May Reconsider UN Membership

South African Delegation Attacks Big Power Policies In Organization; Berlin Problem Expected To Be Put Before Assembly

Paris, Sept. 24 (AP)—South Africa charged today that the great powers broke faith with the small nations and threatened to reconsider her membership in U. N. if there is not a change.

E. H. I. du, South African minister of economic affairs, told the general assembly that "the organization of the road to the future during the past two years, the question will later have to be faced whether consideration in our own national interests is compatible with continued membership in the organization."

He spoke at the fourth meeting of the assembly after the Burmese minister of commerce, had demanded freedom for Indonesia, and French Indo-China and had charged that the fighting in southeast Asia "is in some way due to frustrated nationalism."

Low's criticism came as the U. N. kept its back door open to receive a possible newcomer into its family troubles—the problem of the Russian blockade of Berlin.

The South African minister charged the general assembly with being used for "ideological propaganda and for poisoning relations between European and non-European races of the world."

Western power officials, reportedly expecting Moscow to turn down their latest bid for settlement of the Berlin stalemate, were said to be ready to meet today to decide whether the problem should go to the security council or the general assembly.

Russia's reply to identical American, British and French notes dispatched earlier this week is expected to be known by next Wednesday. The note is understood to have asked whether Russia intends to recognize four-power control of Berlin and to have informed the Soviet the allied air lift of supplies for the blockade city will go on all winter if necessary.

French officials reported are resigned to the eventual transfer of the dispute to U. N. They even look ahead, it is reported, to the possibility the Berlin quarrel may lead to a Russian withdrawal from the U. N.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky asserted two days ago the "United Nations may become the disunited nations if policies of some countries are followed." He made the statement during a steering committee debate on agenda.

Bodyguard For Henry Wallace

Toledo, O., Sept. 24 (AP)—Henry Wallace has a bodyguard on his present campaign trip.

He is Detective Jack Zuckerman on loan to Wallace from the New York City Police Department. Zuckerman is flying in Wallace's chartered plane and accompanying the presidential candidate everywhere.

Wallace had no such escort on previous trips including the recent southern tour where he was splashed with flying eggs.

Powerful Hurricane Is Moving Northeastward

Miami, Fla., Sept. 24 (AP)—A tricky but powerful hurricane sped up the Atlantic early today, menacing shipping off the eastern seaboard.

Still packing 75-mile-an-hour winds over a 50-mile radius, the two-fisted storm battered Cuba and Florida, picked up forward movement as it howled northeastward in the open sea.

It moved forward at 35 miles an hour after lumbering through Florida at only eight miles an hour. All shipping in the storm's path was advised to use caution and small craft was warned to remain in port.

Latest advisory from the Miami Weather Bureau placed the hurricane center approximately midway between the U. S. mainland and Bermuda. It passed 300 miles east southeast of Cape Hatteras, N. C., and was due to pass about 300 miles to the northwest of the British-occupied island.

Heavy gases covered the area from the North Carolina and Virginia coasts to near Bermuda, which was struck by a storm only two weeks ago.

The island resort took precautions against high winds. Planes flew to fields in the United States. Yachts sought shelter. A floating dock was

Hanged Himself With T-Shirt

Columbia, S.C., Sept. 24 (AP)—A man accidentally hanged himself with his T-shirt while he was removing it in a closet.

Coroner W. A. Platt said the undershirt caught on a clothes hook on the closet door and hanged Charles T. Taylor, 33.

Declare Truman Afraid To Allow FBI Testimony

House Prober Says President Fears Political Consequences Involved

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—President Truman was challenged today to let FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover "tell the truth" about espionage in this country to spy-hunting congressmen.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a member of the House-un-American Activities committee, said the administration is "afraid to let Hoover testify before the committee because of the names he would name."

"They are afraid of the political consequences," Nixon told reporters.

Attorney General Clark, who was accused yesterday of refusing Hoover permission to appear before a Senate group, denied that charge flatly. He said Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) who had made the accusation, "deliberately mis-states the facts."

Rep. McDowell (R-Pa.) the acting chairman of the house group, hoped to assemble enough members today to recommend espionage indictments against three Americans—including two unidentified atomic scientists and a "Communist functionary"—who he says helped give atomic information to Russia.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth T. Bentley, whose testimony about a wartime Russian spy ring touched off the current investigation, was threatened with a libel suit by one of the men she accused, William W. Remington, now suspended from the Commerce Department pending a loyalty check, demanded that Miss Bentley retract her charges or go to court.

Three Weeks Of Superior Court Starts Monday

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and his deputies have a big job on their hands, serving papers on witnesses and defendants for the one-week civil term of Superior Court to be held here next week.

In addition, a two weeks' special criminal term is to be held here beginning Monday, October 4.

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill will preside over the civil term. The criminal docket is unusually heavy. Seven cases are scheduled for grand jury investigation, including two charges of murder, burglary, robbery, breaking and entering and assault with intent to kill. Fifteen driving drunk cases are on the calendar for trial during the two-week criminal term, Solicitor W. J. (Dick) Bundy said.

Judge Peyton McSwain of Shelby, recently appointed by Governor Cherry as a special Superior Court judge, will preside over the special two-week criminal term of court.

Purposes In Showdown

What Was Behind Western Allies' Calling Moscow's Hand; Won't Mean Settlement Of Cold War; No Ultimatum; America And Britain Tightening Defenses

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The shirt-sleeve diplomacy employed by America, Britain and France in calling on Moscow for a showdown in the Berlin controversy is calculated to serve several purposes:

1. To make it plenty plain that appeasement is out the window.

2. To serve notice that the three democracies won't be bullied into abandoning their positions.

3. To put the Russians on the spot before world opinion as malingerers in the cause of peace and rehabilitation if they fail to cooperate.

If these purposes are truly served, then that in itself will be a notable achievement by the western powers. However, we shouldn't fail to note that this won't necessarily bring us any nearer a settlement of the "cold war" with the Bolsheviks. In fact it will be mighty surprising if it does.

We may be dead sure, I believe, that even though the Reds may make some concessions here and there as a matter of expediency, they won't abandon their world revolution for the spread of communism until it either succeeds or blows shut in their faces. There are some of us who believe it will blow up.

but that remains to be demonstrated.

