeral services will be held at Salem Methodist Church at Simpson at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. Walter Feltman. Burial will be in the church yard.

The body will be carried to the Church one hour prior to the time of service.

Mr. Davenport had lived in the Bethel home until about 10 years ago and since then in the Grimesland community. He was a farmer and a member of Salem Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida Padgett Davenport; two sons, Lee Davenport of Williamston and Leighton Davenport of the home; a daughter, Mrs. W. E. Whitaker of New Bern; and 15 grandchildren.

Missed Train, So Hermit Has Been Sounding Gong

Plan Appraisal County Schools

Tokyo, Sept. 15—(AP)—A hermit sculptor has been kicking the gong around—every hour, on the hour for the past 40 years—because he once missed a train.

The Japanese of Kasama village, 80 miles north of Tokyo, declare solemnly that this is true. They say that aging Toyomi Miura never has faltered in his self-imposed task—sounding a gong every hour of the day and night.

In 40 years, Miura hasn't slept more than part of an hour at a time, the villagers say. Such things happen in the Orient.

It seems that 40 years ago, Miura hurried to the Kasama station to catch a train on an important journey. He was a few minutes too late. Great trouble resulted. (Just what the apparently tragic consequences were, none could say.)

Many tragedies and comedies resulted from the villagers' failure to check the time in those days. Anyway, Miura decided he would fix it. "I'll sound a gong and tell the people the correct time," he was supposed to have said. "All must know the hour."

At first, the townsfolk considered him crazy. But later they came to rely on his time signal. They voted him an appropriation—30 yen a month, $5 U.S. on the exchange at that time.

Since the war and the militarists demanded that all bells and gongs be surrendered for production of warships and cannon. But Miura stoutly refused to chip in with his booming alarm clock.

The sculptor is 87 now. He's a bachelor, and doesn't take to visitors. About all the villagers hear him say is:

"I'll sound the gong so long as I live. The gong is a living thing."

Will Take Blood Slides Of City School Children

Malaria blood slides will be taken next week of all children in Greenville city schools by members of the State Board of Health, J. R. Carrington of the Pitt County health department said today.

D. F. Ashton, etomologist of the State Board of Health, and a laboratory technician, will begin Monday to take slides in the white and Negro schools of the city.

Carrington said parents with children under school age may have tests taken of their children free of charge and also persons over school age who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of a malaria test may do so by contacting the local health office.

The slides are being collected in connection with the city school project for the year of malaria control in Greenville.

Count 100 Dead In Train Blast

Nanking, Sept. 15—(AP)—(AP)—A Communist railroad mine last night blew up a Pukow bound train 90 miles northwest of Nanking killing at least 100 persons.

Railroad officials said the mine was planted near Pengpu and that the locomotive and the first car of the train were destroyed completely.

Aged Dog Kept Faithful Watch

Wadesboro, N. C., Sept. 15—(AP)—How an aged hound dog kept a lonely, 30-hour vigil over the body of his slain master, finally leading searchers to the spot of the killing, was told today.

The story of the dog's faithful watch over the body of Tyler Bennett Boggan, 68, Anson county plantation owner, was related by Sheriff Ben M. Rivers.

The State Bureau of Investigation today joined Rivers in seeking the person or persons who shot Boggan down with two blasts from a shotgun Sunday.

Rivers said they knew the motive. He said he was "firmly convinced" that "moonshiners were the killers." He said the Boggan had "wandered" into woods, looking for whisky stills, after saying he was opposed to "moonshining operations on his land."

When a searching party looking for Boggan entered a densely wooded area they were attracted by the whimper of a dog. They followed the sound to the body.

"I believe he would have stayed there until he starved to death," Rivers commented.

VANDALISM ON BIG SCALE
Washington, N.C., Sept. 14—(AP) Washington's parking meters were back in working order today. Somebody broke the pins in 80 handles Sunday night. Police haven't caught the vandal.

