

Major Speech By Truman Tonight

Arrives In Philadelphia; Criticizes GOP Labor And Housing Policies; Four-Day Swing Revised To Three-Day Tour; Will See Marshall

Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—President Truman said today that Governor Thomas E. Dewey apparently is running on a slogan of "two families in every garage" as he moved into Philadelphia for a major Democratic campaign speech tonight.

Mr. Truman preceded his appearance here with a train platform talk at Wilmington, Del., where he criticized GOP labor and housing policies.

He promised that the Democrats will write "decent democratic labor legislation" to replace the Taft-Hartley Act. Then, turning to the housing shortage, he said that in President Hoover's day the GOP slogan was "two cars in every garage."

"Apparently," he went on, "the Republican candidate is running on a slogan of two families in every garage." Mr. Truman did not mention Dewey by name.

President Truman had this to say today about John L. Lewis' attack on him yesterday as a "malicious, scheming sort of an individual."

"You remember the statement he made about John Garner—it made Garner a great man."

The United Mine Workers leader once described former Vice President Garner as a "labor baiting, poker playing, whiskey drinking evil old man."

His characterization of Mr. Truman was delivered at yesterday's opening of the mine workers biennial convention in Cincinnati.

The President's comment came as he started on a three-day eastern campaign swing that will carry him into the home state of his Republican presidential rival, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Mr. Truman had planned to make it a four day tour, but cut it short after summoning Secretary of State Marshall back from Paris to report on the international situation.

The President's special train pulled out at 8:45 a.m. (EST). He will make a major speech in Philadelphia tonight at 9:30 p.m. (EST). Other major talks are set for Jersey City, N.J., tomorrow night and Buffalo, N.Y., on Friday night.

The White House announcement late yesterday that Mr. Truman had directed Marshall to return from the United Nations sessions on Saturday was coupled with the cancellation of a number of rear platform

Veto Talked For Council Action

Moscow, Oct. 6 (AP)—Russians read in Soviet newspapers today that Andrei V. Vishinsky may veto any action by the Security Council against the Soviet Union in the Berlin dispute.

Deadly Tremor

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 6 (AP)—Two hundred persons were killed and thousands were injured by an earthquake last night, a dispatch from Meshed said today.

Damage was reported great. The dispatch said parts of the famous Meshed mosque called Goharshad collapsed.

Meshed is the capital of Khorasan Province, in eastern Iran. (Strong earth tremors were reported from various observatories last night. The West Bromwich, Eng., observatory reported severe shocks, centered in the area of northern Iran, continuing for three hours. Fordham University in New York placed what it called "a rip-mor" of a quake about 4,600 miles from New York. Fordham said the quake seemed far heavier than the one which took 3,232 lives at Fukui, Japan, last June.)

Suggests Boost In Miners' Dues

John L. Lewis Recommends Doubling Of UMW Monthly Dues

Cincinnati, Oct. 6 (AP)—John L. Lewis recommended to the United Mine Workers convention today that Union dues be boosted to $4.00 a month.

Monthly dues now average $2.00 of which the International gets 90 cents.

The proposal was referred to a committee studying constitutional changes.

Another change proposed would increase the initiation fee for new members from $10 to $50.

Lewis also recommended that Union members who are receiving $100 a month pensions or are on distress rolls pay $1 a month. They now are exempt from dues collections.

He also proposed that payments by members to local union or district death benefit or burial funds be ended as soon as possible.

The $4 monthly dues would be divided this way: One dollar to the local union, one dollar to the district organization, and two dollars to the International union.

Lewis and fellow officers of the United Mine Workers earlier hailed the miners' new pension contract as the major union achievement of their generation.

Report Prowler Seen In Legation

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—A Hungarian diplomat said today that a prowler was detected in the Legation building Sunday night and fired one shot from a revolver while fleeing.

Thurmond Brings Election Speech To New Yorkers

Only Campaign Talk In Northern State Aimed At Civil Rights Program

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina told New Yorkers today that "if we need a federal law for murder by lynchers, you need a federal law for murder by gangsters."

The states rights candidate for president, in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Overseas Press club, argued against the civil rights program and declared:

"Neither the people of New York nor those of South Carolina approve murder. Lynching is murder, just as gangster killing is murder."

"We had one lynching in the south last year. You have had more gang murders in New York in five years than we have had lynchings in the south in 50 years."

Thurmond, making his only speech of the campaign in the north, declared the prohibition amendment was an instance of failure of "policing by the federal government."

"You here in New York," he said, "resent this effort, by a federal police power, to make this city dry, even though the federal agents were acting under authority of a constitutional amendment."

"Well, let me ask you how you think we feel in the south when a President of the United States, and a Democratic president at that, seeks, not by a constitutional amendment, but by legislative fiat, to use a federal police power to take over our election machinery, abrogate our segregation laws, and impose employment restrictions contrary to the wishes of both employers and employees."

On the question of segregation, Thurmond suggested that if New Yorkers oppose it, "then abolish it all away with your Harlan."

"Personally," he added, "I think it would be a mistake, but if the people of New York want no segregation, that is their right under the constitution, and no federal law should seek to force segregation upon you."

"And by the same reasoning, no federal law should attempt to force the south to abandon segregation, unless they have it and know it best for both races."

High Winds Hit Tokyo As City Awaits Typhoon

Tokyo, Oct. 6 (AP)—Winds up to 40 miles an hour struck Tokyo tonight as the city awaited a typhoon that caused $10,000,000 damage on Okinawa.

High tides were reported along the eastern coast of Honshu Island. Precautions had been taken in the U. S. bases of Yokohama, Yokosuka and Tokyo Bay to protect shipping.

Hurricane Heads Out Over Ocean

South Florida Escapes With Little Serious Damage; Storm Drops Flooding Rains; Tornadoes Sprouted In Area

Miami, Fla., Oct. 6 (AP)—South Florida's "Gold Coast" dried out today after a tropical hurricane scrubbed the area with wind and rain.

One person died of a heart attack and six others were injured in the greater Miami area but all Florida apparently escaped serious wind and water damage.

Cuba counted 11 dead, 300 injured and crop damage estimated at $6,000,000 when the storm raked the island before moving on to Florida.

The Caribbean-born storm scored a direct hit on Miami. The center of the great swirling mass passed directly over the city early last night, roared on to Fort Lauderdale and sloped out to sea at Pompano.

Sprouting at least three tornadoes before it left Florida, the hurricane dumped 9.56 inches of rainfall at the Miami International airport and flooded the western suburbs of Greater Miami, Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale.

One tornado wrecked 13 houses and injured three persons at Pompano. Another twisted hit near Ocala where it flattened two dwellings. A third sliced the top off a two-story farm dwelling four miles west of Fort Lauderdale.

The storm lashed Miami with sustained winds of 78 miles an hour and gusts up to 90.

West Palm Beach had winds up to 52 miles an hour as the storm center passed 40 miles to the east and continued northeastward in the Atlantic.

Winds up to 130 miles an hour raked Cuba from Puerto De La Cumbre to Puerto De Mariel. The fishing port of Batabano, 30 miles south of Havana, was hard hit.

The Cuban navy chief of staff reported two Coast Guard cutters, two PT boats and two launches of the Cuban navy sank in Havana harbor. The city was without lights last night.

The storm came just two weeks after another hurricane poured six inches to a foot of water over the southern half of Florida. That storm flooded thousands of acres of farm and grazing lands around Lake Okechobee.

Campaign Train Slowed By Fire

Gov. Earl Warren And Family Routed From Car By Flames

En Route with Warren to Chicago, Oct. 6 (AP)—Flames sweeping the rear truck of Gov. Earl Warren's private car early today routed the governor and his family from bed and halted the vice presidential special.

The blaze had its origin in a journal box, and a train staff member said it had seriously damaged the train.

A trainman spotted the flames as the Republican vice presidential special was speeding toward Cincinnati about 6:30 a.m. east of Marysville, Ky.

Damage to the car, the "Aleutian," caused trainmen to uncouple it. It was left on the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks about 10 miles east of Marysville to be hauled into Cincinnati for repairs.

At Cincinnati, where the train was 3 1/2 hours behind schedule, another car was coupled to the rear of the train.

Mrs. Warren was able to gather up only enough clothing to meet her family's needs at Chicago tonight.

All other possessions had to be left behind in the car, which is to be hauled to Chicago after rush repairs in Cincinnati in time to rejoin the train before it pulls out of Chicago tomorrow night.

Navy Proves Can Deliver Planes In Faster Time

Honolulu, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Navy sent 12 short range combat planes 2,426 miles across the Pacific yesterday to prove a point.

The point: To deliver such aircraft over ocean distances beyond their fuel capacity by the shortest, quickest route, let them fly—with refueling stops aboard conveniently spaced carriers.

That's what the 12 fighters and dive-torpedo bombers did for the first time. They hippity-hopped from Moffett Field, Calif., near San Francisco, to Barbours Point, Hawaii, landing on two carriers in between. The elapsed time: 11 hours, 33 minutes.

Rear Admiral J. M. Hoskins, chief of staff to the commander of the Pacific, reminded newsmen after the landings that the planes were "combat ready" for action when they arrived.