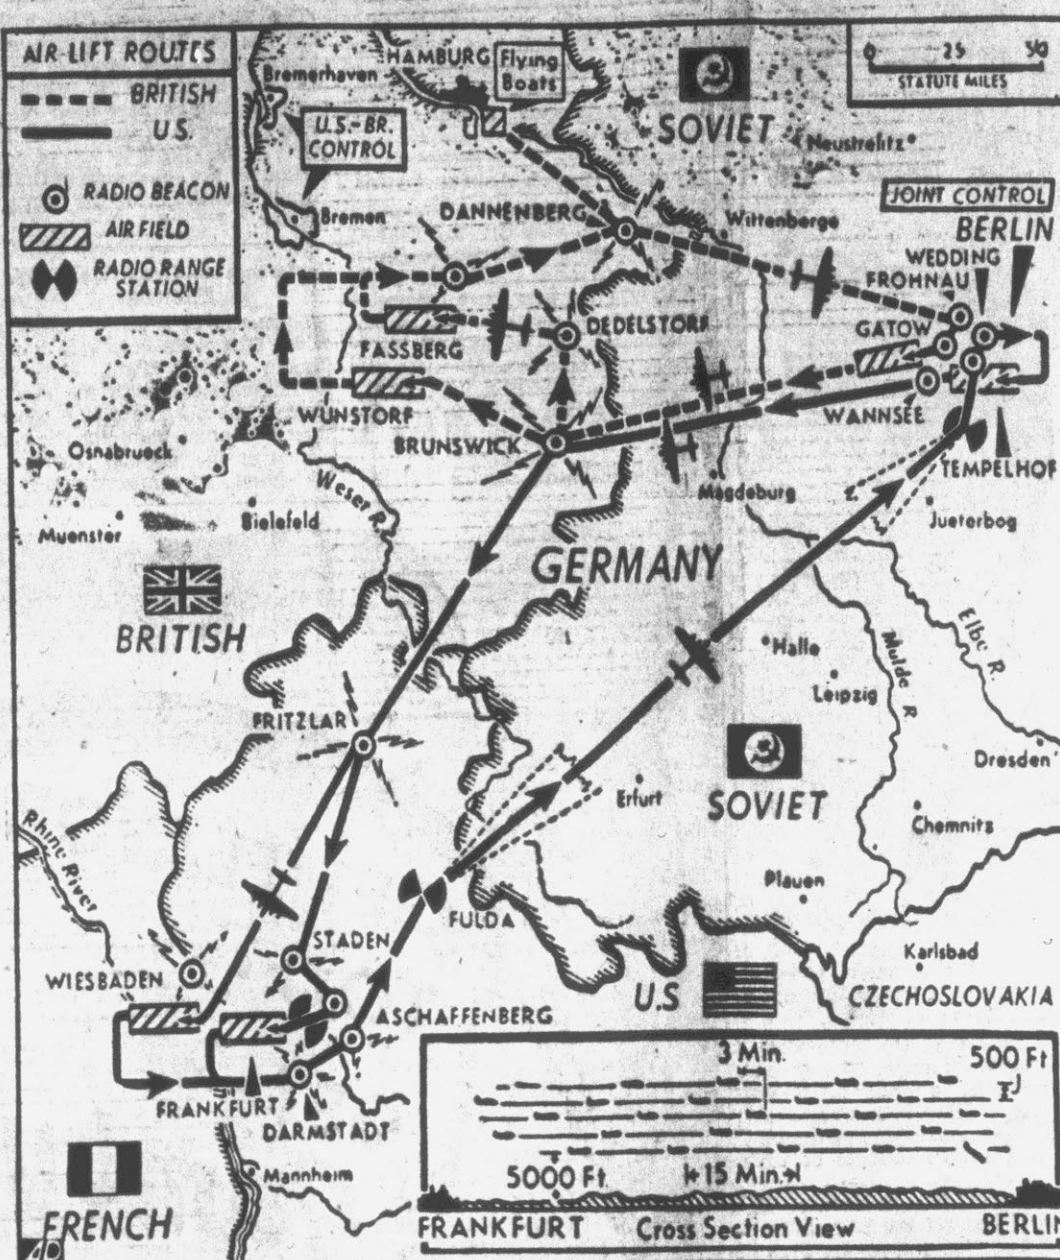

The democracies are insisting on a clean-cut "yes" or "no" answer to the question of whether a Berlin settlement is possible along lines already broadly drawn at the recent Moscow and Berlin conferences. Any settlement would involve a lifting of the brutal Russian food and fuel blockade of the German capital. The trio on their part are willing to make the concession of accepting the Soviet mark as sole currency for Berlin, providing this currency is under four-power authority.

This is not an ultimatum to Moscow, and no time limit is set for an answer. However, British Foreign Minister Bevin has said that the three powers are in "absolute agreement" on a policy of "defending themselves in Berlin" and are agreed on a policy if the air-lift fails to give the blockade capital the supplies needed.

American Secretary of State Marshall supplemented this in his speech before the U. N. General Assembly in Paris yesterday. He warned the Soviet Union that American patience should not be

How U.S. and British Airlift Works For Berlin

This map shows how U. S. and British air forces supply Russian-blackened Berlin. Most U. S. planes use southern corridor from Frankfurt to Berlin. Into it feed C-54 transports from Frankfurt's Rhein-Main airbase, and C-47s from Wiesbaden. All land at Tempelhof. U. S.-operated airbase in Berlin. All British planes and some U. S. 47s use northern corridor to Berlin, running southeast from Hamburg area and terminating at British-operated Gatow field in Berlin. British zone take-off fields are at Fassberg and Wunstorf with flying boats basing at Hamburg and landing at Berlin's Havel lake. Over the airport by radio instructions from airport control towers. After discharging loads, planes fly out of Russian zone along central corridor toward Brunswick, then separate to fly to respective bases. Inset at lower right shows how air traffic is spaced flying into Berlin. Each corridor is divided into several traffic lanes, each lane at a different altitude. In these lanes traffic is staggered to provide greatest spacing between all planes. Craft are so spaced that they not only fly at least 15 minutes apart at each altitude level but at least three minutes in front or behind the nearest plane at any level. (AP Wire-photo Map).

Hotel's Manager Is Found Guilty

Judge Roberts Gives Fines; Road Sentence Suspended

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court today, Judge J. W. H. Roberts, after convicting Evans C. Martin, 30-year-old manager of the Greenville Hotel in the center of the business district, guilty of operating a gambling house and other charges, said "It is this court's duty to close up the Greenville Hotel as a public nuisance, an abode where in all kinds of law-breaking occurs with regularity. I would close the place under the testimony in this court today, but there are 40 rooms there and people need places in which to live."

Solicitor Eli Bloom, in summing up the evidence, said "If these people think they can come into Greenville with Chicago gangster practices while I am solicitor, they are wrong, and I urge conviction on the charges."

Judge Roberts gave Martin six months on the roads for operating a gambling house, suspended on payment of $500, costs deducted. He fined him $25 in costs charging sale of beer and whiskey without license. He acquitted Martin of selling beer on Sunday. He fined him $15 for assault on Ellis Rogers.

For carrying a concealed weapon, the court gave Martin six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $50 and costs, and ordered the pistol confiscated.

Grover C. Martin, the hotel manager's brother, was not guilty of vagrancy.

Report Progress In Air Strength

Air Force Has 1,000 More Warplanes Than First Of '48

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—The United States has about 1,000 more first line warplanes active now than it had at the beginning of the year.

The Air Force made available figures today showing that on July 1 the regular Air Army, the National Guard and Air Reserve units had approximately 5,000 first line combat planes active. On January 1 the total was 4,000.

In general, first line planes are fairly late-model bombers, fighters and reconnaissance aircraft; second line planes are those not so new but still in use. Of the 5,000 "active" planes not all are assigned to units and in regular operation. The figure includes spare aircraft.

The withdrawal of about three to five B-29s from storage every week for several months accounts for some of the expansion in the active fleet. Between 400 and 500 B-29s are now operational.

The only indication of the build-up in fighter strength was an announcement several weeks ago that more than 1,000 P-51 fighters had been delivered to the Air Force since the first model went into production late in the war.

Puts Finishing Touch On Report Of School Needs

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 24 (AP)—The State Education Commission is expected to put the finishing touches today to its report on school needs in North Carolina.

The group is scheduled to meet late today in the capitol building with Governor Cherry attending.

The governor said he has been studying the commission's preliminary report since last Friday. "I've read all of it, about 100 pages," he said. "I understand they have some more to add to it before they turn their official report to me."

The commission was created by the 1947 General Assembly to study North Carolina's educational set-up and to make recommendations in a report to be submitted to the governor and the 1948 General Assembly.

A 'Niagara'

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—Lord Winterton, Conservative Foreign Secretary, called a stream today for the output of the Moscow radio and the Russian press.

"A Niagara of sewage," he called it in a House of Lords debate.

France Tied Up By Brief Strike

Two-Hour General Strike By Unions Protesting Prices

Paris, Sept. 24 (AP)—French industry and commerce ground to a halt today in a two-hour general strike of both Communist and non-Communist unions.

Paris prepared for the worst as 7,000,000 workers protested high living costs and low wages. The demonstration began at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EST).

