

'Keep Out' Signs For Two Unions

Government Bars Atomic Bomb Plants To Unions Refusing To Disavow Communism; United Electrical Workers And CIO United Public Workers Singled Out

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The government today barred its A-bomb plants to unions whose officers refuse to disavow Communism.

This action, on the heels of Congressional charges that a network of Soviet spies tried during the war to feed atomic secrets to Moscow, stemmed from a double-barreled atomic energy commission order.

It (A) posted "keep out" signs for two specific CIO unions and (B) opened the way for official recognition of others only if they can qualify for certification by the national labor relations board.

Except at Oak Ridge, Union activity in all atomic plants has been sharply curtailed since the A-bomb project was launched. But a number of unions have been active in the hope that these curbs would be eased.

Today's new policy decision, however, ruled out any hope of those whose officers have failed to submit non-Communist oaths. These are required by the Taft-Hartley act for NLRB certification.

The unions singled out in the commission announcement are the CIO United Electrical Workers and the CIO United Public Workers.

A Congressional committee heard testimony yesterday from a self-described former Communist that the U. E. is the largest Communist-dominated organization in the United States.

The Public Workers Union, with a large membership of government employees, also has been under scrutiny in Congress. The commission itself said, as it did of the U. E., "Information is available concerning alleged Communist affiliation or association of certain officers of the union."

The commission's move to erect new safeguards against possible leaks of atomic secrets, was only one in a series of tumbling developments bearing on the issue of Red in government. Among them:

1. The disclosure by William W. Remington that he has appealed a regional loyalty board's ruling of "reasonable grounds to believe" he was disloyal.

2. Word from the Justice department that it has taken "under advisement" a request for an investigation of the way Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) has run his office.

Thomas is chairman of the House un-American activities committee. On Monday the committee charged the Truman Administration with "inexcusable failure to move against a Soviet espionage conspiracy in the United States during World War II."

The request for an investigation came from 17 New Jersey lawyers. Clipped to their petition was a file of newspaper columns by Drew Pearson, discussing the handling of Thomas' office payroll. The lawyers said they are "deeply concerned" over Pearson's charges.

Alex M. Campbell, an assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, made public the petition and said it is being studied.

3. A promise by Thomas that his committee's closed-door spy hearings will continue for several weeks with at least 30 more witnesses to be heard.

Soviet Fighters Buzz U. S. Craft In Air Corridor

American Air Officials Protest Violation Of Air Safety Regulations

Berlin, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Nine Soviet fighter planes dangerously buzzed two American supply planes in a Soviet zone air corridor today, U. S. authorities announced.

The planes were flying supplies in to Soviet-occupied Berlin from the western zones.

American air officials said they were transmitting a written protest to the Russians, charging violation of air safety regulations and demanding remedial action.

These were the latest of several recent Soviet-perpetrated incidents in the air corridors which the Americans asserted violated four-power flying regulations and were designed to harass the blockade-busting air lift to Berlin.

Last week a Soviet fighter flew dangerously close to an American passenger transport, during the last week also the Americans protested a Soviet announcement of close formation flying by Russian aircraft, which violates air corridor rules, and a Soviet announcement of anti-aircraft firing practice in the corridors to a height of 10,000 feet.

Another potential point of tension developed around Berlin today, said about 25 Germans allegedly consigned to forced labor in Russian-operated uranium mines in Saxony made a daring escape last night.

Capt. Vincent H. Gookin of Quincy, Mass., U. S. representative at the four-power Berlin air safety center, filed the protest against the air corridor incidents. He said the protest was based upon accounts by the pilots of two C-54 Sky-masters.

The pilots reported they were buzzed (dived upon) by Soviet Yaks as they were carrying cargoes to Berlin through the Hamburg-Berlin corridor. They were in-bound from Passburg, coal base for the air lift.

They said the buzzing occurred at about 11:45 a.m. (4:45 a.m. EST). One pilot said his ship was buzzed by five Yaks and the other by four. Gookin said the pilots asserted the Yaks dived down at the supply transports and around them coming within 10 feet.

Buzzing generally constitutes simulated attacks, shallow dives from above and swoops from the sides.

Truman Strikes Back At Charges By GOP Rivals

Asks For Evidence Rather Than Speeches On Communist Danger In U. S.

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Truman challenged the Republicans last night to furnish "real evidence" instead of "speeches" on Communist dangers in this country.

On a different theme, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey served notice that there will be no compromise of American principles and unity in the dispute with Russia over Berlin.

Mr. Truman, striking back at GOP attacks on his administration's handling of subversive activities, charged in an Oklahoma City campaign address that as "the unwitting ally of Communists" the Republican party has hurt national security.

The President added that the Communists want the Republicans to win the November elections because they think confusion and strife will follow.

"Utterly ridiculous," retorted Republican Senator Ferguson of Michigan who heads an investigating committee looking into the government's loyalty program. Ferguson said it is his party that has been "leading the fight against Communism in America."

Dewey, the GOP presidential nominee, previously had promised to root out Communists who "have risen to positions of trust in our government."

The New York governor laid heavy stress on world affairs in his speeches yesterday in Spokane, Wash., and Missoula, Mont.

"As a united people," he said, "we stand shoulder to shoulder with American representatives at the United Nations meeting in Paris."

"Laboring mightily against great odds to bring about a peaceful settlement even at this late hour."

"Peace today would be on firmer ground," Dewey said, "if those who may be recklessly planning war knew that—when there's a big job to be done—there is only one kind of American."

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party's presidential candidate, continued his attacks on U. S. foreign policy. In a speech in Dallas last night he urged that a fact-finding commission be set up to investigate "these recurrent war scares."

The former vice president contended that Secretary of Defense Forrestal built up those "scares"—the "Communist scare" and fear of Russia—in order to serve private interests operating in the Middle East.

Four-Day Tour

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Sept. 29.—(AP)—President Truman announced plans today to stump New York State and Pennsylvania next week in a four-day campaign tour featuring major night addresses in Philadelphia, Jersey City, N. J., and Buffalo.

The President will leave Washington Wednesday, October 6 and make his first major address at Philadelphia that night after a several hour program in that city.

On Thursday night, he will make a major talk in Jersey City and on Friday night a major speech at Buffalo, N. Y.

The last times of his speeches will be announced later, the President disclosed through his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, aboard his campaign train. Mr. Truman will return to Washington Saturday from his current 16-day tour.

Promote Sale Of Bonds This Fall

Savings Bond Program Aimed At Carolina Farmers

Ted Merrill, assistant state director of the North Carolina Savings Bonds office, was in Greenville today, arranging with County Savings Bonds Chairman, Mr. J. H. Waldrop, and with bankers, newspapermen, radio station managers, tobacco warehousemen, farm leaders and others for a 1948 Fall Farm campaign to promote investments in U. S. Savings Bonds among farmers, business and professional men and others.

This fall campaign is particularly aimed to reach our farm folks who are in the process of marketing their tobacco and other crops and who will want to save a portion of their crop dollars for their future security, Merrill said.

"A financial reserve is a very important part of the business of farming," he continued, "and the safest place for this reserve is in U. S. Savings Bonds. They draw almost 3 percent interest when held to maturity, and can be cashed in an emergency at any bank after 90 days. Unlike cash, Savings Bonds are not lost, burned or stolen and can be replaced. Series E Bonds can be purchased at banks, post offices and at Savings and Loan offices. F and G Bonds can be ordered through the banks."

"During the three-month period of the Security Loan campaign which closed July 15, more than $28,000,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds were purchased by North Carolina citizens," Merrill said. "We consider this an excellent accomplishment, especially in view of the fact that our large farm income had not yet begun to roll in."

Jets Grounded

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—All F-84 jet fighters have been grounded temporarily "pending investigation of recent accidents," it was announced today.

The Air Force made the announcement jointly with Republic Aviation Corporation which is producing 974 of the high speed fighters under current contracts.

Air Force officials declined to say what they think the trouble might be, pointing out that is the purpose of the inquiry. However, they noted there had been at least four crashes of F-84's recently, the latest Sept. 18 at Dallas, Texas.

Auto Inspection Rate Is Tripled

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Deadlines for auto inspections have speeded up the state's program nearly 300 per cent, says Motor Vehicles Commissioner Landon C. Rosser.

If the present rate continues, Rosser added, "We anticipate we can take care of all uninspected vehicles by the end of the year."

The deadlines, based on model years, were put into effect by the department 10 weeks ago.

Threaten Tie-Up Of Coast Ports By Ship Officers

Union Negotiations Carried On With No Contract-No Work Warning

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A threatened work stoppage Thursday midnight by 12,000 AFL ship officers would tie up east and Gulf coasts shipping, a union official said last night.

Capt. Charles F. May, president of the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots Association, said 100,000 seamen and dockworkers would be left idle if contract negotiations of his union are not settled by that time. "If nothing comes of these negotiations," May said, "it will be no contract-no-work."

He added that seamen and longshoremen would be affected because they would have no ship officers.

May said, however, that he was "optimistic" that a settlement would be reached. "We're not completely deadlocked," he said.

