

See Possibility Lewis' Pay Hike Will Start Round

Other Big Unions Scheduled Hold Con- ventions; Leaders May Get Boost

Cincinnati, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Labor leaders saw the possibility today that John L. Lewis' record pay boost to $50,000 a year will touch off a round of similar salary increases for other union chiefs.

Such a move might come at the next conventions of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organization. The AFL meets here for two weeks beginning Nov. 12, and the CIO will gather in Portland, Ore., Nov. 21, for a one-week session.

Most of the other conventions are out of the way for this year. But many union observers were willing to predict that, when the convention season resumes next spring, the example of action by the United Mine Workers at their convention here will go into full swing.

AFL President William Green receives an annual salary of $25,000. George Meany, AFL secretary, gets $18,000. These salaries have been considered "out of line for some time, compared to the earnings of leaders of many subsidiary AFL unions.

Among actions taken at the Mine Workers' convention, which concluded yesterday, was adoption of a political action resolution commending President Truman and faintly endorsing his Republican opponent for the presidency. Thomas E. Dewey, Lewis knocked some of the edge off that at the final session when he took issue with Dewey's defense of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Without mentioning Dewey's name, Lewis told the convention: "That man just never read the act."

At Pittsburgh Monday night Dewey had said the act preserved labor's right to be heard together. "The act does just the reverse," Lewis declared. "If he will take a printed copy of the statute x x x and read it, he will find one line in the preamble which says labor has the right to be heard. But following that, in 11 places of restrictions that are labor to try to organize."

In the final act of the nine-day session, the miners adopted a 10-point contract policy for next spring's negotiations. In general the objectives are the same demands which Lewis handed the coal operators over the past three years.

More Influence By Women Seek In Finnish Life

Heisinki.—(AP)—Finland's women have acquired increased influence in the parliament and in politics in general since the war.

In the general elections this summer women won 24 out of 200 seats in the Finnish parliament and a woman, Mrs. Lilja Leivo-Larsson was instituted as vice minister of social affairs in the new cabinet.

In 1945, 17 seats were won by women and in 1938, 18 parliamentary seats were occupied by women.

Report Newsman Was Abducted

Athens, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Greek authorities said today guerrillas have kidnapped BBC Correspondent Kenneth Matthews from a hotel in the northeastern Peloponnese.

Police at Argos said Matthews and a woman, identified as Anne Michael, were abducted by a small band Sunday, but the woman was released after a few minutes. They said military detachments have been dispatched to pursue the rebels.

An Amazing Back-Flop

Russia 'Yearning For Cooperation' Says Vishinsky In Rather Subdued Talk; It Followed Stiffening American Attitude; Tactical Diversion Under Pressure

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

A most remarkable spirit of Russian "peace and good-will" descended for a time on the deliberations of the United Nations meeting in Paris yesterday when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky abandoned his customary oratorical invective and declared Communists "are yearning for cooperation."

That was an amazing back-flop which naturally gave rise to speculation as to its significance. What could have caused such an abrupt change? Of course the non-Communist countries on the Soviet Committee had expressed their disapproval of the declaration and the Soviet Union had been created in God's image and likeness of God.

Russia's Alexei Pavlov had objected to such language. He said in the Soviet Union the postulate that man is created in God's image is "much disputed" and often regarded as "a certain sign of social backwardness."

Truman Campaign Train Goes North

Carries His Vote Appeal To Wisconsin And Minnesota Where Tight Congressional Race Now Being Staged

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Truman directed his vote appeal to the Wisconsin and Minnesota Dairy Country today.

He headed for St. Louis and a major address after a rousing reception in Illinois where he laid down a four point farm program. In a talk in the armory at Springfield, Ill., last night, Mr. Truman told a police-estimated crowd of 6,000 that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is backed by Wall Street and that he is aligned with "some queer characters."

Interest in the November election in Minnesota is concentrated in the campaign of mayor Hubert Humphrey, Democratic-farm labor candidate, to unseat Sen. Joseph H. Ball, Republican incumbent.

Senator Ball supported President Roosevelt in 1944 on the Foreign Policy issue. He has been under constant attack from labor organizations this year.

Humphrey, the Minneapolis mayor, led the fight in the last Democratic convention for the adoption of the strong civil rights plank which fanned the flames of Southern dissension within the party.

The Democrats are hopeful of picking up a Senate seat in Minnesota and some Republicans concede a close race. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has said Ball may lose.

Mr. Truman's campaign train moved through Wisconsin on a schedule which called for a speech only at Superior, at 3:30 p. m. (EST) but with the possibility of a series of earlier platform appearances en route.

Mr. Truman's route led through Milwaukee, at 8:35 a. m.; Adams, 8:50 a. m.; Altoona, 11:30 a. m.; Spooner, 1:50 and Superior, 3:30.

At Superior Mr. Truman was to talk to a rear platform crowd and then motor to Leif Erickson Park in Duluth, Minn., for a speech at 4 p. m.

The Springfield speech, coming after Mr. Truman laid a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, featured such assertions by the President as:

"I wish we had at least as much Bi-partisan support for our agricultural policy as we have for our Foreign Policy."

"They (the Republicans) tell you that they favor farm price support, but while you sat out here on a powder keg waiting for prices to blow up, they lit the fuse."

American Ideas Reach Russians

Leaks In 'Iron Curtain'; Many Getting U.S. Viewpoint

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dr. D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, said today that American ideas are penetrating Russia's "iron curtain" on a large scale.

"There are between three and four million shortwave receiving sets in the Soviet Union," the Boston editor said, "and most of them are tuned in regularly to the voice of America broadcasts. Many of them have a good many listeners to each set."

Canham, in a speech prepared for the 133rd annual meeting of the manufacturers Association of Connecticut, said it was difficult to tell whether the broadcasts are changing any Russian minds.

"But the fact is that the Russians are hearing our side of the case on a large scale," he said. "That alone is important. It means that the effort to build up an impenetrable barrier to ideas has proved as impossible this time as it has been on most other occasions when dictatorial governments have sought to seal off their people."

Canham said he was reliably informed that Russians know "the American version of the Kasenkina case as soon as they knew the Russian version, and were thoroughly realistic in their appraisal of the two cases."