The two-hour shutdown of electricity was not expected to affect the United Nations Assembly, in session here. Officials said the workers agreed not to pull switches on the lines feeding the Palais de Chaillot, U. N. meeting place.

Government workers joined the two-hour strike, but many remained on the job. The Finance Ministry employees seemed to have stayed on the job.

Police, whose right to strike was limited by the National Assembly last week, did not take part in the walkout.

The strike was announced before the government yesterday decided to grant a 15 per cent wage increase as a result, but there were indications some workers had little enthusiasm for the stoppage.

Ceiling Falls On Bank Employees

Charlotte, Sept. 24 (AP)—Ten of 17 women employees of the bookkeeping department of the American Trust Company were injured today when a heavy section of ceiling fell on them.

Several others fainted. Catherine Armour, a bank secretary, said the ceiling collapsed near where air conditioning equipment was being installed.

Police and firemen experienced difficulty in removing some of the injured from beneath plaster, which was torn in large segments.

Plan Draft Call

Pitt County draft board this morning received from the state selective service board notification that pre-induction examinations for Pitt County registrants will begin on or about October 11.

The communication stated the first men from this county will be called into service on or about November 22.

Chief Clerk Mrs. Selma Evans said some 75 late registrants have registered at the Pitt County board since the registration period officially closed last Saturday. She said men who fail to register are subject to a penalty of fine or imprisonment or both.

Young men who did not register during the regular registration periods are required to register as soon as they become 18 years old.

President Challenges Rival; Says Dewey Ducking Issues

Russian Anti-Aircraft Practice Is Protested

Will Fire In Air Corridor To Berlin; 'Dangerously High' Says American; No Precautions For Safety Of Planes

Berlin, Sept. 24 (AP)—Russian anti-aircraft guns plan to fire "dangerously high" in practice in the American-British air lift corridor to blockade Berlin, the Americans charged in a protest today.

The Russians also announced they would conduct bombing and fighter firing practice in the corridor, the Americans said. Asked what precautions they would take to protect traffic, the Russians said that when their own planes appeared, they would stop shooting.

Berlin, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Russians threw anti-aircraft fire into the crowded Berlin air corridor today, but didn't hit anything. The British-American air lift to blockade Berlin kept right on running.

In another development of the battle for Berlin, the U. S. military government banned all Soviet-sponsored newspapers and other publications from the American zone of Germany. This was in reprisal for Soviet banning of western-licensed publications in the Soviet zone and the Russian sector of Berlin.

Capt. V. H. Gookin of Quincy, Mass., chief U. S. representative at the four-power Berlin Air Safety Center, said the Russians posted a notice there that they intended to conduct anti-aircraft firing practice for seven hours today in the Buckeburg corridor.

The corridor is used by all American and British planes on air supply runs to Berlin. The Russians announced they would fire up to 10,000 feet near Döle airport, about 25 miles west of Berlin.

"I objected that this was dangerously high range," Gookin said, and asked the Russians what protective measures they were taking for their own air traffic going between here and Paris for the United Nations sessions. The Russian representative answered that when their own traffic came along, "We will stop shooting."

Later, Gookin said, the Russians reported they were also intending air-to-ground practice. This would include diving fire by aircraft at targets and possibly bombing practice. These operations also were scheduled at Döle, along the corridor.

While he saw no easy victory in sight, he commented cautiously: "If Dewey goes over big then the Senate should be all right."

That said it would not be pleasant nor helpful to the country at this time if the GOP won the presidency but lost the Senate.

He said Governor Dewey has not consulted him about aiding Republican Senate candidates but "has been giving them all a boost when he goes to their states."

Ives predicted that "Governor Dewey will get his share of the votes of the rank and file of organized labor despite what top union leaders say."

Fifth Polio Case For Year Found In Pitt County

Pitt County's fifth polio case for the year was added to the list today when Rex hospital in Raleigh confirmed the preliminary diagnosis of Roy Tripp Jr., 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tripp of Greenville.

The child was taken to Rex hospital yesterday where his case was described as the "mild type with no paralysis."

Dr. J. M. Barrett, acting county health officer, again requested all parents to "keep children from unnecessary gatherings until the situation clears up." He has advised school officials to continue with school as scheduled.

J. H. Rose, chairman of the Pitt County chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, said today, "All cases of polio so far in Pitt County this year have been mild and no paralysis has been reported."

A police communique identified John Griffith, former cultural attaché of the U. S. embassy here, as "head of the movement." Gen. Arthur Bertrillo, chief of the federal police, indicated an effort will be made to extradite Griffith from Uruguay, where he has been living since he was expelled from Argentina April 28.

In Montevideo, the news Pals quoted Griffith in an interview as saying the governor charge was a "fantastic joke."

The police statement named Mariano Reyes, a labor leader former congressman who broke up Peron after the 1946 presidential election, as the Buenos Aires leader of the plot. It said the group planned to kill Peron and his wife when they left the Colon Theater, Buenos Aires' famous opera house, Oct. 12.

The announcement came shortly after 15 brigades of police combed the capital picking up suspects. Two women, two physicians and three Argentine navy chaplains were among those arrested, the announcement said.

Griffith was expelled from Argentina in April with several other foreigners whom the government charged with helping to foment a bar strike.

"I figured that one out when I was maybe 21. I figured something else out, too. I figured if I ever had a family I was going to live someplace else where it was peace and quiet."

Admit GOP Has Real Battle For Senate Control

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Two Republican senators, Ives of New York and Lodge of Massachusetts, conceded today that the GOP has a real battle to retain its slim majority in the Senate.

Both of the young lawmakers are close to Republican leaders.

"There is a serious danger of Republicans being overconfident in this campaign," Ives told reporters. "I've said that right along. If enough voters stay home this could be a doggone close election."

Ives was elected to the Senate with support of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and is one of the close political friends of the Republican presidential nominee.

Republicans now hold 51 seats and Democrats 45, but 33 places are at stake in this year's election. Several are in so-called border states where Democrats often win. A change of four present GOP places to the Democrats would switch control of the Senate.

Lodge, who has been in close consultation with Dewey campaign managers, refused to forecast the Senate results, saying he "has no crystal ball."

While he saw no easy victory in sight, he commented cautiously: "If Dewey goes over big then the Senate should be all right."

That said it would not be pleasant nor helpful to the country at this time if the GOP won the presidency but lost the Senate.

He said Governor Dewey has not consulted him about aiding Republican Senate candidates but "has been giving them all a boost when he goes to their states."

Ives predicted that "Governor Dewey will get his share of the votes of the rank and file of organized labor despite what top union leaders say."

Pleads Innocent In Treason Case

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Mildred E. Gillars pleaded innocent today to a treason charge growing out of the "Axis Sally" broadcasts made during the war. She was held without bail for trial Nov. 15.

Her attorney, James J. Laughlin, objected to the trial date set by District Court Judge Matthew P. McGuire and suggested Jan. 21 instead.

"We will need President Truman as a witness," Laughlin said. "You see, he goes out of office the day before."

Claim American Behind Plot To Murder Peron

Buenos Aires, Sept. 24 (AP)—The government said 12 persons including three priests, were arrested today in an alleged plot hatched by an American citizen to assassinate President Juan D. Peron and his wife, Eva.

A police communique identified John Griffith, former cultural attaché of the U. S. embassy here, as "head of the movement." Gen. Arthur Bertrillo, chief of the federal police, indicated an effort will be made to extradite Griffith from Uruguay, where he has been living since he was expelled from Argentina April 28.

Turns Eastward After Warning Liberals Against 'Wasting' Votes On Third Party; Dewey Plans Counter-Punch In Address Tonight

By The Associated Press

President Truman turned eastward from California today with a challenge to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to "a championship fight" with no "running away from the record or ducking the issues."

