Discuss Sources Of Uranium; New Supplies Hunted

Scientists Believe World Supply Limited; AEC Processing Tons

By The Associated Press America's supply of the vital atomic metal, uranium, was under discussion in all corners of the country today.

A government official said in Chicago that "scores of tons" are being used by the Atomic Energy Commission, while the commission is "searching the world" for more.

In Washington, other officials reported that Russia is pressing a propaganda campaign aimed at disrupting the flow of the metal to this country from the Belgian Congo.

Scientists in New York, meanwhile, announced discovery of a new green mineral rich in uranium. How plentiful the new material is, they don't know. It has been named scintierite.

But another scientist said in Los Angeles that world uranium supplies from present sources are so small that its industrial future looks bleak.

News of the Atomic Energy Commission's use of the metal came from Chairman David E. Lillien-thal.

He told the Executives Club in Chicago yesterday that the man-made element plutonium, whose splitting atoms are used both for bombs and peacetime research, is being produced on a "factory-size" scale by the commission. Plutonium is made from uranium.

The hunt for new supplies is going on full-scale, he said, as part of a program to maintain United States atomic superiority. And that program will be pushed, he added, as long as there are no international controls.

One of the major sources for America's uranium is the Belgian Congo. There, said officials in Washington, Soviet propagandists are hard at work trying to stir up discontent and possible sabotage.

So far, the officials commented, the Russians haven't been very successful.

It was in the Belgian Congo that the new green mineral was found, Columbia University scientists said in New York. It contains about 80 per cent uranium.

Escaped Convict Killed In Effort Avoid Capture

Raleigh, Oct. 2—(AP)—A long-term prisoner described as "one of the most dangerous men we had" was killed early today when an officer tried to recapture him. Chief Prison Inspector Kyle Matthews reported.

Matthews said Ralph Davis of Clemmons, serving a total of 40 years on five charges, including second degree murder, was shot near Sylva by Sheriff C. G. Middleton of Jackson county.

Davis escaped Thursday from a Jackson county road gang with two other prisoners who were recaptured yesterday, Matthews said. The three got away from a road gang by overpowering a truck driver working with the gang, he added.

The South Carolina governor invaded this northern-most point of his campaign yesterday. He was greeted—as a fellow governor but not as a presidential candidate—by Maryland's Governor William Preston Lane.

Truman Plans To Continue Crusade

Crowd Welcomes His Return To Washington; 'I Have Just Begun To Fight' Says President After Long Tour

Washington, Oct. 2—(AP)—President Truman returned to Washington today after a strenuous 19-state campaign tour.

"I have just begun to fight," he told a crowd which had gathered in front of Washington's Union station to await arrival of his special train.

"The people are beginning to wake up to the fact that this is a real crusade," he said. "It's the people against the special interests. I'm not going to pull any punches. I have just begun to fight."

The President said he had made about 140 speeches on his 8,500 mile swing through the West. He estimated he had seen from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 persons. He added that he thought the bigger figure was more nearly correct. Wearing a light blue double-breasted suit, Mr. Truman spoke from an open car.

He thanked the crowd for coming out to meet his train, which arrived at 10:07 a. m. (EST).

"I didn't expect it really. You're very kind to me," he said. Previously he had shaken hands with scores of persons on the rear platform of his train. Among them were half a dozen cabinet officers and Senator McGrath (D-RD) chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, who accompanied the President on the trek to the west coast and back, joined him on the platform.

A heavy schedule lay ahead of him as he returned to the capital. Besides consultations on the gloomy international situation, he faced a fresh speech-writing chore in preparation for another big Democratic Presidential campaign tour next week into Pennsylvania, New Jersey and upstate New York.

In the 18th speech of his long westward swing, Mr. Truman brought to a vigorous climax his dawn-to-dusk, 16-day attack on his Republican opponent last night before a cheering overflow audience in the Charleston, W. Va., municipal stadium.

Without mentioning Gov. Thomas E. Dewey by name, he countered the GOP call for "unity" by declaring: "I will tell you how you can achieve unity in a headlong dash toward another depression. Just elect a Republican President to go along with a Republican Congress."

"Just elect a man who has said—and I quote: 'I am proud of the record of my party and the 80th Congress.'"

"Just elect a man who has said: 'The 80th Congress delivered as no other Congress ever did for the future of our country.'"

Friday's Tobacco Sales Hit Record

Nearly Million Dollars Paid To Farmers By Warehousemen

Warehousemen on the Greenville tobacco market paid out nearly a million dollars to farmers of this area yesterday in the largest single day of the market this year.

Yesterday's sales totaled 1,768,588 pounds of tobacco which sold for $949,406.59, an average of 53.68 per hundred pounds for the entire sale. Sales Supervisor W. H. Whedbee said sales have been heavy all this week and prices on all grades have shown considerable increases in the last five days.

The large sale yesterday came as a climax to a week's activity which saw the Greenville market shatter its 26 year-old price record by a marked price increase the first of the week. Prices on all grades of tobacco continued to rise each day of this week after the long standing record toppled during Monday's sales.

Indications are that prices on the local market will continue high and that the heavy sales will continue.

Dewey Expected To Again Stress Bi-Partisan View

Republican Candidate To Meet With Advisor Dulles In Albany Soon

Enroute East with Dewey, Oct. 2—(AP)—Fresh evidence of Republican backing for the nation's bipartisan foreign policy may be thrown into the presidential election campaign next week.

With his long western tour then behind him, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will meet Tuesday in Albany with John Foster Dulles, his foreign affairs adviser.

In order will be a person-to-person report to the Republican presidential nominee by Dulles on the critical Berlin blockade and other world problems facing the Paris meeting of the United Nations.

Mr. Dulles may fly back to Paris without any formal statement being issued by Dewey, the up-to-the-minute Republican viewpoint is likely to be expressed in a nationwide radio broadcast Monday night by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

Vandenberg, who has kept in close touch with Dewey and Dulles, is expected to urge that the nation's dealings with other countries be kept at a level above political partisanship.

Dewey's principal theme on the transcontinental campaign he carried into Kansas and Missouri today has been "unity."

Summing it up in his final formal speech of the tour, he told a crowd which overflowed the 1,700 seat auditorium of the Cheyenne, Wyo., junior high school last night:

"Our future and the peace of the world are staked on how united the people of America are. It will be our unity as a nation above everything else which will discourage a new aggression in the world and which will give our own people the courage and confidence they need to solve their own pressing problems."

Dewey apparently was trying also for greater unity within his own party on foreign affairs.

Across Wyoming he praised the "swell job" he said had been done in Washington by Senator Edward V. Robertson, Republican, who hasn't always been enthusiastic about some of the international proposals which have received the New York governor's support.

Eisenhower Says Newsboys Future Hope Of Nation

Philadelphia, Oct. 2—(AP)—News-paperboys are a great hope for the future of the nation, says General Dwight D. Eisenhower, a former carrier himself and now president of Columbia University.

Eisenhower told 8,000 persons last night—including 3,500 newsboys—that the boys have initiative and courage.

"Whose unselfish devotion to the service of his country and his fellowmen has provided the youth of the nation with an inspiring ideal and guiding example of good Americanism."

Heroin Is Found On Italian Liner

New York, Oct. 2—(AP)—Customs men removed about $200,000 worth of heroin from the Italian liner Vulcania yesterday.

Collector of Customs Harry M. Durning said he believed the smuggled drugs were sent here by "an organized mob" operating in Italy.

Durning added, "We think Lucky Luciano, under world figure, was deported to Italy several years ago."

FILM BANNED Madrid, Oct. 2—(AP)—The American film, "Gentlemen's Agreement" was banned in Spain because it condoned divorce, showed no differences between Jews and Christians and contained "theological errors," a board of censors source said yesterday.