The union's contract with east and Gulf coast shipowners expires at midnight tomorrow. Negotiations on a new contract have been snarled over wage and hiring issues.

An employees spokesman said that the union's hiring clause demand would set up a "rotary" hiring system, with a union waiting list governing employment.

The union president denied that the union seeks a "rotary" system of hiring, "but we do ask the right to determine first if the man a company hires is in good standing before he is hired."

He said shipowners currently have the right to reject men recommended by the union.

The union wants a 10 per cent wage boost for mates and a "substantial" increase for captains. Employers have offered about a six per cent pay rise for all officers.

Present monthly wage rates range from $66 to $712.

Airline Protests

Reduction Move

CAB Action Described As Crippling Entire Industry

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A government move to reduce the number of domestic airlines brought a sharp protest today from the first carrier marked for possible discard.

G. T. Baker, president of National Airlines, Inc., said the Civil Aeronautics Board had taken an "unprecedented" action in ordering a hearing on whether its firm's routes and equipment should be turned over to other transport companies.

The CAB announced plans yesterday to hold hearings about December 1. It said it wants to determine whether transfer of National's routes along the East Coast will: (a) foster "sound economic conditions in the industry and (b) encourage development of an air transportation system "adapted to the present and future needs" of the country.

Up to now the CAB had not taken any initiative toward bringing about such an air line consolidation. The Civil Aeronautics Act, however, gives the board such authority, empowering it to fix "just and reasonable" terms and conditions.

Baker said in a statement last night in Miami that the CAB order "will destroy the ability of the air lines to raise capital and to negotiate with labor in enforcing safety requirements."

He called the board's action "amazing in view of the fact that this same board only seven months ago extended National's routes to include Washington, Baltimore and Richmond."

The Community Chest was established in Greenville a number of years ago as a means of eliminating duplication of effort as well as of affording some means by which the public could have some assurance that charitable contributions were being fairly and equitably divided among many different agencies.

Mr. Underwood today pointed out that the directors gave careful attention to the reports from the various agencies of the manner in which the money received from the Community Chest had been spent during the past year and weighed carefully the amount for the coming year. The board of directors determined, from the requests for funds, that a total Chest budget of $10,500 would be needed to meet the needs of the participating agencies. The participating agencies of the Chest are: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Teen-Age Club, Thrift Shop, Emergency Charity Fund, Kings Daughters, Committee on Child Needs, and Colored Y.M.C.A.

After the budget requests had been considered the Chest directors proceeded to select a Campaign director. T. L. Wagner was unanimously elected by the board. The Chest president today quoted Mr. Wagner as saying: "I cannot re-

Charge World Peace Menaced By Russia

Yugoslavia Lines Up With Soviet Russia

Position Taken Despite Break With Cominform; Mrs. Roosevelt And Marshall Are Given Ovation; Spaak Raps Reds

Paris, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Yugoslavia lined up solidly behind the Soviet Union today as the Western powers prepared to send their case against the Russians to the United Nations.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj said during debate in the General Assembly that the world's woes are due to the anti-Soviet policies of the Western nations. Premier-Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia and his lieutenants recently were denounced by the Cominform for departing from Moscow's Communist line.

Kardelj listed the differences between the Russians and the West, point by point, and put his country on the side of the "people's democracies."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt won enthusiastic response for her address in French yesterday at the Sorbonne University in which she declared free nations of the world should never compromise their principles simply to win unanimity. She is the U. S. representative on the U. N. Commission on Human Rights.

"The field of human rights is not one in which compromise on fundamental principles is possible," she said.

U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall won an unexpected ovation from the Sorbonne audience when he entered by a side door to hear Mrs. Roosevelt. Shouts of "Vive Le Plan Marshall!" filled the air as the entire assemblage rose to applaud the author of the European Recovery Program.

General Assembly members nearing the end of their general policy speeches rose to their feet in unprecedented thunderous applause for Belgian Premier and Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak yesterday when he accused the Soviets of entertaining ambitions greater than the stars ever pursued. He said the Russian-inspired fifth columns make Hitler's fifth column look like a Boy Scout movement.

Moscow Assails Criticism In UN

Belgian Premier And Schuman Target Of Controlled Press

Moscow, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Moscow newspapers today called Belgian Premier Paul-Henri Spaak a "well known agent of the Anglo-American bloc."

A Tass dispatch from Paris on Spaak's attack on Russian policies before the United Nations General Assembly yesterday said he took upon himself the "difficult mission of trying to justify refusal of Soviet disarmament proposals." The dispatch, published in all morning newspapers here, added:

"Following (British Foreign Secretary Ernest) Bevin's example, he spoke with provocative fancies inimical to the Soviet Union."

It described Spaak's delivery as frequently "hysterical and theatrical."

Commenting on French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman's speech to the U. N. earlier yesterday, Tass said "Everyone knows that in reality the conversations on the Berlin question, which lasted two months in Moscow, came to no result because representatives of the western powers stubbornly stood pat on their schismatic positions."

The morning papers carried two separate articles on British War Minister Emanuel Shinwell's favorable remarks on Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's proposals before U. N. for disarmament.

(A London dispatch said Prime Minister Attlee had hailed Shinwell over the coals for adopting a friendly attitude toward the proposals.)

The papers said Shinwell was called into conference by Attlee at Bevin's urgent request that he "be brought to heel" for his remarks.

Review Requests Asked City Community Chest

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Community Chest held its regular fall meeting on Monday afternoon for the purpose of reviewing budget requests of the participating agencies and planning the annual campaign. The meeting was presided over by Sam B. Underwood, Jr., president of the Chest.

France, Britain And United States Submit Identical Notes To United Nations Demanding Early Action By Security Council On Blockade Of Berlin

Paris, Sept. 29.—(AP)—France, Britain and the United States charged in notes handed to the United Nations today that Russia menaces world peace with her Berlin blockade.

Three identical notes demanding early action by the U. N. Security Council were delivered to Secretary General Trygve Lie shortly after 4 p. m. in the Palais de Chaillot.

The text of the American note, identical with the others except for the salutations said:

I have the honor, on behalf of the government of the United States of America in agreement with the governments of the United Kingdom and the French Republic, to draw your attention to the serious imposition by the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics of restrictions on transport and communications between the western zone of occupation in Germany and Berlin, and to point out the fact that it is in conflict with rights of the government of the United States of America, His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the government of France, with regard to the occupation and administration of Berlin, this action by the Soviet government is contrary to its obligations under article 1 of the charter of the United Nations and creates a threat to the peace within the meaning of chapter VII of the charter.

It is clear from the protracted exchange of notes and the conversations which have taken place on the initiative of the three governments between them and the Soviet government that the three governments, conscious of their obligation under the charter to settle their disputes by peaceful means, have made every effort to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Berlin question directly with the Soviet government. Copies of the relevant documents are submitted separately, in particular, attention is drawn to the summary of the situation which is contained in the note of the governments of the United States of America and the French Republic and His Majesty's government dated September 26th-27th as follows:

The issue between the Soviet government and the western occupying powers is, therefore, not that of technical difficulties in communications nor that of reaching agreement upon the conditions for the regulation of the currency for Berlin. The issue is that the Soviet government has clearly shown by its actions that it is attempting by illegal and coercive measures, in disregard of its obligations, to secure political objectives to which it is not entitled and which it could not achieve by peaceful means. It has resorted to blockade measures; it has threatened the Berlin population with starvation, disease and economic ruin; it has tolerated disorders and attempted to overthrow the duly elected municipal government of Berlin. The attitude and conduct of the Soviet government reveal sharply its purpose to continue its illegal and coercive blockade and its unlawful actions designed to reduce the status of the United States, the United Kingdom and France as occupying powers in Berlin to one of complete subordination to Soviet rule, and thus to obtain absolute authority over the economic, political and social life of the people of Berlin, and to incorporate the city in the Soviet zone.

The Soviet government has thereby taken upon itself sole responsibility for creating a situation, in which further recourse to the means of settlement prescribed in article

Push Inquiry Of Hlsa Koch Case

Gen. Clay Ordered To See If New Charges Can Be Filed

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Senate and Army Investigators pushed a new inquiry today into the reduction of Hlsa Koch's life term sentence as a Nazi war criminal.

Unless further action is taken, the widow of the Buchenwald prison camp commandant may be released next year. Her term was cut to four years by a trial review board in Germany.

Secretary of the Army Royal ordered Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor for Germany, to see if new charges can be filed against Mrs. Koch without putting her in double jeopardy—that is, making her undergo a second trial for the same offense. Among other things, she was charged originally with making lampshades from the tattooed skins of slain prisoners.

Royal acted after a closed-door session with members of a Senate investigating committee headed by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.). The army secretary told reporters he is powerless to revoke the commutation but that "General Clay has been asked to look into the whole case."

The Breaking Point

Whole Story Of Rift With Soviet Not Centered At Berlin; Covers Entire Map Of World; It Came To Head In Berlin; Seed Of Trouble Planted In 1945

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—How did our relations with Russia reach the breaking point at Berlin? The problem just came to a head at Berlin. But it's bigger than Berlin. It's as big as all Germany and all the world.