Plenty Of Kick In Onion Whiskey

Osaka, Japan, Oct. 6 (AP)—Instead of putting onions in their stew, Japanese are going to get stewed on onions.

Onion whiskey, onion brandy and onion sake will go on sale at Christmas. Manufacturers promise plenty of kick—and without the smell of onions.

Court Operates On A Cash Basis

Charlotte, N.C., Oct. 6 (AP)—It's cash on the barrelhead—no credit—in Mecklenburg Superior Court.

A convicted man asked the court today to give him until January to pay his fine.

"Sorry, no," Judge Wilson Warlick replied. "The courts simply cannot operate on a credit basis. Defendants must pay their fines or go to jail."

The man got a 90-day road sentence.

World Series

Braves Field, Boston, Oct. 6 (AP)—Johnny Sain hurled the first 1-0 World Series shutout since 1923 today when he blanked Cleveland's Bobby Feller, to give the Boston Braves the opening game of the best-of-seven series before some 32,000 fans.

Wallace Strongly Denounces Policy Opposing Russia

Says Military Have Assumed Major Power; Criticizes Defensive Planning

San Francisco, Oct. 6 (AP)—Henry Wallace said today the military—by what amounts to a "coup d'etat"—has taken over civilian power to a greater extent than ever before in American history.

And he said some generals "freely admit" that we are turning planes and guns over to Chiang Kai-shek in order to "build China into an attack base for the war the Pentagon boys are so blithely planning."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Commonwealth Club, the Progressive party candidate for president made perhaps his most strongly worded assault on U.S. foreign policy of the campaign.

Wallace denounced the Truman Doctrine of aid to nations fighting Communism and said that under it: "A 'disastrous strap' in the world can 'hit the American treasury jackpot' by raising the cry that he is afraid of Communism."

Russia and Communism have been built up as a "gigantic red herring" to divert attention from a plan to restore a "lushly profitable war economy" to America.

The candidate said General George Marshall's "sincere" effort to get the Chinese people together in a unified and stable government was "about the last gasp of American liberal foreign policy."

"After this, said Wallace, came the 'coup d'etat' in which not only military leaders but also financial leaders came to unprecedented power in the government."

Wallace quoted General Claire Chennault as telling Congress last March 10: "Modern bombers operating from airfields in China are within much closer range of Russia's industrial areas than bombers based in the United States. In fact, Siberia east of Lake Baikal could be isolated from the remainder of Russia by air attack launched from these Chinese fields. China bases are even closer than North African bases and direct to what we consider the super-strategic Middle East."

Nisei Receives Death Sentence In Treason Case

Los Angeles, Oct. 6 (AP)—California-born Tomoya Kawakita, convicted of committing brutalities against American war prisoners while he was an interpreter at Japan's infamous Camp Oyeama, is under sentence of death for treason.

Federal Judge William C. Mathes yesterday sentenced the 28-year-old Nisei to die in the gas chamber at San Quentin prison. No date for the execution was fixed.

Morris Lavine, defense counsel, immediately filed notice for appeal.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Mathes said that to spare Kawakita's life "would dishonor the memory of Pvt. Sadao Munemori" (Nisei winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor).

Vishinsky Calm As Accusations Made

Robbers' Cave? Soviet Delegate To Security Council Silently Listens To Charges By Western Powers That Russia Is Endangering World Peace

Paris, Oct. 6 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France in turn charged before the United Nations Security Council today that Russia is endangering world peace by blockading Berlin.

Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, who announced yesterday a Soviet boycott of the debate, sat silently in both the morning and afternoon council sessions. He was at times interested, rapidly jotting notes. At other times he appeared grim or bored.

The old prosecutor gave no hint whether he would join the debate at some later session. He contended yesterday there is no blockade; that the Security Council is incompetent to settle the matter; and that only the Foreign Ministers' Council can solve German problems until a peace treaty is written.

Philip C. Jessup, a Columbia University professor, led the west's assault by declaring the United States has made every effort to agree with Russia and "remove the threat to the peace which has been created by the Soviet Union and which, until it remains, is the insuperable obstacle to free negotiations."

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain charged in the afternoon session: "The Soviet Union has resorted to illegal and forcible measures in order to assert its will in Berlin. This is something which can not be justified."

Then Alexandre Parodi of France took the floor and told the Council Russia alone "bears direct responsibility for the dangerous situation created in Berlin."

When he finished, Argentina's Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia, presiding, said no other speakers were listed, and he intended to adjourn the Council, saying an interim waiting period until a further listing is called by the secretary.

Vishinsky then took the floor with a grimace. He said he had no date set for the next meeting. Should the Council try to take action against Russia, a Soviet veto is expected.

Vishinsky at first took copious notes and made great flourishes, indicating he was interested. Later he threw down his pencil and earphones, whipped out a French Socialist newspaper and began to read.

He was taking notes, however, when Jessup, a Columbia University professor, declared at the outset of his speech: "We have not made a restricted or qualified submission to the Security Council."

"The United States, Jessup said, is determined 'to take such measures as may be necessary to insure the safety and subsistence of our forces in Berlin and of the population committed to their charge by four power agreement.'"

There was no immediate indication of how Vishinsky would carry out his avowed intention of not participating in the hearing against Russia. Asked if he would speak during the Council session, he told:

Spain's Place Today

Some Influential Americans Are Calling For Restoration Of Relations With Spain; Could Be An Important Ally; Franco's Greatest Sin; How Far Did He Go?

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

U.S. Senator Chan Gurney, chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee, after conferring with Generalissimo Franco in Madrid, has called for restoration of "complete relations between Spain and the other great powers," including America.

James A. Farley, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, visiting the Spanish capital and due for a conference with Franco today, also has advocated renewal of diplomatic relations with Spain. He said this should be done without delay, and added:

"We have helped the countries of Europe in their fight on Communistic inroads. Spain's position on Communism is well known. If trouble faces us in the future Spain would be an important ally."

Well, now, this development is of more than passing interest in view of the fact that the generalissimo for years has been made to stand in the corner as the bad lad of Europe. To be sure, the feeling about Franco hasn't been so bitter in some important world capitals as would appear on the surface.

Still, he has been outside the pale. Communist Russia and her satellites have, of course, been among Franco's bitterest and most active enemies because the Spanish government he overthrew in 1939 was strongly Leftist. As a matter of fact the Soviet Union gave the republic material aid in the fight against Franco.

Still, the generalissimo's greatest sin was in accepting aid from Nazi Hitler and Fascist Mussolini, and then—in the view of many observers—showing signs of reciprocating in some degree during the World War. There has been much argument over this point, but the generalissimo certainly laid himself open to the comment that "birds of a feather flock together."

At present, when I was in Madrid in '45 I had a long interview with General Franco, and I flung this blunt question at him: "The people of the United States have fought a great war against Nazism and Fascism. Thousands of our boys have died for this cause. Rightly or wrongly the American

Car Collides With Rear Parked Truck

A police report today stated that a car driven by Norman F. Smith of Scotland Neck collided with the rear end of a truck loaded with corn and owned by W. C. Jenkins of Greenville on Dickinson Avenue, near Columbia Avenue, last night.

Smith received a bad cut on the forehead and was taken to Pitt General Hospital. Police who investigated the collision issued a warrant against Smith charging him with reckless driving. The front end of the car was badly damaged.

SIX POLIO CASES

Remarkable Campaign

Two Candidates Appear To Be Walking In Each Other's Footsteps; The Two Trips To West Coast; Summoning Of Foreign Advisors; Only Domestic Differences

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—There never has been a presidential campaign quite like this one.

It's remarkable: the identical things the two big candidates do. For example, their bringing home from Paris this week Secretary of State Marshall and John Foster Dulles.

But go back a bit— Truman, with a 17-car train, started out on his campaign. He made his big opening talk near Des Moines. Two days later, Gov. Dewey, with a 17-car train, started out on his campaign. He made his big opening talk at Des Moines.

Then Mr. Truman continued west to the Pacific Coast, making speeches as he went.

And Gov. Dewey continued west to the Pacific Coast, making speeches as he went.

There wasn't any similarity between the two men's talks when they spoke of what's happened here at home the past few years.

Mr. Truman used bare-knuckles on Dewey's Republicans for what they did or didn't do.

Dewey used gloves to hit Mr. Truman's Democrats for what they did or didn't do.

That was on domestic affairs. But when it came to talking about foreign affairs the two men spoke pretty much the same language.

That's because the Democrats and Republicans, although they fight over what's done here at home, see very nearly eye to eye on our foreign policy.

They're agreed on helping Europe, standing stiff against Russia, and blocking the threat of Communism. But while the two presidential candidates were trying to snag votes in the west, this country reached a crisis with Russia in Europe.

This week the candidates were back home and—

Yesterday John Foster Dulles, Dewey's chief adviser on foreign affairs, after a special flight from Paris, told the governor first hand the score in Europe.

And—

Yesterday, just about the time the Dewey-Dulles talk was ending, the White House announced that Secretary of State Marshall had returned from Paris in 1948.

Meeting Of Cominform Said Staged In Germany

Berlin, Oct. 6 (AP)—The American military government's official German newspaper said today a meeting of the Communist international information bureau (Cominform) was held recently in Dessau, in the Soviet zone of Germany.