Contempt Charge Will Be Sought For Witnesses

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 2—(AP)—A House labor subcommittee will seek contempt of congress citations against 11 present and former members of the Schenectady local of the CIO United Electrical Workers Union.

The decision was announced by Rep. Kersten (R-Wis) at the end of two days of often hectic hearings during which his subcommittee looked into reports of Communist infiltration in local 301.

The 11 men named refused to say whether they were or ever had been, members of the Communist party.

The local claims 15,000 members at General Electric's huge Schenectady works.

Kersten said the subcommittee would recommend to the full labor committee that it take action to obtain contempt citations through the Justice Department.

Russia Modifies Atomic Stand In Proposal To United Nations

Paris, Oct. 2—(AP)—Russia formally proposed today a simultaneous ban on the atom bomb and formation of an international atomic energy control organization.

In a concession to the western powers, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky proposed that the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission and the Security Council draft two conventions prohibiting atomic weapons and setting up control over atomic energy, to be signed and put into force at the same time.

The Russians previously had demanded that the atomic bomb be banned before the control body was formed.

Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, told reporters a short time later the Russian resolution was an "Oriental maneuver of the type with which we are familiar." He said he doubted the sincerity of the Soviet move. He said the United States wants to know what is wrong with the plan of the majority of the commission—which calls for international control of the atom first and then prohibition of atomic weapons.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the Canadian delegate, told reporters the Russian proposal was a surrender to the obvious logic of the situation. He said he would continue to back his own resolution, calling on the assembly to back the majority plan.

Only yesterday Vishinsky had argued strenuously that the bomb must be banned before control machinery could be worked.

The western policy has been that the control machinery should be put to work first and the bomb banned after world production of atomic energy has been inspected and put under United Nations guardianship.

Vishinsky's speech was in answer to an address by French Defense Minister Paul Ramadier, who backed the United States position on atomic energy control.

Ramadier, a former French Premier, said hints by Vishinsky yesterday and Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Belber today that the United States was not the only nation that possessed an atomic bomb, showed an international control system was necessary before the atomic bomb could be banned.

The U. S. proposals for atomic controls already have been approved by a majority of the delegates on the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission. The political committee is currently discussing atomic energy in connection with the commission's report, blocked by Russian veto. The question was transferred to the General Assembly from the Security Council after a stalemate resulting from the veto.

Ramadier contended there should be complete control of atomic energy development or no control at all. He said French experts had told him production of fissionable material for peaceful purposes is identical with production for war. He added that atomic energy could be transferred from peaceful to warlike uses in a very short period.

The former premier scorned the effectiveness of any international treaty outlawing the use of atom bombs.

New Honors For GHS Publication

'Green Lights' Wins High Rating By Journalistic Society

"International Honor Rating—Newspaper of Superior Achievement" and "All-America Rating" have been awarded to "Green Lights" for issues published during the school year '47-'48. Shelley Beard edited last year's publication.

The school paper received the "International Honor Rating" from the annual critical service of the Quill and Scroll, international society for high school journalists. The "All-America Rating" of the National Scholastic Press Association is the second such rating received for issues published last year.

Awards previously received from similar award was made to the staff for issues published during the first semester.

The journalism class is under the supervision of Mrs. Herbert B. Utley. Praising the staff for its vigorous editorial policy, the Quill and Scroll critical service commented, "Our special commendation goes to you for your editorial comment and community service."

"Green Lights" is a well rounded paper, a fine high school publication," said the judge in summation.

Awards previously received from national journalistic organizations are "First Place" from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and "First Place-Trophy" from the Southern Interscholastic Press Association.

New Lend-Lease Now Considered

West Europe Unable To Finance Arming For Defense

Paris, Oct. 2—(AP)—A revival of Lend-Lease from America is considered possible in order to rearm Europe against possible aggression.

The financial condition of the nations of western Europe is such that most of them would find it impossible to finance their own rearmament.

The possibility, however slight, that a new arms race might divert funds from the European recovery program, has caused grave concern among European governments.

Two well-qualified officials said yesterday the whole purpose of Lend-Lease would be lost if the money is used for arms. A British official said he thought it would be "playing Russia's game" to give up Lend-Lease.

The British government recently decided to increase arms production, but at least one observer saw an exception that this would in some way be made up by the United States.

In France, where the government fell recently because it would not cut the arms budget drastically enough to meet Socialist demands, no increase in the military budget can be foreseen. Political experts agree any government attempting to allocate more money for arms would fall.

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 2—(AP)—The State Board of Health today received reports of 20 new polio cases. The statewide total since the first of the year climbed to 2,229.

Dixiecrats Help Republicans Says Royall In Speech

Tells South Carolina Audience That Backers Will Feel Regret, Remorse

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 2—(AP)—The "real beneficiary" of votes for the States' Rights ticket will be the Republican party, Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall told a pro-Truman Democratic rally here last night.

He urged South Carolina voters to support the national Democratic party, as they have in every election since 1876, and predicted that "the Dixiecrats will be but a memory" within a few years.

"The Dixiecrats will not benefit by any votes cast for them because they don't expect to win, Royall declared.

"Henry Wallace and his Reds and Pinks will pick up a lot of dispirited Democrats at this election and build on them in the future," he predicted.

Royall, a North Carolinian, spoke in Columbia's township auditorium to an audience of about 300, including a few Negroes.

The address was under auspices of a slate of presidential election candidates pledged to the Truman-Barkley ticket.

Royall said he believed that those who have supported the States' Rights movement, whether they admit it or not, will in a few years be full of regret and remorse.

"Let me urge you not to lead the South backward into prejudice and ignorance and bitterness and provincialism," he said.

The national Democratic party, he declared, is an "all American party x x our best defense against Bourbonism on the one hand and Communism on the other."

Referring to southern Democratic resentment against Mr. Truman's civil rights proposals, Royall asked: "Where are you going to find a candidate who agrees with each of us on the details of every issue?"

Mother Building A Home To Win Release Of Son

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 2—(AP)—A 49-year-old mother is building a two-room home to obtain release of her 14-year-old son from a correctional school.

"You will have to have a home before J. R. can be released to us," a juvenile probation officer told Mrs. Cora Lewis last summer.

So, by herself, the mother has framed the house, using lumber purchased with funds earned by washing.

Now she needs flooring and roof and a fraternal organization, donating $25, has started a drive to help her.

"I can put on the roof—if I can just get it," she says.

German Magnate A 'Minor Nazi'

Koenigstein, Germany, Oct. 2—(AP)—Fritz Thyssen, former Ruhr steel magnate, was found guilty today as a "minor Nazi" by a German Denazification court.

The defendant, 73, was ordered to turn 15 per cent of his "available property in Germany" into a restitution fund for victims of Nazi persecution.

Thyssen was accused of having supplied Hitler as far back as 1933, allegedly having made substantial contributions to Nazi party funds.

Peron Suspends Correspondents

Five Foreign News-men Lose Right To Work In Argentina

Buenos Aires, Oct. 2—(AP)—The Argentine government today suspended the right of five foreign correspondents to work in Argentina.

The director of communications ordered cable companies to refuse dispatches of Joseph P. McEvoy, the Associated Press; Milton Bracker and Virginia Lee Warren, New York Times; Herbert M. Clark, who represents the New York Daily News, Chicago Sun-Times and London Telegraph; and Jose Arista, Uruguayan citizen who is Buenos Aires news manager of Reuters News Agency.

The director, Antonio Navatta, told the Associated Press the orders came from the subsecretariat of information, which is a branch of President Juan D. Peron's office. He said he was notified the credentials of the five correspondents had been cancelled.

