Dewey Takes Up Foreign Affairs In Brief Respite

Receives Dulles' Report; Both Candidates Stress Vital Foreign Policy

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9—(AP)—The two major Presidential candidates jockeyed today for position on Foreign policy issues as they took brief respites from political campaigning.

President Truman hurried home to Washington for a conference with Secretary of State Marshall. They will seek "means for working out a constructive and peaceful solution of our problems abroad," the President said.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey studied fresh reports from John Foster Dulles, his Foreign Affairs adviser, on the progress of the Berlin blockade question and other international issues in the United Nations meeting at Paris.

These reports came to Dewey at New York City through Allen Dulles, brother of the adviser, before the GOP Presidential nominee returned last night to Albany for a quick cleanup of state business.

He is preparing to set out tomorrow night for another round of Presidential campaign speaking, with the first formal speech at Pittsburgh Monday night.

In the Dewey camp it was contended unofficially that Mr. Truman's recall of Marshall for a report on the Paris developments was designed, in part, to offset the New York Governor's action in having Dulles fly here earlier in the week for a personal briefing.

Both candidates were said by some politicians to be trying to impress the public with the attention they give every move in the troubled relations between the United States and Russia.

Each has been sounding a peace theme.

Dewey will have a chance to give his version when he starts Monday morning on a series of trainside appearances in Pennsylvania.

He told a rainy [illegible] persons at the site of Al Smith's birth place that city slums must be cleared and rebuilt.

He added that the federal government must come through with subsidies to speed up "improvements" that are needed in the crowded urban centers.

Want Teachers In Classrooms

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 9—(AP)—Blythe township wants to keep its teachers in the classrooms, not in a coal mine.

Supervising Principal James B. Nash says the State of Pennsylvania will provide $12,000. This money plus enough local tax collections will enable the township to pay seven resigned teachers for six months work to Sept. 1, Nash added.

The teachers quit Monday because the school district hadn't paid them a cent of salary since March. They offered to go into the mining business to help build up the district's school payroll fund.

Dispatch Claims 10,000 In Greece

Moscow, Oct. 9—(AP)—The official Soviet news agency Tass said today in a dispatch from Athens more than 10,000 Americans are in Greece, giving the U.S. "full control of the Greek state apparatus."

The report said 5,000 Americans are with the army while the other 5,000 are employed in various political and economic organs or "simply as agents." "A special secret service is financing the construction of strategic roads and airdromes in Greece," the dispatch said.

B-29 Bomber Explodes Over Waycross, Kills 9

Nine men perished in this wreckage of a B-29 Superfortress bomber which exploded over Waycross, Ga., and plunged into a swamp on the edge of the city. This portion of the ruins landed on the edge of a drainage ditch. Four persons parachuted to safety. Air Force officers said the plane carried secret electronic equipment. (AP Wirephoto).

Report Fighting

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 9—(AP)—Increasingly heavy fighting between Israeli and Egyptian troops was reported today in southern Palestine.

Observers in Tel Aviv have been predicing a renewal of fighting there since the start of the United Nations assembly in Paris where the Palestine question is under consideration. It is believed that one side or the other might intend to back up its claims to the Negev with military action in order to strengthen its position in ultimate peace negotiations involving the desert region.

President Warns Depression Goal

Accuses GOP Of Taking 'Same Fatal Course' At Present

Aboard Truman Campaign Train Oct. 9 —(AP)— President Truman last night attacked what he called Republican party "special privilege groups" and accused the GOP of taking the "same fatal course" that led to the last depression.

Mr. Truman said everyone, including the Republicans, wants prosperity. Real prosperity, he said is based on justice and fair treatment for all kinds of people.

"But the leaders who now control the Republican party wants prosperity for special privilege groups first and for other people second," he said.

"They want high profits for their campaign contributors, and high prices for the special interests lobbies.

"In the mad scramble to get that kind of selfish prosperity, they forget about the rest of the country."

Mr. Truman further said that the Republicans were spending large sums of money in a "widespread propaganda campaign designed to fool you into believing that the result of this coming election is a foregone conclusion."

"That's a lie, that's a lie," he said. "How wrong they are."

Receive Reports Ten Polio Cases

Raleigh, Oct. 9—(AP)—The State Board of Health today received reports of 10 additional polio cases They brought the total for the year to 2,286.

Four of the cases were charged to October and six to September The October total rose to 13 and the September total to 324.

Cases recorded this week reached 47, compared with 75 last week and 86 the week before.

'Little Six' Ask Time To Attempt Mediation

Move To Postpone Security Council Meeting; Weigh Appeal To Big Four To Settle Berlin Question

Paris, Oct. 9—(AP)—The "neutral" nations on the Security Council today were reported bidding for more time to press their efforts to patch up the east-west Berlin crisis.

The "Little Six"—Argentina, Colombia, Syria, Belgium, Canada and China—was understood to have moved to postpone a Council meeting tentatively set for Monday to give mediation plans more time to jell.

The neutrals were reported weighing a direct appeal to the big four to settle their Berlin differences by mutual concession and cooperation. This new trend in the ticklish Berlin blockade was said to have emerged after the six "neutrals" heard a report from Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia on his secret talks with Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

There was no immediate indication whether the western powers would be receptive to such a proposal. They have stressed repeatedly they would not negotiate with Russia under duress.

Only clue to a possible softened Russian attitude, implying possible acceptance of some such appeal is Gramuglia's optimism over his talks.

The "Little Six" was understood to have swung over to the mediation plan after agreeing it would be fruitless to offer a demand that Russia end the blockade in view of the Soviet veto power in the council. There appeared to be little doubt Vishinsky would kill such a move.

The assembly's political committee went ahead with debate on the Soviet plans for a one-third slash in the arms of the big powers. Sir Hartley Shaweross of Britain branded the Russian proposals as a "fraud upon the world" and said Britain would not agree to them until atomic energy is controlled, with Moscow in accord.

Shawcross said debate would be useful, however, 'in blowing away the clouds of politics and propaganda with which, from the first, the Soviet delegation have observed the real nature of this problem."

On another front Argentina and Bolivia were reported leading a quiet move to relax the U. N. boycott of Franco Spain. Peru, the Dominican Republic, Nicaragua and Paraguay were said to have joined in the plan but Venezuela and Mexico were understood to be opposed.

Russians Resume 'War Of Nerves'

Announce More Air Maneuvers, Gun Fire In Air Corridors

Berlin, Oct. 9—(AP)—The Russians, resuming the war of nerves over Berlin, announced once again that large-scale air maneuvers including gunnery practice will be held in airlift corridors today.

And again United States officials protested that the Russians would endanger western allied aircraft by such maneuvers and thus violate four-power safety regulations.

"We are going to continue protesting every time the Russians announce such drills, which are against regulations," a senior U. S. air officer said. "We are making it their responsibility to live up to the safety rules."

Whether this was just a Russian cat-and-mouse game could not be determined immediately. Yesterday they announced big maneuvers in the corridor to the blockaded city, but pilots reported they saw nothing of any such operations.

The British commander in Berlin, Maj. Gen. E. O. Herbert, said "There are strong reasons to suppose we may remain blockaded in Berlin this coming winter." In a special message to Britons in his zone he said they would have to bear with discomforts, such as lack of fuel, but he added:

"However, we are in a strong position for food, and stocks of rations are higher than they were before the blockade."

Food rations for residents of the three western sectors will be increased November 1 by 200 calories a day.

Labor Dispute Ends Amicably

Winston-Salem, Oct. 9 —(AP)—..Three months of contract negotiations which had hung a strike threat over Western Electric plant in Winston-Salem and Burlington have ended with everybody shaking hands in agreement.

The company and the Communications Workers of American yesterday signed a three-year contract for wage boosts from nine to 11 cents an hour. The agreement covers more than 2,000 workers.

France Hard Hit By Strike Wave

One Killed, Scores Injured In Leftist Sponsored Tie-Ups

Paris, Oct. 9—(AP)—France staggered today under the impact of a Communist strike wave that has cost one life, injured scores and seriously hurt the nation's recovery.

The nationwide coal strike entered its sixth day and there was a grave threat that the rail lines would be tied up.

Nearly 1,000,000 tons of coal have been lost by the strike. Government sources said the stoppage was costing the state about $2,000,000 daily in loss of receipts from 160,000 tons yestnormally mined each day.

One worker was killed near Metz yesterday—trampled by a crowd of workers attacking police and soldiers. Four were hurt in the melee.

Earlier soldiers and strikers were hurt in a skirmish in a steel mill in eastern France.

Meanwhile throughout the country the Communist-led General Labor Confederation was organizing strike votes among rail workers.

Non-Communist labor leaders refused to take part in any of the balloting and urged their workers to stay on the job.

In the northern coal pits the Communists seemed to be adopting a prudent position on the government's action in ordering coke oven workers back to their jobs.

Instead of opposing the act with violence, they assured the government they would keep the ovens going.

Dentists Install Radio Headsets

Winnipeg, Man:., Oct. 9—(AP)—Two Winnipeg Dentists have insured their popularity—with world series fans anyway.

They have installed tiny radios with headsets that fit into the patient's ears. He hears the broadcast of the ball game instead of the whirring drill.

Truman And Marshall Meet As Vinson-To-Moscow Talk Heard

Washington, Oct. 9—(AP)—President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall got together here today to talk over the critical international situation.

The secretary of state flew from the Paris meeting of the United Nations, arriving at 10:10 a.m. (EST) in Mr. Truman's plane, "The Independence." The President had sent the plane to Paris to bring the cabinet officer here.

Mr. Truman was at the airport to meet Marshall on his arrival.

Just 20 minutes earlier, the President had reached Washington after an overnight train trip from Buffalo, N.Y., where he made a campaign address last night. He cut short a political tour of New York State in order to come here for the conference with Marshall.

The talks of the two top foreign policy framers began while Washington rocked with talk that Mr. Truman had entertained a plan to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow to talk with Premier Stalin on how the peace of the world can be preserved.

Columbia Broadcasting Company officials said that the White House asked for free radio time to make a Vinson-to-Moscow announcement and then, after CBS granted the time for last Tuesday night, withdrew the request.

In no official quarter was there any official confirmation that such a plan had been considered. But neither was it denied.

There were reports in any event that this idea was no longer getting consideration—that it has been abandoned if it ever was given serious consideration.

In the group of officials at the airport to greet Marshall was Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett.

The only official word in advance of the Truman-Marshall talks was that the President wanted to get a first hand report on the U. N. meeting and the international situation.

But the White House made no direct denial of published reports they might discuss sending Chief Justice Vinson on a mission to Premier Stalin to seek a basis for easing world tension.

Some White House top aids, unquotable by name, said privately some consideration had been given to such a step.

There appeared reasons to believe, however, that this idea had been dropped. One report—wholly unconfirmed—was that State Department officials here opposed it.

Charles G. Ross, the President's press secretary, would say only that Secretary Marshall was called back by the President "solely" for a personal report on the developments at Berlin and Paris where the United Nations meeting is under way.

Big Problem For UMW Delegates

Appear Puzzled As To How To Swing Votes Of Miners

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 —(AP)— The answer as to whether John L. Lewis' constant barrage against President Truman will affect the vote in major coal-producing states appeared today to rest with 3,000 puzzled convention delegates.

Many delegates, visibly moved by their leader's blasts against the President for prosecuting him and the union in recent strikes, were at a loss to convey his argument to the 600,000 local union members back home.

Lewis has not formally endorsed Republican Thomas E. Dewey. He heaped criticism on both major political parties, but a political action resolution adopted yesterday with his okay, pointedly gave Dewey a clean bill for at least not ever having attacked Lewis or the union.

One district leader said that if all the union members had heard Lewis' speeches to the convention very few would vote for Mr. Truman.

Much depends on how the delegates explain Lewis' views to their locals, he said. In many states, the union is backing Democratic senatorial and other candidates. If they don't vote for a presidential candidate, the advantage will be Dewey's because Mr. Truman will be losing a ballot which he might have received if the fiery UMW chief had not opposed him so harshly.

Some delegates think Lewis may have more to say on Dewey before the convention adjourns next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Auto Injures Boy On Evans Street; Motorist Disappears

John Albert Messick, son of Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina Teachers College, had a narrow escape from serious injury on his bicycle on Evans street, in front of Bissette's Drug Store, about 10 a. m. today when a motorist in a parked green car, suddenly opened the car door and knocked the lad to the pavement, painfully injuring him and badly damaging the bicycle.

The motorist, whoever he was, did not stop to investigate, but went into a store, the boy said. Jesse Moye, a companion, was riding near Messick when the accident occurred.

A passing motorist who saw the boy knocked from his wheel indicated that he would report the car number to the police. The boys did not get the car number. When they went back the car had gone, they said.

Ideal Weekend

Fair and mild today and tomorrow is forecast. Cool weather was expected again tonight.