The Dessau meeting would have been the first Cominform meeting on German soil and probably the first attended by German representatives. Dessau is in the province of Saxony-Anhalt and is about 75 miles southwest of Berlin.

The paper said those in attendance included political officers of the Soviet military administration in Germany, representatives of the Communist parties of Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary and Sweden.

Western political circles have been speculating for the past three weeks that a Cominform meeting was in session or already had been held somewhere behind the iron curtain.

Top Communist leaders in several of the eastern European nations in the Soviet Orbit were absent from their posts shortly after mid-September. Among them were President Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia, Romanian Foreign Minister and Paucker and Bulgarian Premier Georji Dimitroff.

Gottwald was known to have gone to the Crimea "for a vacation." Dimitroff was reported officially to have been on vacation, but it was rumored he was in Russia.

Also out of public view for awhile was Mathew Rakosi, Deputy Premier of Hungary. All these figures now have returned to their capitals.

Reverend Bradshaw Speaks Lector Club
 The Lector Book Club held its first meeting of the fall on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Travis Flanagan on Eastern street. The home was beautifully decorated with fall flowers. The president, Mrs. E. D. Whitley, Jr., welcomed the members back after the summer vacation and expressed hopes for another successful year.

Following the business session, Mrs. Herbert Hadley graciously introduced the speaker, the Reverend Robert W. Bradshaw, Mr. Bradshaw's "Philosophy of Religion," was presented in a most enlightening and interesting manner.

The hostess served a delicious dessert course with demi-tasse coffee. At the conclusion of the meeting books were distributed. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. John Miller of Williamston, Mrs. Glenn W. Brooks of Fayetteville, and Mrs. Charles Howard, Jr.

Attention Garden Club Members
 Wednesday afternoon, October 6, from 2 to 4 in the Woman's club, there will be a class in corsage-making—Frank Neal, instructor in the Art Department at E. C. T. C., will be teacher and demonstrator. Every member of the Garden Club is invited to participate in this group meeting. Those attending are asked to take with them any flowers, foliage, ribbons, etc., that may be used for corsages.

Miss Grace Earle, art instructor in the Greenville city schools, will give a demonstration in making a lei. Small chrysanthemums will probably be our best flowers for a lei. Members having any are asked to take them to the meeting.

Dramatic Club Fills Leading Roles For 'As You Like It'

Shirley Cowburn of Lumberton and Charles Williams of Erwin have been chosen to take the leading roles of Rosalind and Orlando in a production of "As You Like It," to be staged by the Teachers Playhouse, dramatic club at East Carolina Teachers College, as part of the program for Alumni Homecoming Day on October 15.

The play, a shortened version of the Shakespearean comedy, will also be given at the fall meeting of the Northeastern District of the North Carolina Education Association at the college on October 19 and later at a performance for English students and other guests.

Helen Winslow of Goldsboro is the student director of the play and has as her assistant Mildred Oaks of Hookerton. Dr. Lucile H. Charles director of speech and dramatics at East Carolina, is supervising the production.

Other students appearing in the cast include Lola Stephenson, Willow Springs; Herbert L. Clark, Beaufort; Richard Powers, St. Paul's; Donald Blood, Reidsburg, Wis.; Richard Whittington, Snow Hill; Rupert Browning, Logan, W. Va.; Virgil Clark, Greenville; Al Harrington, Thomasville; Alton Finch, Roanoke Rapids; Claude B. West, Jr., Greenville; Miles Buck, Syracuse, N. Y.; Dorothy Thomas, Conetoe; Ralph Rives, Enfield; and Marvin Slaughter, Dunn.

Assisting with technical details of the production are Geraldine Weathers, Shelby; Emma Gurley, Goldsboro; Ellen Joyce Clark, Everett; Janie Hatalip, Oak City; Robert Robinson, Washington, D. C. A. E. Manning, Jamesville; Ruth Boston, Wilmington; Roland Braswell, Goldsboro; Daniel Keegan, Grand Falls, N. B. Canada; Mary Lou Austin, Fuquay Springs; and Robert Chinnis, Wilmington.

Masonic Supper Honors Member

Monday night, at a supper preceding their regular stated communication, Greenville Lodge No. 294, A.F.&M., honored one of its most beloved members, B. B. Sugg, for his splendid work as chairman of the Building Fund Committee in raising the money to liquidate the debt on the Masonic Temple. Despite the inclement weather, a very large crowd which filled the spacious Fred M. Stokes dining room of the Temple was present to witness the ceremony featuring several excellent speeches and the unveiling of a plaque in the lounge by B. B. Sugg, Jr., F. H. Sugg, Rev. Robert S. Boyd and H. E. Alder, dedicating it as the B. B. Sugg Lounge. H. E. Alder was master of ceremonies.

William J. Bundy, past grand master of Masons in North Carolina, reviewed the history of the building project and declared the outstanding event participated in by him, as grand master, was the dedication of this Temple by the Grand Lodge. He stated that credit for this ideal lodge building, costing approximately $40,000, was due to a large number of the members, but, as in every great endeavor, there were a few who spearheaded the undertaking. Two men in particular, he said, richly deserve the honors accorded them by the Lodge, Fred M. Stokes, the architect and supervisor of the building operations, who was honored in a previous ceremony by having the dining room named for him, and B. B. Sugg, who after the building was finished, as chairman of the Building Fund Committee, undertook the prosaic job of raising the money to pay for it. He praised Past Master L. F. Stokes for appointing the best qualified man for the task.

Stokes paid tribute to the untiring zeal which characterized Sugg's work toward the goal set, that of paying off the mortgage in its entirety.

Master W. Herman Hardee also expressed his commendation for the excellent work done by the chairman and his committee; and told of his pleasure, as Master of the Lodge, of taking an active part earlier in the year in the ceremony of burning the mortgage.

Sugg, in his speech, remarked that so many nice things had been said about him, it reminded him of the story about the widow, who at the funeral of her husband, heard the preacher extolling the virtues of the deceased to such lengths, went forward several times and peered intently into the coffin. Finally the preacher asked her why she came forward so many times. She replied that it was her husband who was dead, but he must be talking about someone else. He expressed his great appreciation of what the lodge had done for him and declared that but for the hard work of his committee the goal would not have been reached.

Churchman Given High Praise As He Plans Retire

By WYATT BROWN

Ecstasies of praise and eulogies were heaped upon E. L. Baker by the pastor and members last night when it was found he wished, due to ill health, to be relieved of the duties as treasurer and house and grounds committee of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, which position he has filled for the past twenty years for the Methodists. Those who spoke praised him for untiring efforts to carry on his duties. Some of the younger speakers said his devotion to the church had been an inspiration to them.

The eminent retirement was discovered as the Board of Stewards took up the matter of election of officers. This year's officers were re-elected with the exception of treasurer. The officers for the coming conference year are: William H. Taff, chairman; Sam E. Underwood, Jr., vice-chairman; E. L. Willard, secretary; and V. C. Fleming, Jr., treasurer. The chairman and vice-chairman are serving for their fourth year.

Robert W. Bradshaw, pastor, told the Stewards that technical plans for the annual conference in November were progressing nicely. He urged that spiritual preparation should be of prime importance. At the Stewards meeting the pastor announced that 496 delegates had been arranged for in homes in Greenville so far.

Arthur Tripp Host At Supper For Kiwanis Officers

By CHESTER WALSH

The Kiwanis Club's officers and directors were guests of Vice-President Arthur Tripp at a barbequed chicken supper last night at Nelson Hopkins Tavern on the "Yar" in the Principality of Bruce. In addition to the officers and directors, there were a dozen guests, nearly all of them former officers and directors of the club. President N. C. Brooks presided.

Reports of various committees were gratifying. The ladies' night banquet will be held at the college October 22, instead of the 15th. Five past presidents of the club will be appointed a committee at the October 29 meeting to nominate new officers and four directors. The election will be held November 5.

Those present at last night's meeting were: President Brooks, D. C. Moore, Jr., Dick Bundy, Dr. M. F. Hoot, Tom Wilson, Milo Smith, Buster Keck, J. A. Collins, V. A. Merritt, Jesse Moye, Guy Smith, Arthur Tripp, the host, Fred Stokes, Dr. J. M. Barrett, J. D. Elice, Ed

Medical Test Proved This Great to Relieve MONTHLY FEMALE PAINS

Are you troubled by distress of female functional monthly disturbances? Does this make you suffer from pain, feel so nervous, weak, high-strung—as such times? Then so by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms! In a recent medical test this proved remarkably helpful to women who troubled this way. Any druggist.

Our people should look after the hog and hominy part. Money crops are all right, but the man who has to buy meat, hay and corn will undoubtedly feel it at the present prices.

Churchman Given High Praise As He Plans Retire

By WYATT BROWN

Ecstasies of praise and eulogies were heaped upon E. L. Baker by the pastor and members last night when it was found he wished, due to ill health, to be relieved of the duties as treasurer and house and grounds committee of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, which position he has filled for the past twenty years for the Methodists. Those who spoke praised him for untiring efforts to carry on his duties. Some of the younger speakers said his devotion to the church had been an inspiration to them.