It's simply that Russia is out to spread Communism and this country is trying to block it. Except for Greece and Turkey, the Russians have managed to Communize all the countries of Europe east of Germany. The rest of Europe would be easy pickings if the Russians could grab off Germany—or get the Germans to Communize their own country. Russia's job would be faster and easier if she could get us to quit Berlin and Germany, or force us out in one way or another.

What's happening in Berlin is just the latest in a series of efforts by Russia to make it tough for the U. S. to stay in Germany.

The details of the crisis at Berlin will be explained in another story but before going into that, just remember:

The seed of the trouble was planted by the four big wartime allies themselves: the U. S., Russia, Britain and France.

That was back in 1945, after the war, when they took over Germany. They divided Germany into four zones. Each of the allies was to occupy one zone with its troops and be supreme over the Germans in that zone.

What was the idea?

Legion Auxiliary Met On Monday

The American Legion Auxiliary held its first monthly meeting since May, on Monday afternoon, September 27, at the home of Mrs. V. C. Fleming, 315 W. 2nd Street.

Mrs. Jimmie Jenkins, the president of the Auxiliary, presided over the business session. The meeting was opened by a salute to the flag, followed by the singing of "America." The invocation was given by the chaplain, Mrs. Wiley Brown. Following the recitation of the preamble Mrs. Jenkins introduced the guest speaker, Rev. H. G. Haney, pastor of the Christian Church.

Rev. Haney gave an interesting talk on the American Legion Auxiliary—How members as a group associated with the Legion should and could work for a greater democracy. The facts and ideas he gave were excellent, and the Auxiliary should profit by them.

Mrs. Jenkins introduced Kenneth Owens, a student in piano, who played two lovely selections that were enjoyed immensely by the group.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Arthur Corey, acting secretary. The treasurer's report by Mrs. Walter Cherry was read and approved. The new members welcomed by the Auxiliary were: Mrs. Serranos and Mrs. Wadell Worthington.

Mrs. T. K. Fountain, chairman of the Poppy committee, gave a report on poppy sales. Mrs. Frank Taylor, chairman of the Nominating committee, read a letter of resignation by Mrs. Jimmie Jenkins, stating that by the advice of her physician she found it necessary to resign as president of the Auxiliary. Mrs. H. R. Rogers was elected as the Auxiliary's new president.

A motion was passed to send $10.00 monthly to Fayetteville Hospital to be used according to their needs.

The national convention of the American Legion Auxiliary, to be held in Miami, Fla., in October was discussed. A motion was passed to present past president pins to the Auxiliary presidents.

Led by Mrs. James Worsley the group gave a standing vote of thanks to Mrs. Jenkins for a splendid year's work. After the meeting adjourned a delightful ice cream course was served with coffee.

The assisting hostesses were Mesdames Hoover Taft, John Horne Luther Bowling, Wiley Brown, and F. V. Johnston.

Heavy Rainfall

From 8 a.m. yesterday to 8 a.m. today one and one-half inches of rain fell in the Greenville area. Rain up to 11 a.m. today brought the total rainfall in September up to 3.57 inches. Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer here for the U.S. Department of Commerce, reported.

Lowest temperature last night was 57 degrees. The official thermometer registered 70 at 8 a.m. today. The mercury was falling at noon during a drizzling rain.

Local Masons To Honor B. B. Sugg

On Monday night, October 4th, at 8:30 p.m., the members of Greenville Lodge No. 284, AF&AM, will gather to pay tribute to Mr. B. B. Sugg for his outstanding achievement in connection with the erection of the Masonic Temple, on the corner of Fifth and Pitt Streets.

Shortly after the dedication of the Temple on March 18, 1947, by the officers of the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina presided over by then Grand Master William J. (Dick) Bundy, Mr. Sugg accepted the appointment of Master Linda A. Stokes to become the chairman of the Building Fund Committee. The task before this committee was that of raising the huge sum of money necessary to liquidate the debt incurred during the construction of the Temple. Mr. Sugg began his work quietly, but purposefully.

Unwilling to leave a task half completed, Mr. Sugg continued his work during the early months of 1948 at the request of the present Master Herman W. Hardee, until he was able to report to the Master that his duty had been performed. The culmination of his efforts was reached on May 5, 1948, when the Master of the Lodge and the Grand Master of Masons of North Carolina, Maxwell E. Hoffman, together with Mr. Sugg and representatives of the affiliated Masonic bodies of Greenville participated in the ceremony of burning the mortgage. Thus marking the first time in recent years that the Masonic Lodge of Greenville owned its own home free of all debt and incumbrances.

Mr. Sugg modestly refuses to take any portion of the credit for this outstanding accomplishment, preferring that it go instead to the members of his committee and the members of the affiliated Masonic bodies for their generous contributions of their time, efforts and energy. But without his own untiring labor, perseverance and patience to inspire them, their efforts could not have met with such great success in so short a period of time.

A plaque commemorating the study as the B.B. Sugg Lounge will be dedicated during the supper meeting preceding the Stated Communication of Greenville Lodge No. 284, AF&AM, Monday night, October 4th. The supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. and all Masons are invited to attend this supper to join in paying honor to their most worthy brother.

At a similar meeting on August 2, 1948, the dining hall of the Temple was dedicated as the Fred M. Stokes Dining Hall as a tribute to his outstanding work as architect during the building of the edifice.

Comedian Presents Program Thursday

Charles (Bubbles) Brown, widely known radio entertainer, and Emma Blue, his starring partner, will put on a program at Cotanche Street Park Thursday afternoon at 4:30. It is planned to organize recreation clubs among the boys and girls of Greenville. Brown has had extensive experience directing recreational work among young people. Alderman Heber B. Tripp, chairman of the Parks and Playgrounds committee, said, Brown, a talented impersonator of characters and voice, will give a demonstration Thursday. If it rains, the entertainment will be postponed until Friday afternoon at the same time.

Temporary Officers Named To Vacancies In Student Gov't

Dorothy G. Powell of Wilmington, senior at East Carolina Teachers College, has been appointed to serve temporarily as student treasurer at the college; and George Lassiter of Goldsboro to fill temporarily the position of first assistant treasurer. The appointments were made by Charles Connor of New Bern, president of the student government association, and were approved by the student council of the college. To fill the two positions which were left vacant when the officers elected last spring failed to register for the fall quarter, an election will be held late in October.

The student treasurer is manager of student funds at the college; and the assistant treasurer acts as director of the student budget office and chairman of the student budget committee, which allocates funds to campus organizations. Both Miss Powell and Lassiter are specializing in business education and the social studies at the college.

Folk Music In State In 'Still Alive' Says Vornholt In Lecture

Dan E. Vornholt, faculty member of the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College, spoke Monday evening on North Carolina folk music at the first meeting for the school year of the Faculty Lecture Club. Approximately 50 members and guests were present.

"Folk music is still alive in this state," said Vornholt. A series of recordings of both secular and religious types of music still sung in the mountain districts of the state. Among these were selections recorded by Mrs. M. N. Posey of Greenville, who sang ballads learned near Crossnore, N.C., and religious songs by singers living near Toxaway.

Lucy Nulton, chairman of the program committee of the club, announced that other speakers for the fall quarter will be Wendell W. Smiley, East Carolina librarian, who will talk on developments in printing, and F. W. Picklesimer, chairman of the department of geography, whose topic will be the "Bright Leaf Tobacco Belt." Dr. M. N. Posey, club president, welcomed a number of new members into the organization.

Christian Youth Fellowship The meeting on September 19 opened with a short devotional by Bettie Sue Harris, after which the program began. Arturo Andrade read a passage about sincere worship followed by a speech about young people's recreation by Billy Tucker. Then there was a brief discussion about the theme for the C. Y. F. program, "Accentuate the Positive" and about the recreation plans for the C. Y. F. group, committees were selected to help put forth this theme. As there was no more business the meeting was ended with the benediction.

The program on September 26 began with a prayer and responsive reading led by Louise Batson. The committees chosen last week gave their reports, after which the guest speaker was introduced. The speaker, Mr. William Haney, son of Dr. and Mrs. Haney, spoke on "The Young People of Today or the Adults of Tomorrow," which brought about active discussion by the group. The speaker then summarized the general attitude of the young people toward political and social affairs of today which was followed by the benediction.

Weatherman Says Rains Exhausted

By the Associated Press The weatherman said you can put your raincoat away tonight. It will warm up today and the rain will stop in the Carolinas, he predicted. The only exception was seen in coastal areas, where the rain might linger until tomorrow morning. And it will be cooler in the eastern portion of South Carolina tonight. Drenching rains came to many Carolinas cities yesterday and this morning.

Initiate Three New Members Into Delta Chapter Of Society

The Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national society for women teachers, initiated three new members last Saturday afternoon and held a dinner meeting, at which Miss Genevieve Faucher of LaRedoute, Algiers, now a graduate student at the University of North Carolina, told of her experiences as a teacher in her native country. The chapter includes the eastern counties of Pitt, Beaufort, Craven, Hyde, Carteret, and Pamlico.