Thus far, Mr. Truman said, he has "had nothing but 'double talk' and 'high sounding words' from his Republican opponent."

Dewey prepared to turn loose a counter-punch tonight in a Hollywood bowl address on the administration's handling of the Communist-in-government issue.

Mr. Truman issued his challenge last night at Los Angeles, where he spoke in partly-filled Gilmore Stadium. At the same time he made a direct bid for support from liberal voters leaning toward Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party.

Don't "waste votes," he said, on a third party which he declared is powerless to obtain peace in the world or improve conditions in this country.

"Think again," Mr. Truman said. "This is the hour for the liberal forces of America to unite. We have hopes to fulfill and goals to attain. Together we can rout the forces of reaction once again."

GOP candidate Dewey, meanwhile, told a Phoenix, Ariz., rally last night that this country must go on producing atomic weapons until World peace is secure.

To do otherwise, the New York Governor said, would "invite disaster."

But he added that eventually "we are determined that this great new force" shall be turned into "an instrument of peace—not war."

While stressing that for the present America must concentrate on the military uses of atomic energy, Dewey envisioned civilian enterprises developing it into "the greatest of all productive forces for peaceful purposes."

"The atomic age will be one of unimagined blessings or of unimaginable disaster," Dewey said. "That is for us, for mankind to determine. It may be our final choice. That choice is our challenge."

Gov. Earl Warren, the GOP's No. 2 man, lit into the "inbred" Democratic administration as one of "organized chaos."

The Californian told a Columbus, Ohio, rally last night that the Republicans will streamline Government agencies now operating in a "vast mystic mass" and "topsy-turvy complexity."

It is high time, he declared, that the taxpayer "gets a dollar's worth of service for each tax dollar spent."

Senator Alben Barkley, his Democratic rival, told a liberal party conference in New York City that his party's victory in November would mean speedy repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act and enactment of housing, social security, education and anti-inflation laws.

Repeating his earlier plea for a large labor turnout on election day, Barkley said a record vote would be "proof that Democracy is still the most vital factor in the world."

Mrs. Rodman Talmadge Spruill

Spruill-Harris
Miss Martha Harris, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Mahoney Harris, and the late Mr. Harris of Oriental, and Rodman Talmadge Spruill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Spruill of Oriental, were united in marriage Thursday afternoon, September 16, at 5:30 o'clock in the Oriental Methodist Church, with the Reverend Graham Nickens, pastor, officiating.

Simplicity and beauty marked every detail of the informal candle-light ceremony. A program of wedding music was given by Mrs. George Perry, pianist, and Mrs. Bert Titcomb, soloist. Mrs. Titcomb sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "All For You" and as a benediction "O Perfect Love."

The bride entered the church with her brother, Ralph M. Harris, Jr., by whom she was given in marriage. She wore an ankle-length original model of ivory brocade taffeta fashioned along fitted lines with Peter-Pan collar, long sleeves puffed at the shoulder and ending in tight-fitting points over the hands. Covering buttons extended down the front of the bodice to the waist. Her head-dress was a toque of brocade taffeta, the same as that of her gown, fashioned with ostrich plume and short veil. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses centered with an orchid. Her only ornament was a crescent of pearls, a family heirloom, worn by her mother in marriage.

Miss Georgie Hughes, of Greenville and Oriental, was maid of honor. Miss Jean Spruill, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Stetson Felt of Belhaven were bridesmaids. Their dresses were also original models and of identical design. They carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and wore the same flowers in their hair.

The groom's father was best man.

Welfare Department, Greenville, North Carolina.

Mr. Spruill is a senior at the University of North Carolina.

For traveling the bride wore a forrest green suit with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Spruill will be at home in Chapel Hill. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's mother and brother at their home.

Following the rehearsal Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harris, of Oriental, uncle and aunt of the bride, entertained the wedding party and friends in their home with a cake-cutting.

Loede McLawhorn Weds Ernest Cahoon

Miss Loede McLawhorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McLawhorn of Hookerton and Ernest R. Cahoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cahoon of Greenville, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, September 4, at five o'clock in the Ayden Methodist Church. Rev. Charles E. Vale, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. J. B. Frizzelle, pianist, and Mrs. Carson Edwards, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory duchess satin fashioned with a marquisette yoke edged in a ruffle of chantilly lace. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a ruby-throated orchid showered with tube roses.

Miss Anne Cahoon sister of the groom was maid of honor. She wore a gown of sky blue taffeta and net with matching mits and head-dress. She carried a colonial bouquet of pompons, asters, mums and scattered carnations tied with varied colors of satin ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Tull Edwards of Raleigh and Mrs. Owen Barfield of Goldsboro who wore gowns of sky blue taffeta and net with matching mits and head-dress identical to the maid of honor and carried arm bouquets of white gladioli tied with blue satin ribbon.

The other two bridesmaids were Miss Ruby Staton of Greenville and Mrs. Earl McLawhorn of Ayden wore gowns of pink taffeta and net with matching mits and head-dress, also, identical to the others they carried arm bouquets of white gladioli tied with blue satin ribbon.

The bridegroom's best man, Lonnie Cahoon attended as best man. Ushers were Bob Kittrell, Billy Weston of Greenville, Pete McLawhorn of Hickory, Gene McLawhorn of Ayden, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a dress of rose crepe with black accessories. Her corsage was white briarcliff roses.

The groom's mother wore a dress of black crepe with black accessories and a corsage of white briarcliff roses.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to the mountains.

On Friday evening following the rehearsal a cake cutting was held at the home of the bride's parents for the wedding party.

Mrs. Cahoon attended East Carolina Teachers College and taught this past year at Grifton.

Dramatic Club Outlines Series Of Productions

Members of the Teachers' Playhouse, student dramatic club at East Carolina Teachers College, have outlined a program for the 1948-1949 term which will include three major productions, a number of workshop plays, and a series of radio performances. Present plans outline the most ambitious program for the Players which has been attempted in recent years, according to Dr. Lucile H. Charles, director of speech and dramatics at the college. The Players' annual production for school children in this area will again be a feature of their program for the year.

Shakespeare's "As You Like It," to be presented in a forty-minute version and given out of doors on the campus, will be the first of the workshop dramas for this fall. Two special performances will be given on homecoming day for East Carolina alumni on October 18 and at a regional conference of the North Carolina Education Association to be held here October 19. Another presentation for students of the department of English and other guests will be scheduled for a date not yet announced. Tryouts have already begun for parts in the Shakespearean comedy.

"The Coventry Nativity Play," an example of early English church drama, will be given in December. Cooperating with the Players in the production will be the Women's Chorus of the college directed by Dan E. Vornholt of the music department and a speech choir trained by Dr. Charles. Plans of present include three evening performances of the play and a special matinee for children in the city schools. Rehearsals will begin this week.

For several years the Players have presented, with the help of the Greenville chapter of the American Association of University Women, a play for school children of this area. More than 2,000 young people, it is estimated, saw last year's program of three one-act plays. This year the Players will again give a special series of performances for school children. Barrie's "Peter Pan" has been chosen as the play to be given, and performances will be scheduled for the winter quarter.

A light modern comedy to be given in the spring will complete the program for the year.

International control for Samoa was arranged after a hurricane in 1889 wrecked rival U.S., British and German warships in Apia harbor during a dispute over sovereignty.

Greenville High School News

The Greenville High School half-hour launched its first variety program Thursday night from 8 to 8:30. To acquaint the Greenville citizens with G. H. S. activities a news-cast, a sports-cast, and a faculty vacation report were given by various National Forensic League members. Other highlights of school life were presented in several program features.

Plans for the half-hour throughout the coming year were enumerated by moderator Fred Brooks. He stated that the N. F. L. would sponsor variety hours, student quiz programs and forums.