"In short they knew perfectly well that Mrs. Kasenkina had done and why she did it, because such efforts to escape are familiar to their own experience," he said.

Last Big Relic Of Adolf Hitler To Be Destroyed

Berlin, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Berlin's last major relic of Adolf Hitler, the gutted ruin of the massive Reich Chancellery he built for himself in the late 1930s, is going to be torn and blasted down.

The building department in the Russian sector of the city made the announcement.

The Russians have already ripped out the building's Italian and Bavarian marbles and rich woodwork. The marble has gone into construction of Berlin memorials to the Red Army.

What is left is now to be dismantled for salvaged building material or simply blown up, the announcement said.

Flew Ocean To Be At Bedside

Reading, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A Reading soldier reached home last night after a flight from Germany just five minutes before his 71-year-old father died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The father, George Elias Thomas, recognized his son, Elias, and clasped his hand a few minutes before he died, members of the family said.

The son had obtained emergency leave from his army post in Frankfurt. He started the air trip from Germany Monday morning.

ELEVEN POLIO CASES
—Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The State Board of Health reported 11 new cases of polio today to raise the October total to 32 and the total since the first of the year to 2,308.

Dewey Sticks To Theme GOP Can 'Convince World'

Candidate Runs Into First 'Incidents' In Southern Illinois Tour

En Route with Dewey to Oklahoma City, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Beset by the first incidents of his campaign, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey stuck to his theme today that only the Republican party can convince the world that the United States is not "faltering" in its search for peace.

The Republican presidential nominee crossed Oklahoma with 13 speeches on his schedule after running into some of the troubles that have tagged at least one candidate—Henry A. Wallace—in his travels.

In southern Illinois—generally regarded as friendly territory—the GOP presidential nominee was the target of two flying tomatoes at Mt. Vernon.

Dewey's security patrol said youngsters lobbed the vegetables from a nearby roof and promptly ran.

A few minutes later, at Beaucoeur, Ill., the Dewey special train backed up into a crowd of about 1,000 persons who had turned out to hear the nominee in an after dark speech.

This brought the facetious comment from Dewey that "that's the first lunatic I've had for an engineer."

"He probably should be shot at sunrise," Dewey added, "but we'll let him off this time since nobody was hurt."

Dewey took no notice of the tomato-throwing incident. He went on to urge—as he continued to do today—that the American people "cast off the shackles of confusion and defeatism and despair" by electing a Republican administration in November.

In an address prepared for delivery in Oklahoma City this afternoon, the New York governor said that the American people realize that the aim of Communism is "to destroy freedom wherever it exists."

"We are in the midst of that struggle, although we seem to be thousands of miles away," he declared.

Returning to his theme that this country's representatives abroad must not be "undercut," he stated: "The Paris our representatives at the United Nations are working tirelessly and with great patience with the representatives of other nations to bring this crisis to a peaceful solution."

"We will uphold their hands. We will let them know that America is not divided. We will let them know that America does not falter and that we will not weaken."

Churchman Adds His Support To Armament Drive

London, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, added his support today to Britain's rearmament campaign.

"The international skies have become very dark and threatening," the Churchman told the joint synod of both houses of the convocation of Canterbury. "No one, I suppose, would say that another war is impossible."

"It is, I think, the bounden duty of this country to be as much prepared for such a situation as it can be, and to recover some of the means of defense which it has, perhaps lightly, laid aside. But I trust that of us will ever speak or think of war as in any way inevitable."

French Strikes Persist; Food Profiteers Hunted

Paris, Oct. 13.—(AP)—France opened war today on food speculators in an attempt to drive down high prices—strongest argument of Communist-led unions in fomenting the current strike wave.

Public prosecutors throughout the country received a circular from Justice Minister Andre Marie, reminding them of the government's determination to "prosecute profiteers without pity."

A 24-hour dockworkers' walkout threatened to tie up most of the ports in the strike-harried nation today.

The tie-up follows the now familiar strike pattern which the government has blamed on the Communist (Communist International Information Bureau) and the

Six UN Neutrals Get Soviet Reply To Proposals On Berlin

Paris, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The six neutral powers of the United Nations Security Council met tonight to consider Russia's answer to their proposal to end the Berlin blockade.

There was no immediate indication of what the note from the Kremlin said about Berlin.

Earlier in the day Sir Hartley Shawcross of Britain charged before the 58-nation Political Committee that Russia's fifth column is sabotaging world reconstruction through Communist parties in every country in the world.

A French spokesman said the Russian answer on Berlin was delivered to Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting president of the council.

Bramuglia was reported to have talked for an hour with Andrei V. Vishinsky, deputy foreign minister of Russia, who had tried in vain to keep the issue off the Security Council agenda.

The United States, Britain and France had accused Russia of endangering peace and security by blockading Berlin late in June. The neutral powers—Argentina, Belgium, Canada, China, Colombia and Syria—are not directly involved in the dispute and have tried to bring about a compromise.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, addressing the 58-nation Political Committee of the United Nations, declared Russia's offer to lay her cards on the table if a Soviet armaments proposal was adopted "won't do."

Resuming the debate on Russia's proposal for a one-third reduction in armaments within a year, Sir Hartley said Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was trying to do away with the iron curtain by denying it existed.

What a tremendous contribution it would be to confidence in Europe if the Soviet countries would open the doors, lift the curtains, and let travelers from other countries get to know and make friends with the warm-hearted and generous people of Russia and to understand the great problems they have to face," Sir Hartley said.

"One word from Russia: one little word—'stop'—would enable these troubled countries to put their own houses in order and to build themselves up in democratic peace and security—one little word—and it does not come."

Western officials have been re-acting about the resolution they have been drafting for the Security Council. It seemed likely the resolution would ask the council to rule that the Soviet blockade of Berlin imperils peace; that the blockade should be lifted to enable a meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council on Berlin and all-Germany problems; and that failure to lift the blockade is equivalent to duress, justifying a Western refusal to negotiate.

Defense Center To Be In France

Headquarters Site For Alliance Not Yet Selected

London, Oct. 13.—(AP)—An authoritative British source said today the defense headquarters of the Western European Alliance will be "somewhere in France."

The informant said France was chosen before Gen. Charles De Gaulle issued his statement Oct. 1 that the five-nation defense pact was "no solution at all" to defense problems of the West because it would be centered in London.