The order was issued eight days after President Peron strongly denounced foreign correspondents. Peron called them "spies and saboteurs" in a public speech Sept. 24 in which he gave details of police charges that a plot was being hatched to assassinate him and his wife on Oct. 12.

The President did not imply that any correspondents were involved in such a plot, but he frequently had accused them, in general, of distorting his program and policies.

No official announcement was issued immediately.

Feathers Fly In Emblem Fight

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 2—(AP)—Legal feathers are flying over who will have Louisiana's Democratic rooster as their November General election emblem.

It's a battle between supporters of President Truman and the States' Rights Democrats.

A law passed by a special session of the legislature last Sunday denies Mr. Truman of the hardy bird.

A temporary court order issued yesterday bans its use by the States' Rights Democrats.

Berlin As A Symbol

What The City Means To Germans; A Prize In The Struggle Between Russia And Western Powers; Stumbling Block To Reds; Non-Communists Outnumber Reds.

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 2—(AP)—Berlin means to Germans what New York and Washington, if rolled into one, would mean to Americans. It's Germany's biggest city and its old capital.

So it's a prize in the naked struggle over Germany between Russia on one side and, on the other, the United States, Britain and France.

As part of that struggle the Russians now are doing all they can, short of war, to grab Berlin all for themselves.

They don't have it to themselves now. That's because of a deal made in 1945 when Germany fell and Russia and the three western democracies were still friendly wartime allies.

Further, of the 3,500,000 or so Germans in Berlin, about 2,500,000 live in the sectors of the western powers.

From what follows you can see what a big stumbling block that is to Russia's desires for complete control of her zone.

In 1946 the four powers let the Berliners in all four sections elect their own city council so they could have some self-government.

The Socialist Unit party, controlled by the German Communists and pampered by the Russians, got only about 25 per cent of the vote.

So the number of Communists and Communist-sympathizers elected to the council were far outnumbered by the non-Communists.

This showed that there in Berlin—deep in the Russian zone—was a huge pool of Germans not following the Russian line. (Continued on Page Three)

The picture today is much the same as it was after the last war when the dollar was worth only five cents in terms of the goods and services. (Continued on Page Three)

Financing Aid For Homes And Small Units Show New Increase

Individual homes and houses for two to four families have been receiving and increasing proportion of the life insurance investment funds going into mortgage financing in recent years and at the start of this year accounted for two-fifths of the value of all mortgages held by the life companies, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. This is shown by a recent study made by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation in cooperation with life insurance companies representing 98 per cent of total assets of the business.

During 1947, mortgages made or purchased by the life companies on one to four family housing exceeded a billion and a half dollars and represented 55 per cent of all mortgages acquired by the companies. In 1946 the one to four family properties represented 45 per cent of total mortgages acquired and in 1945 they were 55 per cent. By number of mortgages, the ratio was even higher, the one to four family houses being 55 per cent of the total number of mortgages acquired in 1947.

At the start of this year, total holdings of mortgages on one to four family houses by the life companies in the U. S. were approximately three and one-half billion dollars, up 35 per cent in the year and nearly three times the total ten years prior. This year's holding of this type are 40 percent of total mortgage holdings, compared with 36 percent a year ago and 25 percent ten years ago.

Total mortgages acquired by the life companies in 1947 numbered 275,000 and had a value of more than $2,700,000,000. Of these 235,000, valued at more than $1,500,000,000, were on one to four family properties; 4,000, valued at $250,000,000, were on five or more family properties; 26,000 valued at $250,000,000, were on farms; and only 8,000, valued at $700,000,000, were on non-residential properties. The total of residential mortgages acquired, including those on farms, was 167,000 for a valuation of more than two billion dollars. This was an increase of 70 percent in number and 65 percent in amount over the previous year.

Total mortgage holdings of the life companies at the start of this year numbered 352,000, valued at more than $3,500,000,000. Of these, 700,000 valued at about $3,500,000,000, were on one to four family properties; 26,000, valued at $1,500,000,000, were on five or more family properties.

FHA and Veterans Administration mortgages represented a large share of the life company mortgage holdings at the start of

Faster Growth Of Cities Now Calls For Foresight

The following interesting excerpt from "Planning for the Small American City," by Russell Van Nest Black, originally published in 1933 and reprinted several times since, was given by Joe S. Moyer, trust officer of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company and a member of the Greenville Planning Commission, in an interesting talk on "City Planning" at the Junior Chamber of Commerce supper meeting at the Olde Towne Inn last night:

"The cities of Timgad, Rome, Athens and Turin are cited as ancient examples of planned development. But there are basic differences between the building of those cities and the 'build to plan' idea now spreading so rapidly. The old cities were planned largely for construction as one project, to a definite and fixed site, and were built by despots, monarchs or autocrats.

"Present day cities are, so to speak, of and for the people in some respects as communities, but with many individual rights preserved against governmental or community interference. This freedom in the ownership and use of land complicates the control of city growth.

"There is no known limit to the possible size of a modern city and no known or accepted means of keeping a city's growth within prescribed bounds. . . . While the far history of planning shows isolated instances of planned cities, it is not until our own day that planning . . . really comes to gain a widespread foothold. . . . The complexities of modern living and of this industrial and motorized age, from which the necessity of planning has sprung, are too widely discussed and appreciated to warrant review. . . . It is sufficient to say that while they compel pre-planned development, at the same time they make it increasingly difficult. For centuries physical development moved slowly, with agriculture predominating, and with negligible traffic problems. Cities grew calmly under simple stimuli. It was comparatively easy to predict the future. Mistakes in street alignment or grade were of little moment. Construction was light and cheap. Traffic congestion was unknown.

"Suddenly came the mechanized era outmoding centuries of city building in a single operation. The year, totalling over $2,200,000,000, these insured mortgages were one-fourth total mortgage holdings and 60 percent of 1-4 family mortgages.

Fire Is Greater Threat On Farm Than In Cities

Farm residents are in greater danger from fire than are residents of towns and cities, according to the National Fire Protection Association, sponsor of the Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9.

Latest census figures show that about one-fifth of the people of the United States live on farms while latest fire statistics show that one-third of the persons who are killed by fire are farm residents, the NFPA says. In 1947, fires caused about 11,000 deaths, 3,500 of them on farms.

"Fire hazards are more numerous on farms because farmers keep large stocks of gasoline and kerosene on hand because farms are in greater danger from lightning, because farmers use large quantities of combustible materials such as hay, rags and feed bags, because there are more lamps and lanterns on farms and because farmers have the problem of curing hay properly and keeping it dry to prevent spontaneous ignition," NFPA officials say.