Bethel PTA Has First Meeting Of School Term

The Bethel PTA held its first meeting Thursday evening at the elementary school. The meeting opened with a song. Mrs. Sam Dewar gave the devotion, a short business session followed. Grades 2, 7 and 10 were awarded prizes for parent attendance. The attendance booster, Mrs. Denis Hardie, presented the beautiful gift of potato chips. Mrs. Sam Dewar was the happy winner. The program was given by Mr. Walter Latham, principal, who gave an informative and inspirational discussion of the year's aspirations. Attendance, its importance in relation to teacher allotment, and pupil value was emphasized. Another motto, "Happy Though Busy," was added. Other aims of a financial nature were outlined. His talk was received with appreciation and enthusiasm by the patrons and teachers.

Mrs. Connel Garrenton, PTA president, although unable to attend, had well laid plans which were carried through. The acting president, Mrs. Harvey Manning and Mrs. C. M. Burton, secretary, invited the assembly to the lunch room for an enjoyable social hour.

Coastal Plain Semi-Finals Again Tied Up As Bugs Win

Joe Louis Again Delays Decision

Philadelphia, Sept. 15—(AP)—Joe Louis intends to take the full six months to decide whether he'll retire as heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

The brown bomber, who previously said his June 25 fight against Jersey Joe Walcott was his last, told delegates to the National Boxing Association dinner last night:

"I have six months from the date of my last fight to make known my plans of retirement and until that time I should be known as the heavyweight champion of the world."

He then turned to Abe Greene, president of the NBA, and said:

"Mr. Greene at the end of six months you'll have my answer on whether I'll retire or fight again on your desk."

To a reporter's query as to whether he would fight again, Joe replied:

"I don't know, maybe yes, maybe no."

Greene said he would even consider Louis the champ after Dec. 25 if he decides to continue fighting and there is no worthy opponent.

In answer to the question whether he considered either Ezzard Charles, Walcott, Jimmy Bivins or Gus Lesnevich worthy opponents, Greene said:

"At the moment yes, three months from now they may not be."

The NBA head yesterday named the four as entries for an elimination tournament to decide the titleholder in event Joe hangs up his gloves.

ACC Grid Squad Features Pair Baseball Players

Wilson, Sept. 15—The Atlantic Christian College football team welcomed a new addition today as the Bulldogs settled down to their last few days of practice before their opener with Catawba College in Salisbury, Saturday night.

Charles F. "Chuck" Ehman of Washington, D. C. reported for practice as school opened this week. Ehman, a professional baseball player, has been behind the plate for the Wilson Tobs of the Coastal Plains league for two seasons.

He is being counted on to play one of the weak end positions on the Bulldog team in football. With Ehman on the flank, ACC will have a professional baseball battery performing in football. For chumking to Ehman this season will be Lefty Harry Helmer, 26 game winner for Rocky Mount of the Coastal Plains league this summer. Helmer is also one of the outstanding kickers of the North State group.

By BERT MOYE

A slashing single into leftfield by Steve Sloboda in the sixth frame to bring in Bengoechea, who had singled, and Hank Smith who had walked, gave the Goldsboro Bugs their winning two runs as the Kinston Eagles to even the semifinals series between the two clubs at three games each.

The Eagles went out in front with a run in the first frame but Goldsboro came back in the second and third frames to go out in front by scoring singletons in both frames. The Kinston Eagles then pushed across a run in their top of the fourth to knot the count at two-all and the game stayed this way until the sixth when the Bugs put across their winning runs.

Curve-baller Monk Whiteheart pitched the win for the Bugs, his first in series play. He limited the Eagles to eight hits, three of which were for extra bases, but he bore down on the Eagles in the pinches and gained the win.

Charlie Timm went the route for the Eagles and gave up nine hits, only one of which was for an extra base. It was his first loss in the semifinals series.

Steve Sloboda and Adam Bengoechea each collected three singles to lead the nine-hit attack of Timm; Fabianch of the Eagles got a double and two singles to lead the eight-hit attack of Whiteheart.

The game tonight at Kinston will determine the winner in the semifinals series, unless the game ends in a deadlock.

Score by innings:

Goldsboro	011	002	002-4 9 0

Find Mystery In Baseball Death

Oroville, Calif., Sept. 15—(AP)—Some angles in the death of a minor league baseball manager continued to mystify officials today, but a couple of items were clear.