The exact location of headquarters for the joint land, sea and air center has not been selected, the informant said. The headquarters will be the scene of integrated planning by western defense chiefs under Viscount Montgomery as permanent military chairman.

Serving with him will be Gen. Jean De Latre De Tassigny of France, as commander in chief of land forces, and Air Chief Marshal Sir James Robb of Britain, as commander in chief of air forces.

The five-nations in the alliance are Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Calls Council On Palestine Case

Paris, Oct. 13.—(AP)—U. S. delegate Warren R. Austin called the United Nations Security Council to meet today to take up violations of the truce in Palestine.

Austin acted in his capacity of October President of the Council, although Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Atilio Bramuglia is presiding over the council's debate of the Berlin crisis.

Leaf Inventories Growing Fast

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Inventories of tobacco wholesalers have been growing faster than sales, the commerce department reported today.

The department said the $110,000,000 worth of stocks wholesalers had on hand at the start of September was up 16 percent from the year before. The money increase was $15,000,000.

Stood Silent

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Led by his seeing-eye dog Brax, Benjamin J. Masciale, who lost his sight on Okinawa, walked into the public sale of houses.

The former marine operates a news stand in the lobby at city hall. The sale was just upstairs. There were some 500 persons on hand to bid on the various homes.

Deputy city collector William F. Black put on the block a six room frame house at a minimum price of $2,500. Six persons stood up promptly to bid on the property; then Masciale slowly climbed to his feet and entered the minimum bid.

The other six stood silent while the gavel fell a final time and the house was knocked down on Monday to the blind veteran.

May Cede Bases For Old Colonies

Rome, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Carlo Sporsa suggested today that if Italy got back her African colonies she would be ready to cede strategic bases to the great powers.

He was answering questions by Pietro Nenni, pro-Communist Socialist and former Foreign Minister, in the Foreign affairs committee of the Chamber of deputies.

Sporsa said that for Italy to adopt a neutral position in the present world crisis would be like an ostrich burying its head in the sand.

Nenni expressed fear that the government, in bargaining for return of the African territories Italy held before the war, is "implicitly orienting the country toward bellicosity."

Sporsa said: "Italy, in the event of her return to Africa as a mandate power, is ready to take account of the strategic necessities of the great powers."

Sporsa said he is certain "peace will be preserved—or, to be more exact, because there is no peace—the state of war will not continue."

He said Italy has made no secret pacts and will make none.

Italy's Communist boss, Palmiro Togliatti, hinted yesterday that a revolt could break out in Italy at any time.

Agree To Halt Dismantling Of German Industry

London, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The United States apparently got British and French approval today for its plan to suspend removal of important German industrial plants, diplomats said.

The informants said both countries have agreed to halt the dismantling process pending a new review of the part Germany can play in European economic recovery. The plans were marked for reparations.

France announced Foreign Minister Robert Schuman had recognized "that of certain cases" the list of plants to be torn down "ought to be revised to take into account the meager advantage, or even the inadvisability, of transferring certain machines."

Wallace To Visit Georgia Oct. 16

Chicago, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Henry Wallace—spattered by eggs and shouted down by hecklers at some meetings on his recent campaign swing through southern states—is going to Georgia.

The Progressive party announced yesterday that its Presidential candidate will fly to Dalton, Ga., on Saturday. There he will address between 800 and 900 preachers at a national meeting of the Church of God.

BIG CHURCH BUDGET
Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The 576 delegates to the 16th Biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America were asked today to vote a $10,000,000 budget for 1950 and 1951, largest in the church's history.

Dixiecrats Start Drive In Georgia

Electors Named; Claim Backing Of Talmadge Group

August, Ga., Oct. 13.—(AP)—States' Rights Democrats set sail in Georgia today by naming 12 presidential electors drawn mostly from partisans of Democratic Governor-elect Herman Talmadge.

Chairman E. L. Willingham claimed: "The Talmadge organization is behind us 100 per cent" as States' Rights cast off from the regular Democratic party and staged their founding convention.

They nominated Charles J. Bloch of Macon, a member of the State Democratic Executive committee and a majordomo in Talmadge's camp, as one of their electors.

Another was J. J. Brown of Thomas, former agriculture commissioner who sat on the platform during most of Talmadge's campaign speeches.

Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge of Athens, a cousin of the Democratic nominee and a national leader in the daughters of the American revolution, also was nominated an elector.

Talmadge declined any comment. He has been careful to steer clear personally of any move that might draw charges of disloyalty to the mother Democratic party.

States' Rights were the fifth party to seek the ballot in Georgia. Democrats, Republicans, Progressives, and Prohibitionists under the name of "God's party" already have been organized.

Heavy Donations For Dixiecrats

Charleston, S.C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Charleston has raised $10,000 thus far for the States Rights party campaign fund, Mayor William McG Morrison, county party chairman, said this morning.

The mayor said contributions are still coming in, but that the bulk of campaign gifts already has been received.

Most of the sum was raised at last week's $25-a-plate banquet, at which Gov. Fielding L. Wright, the party's vice presidential candidate, was the principal speaker.

Eglin Field, Fla., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The body of Major John E. Sherak, Jr., of Burlington, N. J., Marine flier based at Cherry Point, N. C., was found yesterday with his plane in Choctawhatchee bay near Fort Walton.

He had disappeared Monday while on a flight over Eglin field in connection with combine III maneuvers.

National Referendum

Question Raised As To Whether People Ought To Vote In National Referendum On Big Questions; Idea Offered In Newly Published Book; Arguments Involved

By JAMES MARLOW

Do you think the people ought to vote—in a national referendum—on big questions? For example: Suppose we had reached a point where there was widespread, serious thought on joining a world government.

Instead of Congress voting right away, all the people would vote yes or no. It wouldn't mean, if they voted "yes," that we'd join.

It would only be a means of letting Congress, before it made up its mind, know what the people wanted. Then Congress could be guided by that.

The idea of a national referendum on big problems affecting the people is offered this week in a book called "A Little Democracy Is A Dangerous Thing."