"Satira" Tells Prisoners Goodbye

Patricia "Satira" Schmidt, American dancer convicted of killing her lover, says goodbye to friends in Havana prison as she prepares to leave with a pardon from Cuba's president. She was serving a 15-year sentence for shooting John Lester Mee of Chicago aboard his yacht in Havana harbor in April, 1947. Her home is in Toledo, O. (AP Wirephoto).

Registration

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9—(AP)—Registration began in the State's 1,959 precincts today for those not already registered who expect to vote in the November 2 General election.

The registration period will continue through Saturday, Oct. 23. The following Saturday will be challenge day.

Raymond Maxwell, secretary of state board of elections, estimated 1,400,000 persons already are registered.

Fail To Uncover Rough Handling

Prison Camp Inquiry Fails To Show Undue Punishments

Raleigh, Oct. 9—(AP)—Investigation of the Richmond County prison camp last month failed to show that camp officials exceeded their authority in punishing prisoners Chief Prison Inspector Kyle Matthew said today.

He added that the prison department here has not received a copy of a Richmond County grand jury report calling for a thorough investigation of punishment of prisoners at the camp.

Judge Frank M. Armstrong, presiding at a criminal term of Richmond superior court at Rockingham that adjourned late yesterday directed that a copy of the report be sent to Prison Director Clyde O Robinson here. Robinson was out of town today.

The grand jury said an investigation of one official and two former prisoners of the camp furnished sufficient evidence to ask a thorough investigation by proper authorities."

One of the officers in the camp," the report declared, has been indicted and convicted in the recorder's court for cruel and unusual punishment of prisoners."

The official referred to is Camp Supt. N. L. Carpenter, who was tried before Judge W. S. Thomas in recorder's court at Rockingham four weeks ago and fined $25. Carpenter appealed to superior court but the case was not heard at the term which ended yesterday.

Studying Secret Of Plant Life

Durham, N. H., Oct. 9—(AP)—Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today scientists may soon unravel the secret of plant life.

This secret of how plants grow and produce food has been sought for ages. Some scientists have predicted that if it can be uncovered it may open the way to a tremendous increase in food production.

Strauss said experiments have reached the point where it is almost certain atomic scientists will uncover the secret of how nature produces its food from water, sunlight, carbon dioxide and earth.

Stern Gang Jail Break Succeeds

Scores Escape; Cordon Of Police Surround Area

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 9—(AP)—Scores of Stern Gang members spectacularly broke from heavily guarded Jaffa jail today. From 75 to 100 were believed still at large.

Gunfire split the Sabbath stillness in the area. The jail is believed to have held most of the 250 Sternists rounded up in an Israeli drive on terrorism touched off Sept. 17 by the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator.

About 120 Sternists broke out of the jail. Of these, up to 50 merely went for a swim in the sea near the jail or visited with friends before returning voluntarily.

First reports were that outside attackers aided the break, but apparently it came spontaneously from within the jail.

Some may have slipped through a strong cordon of military police which cut off the entire northern half of the port city.

While the jail presumably held most of the Sternists captured in the Israeli manhunt after Bernadotte's assassination, the best available information was that Nathan Friedman-Yellin and other top Stern leaders were held elsewhere. Israel has outlawed the underground extremist organization.

Churchill Warns Hopes For Peace Lies In Strength

Declares Only Possession Of Atom Bombs Preventing World War III

Llandudno, Wales, Oct. 9—(AP)—Winston Churchill warned today World War III may burst upon humanity at any time because of the Berlin crisis.

Only the United States' possession of atom bombs stops a Communist juggernaut from engulfing all western Europe, the wartime prime minister declared in an address prepared for the Conservative Party annuay conference.

Americans would be "guilty of murdering human freedom and committing suicide themselves" if they agreed to destroy their stock of atom bombs, Churchill said Russia is demanding in the United Nations that the atom bombs be scrapped, and the weapon outlawed at once.

"At the present time our only foundation of peace and the prevention of actual war rests upon strength," Churchill said. "The western nations will be far more likely to reach a lasting settlement without bloodshed if they formulate their just demands while they have the atomic power and before the Russian Communists have got it, too."

Churchill urged the West to "bring matters to a head and made a final settlement" before Russia gets the bomb. The Russians should release their grip on satellite states, free German and Japanese prisoners they "now hold as slaves," cease to "oppress, torment and exploit" the parts of Austria and Germany they hold and cease disruptive operations elsewhere in the world before a settlement is reached, Churchill said.

But the war leader of Britain declared he could "not encourage you with false hopes of a friendly settlement with Soviet Russia."

"Bolshevik Rusia is already heavily armed and her forces in Europe far exceed all those of the western countries put together," Churchill said. "At the present time the only sure foundation of peace and of the prevention of actual war rests upon strength.

'If it were not for the stocks of atomic bombs now in the trusteeship of the United States, there would be no means of stopping the subjugation of western Europe by Communist machinations, backed by Russian armies and enforced by Political parties."

Whales May Have Sought Safety

New London, Conn., Oct. 9—(AP Dr. Tyrus Hillway, president of New London Junior College, said today the 44 whales which beached themselves at Crescent Beach, Fla., earlier this week in what was called an apparent mass suicide attempt, probably were trying to escape drowning.

He pointed out that a whale is a mammal, not a fish, and breathes through the so-called spot on of its head. A sick whale, he ..l, will often swim close to shore nd rest in shallow water so that .ts spot will remain above the surface, if weakness prevents it from swimming.

Fine Company In Black Market

New York, Oct. 9—(AP)—A Brooklyn corporation was fined $100,000 yesterday on two-year old charges of overdrawing cloth priorities and diverting 1,300,000 yards into "black market" channels.

Additional fines and prison sentences also were imposed by Federal Judge Edward A. Conger on four officers and employes of the firm, the Shoe Factory Supply corporation.

Debunking Communism

Kid Gloves Are Off In Dealing With Reds; Saltzman's Speech; Dogma Of Deceit; French Communists Proclaim Will Not Help Fight Russia; It's True In U. S.

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Did you read of that speech by Assistant Secretary of State Charles E. Saltzman at the University of New Hampshire in which he employed the language of shirt-sleeve diplomacy in dealing with Russia?

If you didn't read it you missed an important development. Saltzman declared that "the eyes of the American people should now be fully opened." He said the real aim of the Russians "is world domination through the instrumentality of Communism," and that "they will stoop to any stratagem of coercion, subterfuge, duplicity or double dealing that serves their purpose."

He maintained that the aims and methods of the Soviet rulers "are a direct threat to the national security of the United States." The United States seeks peace with Russia, and the State Department will proceed "on the assumption that it is possible" to avoid war, although it "may not be possible."

John Hightower, AP diplomatic expert, cites this speech as one evidence that the United States appears to be casting aside the last restraint in its propaganda war with Russia. He also points out that Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett has revealed the receipt of orders from Paris (where the United Nations meeting is being held) to debunk" the latest Russian proposal for dealing with atomic energy. These orders, says Hightower, presumably were given by Secretary of State Marshall himself.

Meantime General Marshall was making a two-fisted speech before the American Club of Paris. He said bluntly that the Russian blockade of Berlin is a threat to the peace of the world if there ever was one short of shooting cannon."

So the kid gloves are off. Well that's all to the good because, strange though it seem, there are many well-meaning folk in the United States and in the other democracies, who don't yet realize that the Bolshevists are out to destroy our way of life and substitute Communism. In order to achieve this they will resort to any methods, as witness this quotation from the sayings of Lenin himself repeated by Marshal Stalin:

Babson Discusses "Free Power"

New Boston, N. H., Oct. 8—Many readers of this column who have seen references in Time Magazine (Aug. 16) and Newsweek (Aug. 23) to my interest in "Gravity," are asking what it all means.

Sir Isaac Newton

For forty years I have been giving much study to the writings of Sir Isaac Newton (1642-1727) who was the world5s greatest scientist. His Law of Action and Reaction is the basis of the Bensonchart which has been such a wonderful guide to me and my clients. His actual library has been moved from his London home to the Babson Institute. Mrs. Babson has one of the world's best collections of Newtonia.

Among other Laws which Newton discovered were the laws of Gravity, upon which oue life, health and happiness depend. This free power of Gravity now operates in connection with the circulation of our blood, with every step we take, as well as with every heartbeat. We are constantly defying Gravity whether walking upstairs, traveling in an airplane or getting high blood pressure. Hence, as Newton's Law of Action and Reaction has been so good to me, I have now determined to give time and money to his Gravity Laws.

Plenty Of Suspicion

United States Doesn't Trust Russia, And Russia Doesn't Trust The United States In Arguing Atomic Controls; Root Of The Trouble; Commission Plan In Brief

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 9— (AP) —Why can't the United States and Russia agree on controlling the atom bomb?

The big trouble is suspicion. We want to be sure Russia can't cheat. Russia doesn't trust us.

There are now two plans for outlawing the bomb.

Russia has one plan. The other has been worked out by the special atomic commission set up by the United Nations.

This plan has been approved by the big majority of the 11 nations on the commission, including this country. Russia, also on the commission, does not approve. Therefore, up to this time: no international control.

Briefly, this is the commission plan:

1. The 58 members of the U. N. agree to international control of the bomb.

2. Then the U. N. sets up the control machinery, such as a special agency, to see that no bombs are made. Just setting up the machinery might take months or years before everyone was sure it really had control.

3. Once the controls are working, the U. S. turns over to the agency any bombs it has. The same goes for any nation having bombs at that time.

(The agency can take the valuable atomic material in the bomb and let it be used for peaceful purposes.) poses)

4. At this point the U. S. turns over to the agency, which means the whole world, what it knows about making the bomb.

5. Neither the U. S. nor any nation taking part in the agreement can veto any action that the U. N. or its agency wants to take to prevent bomb-making. For example:

If the agency discovered the U. S. was trying to make the bomb secretly, the U. N. could vote any action against her—even such as attacking her—and the U. S. couldn't vote 'no" to block it.

Note the steps carefully until the controls are really working the U. S. doesn't surrender its bombs or its knowledge of making them. What kind of controls?

The agency would stand constant guard on every country, being free

Bethel P. T. A. Notes

The P. T. A. for the Bethel School met Thursday night, October 7, at the Bethel elementary school. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. G. Garrenton, the president.

A verse of America was sung.

There was a short devotional by Mrs. W. T. Shelton.

Mrs. Burton read the minutes of the preceding meeting. Mrs. Katherine Adams, the first grade teacher, took charge of the parents count. The winning grades were the sixth and eighth grades.

The drawing of the lucky number was won by Mrs. Andrew Whitehurst, who received a box of Hersheys. The discussion of business chiefly concerned a Hallowe'en party for the school.

Announcements were then read concerning Christmas and Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Sam Dewar, the program chairman, took charge.

Two songs were sung by some of the sixth and seventh grade pupils.

Mrs. Garrenton spoke of the grade mothers and said they should do something else for the children except to feed them. The P. T. A. decided to call the grade mothers, room representatives. Mrs. Garrenton outlined several duties for room representatives. Special stress was placed on a motor corps to serve the schools. Her plan was well developed and very beneficial. They were asked to form other organized groups too.

The new name "room representatives" includes fathers also.

The meeting was adjourned and all the parents were invited to look at their children's classrooms and then went to the lunchroom to be served.

The meeting was well attended.

Mrs. Harvey Speaks To Home Department

Mrs. E. W. Harvey spoke on "Religion in the Home" at the October meeting of the American Home Department held Friday afternoon at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Harvey asked the question, "What is a Christian home?" and answered it as follows: "A Christian home is one that is dominated by Christian motives and ideals; it is one that is ordered and controlled by Christian parents; one that does not serve strong drink; it is one that keeps the Sabbath as a holy day; it is one that has a family altar; one that gives its support to the church; it is one that seeks first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; it is one of devotion to God and faithful obedience to Him. A Christian home is one where Christ is recognized as Saviour and Lord."

Many helpful suggestions were given on how to make a home Christian. In closing Mrs. Harvey urged those present to keep their stand upon Joshua's great declaration, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Mrs. Spruill Spain JJr. introduced the speaker.

Mrs. C. E. Oakley, chairman, presided. Committees were read and plans for the year's work discussed.

Three new members, Mrs. George Clapp, Mrs. W. C. Harris and Mrs. J. R. Jackson were welcomed into the club.

A social hour followed the program. Hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Aman, Mrs. Robert May, Mrs. L. W. Tracey, Mrs. P. L. Goodson and Mrs. C. E. Oakley.

Beautiful arrangements of chrysanthemums, dahlias, ivy, and magnolia leaves were used throughout the clubhouse.

Miss Roebuck Hostess To Book Club

Miss Katie Roebuck was hostess to the Jane Austen Book club at her home in Stokes on Thursday afternoon, October 7.

After roll call and business session the program leader, Mrs. G. H. Roebuck, read a timely paper based on a recent reprint of Emerson's Essay, first published a century ago, reaffirming that the "stability of England is the security of the world."