The eminent retirement was discovered as the Board of Stewards took up the matter of election of officers. This year's officers were re-elected with the exception of treasurer. The officers for the coming conference year are: William H. Taff, chairman; Sam E. Underwood, Jr., vice-chairman; E. L. Willard, secretary; and V. C. Fleming, Jr., treasurer. The chairman and vice-chairman are serving for their fourth year.

Robert W. Bradshaw, pastor, told the Stewards that technical plans for the annual conference in November were progressing nicely. He urged that spiritual preparation should be of prime importance. At the Stewards meeting the pastor announced that 496 delegates had been arranged for in homes in Greenville so far.

There are at least 35 orders of living birds, such as penguins, loons, hawks, pigeons, parrots, songbirds, and others.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CURE FOR LONELINESS
In the South Atlantic is a tiny island, Tristan da Cunha. It was originally settled by mariners, mostly pirates, who when visited by an English ship and asked what most they needed replied, "Wives." The English brought them a consignment of wives from Africa, and settling down here on the top of this mountain which sticks up out of the ocean, they established a community which today consists of about 200 persons. They are a mildly pigmented skinned people who speak English with very delightful accent.

To a westerner venturing upon this island, it seems to be the last place anyone would want to live. The climate is most unpleasant; the soil—what little there is of it—is thin; the life of the people very primitive. Yet when a few have wandered away from the island, they have returned in a few years and announced their determination to stay. An Anglican clergyman is the real factotum of the little civilization. He is God's shepherd of the flock, the wise man to whom all mooted questions are referred.

Some tourists, stopping off at the island a few years ago, attended the church service. The rector in the course of his sermon made this statement: "Where God, there is no loneliness."
His message made a deep impression on the tourists in his congregation. They knew that it came from a very deep and beautiful experience.

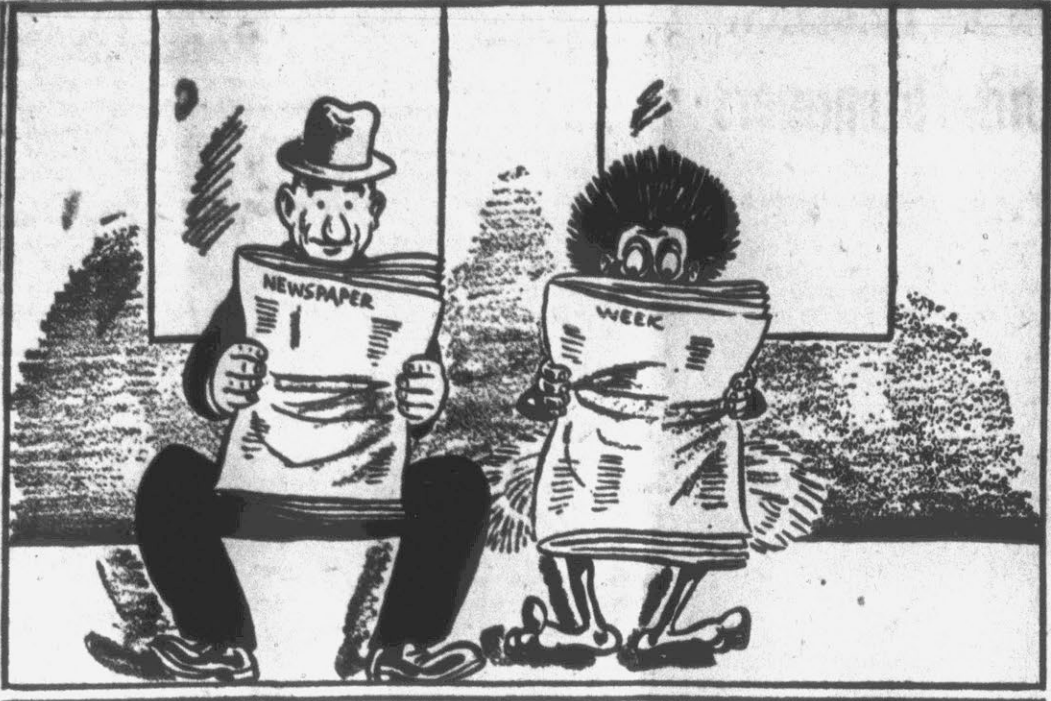

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Pitt county, along with the other counties all over the country is this week observing Fire Prevention Week, and efforts are being made by local fire departments and civic groups throughout the county to see that precautions are taken to reduce local fire losses during the coming year.

Fire prevention day was first observed throughout the United States on October 9, 1911, the fortieth anniversary of the Great Chicago fire. It was a day set apart to bring before the public the much-needed lesson in fire prevention.

Fire destruction in the United States during the 12 months ending June 30, 1948, was $709,839,000 or nearly 3 1-2 times as great as the devastation caused in any one year by the Luftwaffe's blitz on Britain. And the greater part of the fires in the United States are caused by carelessness.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—The neat, middle-aged little man had sad, bloodshot eyes, and he rapped his heart with the force of a blow.
"I don't know how you say it," he said to Ted Smith, Associated Press Sports Editor, "but I have things in here I want to say. It is on my conscience like . . ."
And the rest was hard to understand, because his Puerto Rican emotion filtered through a veil of broken English.

The little man said he was Tony Rojas, fight manager and Latin American sports promoter. Wordlessly he held out a letterhead.
It was printed in purple ink and it showed the picture of a clean-cut, tawny-skinned boy in boxing trunks, fists poised wide apart. That was Kid Dynamita, 147, and the purple sheet of stationery said he was the sensational welterweight champion of Central America, AUTENTIC.
But Rojas doesn't manage him any more. The kid died last Wednesday night in Chicago after a fight.
Rojas looked silently at the letterhead.

Contract cannot be started until after the new administration takes over in January, and that if progress is as slow on them they will be pending throughout a large part of the Scott regime.
LONG-RANGE — It is conceded that a road building program must be cast on long range basis; that engineers and contractors must have time to work out details before actual construction begins. For that reason contracts must be let some time in advance. But many strong Scott partisans and advocates of more emphasis on country roads are somewhat vocative in their complaints that the present commission is overdoing the business of letting future contracts for primary highway construction at possible expense of country road improvement. There just isn't money enough on hand or in sight to do everything needed, despite a lot of talk about surpluses and idle funds. The problem is one of equitable distribution of available funds for the various types of road work. The Scott idea would emphasize country neighborhood roads, while tendency of incumbents apparently is to paramount primary highways.

"When I got inside I see on the right arm something like a transfusion . . . there was a tank and two things going into his mouth."
"The kid was going like this . . ."
Rojas drew in and expelled his breath violently.
"Out of his mouth was coming the saliva . . . white . . . hardly any blood."
"Later they tell me his pulsation . . . you know, his pulse . . . it is low . . . and they wouldn't let me go in."
"Then the doctor came out. I ask him how is the kid. He tell me this way . . ."
Rojas waved his hands across his face, palms out.
"He gone . . . the kid."
"Didn't break down . . . so I go in and saw him. A couple of nurses they are washing him. They tell me to get out. I ask the doctor what he die of . . . he say maybe head injuries . . . they have to have autopsy."
"Then I break down."
The little man turned to leave the office.
"That is what I come to say . . . the kid is a good boy . . . he pray before every fight . . ."
"Boxers . . . they should be treated like human beings . . . there should be more padding in the ring . . . more padding . . . the kid . . . it is on my conscience."
Kid Dynamita was to get $217 for his last fight. He arrives by plane in his native Santo Domingo tomorrow—in a casket.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE RADS

Washington—The nation's first military aircraft with engines was a blimp. Designated Signal Corps Airship No. 1, it was acquired by the Army a year before it bought an airplane from the Wright Brothers. It was in 1908, five years after the Wright "Kitty Hawk" became the first machine to fly.

Balloons had been used in warfare more than 100 years earlier, and powered balloons had been flying more than 50 years. The propeller from the Army's first blimp has been acquired by the Smithsonian Institution. It was shown for the first time, along with the engine that spun it, at Bolling Airbase on the U. S. Air Force's first anniversary as a separate arm of the defence establishment.

The propeller was given to Paul E. Gerber, Smithsonian curator of aviation, by Gould Dietz, an Omaha, Neb., lumberman who died recently. Dietz bought the engine and propeller from Airship No. 1 when it was sold as surplus after two years' service in the Army. About 10 years ago, Dietz gave the engine to the Smithsonian but kept the propeller. Beautifully made of alternate layers of spruce and mahogany, the propeller was manufactured by Spencer "Whiskers" Heath, who operated the Paragon Propeller Co. in Washington.

Signal Corps Airship No. 1 was purchased from Tom Baldwin, prominent in that field in the 1900s. The engine was made by Glenn I. Curtiss, the first licensed pilot in the United States.
Incidentally, the Wright Brothers' plane, which has been in a British Museum since 1928, will soon be en route to the United States and its permanent home at the Smithsonian Institution. Last February, executors of the estate of the late Orville Wright, who died Jan. 30, announced that in going through his files they had determined it was Wright's intention to return the Kitty Hawk to the United States and place it in the custody of the National Museum.

The craft was flown for the first time by Orville and Wilbur Wright at Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 17, 1903. Orville sent the plane to England in 1928 because of a dispute with the Smithsonian over credit for designing the first flyable craft. He asked for its return in 1943. News that the plane was to be returned to the U. S. was received with enthusiasm by Smithsonian officials. Plans are to hang the Kitty Hawk in the spot now occupied by the plane which Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Paris in 1927.