1. He had posed as Julian Wera, representing himself as a former New York Yankee and third baseman for the San Francisco Seals. But the real Julian Wera is in Rochester, Minn., operating a food store.

2. Whatever the man's name really was, he did a good job managing the Oroville club in the far west league, a farm of the Boston Red Sox. Oroville won the pennant this year.

Sheriff-Coroner W. H. Forward said the Oroville manager took an overdose of sleeping pills Monday after writing farewell notes to his estranged wife.

Posting as Wera, he was hired as Oroville's manager a year ago. Jerry Donovan, president of the Far West League, explained the circumstances: "I played outfield when Julian Wera played thirdbase with the Seals in 1931. This fellow came out here and said a mine had blown up in his face during the war and he had a lot on plastic surgery done on it."

"I wouldn't have recognized him, but he stood up and said 'Hello.' His face sure looked different, but he talked as if he were the real Julian Wera. It's hard to believe."

Tough Test For Portland's Star Softball Hurler

Portland Ore., Sept. 15—(AP)—Portland's Betty Evans, who narrowly missed pitching the 40th no-hit, no-run game of her career last night, faces her toughest test yet in the women's world softball tournament tonight.

She will meet Marie Wadlow, who has 39 no-hitters of her own, in a championship bracket semi-final game.

Miss Wadlow pitched her team, the Caterpillar Dieselleites of Peoria, Ill., to a 1-0 win over Monrovia, Calif., Monday and Peoria moved up last night by clouting out a 13 to 1 win over the Russar girls of Rochester, N. Y.

Chicago, Sept. 15—(AP)—The left field reaches once scored by Boston's Ted Williams may be the avenue to the splendid splinter's fourth American League batting title, not to mention his club's pennant-clinching.

Thumpin' Theodore today paced the junior circuit swatters with a 271 percentage after a three-for-four performance last night to lead the Red Sox to an important 4-1 decision over the Chicago White Sox at Comiskey Park.

Only Letterman

Wake Forest, Sept. 15—Boyd Allen, husky 210-pound junior from Shelby, is the only letterman at center on the Wake Forest football squad which makes its 1948 debut against George Washington here Saturday, September 18. Allen has already earned two letters.

Snavely Claims Carolina Team Is 'Most Overrated'

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 15—Coach Carl Snavely of the University of North Carolina Tar Heels today came up with his most pessimistic statement of the year when he spoke right out and emphatically declared that "Carolina has the most overrated team that ever stepped on a football field."

Snavely, understandably somewhat annoyed by the high ranking handed his athletes by rival coaches and the press, added: "It's just simply ridiculous the way they have blown us up so high. Either those fellows are dumb or it's just psychological warfare. I happen to know that they are not dumb. They are simply trying to fatten us for the slaughter, and nobody is kidding us."

Contrary to the widespread gossip, being spread in football circles, that the Tar Heels this season are equipped with a wealth of material, Snavely pointed out, the squad actually is "very thin" in most positions. "All you have to do to find that out is look at our roster," he said. "Sure, we have a lot of lettermen, but many of the lettermen wear their monograms during the war when we did not have good football teams. Also, we have been very generous in awarding letters here."

"We are going to have a good first team, yes," he added. "I've never yet said we didn't expect to have a good first team. But we are anything but deep in experienced players, and a few injuries would ruin us. Suppose something happened to one of our guards or tackles or, say, even to Charlie Justice, where would we be? And playing the kind of schedule we're playing, we know we are going to have injuries. In fact, several of our players are highly vulnerable to injuries and can play on either offense or defense for that reason."

NBA Chief Sees Benefits Due To Ring Tragedies

Philadelphia, Sept. 15—(AP)—The fight game benefited greatly from its recent dark days of legal and physical tragedy in the opinion of Abe J. Greene, president of the National Boxing Association.

Greene, who in seven years made the NBA a strongly recognized voice of fistiana, feels the series of incidents that cast a pall over the boxing world "jarred commissions from their complacency."

He said recent ring deaths and district attorney investigations into alleged financial "deals" woke up sluggish commissions, stimulated to humaneness shiftless and unthinkable managers and instituted a better tone of vigilance on a worldwide scale.