NFPA recommendations for correcting farm fire hazards are:

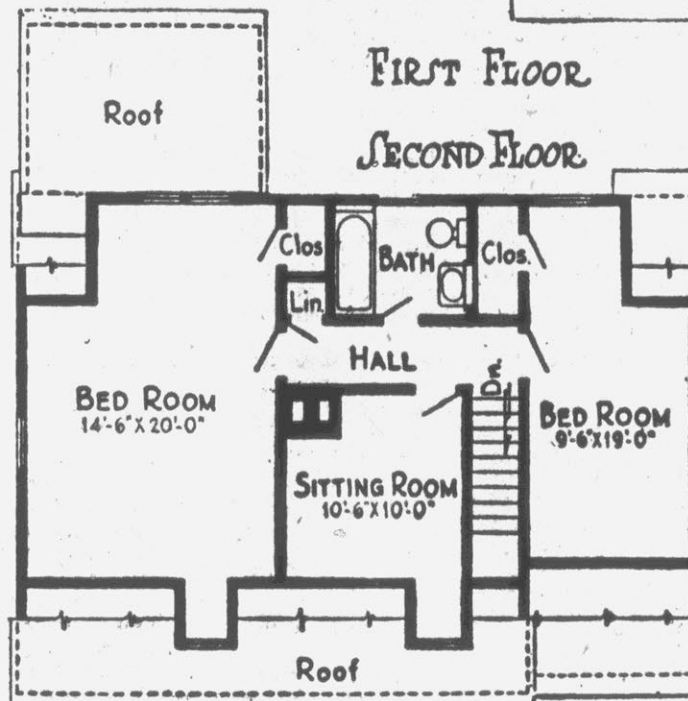

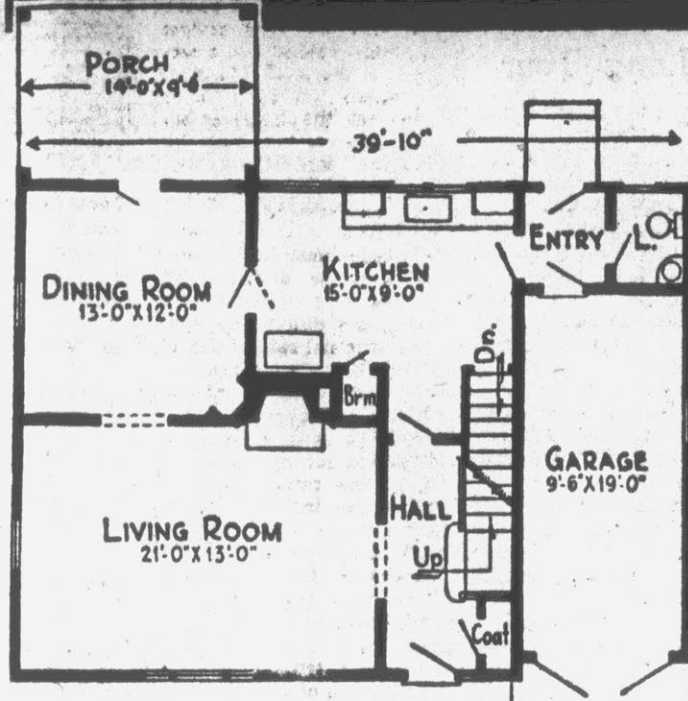

- (1) Don't smoke in barns or in bed and don't discard lighted cigarettes or matches heedlessly.
- (2) Get rid of flammable rubbish. When allowed to accumulate old papers, magazines, clothes, boxes or worn-out furniture are ideal tinder for a stray spark. Keep oily rags in metal containers to prevent spontaneous ignition.
- (3) Keep matches out of the reach of small children.
- (4) Store gasoline and kerosene in metal containers away from buildings.
- (5) Don't use flammable cleaning fluids.
- (6) Clean lamps and lanterns.
- (7) Keep machinery and engines clean.
- (8) Repair defective electrical appliances and replace frayed cords.

The NFPA reports that, in addition, structural hazards cause half of all farm fires. If heating plants, chimneys, lightning rods and wiring were installed properly and if flammable wood shingle roofs were replaced with fire-resistant roofing such as asphalt shingles, slate, asbestos or metal, 50 percent of farm fires would be prevented, the NFPA says.

More Materials Boost Building Carpenter Uses Electric Tools

With the supply of hardwood flooring and many other building materials increasing steadily, leading real estate men and builders express belief that the nation's housing shortage will have been alleviated considerably by this time next year.

They point out that an estimated 950,000 dwelling units are expected to be completed in 1948. This would bring to approximately 1,800,000 the number of homes built since the beginning of 1947. Much of the current shortage, it is emphasized, can be traced back several years. As one authority explained recently, the housing emergency was aggravated by the fact that the housing deficiency of the depression, when relatively few persons could afford to build had not been fully replenished at the time the war made necessary a virtual four-year suspension of housing construction. An added factor, of course, has been the greater housing need due to a population increase of approximately 9,000,000 since 1940.

Indicative of the progress now being made by the building industry to provide sufficient housing is the vastly increased production and use of essential building materials which were in critically short supply two years ago.

One of the major factors in the fast pace being set in home building throughout the country is the electrified carpenter, according to a report from the construction industry.

It is pointed out that the carpenter of this automatic age, for instance, seldom pushes and pulls, and sweats, with the old-time hand saw. Instead he guides a speedy motor-driven number to cut his lumber or insulating and building board. And for masonry and metals he has special blades. Among his most prized aids is an electric lock mortiser that reduces mortising time by as much as 80 per cent—it eliminates the time-consuming measurement of the cut to be made at each door. There are also electric drills and hand-model electric Sanders for trim and millwork, as well as the floor models.

Serving other technicians in home building are electric pipe cutters and threaders, described as speeding up construction enormously; electric paint sprayers, motorized wheelbarrows, new-type concrete mixers, factory-made forms for concrete work, and power shovels so improved that they can be used on the smaller jobs.

Still Clean Up Debris Left By Rioting Indians

Amritsar, India—(AP)—The border city of Amritsar is still cleaning up debris left by communal disturbances of a year ago. Nearly 6,000,000 cubic feet of rubble has been removed by 400 to 500 men using trucks, tractors and bulldozers. This has created vast areas of open land in otherwise congested parts of the city.

Forty per cent of the walled city, center of Amritsar, was destroyed in rioting between Muslims, who formed 40 per cent of the population, and Hindus and Sikhs, who made up the remaining 60 per cent. Amritsar, the Sikh's holiest city, and Lahore, across the border in Pakistan, were hardest hit in the bloody Punjab riots.

Most Important Motor Oil Development in 9 years!

Unique "X" Safety Factor, for first time Attacks Major Cause of Engine Wear!

SHELL X-100 MOTOR OIL

Acid Action from "On and Off" Driving Now Counteracted—Engine Life Prolonged

It's not friction, as generally assumed, that causes the most engine wear!

It's Acid Action—chemical etching of engine parts that takes place in the low operating temperatures of today's "On and Off" driving!

In your short trips about town, to school, to the office, the bank—your engine is intermittently "On and Off" . . . runs for brief periods of time only. Hence it seldom warms-up to efficient operating temperatures. It runs "cold." In these short "On" periods, combustion may be incomplete and partially burned fuel gases and moisture attack the smoothly polished metal surfaces chemically. It's this biting Acid Action that accounts for up to 90% of your engine's wear!

Shell Research worked all out on this problem . . . developed a unique "X" safety factor to combat Acid Action. Now 2 1/2 million miles of road testing have proved conclusively that with this "X" safety factor Acid Action is effectively counteracted—engine life is prolonged.

This triumph of Shell Research—another Shell "first"—comes to you only in Shell X-100 Motor Oil. This oil, long famous for its ability to protect your engine under the stresses of sustained high speeds and extreme driving conditions, now has this added protection for every mile you drive. It is unequalled by any other motor oil, no matter its price.

Let your Shell Dealer deal, flush and refill your crankcase with Shell X-100 Motor Oil today.

It's Incomparable!

September Rains Recall Damaging Flood Last Year

By CHESTER WALSH The prolonged rainy period during September this year, when 4.81 inches fell in the Greenville area, recalled to Mrs. C. E. Mendenhall, server here for the U. S. Department of Commerce, the disastrous flash flood that swept down Green Mill Run Sunday morning, September 7 last year, following a torrential downpour of 9.64 inches of rain the night before.

The stream and adjacent low-grounds overflowed their banks, blocked highways, damaged bridges and the highway, washed out a section of the Griffland highway, and flood waters inundated to a depth of two feet the floors of the Golden Leaf tobacco warehouse, in the southeastern part of the city, destroying between $30,000 and $38,000 worth of leaf tobacco.