Raiding Officers Find Building A Typical Citadel

Barbed Wire, Locks, Peep-Hole And Bar- red Windows Pro- tected Rural Store

By CHESTER WALSH
Complying with an order of Superior Court Judge Peyton McSwain yesterday, sheriff's and other officers raided Frank Harrington's store, on the old Belvoir road, beyond the State Prison camp, last night.

They arrested Harrington on charges of operating a gambling house and having fireworks in his possession. He provided $1,000 bond and was released.

Raiding officers described Harrington's store as a typical citadel. They said a high wire fence, topped with barbed wire, surrounded it.

The gate was padlocked and there was a cord or rope available to ring a cowbell in the store to gain admittance.

The approach to the store door was stockaded to enforce an entrant to be seen through a peep-hole in the door.

The windows were all barred and covered, the raiding officers said. Among the paraphernalia and fireworks the officers confiscated was a neat card, dated Greenville, N.C., and headed "To Whom It May Concern." Guests, visitors or customers were required to sign the card, officers stated. Following is the text of the card:

"This Is To Advise:
"We, the undersigned of this Bill of Writing, do hereby sign the same of our own free will.
"We have gathered together for the purpose of a social visit.
"Ist. We will respect this location and its owner.
"2nd. We will not indulge in strong drinks.
"3rd. We will not indulge in vulgarities.
"4th. We will not indulge in gambling.
"5th. We will donate to the owner a reasonable sum for his services and donations, consisting of cigarettes, cigars, matches, soft drinks, sandwiches, coffee, etc."

The card had blank spaces for guests to sign their full names and addresses. Authorities confiscated a set of keys from Harrington.

Officers seeking Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson in making the raid were Deputies Jasper L. Mills and Lord Manning and ABC Officer Claude Manning, and Greenville Detectives M. E. Corbett and Captain Dorsey.

Delay Trial Of Asheville Figure

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Solicitor W. K. McLean said today that Vaughn Cannon probably would not be tried on gambling charges for two or three months.

Cannon is at liberty under $15,000 bonds on charges of operating a gambling house and conspiracy to operate a gambling house.

McLean said treasury and department of justice agents had told him they would not be able to complete their federal tax examinations for two or three months.

Farmers Beware

It is an everyday occurrence to run up with reports that tobacco is off at Greenville, and when traced, it originates with drummers from other markets. All such drumming is rotten to the core and intelligent men should not listen to it.
Our sales at the Gum warehouse deny such tales. Our entire sale today averaged $11.84. Our farmers were highly pleased and went home happy.

After refreshments there was a short business meeting. Mrs. George Renfro, International Committee chairman, told the group that the Woman's Club and the churches of Greenville are sponsoring a city-wide observation of United Nations Day, October 24. The churches are giving up their evening services for that Sunday to meet at the Memorial Baptist Church for a joint service there at eight o'clock. Mr. Robert Lee Humber will be the speaker.

Mrs. Spruill Spain gave the program, an entertaining and enlightening paper on "Old Homes and Gardens of North Carolina." She brought out the loveliness of these old homes and gardens with their mingling of Colonial and old world civilizations, now gone forever, except in these few old places and their memories.

Guests were Mrs. Spruill Spain, Mrs. C. A. Scruggs, Mrs. James McDill, Mrs. Howard Clay, Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton, Mrs. D. W. Swope and Mrs. W. W. Howell.

Four Indicted In Housing Project

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 13 — (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday returned indictments against four construction workers, charged with conspiring to defraud the government in a veterans' housing project.

The four are accused of padding the payroll on a government contract between Aug. 2 and Oct. 16, 1946, while working on the project in Sumter.

Defendants were listed as Arlis C. Chandler, Monroe N. C., project superintendent; William Sturkie Sumter, and John William Smith, Mount Airy, N. C., labor foreman; and R. M. Brice, Winnsboro, book-keeper-paymaster.

The indictment, returned in U. S. district court here, charges they "conspired to defraud the United States by falsifying and causing to be falsified the records of the J. A. Jones Construction Company," which was building houses for the Federal Public Housing Authority.

Dr. Martin M. Pingel, faculty member of the department of English at East Carolina Teachers College, is the author of "An American Utilitarian-Richard Hildreth as a Philosopher," a book recently published by the Columbia University Press.

Dr. Pingel's work, a study based on material hitherto unavailable to the public, presents a new view of Hildreth, who has been known chiefly as a historian. The book appears as the twentieth volume in a series on American culture now being issued by the Columbia press. It has been published in England and India as well as in this country.

Dr. Pingel joined the faculty of East Carolina in the fall of 1947. She holds the doctor's degree from Columbia University and is one of the few women in the United States who have completed work for the degree in the field of philosophy.

Low Salary Paid N. C. Legislators

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Oct. 13—Whether members of the North Carolina general assembly will get a pay raise depends upon action of the voters next month. A pending amendment to the state constitution would increase compensation from the present $600 for the term to $1,200. Since our legislature convenes biennially these amounts are really for two years, with additional pay not exceeding $200 for special sessions.

Even if the increase is allowed by ratification of the amendment, North Carolina solons will still get far less than legislators in many other states. In response to inquiry by your reporter the following telegram was received early this week.

"Latest figures show annual salary for legislators is $5,000 in New York; $3,000 in Illinois and New Jersey; $2,500 in Massachusetts; $2,000 in Ohio; $1,200 in California, Indiana and Wisconsin; $1,000 in Maryland, Minnesota and South Carolina, about $877 in Nebraska. Pennsylvania pays $3,000 per regular session plus $500 for special sessions. Massachusetts, Minnesota and South Carolina allow extra compensation for special sessions." (Signed) Frank Smothers, Council of State Governments, Chicago.

Information is not at hand as to how many of these states have annual and how many biennial sessions, but the state governments official gives the amount as "annual" salary and only Nebraska pays less than double the proposed compensation for Tar Heel members.

Greenville Battery Invited To Raleigh At Its Own Expense

The Greenville unit of the North Carolina National Guard has been invited to participate in the parade to be held in Raleigh on October 19, when President Truman goes there to attend the State Fair and participate in the unveiling ceremonies at the monuments of United States Presidents Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson and James K. Polk on Capitol Square.

The invitation stated that the Greenville artillerymen would have to make the trip at their own expense. Incidentally, word was passed along today that if the battery commander could get permission to use the battery's mobile equipment the guardsmen might make the trip. Also, someone suggested that some patriotic citizens chip in and pay the transportation and other expenses of the battery to Raleigh.