The hostess, assisted by Miss Ethel Clark, served a salad and sweet course with coffee.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. G. H. Roebuck the second week in November.

Literature Department of Woman's Club

The Literature Deparment of the Greenville Woman's Club will have its first meeting of the new club year on Tuesday, October 5, at the home of Mrs. Hicks Corey, 305 Library street. Assisting hostesses are Mrs. Walter Cherry and Miss Lilah Gant. Mrs. Spruill Spain will be in charge of the program.

Do come for this first get together meeting if you can and bring a guest if you know someone you think might be interested in the varied and outreaching programs we have throughout the year.

Mrs. Dan E. Vornholt, acting chairman.

Fashion On Parade

"Fashion and New Hair Styles on Parade," will be presented on Wednesday night, October 20, at 8 o'clock at Austin auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College. The Diana Shops and East Carolina Cosmetologist Association, under the direction of Mrs. Louise Carrigan, manager of the Diana Shop here, and Mrs. Louise McKinney, president of the East Carolina Cosmetologists, also manager of Friendly Beauty Shop, will present this show.

The Greenville White Shrine No. 7 will sponsor this and all benefits will go to the blind, which is the White Shrine's chief objective.

There will be models from several towns near by, Williamston, Robersonville, Washington, Belhaven, Kinston, Grimesland and others. A Melody and Dance Revue will be presented also in connection with this and much local talent and some from out of town will participate. "Fashions on Parade" and the "Melody and Dance Revue" will be broadcast over WGTC from 8 until 9 p. m.

Mrs. Ruth Bundy is ticket chairman. Tickets are on sale now at the following places: Bostic-Sugg Furniture Store, Diana Shop, Friendly Beauty Shop, Western Auto Associate Store, Drs. Crisp, Pace and Aycock's office with Mrs. Kelly Rowe.

Mrs. Lenwood Heath

Mrs. Garland Buck

Buck-Garris

Miss Naomi Rebecca Garris became the bride of Garland F. Buck, both of Greenville, N.C., on Friday evening, October 1st, at 7:15 o'clock at the home of the officiating minister, Calvin J. Harris, 601 East Ninth Street.

The couple was attended by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Buck of Greenville, and several of their friends. Dorothy Garris, the bride's sister, Mavis Worsley, Gentry N. Mills, James Earl Buck and Marvin Buck, brothers of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. John Clark.

For her wedding the bride chose a powder blue crepe dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Buck left for their wedding trip to Washington, D.C., and Maryland.

Mrs. Buck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Garris of Route 4, Greenville. She attended the Belvoir and Falkland high schools, and is a member of the Mount Pleasant Christian Church.

Mr. Buck attended the Grimesland High School and served in the armed forces in Germany and other countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck will make their home with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Buck at 308 Albemarle Avenue, Greenville.

Heath-Manning

Miss Corinne Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Manning, Sr. of Bethel, and Mr. Lenwood Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Heath of Greenville were united in marriage on Saturday evening, September 25, in the home of the bride's parents. Mr. W. M. Howard, Jr. of Bethel officiated at the double ring ceremony. The marriage was performed before an ivy covered arch, banked on each side by a seven branched candelabra and a tall basket of white chrysantheums, asters and gladolia.

Mrs. A. J. Weeks, Jr., sister of the bride, was pianist, and Miss Patsy Weeks, niece of the bride, sang.

Immediately following the ceremoney Mrs. B. F. Manning, Jr. presided at a cake cutting assisted by Miss Elizabeth Manning, sister of the bride. Mrs. Heath was graduated from Bethel High School and East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville. Mr. Heath was graduated from Arthur High School. About twenty guests were present.

David E. Jones New President Freshmen Class In Elections

David E Jones of Greenville, freshman at East Carolina Teachers College, has been chosen by the classmates as president of the freshman class at the college. Organization of the class and election of officers to lead the first-year college students during the 1948-1949 term were carried out under the guidance of G. Raz Autrey, Jr., of Dunn, president of the junior class at East Carolina.

Jones won the post as president over four opponents. He is registered at the college as a student in the pre-medical course.

Miss Sarah Lou Edwards

Miss Sarah Lou Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blount Jarvis Edwards of Greenville, Route three, whose engagement to David Tayloe Perkins, son of Mrs. Virginia H. Perkins and the late Dr. James W. Perkins of Greenville, is announced by her parents. The wedding will take place November 13 in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Commission Suggests Forming N. C. General Incensing Board

Raleigh, Oct.9—(AP)—A special legislative commission has recommended a state licensing board to head the 21 licensing boards in the state.

Governor Cherry made public yesterday the results of the study of a five-man commission he appointed about a year ago to look into the problem of licensing.

The report carried 13 recommendations for the governor to pass along to the 1949 general assembly. Cherry appointed the commission under authority granted by the 1947 assembly. He leaves office in January, when the next legislature convenes.

The commission's major recommendations called for creation of a North Carolina general licensing board.

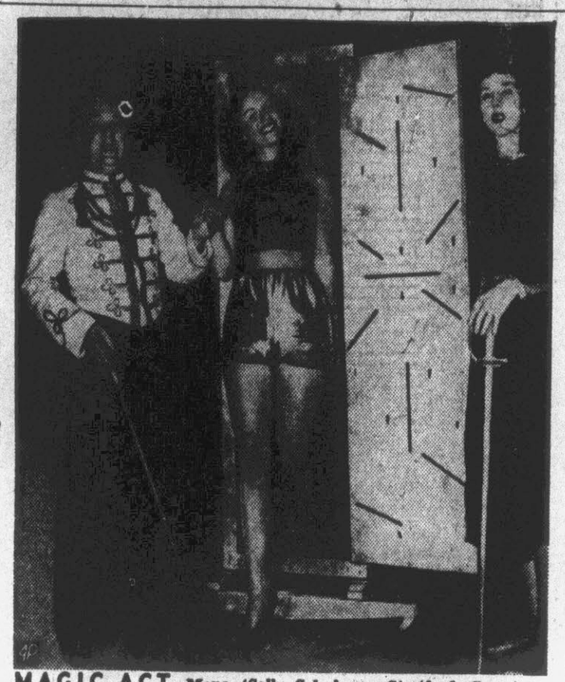

It would have power to require all licensing boards to submit proposed examinations for approval; to issue all licenses upon certification by the licensing boards; to hear and pass on appeals from applicants failing to receive licenses; and to supervise and regulate all licensing boards.

The report also carried a recommendation that the governor appoint a state director of licensing boards at a salary to be fixed by the governor.

The commission recommended that the general licensing board consist of six members, three appointed by the governor and the others to be the attorney general the state health office and the superintendent of public instruction.

Governor Cherry had no comment on the report except that he thought the three public officials recommended for appointment by the governor have enough problems wthout taking on any more responsibilities.

The 13 recommendations centered mainly around the proposed formation of the general licensing board. They would, in general, give the board authority by infringing on the powers of the regular boards.

Jurist Declares Confessions By Nazis Forced

Philadelphia, Oct. 9—(AP)—Some "un-American" tactics were employed by U.S. civilian investigators to wring confessions from German prisoners, says a Pennsylvania jurist who recently reviewed 139 Dachau death sentences and recommended 29 be commuted.

Judge E. Leroy Van Roden, president judge of the Delaware County Orphans Court, said Army investigation showed that mock trials and solitary confinement were used to obtain signed confessions.

"A lot of times the investigators would march the prisoners to a small room in which the investigators would dress up as Army officers. They would hold a mock court and convict these people. Then, they would sentence them to death and obtain written confessions."

Van Roden reviewed the death sentences with Justice Gordon Simpson of the Texas Supreme Court. The two jurists made the trip to Germany at the request of Army Secretary Royall.

District Library Meeting Held Here Wednesday

Approximately 60 librarians, trustees, and friends of libraries attended the District Library meeting held at the Sheppard Memorial Library on October 6th. Representatives of 14 eastern counties and members of the staff of the North Carolina Library Commission were in attendance. It was one of a series of meetings being held in the state under the spensorship of the N. C. Library Association and the N. C. Library Commission.

Presiding over the meeting was Mr. Wendell Smiley, vice-president, N. C. Library Association and library at E. C. T. C. Mr. Ty Wagner, chairman, board of trustees, Shepard Memorial Library, extended an official welcome to the group on behalf of the local library. The program, consisting of discussions by both librarians and friends of libraries, placed emphasis on the great potentialities of service of libraries in the world of today.

During the morning session Miss Janie Allsbrook, librarian, Edgecombe county library, and Miss Marjorie Beal, director, N. C. Library Commission, discussed the "National Plan for Library Service" with emphasis on North Carolina. The general aim of the plan as set up by the American Library Association is to bring into the life of every American an adequate, purposeful library. In order to reach the goal set larger units of service, greater coordination of existing library resources and services, state and federal aid, larger book stock and more trained personnel are recommended. Miss Beal gave a picture of present library conditions in North Carolina. The most encouraging item in the picture is the fact that with the delivery of bookmobiles now on order in the state North Carolina will have more bookmobiles than any other state. On the other hand we still have three counties without public library service and a large percent of Negroes with out library service. In spite of increased funds in the past few years per capita expenditures for libraries are still behind that of the national average and that set by American Library Association standards. In book stock the state averages 2-5 of a book per person compared the 2 books recommended by the American Library Association. Miss Beal also pointed out the great need trained personnel.

In the afternoon session Dr. Messick, E. C. T. C. president, emphasized the opportunity and responsibility of the public library in the field of adult education, pointing out that we must educate adults for the type of life we want today as well as the children for the type of life we want for tomorrow. He urged librarians to be aware of the great issues of the present day world and see that libraries contain information on these present day problems, using every media to promote reading and adult education.

Mrs. W. R. Bullock, Bethel, past president, Pitt County Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, presented to the group her ideas of "What The Home Demonstration Club Women and Rural Families Expect of a County Library." Her sincere and enthusiastic presentation of the need in rural areas for well developed library service was an inspiration to the group to work for further extension of service to rural people.

Arrangements for the District meeting were made by the board and staff of the Sheppard Memorial Library. Flowers for the library and the luncheon at Airport Inn were contributed and arranged by Mrs. Ralph Garrett, Mrs. Key Brown and Mrs. Ficklin Arthur.

Carolina Likely To Lose A Seat

Washington, Oct. 9—(AP)— Unless the moving away fever hits a lot of Californians before 1950 the Sunshine State stands to pick up seven extra seats in the House of Representatives.

The House Civil Service Committee made this estimate yesterday after studying the Census Bureau's latest population survey.

Under present law there will be an automatic reappointment of the 435 House seats after the 1950 census is made.

If there is no further population shift, the committee said, indications are that seven states will gain one or more House seats, with 12 states losing one or more.

Gainers—California, 7; Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon, Texas and Washington, 1 each.

Losers—New York, 2; Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Tennessee, 1 each.

Meadowbrook Men's Community Club Has Meeting Thursday

The regular monthly meeting of the Meadowbrook Men's Community Club was held on Thursday night in the Me the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, with the genial president, Mr. Cliff Rhodus, presiding. The attendance was good with thirty-seven members and visitors present. After the blessing was asked by Rev. O. C. Haas, all enjoyed a sumptous steak supper cooked and served by J. Sam Fleming and his committee —"Red" Coward, Charlie Crisp and the pastor, C. D. Patterson. The devotional was given by Mr. Patterson, with Rev. L. W. Topping of the First Presbyterian Church leading the group in prayer.

After the devotional the club was graciously entertained by the very popular quartet—Messrs. 'Pat" McLawhorn, Cliff and Ralph Sullivan and James Pittman, who sang three numbers.

President Rhodus then presented Mr. J. W. (Dick) Bundy who in turn presented the speaker of the evening, Dr. J. D. Messick, president of E. C. T. C. Dr. Messick delighted and interested all who were present by his good humor, inspiration and information, his subject being "The Menace of Communism."

The club will meet once each month for the purpose of cultivating Christian fellowship among the men of the church and friends and neighbors in the community.

Mr. Rhodus and his committees are to be commended for their fine work. The club cordially urges all the men of the community to join at their next meeting.

Utilities Start Eliminate Dust

The Greenville Utilities Commission is now carrying out its plans for eliminating the ash and dust which has been coming from the smoke stacks of the city power plant and settling over the residential area near the plant.

The dust or ash, it was explained, comes from the steam generators or boilers which are equipped with pulverizing units for grinding the coal to powder which is then blown into the furnace by air pressure and is burned in suspension at a temperature in excess of 2400 degrees.

When the last boiler was installed ash handling equipment was specified, but the Commission said it has not been possible to secure the complete equipment to meet the specifications and therefore the dust collectors which were installed have not been operating at or near top efficiency.

Additional equipment has been ordered, the Commission reported and will be installed to relieve the situation as soon as possible.

Kindergarten At College Opens; Twenty In Class

The kindergarten established at East Carolina Teachers College this fall for the first time opened on Thursday with an attendance of 20 children of approximately five years of age. Annie Mae Murry, formerly a teacher in the Burlington city school, is in charge of the new school for young children. Miss Murray, who completed work for the master's degree at Peabody College during the past summer, joined the faculty here in September.