The flash flood disrupted telephone communications and power service for a while and blocked highway traffic.

Since last year's disastrous flood, following the torrential rain of nearly 10 inches, the U. S. Soil Conservation Service made a survey of the Green Mill Run and adjacent territory in connection with a drainage project to prevent future floods.

Incidentally, the rains this September, nearly five inches during a 30-day period, have been drizzles, and the soil has absorbed most of the moisture instead of it washing away to creeks and the river.

With no heavy upstate rains, Tar River during the past several rainy days, has shown a tendency to fall a few inches instead of rising. Rivermen said winds at the wide mouth of Pamlico River have been favorable for the stream emptying its heavy volume of water in the sound and not holding back the downstream flow.

Mrs. Fattis E. Clark, rain and river observer here for the U. S. Weather Bureau, Raleigh, reported that 1.61 inches of rain fell in the Greenville area between 8 a. m. Tuesday and 8 a. m. Wednesday of this week and that it was the heaviest rainfall in a 24-hour period this year.

Last June, only about one-half an inch of rain fell, and that was the driest June in years. Crops in the fields, particularly tobacco and corn, suffered as a result.

Kiwanians Here Learn Lot About Rehabilitation

By CHESTER WALSH Greenville Kiwanians were impressed last night by a color motion picture, "Come Back," shown under the auspices of Mary McCrary, head of the local Employment Service Division of the U. S. Employment Security Commission, 212 East Fifth Street.

The picture showed with dramatic and appealing effect the wonderful rehabilitation work the government is doing. It emphasized the great possibilities of restoring crippled or blind persons to the ranks of earning and productive citizens and enabling them to take their proper places in everyday life.

Mrs. McCrary, presented by W. Edward Cain, who had charge of the program at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting, said one of the features of the rehabilitation work is the spirit of "strengthening the weak and women's wills to get well."

E. V. Trossau used the Flanagan Bugby Company's machine to project the picture on the screen. President Nathan C. Brooks presided.

Time Gardner won the attendance prize but failed to receive it because he was not wearing his Kiwanis emblem. Dr. S. M. Crisp, W. Edward Cain and Chester Walsh had birthdays and they donated a nickel for each year of their age. "It was a lot of money."

Past Lieut.-Governor Ed E. Rawl had as his guests David J. Whichard Jr., new member of the Daily Reflector firm, and his son, Ed E. Rawl Jr., a student at the University of North Carolina. Other guests were Willie J. Rogers, Junior Kiwanian Frederick P. Brooks Jr., Dr. Robert S. Boyd of Laurinburg, Va. W. G. Winston of Petersburg, Va.

Vice-President Arthur Tripp announced that he will be host at a supper to the Kiwanis officers and directors at Nelson Hopkins Tavern on the Tar, near Bruce, next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

Dr. John Reynolds and Hunter Keck will have charge of next Friday's program.

Ayden Library News Last week we talked to you about a set of new books prepared by the guidance staff of the Ayden, N. C., Inc. This week we shall begin a series of book reviews edited by the Junior Literary Guild of which we are a member this year as in the past. Among The Guild books received this year are:

"The Scarlet Bird," Anderson. "A Girl Can Dream," Cavanna. "Riddle of the Hidden Peace," Cole. "Dusty of Double Seven," Dean. "Jeff Roberts," Ford. "Roommate," Rendina. "Eveglade Gold," Sachett. "Beatty Malone," Weber. Loretta Larkin in "A Girl Can Dream," by Betty Cavanna, excels in athletics at Avondale High School, but finds that her social accomplishments are few. Being a rather blustery girl, she resents being called a "tomboy." When the local airport announces an essay contest open to members of the high school who are 18 or over, with a block of flying lessons as the tempting prize, Betty is definitely interested. She works hard on her essay and then what happens makes another first-rate story. —Ariene Joyner, Ayden High School.

Accordingly the dictator selected little Ethiopia as his first victim. He invaded it in 1935 without declaring war, and started his slaughter with modern weapons and gas. Emperor Haile Selassie resisted as well as he could with his primitive forces and outmoded equipment, but naturally was forced to quit. He himself left for Europe to appeal to the League of Nations.

So that was what! then Il Duce, having waited a while to let things cool off, stuck out that bull-dog jaw of his and seized tiny Albania. Same result.

Meantime Hitler soaked up all this and came to the conclusion that the League of Nations was impotent, and that aggression was safe so long as you picked your victims with discretion. If Japan and Mussolini could get away with it, why not mighty Germany? So the Nazi dictator pursued his hunch until it finally resulted in a World War.

Criminal Court Term Convenes Monday City Hall

Judge Peyton McSwain of Shelby will convene a two-weeks' criminal term of Superior Court at the City Hall Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

Judge J. W. H. Roberts is planning to complete the Police Court docket in time for the higher court to begin its session at that time.

The Cleveland County jurist will be confronted by an unusually heavy docket. Cases to be tried include murder, burglary, robbery, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, and numerous cases of driving drunk which were taken to the higher court on appeal.

(Continued from Page One) vices it would buy. A study of business cycles shows that inflation follows wars. This is usually characterized by cheap money and a business boom. But the business boom usually burns itself out. So prepare yourself. A day of reckoning will surely follow as does night the day.

Stop The Boom! The President and our Congress have offered sure-cures to end our present inflationary spiral. I know of no time in our history where a major price rise was ever halted by politics. High prices are the result of a shortage of goods and a surplus of money. But the business boom usually burns itself out. So prepare yourself. A day of reckoning will surely follow as does night the day.

There are three fundamental things which we can do to help stop this inflationary spiral. If high prices and inflation are the result of (1) a shortage of goods and (2) a surplus of money, then we should (1) increase our productivity along all fronts, (2) wait awhile for buying what we can now get along with, and (3) have Congress repeal the crazy laws it passed in 1932-34. Increased production has already broken the price rise in some commodities. A supply exceeding demand has already shown up along some manufacturing lines. Shortages still exist along such lines as steel and autos. But given time a greater balance in our economy will result.

Let Us Use Religion Tinkering with natural economic laws and with politics will cure neither inflation nor deflation. Let's buy those things which are in full supply and encourage our fellow workers to produce to capacity. In other words, let us use some self-control and religion in buying and producing. This could well mean the difference between a "bust" and continued prosperity.

Strength FOR THE DAY
 AN UPSIDE DOWN WORLD

The accusation made against the Christians of the first century was that they had turned the world upside down. Their accusation was correct. That was exactly what they had done, and they continued to do so for two more centuries. But of all the accusations made against the Church today, one never hears the accusation that Christians are turning the world upside down. Usually it is hard to distinguish a church member from a non-church member. We have passed through two world wars, and the Christian Church has not only been unable to prevent them; it has, as a matter of fact, not even tried. We live in a world that is fast being turned upside down, but the Church is not doing the turning.

Two generations ago the New York City clergyman, Dr. Parkhurst, sent Boss Tweed to Sing Sing prison and dealt political corruption a mighty blow. Here was a Christian turning the world upside down. When John Wesley was born, England was in the midst of a vast moral depression; when he died, he and his associates had raised the moral tone of the whole English-speaking world. Dwight L. Moody a layman, led 500,000 people into active Christian experience.

These all turned the world upside down. But what about you and me? How much are we doing today to keep the good work going?

TREND—As the Democratic caravan moved eastward from its first meeting in Asheville Monday to that at Salisbury on Friday there was perceptible difference in attitude of the people toward the Dixie's Rights party. Dixie's sentiment was not obvious in the far west, and Little was encountered at Morganton, not much more at Rutherfordton, but substantially more in the ninth district which held its meeting at Salisbury. Some observers have speculated on whether the strength will be progressively apparent as the candidates move into the east for subsequent district meetings.