Lower Estimate Warehouse Loss

Norfolk, Oct. 13—The loss resulting from the fire which destroyed Colonial Stores' warehouse in Durham, North Carolina, early last Friday morning was not as heavy as first reported, according to a statement by Scott W. Allen, the Company's president. After a careful appraisal, the loss in merchandise and fixtures has been tentatively determined to be between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000. This loss was covered by insurance. The warehouse building, owned by the North Carolina Warehouse Co., a corporation, was leased by Colonial. Fortunately, due to the strategic location of other Company warehouses, Mr. Allen continued, there will be no interruption in the supply of merchandise to the stores formerly serviced by the Durham Warehouse. Regular scheduled deliveries were started to these stores from the Company's warehouses at Norfolk, Richmond, Virginia and Greenville, South Carolina, within twelve hours after the fire. All stores will continue to receive ample stocks of all merchandise, including perishables, regularly carried.

Contrary to early reports, all trucks and other delivery equipment were saved. This equipment has been diverted to the Norfolk, Richmond and Greenville warehouses where it is being employed to make regularly scheduled deliveries to the stores formerly served by the Durham warehouse thus assuring a continued and adequate supply of merchandise.

The annual conference is just a few days ahead and there is much to be done by the local church. Let every member of the church rise up and go the second mile. Remember your general claims must be paid. If ye love me, keep my commandments. St. John 14th Chapter, 15th verse.

Strength FOR THE DAY

NOT GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

An English churchman, Dr. Orchard, criticizing the too easy American attitude toward divorce, said in a public address, "In some of the American states divorce can be obtained on the ground of 'incompatibility of temperaments.' Why? That is the object of marriage. Think about this for a moment. This realistic clergyman maintains that the object of marriage is to bring together people of such profoundly different temperaments that character will be developed in learning how to get along with each other.

This may seem a grim attitude toward marriage. Most people take a sentimental view of the ordinance, and thousands of happy brides and grooms leave the altar convinced that all their personal problems have now been solved and that they and their beloved will live happily ever after.

Well, it is to be hoped that they do. But anyone who thinks that marriage means a continual gnashing of adolescent sentimentality for fifty years or more is due for a rude awakening. There is plenty of incompatibility even in the happiest of marriages. Incompatibility of temperament instead of being just grounds for divorce becomes for many people the chief reason for calling marriage the greatest and most profitable adventure in life.

Around Capitol Square

COMPANY—The eighth district Democratic rally at Carthage had two features distinguishing it from the previous seven meetings. It was the most honest of them all, because for the first time the chronological order of meetings and the numerical designation of the district coincided—it was the eighth rally and was in the eighth district. The Democratic political flies, coming as some have called it, began in the twelfth district and has hoped around all over the state from Tennessee to the Atlantic. More significant was the fact that the Carthage meeting had an unexpected visitor in the person of Herbert F. (Chub) Seawell, Jr., Moore county lawyer and outstanding state Republican leader, currently his party's nominee for attorney general. Mr. Seawell seemed to be amused at the Democratic speeches and claims of overwhelming victory in the district.

WOMEN—Fewer women showed up at Carthage than elsewhere along the caravan route, but the women had a larger place on the program. Not only did Mrs. D. A. McCormick, vice chairman, make the longest and best speech she had made during the campaign but she called her reserve forces in the person of Mrs. Sadie McBrayer McCain, former state vice chairman. Mrs. McCain got a big hand when she expressed sympathy for the Democrats and called them "poor misguided souls."

YDC—This being the home county of President Clifton Blue of the State Young Democrats, and the home district of YDC campaign director Jefferson Wilson, the younger folks also were given large place on the program. Blue and Wilson made short pep talks, and before the courtesious session the Moore county YDC under leadership of Hubert McCaskill had served a luncheon for the visiting politicians. The women and the youngsters indicated they would let the old men do the ballyhoo, while they devoted energies to the more arduous and more important job of getting Democrats registered and voted.

JOB—It has all along been conceded that the big job facing the state Democratic organization is that of getting Democrats on the books and to the polls. That is particularly true in the eighth district. Three of the twelve counties are almost certainly Republican, another is nip and tuck, while in two or three more there is substantial Republican strength. Congressman Deane deemed that Republicans will vote 100 per cent, so the big job for his organization is to get out the vote in the heavy Democratic counties along the South Carolina border. He quoted figures to show that while Richmond and Union counties last time voted only about 17 per cent of their total population, Davidson and Wilkes were voting 35 per cent. He said that with 14,937 people cast a total of 1,878 in the 1944 congressional election, while Davis with 29 people less polled 5,425 votes.

ATTENDANCE—Attendance was light, but some Democrats drove farther to attend the eighth district meet than in any other district. Attendance prize of a box of cigars was presented to the Lee county delegation for having the most people present, twenty-one. One of the Wilkes county fellows said he thought maybe his delegation ought to have won the prize on basis of man-miles traveled. He and six others drove about 140 miles—280 round trip—to attend the meeting. Several others started but had an automobile accident and did not make the rally.

ENTHUSIASTIC—Chairman Bill Horner of Lee county read a letter which proved to be entertaining. Received a day or so before from a Lee county citizen the letter read: "As one Democrat to another—enclosed is an Abraham 5-spot to help in the fund toward running out of the Dixiecrats (Hot Heads), the Wallaceites (or Termites), the GOP brass hats (or Wall Street-lies), or any Jebusites or Hittites that try to invade the Land of Peace, Prosperity and Happiness brought about through the leadership of our own True-man."

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

Harrisburg, Pa.—(AP)—Do you ever think about the story of me? Or is our mutual adventure confined to the story of you?

Well, offhand I think your story is more interesting than my story. I really don't have much to tell. It may be a sad thing to admit that another man's journey through life is more interesting than my own—but that is how I feel.