The kindergarten occupies two rooms on the first floor of the Education building on the campus. Equipment, not yet complete, includes a doll corner, books for young children, art materials, a piano and rhythm band instruments, and outdoor playground equipment.

The Nursery school taught by Ruth Lambie as part of the home economics department and attended by sixteen children from three to five years of age has also begun work for the fall quarter.

Kiwanians Enjoy Musical Program By College Talent

By CHESTER WALSH

Vice-President Arthur Tripp presided over the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night. Dr John O. Reynolds of East Carolina Teachers college and Hunter Keck had charge of the program. It was one of the best musical presentations the club has had in a long time. Miss Gladys Reichard, instructor of voice in the music department of the college, sang two numbers and gave an encore with Miss Elizabeth Drake as accompanist at the piano. Harold Carter, director of the ECTC band played two saxophone waltzes and a classical number on the clarinet Miss Reichard sang as a solo "I Love You Truly." Mr. Carter, with the saxophone, and Miss Drake at the piano, were accompanists.

The annual ladies' night banquet will be held at the college October 22 at the college.

Dr. H. G. Haney presented the two Junior Kiwanians for the month, Rufus Stark and Louis Clark. "Butch" Roberts and Bobby Peacock were special guests.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
October 9, 1908

It is an every day occurrence to run up with reports that tobacco is off at Greenville; and when traced it originates with drummers from other markets. All such drumming is rotten to the core and intelligent men should not listen to it.

Grape time is almost over.

Now the question is what to do with the store fronts that are so much above level of the sidewalks on the east side of the street.

Harvey Sutton Died After Brief Illness

Harvey Sutton, 56, died at Tayloe hospital in Washington Friday night at 9:20 o'clock after being critically ill since Tuesday night.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home near Grimesland Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial will be in the Black Jack Free Will Baptist churchyard.

Mr. Sutton was born in Beaufort county. He moved to Pitt county with his family as a small boy and had spent the most of his life in the Grimesland community. He served in World War 1, spent 11 months in France, and was discharged in April, 1919.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Theemel Reel Sutton; two daughters, Mrs. Theodore Bradshaw of near Cox's Mill and Agnes Sutton of the home; a son, John Harvey Sutton of the home; five sisters, Mrs. Lanie Adams of Beaufort County, Mrs. G. F. Campbell of near Tarboro, Mrs. Tob Hodges, Mrs. Coss Hudson and Mrs. Frank Buck of near Grimesland; four brothers, Henry Sutton, Frank and Cleveland Sutton of near Grimesland and Fred Sutton of Beaufort county.

New Faculty Member To Address Meeting

Edward J. Rutan, who joined the faculty of Ease Carolina Teachers College this fall as a member of the department of English, will be speaker at the first meeting for the school year of the Pitt County Council of English Teachers. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening, October 14, at the home of Mrs. Maude Bowen on Library Street in Greenville.

Louise Greer of East Carolina Teachers College, president of the Council, has issued an invitation to all teachers of English in Pitt County to be present.

Colored News

At 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Pastor's Aid Club of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Brown, 424-B West Third Street. All members are asked to be present.

The annual pastor's drive is now in session, conducted by Elder J. L. Bazemore of Portsmouth, Va.

Preaching each night by Elder Bazemore. Music by Brother Robert Lee Harris.

The public is invited to attend.

The Church of God in Christ on Clark Street, Elder A. B. Malone, pastor.

The members of the Sophisticated Aces Social club held their meeting at the home of Mr. McKinley Smith Wednesday night, October 6.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, October 10, at the West End tea room at 7 o'clock. It's important that all members be present. This meeting is given in honor of Samuel Stafford.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The students of Greenville High School will appreciate any subscription given them for any publication issued by the Curtis Publishing Company. The commission will be used for the benefit of their school routine. Students will call on you during the next two weeks.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GREENVILLE:

This is in acknowledgment of complaints registered in recent months regarding the "smoke" condition in Northwest Greenville, a portion of which originates at your Electric Plant, and we take this means of explaining the cause of this condition and what has been and is being done about it:

1. The demands on the plant facilities has grown steadily from year to year, necessitating a continuous increase in the amount of fuel required to meet the ever growing demand for more and more power.

2. To meet this demand and to effect economy in the greatly increased cost of fuel, it has been necessary to install additional steam generating units designed to extract every heat unit possible from the coal burned.

3. The steam generators or boilers are equipped with pulverizing units for grinding the coal to powder, which is blown into the furnace by air pressure and is burned in suspension at a temperature in excess of 2400 degrees.

4. This process of combustion leaves only what is generally known as fly ash, which is actually the original mineral matter contained in the coal that was put there by nature when the coal beds were laid down, therefore, there is very little actual carbon left in the residue that is emitted from the stack.

5. In connection with the installation of pulverized fuel units such as we now have, there is an auxiliary facility known as "Dust Collecting Equipment," the purpose of which is to extract the dust or fly ash from the stack before it reaches the open.

6. When the last boiler unit was designed, Ash Handling Equipment was specified, but it has not been possible to secure complete equipment to meet the specifications, therefore, due to installation difficulties the equipment such as we have been able to secure has not been operating at or near top efficiency.

7. In addition plans have been made to equip the old boiler unit with Dust Collectors at the earliest practicable date and in the future all boilers will be equipped with these facilities.

8. Some of the additional equipment originally specified for the new boiler has just been received, and arrangements are being made to make the installation as early as possible. In addition to this, Automatic Draft Control Equipment has been purchased at a cost of about $5.000, which we are advised by Engineers will be the means of some additional relief.

9. Your Board of Commissioners are distressed about this matter and are determined to leave no stone unturned in an effort to eliminate this nuisance as completely as possible, in so far as the power plant is concerned, and at a recent meeting authorized the employment of a Dust Collecting Engineer to make a study of the problem with view to taking any other steps towards a practical solution of the matter.

10. We believe that when plans now under way are completed, that the trouble will be greatly relieved, although there is no known method of complete elimination and due to the close proximity of the plant to the City, there will of necessity be some dust, however, the equipment being installed is designed for from 80 to 90 percent effectiveness.

It is most regretful that this condition exists, and you have been very patient about it, however, the circumstances bringing about this condition have been beyond our control although you may rest assured that no effort will be spared to remedy this matter to the greatest extent possible.

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE THING THAT TAKES US BACK

"And when he came to himself he said, "I will arise . . . "

These words are from the parable of the Prodigal Son. The boy had left his father, gone into a far country, and got himself into a mess of trouble. But experience seemed to teach him nothing. He sated himself with debauchy, but it taught him no lesson. He lost his money, and false friends gave him the cold shoulder. He attached himself to a citizen of that country who sent him into the fields to feed the swine. At last in these unpropitious surroundings a bit of light began to penetrate his dull mind. The ray brightened into a vision. He began to realize that he was meant for something better than what he had been doing. He, his father's son, was never meant to waste his substance in riotous living or to sit in a pigpen eating carod pods. It was when he realized that he was his father's son, a member of a glorious household, that he said, "I will arise."

Here are the teachings of religion epitomized. We are God's children and therefore of too good stuff to be the willing victims of sin. It is when this thought lays hold on a man that he begins a glorious trek back to God.

Around Capitol Square

APPOINTMENTS — Although chances are better than 99.44 percent that Kerr Scott will be the next governor of North Carolina, fact is he has not been elected. That formality remains for the voters on November 2. Nevertheless, the governor-nominate is giving considerable thought to the high appointive positions he will have to fill during the first few months of his administration. Also outsiders are devoting a lot of time to speculating upon who will be selected for this or that post.

PRESSURE—Meantime the prospective governor and his advisers are being subjected to high pressure from many sources in behalf of certain "willing Barkises" for state jobs. Scott has given two clear indications of his attitude. During his primary campaign he frequently stated his intention of opening the windows from the top and letting in a little fresh air. In almost every speech he has made during the fall campaign he has emphasized his purpose to appoint no person to the highway commission who does not go along with his ideas about giving preference to country roads—especially school bus routes.

UNHEALTHY— Persons close to Scott has said that perhaps ninety percent of his mail dealing with prospective changes in personnel is negative. The correspondents insist that so-and-so be fired, and in many cases no suggestion is made of a suitable successor and no particular reason except personal peeve assigned for the firing demand. This attitude on part of so many people is considered a sign of unhealthy condition and not conducive to constructive approach to admittedly grave problems of government. The one bright spot in the situation is evidence that some of the people demanding change have indicated they will not bring names of new appointees prominently into the picture until after November 2

DISTRIBUTION—Equitable distribution of state jobs throughout the state is always a difficult problem. When Scott took over as commissioner of agriculture in 1937 he made much ado about the excessive number of Wake county people employed in the department. Now he finds that some of those whom he brought in from other counties have established legal residence in Wake and they are bringing pressure to be continued in state employ. Furthermore, Wake county has one or more candidates for nearly every important post—including at least five for highway commissioner.

FULL—The seventh district rally at Whiteville brought out for the first time every Democratic nominee for statewide office except the judges. Dr. Clyde Erwin, superintendent of public instruction, had missed the other five meetings because of illness in his family, but he showed up for the Whiteville affair. That Eure, secretary of state, made the meeting by driving by on his way home from a national secretary of state convention at Charleston. Besides all candidates from the U. S. senate and governor down the list, both incumbent senators appeared on the platform in the Columbus county courthouse.

Didn't Your Spies Tell You?

FIRST — Something different happens at each of these rallies, and at Whiteville for the first time one of the speakers came right out and mentioned Dixiecrats as a threat. Everywhere else there had been veiled references to division in the party, or some other indirect mention of the Thurmond-Wright ticket. At Whiteville Dave Sinclair New Hanover county chairman, in his brief report on conditions frankly said they had a lot of Dixiecrat trouble and warned that as the party big shots penetrated further east they would find more of it. Presence of Dixiecrats at the meeting itself was not noticeable. The more than 300 people present applauded President Truman's name and appeals for straight voting with as much enthusiasm as did any western audience.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

Fall River, Mass.—(AP)—Here is where the old New England Yankee is being dunked in his own melting pot.

Along the mill-lined banks of the Quequechan River a new pattern is emerging—a pattern typical of the new New England. It could be called the second revolution in New England—a long, slow, quiet revolution resulting in the mixing of the blood of many nationalities instead of the violent shedding of a few.

It is the change that has taken place in the stern and rocky New England character as a result of successive heavy waves of immigration for over a century.

This tidal flood of new faces and new languages has washed over the old Yankees irresistably. Those who haven't mingled and been absorbed are, in some ways, almost strangers in their own land—that is the land they took from the Indians.

The story goes back a century. Shrewd Yankee traders put their shipping and farm wealth into cotton mills. Then they brought over Englishmen from Lancashire to work in the mills.

Then the Irish came over, the French came down from Canada, the Portuguese from the Azores. A generation ago large-scale immigration dropped off.

Fo a long time the lines between the old Yankees and the newcomers were sharply drawn. The immigrants complained they put out all the sweat and the Yankees—the grandsons of the men who whipped the British—took in all the money.

But in three generations the melting pot did a lot of melting, and it's melting faster every day. The old lines have crumbled, and the new child in America's old cradle of liberty is a vigorous offspring of both the old and new.

"We used to be regarded as just another ragged cotton mill town," said one Yankee descendant. "But we like to think we have created here a new culture, where people of varying backgrounds mix and bring forth new talent.

"Our nationalities mingle and get along with no friction. They are intermarrying steadily.

"I think we live pretty happily in pretty fair circumstances.

"The Demagogue who tries to stir up the people of his nationality for his own benefit hasn't done well here the last ten years.

"He can't inflame them so readily. After three generations of working and playing together they aren't interested in stirring up old feuds and rivalries."

A big factor in breaking down the wall between the old-line Yankees and the immigrants was the numerical strength of the newcomers, which gave them an avenue to political office. And the thrifty immigrants, here as elsewhere in America, have sacrificed themselves to see that their sons and grandsons got the chances that were here—to go into the professions and to open new businesses.

Some proud old Yankee families still deplore the change that has come over old New England. But the man I talked to—his ancestor fought at Concord's Rude Bridge—thought it was a good thing. He pretty well has to. He himself took the big step by marrying into what he regards as one of the newer families, here only four generations.

"The Yankees will put up with us," smiled one Irishman, "as long as we don't kid them about Paul Revere's joyride.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JEAN EADS

Washington—The national capital's major industry is politics, yet its citizens cannot vote. These citizens are lumped together with some 2,000,000 aliens and an unascertainable number of persons of voting age in mental institutions and penitentiaries and living in states other than those where they have voting privileges.

A great many people who live in the District are pretty hot under the collar about this. They argue they have to pay taxes, that they're subject to the draft, that they assume all the full duties of citizenship. Ever the taxes they pay, instead of going into a special fund for the District's use, go into the Federal Treasury. They are used for the District only as Congress makes appropriations for money to be spent here.