ABSENT—It wasn't that anybody at any of the meetings so far held had any sympathy for the Dixie's or the Wallace. The attendees were blue stocking Democrats, taking the ticket straight. It was the reports they brought from their home precincts and relayed in private conversation that indicated the trend. For example, the Asheville and the Morganton groups applauded vigorously when President Truman's name was linked with other candidates and when speakers paid tribute to his ability. There was somewhat less applause at Rutherfordton on that point—and Truman's name was hardly mentioned at all at Salisbury. Speakers bore down on the state and congressional tickets.

INDIRECT—Truman had indirect endorsement in that each speaker called for support of the entire ticket, from top to bottom, from president to constable. But it was evident that those who knew the district saw wisdom in soft peddling party division.

ENTHUSIASM—In every other respect the rallies grew larger and more enthusiastic. Oldsmen report that each was better than the others which had preceded it, and all better than those of other years.

ACTIVE—Young Democrats apparently are more active in aiding precinct organizations for the election than they have been in many years. The women have not made as much progress in perfecting "ladies aid societies" in the various localities, and attendance of women at some of the meetings has been slightly disappointing to Mrs. D. A. McCormick, state vice chairman. On the other hand, Chairman Capus Wayneck several times has said he finds more enthusiasm for the full ticket among women than among men in some sections. Suggestion has been made that the women perhaps do not like the idea of an almost separate organization, so do not rally to the call for such activity—but will be found working with the rest of the forces until November 2.

SPEECHES—At Salisbury every candidate for state, district or local officer was recognized, and each of the statewide officers was given a chance to speak. Elsewhere the speeches were limited to the senators and governors, with the home district congressman accorded place

Boyle's Column
 By HAL BOYLE

Carver, Mass.—(AP)—This is the wedding day of the Little White Hen and the Little Red Cranberry.

It is a marriage of convenience which the stern and rockbound business world here hopes will echo down the corridors of time as profitably as did the merry courtship of Priscilla and John Alden.

And before you start asking me how in Massachusetts a hen can say "I do" to a cranberry—and I'm not begging the question—let me begin by saying there are several similarities between these two romances, separated by more than 300 years.

The scene of both is a fair tale in the hill swamps not far from the gray rock of Plymouth, where the founding fathers stepped ashore in 1620 and were helped promptly by Squanto, the first of New England's long line of distinguished educators.

And in both cases the love tales arise from a strange triangle.

Every schoolchild remembers that the triangle in the 17th century's puritan heart epic consisted of Captain Miles Standish, his friend, John Alden, and Sassy Priscilla Mullins. Standish was standoffish about telling Priscilla she was the prettiest thing he's seen since he became a widower.

So he sent honest John to ask her if she wouldn't like to wed a soldier tried and true. But Priscilla proved that all girls don't swoon at a uniform. She decided she wanted a man who mowed down the front lawn instead of tramping around the back yard of America mowing down Indians. She melted Alden with a coy, "Oh, Johnny, oh, Johnny, speak for yourself." And she and John were married and had eleven fine, big children—all presumably barrel-chested since Alden was a cooper. In those times posterity was prosperity.

A different kind of prosperity is hoped for the wedding today of the Little White Hen and the Little Red Cranberry. The marriage is just a symbol of a desire by farmers here, where half the nation's cranberries are grown, to wake up the public to the fact that cranberries taste just as good with chicken as they do with turkey.

So they rewrote the complications behind the classic John-Myles-Priscilla marital melange to cover the new problem. They changed an angle in the old familiar Puritan triangle. The new triangle is made up of a pretty white hen, a poor but honest cranberry, and the cranberry's father—a stuffy old turkey.

The turkey (Myles Standish?) for years has dominated his pudgy-cheeked boy (John Alden?). But the cranberry wants to get out from under his father's wing. He believes he could get ahead faster if he could win a place for life at the side of the Little White Hen (Priscilla Mullins?).

Well, true love wins out again. The red cranberry and the Little White hen are to be united in a mock wedding ceremony this afternoon featuring a cranberry festival. And the farmers hope everybody will get the idea that chicken and cranberries do go together.

Acting as minister in this modern morality drama will be Robert F. Bradford, now running for his second term as State Governor. He is a lineal descendant of William Bradford, who served 32 years as Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and left no record of his views on the Cranberry's matrimonial life—or whether John Alden married the right chicken.

What Hollywood couldn't do with that hen-Cranberry wedding scene as the climax of a story of young love moving forward to a bright future from the clouds of the past! Can't you see it? As John Alden and the little Red Cranberry march shout-

WASHINGTON LETTER
 By JANE EARS

Washington—Will a woman ever become president of the United States? Could be, President Truman told a group of women convention delegates to Washington recently. The question pops up almost every election year. Yet so far only two women in the history of the country ever have been nominated for the job. In 1872 and 1884 there were women candidates, although most women still could not vote.

Mrs. Victoria Woodhull, sometimes called "The Terrible Siren," was the first woman candidate for President. She was nominated by the People's Party in 1872 and campaigned for equal rights and a single moral standard. She didn't make much headway. Once a speculator in Wall Street, Mrs. Woodhull later became proprietor with her sister, Tennessee Claflin, of a weekly magazine. It was "Woodhull and Claflin's Weekly," which the Columbia Encyclopedia describes as a "sensational journal which supported, among other reforms, women's suffrage."

In 1884 Mrs. Belva Ann Lockwood of Washington was nominated by the Equal Rights party as its standard bearer at its convention in San Francisco. James G. Blaine and John A. Logan had been selected by the Republican party. The Democrats chose Grover Cleveland, and Thomas A. Hendricks. John P. St. John represented the Prohibition party and Gen. Benjamin F. Butler the Labor party.

At the convention of the two big parties strenuous efforts had been made by the women for inclusion in the platforms of a plank recommending at least some consideration of the women of the country, but it fell upon deaf ears. Mrs. Lockwood, never a quitter, wrote to the Women's Herald of Industry, published here:

"Why not nominate women for important places? Is not Victoria Empress of India? Have we not among our countrywomen persons of as much talent and ability? It not history full of precedents of women rulers? If women in the states are not permitted to vote, there is no law against their being voted for and, if elected, filling the highest office in the gift of the people."

Mrs. Lockwood, who was a member of the bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, got 379 votes in New Hampshire, 1,366 in New York, 371 in Michigan, 1,008 in Illinois, 318 in Maryland, 734 in California and the entire electoral vote of Indiana.

Agricultural Economics. In an article on farmers' finances, he says: "The year 1947 may mark an important turning point in the farmers' financial well-being. For the first time since before the war, farmers' real income decreased. "After payment of federal income taxes, the net income of farm operators in 1947 would buy six per cent less 'family maintenance' than would the smaller returns of 1946. "Since the beginning of 1946, prices paid by farmers have continued to increase more rapidly than prices received. "Noting that many farmers carry a 'heavy burden of debt as result of purchasing farms at sharply increased prices,' Wall adds: 'For these, a decline in farm income could easily lead to financial difficulties.'"

Chapter 10

At precisely eleven o'clock, Walter James pushed his slim hand against AUSTIN CLAPP HOMICIDE and sauntered into the small office. Clapp was snuggling a telephone receiver against his head.

"Golly as all out. But it'll take time. Bye. He cradled the receiver and grinned broadly. "Just talking about you, James. Have part of a chair."

Walter James sat on the corner of the desk with one foot on the floor and lit a cigarette.

"Did you get all your wires off to Atlanta and Denver?" the slender man asked.

Clapp squinted curiously. "Yes. What makes you so sure I wired Denver?"

"You're no fool, Clapp," Walter James announced indulgently. "You figure that if my partner was following a lead to San Diego while on a trip to Denver, he might very well have had some ideas about Denver, too."