Mr. R. B. Starling will continue this year in his capacity as program adviser.

Veterans' Club Names President

Keith Kilpatrick of Kinston has been chosen as president of the Veterans' Club of East Carolina Teachers College and will direct the activities of the organization during the 1948-1949 term. He succeeds Jack Hedgepath of Rocky Mount, who held the office last year.

Hedgepath will serve this year as president of the Board of Directors of the Veterans Club, a large and active organization made up of former Service Men now attending East Carolina.

When illness strikes, a telephone can be a mighty instrument of mercy. A local or long distance call quickly brings peace of mind to the caller and cheering comfort to the person called.

Small wonder then that the telephone has been called an instrument of endless services. Small wonder, too, that telephone people are proud of their industry's greatest tradition — bringing so many, so much for so little.

Strength FOR THE DAY

WE NEED CERTAINTY

There are few things which produce greater inconvenience than the necessity of being without a watch. When the strap of the wrist watch is broken, or the crystal broken on the open-face and one has to go for several days without a timepiece on his person, he finds himself subjected to an unbelievable handicap. The same is true if the mariner should leave port without a compass.

To tell us just where we stand with reference to time and direction, we need precision instruments. We are not sufficiently assured if we look up at the sun and guess the time of day. Neither is the mariner certain of his position if he has nothing to guide him but the appearance of the water a few feet ahead of his prow.

All of which, when transferred over into the realm of everyday living, and especially into the realm of religious belief, means that a man must have a pretty definite philosophy of life and a pretty deep certainty about spiritual things if he is going to get through life with any degree of satisfaction. We live in an age which scoffs at dogma. But what, may it be asked, is the matter with dogma? There is plenty of dogma in science, in business, in matters of social etiquette. Why not deep convictions and overwhelming compulsions in things religious?

Dear Sir:
I read with interest a piece in a Utica newspaper by a Commerce Department official telling of the average pay being doubled since 1929, a boom year.

Well, let's agree that the Commerce Department is right; that is, on paper. The Commerce Department doesn't come out and say that the government is getting 10 percent of these salaries in taxes one way or another, which leaves the working man's pay just where it was in 1929. And with that 1929 pay he has to pay for the high cost of living that exists today.

I don't know if that piece was put in the paper to make people think they are getting plenty to pay their bills, or not, but I guess the people are not being fooled as easily as that.

The government under Mr. Truman is the only one that is seeing boom times. You and I, and every one else knows it.

Why the average American worker can't afford to buy a decent piece of meat these days!

Around Capitol Square

HOURLS—Most lively and prolific topic of conversation around state offices this week is the question whether a nine-to-five work day will be reimposed on a five-day schedule of 8:30-to-4:30 will be continued throughout the year. A survey is being made by the recently formed State Employees Association and preliminary reports indicate sentiment of approximately two to one in favor of the earlier opening and closing hours. In regular course the winter schedule will be resumed next week.

WEEK—Discussion of working hours during the day included a good deal of talk about a five-day week for state offices. Most federal agencies work on a five-day schedule, and there is considerable support for the plan in state circles. Opposition is based upon the argument that public offices ought to be open and available to the public on all usual work days.

STATUTORY—The budget bureau, through its personnel section can fix the hours of work, but it will require an act of the general assembly to inaugurate the five day week. In fact, the law is violated by three major state offices every Saturday by closing the offices at 12:30 during the summer and one o'clock during the winter months. The general statutes now provide that the secretary of state, the state auditor and the state treasurer shall keep their offices in the city of Raleigh and "shall attend there at between the hours of ten o'clock a.m. and three o'clock p.m., Sundays and legal holidays excepted." Since these offices, like others in the state government are opened at 8:30 or nine and kept open until 4:30 or five during the week, nobody has raised the question of earlier Saturday closing. Anyway, there would seem to be little sense in legislative fixation of hours for only three of the numerous state departmental offices. All day closing without legislative authority might bring the issue to the front.

SUPPORT—A five-day bill offered in the last session of the legislature failed of passage. Sponsors of the idea claim much more powerful support now. There are two large organizations of state workers. One includes personnel of the highway department and auxiliary agencies, while the other is open to all the rest of the state departments. Governor-nominee Kerr Scott is quoted as being sympathetic with the idea, although how much force he will put behind it is problematical.

SEPARATION—On one point the governor-nominate and the two employee associations see eye to eye. In fact, Scott beat the employees to the draw in proposing separation of personnel and budget control months before the employees groups adopted endorsement resolutions. Since the functions of personnel and budget administration were consolidated in 1931 the work in both branches has more than doubled. Several new departments and agencies have been created, the number of state employees has greatly increased, and state spending has not only more than doubled but has become more complex in detail. The employee groups are said to be paramounting the idea of an independent department of personnel. With the new governor having sponsored the idea ahead of time and with full concurrence of present budget-personnel officials, it would appear the separation of functions will be achieved without necessity of what some employees refer to as "a vigorous fight." A Frenchman would say it is almost a "fait accompli," requiring only perfunctory legislative action.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—As a boy I often wondered why poor old Mr. Rockefeller never came to our house for dinner.

I mean the elder John D. Rockefeller.

His picture was often in the papers, and he looked like a nice old man who could use a good home-cooked meal. And my father, whenever he brought home a tough steak, would try to make it taste more tender by saying:

"Well, anyway wouldn't Rockefeller like to gnaw on this?"

Once I asked my father why we didn't invite Mr. Rockefeller over for a square meal sometime. My old man laughed at that for years.

He agreed it would be a polite and neighborly gesture, but explained: "He's the richest man in the world, son. Why he could afford to have a whole steer barbecued at every meal if he wanted to. But he's got a bad stomach—all he can eat is milk and crackers."

For a long time after that I felt very sorry for Mr. Rockefeller. I imagined him, seated at a long table, clad in a suit of pure gold, shining with crystal and silver. A bevy of butlers in scarlet velvet would wheel in a giant steer, done to a golden brown and one white-haired retainer would ask anxiously:

"Please, Mr. Rockefeller, won't you just taste this one?"

And Rockefeller would reply in a sad voice:

"No, James, my stomach has been cutting up again. Throw it all away, and bring me my milk and crackers."

And they'd roll out the steer and dump him in a huge garbage can, leaving him there with one hoof sticking out.

After this I could vision Mr. Rockefeller getting up from his table, still hungry, and going into a vast bedroom stacked to the ceiling with banknotes, where he despondently counted himself to sleep like this: "One million, two million, three million, four million—2-2-2-2-2."

I suppose this juvenile mental picture of Rockefeller's home life was somewhat overdone. But ever since then I have never envied men of great wealth.

I still don't. I have traveled through 51 countries in war and peace, and I can't remember a rich man or a poor man who really felt secure in terms of money. For there is always a threat to the value of money as money.

A wealthy man is always plagued by fear he will lose his money—and by doubt that wife or his friends would stick by him if he lost it.

Many wise men with riches—such as Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie—found that they got even more fun out of giving money away than they did out of making it.

Once in Rome, while watching an Italian workman cheerfully fork down his simple meal of bread and spaghetti, I realized that all my life I had been feeling sorry for poor old Mr. Rockefeller for the wrong reason. It wasn't so bad that, for all his wealth, he was forced to eat milk and crackers. The sad thing was that he probably didn't even enjoy his milk and crackers.

It isn't yearning for what you haven't got that makes you unhappy—it's dicking the simple good things that you do have. A man should always be wealthy if he has two things—the good health his animal nature requires and a human goal to work toward.

It's the feeling of working toward something that counts. As Wilma Cather said:

"Our best years are when we're working hardest and going right ahead when we can hardly see our way out. Success is never so interesting as struggle—not even to the successful, not even to the most mercenary forms of ambition."