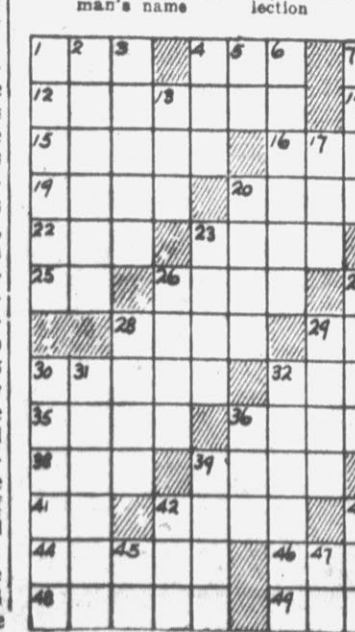

I feel that most of the people who read and think about what I write must have had more trouble than I have—certainly they write me nice letters which show they have more courage to face their problems than I probably have.

But a newspaper publisher—one of the men who say whether I do or don't get into print—suggested that after five years of this business I should explain who and what I am.

So here is me: I am a medium-sized, middle-aged balding man with an ineffectual smile of good will. I haven't the hypocrisy to believe that anybody ought to buy a cheap crystal ball and be a pundit on what lies ahead.

Nor do I feel that I have emphasized enough what I see in my own crystal ball—that if courage and loyalty don't lie ahead, then neither does America.

I was born Feb. 21, 1911, of an immigrant mother who has been the biggest influence in my off-key career. She was an Irish girl who took the statue of liberty seriously. She had only a third grade education. She educated herself by reading the Kansas City Star, but thought I should know more than they print in a family newspaper. So she backed me through the University of Missouri.

It was a good University, but I entered it with the feeling that I knew more about life than they could teach me there.

Sixteen years later I still have the same opinion. I learned more from my father and mother than I did from a University. I learned from the University solely the discipline of scholarship. This was worthwhile only so far as it taught me a technique of how to open books and gather what they held. What my parents taught I think was more valuable—how to open the human heart of a friend and keep the humility to understand it.

The hardest period of my life was the adolescent time which people joke as puppy love. I survived this misunderstood wilderness of the human soul, and am happily married—unhappily without children, whom I love.

I have been lucky enough to come through a major world war unscathed—but I think that is completely unimportant. Some things you can't trade on all the way, even in this world.

The one thing I can't forgive is the failure of people born to this country to appreciate the freedom and opportunity it offers, and which my mother came here to find—and found motherhood instead, a strange and limited freedom in every land.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—The Rt. Hon. Robert

Whereas, the casting of an intelligent, undictated, free ballot at the polls on election day is a priceless privilege and a solemn obligation of every qualified citizen of a free country.

Whereas, the failure of a substantial part of the citizenship of this community to recognize the importance of the duty of voting is attested by election figures for previous elections.

Whereas, the urgency of public affairs in this day and generation demand the election of public officials who are qualified and wise decisions about pending amendments to our North Carolina Constitution;

Now, therefore, I, J. H. Boyd, Jr., Mayor of the City of Greenville in the County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, do hereby proclaim the week of October 10-16 as National Business Women's Week with the theme, "Use Your Vote in '48."

Now, therefore, I, J. H. Boyd, Jr., Mayor of the City of Greenville in the County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, do hereby proclaim the week of October 10-16 as National Business Women's Week in Greenville, and I call upon all citizens of this community to join the Business and Professional Women's Club in its efforts to have all citizens vote in 1948.

Done, under my hand and seal on this 10 day of October in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand, Nine Hundred, Forty-eight, in the City of Greenville.

Fifth Column Working To Upset Amity Says Hoover

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said last night that Communist "Fifth Columns" are working constantly for ill-will between this country and our South American neighbor nations.

Mr. Hoover spoke at a dinner of the American Foundation, where he received the Americas award for his "contribution to Hemispheric amity and understanding."

The foundation promotes exchange scholarships between north and South America.

"Nowadays," Mr. Hoover said, "Communist Fifth Columns in every country systematically and incessantly, by conspiracy and by subsidized press and radio, excite fear and ill will against us."

"Nor have we been without fault," he added.

"In two periods we have interfered with the internal affairs of these independent sovereignties.

"Thirty years ago we undertook, in two countries, to restore order by the use of troops. Unfortunately in the past five years, some officials from our state department have regrettably interfered in internal elections."

Against this, he said, "there is the long record of 170 years devotion to the independence of, and service to, our neighbors."

Mr. Hoover said "we need no Marshall plan for the American countries," but "we need methods to release the capital energies of the peoples."

Excessive taxation is hurting business development in this Hemisphere, he said.

Republicans Get Democrat's Help

Oklahoma City, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Republicans are sure getting a lot of work out of Roy Turner—the 100 per cent Democratic governor of Oklahoma.

Every time a big Republican like Tom Dewey comes to Oklahoma, hospitality forces Turner down to the station to greet him.

First it was Earl Warren. Today it's Dewey himself.

And tomorrow it'll be Harold Stassen.