The only persons in the District of Columbia who can vote are the absentee voters. There are some 200,000 of these, it has been estimated. These are the folks who have maintained legal residences elsewhere in the United States where they can vote at election time. In eight states—Florida, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and South Carolina—they have to go home to vote.

The native-born Washingtonian cannot vote at all. He can't even sit down and write his congressman. He has no congressman. To give Washingtonians the right to elect representatives to Congress would require a new law. But Congress, by law, could give them the right to select their own District officials (home rule.)

From 1802 to 1871 Congress let Washingtonians elect their own city officials. Then Congress changed Washington to a territorial form of government and in 1874 set up a commission to govern the city. Some legislation was introduced in the 80th Congress for consideration of the matter, but it didn't get past the House. A fight is expected in the 81st Congress. Planks for home rule for the District were put in the platforms of both Republican and Democratic parties in their 1948 conventions.

Officials of the D. C. Voters League of Women Voters are urging everyone who has a place to cast his ballot to make use of the privilege.

"It's a disgrace and a shame," one of the leaguers told me. "In the 1946 census it was estimated the District has 875,000 residents," she said—and pointed out that 14 states had smaller population. Yet Maine, Rhode Island, Arizona, Utah, South Dakota, New Mexico, North Dakota, Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, Delaware, Vermont, Wyoming and Nevada each elects two senators and at least one representative."

Girl Scout News

The Greenville Girl Scouts will concentrate on "Clothing Kits" for European children for the next two months. They will be glad to have clothing donated for this cause, and will call for same and mend them, if necessary. The Scouts have been asked to confine their "Kits" to clothing for infants and boys or girls from the ages of 4 to 14.

New clothing is always acceptable. Any simple, practical style may be chosen. Select fabric that is sturdy enough to take hard wear. The colors may be as gay as one wishes.

The Scouts have been told that it costs twice as much to ship new clothing abroad as second hand, so they are advised to not ship a "Kit of entirely new garments. Some old garments and some new, or all old garments, if they are clean and worth the effort to send them overseas.

Moccasin type or canvass shoes can be shipped in the "Kit". The "Kits are baled to conserve space, and regular shoes might be crushed in baling. Shoes will be sent in separate packages, no high heels will be accepted.

Older Babies (ages 1 to 3) if you plan a kit for this age child, this is what should be included:

At least: 1 coat or jacket or snow suit, 1 sweater, 2 sets of underwear, 5 pairs of stockings (long or knee-length,) 2 rompers or dresses or tiny boys' suits, 2 sets of night clothes, 1 pair of mittens, 1 warm cap.

Other suggestions: A soft toy, wash cloth, towel, scarf, sewing bag for child's mother (containing sewing cotton, darning cotton, package of needles, paper of pins, safety pins, buttons, clastic, tape, scissors, thimble, etc.)

Boys and Girls (4 to 14): If you plan a kit for this age child, this is what should be included:

At least: 1 coat or jacket or snow suit (for younger ages) 1 sweater, 2 sets of underwear, 3 pairs of stockings (long or knee-length, if possible—especially for younger ages,) pair of pants (not knickers, and 2 shirts (if boy) 2 dresses or skirt and 2 blouses (if girl,) 2 sets of pajamas 1 pair of mittens or gloves, 1 warm cap or beret.

Other suggestions: Wash cloths, towel, scarf, sewingbag for the girl or for the boy's mother (the sewing articles can be wrapped in the wash cloth and placed in the center of the bundle.)

Graduate Study Is Discussed By Dean Jenkins

A program of graduate study leading toward the master's degree in education and designed to make possible a nearer approach to the ideal of "master teaching" is discussed by Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina Teachers College in an article published in "The Clearing House" educational journal, for September The essential features of the program are included in the plan of graduate study adopted at the college here last year and now in effect at East Carolina.

The article by Dean Jenkins, outlining a ten-point program for a master's degree in education, points out the facts that too many teachers now take graduate work to fulfill requirements of salary schedules and that consequently courses taken often do not improve the candidate as a classroom teacher.

Debunking . . .

A Communist must be prepared to make every sacrifice and, if necessary, even resort to all sorts of schemes and stratagems, employ illegitimate methods, conceal the truth, in order to get into the trade unions, stay there, and conduct the revolutionary work within x x x." x x x x We say that our morality is entirely subordinated to the interest of the class struggle of the proletariat.'

Every day this creed is typified by Communist activities in all countries. For example, the French Communists have given warning that they will oppose France's war effort in event of conflict with Russia. Said the party's political bureau:

"The French people will never wage war against the Soviet Union."

There we have the old, old story: a Communist, no matter what his birth-right, is a citizen of Red Russia. His orders come from the Kremlin. This is just as true of the United States as it is, say, of France or Italy. The difference is that in those European states Communism is more powerful and they lie within the forward areas of the cold war.

So a debunking policy would be rendering a vast service to democracy. An ounce of debunking now may be worth a ton of high explosive later on.

The U. S. considers its willingness to surrender its right to veto action aaginst her a tremendous step toward controlling the bomb.

The U. N. commission decided any plan to outlaw the bomb would be a farce if any nation, like the U. S. or Russia, could prevent real control by using the veto.

Roughly, this is the Russian plan now:

1. It wants the right to veto action by the control agency.

2. It wants the U. S. to get rid of its bombs before any controls are set up. It says it this way:

The U. S. must surrender its bombs at the very moment when the various nations agree to set up controls. In other words:

Russia wants the U. S. to surrender its bombs before the U. S. has a chance to see whether controls will work or whether Russia really means to let them work.

Further, since Russia wants to keep the veto power, it could block any move by the international agency to be sure Russia wasn't making the bomb secretly.

To this Russian proposal the American government says: Bunk.

Program Arranged For Homecoming At E.C.T.C.

A homecoming celebration for alumni of East Carolina Teachers College will be staged on Friday and Saturday, October 15 and 16, and a program of events has been arranged for the entertainment of guests on the campus by a committee headed by W. E. Marshall, dean of men.

The East Carolina Pirates will meet the WCTC team from Cullowhee on Friday evening at 8:00 in the Guy Smith stadium in Greenville. The game will be the Pirates' first contest played at home this season.

The YMCA and the YWCA are arranging a special vesper service for early evening on Friday in the Y Hut on the campus. Several alumni identified with the organizations during their college days have been invited to participate in the program.

Events of Saturday will include a short program scheduled by the Alumni Association for 2:00 o'clock in the Austin auditorium; an outdoor production of "As You Like It" by the Teachers Playhouse, college dramatic club, and a dinner in the North Dining room of the college at 6:30 in the evening. The Shakespearean comedy will be a shortened version presented as a workshop production of especial interest to teachers in the public schools.

The committee in charge of arrangements for homecoming, in addition to Marshall, are Mrs. Ruth Garner, alumni secretary; Elisabeth Hyman, Eunice McGee, and Louise Williams, faculty member; Ruth White, assistant dean of women; and Coach James Johnson.

Three Chapters Of Eastern Star In Special Meet

In the Masonic Hall Tuesday night three OES chapters of the Fifth District held a joint special meeting for the official visit of the Worthy Grand Matron, Miss Ethel Lovett of Asheboro.

Mrs. Beulah Brown, Worthy Matron of Greenville Chapter No. 149, presided. Following the ritualistic opening by the Greenville officers, Mrs. Leroy Rollins, Worthy Matron of Farmville No. 146, and Mrs. Donna Sheffield, Worthy Matron of Charles J. Austin No. 193, Tarboro, declared their chapters also duly open.

Miss Lovett, WGM, was given grand honors in the East. She explained her objections for the year, stressing particularly the drive for funds to complete the hospital now being built at the Masonic & Eastern Star Home in Greensboro. In an inspirational address she enumerated the beautiful teachings of the Order, and admonished all members to strive to put them into daily living.

She then announced that it was her happy privilege to present in the name of the North Carolina Grand Chapter a 25-year certificate of membership to Mrs. Eva Vincent Corbitt. Mrs. Corbitt and the others who had previously been given 25-year certificates: namely, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. House, Mrs. Louise Wells, Mrs. Carrie Mumford, Mrs. Josephine Rawl and Mr. A. C. Tadlock were presented in the East. Mrs. Carrie Mumford presented Mrs. Corbitt a 25-year pin from Greenville chapter. Both of these Mrs. Corbitt graciously accepted. Mrs. Florence Lewis presented to the Worthy Grand Matron a gift from the three hostess chapters. Also welcomed and seated in the East were Mrs. Alice H. Parker of Farmville, PGM, Mrs. Athalia Brown of Tarboro, PGM, Mr. J. Howard Brown of Tarboro, PGP, Mrs. Maude Baynor Foye of Kinston, Asso. GM, and Mrs. Marie Conyers of Tarboro, DDGM. Each of these made short talks and Mrs. Conyers urged every member to attend the District School of Instruction which will be held with her home chapter., Charles J. Austin 193 in Tarboro on Saturday afternoon and evening, Oct. 9th.

A social hour followed the meeting. This was in the banquet hall which had been beautifully decorated with green and yellow fall flowers and tall yellow tapers. Delicious refreshments were served, carrying out Mrs. Brown's color scheme for the year yellow and green. Approximately 100 members of the Order were in attendance.

BPW Club Sponsor Programs On Radio

The radio committee of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club announces the following special radio programs scheduled for National Business Women's Week October 10-16:

Sunday, October 10—1:30 to 2 p.m. over CBS (EST). The program will feature Margaret Chase Smith and Frieda B. Hennock.

Monday, October 11—7:45 to 8 p.m. over WGTC. The program will present Miss Ada Jones of Greenville, club member and chairman of the Young Democrats Club of the First Congressional District.

October 15—6:45 to 7 p.m. over WGTC. The program will be a playlet prepared by the national radio and television committee chairman, Miss Margariette Ralls of Columbus, Ohio.

The theme for the week is "Use Your Vote in 1948," and each program will have that theme as its primary thought.

Winds of 28 to 34 miles per hour are called moderate gales.

Third St. School News

Third Grade

Anne Parkinson and Dallas Bason are sick today.

We have 41 children in our room.

We have a new school bus.

Edward Gilson has moved to West Greenville school.

Henrietta Futrell came in our grade.

We had a fire drill October 6.

Sixth Grade Class Meeting

At our first class meeting we selected officers. They are Alice Flye, president; Lou Cheatham, secretary; Mac Respess, treasurer, and Preston Jarvis, vice president. The president appointed committees to take care of the room .

We had our second meeting last Friday. The president called the class to order. Then we talked about old and new business. We decided to bring two cents every meeting for dues. We will have a story read or told by a student each meeting. We voted to meet every Friday from 2:30 until 3 o'clock.

Alice Flye and Preston Jarvis

Social Studies

The sixth grade has been studying Egypt. We appointed committees and chairmen. Each committee made a shadoot which is used for irrigation. Sue Stocks and Juanita Cobb made an Egyptian village. Alice Flye and Leytha Brewer prepared a bulletin board display. Tommie Saieed and his group carved some boats from wood. A nice picture on the blackboard by Lou Cheatham's group made the room look nice. We enjoy studying about Egypt very much.

Myrtle Sue Stocks.

Sixth Grade

For the last few days it has been very rainy, so we could not go out to play. Instead we stayed in the room and did different things. We could either read our library books or draw. The teacher also put some homework on the board, so we had plenty to do. All of us came right in and went to work. The principal said we were very nice.

Lou Cheatham.

Seventh Grade

The other day the children of Third Street School received a very nice gift from the Blount-Harvey Company. Each child was given a very nice tablet. We appreciate this gift very much.

J. B. Spilman Does Good Work Leading Young Democrats

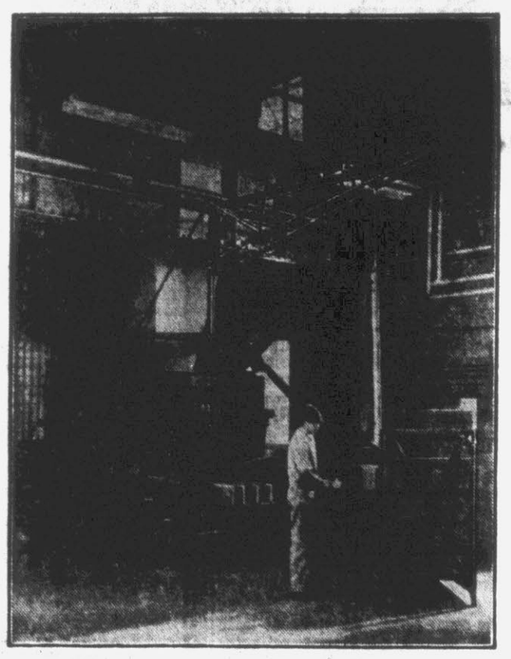

Newly-elected President J. B. Spilman of the Young Democrats Club of Greenville is forming plans for the campaign and the various chairmen will be announced in a few days. Young Democrats clubs are being organized in each voting precinct of the county and a big county rally will take place in Greenville on November 1st.