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JEAN EADS

Washington — Nine young sun-bronzed, khaki-uniformed veterans of the new state of Israel's battle against the Arab world came to the Capital the other day. They were beginning a two and a half months' tour of some 100 American cities in behalf of the $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal to support the immigration and settlement in Israel of homeless Jews from Europe. In the group meeting at the State of Israel Mission here were five girls and four men, ranging in age from 19 to 30 years. They all had a story to tell.

There was pert and shapely Lt. Shula Friedberg, an Israel war hero at 24. She has killed at least 10 Arabs she told reporters.

Shula is a Nafis fashion designer in civilian life and a former communist in the Palestine Post. Like the others in the group, she was young—14—when she joined the Haganah, underground army which formed the nucleus of the present defense army of Israel.

First she carried messages, operated illegal communication lines, posted anti-British placards. Then at 17 she was trained in small arms and field craft. "Ten boys and I were detailed to blow up an Arab convoy on the Haifa-Lebanon road last spring," she told newsmen. "We thought the truck carried small arms."

It turned out to be dynamite. Shula said that though women and girls served in front-line combat alongside men during the early stages of the Arab-Jewish war they have been removed from such duty.

Cpl. Naomi Tulman, 20, native Palestinian medical worker, another member of the group, was captured by the Arabs at Kfar Etzion and later rescued by the Red Cross. Sgt. Maj. Niraharari-Goldstein, 23, Haifa-born nursing officer, spent three months on Cyprus last winter when the British caught her trying to smuggle Jewish refugees into Palestine from Italy.

Sgt. Rica Menache, 23, born in the Belgian Congo, left her studies at Hebrew University to enlist in Haganah last fall. She saw service as an wireless operator in the Old City of Jerusalem until it was overrun by the Arab Legion, is now attached to army intelligence. Cpl. Alisa Peneil is 22. She served with the Palmach Commando Force of the Israeli army while studying for a teacher's diploma.

Youngest member of the group is Itzhak Ben Menahem, 19, who was twice wounded while taking part in the capture of some 16 villages. Others included Cpl. Alexander Albalat, 25, who went to Israel from Budapest Hungary, to lead a Haganah company; Lt. Zerubavel Chefezt, 23, who has been with Haganah since he was 13, and Capt. Yehuda Koppel, 30, who was born in Kiev, Russia and lived in Austria and Poland and before going to Palestine in 1936. Said Corporal Peneil: "Most of us are students and what we want is to get back to our work."

Fifty-Three Seniors Of College Now Teaching In Public Schools

Seniors at East Carolina Teachers College now doing student teaching in public schools at Greenville and seven other towns in Eastern Carolina number fifty-three, Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of student teaching and placement at the college, has announced.

The registration of those who will teach during the winter and the spring quarters brings the total for 1948-1949 to 211, which Dr. Oppelt says, is the largest number of seniors to apply for student teaching since 1941. Seventy-five of these are registered for the winter, and a slightly larger number for the spring.

Approximately 30 men students of the physical education department will complete courses in teacher-training this year and so qualify themselves for positions as coaches in athletics. Last year only two student majors in physical education completed similar courses, says Dr. Oppelt.

Of the 53 students teaching this fall 37 are women, and 16 are men. All but two are North Carolinians. Thirty have assignments in the Greenville high school, where they are teaching in all departments of instruction there. Nine are teaching in the elementary grades at the Training School on the campus. One is doing work in physical education in both schools.

Assignments away from the campus include two students teaching in the high school at each of the following centers: New Bern, Bethel, Rocky Mount, Farmville, Grimesland and Tarboro, and one in Ayden. The large number of student teachers this fall has necessitated more assignments than usual outside of Greenville, according to Dr. Oppelt.

Work of the student teachers is supervised by 12 faculty members from various departments of instruction at the college and by 28 supervising teachers in the schools of Greenville and 10 in schools of other centers. All work is under the general supervision of Dr. Oppelt. Those teaching away from the campus return to the college each Saturday for a seminar in student teaching, a type of course that is required of all seniors preparing to be teachers.

Students from Pitt County who are now doing student teaching and their assignments include the following:

Greenville students teaching in the city high school: Mrs. Jean Cox Brown, French; Ann Cox, history; Mrs. Sarah Ellis Gotsinger, science; Hazel M. Harris, history and English; Marilyn Maxwell, English; and Howard Whitehurst, history and English.

Students from other Pitt County towns: James Briley, Robersonville, science at Greenville high school; Robert Alton Gray, Stokes, mathematics and science at Greenville high school; George Wynne, Stokes, physical education at Farmville; and Garland Little, Ayden, physical education at Ayden.

Twenty-three other students now teaching in the city high school and their assignments are:

Ann Beddard, Snow Hill, business arithmetic and typing; Ruby Lee Bordeaux, Kelly, English; Ruth Carroll, Raleigh, English and typing; Louise Caviness, Holly Springs, home economics; Floyd R. Collins, Cerro Gordo, science; Frances Daniels, Midway Park, business education and shorthand; Jack R. Davis, Kinston, physical education; Doris Dawson, Dunn, home economics and science; Mrs. Margaret Taylor Drake, Richlands, mathematics; Elbert Fearing, Elizabeth City, physical education; Audrey Fessor, Lexington, home economics; Alton Finch, Roanoke Rapids, bookkeeping and drama; Miriam Harper, Spring Hope, music; Juanita Herring, Goldsboro, home economics; Jesse McDaniel, Kinston, science; Elma Mae Mangum, Creedmoor, typing and English; Myrtle Paul, Pike Road, shorthand and history; Willard Pendleton, Portsmouth, Va., physical education; Dorothy Powell, Wilmington, history and bookkeeping; Barbara Reddit, Aurora, history and English; Ince Sexton, Montgomery, Alabama, physical education; Annie Warren, Conetoe, history and typing; and Dan West Young, LaGrange, history and economics.

Ten other seniors who are teaching in the Training School on the campus are:

June Bass, Halifax, grade 2; Lucille Black, Timberlake, grade 1; Jack R. Davis, Kinston, physical education; Rockie Lee Davis, Seaboard, grade 2; Patty Flowers, New Bern, grade 7; Dixie Lee Gurley, followed by Dr. Redwine who will speak of the work being done by the Baptist Seaside Assembly at Carolina Beach. The special music of the service will be brought by the choir of the Memorial Baptist Church.

Last night Rev. Stanley Smith who is a full-blooded Seminole Indian, told of the work being done with the Seminoles in Florida. The Rev. Mr. Smith is a Seminole from Oklahoma and is a missionary sent out by the Oklahoma Indians to the Indians of the Everglades in Florida.

Indian Christians, he now has a mission with 209 members of the church with many others coming for instruction. He is building a community in which there is a church, a school, and twenty-three homes in which Indians have settled. He hopes to add to this community several projects that will enable the Indians of South Florida to live a more civilized and a better life. The Florida Indians are still practically uncivilized, living much as they did before the white man came.

The services tonight will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The people of Greenville are cordially invited.

Pirates Depart Today For Hickory; Varsity Weakened

Slim Crowd Sees Twin Boxing Bill

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—A little matter of a $5,000 forfeit for a half pound of flesh stands between a Ray Robinson-Kid Gavilan rematch for the welterweight title.

If the Twentieth Century Sporting Club is able to resolve the slight differences between the two managers and make the match for an open Oct. 10 or Dec. 17 date, it will be its only profit from last night's Yankee Stadium doubleheader that also featured a 10th round knockout for Lightweight Champ Ike Williams over Jesse Flores.

A slim crowd of 15,413 rattled around the cavernous ball yard in the Bronx and paid only $885,150 into Mike Jacobs' coffers, currently guarded by Acting Promoter Sol Strauss. Even adding radio money, the gross was just over $100,000 barely enough to balance the books.