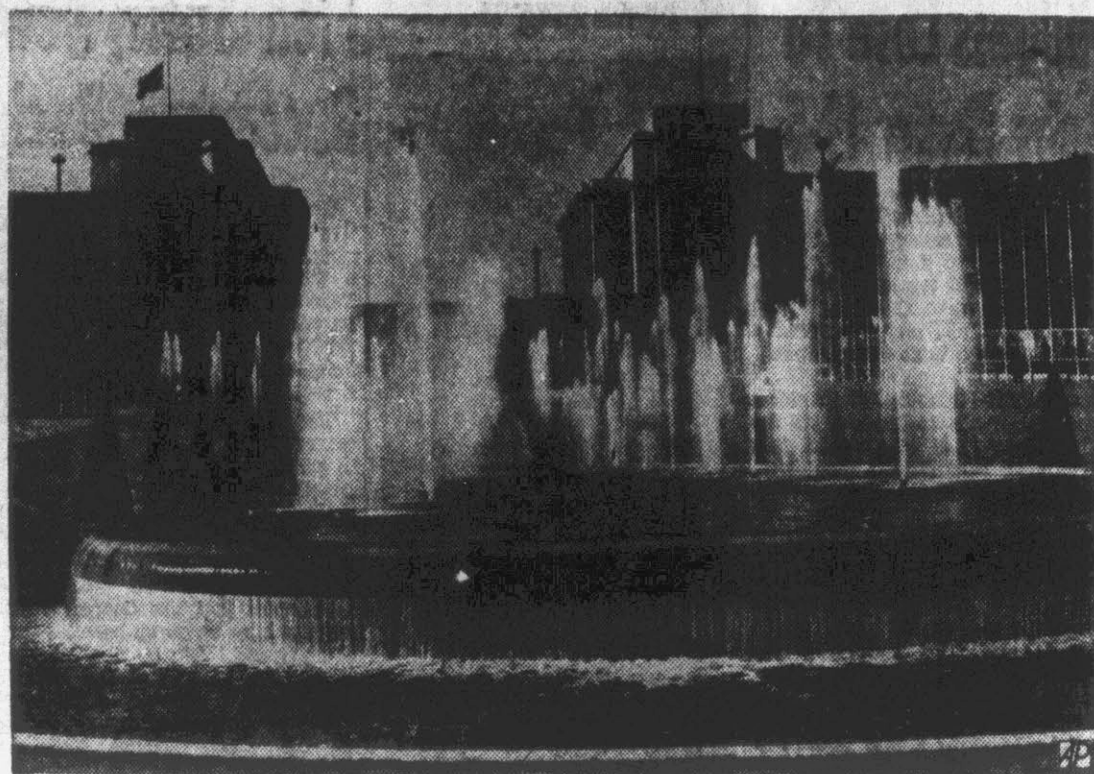

Since Turner is national president of the Truman-Barkley clubs, you can imagine how happy this makes him.

Today it wasn't so bad. If the thought of shaking hands with Dewey was a pang, at least it was the lesser pang.

Turner called of a serious personal appointment to meet the Republican presidential candidate.

It was either Dewey or the dentist.

Spare The Rod

Winona, Minn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Fathers spare those rods because the old wooden spanking ain't what it's cracked up to be.

Instead, use guidance, example and verbal instruction because they are more effective in controlling junior's behavior than physical punishment.

That's what Dr. C. Anderson Aldrich, Mayo Clinic staff member, advised a group of welfare workers here last night.

"By and large over the years," said Dr. Aldrich "spankings fail to get results. Rather, they heighten adverse or resentful responses in the child so that, after punishment, the child actually may be less inclined to conform."

magazine "Pieces O' Eight" has organized the staff of the publication and initiated plans for the first issue, which will appear in November. The magazine, a quarterly, features short stories, poems, and informal essays written by students and art work including both photographs and drawings.

Serving on the editorial staff with Sellers will be Laura Swain, Aurora, assistant editor; Richard L. Powers, St. Paul, poetry editor; and A. E. Manning, Jamestown, at editor. Dr. Martha M. Pingel of the department of English is editorial advisor.

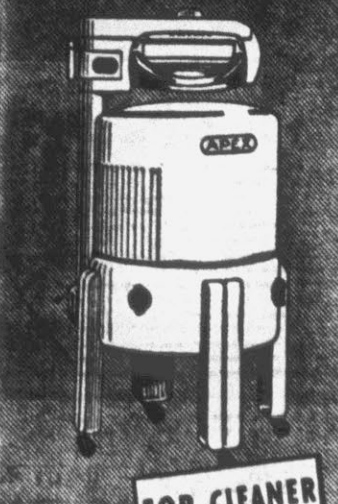

Marian Ward, senior from Nakina, heads the business staff of the magazine and has as her assistant Elizabeth Manning of Williamston. Becky Halcomb of Grifton, circulation manager, works with a staff made up of Grace E. Hardy, LaGrange; Dorothy Galloway, Brevard; and Patricia Scott, Havelock.

Dr. Beecher Flanagan of the faculty is advisor in business matters.

Old Powerhouse Teams Appear To Lack '47 Punch

New York, Oct. 13—(AP)—Notre Dame and Michigan, although their winning streaks are still intact, don't pack the punch they did in 1947—if figures are to be believed.

These two midwestern powerhouses were tops last year in moving the football up and down the field, monopolizing team offensive honors among major college teams.

In the present campaign they have failed to get their steam up according to statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, and trail far back in every attacking department.

Little Nevada remains the nation's No. 1 offensive team, leading both in forward passing and total yardage.

Army, meanwhile, has moved to the front in rushing with a display of land power reminiscent of the great West Point teams during and just after the last war.

Nevada—paced by Stan Heath, need-threading passer who is the country's leading individual offensive performer—has rolled up an astounding 522 yards a game. They are followed by Wyoming, Miami University of Ohio and Maryland in that order, in total offense.

Nevada has racked up 798 yards in passing alone, completing 47 of 90 attempts for an average of 266 yards a game. Heath has thrown 87 of these, averaging 209.7 and then some.

Army rolled up 401 yards on the ground alone in lashing Illinois last Saturday, 26-21. Now for three games the Cadets have a total of 1,063 yards rushing—an average of 351 per contest.

Wyoming, last week's leader dropped to second place with 1,043 for three games—an average of 347.7. Maryland (339) and Texas Mines (307.7) follow.

Michigan is 11th in passing offense and Notre Dame is 13th in rushing. It's their best showing.

Paul Stromberg of Furman is the individual punting leader with an average of 45.2 yards for 29 punts. Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina has 44.3 for second.

In the semi-final match in the national tennis championship at Forest Hills, Jaroslav Drobný of Czechoslovakia and Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of California scored six service aces between them.

Only six seniors are listed on the University of Alabama's 46-man football squad. Twenty-six are sophomores and 14 are juniors.

Series Stars ... Pap

The 1920 world series in which the Cleveland Indians defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers ranks with the most colorful of all the fall classics. The Indians' current triumph is the American League pennant chase, 28 years later, recalls some of the outstanding performances which followed Cleveland's first pennant.

The spit-ball was still a legal pitch when Cleveland found itself in first place at the end of the 1920 season and the Indians boasted one of the most effective operators of that tricky pitch—Stanley Coveleskie. The big spit-baller won three games from the Brooklyn club, a mark since equalled only by Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, of the St. Louis Cardinals, in the 1946 Series with the Boston Red Sox.

Bill Wambgsans earned baseball immortality when he made an unassisted triple play in the fifth game. That amazing feat stole some of the thunder from Elmer Smith's grand slam home run earlier in the game. Later in the same game, Pitcher Jim Bagby hit a homer with two on, but by that time the issue had been settled. Tris Speaker was the defensive star of the series as he led his team to the championship with five victories in seven games.