President Spilman said today that with the enthusiasm he is finding among the Young Democrats and "first voters" that Pitt County can expect the largest vote in history. He was unanimously elected president of the Young Democrats Club at a meeting held here during the past week. Incidentally ,the Young Democrats of Pitt County attended in large numbers the Democratic rally at Washington Friday.

QUALITY BLOCK BY UNDIRECTIONAL VIBRATION

Equipped with high production, automatic machinery and modern plant facilities, the New Bern Building Supply Company is prepared to serve New Bern and its territory with the best in concrete masonry units. The block machine is a Besser Super Vibrapac, the high production machine, which has a proved reputation from coast to coast and throughout the world from Iceland to the tropics for finest quality masonry units.

An important Vibrapac feature is Undirectional Vibration which makes possible the control of density and texture with a wide range of aggregates to meet requirements for insulation against moisture, sound penetration and for acoustical control.

Dura-Lite Units have a smooth, even top, straight, sharp edges and accurate dimensions. These units can be specified with confidence for the finest residences, public and commercial buildings.

FOR HOMES, FARM BUILDINGS, COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL STRUCTURES

LOW UPKEEP
You save every year, as the usual maintenance and repairs are not required on structures built of Dura-Lite Masonry units.

RODENT RESISTANT
The "tight" construction possible with Dura-Lite Masonry units effectively keeps rodents and vermin out. They can't knaw through concrete.

SELF INSULATED
Dura-Lite Masonry units of "hollow molded design" have natural insulating qualities and even more so when cellular aggregates are used in their manufacture.

LOW COST
Dura-Lite Masonry units are reasonable in price, fast and easy to lay, resulting in lower building costs.

LIFE-LONG DURABILITY
Dura-Lite does not deteriorate. It grows stronger with time. Dura-Lite Masonry walls will keep their appearance and fine condition for generations.

SANITARY
The solid, tightly fitted construction of Dura-Lite Masonry units leaves no dirt catching crannies, allows no sifting of dust through cracks.

STORM SAFETY
Where hurricanes, tornadoes and earthquakes occur, buildings of Dura-Lite Masonry construction prove to be the best protection against damage.

EASY FINANCING
The strength and permanence of Dura-Lite Masonry construction assures a home or building of long life, thus easy to finance.

ARCHITECTURAL BEAUTY
Duralite Masonry units are a versatile building material of lasting beauty adaptable to any style architecture.

FIRE SAFETY
Tests show that Dura-Lite Masonry walls will stand hours of terrific heat, with slight, if any damage.

LOW INSURANCE
Concrete does not burn. Insurance rates are lower on buildings of Dura-Lite Masonry units—Underwriters approved.

TERMITE PROOF
Termites can't touch Dura-Lite Masonry units. They exist and thrive on cellulose. There is no cellulose in concrete.

Standardization Of Sizes Said Boon To Homebuilders, Public

The trend toward standardization of sizes of building materials, a new development designed to reduce housing costs, is being acclaimed by progressive producers and builders as a boon both to the industry and the home-buying public. One representative of a large midwest building materials manufacturer recently hailed the movement as "one of the greatest advancements in building since man moved out of his prehistoric cave."

Known in the trade as "modular coordination," standardization of sizes cuts waste, speeds construction and, when introduced on a wide scale, is expected to effect important economies in manufacture and distribution.

The principle is being employed primarily in construction of so-called "industry engineered" homes. An industry engineered home consists of one or more "units," each 16 feet by 24 feet. As far as possible, the component materials and parts used in construction are sized in multiples of four inches. In many cases this system virtually eliminates on-site cutting of materials to fit, an operation which customarily slows construction and results in considerable waste.

Builders point out that this method permits use of most of the high quality materials employed in conventional construction. Various products preferred because of their durability, beauty or other advantages are either now suited for use in engineered homes or can readily be made so. Oak flooring, for example, has long been accepted as standard equipment for a well-built residence. It is used in about 80 per cent of American homes. Adaptable to rooms of any dimensions, the strip style of oak flooring is especially well suited for industry engineered homes. Laid in random lengths, it involves little cutting and waste. A piece cut off at the end of one course usually can be fitted into another. Long, medium and short lengths can be utilized to make an attractive, durable floor that will last the life of the house.

The building of houses in accordance with the industry engineered plan can effect savings of more than 50 per cent in some types of millwork and an overall cost reduction on those items of about 20 per cent, according to a leading producer. His company now is turning out most of its millwork in a relatively few standardized sizes to conform with the plan. Formerly it produced doors, window frames, moldings, mantels and the like in hundreds of sizes.

Calls Attention Hardship Clause In Rental Laws

John R. Morris, Area Rent Director, stated this morning that he is disappointed in that landlords are not taking advantage of the provisions in the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, as amended, where they are suffering hardships due to increased operating costs. The Rent Advisory Board made recommendations that special attention be given to the problem of the small landlord in hardship cases and a short form petition was developed for this purpose. The small landlord operating four or less rental units usually does not belong to a trade association or real estate board. As a result, these non-professional small landlords do not have the up-to-the minute information on rent control regulations and interpretations provided by associations. Neither do they have access to technical assistance and advice in the preparation of hardship petitions.

"We've made it simpler for small landlords to get adjustments in rent when their net income has dropped because of increases in taxes, insurance, fuel, and utilities. By small landlords, I mean those who have four or less dwelling units. We've even revised what we call the "long form"—the one larger landlords use to get adjustments. We call the simplified form used by small landlords the "short form" but landlords are not filing this petition and many of them have had an increase in taxes, insurance, fuel, and utilities and should have their rents adjusted," the rent director stated.

Swiss Vote For UNESCO Entry

Bern—(AP)—The upper chamber of the Swiss Parliament decided at a recent session to apply for the admission of Switzerland to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

A recommendation to this effect from the parliamentary foreign affairs commission was approved by 22 votes to one. Despite the almost unanimous vote, several deputies expressed a fear that Swiss membership in UNESCO might eventually compromise Switzerland's traditional neutrality. Similar fears have hitherto excluded Swiss membership of the United Nations itself.

Some deputies also objected to the proposed Swiss contribution of 1.67 per cent to the UNESCO budget. The chamber finally approved the commission's recommendation, after Foreign Minister Hax Petitpierre had assured the deputies that the constitution of UNESCO would permit Switzerland's withdrawal at any time, if the government considered the organization might interfere with the country's neutrality or vital interests.

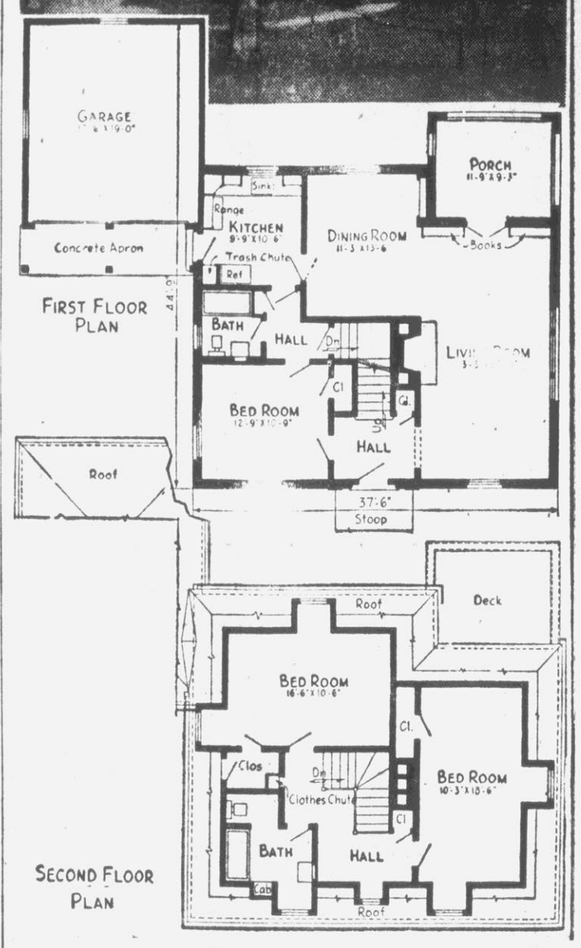

Student From Alger, Algeria, At College

Mlle. Jacqueline Meziat-Belouze of Alger, Algeria, has arrived on the campus at East Carolina Teachers College and will be a student here for the remainder of the 1948-1949 term.

Mlle. Meziat-Belouze came to the college through the assistance of the Institute of International Education in New York City, and her work here is being sponsored by the department of foreign languages. She will study on a fellowship granted by East Carolina and will assist with several courses in French now being offered. She is living in Jarvis Hall, women's dormitory on the campus.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

A modified French Colonial design, with long, sweeping roof lines, gives this house considerable distinction. Its classical exterior, especially appropriate for suburban surroundings, has been combined with a modern, open floor plan to give maximum living space, says the "American Builder" magazine, 105 West Adams St., Chicago, in nominating it for Homes for Americans.

The center hall motif has been used to great advantage, permitting a balanced arrangement of rooms and a symmetrical treatment of the exterior.

One bedroom and bath are on the first floor and two master bed rooms and a large bath and shower stall on the second floor. A clothes chute on the second floor and a trash chute in the spacious kitchen are added conveniences.

The exterior sidewalls are painted brick, and the attractive roof of blue-black asphalt shingles is set off with dormer windows.

Check-Up And Pre-Winter Repairs Urged All Homes

Fall offers the last chance for home-owners to repair their houses before cold weather arrives. Building experts point out that living comfort is sacrificed if repairs are not made promptly and that winter makes work on the exterior of a house more difficult.

It is advised that every homeowner inspect his house, even though repairs are not known to be needed. Authorities say that two main items to inspect are the roof and the heating plant.

Where roofing has been damaged by hail, lightning, wind or falling objects and the damage is confined to one spot on the roof, repair sometimes is possible. However, if the roofing is in generally poor condition because of normal wear and tear, reroofing is advisable.

H. R. Snoke of the National Bureau of Standards says, "There comes a time in the life of the roof on every permanent structure when it is no longer practicable or economical to effect repairs and, when that time comes, reroofing is the only solution."

Building experts point out that some roofing, such as asphalt shingles, can be laid on top of the old roofing to simplify application and make a stronger roof. Asphalt shingles also add fire-resistance and come in a wide variety of colors.

Furnaces should be cleaned before the weather becomes so cool that a fire must be kept burning constantly. A clean furnace will provide better heat, use less fuel and last longer than a dirty heating plant.

If a furnace has not been inspected by a professional service man during the spring or summer, this work should be done in the fall. A defect repaired before winter begins might keep a house from being heatless during the coldest time of the year.

A repair man can often find and fix small leaks. Repairing of leaks and proper adjustment of automatic heating plants frequently result in using less fuel and, consequently, saving money.

Question Raised, Who Owns Floor Of Ocean?

Copenhagen—(AP)—Who owns the bottom of the sea?

This question has been debated among experts on international law, but has now become more prominent than ever with the Belgium professors Piccard and Max Cossyns planning to descent 12,000 feet down through the ocean.

A world known Danish expert on international law, Dr. Juris George Cohn of the Danish foreign office, says the problem now needs a solution since the United States, Argentine, Mexico, Chile and this year also Iceland have proclaimed themselves owners of the bottom of the sea from their beaches to where the mainland under the water suddenly slopes down from about 600 feet under sea level to 3,000 feet or more.

It is now considered only a matter of time when minerals and coal may be found there. Russia for a long time has been pumping oil from the bottom of the Caspian Sea.

In 1930 the first international conversations on the problem were held. It proved impossible to reach an understanding because the participating nations held different views on the question how far the sea should be regarded territorial waters.

"It is difficult to state from existing rules of international law who can be placed as the owner of the bottom of the sea, but I can't see how anybody can argue against claims that a certain part of the seabottom extending from the coast belongs to the country on mainland," says Dr. Cohn.

Shrew Found To Be New Carrier African Malaria

New York—(AP)—The little elephant Shrew has been found to be a new host or carrier for malaria, scientists on an African expedition report.

The finding was made during studies of parasitology in the Anglo Egyptian Sudan, southeast corner of French Equatorial Africa, and the northeast corner of the Belgian Congo by the U. S. Naval Medical group of the University of California African Expedition. This program was headed by Cmdr. Trenton Ruebush, and Chief Deener Lawless, U. S. N. Parasites from a large number of animals connected with the spread of human diseases have been collected and preserved for further study in the United States, said Wendell Phillips, expedition leader.

City Policemen Had Busy Month

City policemen had a busy month during September according to a report of Chief L. D. Page submitted to Mayor Boyd.

The report showed 227 arrests were made in the city during the month and policemen answered 250 calls, and conducted 173 investigations. Over half the persons arrested were white men, the report showed.