Gavilan dropped a 10-round decision to Robinson in a non-title scrap that was close enough to warrant another showing. As Sugar Ray at 150½ was eight ounces over his agreed weight in a private agreement with Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager, the Cuban dandy has him over a barrel.

Lopez meets with Robinson and Strauss today. If he insists he can have the $5,000 forfeit. That would mean no title shot. Chances are that Lopez, a wise Latin who runs a Broadway night club, will pass the five grand and insist on the championship bout.

They were singing the blues on the East Carolina Teachers College campus last night as Coach Jim Johnson's injury-riddled Purple Pirates prepared to leave for Hickory, N.C. where they will engage the Lenoir-Rhyne eleven in a North State Conference clash Saturday night.

At least four varsity starters will not be among those making the trip to Hickory.

Coach Johnson and backfield coach Jack Boone announced last night that both Bill Darby, flashy left halfback, and Buck Wilson, big offensive tackle, have been confined to the college infirmary with injuries.

Darby was injured in the Cherry Point game last Friday and Wilson sustained a knee injury in Wednesday's practice.

The other two players who will not play against Lenoir-Rhyne are Ab Williams and C. O. McMullan. Both players have voluntarily dropped from the ECTC squad.

"We're mighty thin," Coach Johnson declared after yesterday's passing drill. Johnson and Boone, and assistant Coach Howard Porter have been working hard with the Pirates all week. Twice within the week they have been called into night skill practices.

"We will be starting a freshman at left half and have a freshman to back him up," Johnson said. Michael Kovoch will get the starting nod for the left halfback post and Johnson says rookie Back Billy Smith will be the only other left halfback on the squad.

Joe Pollitt will start at center for the Pirates Saturday night. Prominski and Peel will probably get a lot of action at defensive center, Johnson said.

In the backfield besides Kovoch will be Maennle, at quarter, Wood or Bryant at right half, and Smith at fullback.

In the line, Kilpatrick and Wyatt are sure starters at tackle. The other starters will be determined by whether the Pirates kick or receive.

The offensive ends will be Tanner and Yarbrough. Peel and Worthington will handle the defensive end duties.

Offensive guards will be Lewis and Ellis. Baggett and Cockrell will play guard on defense.

The squad left this morning for Hickory where they will stage their final practice this afternoon.

Cleveland, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' front office got ready today to receive requests only—without checks, cash or money orders—for world series tickets starting next Tuesday.

All the applications must come by mail, postmarked after 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 24, President Bill Veeck announced. "If we don't win the flag," Veeck said, "we'll dump the requests in a waste basket. If we do win, we'll notify the applicants when they can come down and pay for their tickets."

ECTC Looks For Oct. 2 Opponent

The East Carolina Teachers College Pirates football team is looking for an opponent for its October 2 open date. Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, athletic director at ECTC, said yesterday that intensive efforts have been made to get an opponent to come to Greenville on the open date but that no success has been met.

Originally, the Little Creek Naval Amphibious eleven was scheduled to play at Greenville on October 2. Technicalities forced cancellation of the contest.

It was learned yesterday that feelers for an opponent have been extended to colleges within a two and three hundred mile radius of Greenville.

In the event the Pirates find no competition for October 2 they will have time for a breather before their clash with Elton college the following weekend.

Dr. Jorgensen announced that efforts are also being made to have a game here the Thursday before Thanksgiving. He said there is a good possibility of securing an opponent for that date.

Boston And Wake Forest Clash In Fifth Meeting

Boston, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Boston College Eagles will make their 1948 football debut against Wake Forest at Braves Field tonight in the fifth, and rubber game, between the two.

The Eagles hope to atone for last year when they outgained the Deacons through the game but the Southerners scored the most points.

Peahead Walker, Wake Forest coach, has installed the T formation this year because of a lack of heavy backs and Boston College has been practicing against the formation expected from Quarterback Elmer and Halfback Bill Gregame is the first college contest of the season hereabouts and the opener for Boston College which faces a rugged schedule. Wake Forest has played once, coming from behind to down George Washington.

In their five games, Boston College won 26-6 in 1941 and 27-0 in 1942. Wake Forest won 12-6 in 1946 and 14-13 last fall.

Jockeys Injured In Two Spills At Belmont Races

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Two jockeys who suffered spills in different races at Belmont Park yesterday—Warren Mehrtens and Charles H. Williams—are in a Jamaica hospital with serious concussions.

Mehrtens, veteran contract rider for King Ranch who rode Assault to the triple crown in 1946, was reported "slightly improved" early this morning.

He was in a semi-conscious condition when he was removed from the track with head injuries. Attendents said he now has regained consciousness.

Williams, steeplechase rider from Baltimore, was said to be in "poor" condition.

His health restored after a year and a half away from baseball, Joe McCarthy got the itch to return to the game. He had resigned his post as pilot of the New York Yankees in May of 1946, partly because of poor health and partly because he was displeased with the way his club was going under the circumstances created by Larry MacPhail's activities.

McCarthy boasted a brilliant record as a manager and only the right spot could interest him when the bug to return to the bench hit him. Tom Yawkey had to do a lot of selling before he convinced McCarthy that the Red Sox, properly bolstered with new and established players, could win the pennant under Marse Joe's guidance. A two year contract, calling for something like $50,000 per season, helped overcome any reluctance McCarthy had toward signing.

Marse Joe is sixty-one years old and has nine big league pennants to his credit, eight with the Yankees and one with the Chicago Cubs. He has never piloted a second division club. Even when the Red Sox were floundering earlier in the season, McCarthy seemed unworried. He was confident that class would tell eventually, and he was correct. He isn't any more popular with the baseball writers in Boston than he was with the scribes who covered the Yankees. The lads may not like his distant attitude, but they respect him for the results he produces on the ball field.

year's score was 27 to 9 in favor of Lenoir-Rhyne. It won't be as much this year, but the absence of the Pirate defensive power will prove the difference.

Feller Counts On Six Victories To Capture Pennant

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—"N-n-nervous? N-n-nervous? Wh-wh-whose n-n-nervous? N-n-not m-m-me."

Bob Feller, fresh from his most important mound victory of the year when Cleveland beat Boston 5 to 2 Wednesday night, looked up a bit abashed and broke out into a grin.

"I guess it is a bit nerve-racking, at that," he admitted. "Did you ever see another race like this one? Boy, it has that 1940 squeaker beat a mile."

"Let's see now, if we can beat those Tigers five out of six, while the Yankees and Red Sox are banging away at each other, we ought to grab the flag. What do you think? The way I figure it, if we win six more games, we're in."

"Gee, but those Tigers are tough. Then those Red Sox got three games with Washington, ugh. What is it, now, eight games to go? Boy, I wish it were over. Believe me, when this thing is over, I'm going to forget about baseball for awhile," added the big fellow.

Feller and the rest of the Cleveland athletes were en route to Detroit where they were to engage the Tigers in a three-game series. It was their last road series of the season. Some of the boys were passing the time, playing cards. Others were reading newspapers. The majority, however, were just sitting, staring straight ahead. It was easy to guess what they were thinking.

"You said a mouthful, Bob," spoke up Sam Zolack, the referee from St. Louis. "Oh for the life of a Brownie. No crucial series, no worries, no pennants," he quipped.

Football Fever At Chapel Hill On Eve Of Big Opener

Chapel Hill, Sept. 24 (AP)—This ordinarily quiet little college town is fairly cooing gridiron fever—and fervor—in anticipation of Saturday's dream opener matching the University of North Carolina football team and terrific Texas.

The dream may turn into a nightmare as it did a year ago (Texas 34, UNC 9), but few people hereabouts look for a repeat performance. A sellout 42,000 crowd will jam Kenan stadium for the battle of the bird-iron giants.