"Weren't you interested in Denver?"

"My lead was in San Diego. Also, I have a saving nature. I'll let you send all the long and involved telegrams to the Denver authorities and charge it to the San Diego taxpayers."

Clapp leaned forward and thumbed his big fingers on the green blotter. "I checked with Jim Crane. You know, he inventoried the audience last night. He says there were quite a few drunks but no one was reefered up."

"Any ex-Atlanta citizens drifted in here lately?"

"No. Not with guns on them at any rate," Clapp snorted. "You don't know our town very well. We got a tourist trade to keep up and they're not the kind that go for that sort of thing."

"Any of your local boys play with 45's?"

"No. And for the same reason. We don't have much of any gang trouble down here, James."

The two men looked at each other sardonically. Walter James spoke first.

"Don't forget one main point. I'm not out here to mess up your neat little town. And I'm not out here to clean it up, either. My business is to get within tagging distance of the man who gunned out my partner."

"Because you were good friends with this Lantz or because his murderer was a reflection on you?"

"I answer that, can we get down to cases?"

"Okay."

"It's fifty-fifty. Now what's the deal on that theater manager?"

Clapp yawned and tapped his front teeth with his knuckle. "Greiss"

Countries Unity Communications

Warsaw, Poland — (AP) — Poland and Czechoslovakia, already working hand-in-hand in every branch of economic and industrial recovery, are now planning to unify and expand their communications facilities.

One big project planned is the establishment of direct tele-communications system between Szczecin (Stettin) on the Oder river leading into the Baltic sea, and Czechoslovakia. This is particularly important for Czechoslovakia, since Poland has assigned to the Czechoslovakia a customs-duty-free zone in the Szczecin port.

Poles and Czechs also contemplate setting up a big uniform tele-communications network in the Silesian-Moravian basin. They also are to build a new transit telephone cable between Warsaw and Prague via Koszyce in southern Poland.

Children Pay In Death Custom

Hong Kong — (AP) — "One for good measure" turns the tide against death in the family, says an old Chinese superstition among sampan families. When three or four consecutive deaths occur among these seafaring people the next child born is killed. This goes fate one better, the sampaners say, and prevents any further deaths.

This grim custom came to light at a coroner's inquest into the death of a child found floating in Hong Kong Bay recently. "It's murder all the same," said the coroner in passing judgment on the case.

Phantoms Pile Up 26-To-7 Decision Against Tarboro

Tarboro Eleven Are Victim Eye-Opening Grid Attack

Coaches Agree Booth And Kovich Are Future Stars

Two Tarrytown, N.Y., high school football stars who came South to play ball with the N.C. State Wolfpack are seeing a lot of action on the gridiron this season—but not with the Wolfpack.

Coach Jim Johnson, East Carolina Teachers College football mentor, disclosed today that ace halfback Michael Kovich, and promising tackle Kenneth Booth came to Tarboro to work out under State's Coach Beattie Peathers. Then before the football season got underway, the two boys decided to come to ECTC, where they would have more chance to "show their stuff" and to advance rapidly on a smaller team.

And since they came to Greenville on September 1, they have been doing just that.

The "staff" shown by 165-pound Kovich has already won him the distinction of being "the most promising back I have ever coached," to quote Johnson. Kovich, who is working out under Backfield Coach Jack Boone, has won a first string berth with the Pirates his freshman year. He romped 40 yards to set up a touchdown in the Pirates' first game of the season.

The first week Boone observed the hustling, Mercury-footed Kovich in practice, he commented, "I don't know what team this boy played with in school, but it was a winning ball club. He plays as if he doesn't know what it is to lose a game."

Both coaches agree that Kovich affords a nucleus for future Pirate squads. "If that boy ever gets away, he's gone," Johnson said recently. Kovich is expected to be one of the leading scorers for the Pirates this year.

Booth, a towering 190-pounder, has been playing his heart out to land a starting berth with the Pirates. His competition has been extremely strong. Not only is he competing with one of the squad's co-captains for a starting tackle berth but with a number of equally determined candidates.

But to Booth goes quite an honor for a freshman lineman. He is third tackle on the ECTC varsity. Booth played considerable ball in both of ECTC's games this season and according to Coach Johnson, the towering Tarrytown tackle will see a lot of action before the season is over.

Bland, Alligood And Cox Share Scoring Honors As Forward Wall Repeatedly Cracks Tarboro Line

Greenville high school's Phantoms broke into the win column again last night by decisively thrashing their conference foe from Tarboro 26 to 7 in a muddy field at Guy Smith stadium.

"Little" Bland, 155 pound fullback was the really big gun in the Greenville backfield last night scoring two touchdowns and setting up two more. Jimmy Cox and Joe Alligood shared in the scoring honors with one touchdown each.

It was Greenville's practice all the way as the forward wall opened large holes in the Tarboro line to enable the romping Phantoms to pile up 16 first downs, while the Greenville linemen allowed the Tarboro runners only 5 first downs, one of which was on a penalty.

The Greenville high players got under way early in the first quarter after an exchange of kicks, but their direction was abruptly reversed when Norwood Abrams, scat back of the Tarboro club, intercepted a pass on his own 17 and scampered 43 yards for the lone Tarboro touchdown. Later in the quarter Abrams intercepted another pass to thwart a long march by the locals.

The only other Tarboro threat came late in the final quarter when Bullock, starting on his own 30-yard line, shook off several would-be tacklers and ran to the Greenville 15 before the ball slipped from his grasp and rolled out of bounds. Tackle Charles Kittrell got Greenville out of trouble by throwing Tarboro backs for 10-yard losses on two successive plays.

Greenville's first score came early in the second quarter when fullback Bland took the ball on his own 45 and after four successive running plays brought it to rest of the Tarboro four-yard line. Alligood bulled his way through the Tarboro line for the touchdown, the first of his high school career.

Later in the same quarter, Bland intercepted a Tarboro pass on the 23 and ran it to the Tarboro eight and then on a play from scrimmage picked up four more yards. Jimmy Cox, hard hitting tail back of the Phantoms went over from the four to bring the score to 12-7. Bland on a running play went over for the extra point.

The third quarter was scoreless as was the fourth quarter until Greenville end Sam Northrop recovered a Tarboro fumble on the 12 and set up a score. Cox carried to the two-yard line where Bland crashed over for the third Greenville score. Cox scored the extra point on an off-tackle play.

With time running out in the final quarter, Tarboro took to the air with a series of passes in an attempt to gain the yardage they had lost on the ground, but Bland again intercepted a pass, this time at mid-field, and returned it to the 40. Cox, Bland and Gooz shared the ball carrying duties and drove to the Tarboro one from where Bland plunged over to bring the score to 26 to 7. The attempt for the extra point failed.

The Greenville punt-blocking twins, Guard Bobby Fleming and Center Paul Conway, teamed up again last night to wreck havoc with their opponents backfield. In the second quarter the pair broke through the Tarboro line to block a punt on the 25, and in the final period Fleming blocked a kick on the Tarboro 35 which a team mate recovered on the 10, but the play was nullified because of a clipping penalty called against the Phantoms.

Fleming, an All-Conference guard last year, continued to make his bid for the honor again this year, and possibly an All-State rating as he sliced through the Tarboro line to penalty called against the Phantoms.

Raleigh Lee at the tackle position and Paul Conway backing up the Phantom line played outstanding defensive games as did Ends Raby Edwards and Sam Northrop.

Head Coach Farley and assistant coaches Amos Sexton and Willard Pendleton were well pleased with the fine performance of their charges last night. Said Coach Farley, "All the boys played a whale of a ball game. The backs were running the best I have ever seen them and that line kept opening big holes for our runners even though Tarboro was playing seven-man and sometimes an eight-man line."