City Planning For Future Development Is Outlined

Following is a detailed account of the city planning program, as explained by Joe B. Moye at a recent meeting of the City Planning Board.

Note: Much of the necessary basic data are available in the city records or from state or county agencies and merely need to be compiled. Aerial photographs are invaluable aids to planning.

III. Preparation of a master plan by individual elements, studied both individually and collectively.

A. Major street plan.
B. Subdivision regulations.
C. Zoning ordinance and map.

Note: Even though a zoning ordinance has been adopted, it should be reviewed in the light of the general planning studies.

D. Park and recreation plan.
E. Public building site plan (including school expansion program).
F. Other special plans.

IV. Long range public improvement program.

A. List proposed public improvements, including the necessary acquisition of land, etc.
B. Establish a priority list of public improvements.
C. Set up a schedule of improvements geared to the income of the city and its ability to finance the program.

General recommendations:
1. One of the most important things to be considered is thorough and genuine citizen participation so all phases of the master plan should be carefully studied by the citizens through sub-committee action, public meetings, articles in the press, etc.
2. It will be necessary to employ competent technical advice to work with the planning board and its various committees on the preparation of the plan.
3. We would suggest that any element of the master plan be given a properly advertised public hearing

Catawba Indians Get New Homes

Rock Hill, S.C.—Brighter days are ahead for a once-powerful, now almost defunct Indian tribe, the Catawbas. Tribe members are moving from their weatherbeaten huts on 600 acres of worn-out land along the banks of the Catawba river into brand new cottages on 3,000 acres of fertile land near here.

The change came with transfer of the Indians two years ago from state to federal government supervision. State supervision was a hang-over from a peace treaty between the state and the tribe made almost 150 years ago. The Catawba nation lists 380 surviving members who are being moved as they apply for land in the new federally-supervised area.

Fifty-seven of the tribe's 92 known families have made application for tracts of land ranging from one to 50 acres, and others are planning to apply. Many already have moved. The land is free and tax exempt, but the new homes must be paid for by the families taking them.

Only 25 of the Catawbas are classified by the federal Indian service as full-blooded. And only four, including retired Chief Sam Blue, still speak the Catawba language. Most of the adults have jobs in textile mills nearby, while their children attend white schools here and in other school districts.

Winterville FFA Elects Officers

The F. F. A. boys of the Winterville Chapter met on Friday, Oct. 1, 1948 to elect officers for the present year. The officers elected were as follows: President; Thomas Castelle; Vice-President, Howard Evans; Secretary, Billie House; Treasurer, Thomas Nobles; Reporter, Bobby Nobles. We believe the officers will have a very active year as there have already been some engagements made for them.

During the meeting plans were discussed for some of the activities that the F. F. A. boys will engage in during the year. Most of the members will have a definite part to carry out. Some of the activities are: Father and Son Banquet, initiation of Greenhands, entering various contests such as public speaking, parliamentary procedure, seed identification and judging livestock. We also plan to put on an exhibit at the county fair.

Our instructor is Mr. J. H. Mobley. We are looking forward to a successful year under his supervision.

Piney Grove News

I want to start off this little column of news by saying, how very nice it is to have Mrs. Jim Tucker back in our midst. Mrs. Tucker, as you know, was in a wreck in the spring and she is just getting out. She still has to use her crutches, but we hope that she may soon put them aside.

Too, Mrs. Leslie Humbles is back with us after having an operation. Our wish is that good health will follow her always.

Mrs. Bernice Causey has returned home after visiting her children in Virginia for the past week. Her daughter, Mrs. Marjorie A. Ferrell, and Mr. Gene Briston accompanied her down.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tripp were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Allen of Portsmouth, Va.

The Tyson reunion was held this past Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Tyson. A grand time was had by all and it was truly a wonderful day.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hockaday of Roanoke Rapids were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Tyson Sunday.

The Junior Ladies' Auxiliary will meet Monday night, October 11, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Eivy Forrest. All members are urged to be present and visitors are cordially welcome.

We do hope that you are keeping in mind the community hymn festival which will be held the fifth Sunday of this month in the Stokes high school auditorium. All the churches have wonderful choirs and I know that you will enjoy this event.

And now to remind you that our revival began last Sunday night and we are having a wonderful meeting. Rev. R. N. Hinnant of Micro is holding this series of meetings and some inspiring messages have been delivered. Services begin at 7:45 each night and this meeting will run through Sunday night. Do come. I'll be looking for you.

On every hand, people are planning for the future. Labor, industry, business, schools, churches and governments are looking ahead. It is well that this is so. Plans must be made for the future with an effort as resolute and unselfish as was done in winning World War II. But our plans for the future will fail unless there are people with good health. To fail to utilize this power for creative good in the form of the Pitt County Colored Community Clinic campaign would be disappointing.

The public is asked to see that campaign headquarters at Paradise Cafe is kept earnestly or closely employed accepting donations for the Pitt County Colored Community Clinic's support.

Indians Are Strong 5-1 Favorites Over Boston

Snuffs Rumors

Boston, Oct. 6—(AP)—General Manager Joe Cronin today snuffed out rumors that Joe McCarthy is on his way out as Boston Red Sox manager.

"Joe McCarthy is definitely the Red Sox manager, for life if he so desires, and positively through his 1948 contract," Cronin declared.

Cronin became indignant over published reports in Boston that McCarthy had told the front office last Friday that win, lose or draw he was quitting.

"There is no foundation to any of these reports," Cronin asserted.

Bob Feller Hopes Realize Ambition

Boston, Oct. 6—(AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland's fireball right hander, today hopes to realize one of his life-long ambitions—to win a World Series game.

Feller, beaming with confidence before preparing to take the mound against Johnny Sain, the Boston Braves' 24-game winner, said he had known since Monday that he was to pitch the Series opener.

"When Lou (Manager Lou Boudreau) told me soon after we won the playoff game, I said 'great,'" was Feller's reply as to how he felt about his first World Series. "This is something for which I've waited a long time."

Ever since Feller pitched a no-hit game against the New York Yankees on April 30, 1946 he has had a burning desire for a World Series victory.

"It's the one thrill I've never experienced," he said earlier this season.

Feller appeared full of vigor at yesterday's final workout. Although he tossed only a few cautious pitches from the mound he engaged in calisthenics, ran around the outfield and took his turn in the batting cage.

"Look at him," said Coach Bill McKechnie. "He's the hardest worker on the club."

After the workout Feller explained that he feels well rested and is ready.

"I worked only two and a third innings last Sunday," he said. "Before that I hadn't lost a game since August 20 when the Chicago White Sox beat me in Cleveland. Since then I've won eight of my nine starts."

Boy Shows Sulky Fans Sport Not Old Man's Game

Lebanon, O., Oct. 6—(AP)—A 15-year-old boy is showing the fans at the fall meeting here that driving harness races is not an old man's game.

The lad, Richard Standriff of nearby Williamsburg, O., is believed to be one of the youngest, if not the youngest, race driver ever given a license.

His skill was recognized last July 4, when he became eligible to race with the professionals, some of whom are four times his age.

In his first eight starts, he drove his father's little pacer, Chestnut Time, in the money. He won his first race at Painesville, Ky., a little more than a month after he got his license.

Derby Winner To Arrive By Plane

New York, Oct. 6—(AP)—The Aga Khan's Irish Derby winner, Nathoo, is scheduled to arrive by air next Tuesday for the $100,000 Empire City International gold cup race at Belmont Park Oct. 16.

The grey colt has been named to face America's three-year-old champion, Citation, and a field of international stars in the event.

Prince Aly Khan, son of the famous owner, arrived in New York yesterday to complete details of the shipment.

Fifth At Home

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—The Michigan-Michigan State football contest this season at East Lansing, Mich., is only the fifth contest that has been played here of the 41 games between the two schools. All the rest were at Ann Arbor.

All-Around Athletes

Newark, Del.—(AP)—Twenty members of the University of Delaware's 1948 football squad have received letters in other sports. Halfback Billy Cole is the most versatile member of the group with letters in football, basketball and baseball.

Weatherman Says Rain Threat Fading; Brisk Winds; Full House Of 39,000 Fans Assured As Lines Besiege Ticket Office

Boston, Oct. 6—(AP)—Cool and cloudy weather was predicted for the opening World Series game this afternoon.

Fans going to the game were advised by the Weather Bureau to bring a top coat instead of a rain coat as a storm sweeping up the coast veered out to sea before reaching Boston.

Brisk northeast winds ranging up to 20 miles an hour were blowing; the temperature was in the upper 50's.

The rollicking American League champs with the bristling power in their batting order are strong 5 to 1 favorites to beat off the stubborn Braves with their Sain-Spahn pitching pair, in the best-of-seven series.

The Indians, who won the pennant from the Boston Red Sox Monday in the first tie playoff game in the league's history, are about 5 to 7 in the man-to-man wagering to take the opener behind Feller. Game time is 1:00 p.m. (EST) with a full house of some 39,000 assured.

Long lines clogged the streets around the Braves ticket offices last night as they put on sale 2,500 standing room permits.