'Goose' Retains Yachting Trophy For America

Oyster N.Y., Sept. 15—(AP)—The international gold cup of yachting will remain in the United States another year.

The six meter craft "Goose," owned by George Nichols of Cold Spring Harbor, N.Y., successfully beat off the challenge of Norwegian and Swedish entries in a series of races which ended here yesterday.

"Goose" won three of the four races. "Maybe 6th," the Swedish competitor, took the other one in the final race the American boat defeated Sweden by 58 seconds over the 11 2-3 mile triangular course.

The same American boat won the cup last year in three straight races.

Open Race For Women Golfers

Pebble Beach, Calif., Sept. 15—(AP)—The battle for the 1948 Women's National Amateur Golf championship was still a wide open affair today as survivors swung into the second and third rounds of the 48th annual tournament.

Thirty-two players started this morning, and the 16 winners will slug it out in the third round this afternoon over Pebble Beach's wind swept 6,548 yards of golfing grief.

Op of the very first moves by Barney Shotton upon his return as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers on July 1 was to put in a bid for Carl Erskine. While supervising the Dodger farm system, Shotton had seen Erskine pitch for Fort Worth and figured he could help the Brooklyn hurling staff. Branch Rickey flew down to Texas to see Erskine perform and saw the slim right-hander pitch a shut-out. Within the hour, Erskine was on his way to join the Dodgers.

Back in 1945, when Carl was starting for the Anderson (Ind) high school team, a Dodger scout looked him over but neglected to sign him. Then Carl went into the Navy. He was stationed at Boston and did some semi-pro pitching. Scouts of the Boston Braves rushed him and signed him for a bonus of $3,500. Commissioner Happy Chandler voided the signing because it violated a directive concerning the signing of men in the service. Given a fresh shot at Erskine, the Dodgers signed him by outbidding the Braves, Cubs and Pirates.

Erskine won 19 games for Danville of the Three-Eye League last season and was promoted to AA ball at Fort Worth. Carl was active during the winter, pitching for a club in Cuba which was managed by Lefty Gomez, the old Yankee southpaw ace Erskine is a 115 pound standing five-foot-ten. He is only twenty-one years old so he has plenty of time to develop.

Coaches Stress Pirate Blocking

By EUGENE PRICE

"Until we get some downfield and in-the-line blocking, we are not going to have a good ball team," Coach Jim Johnson of the ECTO Pirates pointed out last night after he sent his 50 men squad through a rugged night scrimmage session which lasted more than five quarters.

We have a potentially good squad," Johnson said but declared that it would take time to get started.

And time seems to be one of the Pirates' greatest obstacles. Some of the players have only been with the team for only three days. A number of the late comers are showing remarkable football prowess. Others who have been playing at one position might be of more service at another, in the opinion of the coaches. It's just going to take time and experimenting," Johnson asserted.

This afternoon Coaches Johnson and Jack Boone will stress downfield and line blocking, number one defects noted in last night's scrimmage. There may be some major shifts in positions. Coach Johnson was undecided last night. He said he wanted to sleep on it first.

In last night's grueling scrimmage, the Whites employed the single wing formation which will probably be used by the potent Cherry Point Marines in Friday night's session opening clash at Rocky Mount.

The Blue squad was taken back by the Whites and their single wing only momentarily. They caught on after the first quarter and scored three touchdowns on the Whites, who were held scoreless.

A number of players were outstanding in last night's practice game. For the Whites, C. O. McMullen, letterman center from Elizabeth City, played an outstanding game, especially on defense.

A new halfback named Jim Danks of Nash county, won the respect of the coaches and his team mates as he sparked the White offense. Franz

Sparks Cards

Philadelphia, Sept. 15—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals may not win the National League pennant this year but it won't be the fault of that courageous little left hander, Harry (The Cat) Breeschen.

Breeschen, whose 1944 World Series pitching spotlighted him as one of the great hurlers in baseball, won his 17th game of 1948 last night—the most games he has won in one season since becoming a National Leaguer in 1946.