Marguerite Z. Austin, member of the foreign language department at East Carolina Teachers college; Mrs. Herman Baker of the Fountain school; and Mrs. D. M. Clark, teacher in the Training School on the college campus, became members of the chapter. Elizabeth S. Walker, of the East Carolina library staff, president of the Delta chapter, presided at the initiation ceremony and welcomed new members into the organization.

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE CHURCH IN THE WORLD
All attempts in the interest of tolerance and broadmindedness to make the Church like the world are contrary to the original idea of the Church. The Holy Spirit came upon a group of disciples already separated from their fellows by their allegiance to the crucified and risen Jesus, and by constituting them a Church intensified this already existing separation. The Church is supposed to be made up of persons who are in the world, yet not of it; who do not separate themselves from the affairs of the world, but try to carry the Spirit and purpose of God into these affairs. The Church increases its power over men's lives to the extent that it emphasizes this separation, and it weakens itself when for any reason it seeks to identify itself with the purposes of the world.

This does not mean that the Church is supposed to be a society of people at bitter enmity with the people and enterprises not included within its bounds. It simply means that the Church is holy, purified, and set aside by God to the end that it may render Him a complete and unflinching service. The Church must always be alert to rebuke the world's aims, as well as to heal its moral diseases and to comfort its sorrows.

WUO TALK—Since the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary political candidates in North Carolina have been talking about the "mud tax" levied against rural people. It was a favorite political fetish of the house and buggy days and is more provocative now solely because the range of travel has widened. Will Elitohin talked about it in 1906. Locke Craig argued against it in 1912. Walter Bickett eloquently pleaded for its elimination in 1916. Cameron Morrison pronounced it in 1920. Wilton McLean continued the fight in 1924. Max Gardner made it a cardinal plank in his 1928 platform. Ehringhaus and Hines and Broughton expanded both talking and action through their respective administrations. Each and every one of these governors sponsored movements that resulted in lessening muddy roads in the state.

PROGRESS—During the Bickett term the first state highway commission was set up. Under Morrison the real building program began. Gregg Cherry in 1944 advocated larger share of state road money for secondary and county roads, and during the past three years more work has been done in this field than at all the time before. Even so the job hasn't been completed. Now Governor-nominee Kerr Scott proposes further efforts toward making every main route, school bus and farm-to-market-to-church road of all weather type. The program involves no change in ideology, but does switch emphasis from inter-state highways to neighborhood roads.

LIMITATIONS—There are limitations on what the state can do for these community roads, because of the rapidly widening scope of activity on part of the average citizen, the value of out-of-state tourist travel—which is now the second biggest "cash crop" in North Carolina, and restrictions placed on federal-aid highway money.

FEDERAL AID—It has been many times pointed out that North Carolina, despite the large sums of federal aid for highway construction, has not gotten back anything like as much as the state has contributed to the federal public roads administration. The federal government is interested in and is willing to help pay for a good road from Richmond to Atlanta, or from Norfolk to Chattanooga. The federal government is not interested in and will not help pay for a road from Podunk to Dogpatch.

EMPHASIS—There are many people who believe that the seductive lure of federal money has influenced the state in putting too large a part of its own funds in the main highways. This group, and Kerr is its leading exponent, thinks time has come to change the emphasis to local roads. No sane person believes that all primary highway construction will be stopped or that North Carolina will forfeit all or a major part of the millions it pays into the federal road program.

UNBALANCE—Few will attempt to deny that some phases of the public road construction program

Boyle's Column

BY HAL BOYLE
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., (AP)—New England is old America. I met a mythical man who lives in a small town here, and I asked him: "Tell me about New England." And he said, "What do you want to know?"

"Oh, just what kind of a country it is and what the people are like." "Well," said the man, "I'll do the best I can to oblige you, but really you came to the wrong man. I'm a stranger myself—only lived in this town twenty years."

"And you call yourself a stranger?" "I don't," said the man. "But my neighbors do. You know up this way a stranger is a fellow who lives in the next village. Nobody's a card in New England—but everybody's a character."

"Well, it certainly looks like a wonderful country to raise children in," I ventured.

"It's a better place to raise ancestors," said the man. "You'll never get ahead here without ancestors, we collect ancestors like other people collect stamps. If my son got a Congressional medal of honor at St. Lo—which he didn't—that still would not wipe out our family stain."

"What stain?" "My great-grandfather," said the man morosely, "overstepped and got to Bunker Hill after the battle was over."

have gotten out of balance. Nearly every municipality in the state has registered protest because the highway commission and the general assembly have not made provision for maintenance of public roads just because they are designated as streets within the corporate limits of towns and cities. Similar complaint has been heard from the back country regions not traversed by through travel. Town sections on the wrong side of the railroad tracks and rural areas described by Alabama's Governor Jim Folsom as "the brand-head neighborhoods" have not received the attention accorded to primary highways between big cities. There is rather general agreement that time has come to bring the public road system into more nearly perfect balance by devoting larger part of the total highway funds to these roads.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—In the midst of cabbages and raw fish, pigs' knuckles and potatoes, a group of local artists are exhibiting their wares as the Greeks and Romans of old displayed their talents in the market place.

"Where gourmets and art lovers meet" is the slogan of the Center Market City, which this year for the second time has encouraged the exhibition of capital talent in the midst of a solid acre of food.

While folks shop for kippers and roasts, cheese and scallions, they may catch a bit of culture by looking over some 500 pieces of ceramics and glass sculpture, the work of some 72 local craftsmen.

With its 60,000 square feet of floor space the market was opened January 14, 1945, with a "promenade concert" given for the benefit of the families of those killed or injured while working on the building. William Jennings Bryan and William McKinley, wrestling for the presidency in 1896, are said to have been drawn the largest crowd yet gathered in Washington to the second floor of the market—48,000 persons. Mrs. Leslie Carter, in "Mme. Du Barry," drew the largest theater audience in Washington when the play was staged there. Held in the market place were roller-skating, food and auto shows, athletic meetings, a Masonic Fair and even evangelical meetings led by Billy Sunday and Dwight Moody.

Seven presidents shopped here. William Howard Taft toured the aisles for his oysters, roasts and eggs. The second Mrs. Woodrow Wilson shopped at the market long before she became first lady. The Coolidges, Hoovers and Roosevelts were regular customers.

George Thomas Robertson, 90, a fruit and vegetable dealer at the market for 75 years, can remember when pork was five cents a pound and bacon ten cents. Michele Fiore, 32, who began working there under his grandfather 20 years ago, is still paying $5 a month for a stall his ancestor signed for on a 99-year-lease in 1875.

Owners say that "next to our deservedly famous Washington Zoo, the exciting panorama of this market is the best show in town." They also point out that with the added attraction of objects d'art they are doing a fine business.

Pitt County Association For Blind Files Annual Report On Services

By CHESTER WALSH

The Pitt County Association for the Blind, organized in September, 1943, under sponsorship of the Greenville Lions Club and with the untiring activity of Frank M. Brown, and others, has been the "Good Samaritan" to the near-sighted and the sightless, the record shows. Brown was president of the Lions Club when the association was organized. The association was largely influential in having established here for several years the State Center for the Blind for training those, white and colored, with defective vision.

The annual report is a dramatic document. It contains much of human interest, and reminds that "we are our brothers' keepers."

In the meantime members of the Greenville Lions Club are soliciting funds for the worthy cause. The drive will continue through this week. Those friendly to the good work may donate a dollar or any other amount they can afford.

Following is the report:

The following is a summary of services rendered to blind and visually handicapped persons of Pitt county during the past year. These services have been made possible by the Pitt County Association for the Blind in cooperation with the Pitt County Welfare Department and other interested organizations.

Prevention

Two hundred and thirty-five indigent persons were given eye examinations under the services of the State Commission for the Blind, forty-two of whom were removed from the classification of blindness.

One hundred and sixty were assisted in getting glasses.

Eighteen were given eye operations, and operations were planned for sixteen others.

Twenty-one were given treatment. The Pitt County Association for the Blind assisted fifteen needy persons in paying for glasses. The amount paid by the Association for glasses was one hundred and seventy-two dollars and thirteen cents. The association also paid seven dollars for medicine for one person.

The Greenville Lions Club assisted twenty-nine needy persons in paying for glasses. The amount paid by the Club for glasses was one hundred and sixty-two dollars and seventy-eight cents. The Club also paid seventy dollars on hospital bills for two persons given eye operations. The doctors performing the operations gave their services without charge. The club paid nine dollars and ninety-six cents for multiple vitamins for a school child who had almost lost her vision as a result of vitamin deficiency.

The Ayden Lions Club assisted three persons in paying for glasses and assisted one person in paying transportation to the hospital. The amount paid by the club was twenty-six dollars and thirty-one cents.

Other persons referred for medical eye care were visited and found to be able to pay for their own examinations. They were given names and addresses of ophthalmologists and assisted in planning for medical eye care at their own expense.

Ophthalmologists of Pitt county have given generously of their time and service in making it possible for needy persons of the county to receive the medical eye care which they need.