Some 1,500 seats in the "jury box" bleachers in right field also have been sold as well as about 15,500 grandstand tickets at $6, about 17,800 pavilion seats at $5 and 1,800 boxes at $8.

It adds up to a gross gate of around $208,000, after the taxes, most of the remainder goes to the players who are counting on a fat payday.

Boston's last series was in 1948 when the Red Sox met the St. Louis Cardinals at Fenway Park but the Braves' loyal fans have been waiting since 1914. That was the year George Stallings' "Miracle Men" upset the highly favored Philadelphia A's in four straight games.

Feller, the farm "boy" who now is a personal corporation with a six-figure income, will be realizing one of his few unsatisfied ambitions in pitching a series game. He already is the all-time strikeout leader and is generally accepted to be the top paid player in the game.

Manager Billy Southworth naturally leads with his ace—Johnny Sain, the curve-balling righthander from Belleville, Ark., who won 24 and lost 15 for the Braves. That's five better than Feller's final mark of 19-15.

Gridiron Star's Father Is Dead

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 6—(AP)—Former football star Tom Harmon's father, who preferred to let his son take all the bows, is dead.

The elder Harmon, Louis, died at University hospital here yesterday. He was 78 years old.

Death was described by a hospital official to a "chronic illness with complications." With family members at the bedside, he died at 5:30 p. m. (EST).

Through son Tom's illustrious career as a University of Michigan halfback and all-American father and the family stayed in the background.

Won A Bet And Lost His Money

Cleveland, Oct. 6—(AP)—The bet was $50 on the Cleveland Indians to win the pennant. They won, and Albert Beckley, 48, said he collected the nice price of $850 and that from those winnings he managed to pay off $300 in debts.

Last night he stepped off a bus he told police robbers forced him behind a church and took the remaining $850.

Golfing Gridders

AUSTIN, Tex.—(AP)—By far the most popular "other sport" of University of Texas football players is golf. Some 27 members of the squad list it as their favorite and two of the Longhorns, Paul Campbell and Ray Borneman, shoot consistently near par.

Braves' Pitching Problem Least Of Clubs' Worries

Boston, Oct. 6—(AP)—Pitching problems appeared to be the least of Manager Billy Southworth's worries as his Boston Braves went into their first World Series in 34 years against the Cleveland Indians here today.

Calling upon the wealth of experience a manager gains by winning four pennants in seven years, Southworth planned to open with righthanders Johnny Sain, counter with Lefty Warren Spahn and then call upon Vern Bickford.

Then it will be Sain, Spahn and Bickford again and, if a seventh and final game is necessary, Sain will be called upon to go for the third time provided things go well for that "big three."

Southworth can make those long-range pitching planning because he happens to have the crafty Nelson Potter as his first bullpen finger to spring into action.

Potter played an important role in the Braves' pennant drive since they annexed him after he was cut adrift suddenly by the Philadelphia Athletics.

Connie Mack, astute octogenarian, since he had ample reason to regret his hasty decision. But not the 37-year-old Potter, who, has had previous World Series experience.

Potter could be with the Indians, who are top-heavy favorites to beat the Braves. When Mack released him, Manager Lou Boudreau offered him a $15,000 bonus to sign with the Indians, at that time one of three American League pennant contenders.

The Braves were leading the National League then and, according to General Manager John Quinn, Potter turned down three other attractive National League offers to sign with the Braves for a fairly substantial bonus and a satisfactory salary.

"Potter told me he wanted to join the Braves because he had so much admiration for Southworth," Quinn explained.

Comiskey's Plan Continue Shifts In White Sox

Chicago, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Comiskey family is expected to continue its organizational house cleaning of the last-place White Sox by appointing Frank Lane, American Association president, as general manager.

Sources close to the club's front office said official announcement will be made Thursday or Friday that Lane has succeeded Leslie M. O'Connor. Charles Comiskey II, 22-year-old secretary of the White Sox and only grandson of the club's founder, "The Old Roman," is ticketed for vice president under the new deal.

Comiskey eventually will become president, succeeding his mother, Grace Comiskey, under stipulations made by his grandfather before his death.

Despite well founded reports of the shakeup, which started Sunday by the resignation of Manager Ted Lyons and appointment of Jack Onslow to replace him, young Comiskey was non-committal.

The Texas Longhorn's 1948 football schedule includes games with universities from all states bordering Texas—New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana State.

State Finances Concern Many General Assembly Candidates

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Oct. 5—Candidates for the general assembly from counties comprising the western third of the state through which the Democratic traveling circus operated last week have two major concerns. First, is to hurdle the November election; second, is what to do about state finances when they get to Raleigh next January.

In three of the 32 counties embraced in the four westerly congressional districts the Democratic candidates for the legislature have no opposition. In thirteen others the Democrats seem certain to win, and in eight the Republicans are accorded almost certain victory. That leaves eight doubtful with odds favoring Democrats in five, Republicans in three. Because the counties rated as certainly Democratic are the larger counties, this estimate would give from the four districts 24 Democratic members of the house (probably 29) and eight Republican members (probably eleven), out of the total of 40 seats held by the 32 counties.

Legislative candidates generally were reluctant to discuss fiscal policies until after November 2, but several sure winners manifested serious concern over trends.

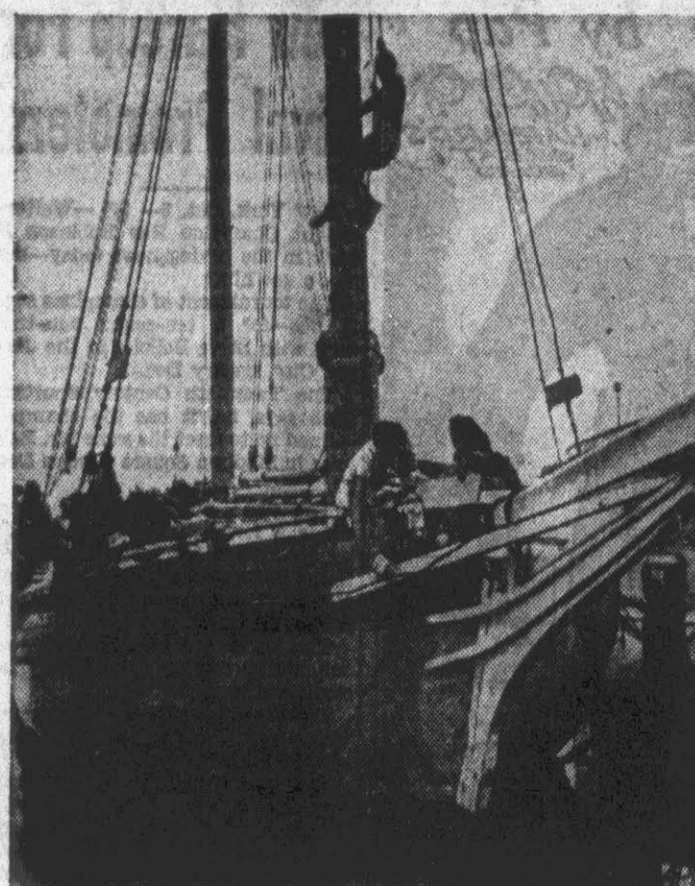

Two major factors are involved. The 1949 general assembly will be almost unique in that a big majority of its membership did not support the winning candidates for governor in the primary. It is expected to run true to form in that the first legislature of a state administration generally follows recommendations of the governor more closely than the second session of the governor's term.

That's where speculation starts and most bets are off. Governor-nominate Scott waged his primary campaign—and is carrying over the ideas—into the general election—on recommendations that will add some 20-odd millions to state spending and at the same time will take from eight to nine millions money producing items out of the revenue act. Major item in this category is the eight million dollars alcoholic beverage revenue; next in amount is proposed exemption of restaurant meals, farm machinery and other items from the sales tax. (The beverage item also involves loss of many millions of dollars in revenue to counties and municipalities throughout the state.)

It is easy to talk about reducing taxes and increasing state spending, but experienced legislators know it is hard to accomplish. One Democratic nominee in a close county somewhat plaintively said if it weren't for party prestige he would be glad if he got beat next month so he wouldn't have to raise in the problem.

Appraisal is based on personal interviews with candidates and party leaders in the area during the past week, and is subject to change as the campaign really warms up. Because of cross currents in political thinking this fall, this particular appraisal has no reference to any other than membership in the house of representatives; although by reason of the fact that Democratic counties are bigger it is a reasonably safe assumption that the combined four districts will give the entire state Democratic ticket a substantial majority—and betting odds favor a plurality for the regular Democratic national ticket.

HOME ON THE WAVE—Erick J. Schmidt climbs mast as Mrs. Schmidt, watched by daughter Karen, paints their ship, the Wave, in which they live in Mayflower Marine Basin, Washington, D. C. The Wave was built in Accomac, Va., in 1863, according to her papers. She has been used for fishing, hauling lumber and at one time was in the West Indian pineapple trade.

Mrs. Rosa Tetterson, Clark's Neck H.D.C.
Calico club still held the honor of holding more meetings during the year in the absence of the agent.
Clubs holding the most meetings during the year were: Ayden, Calico, Pleasant Plane, Helen's, Moye's Chapel, Shiloh, Clark's Neck and Factious.