There were 32 minor automobile accidents in the city which were reported to the police and among other things the members of the force found 24 doors of business houses open at night during the month.

The total amount of money received through Recorder's Court was $3,474.35 of which $1,986.55 was court costs and went into the city general fund. $1,040.80 was paid to the Pitt County auditor for the school fund and $296 went into the state police retirement fund.

Each person who is found guilty in Recorder's Court pays $1 through the court to the Pitt County Police Protective Association, which this month netted $149 from the city police court.

Chapter 16

The sun was rimming the Point Loma hills as Walter James eased his car left and followed the street toward the bay. A curved archway loomed ahead. The paint-chipped letters said EL REY YACHT CLUB.

He met a brisk young man in dungarees and yachting cap just outside the front door.

"I'm looking for Major Rockwell," Walter James said.

The young man pointed. "Follow that boardwalk around the clubhouse to the second pier and go right down to the end. He's on board his cruiser. The Carrie II. I think he's expecting you."

"Thanks," said Walter James. He looked at the Carrie II admiringly. It was a large cabin cruiser, about seventy-five feet long, painted white and brown. A blue and white flag with crossed swords snapped at the prow.

A man was seated in a deck chair watching him approach. Walter James halted ten feet away. "I'm looking for Major Rockwell."

"I'm Major Rockwell," the man said, and as he spoke he cocked the hand-action rifle that lay in his lap. "Won't you come aboard, Mr. James?"

The slender man said, "You make it hard to refuse, Major."

Rockwell said, "Don't let the rifle frighten you, Mr. James. I've been shooting at birds."

Walter James grinned without mirth. "You didn't catch me off balance by knowing my name, Major. I've been in this business too long. I'm pretty sure you didn't ever see me before, but then I'm the kind of a guy who isn't hard to recognize. Even when the description is given over the phone."

Rockwell's eyes were bland. "You underestimate your fame, sir."

"I'll give you some advice. You should get rid of Boniface. He's too obvious to anybody with a suspicious mind. Like the police, for instance."

Rockwell seemed amused. "My only connection with Dr. Boniface is through our country club."

"In a pig's eye," said Walter James pleasantly. "He's the front man in your racket. He has that fancy office, all complete with Lienster machine to put the suckers into a nice hypnotic condition before he even gets to them. Boniface digs out their troubles and he probably gets some beauties. San Diego is a rich town, a lot of retired people here. There's bound to be a lot of neurosis mixed in."

"I'm afraid I don't understand you, sir. Just what are you interested in?"

Walter James smiled. "I thought I told you. I want some information."

"What kind of information?"

"I want to know what you know about Fernando Solez. That's all, Major. I'm not interested in your racket—I'm not one of the local law. My business is Fernando Solez."

Rockwell looked out across the darkening water. "I like you, Mr. James—you're a man after my own heart." He chuckled.

"Skip it," said Walter James.

"But since you've gone to the trouble to look me up, I'll admit that I was acquainted with Solez, though only slightly. He was useful to me in a business connection on one or two occasions. The first I knew that he was dead was when I read it in the paper."

"Put it plainer than that, Major. I'm kinda dumb tonight."

Rockwell's eyes glinted at him. "You're a blunt man, Mr. James. That's an admirable quality at times. Solez was able to procure certain chemicals that are useful to Dr. Boniface and myself in experiments that we're conducting."

The slender detective laughed noiselessly and without much mirth. "Our brown brother really got around. Where's he get the stuff?"

"Dr. Boniface handled all the arrangements," the major said smoothly. "I merely provided the financial—ah, backing. Neither of us were interested in the source."

There was another moment of silence as Walter James picked over the story in his mind. "When was the last time you had any business dealings with Solez?" he asked finally.

"Let me see," the Major said blandly. "It's hard to remember, Mr. James—it's been quite a long while."

Walter James said, "Take another look, Major. I'd say there was a deal on last Saturday night. The night the Filipino was stabbed."

Rockwell laughed. "I swear, Mr. James, you're a wizard."

A chuckle rippled through the other man's slight frame. "Here's how I figure it, Major. For a long time I wondered why the card was torn in two. But it's really simple. Solez was a ticket taker and what does the ordinary ticket taker do with your ticket? Yep, he tears it in two.

"Every time you and Boniface wanted a delivery from Solez, Boniface wrote him a note on a small piece of paper and handed it to the Filipino along with a ticket. Solez tore it in two and stuck it in his coat pocket. He read it later. It's my hunch that he was just about to read it when he was killed. At least, that would account for why one piece was still in his coat."

He paused. Rockwell didn't move. "Maybe Boniface gave the note to Solez at an early show—or maybe he was sitting in on the last one. A check of the audience would show. But it doesn't matter. He'd hardly give the Filipino a note with one hand and stab him with the other."

The shadowy figure in the chair moved its head slightly. "I don't see how all this particularly concerns me, Mr. James. I'm simply an innocent bystander."

Walter James stretched the length of his slim form. "Bystander, yes, Major. But innocent—well, now I wonder." He groped around for the ladder to the dock.

The quiet in Rockwell's voice was underwritten with subtle menace. "You wonder what, Mr. James?"

Improvement

Buenos Aires—(AP)—It took hundreds of years, but somebody finally improved the wheelbarrow.

Engineer Arnold Schauer showed city officials his new model. Instead of having the wheel in front, it has it under the body. Schauer said this means the wheelbarrow chauffeur carries less load and the wheel itself carries more.

Smuggling Rice Won Jefferson American Honors

Florence, S. C.—(AP)—A smuggling job on rice gained Thomas Jefferson an honorary membership in the Agricultural Society of South Carolina. Attorney W. Marshall Broges, a student of Jefferson's life, reports that the 1787 ambassador to Great Britain found rice there superior to that grown in South Carolina.

He looked into the matter, and found that the superiority from the rice, grown in Piedmont, Italy, being of a different strain than that grown in the United States. In one of his notebooks Jefferson wrote that an Italian muleteer "will smuggle a sack of rough rice for me to Genoa; it being death to export it in that form." The smuggler was successful, and the new rice thrived in this country. In recognition, Marshall says, Jefferson was accorded the membership.

oratory which would be 100 per cent safe in case of World War III. Such a location has twelve requirements. (Any reader interested therein will be sent these twelve free on request.) The place which fulfills these is the little town of New Boston, N. H. Here we have bought a building for our experiments directed along three lines. These should get underway by next spring.

(1) The First will be to test the thousands of animal, vegetable and mineral products to see if one of these serves, to any extent to insulate Gravity. Every other form of energy—light, heat, noise, electricity and even atomic rays—can be insulated against. But there have been no systematic tests of all these thousands of materials to insulate aagainst Gravity carried out in the manner of my friend the late Thomas A. Edison.

We may fail to find any such insulating material; but if we do find it, it will be one of the world's greatest discoveries. It might provide almost free power everywhere. (Any reader, on request, will be sent gratis a description of how this might take place.)

Accidents And Health

(2) Our Second link of endeavor will be to urge hospitals, police departments and insurance companies to keep an accurate record of all accidents (from broken hips to auto collisions) noting the date and hour of their happening and how they correlate with the phase of the moon and sun. Newton showed that this force of gravity effects us differently according to the Earth's nearness to the moon and sun on different days. Throughout the centuries people have believed that the moon affects the germination of seeds, the action of livestock, variations in sales and business, and even the health, judgment and habits of humans. Hence the words "luny" and "lunatic". Yet no accurate statistical studies have ever been made to assertain whether these ideas are imaginary or based upon facts.

(3) Now for our Third line of endeavor. This free energy evident in tides, water powers, and in a hundred other ways—is tremendous. But why bother about these indirect and cumbersome ways of using Gravity? As this free field of energy is constantly being generated from the terrific fires burning within the planets, why not harness this energy direct? Why burn coal, oil or gas to get electricity? Why not use directly and universally this Gravity field of energy which already operated all water powers? Only the lack of an insulator prevents such use and this brings us back to paragraph (1) above.

We shall also keep records of all Gravity experiments by others and encourage those who are now working on similar projects. In short we are prepared to serve as a clearing-house for all Gravity research and are determined to be experts thereon. If only in part successful, we will bring to each reader of the Column unutold personal blessings and through the conservation of coal, oil and gas—reduce the price thereof and make them available for other uses, reducing electric rates to consumers and increasing earnings for utility stockholders.

Ancient Feud On Potomac Is Again Coming To Fore

By JANE EADS

Washington—The annual battle of the Potomac, which has raged for 162 years between Maryland and Virginia fishermen during the oyster season, is under way again. First blowoff in the campaign of 1948 took place recently when a Virginia oyster man's boat was machine-gunned by a Maryland patrol vessel. The shots were first from a patrol boat commanded by one Capt. Guy Johnson, member of Maryland's "oyster navy." Capt. Johnson said he "lost" the pursued craft when it surmounted the oyster bar.

The feud between Virginians and Free Staters along a 60-mile stretch of the Potomac from its mouth up toward Mount Vernon is ancient, bitter and complicated. First of all, Maryland controls by treaty the Potomac rights up to the Virginia shoreline—except for the many creeks, estuaries and bays which indent the Virginia shore. Virginians have equal fishing rights on the river.

The original compact to cover fishing problems in the Potomac was made between the States of Virginia and Maryland and signed at Mount Vernon in the presence of George Washington in 1785. The States have since made it illegal to take oysters from the Potomac by dredging with mechanical scooping machines. Conservationists say dredging ruins the oyster bars.

The conservationists favor tonging with long handled scissor-like tongs. Most of Maryland's oyster beds are restricted to tonging, including bars entirely within Maryland as well as the mutual waters of the Potomac.

Virginia, while legally in line on the dredging ban in the Potomac, permits dredging in waters exclusively her own. The Marylanders contend the dredges don't always stay in Virginia and rarely come to trial in Virginia when they're caught. Virginians say the dredges only take oysters too deep for the tongers to get anyway.

To iron out these troubles a bill was introduced in the Maryland state assembly last year which would hold Virginia violators for trial in Maryland and confiscate their boats. The Old Dominion, considering this a violation of the 1785 compact, sent delegations to Annapolis, the Maryland capital, and got the bill pigeonholed. The governors of both states set up an interstate commission to study the problem. It met in April 1947 and suggested the mutual waters of the Potomac and the Chesapeake as well should be administered jointly. Nothing more has been done about it.

Professor R. C. Deal Is Guest Speaker At VFW Meet Thursday

The Charles Gray Morgan Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars met on Thursday night, October 7, 1947, at their club house on the Airport Road for their monthly supper meeting.

Professor R. C. Deal, retired member of East Carolina Teachers College, delighted the 150 members present with an after-dinner speech. Professor Deal's wit and wisdom rounded out one of the best programs the veterans have had this year.

Plans were made for the sale of tickets for the Charlie Spivak dance at the college on October 1st. The dance is to be sponsored by the Veterans Club at the college and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Many will remember the great success of the last Spivak dance.

"Scrappy" Proctor, program chairman, has promised that the entertainment witnessed last meeting was only the beginning of excellent fall and winter programs. With the membership drive coming all new and old members really have something to look forward to during the coming year.

Due to the dance on October 21st, there will be no business meeting as originally scheduled.

A wind of eight to 11 miles per hour is a gentle breeze.

The Reverend Morris Lee and his wife are currently conducting a revival at the Church of God on Broad Street, here in Greenville. There will be special music and singing each evening until the close of the revival on October 24. Accompanying the Lee's is their three-year-old son, Morris Lee, Jr.

Phantoms And Dunn Battle To Seven-Seven Deadlock

Bruising Battle By Two Elevens

Phantoms Dominate First Period Play And Score In Second; Dunn Rolled In Second Half But Unable Score More Than Once

Greenville High's Phantoms and Dunn's Green Waves battled to a seven-seven deadlock on Guy Smith Stadium here last night in a rough and hard fought non-conference engagement which saw at least two Greenville players sidelined with painful if not serious injuries.

Raby Edwards, Greenville end, sustained a painful nose injury and Raleigh Lee, tackle, received a cut requiring two stitches over the right eye.

The Phantoms dominated the play in the first period and scored in the opening of the second quarter when Walt Goor skirted end on a reverse and went over standing up to climax a 95 yard touchdown march. It was Greenville's only downfield march of the game.

In the last half the Dunn Green Wave began pounding the forward wall of the Phantoms and took control of the situation for the remainder of the game, although Greenville allowed them only one touchdown. Dunn rolled up 152 yards to Greenville's 22 in the last half.

The Dunn score was set up by Stacy Johnson who romped 35 yards to the Greenie 20 where Dick Pearson took over the carrying duties and went over for a touchdown four plays later. Jackson kicked the extra point.

It was a rough and tumble battle in which the statistics rather than the scoring really tell the tale. Dunn gained a total of 235 yards rushing and Greenville gained 74. Greenville passed three times and completed three for a total of 23 yards while Dunn passed eight times and completed three for 26 yards. Greenville marked up eight first downs to Dunn's seven, although the Phantoms were able to get but one first down in the last half.