Adjustment and Personal Services

Two hundred and forty blind persons of Pitt County were visited regularly in their homes by the case workers for the blind and were assisted in making a better adjustment to the problems of blindness. Their relatives were instructed in ways of helping them to adjust.

Thirty-six persons were given white walking canes.

Seventy-one were assisted in securing general medical care.

Fifty-four were given clothing. One was given a mattress.

Twenty-six were assisted in arranging transportation to doctors and hospitals.

Fourteen were given garden seed by the Pitt County Association for the Blind.

Sixteen were given Christmas baskets by the Greenville Lions Club.

Nine were given Christmas baskets by the Ayden Lions Club.

Other for the blind and were assisted in making a better adjustment to the problems of blindness. Their relatives were instructed in ways of helping them to adjust.

Twenty-one persons were given instructions in Braille. Persons interested in reading were assisted in securing Braille books and magazines.

Nine persons were assisted in making application for talking book machines. They were assisted in securing recordings of books and magazines for the machines.

One blind child was assisted in making application for admittance to the State School for the Blind. Twelve children from the county attended the school during the past year.

A Pitt county girl graduated from the State School for the Blind in the spring, and plans are being made to send her to college this fall.

Three persons were sent to the Pre-Conditioning Center for the Blind for training.

Home Industry and Employment

Fifty-eight persons were given instructions in weaving, crocheting, sewing, chair caning, leather work, and plastic work. They were assisted in finding a market for their hand-made articles.

Material was secured for them through a revolving fund of one hundred dollars set up by the Greenville Lions Club and a revolving fund of fifty dollars set up by the Ayden Lions Club.

Six persons were assisted in finding employment through the Rehabilitation Department of the State Commission for the Blind.

Economic Relief

Eighty-three blind persons financially unable to care for themselves were assisted by the Pitt County Welfare Department through aid to the blind grants in paying for food, clothes, shelter, fuel, and other necessities. They were visited regularly in their homes by the case worker for the blind to determine continuing eligibility for aid to the blind and were given specialized case work services. Aid to the blind grants are Six new 4-H clubs were organized in Pitt county during September. There were junior and senior clubs organized at the Farmville, Bethel, and Stokes schools. These clubs included students interested in 4-H work from the 6th grade through the 12th grade.

Other 4-H club meetings held during September included: Belvoir Junior and Senior Clubs; Pactiva Senior Club; Falkland Junior Club; Fountain Junior Club; Chiod Junior and Senior Clubs; Grimsland Junior and Senior Clubs; and Bell Arthur Junior and Senior Clubs. This now makes a total of 17 active 4-H clubs in Pitt County.

This first 4-H meeting of the school year was more or less an orientation meeting. W. H. Pruden, assistant farm agent, discussed the history of 4-H work in North Carolina; the 4-H club organization (including the local, county, state, and national organization); and special activities that only 4-H members enjoy (camp, 4-H short courses, etc.). Miss Marjorie Shearin, assistant home agent, discussed projects (importance and selection), records of project activity, requirements to complete a year of 4-H club work, and awards to 4-H members. The awards to club members satisfactorily completing a year of 4-H work is a certificate stating such. The medal awarded to club members in Pitt county doing outstanding work in each project throughout the year were shown and discussed.

This program should do much to each 4-H member in acquainting him with his own organization. It should show him his part in club work, his responsibility to his local club, his goals, and his local club's responsibility to his county 4-H organization.

Essay Contest On Prevention Of Fires

Students in the city junior high and high schools will compete in an essay contest on fire prevention in connection with the fire prevention campaign which will get underway in Greenville next week.

High School Principal O. H. Dowd said the essays will be written in connection with work in the English classes. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 are being offered by the Chamber of Commerce in junior and senior high school and in the Eppes school for the best original essays on fire prevention written during the contest.

Each student participating in the contest will be required to conduct an inspection of his own home and fill out a home fire inspection blank, Dowd said.

Cleveland Takes Two-Game Lead Over Runner-Up Pair

Massacre Chicago 11-0 While Red Sox And Yankees Lose Games; Indians Now Hold Almost Insurmountable Advantage

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Indians may be a vanishing race but you couldn't tell it in the baseball world today.

Led by Manager Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland team party appears a leadpipe cinch to clash with another species, the Boston Braves, for the 1944 World Series wampum.

Boudreau's Tribe enjoys a commanding two-game lead over the runner-up Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees in the American League pennant fight with all of the contenders having only four games left to play.

The Indians gained this almost insurmountable lead last night by massacring the Chicago White Sox, 11-0, after the Red Sox and Yankees were ambushed in the afternoon, 4-2 and 5-2, respectively, by the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics.

The Indians can now down their first flag since 1920 by winning three out of their remaining four games. Should they divide the four games the Red Sox or Yankees by winning all of their four could only tie the Indians for the pennant. The fact that two of the runners-up remaining games are against each other lessens the possibility of one of them sweeping four games.

The fact that two of the runners-up remaining games are against each other lessens the possibility of one of them sweeping four games.

The Indians supported Bearden's slay job with a 13 hit attack that included homers by Dale Mitchell and Allie Clark. Mitchell opened the game with a homer off southpaw Bill Wright.

Rae Scarborough and Carl Schell were the boys who put a crimp into the flag hopes of the Red Sox and Yankees.

Scarborough chilled the Sox on six hits in picking up his 14th victory for the seventh place senators. The Senators hammered starter and loser Joe Dobson for four runs in the second inning and Scarborough coasted the rest of the way.

Clever People

Boston, Sept. 29—(AP)—Clever people these Southworths.

The Boston Braves management received an application for a World Series ticket yesterday purportedly from one-year-old William O. Southworth of Salem, Ohio. Attached was a picture of young Billy sitting in his baby-walker.

Billy Southworth, Braves manager, took one look at the smiling toddler—incidentally no relation to the Tribe's boss—and ordered that one ticket be sent to him when his money order is received.

Southworth suspects the money order will come from the baby's father—but he couldn't deny the tot's smile. Billy, himself, hails from Sunbury, Ohio.

Two Foreigners Still Remain In Pacific Tourney

Los Angeles, Sept. 29—(AP)—Eric Sturges of South Africa and Adrian Quist, Australian veteran, are the only foreign competitors still in the Pacific Southwest Tennis tourney going into the quarterfinals.

Sturges defeated Geoff Brown, Australia, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, and Quist conquered George Richards Montebello, Calif., 6-6, 6-2, 6-2, in third round play yesterday, which saw upsets galore.

Chief victim was Czech ace Jaroslav Drobny, who fell before Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4. Quist's problem is complicated by the fact he meets top-seeded National Champion Pancho Gonzales today. Gonzales toyed with England's Tony Mottram, 6-2, 6-0.

OFFERED: $500
Chapel Hill, Sept. 29—Nomination for the most honest student at the University of North Carolina: the gatekeeper who turned down an offer of $500 from a fan to pass him and his wife in the Texas game. The man pulled out his bankroll. The student said no.

Sam Baugh, Washington Redskins' passing star, has been playing football for 20 seasons—four in high school, four in college and 12 in the National Football League with the Redskins.

Lions Get Behind School Athletics

Members of the local Lions Club yesterday began their campaign to sell between 400 and 500 season passes to Greenville high school home sports events for the school year.

The Lions have undertaken the project to provide money for Greenville high school to continue its athletic program. Last year, due to the electric power situation in Greenville, the high school football team was able to play only one home game, and as a result suffered a great loss in gate receipts and was much in debt at the end of the season.

No tax money is provided for carrying on the school athletic program.

Season tickets on sale will entitle the holder admission to 22 home games of Greenville high school during football, basketball and baseball seasons. The tickets will cost $5.50 and are so numbered that several admissions may be had to a single contest.

The Student Council of the high school is sponsoring a sale of similar tickets to students for $3.50.

In a statement, O. E. Dowd, high school principal, said, "We hope the people of Greenville will support our athletic program financially. The only money for our athletic program comes from gate receipts; no money for athletics comes from taxes."

The Lions Club has also undertaken a project to buy an electric scoreboard for the high school gym to be used during basketball games.

Eight Thousand Tickets Unsold

Wake Forest, N. C., Sept. 29—Contrary to the rumor in some quarters that there has been a virtual sell-out for the North Carolina game here October 9, Athletic Director Jim Weaver announced today that there are still approximately 8,000 tickets available for this game.

Weaver also announced that there is also around 8,500 tickets still available for the Homecoming Day game with N. C. State here on October 30th.

Pitching Prospect

Whatever Leo Durocher has not accomplished in the way of improving the New York Giants since he succeeded Mel Ott as manager of the club, one thing is certain—he had the right method of handling Monte Kennedy. The young southpaw is shaping up as the best left-hander to serve them up for the Polo Grounds since the days when Carl Hubbell was in his prime.

Kennedy came to the Giants in 1946 with very limited experience in organized baseball, a total of 17 games. He was an Army product and the Giants gave up $25,000 for his contract after Mel Ott had approved the deal. Monte won nine games while losing ten and showed a promise of future greatness that season. Last year he won the same number but was charged with a dozen defeats. He was erratic in training camp the past spring so the Giants shipped him off to Minneapolis in hopes that he would regain his old form. Shortly after Monte tossed a no-hitter against Louisville, the Giants recalled him from Minneapolis.