Those in the Know - pick DYNAFLOW

THIS is simple fact: No automotive development in a generation has received acclaim so nearly unanimous as that accorded Dynaflow Drive.

And the reasons are plain as the facts

First - when you handle a ROADMASTER with this new transmission you find a silkiness, a versatility and ease that win your heart instantly and without further explanation.

Then - when you look into the principles of Dynaflow - into how it works - it stands out as the logical engineering answer to what a modern transmission should be.

Here oil takes the place of both the clutch and the usual low, second and third gears.

Here five ingenious elements in a tightly sealed drum automatically give you the power step-up you need for every driving condition.

You just press the gas treadle - and whether you are starting, climbing or cruising, the power plant itself picks the precise power-ratio that's called for.

You cruise - you stop - you start up - and no gears ever shift, either manually or automatically. In all your normal forward driving, your pressure on the gas treadle does everything.

So the technical expert and the typical motorist get together on Dynaflow Drive.

In theory and in practice it's so far ahead that the smart move is obvious:

Chapter 23

Ted Corbin smiled the smile of a man who is pleased with things. It was an expansive smile and a stranger eyeing him for the first time would doubtless have been deceived by the Corbin smile and attributed to him all the virtues that began with tolerance and patience and Ted Corbin was neither tolerant nor pa- tient. Ever since he could remember, the Corbin credo had been one of taking what a Corbin wanted and when a Corbin wanted it.

This night Ted Corbin was particularly pleased with things even though he had had no part in creating this pleasant situation. He was gloating over the fact that George Akers was languishing behind bars in the back room of the Sheriff's office. He had never forgotten the beating he had received at the young man's hands, and now the knowl- edge that George was in serious trouble gave him a tremendous sense of satisfaction. But the fact that he had had no hand in creating the trouble irked him. . . . despite his smile he was annoyed and the longer he reflected, the more annoyed he became. What, he asked himself, could he do to increase the depth of Akers' difficulties?

There was still another reason for the smile on Corbin's face. This was a purely personal reason and every now and then Corbin turned his head and looked inside, eyed Gay behind the cash counter, and the smile on his face deepened. Women had always occupied positions of importance in the lives of the Corbin men-folk and Ted was no exception. He was certain of one thing and that was that no Corbin had ever had as pretty a woman as Gay in his grasp. He had coveted Gay from the very first time he had seen her. . . . now, without any effort on his part, she was his. Life, indeed, he mused, could be wonderful. . . . and for the moment it was. A man stopped in front of him, looked at him and waited for Ted to become aware of his presence. Corbin settled himself against the framework of the door, found the man standing in front of him, the man Corbin said, "Didn't see you come along, Dan."

"Wondered when you were gonna notice me," he replied. "Don't know that I ever saw you lookin' so dog-goned pleased with y'self, Ted." Corbin grinned broadly.

"Know who they got locked up down at the Sheriff's place?" he asked.

"Yeah, sure," Dan said quickly. "Tex Akers' boy."

Corbin nodded grimly.

"He ain't been a boy fr a long time," he said curtly. "He's a no-god killer, that's what he is."

"Understand Buck Loomis got 'im dead t' rights. That right?" Dan asked.

"There was nothing to it," Corbin asserted. "Akers needed dough and he needed it pronto. When Snediker made 'im offer fr some o' his cattle, Akers turned it down. Why? On'y because he had another way o' gettin' Snediker's dough and with- out havin' to give up a single head o' his cattle. He made out like Snediker wasn't offerin' him enough, then when Snediker left this young polecat hustled away, circled around John, waylaid him and killed him. That's all there was to it. It was an open-and-shut case if ever I heard o' one, and Buck snapped it shut right smack in Akers' face."

"I didn't have the hull story," Corbin said grimly.

"Like I said b'fore, Akers is low-down, like a snake. And I know I don't hafta tell you what t' do with a snake, Dan."

"Right."

"Wa-al, the law'll fix 'im."

"Yeah, sure but that costs money, your money and mine. It costs real dough t' put on a trial and taxes are doggoned high as they are with- out addin' to 'em."

"But we gotta give 'im a trial, don't we?"

Corbin scoffed openly.