Mrs. Roswell Johnson, representative of the Pitt Community Clinic, talked to the group about the operation of the clinic for the improvement of health conditions in Pitt County and asked the cooperation of the rural women after the program. The council voted that they would take an active part in the clinic drive to work through the individual clubs. Mr. Dennis D. Dupre, Negro County Agent, praised the club members for such an excellent program and their worthwhile exhibits.

Predictions as to probable duration of the next legislature vary widely, ranging from about seventy to more than a hundred legislative days. This would mean adjournment between early April and mid-May. There is no variance in predictions that the 1949 general assembly will be one of the most intense and important sessions in more than half a century.

There is rather widespread opinion that North Carolina stands now at a cross roads, comparable in many respects to 1901, 1921 and 1933—the years in which most significant changes in state policy were recorded. Discussion of these changes and their far-reaching effects cannot be given in the limited time and space here provided, but they were vitally significant.

Negro Home Demonstration News

Saturday morning, October 2, 1948 at 10 o'clock the fourth Annual Achievement Day was held by the seventeen home demonstration clubs with approximately 200 or more members and friends attending.

The meeting was opened by singing "Come Ye Thankful People," led by Mrs. J. M. Reaves of the Ayden Home Demonstration Club. The Collect of Club Women of America was repeated. Scripture was read by Mrs. Martha Ormond, prayer by Mrs. Mary Williams. A beautiful poem "Live Your Creed" was recited by Mrs. Lillie B. Locust after which a song, "Brighten The Corner Where You Are," was sung.

Many inspiring and helpful remarks of the work and progress made by Home Demonstration Club members in Pitt County were given by Mrs. Maggie Strong, vice-president of the council, who also presided over the meeting. Mrs. J. M. Reaves called the roll after which excellent reports were given by the following club members: Mrs. Bettie Gay, Bynum H.D. Club, gave a report on how she improved her water supply. Mrs. Lucy West, Pleasant Plane H.D. Club, on Bedroom Improvement. Mrs. Estella Edwards, Calico H.D. Club on food conservation and Mrs. M. T. Burney of the Ayden H.D. Club gave a detailed report of the accomplishments for the whole county.

While the audience was softly singing the song "Farms and Home Demonstration" 12 club members participated in the Dress Review—featuring comfortable work clothes and remodeled church dresses.

Mrs. Ruby C. Carraway, Negro District Agent, Greensboro, N.C., spoke to the group on living up to the home demonstration club "emblem" which was necessary to be a worthwhile person in a family and community. The exhibits orderly arranged did exemplify the good work going on in the county. Mrs. Carraway was introduced by Miss Margaret Hunter, Negro Asst. Home Agent.

Miss G. M. Kyer, Negro Subject Matter Specialist, Greensboro, did the judging and the awarding of ribbons to the following persons:

Blue Group winners: first place winner in the blue group was Miss

Eula Baker, Moye's Chapel H. D. Club; others were Mrs. Lottie Mae Phillips, Lewis H.D. Club, Miss Louise Shackelford, Moye's Chapel H. D. Club, and Mrs. Bertha Harper, Grifton H.D. Club.

Red Group: Mrs. Viola Edwards, Moye's Chapel, Mrs. Lydia Dixon, Pleasant Plane, Mrs. Nettie Tyson, Helen's and Mrs. Estella Edwards, Calico.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Deadly Weapon

By Wade Miller
Chapter 13
The Monday morning sun warmed his pale hand as it lay along the car window opening. A little more of this, he thought, and I won't look so much like a bookkeeper.

It took about fifteen minutes of diligence to locate the address Kevin had given him.

He wheeled the car up the red dirt driveway and stopped by the front door. There was no front porch; three red cement steps led up from the driveway and there was the door. He got out and walked around the car.

The front door was open now and Shasta Lynn stood in it. "Yes?" she asked.

"I'm Walter James. Dr. Boone sent me."

"I don't know of any Dr. Boone," Shasta said steadily.

Walter James smiled. "That's what I was told to tell you," he said. "Suppose we go inside and discuss it."

"I can't see why we should," said the slender man, starting up the steps. "Especially now that the Filipino is dead."

Walter James walked into the house. Shasta shut the door. He tossed his hat on a table by the end of a Monterey divan and sat down.

"Sit down, Shasta," said Walter James. He added, "And talk."

Shasta sank onto the woven cushion beside him. Curiosity began to thaw the coldness of her eyes. She parted her lips without showing her teeth. "Who told you to tell me of Dr. Boone, Mr. James?"

"I don't know, Shasta. He just said he was a friend."

Then I can't see how this concerns me." The eyes cooled again. "Maybe yes, maybe no," said Walter James.

She rose lithely and awayed to the end table. Through flat eyes, he watched her pick up his hat with cool meaning.

"Now that the Filipino is dead, what will you smoke?" asked Walter James idly.

Shasta replaced his hat on the end table and picked up a squat silver box. "Cigarettes," she stated. "Would you care for one?"

She opened the box; it was full of white paper cylinders.

"After you," said the slender man politely. She took one off the top. Walter James inserted a finger to the bottom of the box and fished one out of the last row.

Idly, he picked up the silver box and counted out the cigarettes on the cushion between them. When he reached eighteen, he stopped. The box was empty.

"And yours is nineteen and mine is twenty," he enlightened her. "A fresh pack. Probably doesn't mean a thing."

He produced a white envelope from his coat pocket. In the bottom of the cigarette box were a few grains of tobacco. He tapped the box empty into the envelope, sealed it and replaced it in his pocket.

"I'm not from the police, Shasta. I don't want to discuss you with them. Please don't force me."

"I told the police everything I have to say."

Walter James stood up and lightly ground his fist against his palm. "Why didn't you tell them about Gilbert?" he said suddenly.

She was on her feet like a serpent striking. Her tongue was between her teeth.

"Then again—why should you? Why shouldn't Mr. Gilbert stay in business and provide that extra income? This is a fine house, Shasta, and we both know it. We both know what you and the Filipino shared."

Her hands were pressed against her thighs again. "Tell me, Shasta, was there much between you and Ferydy?"

"Don't you dare say that! Don't you dare think of it!" she burst at him. Walter James began to get the picture. He stepped toward her and stood close.

"Shasta, you need a new contact."

eyes on Walter James again. "Darling doesn't love anybody. Darling only loves me!"

Her voice rose to a scintillating scream. She thrust the gleaming blade out and started toward the detective. Walter James brought the edge of his hand down swiftly across her wrist. The knife clattered to the floor, and he hit her openhanded on the side of the head. Madeline fell and rolled loosely across the wine-colored floor.

Shasta sobbed and knelt by the crumple of bare flesh and blue silk. "Madeline," she murmured, stroking the mouse-colored hair. "Honey, did he hurt you? Tell me he didn't hurt you!"

Walter James picked up his hat and fastened the door. "Thanks for the day, girl," he said and went out into the sunlight.

Now, here is a CULTIVATOR that really knocks out weeds

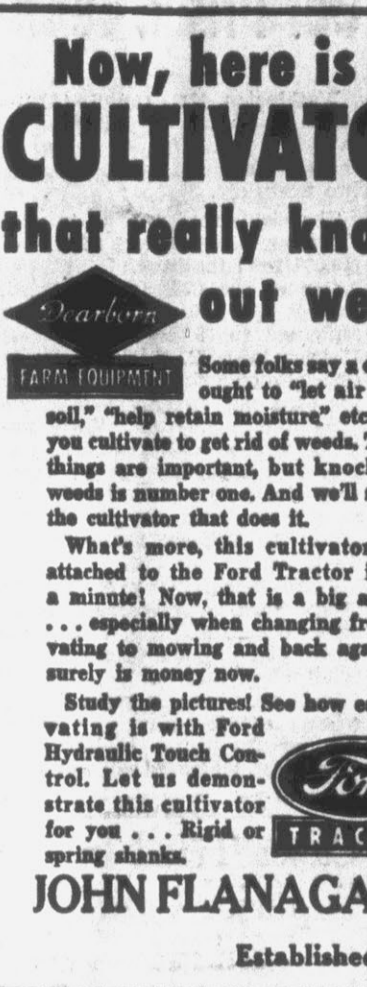

Some folks say a cultivator ought to "let air into the soil," "help retain moisture," etc. We say you cultivate to get rid of weeds. The other things are important, but knocking out weeds is number one. And we'll show you the cultivator that does it.

What's more, this cultivator can be attached to the Ford Tractor in about a minute! Now, that is a big advantage... especially when changing from cultivating to mowing and back again. Time surely is money now.

Study the pictures! See how easy cultivating is with Ford Hydraulic Trench Cult. Let us demonstrate this cultivator for you... Rigid or spring shanks.

Skin Lampshades In Trial Of Lisa Koch Said 'Lost'

Munich, Germany, Oct. 6—(AP)—The tattooed-skin lampshades in the Lisa Koch case are lost, American War Crimes officials here said today.

The skin and other gruesome ornaments from the Buchenwald concentration camp possibly repose among the souvenirs in the home of some American, they said.

But just who took them, or when, or how, is undetermined.

War Crimes officials today gave this story:

Such objects as dried human skin apparently intended for ornamental purposes, and a shrunken human hand were found by American troops when they liberated Buchenwald.