Used in relief roles, Kennedy was no ball of fire. Ott couldn't do much with him. And for a while after moving to the Polo Grounds, Durocher was baffled by Kennedy's inability to win. Then he concluded that Monte could win if he would stand up there and fire away with his fast ball. The soft stuff went out. And to make certain that Monte followed orders, Durocher threatened to fine him for every let-up pitch. That did the trick, and Kennedy has showed amazing improvement in every start.

Comes From Auburn

Brooklyn, N. Y., (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers football coach Carl Voyles, in his first year as a professional coach, came to the All-America Conference from Auburn where he coached from 1943. He previously served at William and Mary for four years. In his last year at W and M, his team lost only one game.

Little Longhorn

Austin, Tex., (AP)—For the fourth straight year, tiny Byron (Pup) Gilly holds the title of the University of Texas' smallest football player. Gilly runs the scales up to 149 pounds in uniform. The largest in 1943 is mountainous Bud McFadin, a 239-pound sophomore lineman.

Gridiron Gossip

By "BOO BOO" BUTLER

Charlie Justice was ranked by the Sports of International News Service as "The Gridiron Hero of the week." "Choo Choo" was a big factor in four of the five Carolina touchdowns against Texas. Hailing from Asheville and only tipping the scales at 165 pounds, the 5-foot-10 inch Junior has been noted for his passing, kicking and running ability for the past two years. His total averages for 1947 were:

Attempted passing—50, completed 37, intercepted 5, Total 380 scoring points 6.
Rushing: 135 gained 472, lost 124, net gain 548, Av. 4.05.
Punting—No kicks 61, yards, 2,338, Average 41.6.

O-O-O
The ECTC Pirates went to light gear and indoors yesterday because of rain. Coaches Boone and Johnson ran the boys through their plays. Boone remarked that there were still several of the boys that didn't know the plays and this was a good time to learn them. When asked what he thought of shifting tackle Berman to guard, "Well Lenoir-Rhyme was on the goal line three times Saturday night, and he was sent in as guard to hold them, and he did." "He and Tanner deserved the Linemen of the Week award because they both played a darn good ball game," he said.

O-O-O
Johnny Smith, the Pirates first string fullback has scored both of the touchdowns they have managed to put across.

O-O-O
This column says that Carolina will get a bid for a bowl game, this year, probably against SMU.

O-O-O
Coach Carl Starley is quoted in Smith Barrie's column as saying his victory over Texas by 34 to 7 came through without any serious injuries, but he forgot one of the cheerleaders, Becky Holton, who sprained an ankle in one of the yell maneuvers. She is expected to be ready for Georgia.

O-O-O
Wake Forest Demon Deacons are still having trouble with their newly installed "T" formation. Their ball handling and timing has been off considerably this week in practice. Coach Fishback Walker had nothing but praise for his boys in the game Friday night with Boston, which they were defeated 36 to 0.

O-O-O
Coach Bo Starley's Greenville Phantoms will play host to the Tarboro Tars here Friday night in a North Eastern Conference scrap. The Phantoms have dropped their first two games in conference play, but are expected to break into the winning column Friday.

Raadik And Horne In Bout Tonight

Chicago, Sept. 29—(AP)—A crowd of 9,000 is expected to watch a 10-round rematch tonight in Chicago Stadium between Anto Raadik, rugged Estonian middleweight, and 24-year-old George (Sonny) Horne of Niles, O.

Horne scored a disputed decision over Raadik last July. This will be both fighters' first bout since then.

Promoter Irving Schoenwald said Marcel Cerdan, newly crowned middleweight champion, has agreed to meet the winner of tonight's fight in an overweight match at the stadium in January.

NO ONE TO BLAME

Cleveland, Sept. 29—(AP)—"If we lose the pennant now we'll have no one to blame but ourselves," Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians said today.

McCarthy Won't Give Up League Race Just Yet

Boston, Sept. 29—(AP)—Joe McCarthy still has hope for his fading Boston Red Sox in their day-to-day struggle to remain in the American League race.

"You never can tell about baseball," he said last night in the standard quote reserved for all managers in a similar situation. On the surface, at least, he didn't look like a man who was deeply disturbed.

"You go along from day to day doing your best," he said. Ellis Kinder is my next pitcher. After that we'll see. Maybe Jack Kramer maybe somebody else. When we're two games behind with only one to play, then we'll concede, not until then.

"I remember a Pittsburgh team must have been back around 1921, came into the Polo Grounds with a 7 or 7 1/2 game lead. Everybody said they were in. Even the Giant players, crowding around the batting cage told the Pittsburgh players, 'You're in. All we are worrying about is second place.'"

"What happened? The Giants beat them five in a row and knocked them right out of it."

"No, let them (Cleveland) clinch it and then maybe I'll have something to say. This has been a long, tough year but we made the race. Coming back after we blew all those games in the spring, we've made a race of it."

"You know who it's toughest on? The Yankees. I know just how it feels. You're world champions and you see that championship slipping a little more out of your fingers every game you lose. You say to yourself 'I'm just as good a manager as I was last year or the year before. Why aren't we winning? We're the champions!'"

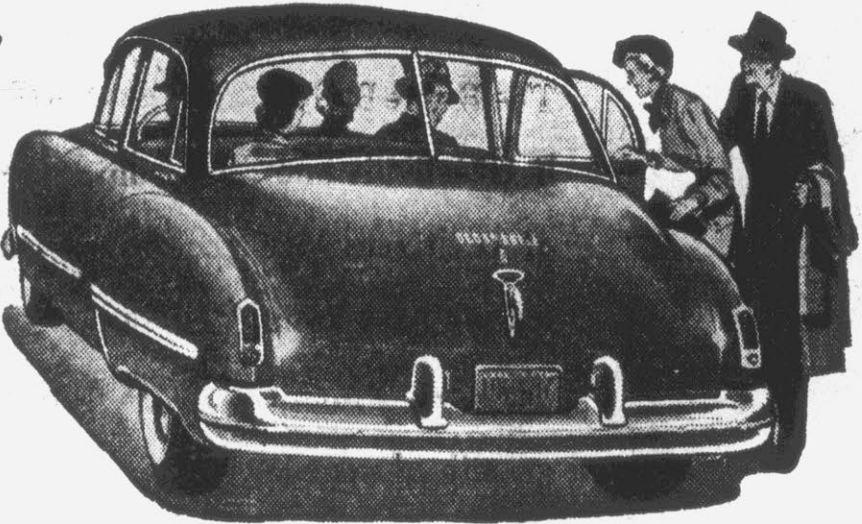

"That's when it's tough. When you can see that championship just slipping out of your grasp and you know you can't get it back."

STRATEGY EXPLAINED

Chapel Hill, Sept. 29—Many fans could not understand Carolina's strategy, after being scored on by Texas, in kicking off to the Longhorns when the Tar Heels had the option of kicking or receiving. Coach Carl Snavely said it was because Texas is unusually good at covering kickoffs and mightily tough when the foes are backed up deep in their own territory.

Georgia Rated As Having Best Chance Upset UNC

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 28—(AP)—Life is just one choo choo after another for the University of Georgia football team.

The Bulldogs just did catch the Chattanooga Coal-Burning version on a last quarter sprint to open their second last week.

This week they'll try to flag North Carolina's Choo Choo—a streamlined flyer named Charlie Justice.

Outstanding opening game scores (Carolina 14, Texas 7; Georgia 14, Chattanooga 7) stamp North Carolina as a decided favorite. However, the Tar Heel camp has a high regard for the Bulldogs of Wally Butts.

The feeling here is that Georgia is perhaps best qualified of any of the nine remaining foes on the schedule to upset Carl Snavely's powerhouse.

The North Carolina coach made clear his views a few hours after his club had humbled Texas.

Looking ahead to this week's game at Athens, Ga., Snavely voiced the opinion that "Georgia will go into the game in the same psychological spot we had against Texas."

The Tar Heels were fired up for the Longhorns. They still smarted from the 34-0 lacing they had absorbed in Texas a year ago. A smashing 33-0 victory over LSU the week before made the Texans even stronger favorites than they'd been in pre-season ratings.

But the keyed up Carolinians smacked them with three touchdowns in the first quarter and they never recovered.

This time the Tar Heels occupy the favorite's spot and Georgia will be drawing a bead on them.

As Snavely said, it is difficult to bring a team up to an emotional peak week after week. There's bound to be some letdown.

Georgia has no all-around star to match the dynamic Justice, who passed for two touchdowns, scored two himself and punted well against Texas.

The Bulldogs have a hot shot of their own, however, in quarterback Johnny Rauch, one of the nation's best passers. Last year he rated No. 2 in the country in completions, making good on 98 of 181 thrown for 10 touchdowns and 1,261 yards.