"Why should the county hafta pay out good money t' hang Akers when it could be done fr nothing, huh?"

"You got somethin' there, Ted. Somethin' worth thinkin' about, too."

Corbin straightened up so sud- denly that Dan jerked back.

"For the youth in western Europe, and indeed throughout all Europe, there is a struggle with disillusionment following on the heels of war and occupation," says Miss Jean Fraser, of the youth department of the World Council of Churches, Geneva, Switzerland. "This disillusionment leads many young people dangerously close to total nihilism. Yet, actually, there are today in Europe few alternatives to the basic Christian gospel. The people of Europe, and particularly the young people, are confronted by three fundamental choices: a political faith; a Christian faith discounting politics; a Christian faith seeing redemption for the whole of life."

India is changing, says the Rev. James E. Boyles, Methodist missionary in Baroda, and he points to some recent government actions to prove his point: "Several women hold high public office. The Bombay Presidency, with a population of about 60 million, has passed a law prohibiting the traffic in liquor. Laws against caste discrimination, striking at the ancient Hindu practice, have been written into several provincial codes and will be enforced. In Surat a hotel keeper and his son have been arrested for refus-

Federals Watch Georgia Hunters

Atlanta, Sept. 15—(AP)—Some Georgia hunters were hunting doves today while agents of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service were hunting the hunters.

The dove, long a symbol of peace, has started a war between the federal agency and the Georgia Game and Fish Commission because the authorities have fixed different open seasons for hunting the birds.

The state has fixed two open seasons, the first from Sept. 15 to Sept. 31 and the second from Dec. 1 to Jan. 31. The federals, however, contend that these dates conflict with the federal open season for doves in Georgia, set by the U.S. agency from Dec. 18 to Jan. 31 for the state's northern section.

And the feds have brought in 30 agents and two airplanes to enforce the federal season.

Director Charles Elliott of the Georgia Fish and Game Commission says his organization will not cooperate with the federal authorities in enforcing the federal law.

The federals have won the first round. At Athens yesterday the United States commissioner placed five men, one a second offender, in bond on charges of shooting doves out of season.

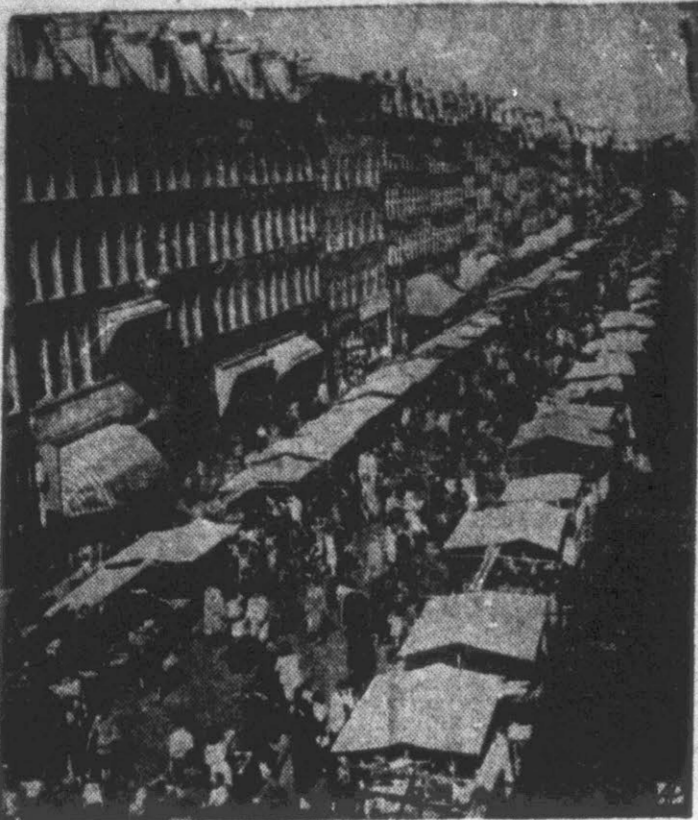

James Silver, regional agent for the national organization, said the dove is a migratory bird and is, therefore, under the protection of federal migratory bird laws.

NATIONAL GUARD DAY.