Whether they ever belonged to Frau Koch is another question. Frau Koch, widow of one of Buchenwald's commanders, left the camp two years before the liberation and the discovery of the articles.

Her life sentence on war crimes charges was reduced in June to four years by an army review board. This action was widely criticized.

Prior to the Buchenwald trial, the skin and other articles were sent to Nurnberg for use in the Nurnberg trial of Herman Goering and other top Nazis.

The articles never came back to us, a War Crimes spokesman said. They had a cataloging system at Nurnberg. Then the man in charge of it went home. Another man took over and installed a different kind of a system.

"Whatever happened to the skin and other articles we don't know. They just disappeared and we are unable to trace them."

"It's possible that somebody with access to the files thought they were no longer needed and took them as souvenirs."

Bank Bandits To Get Prison Term

Washington, N.C., Oct. 6—(AP)—Eight men today faced long terms in federal prison for the holdup of the East Carolina Bank at Columbus two weeks ago.

The eight pleaded guilty to participating in the daylight robbery of $68,000 from the bank.

One of two white men charged, Aubrey Whitlark, 25, was sentenced to 25 years by Federal District Judge D. E. Henderson of Charlotte on a charge of holding up the bank with firearms.

The other white man, Harry Everett Morrison of Norfolk, Va., was sentenced to 23 years on the robbery charge and to a concurrent five-year sentence on charges of violating the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act.

Negro defendants were William Henry Ward, 24, Jesse Campbell, 25, Jesse Bynum, 26, Willie Milkins, 42, Milton Gary, 26, and Christopher C. Ward, all of Norfolk.

Each was given 20 years on the robbery charge and a year and a day on the motor vehicle theft count. The sentences will run concurrently.

Chinese Give Up Beleaguered City To Communists

Nanking, Oct. 6—(AP)—Long beleaguered Changchun, capital of Manchuria, was abandoned by the government today, a high military source said.

The government was said to have voluntarily evacuated Changchun, where upwards of 200 persons a day were reported starving to death. The city had been under Communist siege for a year.

Changchun's defenders, some 100,000 strong, were reported moving toward Mukden, some 200 miles to the southwest.

In Changhai, the commercial air line operated by Gen. Claire Chennault, famed Flying Tiger leader of war days, said two of its American pilots reported they were harassed by Russian P-39 lend lease planes out of the Port Arthur-Dairen area.

Evacuation of Changchun, Peiping reports said, came after President Chiang Kai-shek flew to the north country. He ostensibly went there to straighten out the tangled military web that resulted in the fall of Tsinan, Shantung Province capital, last week.

Whether the forces from Changchun are to be used to reinforce besieged Chihnsien, 105 miles above the Great Wall, was not known here.

The Changchun force last was reported in the vicinity of Szejingling or Tieling, 40 miles from Mukden.

The official military news agency here said government forces in a three day battle repulsed 10,000 Red troops attempting to pierce the National defense line at Lintzhechen, 70 miles north of Nanking.

The agency said the attacking troops were from the armies of Gen. Chen Yi, conqueror of Tsinan. This was the most southerly point his forces reportedly had penetrated.

School For Food Handlers Holds Its Last Session

The food handlers' school which has been conducting the daily sessions in Greenville this week under the sponsorship of the Pitt County restaurant operators and the county health department, was brought to a close this morning.

"We consider the meetings fairly successful," said County Sanitarian Charles V. Morgan, "although the attendance was not what we had hoped. We averaged about 70 people at each meeting."

Almost all sections of the county were represented at the meetings, although the majority of the people attending the sessions were from the Greenville area. The school was conducted to have the restaurant owners and employees of the county to discuss and have explained to them more efficient and more sanitary methods of handling food.

Russian B-25's

Berlin, Oct. 6—(AP)—The Russians disclosed today they have some American B-25 medium bombers in Germany.

They revealed this in posting a warning at the four-power air safety center that they would conduct local flying in the allied southern air corridor. This flying was scheduled at Koeshen Air Field, southwest of Berlin. The Russians specified that B-25s would be aloft.

This is the old American Mitchell bomber, said Capt. Vincent H. Gookin, U.S. representative at the safety center.

Meat Price Cuts Already Evident

Chicago, Oct. 6—(AP)—New price tags, showing lower costs for meat, are being posted in some chain retail stores.

The reduced prices for many of the nation's consumers followed an extended break in wholesale prices of hogs at the country's major livestock centers.

Chain store spokesmen in New York, Chicago and Cleveland announced price cuts ranging from two to as high as 20 cents a pound. The Kroger chain of stores in the Chicago area this weekend will cut prices on more than 50 meat items.

Most of the declines will range from five to 11 cents a pound. Some will be slashed 20 cents a pound compared to last weekend.

In the New York area chain retail markets have reduced prices from two to 18 cents a pound. The cut by A. and P. chain stores was from two to six cents on 23 items. Safeway stores marked down prices on 50 items, ranging from two to 18 cents.

The Kroger Company in Cleveland said retail prices on top quality beef, pork and lamb will be cut 10 cents a pound today. Other chains are expected to announce similar reductions.

Major Speech . . .

The announcement followed a three and one-half hour conference Gov. Thomas E. Dewey held in Albany with John Foster Dulles, a member of the American delegation to the U.N. meeting and the Republican presidential nominee's chief foreign policy adviser.

Dulles, who also flew back from Paris, is reported to have told Dewey what Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, told Mr. Truman last week; that relations with Russia are more critical now than at any time since the war.

Smith, home for consultations, flew to the Truman campaign train in Texas to make his personal report. White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said "no particular crisis" dictated the President's summons to Marshall—he just wishes an oral report on everything that has been going on."

Plan Early Showing Of New Nash Cars

The first private showing of 1949 Nash cars—entirely new from bumper-to-bumper and more advanced in design than any car Nash has offered in its long history—was given to more than 500 Nash dealers in the Eastern Region E. W. MacKenzie disclosed today.

The special dealers' preview was held during the regional sales meeting September 22nd in New York City.

Commenting on the preview, Mr. MacKenzie said: "The new models represent more than five years of research, designing, engineering and testing at Nash Motors' proving ground with hundreds of thousands of miles of road testing behind them."

First public showing of the new cars will be made here this month, Mr. MacKenzie revealed. "The new Nash is a postwar 'dream car', he said. "It is roomier and more smooth, flowing lines of beauty from headlights to tail lights, and features really superb riding performance."

According to Mr. MacKenzie plans are being formulated for an extensive local showing of the new models. The dealer show will be held on October 22.

(Continued from Page One) public feels that Spain was in effect an ally of Germany and Italy and find it hard to forgive that. Did you subscribe to or support Nazi and Fascist policies?"

I didn't know whether he would send the guard and have me removed from El Pardo Palace of that, but he showed no resentment. His reply was an emphatic No, with an elaboration to support it.

I repeated that story the other day to a distinguished German (anti-Nazi) who during the war was attached to the Berlin foreign office. I asked him whether Franco had played Hitler's game, and he replied in the negative. He said he was with Hitler when the fuhrer met Franco at the Spanish frontier and urged the generalissimo to permit Germany to use Spanish soil for operations against the Allies. My German informant said the generalissimo turned Hitler down flatly, and the latter stormed away from the conference in a white fury.

However, all this is water over the dam. It strikes a lot of observers that the important thing now is how long it should take a sinner to purge himself of misdeeds so that he can return to the international fold. It certainly looks as though the democracies were encountering a lot more hostility from certain other quarters right now than they ever have from Franco.

It also is true, as Farley points out, that Spain would be an important ally if we got into a jam—important strategically and materially.

The U. S. State Department yesterday reaffirmed its could-shoulder policy towards Franco. Despite this it is given to wonder whether a situation is developing in which the democracies may be called upon to decide whether the generalissimo has been punished enough.

Cold Weather

Last night was the coldest of the fall. The official thermometer registered 47 degrees last night. The mercury had ascended to 50 degrees at 8 a. m. today and was hovering at the 55-degree mark at noon. The sky was overcast, with light wind from the north.

The first frost last year occurred on October 2, Mrs. C. E. Maiden, weather observer here for the U. S. Department of Commerce, said.

Raleigh, Oct. 6—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers irregular at 22-35. Eggs steady, A large 63.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, Oct. 6—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 15 cents a bale higher to 10 cents lower.

Noon prices were unchanged to 25 cents a bale higher than the previous close. Oct. 31-54, Dec. 31-19 and March 31-65.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 6—(AP)—Steel shares led a short but snappy advance in the stock market today. Gains ran from fractions to more than a point. Wall Street quarters attributed the pick-up in demand partly to the news from Paris that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky had attended today's meeting of the U. N. Security Council.

WHAT IS AN EXTENSION TELEPHONE?

An extension telephone is an extra telephone instrument attached to your present line. It can be placed in your home or place of business. Since the telephone instruments are again available we are happy to announce that EXTENSION TELEPHONE SERVICE IS AVAILABLE AGAIN.

Main telephone service however is still on the "hard-to-get" list because production of the central office equipment and lead covered cable needed to extend our present facilities, is slow and delivery dates uncertain. We shall continue however to install main telephones where we have the necessary outside facilities and central office equipment.