Little Fight In New Yorkers As Athletics Soar

Philadelphia, Sept. 28—(AP)—The New York Yankees, champions of the world only a year ago, had little fight left today.

To a man, Bucky Harris' warriors seemed to feel that they blew the big one yesterday when they bowed to Carl Scheib, 21-year-old right-hander of the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2.

Going into that one, the champions felt they still had a chance. Coming out of it, they were numbed. As they faced Connie Mack's warriors in the second of the three-game series today, the Yanks were quiet, as though they had been brushed by a ghost.

"There isn't much to say," Manager Harris intoned solemnly. "We got a couple of bad breaks yesterday. However, there are four more games to go. Maybe something good will happen."

Until late last night, Harris and his players waited up to see how the Cleveland Indians made out against the Chicago White Sox. That was their only hope. Once they saw that the Indians had won it going away, they crept to their rooms, not looking at one another.

Actually, the Yankees are much less than the team they were a year ago, when they outlasted the Brooklyn Dodgers in a seven-game World Series.

They have slowed up amazingly. There scarcely is a fast man on the club, and it would have been the nearest thing to a miracle if Harris had driven them to the front again.

Joe DiMaggio, the greatest player on the club—if not in all baseball—is winding up the campaign sorely crippled. He has two sore heels and a charley horse in one leg. He's been playing centerfield, a wide expanse of grass, almost entirely on his nerve.

State Counts On Passing Attack

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28—Coach Beale Feathers will rely strongly on his passing attack Saturday night at Clemson, S. C. when he sends his North Carolina State Wolfpack to the firing line against Coach Frank Howard's Clemson Tigers.

Unable to score last week in a 6-0 loss with Duke's Blue Devils, Feathers figures he'll need plenty of offensive power to cope with the high-flying Tigers who kicked Presbyterian by a thumping 33-0 count in their season's opener last week.

Tailback Gwyn Fletcher and Bill Thompson, who combined for six pass completions that covered 73 yards against Duke, will be the key men in State's overhead attack against the Tigers. Both men can throw well and have exhibited an outstanding ability for connecting with their receivers.

State's offense splintered and stalled on no less than four shots at the Duke goal line last week and Feathers knows he must provide his attack with more scoring ability.

Despite Clemson's big margin over Presbyterian a close contest appears in the offing when the Tigers and the Wolfpack meet. State's long suit is defense and it'll take plenty to move such line stalwarts as Guards Bernie Watts and Charlie Muser if Clemson is to continue to move offensively.

Want Bulldog To March In Parade

Wilson, Sept. 28.—Wanted: The largest and ugliest bulldog in Eastern North Carolina. That was the request of the Wilson Shrine Club today as it made plans for its mammoth parade honoring the Atlantic Christian College football team here Saturday.

The parade will be one of the highlights of the gala celebration of "Shriners Atlantic Christian Day." The Shriners want the biggest and ugliest bulldog in Eastern Carolina to be marched in the parade. The college is nicknamed Bulldogs and it was thought that the parade would not be a success if the bulldog were absent.

Two More Years

St. Louis, Sept. 28—(AP)—Eddie Dyer, tabbed by many persons a couple of months ago as the way out, will manage the St. Louis Cardinals two more years.

Robert E. Hannegan, president of the Cards, announced that he had come to terms with Dyer after a five-minute talk last night.

Hannegan wouldn't say whether the oral agreement called for a pay increase.

Dyer, plagued by injuries to key players throughout the season, was pegged in July by some sports writers as being in his last year at St. Louis—providing he even finished the season.

Citation Races With Coaltown

New York, Sept. 28—(AP)—Citation returns to action in the $25,000 added Sycoby Mile at Belmont Park today, his first eastern appearance since June 12 when he swept racing's triple crown honors by winning the Belmont Stakes.

Teaming up with a stablemate, Coaltown, the sensational Calumet three-year-old champion with a victory can boost his 1944 earnings over the $500,000 mark—a one-year figure unprecedented in turf history.

Youngsters Look To 'Bowl' Game

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28—About 60 high school football players, who would be average American boys if they had fathers and mothers, are looking forward to October 29th.

That's the night that the kid football players at Methodist Orphanage of Raleigh and at Oxford Orphanage will have the times of their lives. It's the night of the First Annual Orphanage Shrine Bowl Football game, which effective this year becomes the highlight of the year for both institutions.

The idea came from Sudan Temple which is sponsoring the game as a means of raising funds for the two orphanages. After you get past the fact that a sell-out gate of 20,000 is practically assured, you find these features for the game:

- (1) There'll be high school bands and Shrine marching units.
 - (2) North Carolina's Governor Cherry will toss the coin for the two team captains at the beginning of the game.
 - (3) A colorful and varied halftime show, including an exhibition by the world's champion baton twirler, will be offered.
 - (4) A huge parade will precede the game.
- State College's Riddick Stadium will be the scene of the game, which will be broadcast over an eastern Carolina radio network of ten stations.
- Sudan Temple is co-operating in the promotion of the game.
- Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the National League record for shut-outs. He turned in 16 with the Phillies in 1916.

No Competition To World Series

New York, Sept. 28—(AP)—The world series will remain baseball's big show without any side competition, Ford Frick indicated today.

The National League President, commenting on a proposal by Ed Pollock, of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin that the first division clubs of one major league meet the teams finishing in the corresponding positions in the other league in series to determine the best second, third and fourth place teams said the idea was not entirely new.

"We considered something like that during the war," Frick explained. "That is, we considered having the eight teams in each league meet in such a manner in fund-raising games. It was discarded as impractical."

Frick pointed out that the world series is the game's biggest show, and that it would not be advisable to have other games being played at the same time which might detract from the main event. He also doubted that such contests involving clubs which failed to win the pennants would, on the whole, draw.

Pollock's idea was that, in addition to providing added attractions for the fans, such games would net a neat sum for the players involved, providing, of course, that the contests were well supported by the fans.

Better Year For Farmers' Income

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Next year should be a kind one for your pocketbook, if a government prediction works out.

Notice that personal incomes set a record this year, the bureau of Agricultural Economics reported yesterday that 1945 incomes should be just as high. And what's more, the bureau forecast a continued boom in employment.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve board painted a rosy picture of the nation's farmers. Their buying power this year, said the reserve board, painted a rosy picture of the nation's farmers. Their buying power this year, said the reserve board, painted a rosy picture of the nation's farmers.

However, the agency added, "incomes received by farmers who operate small acreages have been small, and it appears that sizeable numbers of these farmers have been taking industrial jobs."

It estimated that 10 per cent fewer persons were working on farms at the end of 1947 than before the war, while non-farm population has risen nearly 30 per cent since 1937. The Bureau of Agriculture Economics said personal incomes may slip toward the end of 1948, but that for the year as a whole they will equal the 1948 record.

Bridge Is Target Of Would-Be Ferry Men

Bangkok.—(AP)—Would-be ferry operators are blamed by a Siamese communications ministry official for damage to a bridge near here. The official said log rafts had been released in the river, damaging the bridge supports. He surmised that a gang wanted to put the river crossing out of action so they could set up an alternate ferry crossing and make a profit.

Refugees Are Flown To New Home In Australia

By ROBERT EUNSON

AP Newfeature—Paris—Almost 300 homeless European Jews have been flown to Australia so far this year by the largely American-financed Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society.

"This can't be happening to me," an 80-year-old woman said when she boarded the plane last week in Brussels for a flight to Melbourne. "I've spent the last five years in freight cars and now I'm flying."

The last plane load was a flight of 80 which went to Melbourne by way of Karachi, Pakistan, Ceylon, Java and Darwin. They were destined to live at first in the homes of remote relatives whom they had never seen.

Shipping companies who offer a limited space to refugees, forced HIAS to arrange for the air route, an official said. Only 26 per cent of the passenger lists of ships plying between Europe and Australia can be secured by refugees.

The society is gathering up new plane loads of refugees every few weeks. The homeless assemble in the Paris office where they usually come with their bottles of wine, loaves of bread and extra clothes often wrapped in blankets.

In Paris the frightened homeless Jews, many of them graduates of the worst of Hitler's concentration camps, are given new clothes and medical attention.

From Paris the immigrants are taken to Brussels where they are put aboard giant Sabena airlines planes.

"Some of them are terrified at the thought of living in an airplane for four days," a HIAS representative said. "But none ever turns back."

And when you take out the clothes—barely damp to the touch—many pieces are actually dry enough to iron!

That's All-Automatic washing!

It's easy to see for yourself how your washing time can be cut to 20 seconds. Ask for a demonstration of the General Electric All-Automatic Washer... and you'll know what we mean by "automatic washing at its best."

Chapter 7

The hall door, lettered AUSTIN CLAPP HOMICIDE, jolted open and Felix came into the office. He was still panting slightly.

"God, how I hate these cases with exercise," he breathed.

"Give us the word," suggested Clapp. "We're just getting settled for the night."

Felix laid a pistol on the desk top.

Laura Gilbert leaned forward and pressed the edge of the desk with both hands. "Well, tell us," she insisted. "Did you catch anyone?"

"She's taken over," Clapp enlightened Felix with a grin.