Tomorrow, Thursday, September 16, is "National Guard Day." The Greenville battery of the North Carolina National Guard will have a display of equipment in the vacant lot, formerly occupied by Curtis Perkins' store on Evans street, and members of the local artillery battery will be there during the day to give information about the National Guard.

MARKET IN HOLLAND—Business is booming in the Amsterdam "Albert Cuy" market, where Dutch buy and sell everything from smoked eel to a set of diamond-cutting tools. The open air market was non-existent in 1945.

Capt. Lester Jones Will Enter Hospital

Capt. Lester Jones, commander of the northeastern district of the State Highway Patrol, left today for Mount Alto, near Washington, in the District of Columbia, to enter Veterans' Hospital for treatment.

The State Highway Patrol commander had a meeting with the sergeants of his district at patrol headquarters at the City Hall, yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Jones announced today that Serg. D. G. Lewis of Rocky Mount will be in command of the district patrol while he is away.

SHOCKED LINEMAN ON WAY TO RECOVERY AT HOSPITAL

Richard E. (Buzz) Parker, who narrowly escaped death on a transformer pole near the Person-Garrett Tobacco Company Monday morning when he contacted a 6,900-volt electric wire while making repairs, was reported today to be improving satisfactorily at Pitt General hospital.

tumn wind in the trees. He didn't know there could be such evil persons as Hitler. He thought that right must triumph.

So the two chiefs of government met in the fuhrer's "castle" on a peak rising from the sweet valley of Berchtesgaden through which ran the trout stream which Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering stocked for himself. Within a few hours the little, old-world hamlet was jammed with correspondents from many points of Europe. Telegraph and telephone facilities were utterly inadequate to deal with the press messages. However, we managed to tell our story of the three hour conference, and I find from the files that I reported as follows:

It was clear to observers that if peace grew from the conference it would be predicted on the sacrifice by Czechoslovakia of some Sudeten territory to Germany. The supposition in informed circles was that

New Auto Styles Draw Complaints

New York, Sept. 15—(AP)—The Automobile Club of New York said today complaints have been received from many of its members about their new cars.

Harry Marienhoff, manager of the club's service department, said reports from members showed considerable dissatisfaction over body designs of new models making them difficult and expensive to repair and requiring garage alterations to house them. The reports he said, came from new car owners among the club's 169,000 members in a 14-county area that includes New York City.

"Many drivers," he said, "have found the hoods too long and the seats too low."

"This involves a safety factor, as oftentimes it is impossible to see enough of the road directly in front of the car for the operator's protection."

"Restricted vision of some of the new models, Marienhoff continued, had been found to make them difficult to park and had resulted in dented and scratched fenders. The increased width and length of some of the new models likewise has been the subject of complaints, he said, with some club members reporting they had been forced to alter their garages to get cars inside."

Chamberlain would take back a proposal relating to the annexation of Sudeten Germans by Hitler.

Time confirmed this. However, the communique issued at the end of the conversation merely said that there had been "an extended, frank exchange of views," and that there would be another meeting.

Chamberlain returned to London the next day. He was met at the airport by a big crowd which greeted him with cries of "good old Neville," as a mark of appreciation for his efforts to maintain peace. He told the assemblage:

"It was a frank talk, but it was a friendly one. I feel satisfied that each of us fully understands what is in the mind of the other."

Poor old Chamberlain—and poor old world. They were to learn in a few days what really was in Hitler's wicked mind.

Barbed Wire Is Used Against Polish Boars

Poznan, Poland—(AP)—Barbed wire defenses are going up again in Poland. But this time they are directed against wild boars, not Germans.

The boars have been causing widespread damage to crops in Western Poland, pushing their way through wooden fences. Now the government is aiding peasants to erect barbed wire barriers.

3. The loaders. They load the furniture onto the vans.

4. The haulers. They haul the furniture away.

Records of the moving section show that this was done in 1947: Trucks that moved the government around, in and out of the District of Columbia, traveled 3,330,000 miles and hauled 34,510 loads of office furniture, files and equipment.

There were 557 separate moves. Twenty-seven federal departments and agencies were involved in those moves.