Dunn lost 55 yards on penalties and Greenville lost 15.

Standouts for the Dunn team were Thomas Dorman, the boy no. 5, who played a bang-up game and who made a 25 yard run without interference in the last quarter. Johnson and Pearson also showed up well in the Dunn backfield.

The Phantom offense was sparked by Little Bland, Jimmy Cox and Wingbacks Jack Morgan and Walter Goor. John Farley did a good job from his blocking back post while the outstanding kicking of Joe Alligood kept Greenville out of trouble on more than one occasion during the game.

Seton Hall Stars

New York— (AP) —The Basketball Association of America could field a team composed of ex-Seton Hall College players that probably would make trouble for any of the BBAA teams. Former Seton Hall players now in the Association are Tommy Byrnes, New York; Ed Sadowski; Philadelphia; and Rochester's Bob Davis. Bob Wanzer and Bob Fitzgerald.

Dodgers To Keep Shotton On Job

Brooklyn, Oct. 9—(AP)—Speculation over the 1949 manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers was at an end today—it'll be Burt Shotton again.

President Branch Rickey broke the news late yesterday. It brought a sudden stop to growing rumors that Bucky Harris, late of the New York Yankees, would head the Dodgers next season.

Shotton managed Brooklyn to the National League pennant in 1947 during Leo Durocher's enforced vacation. He took over again the past July in the three-way switch that saw Durocher go to the Giants to replace Mel Ott. This year the Dodgers moved into fourth place the day Shotton took over. They finished third behind Boston and St. Louis.

Rickey said he was also pleased with the 1948 performance of most of the 27 Brooklyn farm teams.

"Twenty-two of our minor league affiliates finished in first division," he said, "and, by and large, I am not disposed to change the management at any point, except in some cases for the purposes of deserved promotion."

Schroeder And Gonzales Move Into Net Finals

San Francisco, Oct. 9 —(AP)— Davis Cup Star Ted Schroeder of Glendale and National Champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of Los Angeles moved today toward an All-California finals in the National Hard Court Tennis tournament.

The top-seeded Gonzales meets the surprising Art Larsen of San Francisco in one semi-finals match. Second-seeded Schroeder takes on Czechoslovakia's Jaroslav Drobny ranked fourth, in the other semi-finals bracket.

If either is eliminated before the finals it appeared Gonzales would be most likely to go. The Los Angeles titleholder was extended to five sets yesterday in getting by Harry Likas of San Francisco, National Intercollegiate champion 5-7, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Partly Cloudy In Cleveland Today

Cleveland, Oct. 9 —(AP)— Cool, partly cloudy weather with the sun occasionally shining through was predicted for today's World Series game.

The Weather Bureau said the temperature probably would rise to a high of about 60 and that a light wind was expected. Occasional showers were forecast for the early morning hours, but they were expected to let up well ahead of game time.

The honor of clinching the 1948 penant for the Braves to a rookie hurler who came to pitch for the Boston club on a flip of a coin. Vernon Bickford is the lad, and it was President Lou Perini who called the turn that sent the young right-hander for the Braves. The Braves and the Pittsburgh pirate were splitting up the players on the Indiannapolis roster and about the only player Perin knew was Bickford. It seems that Branch Rickey had made a determined bid to land the youngster without success. If Rickey was anxious to get Bickford, Perini figured, the pitcher must be worth having.

Bickford was just a fair country pitcher when he joined the Army in 1942, and the first couple of years he was too busy learning to be a soldier to play any baseball. Later, when he came in contact with former big league players he had an opportunity to learn something about the art of hurling. In the Philippines, he played with the Manila Dodgers and had the benefit of big league coaching.

Kirby Higbe and Al Milnar taught him a few tricks but most important of all, impressed upon him the importance of control.

With Milwaukee last season Bickford had great success pitching against the Kansas City Blues, then managed by Billy Meyer. Meyer moved up to manage the Pittsburgh Pirate this year and Bickford still has the Indian sign on Meyer. In his first big league start, Bickford beat Meyer's Pirates, 4-1, and allowed only five hits. On the strength of his fine showing, the Braves awarded him a new contract when the teams straightened out for the final dash to the pennane wire.

Nothing but praise goes to the Greenville High after the battle last night that ended in a tie. Walter Goor, who is known for his speed, went around left end for the Phantoms' 6 points. Cox went through the line for the extra point.

The people in Ayden are interested in a football game with Greenville High, after yesterday's victory over Jacksonville. The Tornadoes led by Jimmie McCormick (who scored two touchdowns) chalked up their third East Central Conference victory 21 to 0.

The Yellow Jackets of Roanoke Rapids out-stung the Yellow Jackets of Elizabeth City 7 points to walk away with their first conference victory. Matthews passed 40 yards to rook for the lone tally.

Elon defeated ECTC last night 6 to 0.

The Pirates threatened twice in the last quarter but were unable to push across a score because of two pass interceptions. A sports writer at Elon remarked, "You have got to give that ECTC line credit, they played a whale of a good game."

Braves Strangle Indians' Homers

Cleveland, Oct. 9—(AP)—Although they were rolling behind a winning margin in the World Series today, the Cleveland Indians' vaunted home run power has been reduced to walks and singles.

The American League champions hit 155 homers during the regular season—tops for the league — but have only 15 singles and two doubles during three Series games.

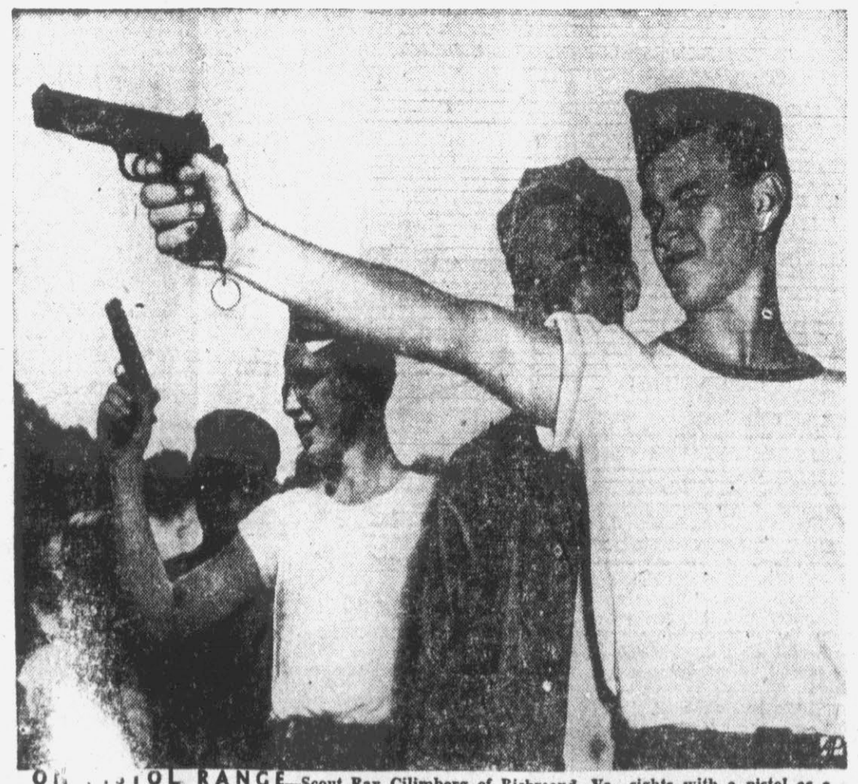

Manager Billy Southworth and ace relief Pitcher Bill Voiselle said they knew why the "gopher" had been removed from drives hit by the Indians.

"The Indians are not accustomed to our National League type of slow, breaking pitches," said Southworth after his Braves dropped a 2-0 decision yesterday. "They are fast ball hitters—and they haven't seen many fast balls this week."

The sage of Sunbury, O., wouldn't admit that Braves hurlers were following shrewd instructions from the bench.

"We just find that most power hitters are bothered by slow curves," Billy smiled. "Johnny Sain, who pitches the fourth game for us, is pretty fair at that type of pitch. You'll recall that he was "bothering" the Indians plenty in the opening game. In fact, he's quite a pitcher."

Against Buffalo, Frankie Albert of the San Francisco '49ers punted 82 yards early in the All-America pro Conference season.

Pirates Staged Near Upset As Elon Held To Close 6-0 Score

Burlington—(Special to the Reflector)—The East Carolina Teachers College Pirates, a 12 point under dog, held the Fighting Christians of Elon to a six to nothing score here last night in a North State conference thriller.

And it was nearly an upset.

The favored Fighting Christians found their backs to the wall twice in the final quarter of the game. Midway the fourth period the Pirates rolled from the 49 to the 11 sparked by halfback Mike Kovach.

The march began when Kovach passed to Ed Yarborough from the 49 to the 34. Kovach then skirted end to carry it down to the 25. Again Kovach passed. This time to George Woods who was dropped on the 22 with a first down. Darby passed to Wood for a first on the 11 but Smith's next pass was intercepted by Elon end Greenwood and the threat ended.

Earlier in the same period the ECTC squad came down to the 17 on a pass from Kovach to Yarbrough but the Elon line held.

Elon scored the only touchdown of the game in the second quarter. Lou Sazina, Elon's ace fullback, handed off to Mike Kozakenwick, on an end around to carry the ball from the 34 to the eight yard line. Sazina went over right tackle for the tally. Huyett's attempted placement for the extra point failed.

First downs were even, each team collecting 11. Most of the ECTC first downs were gained through the air. The Pirates were held to 38 yards on the ground while the mighty Elon team rolled up 179 yards rushing. The Pirates completed six out of 29 passed. Elon tried eight and connected with three.

Ayden Tornadoes Top Jacksonville By 21-0 Score

Ayden, Oct 8—The Ayden Tornadoes chalked up their third East Central conference victory this afternoon with a 21-0 decision over the Jacksonville Carnidals.

The Tornadoes swept to 3 touchdowns on power plays and one intercepted pass. Ayden marked up 17 first downs while Jacksonville had only four.

After a scoreless first quarter, Quarterback Peter Bullock climaxed a 60-yard sustained drive when he carried over from the Jacksonville 2 for the first score of the game.

Jimmy McCormick scored the second Tornado touchdown on a 35-yard gallop behind good blocking by Jack Harrington. The touchdown run was set up when Ayden took the ball on its own 48 and ran to the Jacksonville 35.

McCormick scored again following a pass interception on the Ayden 47. The Tornadoes advanced the ball to the Jacksonville 15 and from that point McCormick carried over.

Defensive stars for Ayden were R. H. Mason and Bob Holland. Standing out for Jacksonville on defense were Ballenger, Hewitt and Parker.

Wendell Bows To Farmville Team By 26-12 Score

Farmville, Oct. 8—Farmville defeated Wendell, 26-12, in a high school football game played here today.

The winner got off to a 12-0 halftime lead on touchdowns by Claude Tyson and Bob Brock and then played the visitors even in the second half as Clarence Joyner and Harry Albritton added Farmville touchdownws.

Carl King passed to Tyson for 12 yards to provide Farmville's first tally in the opening period. Brock got away on a 30-yard run in the second quarter, and in [illegible] period, Joyner romped 45 yards to score. Albritton plunged over from four yards out for the final Farmville tally.

Wendell scored its second-half touchdowns on a 30-yard pass play and a 30-yard march on the ground.

George Wooten and [illegible] were standouts in the Farmville line.

MONTANA SKI RUN— Toni Matt, ski school instructor, goes down a course near Whitefish, Mont., where national downhill and slalom championships will be held next March.

Up To Sain

Cleveland, Oct. 9 — (AP) — Johnny Sain, the curve-balling right-hander of the Boston Braves, is the key man of the World Series as the clubs go into today's fourth game with Cleveland holding a 2-1 edge.

If Sain, a 1-0 conqueror of Bobby Feller in the opener, can stop the Tribe again, this may turn out to be a long drawn out seven-game marathon. If Sain fails, Cleveland is expected to rack up the National leaguers by Sunday night.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Tribe figures things that way too. Last night, after Gene Bearden's brilliant five-hit 2-0 shutout victory, the Cleveland skipper said, "Tomorrow is the big one."

Boudreau is shooting Steve Gromek, whom he describes as "my fourth best pitcher," against Sain. He didn't elaborate on the obvious reasons.

Showing 'Em How

Providence—(AP)—Ernie Calverley, star of the Providence Steamrollers of the Basketball Association of America and former Rhode Island cage star, spent the summer conducting basketball clinics throughout the state. Calverley visited playgrounds boys camps, private schools, etc., and demonstrated plays.

NATIONAL NETWORK

Chapel Hill, Oct. 9.—North Carolina's homecoming game with N.C. State here October 16 will be aired over the Columbia Broadcasting System coast-to-coast network. "Red" Barber will be at the mike.

The San Francisco '49ers of the All-America Football Conference were forced to punt only three times in their first two games.