"Oh," said Felix. He sat on the edge of the desk. "Well, here's my report. Nobody. Nobody seen or heard lurking around the neighborhood. Couple of footprints in the alleyway but they were scuffed up—might not have been fresh, anyway. There's the gun—fancy job, 25 caliber, one shell fired. The slug we dug out of the wall matches the rifling. No prints. Marks on the outside of the barrel indicate a slinger. We didn't find any slinger. The gun hasn't been cared for. Pretty grimy." He stopped talking suddenly.

"You people as tired as I am?"

Clapp picked up the gun, smelt it, inspected it closely. "Give it to the lab tomorrow. Maybe Larry can make something out of the junk in the boothheads." He centered the pistol carefully on his blotter and watched the light reflections from its silvered surface as he talked.

"There are two possibilities, off-hand. One is that whoever occupied that seat to the right of the Filipino boy began worrying about Miss Gilbert remembering something about him and hung around to take a potshot at her."

The girl's eyes widened. "Have you remembered that something yet, Miss Gilbert?"

"No—no, I'm not even sure there was anyone ever in that seat."

"There had to be," said Walter James. "You didn't knife the man."

"Why not?" said Clapp suddenly.

Two ivory cords stood out on the girl's throat. "No," she protested faintly. "I'll try to remember. But I don't think there's anything to remember."

Clapp stood up, a tower in the small office. "She had the opportunity, James. She has the strength. And she has the guts—look at the way she held up tonight."

Walter James leaned on the desk with his elbows, his hands folded under his chin. The light blue eyes that looked up at Clapp were flat and icy.

"Quit acting like a dumb cop, Clapp. We're both too old for that. You don't have a case against the girl and you know it. You're not after the girl and you know it. You're

"Furthermore, we made a big point of getting along with the local cops. We never crossed them up and our outfit kept a lot of trouble from ever getting out of the idea stage. Then, too, between Hal and me, we had a lot of stuff in our files that helped them out now and then. We even used our men in a few spots where they wouldn't have dared used their own—politically speaking."

Felix nodded appreciatively.

"I'm making a point of all this," said Walter James, "so you'll realize what an unblemished child I am."

"You mentioned three men," Clapp said mildly.

"You can't keep out of trouble forever. All three were self-defense, and there was never any fuss over it. I shot two and ran down another with Hal's car."

Battle-Kelly Clinic Worthy Public Support

By W. H. DAVENPORT
Principal Negro City Schools

Good health should be the concern of every citizen. In this era when such great strides are being made in medical science it is highly imperative that we use every method at our disposal to insure the health and happiness of our people. Here in Pitt County we are limited in hospital facilities for all people and especially for Negroes. It was with this fact in mind that our two physicians, Dr. J. A. Battle and Dr. E. B. Kelly, started last year a clinic named the Battle-Kelly Clinic. This project has rendered a wonderful service to our county.

Because of the time consumed in administering this clinic and other difficulties to be considered in its operation, Drs. Battle and Kelly have given the people of Pitt County the opportunity of assuming the responsibility of the administration of this clinic. The Negroes of this county were alert and after much discussion accepted the responsibility of what may be the nucleus of a great institution, serving our people in the years to come. Boards have been set up and a program has been worked out and the clinic is now being operated by the Negro citizens of Pitt County.

In order to carry on and meet payments on equipment and other things it was necessary to launch a drive to raise $5,000. This drive was started September 20 and will continue for 30 days. During this time we trust every citizen in Pitt County will make a contribution. If you wish to contribute and are not approached by our representative, you may call 4068 or 4341. The good people of Pitt County have always given support to worthy movements and we feel that you will help us to not only reach our goal but to surpass it.

Ike Believes In More Recreation

New York, Sept. 28—(AP)—College students should have fun, says Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Columbia University president.

He told more than 1,200 students at an assembly yesterday.

"The day that goes by that you don't have some fun is not only unnecessary, but un-Christian. If you don't have it, you are not being true to yourself."

The students cheered when Eisenhower told them he considers expansion of recreational facilities to be one of his first duties.

Prince Turns To Royal Affairs

London, Sept. 28—(AP)—Prince Philip will lay aside his naval duties during the next nine months to help his wife, Princess Elizabeth, run Britain's royal affairs while King George VI and Queen Elizabeth are touring Australia and New Zealand.

The admiral said today the Prince, at his own request, will be placed on half-pay during the period, expected to start about mid-October.

Death Followed Ambulance Wreck

Kinston, N.C., Sept. 28—(AP)—A 62-year-old ambulance patient who was injured in a collision Monday while enroute to Duke Hospital died there the same night.

Donald H. Cole of Jacksonville was listed by Duke Hospital authorities as the victim. The ambulance and a car collided. No arrests were made.

A French inventor, Nicolas Jacques Conte, is considered the father of the modern pencil.

Saw 14 Drunks But No Arrests

Jacksonville, N. C., Sept. 28—(AP)—Sheriff I. Dan Sanders revealed today that he recently saw 14 drunks, but didn't even make a single arrest.

He said he didn't even intervene when the 14 sloped up illegal moonshine at a still in the Harris Creek section of Onslow and he left them lying in the gutter.

It was the first time, the Sheriff said, that he had ever seen 14 drunk hogs.

Hedy Drops Her Damage Suit

Los Angeles, Sept. 28—(AP)—Hedy Lamar has dropped a $200,000 damage suit against Look Magazine.

Her attorney, Jerry Giesler, filed a dismissal of the action in Superior Court yesterday. He declined to give the reason.

The actress had charged Look with indicating she had undergone plastic surgery on her nose.

Churchmen Talk Founding College

Rocky Mount, N.C., Sept. 28—(AP)—A Methodist College foundation of North Carolina with a capital of $10,000,000 was proposed yesterday at a meeting of churchmen.

The proposal was offered at a joint meeting of the Methodist Commission on World Service and Finance, and all boards and commissions of the conference.

Charge World . . .

33 of the charter of the United Nations is not, in existing circumstances, possible and which constitutes a threat to international peace and security. In order that international peace and security may not be further endangered, the governments of the United States, the United Kingdom and France, therefore, while reserving to themselves full rights to take such measures as may be necessary to maintain in these circumstances their position in Berlin, find themselves obliged to refer the action to the Security Council of the United Nations.

"Accordingly, the government of the United States requests that the Security Council consider this question at the earliest opportunity."

UN's Greatest . . .

trying to make democracy and Communism mix.

They can't be made to mix under any circumstances. The Reds keep on telling us that our economy and form of government must be destroyed. Do they have to knock us down and drag us out before we recognize the situation?

World-be mixers of oil and water might consider a statement by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address at the Sorbonne in Paris last night. She charged Russia with ruthless suppression of human rights at home and with interference in other countries' affairs. She urged the U.N. not to compromise with the Soviet bloc on the issue of human freedom, which she termed the "basic problem confronting the world today."

The oil and water mixers also might lend ear to Belgium Premier Paul Henri Spaak, former president of the U.N. Assembly, who told the Russians in a speech before that body:

"By your conduct you have prevented this organization from working. We fear you because in every country represented here you maintain a fifth column, the like of which even Hitler did not know."

A United Nations comprising the democracies alone would serve a very useful purpose. Half a loaf, et cetera.

The Breaking . . .

to do.

The point was that the four commanders, sitting down together from time to time, would try to agree on plans for all Germany.

The cancer was in that word "agree." This was why.

Any agreement reached by the four commanders (meaning their four governments) had to be unanimous.

In other words:

If any one of the four disagreed with the other three or wanted to block any joint plan, all he had to do was say "no."

When any one of the four said "no," that killed any joint plan and left them and the other three commanders free to follow any plans of their own in their own zones.

And the plans the Russians have been following in their zone are not the same as the Americans, British and French have pursued in theirs.

The Russian commander has said "no" more times than all the others put together.

This is exactly what Russia has done in the security council of the United Nations by vetoing one proposed plan after another.

In the security council—just as in the control council of Germany—no important action can be taken except by unanimous agreement of the big powers.

Neither this country nor Russia has yet reached the point where it's willing to yield its own important desires to the majority opinion of other nations.

So, in the German control council, when Russia disagreed with a U. S. idea for handling some German problem, it simply has said "no" and then has gone ahead and put its own ideas into action in its zone.

And the same has been true the other way around, for the other three allies haven't let Russia's disapproval prevent them from carrying out their ideas in their zones.

The storage house is the most efficient means for storing sweet potatoes. Houses of storage capacity to meet the needs of individual growers are preferred to cooperative houses. The house should be heated before the first bush of sweet potatoes is placed therein.

Once stored no not handle potatoes until ready to ship or sell. Proper temperature and moisture conditions are essential factors in the keeping of sweet potatoes.

The temperature for curing should be 80 degrees-85 degrees F. When sprouts appear the potatoes are cured. This usually requires about two weeks. After curing the temperature should be kept or maintained at temperature of 80 degrees F. The temperature should never be allowed to drop below 40 degrees.

High temperatures during the storage period causes excessive shrinkage. Ventilation is necessary to remove excessive moisture.