Farmville Romps To 38-7 Victory

Farmville—Farmville High bounced back from its last week's defeat to walloop a Colerain eleven 38 to 7 here yesterday afternoon before several hundred football fans.

Coach Elbert Moyer's boys allowed no grass to grow under their feet and hit pay dirt early in the game. Johnny Barrett wide-awake Farmville lineman, blocked a Colerain kick on the 10-yard line and halfback Bobby Brock went off tackle for the score on the next play.

The Farmville team managed to keep control of the ball most of the first half and by half-time had added another score and an extra point to their score while allowing the Colerain squad gains of only a few yards.

In the second half Farmville showed its power by scoring four more times, twice off tackle, once on a pass and once on an end around. Claude Tyson, Frank Dupree and Harry Albritton each accounted for one Farmville score and End Carl King added two touchdowns to his credit by snagging a pass for one T. D. and executing a beautiful end around for another.

Colerain's lone score came on a kick-off when Farmville fumbled in their own end zone and a Colerain player recovered.

Clinch Spots On Ryder Cup Team

Chicago, Oct. 2 — (AP) — Lloyd Mangrum, Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret have clinched places on the 1949 Ryder Cup team, the PGA announced today.

In point totals necessary for selection, Hogan has compiled 798, Demaret 573 and Mangrum 571, for a wide margin over all contenders.

The matches against the British will be held Sept. 16 and 17 at Ganton near Scarborough in England.

Joe Gordon of the Cleveland Indians this season became the fourth active player in the American League to hit over 200 homers. Joe DiMaggio, Rudy York and Ted Williams are the others.

Gridiron Gossip

By "BOO BOO" BUTLER

The 1948 officers for the Northeastern Conference were elected in Roanoke Rapids. Joe Tally, of Roanoke Rapids, succeeds J. G. McCracken, of Elizabeth City, as president. Elected vice-president was V. M. Wetzel, of Tarboro. Joe Kornegay, of Washington, was elected secretary-treasurer.

A suggestion was passed to elect an all-star football team to be determined by the vote of players on each team . . . not voting for their own members. A trophy will be given to the outstanding defensive player in the conference. The trophy is to be presented by George DuBois of Kinston. We are hoping it will be an annual affair. Roanoke Rapids, Elizabeth City, Edenton, Washington, New Bern, Tarboro, Greenville and Kinston comprise the Northeastern circuit.

Other Scores

Ayden 6 Smithfield 0
Farmville 38 Colerain 7

The boys from Elizabeth City are saying that if you want to stop "Whaley" from Kinston, get a gun! In the first four minutes of play last night, Whaley ran the ball 38 and 45 yards, respectively for the Red Devils' first two touchdowns.

After trailing through the first period, the Greenville Phantoms exploded for 4 touchdowns to top the Tars. Thinking of that defense trophy, Bobby Fleming played a bang-up game at his guard position.

The largest crowd in the history of the Appalachian eleven is expected to be on hand tonight in Boone. The Mountaineers are playing host to Elon. The game has been booked as "homecoming," and a big show has been planned at the half.

A certain business man was asked

Ayden Looks For Winning Season

Ayden High Football team, under the leadership of Coach Stuart Tripp is out on the gridiron this year with high hopes. Ayden is filling an eight game schedule this season with nine lettermen and quite a number of new boys to fill the positions for the Tornados. This week's game is scheduled with the Jacksonville Cardinals. At the center post will be stalwart Greg Davis. Guard slots are well fortified with R. H. Mason, Charles Hart, Troy Jackson, Jimmy Bright, and B. L. Byrd. The ends are manned by Co-Captain Bob Holland and Lanky Billy Jenkins. Other ends are Elbert Brown and Billy Harris. Backfield starters are quarterback Leonard "Teddy" Bullock and speed merchants, Jimmy McGormick and Tommy Bullock. Co-Captain Jack Harrington, since he shifted from guard to blockingback, is standing out in the Tornados lineup. Other backs who are showing up well are Mac Hardy and Darrell Worthington.

The homecoming tilt with Jacksonville Oct 8 is slated to be a game fought on fairly even terms. The Jacksonville game finds Ayden in good physical condition after the encounter with Smithfield.

Ayden high school is behind the team all the way with very capable cheerleaders. They are: Helen Joyce Whitehurst, Chief, Janice Turnage Barbara Little, Alice Grace Sumrell Louise McLawhorn, Clara Lou Dall, and Sue Jackson.

Plan Keep Director At Recreation Park

It is planned to keep a director at Cotanche park to aid the children in games of Soft Ball, hand ball and horse shoe pitching and any match games by any group who wish to use the ground from 3:30 p. m. to 5:30 and Saturdays 9 to 12 and 2 to 5:30 p. m. on all days when not bad weather until further notice. This will be continued through the winter months if the attendance of the park justifies it.

Football Coach Bert LaBrucherie of UOLA has returning lettermen at every position.

yesterday what he was going to do in Wilson tonight . . . see the football game, or the beauties. He remarked, "Nope, I'm going to see the bulldogs."

The Shriners will crown "Miss A. C." at the half of the football game tonight. The Judges had a hard time picking the biggest and ugliest bulldog. Over a hundred entered for the "honor" of mascot to the Atlantic Christian Bulldogs.

Tribe Cracking? Looked Like It Against Tigers

Cleveland, Oct. 2 — (AP) — Are the Cleveland Indians finally cracking? Are they getting jittery?

Will history repeat, with Detroit's Tigers frustrating another Cleveland pennant dream, a la 1947?

Veteran baseball observers were asking these questions today, as the Indians approached the final two games of the regular campaign, after seeing their first place margin over Boston and New York whittled to one thin length yesterday.

Certainly, events which led to Cleveland's 5-3 setback by the Tigers gave them cause to wonder. The Indians definitely did not look like the same ball club which blazed through September burning up everything in sight.

What impressed the scribes who've hooked on with the club were the spirit, hustle, fight and poise of the Tribe. The first three assets apparently are still in evidence. It was the fourth item, the matter of poise, that yesterday caused wholesale raising of eyebrows.

For the first time in a month, the Indians did not look like a flag winner, while blowing a vital verdict to the Bengals. The deepest impression was jumpy. Larry Doby misjudged a fly; Bob Lemon was guilty of a bad throw on a play he shouldn't have attempted; Jim Hegan's low throw to first was dropped by Walt Judnich, at the cost of a rally-killing double play. All these combined to beat Cleveland.

Then there was the futile relief performance by Russ Christopher. Calm and capable in similar emergencies throughout the year, the lanky side-armed, possibly nervous served four straight balls to the first batter he faced in the ninth, forcing home the tying run.

Lt. John F. West and Lt. John E. Sauer, former West point grid stars, are on Army's football coaching staff.

All five members of Fordham's football coaching staff attended the Rose Hill institution.

Five Players On Injured List As Pirates Relax

The East Carolina Teachers College Pirates went through a hard inter-squad scrimmage game yesterday and called it quits for the weekend. And Coaches Jim Johnson and Jack Boone both agreed that it was probably a good thing that the Pirates had an open date this week.

Five varsity men are on the injury list.

Johnny Smith, fullback, and Billy Smith, halfback, have both been temporarily sidetracked from the gridiron because of injuries. Ed Tanner, stellar end, is benched with a knee injury and big center Buck Wilson is out for the third week with an injured leg.

Next week the ECTC squad will be drilled on single wing defenses to be used against the Elon Christians in Burlington next weekend.

In the 1914 World's Series the Boston Braves beat the Athletics four straight with Dick Rudolph and Bill James winning two games.