Carolina fans respect Texas, naturally, but they feel that Carl Snavelly's Tar Heels have the manpower with which to battle the Longhorns more evenly than a year ago.

With tailback Charlie Justice, the triple threat jackrabbit, and husky fullback Hosea Dodgers operating back of a big, smart line, North Carolina moves into this game well equipped.

Three Carolina coaches were in the stands at Austin last week when Texas mangled Louisiana State, 33-0. They brought back a bulky report that has been the basis for much of this week's scrimmage work.

For public consumption, they termed the T as operated by quarterback Paul Campbell and his fleet-footed mates "better, much better" than a year ago. They also tossed in such adjectives as "breath taking," "stupendous," and "magnificent."

This buildup for Texas is deserved, no doubt, as the record of the Sugar Bowl champions indicates.

However, those close to the Tar Heels feel that they have one of their finest squads and, barring injuries to key performers, that it will give Texas all it can handle.

It took North Carolina two weeks to find itself after last year's debacle at Austin, but when it recovered it played great football. Winning their last seven games after dropping two of the first three starts, the Tar Heels turned out to be one of the best teams in the land.

Chapter 3
Clapp moved toward the body
again. "Where's that manager—Greiss?" he called. A shiny-headed man poked between the curtains and came out on the stage.

"I'm just up here, talking to my people," he explained anxiously.
"Let's you come down here and talk to me," chuckled Clapp.

"Sure, Chief. Anything I can do to help."

Clapp looked down at the body.
Once it had been a male, lineage
Filipino, age twenty-five to forty, about five feet tall, approximately a hundred pounds in weight, complexion dark, lots of long black hair greased back, hands a little withered and knobby on the backs, large solid gold ring on the left one, expensive wristwatch with a gold strap, purple silk sport shirt with plastic buttons, black wool trousers with a hard finish and a neat crease, black patent leather shoes about size six or smaller.

"Too bad," babbled Greiss. "An event like this gives an honest legulous a bad name."

"In a minute," Clapp brushed him off. "What's the word, Doc?"

Dr. Stein, the medical examiner, was a young man but he looked at Clapp with old eyes.

"Died instantly. Effort was punctured by the knife blade. It went in right below the sternum up to the hilt. He took about three inches.
From the size of him, the blade probably went clear through his heart. The wound points to the left, about fifteen degrees. Anything else?"

"How long?" asked Clapp.

"Within the hour. Very little bleeding, hardly got him dirty. He's just beginning coagulation now."

Clapp turned to Greiss. "You know the body here?"

"Yes—he works here. Or, anyway, he worked here. See, Chief, we want to help you all we can," insisted the manager.

"Lieutenant," said Clapp succinctly.
"Sit down, Greiss, you may save us trouble after all. So he worked here? What did he do?"

"He took tickets as our patrons came in. His name was Fernando there. I have never seen her do anything out of the way." The pitch of his voice rose unevenly.

Clapp looked at him steadily. A spark kindled in the big man's eyes.
He rose and the pudgy manager rose with him. "Okay, okay," the detective said, "but I think I'll have a little heart to heart talk with Miss Lynn, just the same."

Greiss put his hands together as if preparatory to wringing them.
"I can tell you anything you want to know, Lieutenant. There's no use wasting your time with my cast—"
He felt the big man's eyes on him quizzically and he stopped abruptly.
"She's backstage," he said uncertainly.

"Keep her there," advised Clapp.
"I'll be back there right away."

The fat man let out his breath in a shuddering sigh and turned away. Clapp touched him lightly on the shoulder. "One other thing,
Greiss. Your man on the door—Johnny—tells me that not one of the audience left the theater before we got here." The manager nodded.

"That puzzles me. Why did a good three hundred people stick around to chin with the police? Got an answer?"

"Well," said Greiss, "that officer
that's always around this block—
Murdoch—he was here five minutes after the girl screamed."

Clapp went after his point relentlessly. "But did you send after Murdoch? Who called the police station? Who held this crowd in here till Murdoch got here and I got here? Did you?"

"Well, Lieutenant, I was going to do all those things—I wanted to cooperate as much as I could.
But that man of yours was in the house, so he took charge. He didn't have any trouble at all with the tough guys—after all, he had a gun."

Clapp asked slowly, "What man of mine?"

"Why, that gentleman up there," Greiss pointed. Clapp's eyes followed the fat finger up to the back of the house and a new spark kindled in them. He crossed through the seats of the center section and marched up the left aisle toward Walter James.

PROWLERS ON PREMISES ALARM FAMILY AT MIDNIGHT

Police were called to a home on East Fifth Street extension shortly before last midnight to investigate nocturnal prowlers on the premises. The occupant of the house said he heard the trespassers say, "This will be a tough job." Then he called police. Investigating officers said when they arrived the prowlers had left.

Greenville Women Present Charter To Hertford Club

Four members of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club attended the "Charter Night" program at Hertford last night, with Mrs. Chester Walsh, district director of the Seventh District of the N.C. Federation, presenting the charter. Members attending were Mrs. Ruth Meeks, district secretary-treasurer and president of the local club, Mrs. Nancy Howard and Mrs. Susie Webb.

Guests for the supper meeting held in the Methodist Church were members of the sponsoring club, Rocky Mount; also Edenton, and there were several guests from Elizabeth City. Representatives of the civic clubs, organizations, clubs and churches, the mayor and newspaper editor were there.

Mrs. Lawrence Towe, president of the new Perquimans BPW club, was presented an orchid by the mother club president, Mrs. Ruby Blythe of Rocky Mount.

A Story . . .

they're all living out on Long Island in a place like a small town where he can park the car outside the house at night.

"Does your kid have any fights out there?" I said.

"No. He never hits anybody in his life. I don't think he ever will."

"He's a junior in high school. Last year he got the highest marks anybody ever got in that school in second year."

"How do you and he get along?" "Fine," he said. "I told him a long time ago: 'Look. That father-son stuff is no good. If you and I can't be good friends and live like friends, none of it is any good.'"

"That makes a lot of sense," I said. "How did you figure that out?" He said "I have a lot of time for thinking, driving this cab-around. I've been driving 19 years. This is my own cab, I'm my own boss. And I learn a lot, driving people around, listening to them."

When he gets out of high school, is his boy going to college?

Yes, the driver said. He and his wife have been saving to put the boy through college ever since he was born. The boy is going to study engineering.

"We just built a house together beside the bay, me and him," the driver said. "We didn't know anything about building a house but we read all the books and magazines we could get. The boy drew up the plans. I bought the materials."

"How long did it take to build?" "Two summers, working on it every weekend," the driver said. "We have to sleep in a pup-tent outside the house till we get a roof on it. 'Now we're going to move in. We don't go to ball games. We don't play cards. We're going to build a skiff and get an outboard motor and we'll get in some fishing in the bay.'"

There are an estimated 3,000,000 habitual golfers in the United States.

Purposes . . .

mistaken for weakness. He declared the United States won't "compromise the essential principles" or "barter away the rights and freedom of other peoples."

Meanwhile America and Britain are openly lightening up their defenses for contingencies. The U.S.A. has been putting its house in order over a considerable period. England now is moving swiftly and within the past few days has slowed demobilization, launched an intensive recruiting campaign and begun a revival of her wartime civilian defense system.

But don't get any mistaken ideas from these developments. Their very openness is clear proof that they are purely precautionary and are not invitations to war. Warnings, yes, but not invitations.

Moscow will take due note of all this, and it's not unlikely will also take some heed, because the indications are that Russia doesn't want to start another major war. However, that doesn't mean she will halt her "cold war." She already has opened up a great new offensive among the nations of south-east Asia, and thus her world revolution will continue apace even though she slows down in Europe from necessity.