Midgets Lose To Baby Bears 19-6

The Midgets dropped their initial contest of the season Saturday in New Bern 19 to 6 in what was a close game until the last four minutes of play when the Baby Bears intercepted a pass and recovered a Greenie fumble to score two touchdowns.

Coach Bill Kittrell's 110 pounders from Greenville trailed 6-0 at the half as a result of a successful pass which gave New Bern a score with one minute left in the second period.

Early in the third quarter, however, the Greenville Mites struck back when Guy Smith Jr. took the ball on his own 22 and weaved his way through would-be tacklers for a 78 yard touchdown jump. Smith stole the offensive show from the other backs by personally accounting for 190 yards in rushes and punt returns. "He's the best little runner I've seen in many a day," commented Coach Kittrell.

Outstanding defensive play by Center Jimmy Cheatham and Guards Topsy Smoot and Jimmy White held the New Bern Midgets to very few yards through the center of the line, and forced them to rely principally on end runs and passes.

In the first down department Greenville led with eight to New Bern's five.

Coach Kittrell has secured the services of Roger Thrift, former ECTC quarterback, and Jack Hedgepeth, an ex-center of the Pirate squad, who will help him with the Midgets for the rest of the season.

Kittrell said today he plans to shake up his line in an effort to find his most effective ends and find his most effective center. Wayne Sackles, a converted blocking back, will be returned to his tackle slot, and Cheatham will be used as an end on defense. Kittrell said he will be looking for a starting blocking back to replace Smiley.

Also in store for the Mites during the next two weeks is the introduction of the T-formation which Kittrell used effectively last season. In the New Bern game the locals ran from a single wing formation.

Trainers Banned By California Racing Board

San Francisco, Oct. 13—(AP)—The California Horse Racing Board has suspended the licenses of the thoroughbred trainers J. R. (Red) Gregory and Andrew Coghill, barred them from all California tracks and, in effect, ruled them out of horse racing.

The board in session yesterday also ordered Robert S. Howard, prominent stable owner of San Mateo and Beverly Hills, to show cause why his own license should not be revoked on grounds the registration of the horse Gallant was falsely registered at Bay Meadows track.

The order against Howard, reported in Detroit, is returnable November 8.

Spectators Saw Death At Track

Medford, Mass., Oct. 13—(AP)—More than 2,500 spectators saw Midget Auto Driver John Ritter, 38, Paterson, N.J., killed last night by another racing car as he changed a tire at the Medford Bowl trackside.

His mechanic, Robert Van Blarcom, 26, of Ridgewood, N.J., and George Hatfield, 40, owner of the track, were critically injured. Their names were placed on the danger list at the Malden City Hospital.

The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the game, are shooting for a goal of 4,000 spectators to see the game. The greatest number of fans ever to see any ECTC game to date would not exceed 2,500. Last week in Wilson, however, the Atlantic Christian College homecoming attracted over 5,000 fans. It was announced yesterday that Guy Smith Stadium is being made ready to accommodate over 3,000 fans for the game.

The town has planned an outdoor program in the afternoon at the high school football field to give the kids a chance to get into the act, and an evening dinner in the high school cafeteria followed by a program in the school's auditorium.

Set New Record In Double Plays

New York, Oct. 13—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians set a World Series record for most double plays in a six game series in their recent conquest of the Boston Braves.

The Indians pulled nine double plays, one more than the New York Giants unraveled against the New York Yankees in the six game fall classic of 1923.

Fred Soles, New Buccaneer Back

The Tabor City tornado, diminutive Fred Soles, who has been running at reserve quarterback for over a month with the East Carolina Teachers college Pirates may have found his position yesterday and ECTC Coaches Jack Boone and Jim Johnson feel they have uncovered a good little ball carrier.

The 145 pound freshman was moved to right halfback yesterday in scrimmage and showed dynamic potentialities at the position. "He seemed a bit out of place down behind that center," Coach Johnson said and added that Soles was definitely a halfback.

"He runs just like George Woods did when he came up here," Johnson asserted. Woods, now starting right half, is one of the squad's best backs. Johnson said Soles would be an understudy to Woods in the West Carolina Teachers College game Friday night and added that the little quarter-back turned-halfback would get plenty of chance to lug leather before the final blow.

The ECTC mentors feel that with Soles backing up Woods, the right half post will be strengthened considerably and will add more offensive power to the Pirates who have been weak in reserve backs all season.

Bob McDonnell, former Villanova College pitcher who served as batting practice pitcher for the Phillies, will return to his alma mater as coach of the freshman basketball squad.

Showing In Heavy Workout Encourages ECTC Coaches

Will To Win' Evident In Heavy Scrimmage Session As Pirates Set Sights On First Conference Victory

By EUGENE PRICE

East Carolina Teachers College's Pirates worked out like a team determined to break into the win column yesterday afternoon as they ran through a heavy scrimmage session in high spirits. And Coach Jim Johnson and Jack Boone announced that they were very much encouraged by the progress shown by the team yesterday.

A lot of these youngsters were showing very nicely today. Johnson said last night. Stan Peck, end, Warren Everett, tackle, and Fred Soles, halfback, were among the winning particular praise from the coach for their performance yesterday.

The Pirates who have dropped all three of their games this season are preparing for their homecoming engagement with the WCTC gridgers here Friday night at Guy Smith stadium.

The victory favored locals came near to upsetting Elton College last week—losing by six points after coming within the shadow of the Elton goal post twice in the last half.

"We should have won that game," Coach Johnson said afterwards. He pointed out the mistakes which cost the contest. It is these mistakes which have received the most attention in practice this week.

Practically the entire ECTC squad will be ready for the contest Friday. Towering Ed Tanner, pass catching end, has returned to full strength for the game and yesterday took a long pass from Frank Maennle to score in an intra-squad game. Tanner will probably be on the receiving end of many of ECTC's aerial attacks Friday.

Michael Kovach, freshman who handles the last half post like a mercury footed veteran, is currently the "hottest" thing in the ECTC backfield and will probably do considerable ball carrying Friday along with Doug Bryant, Frank Maennle and George Woods.

In view of their record the Pirates will play underdog to the guests from the West who have won one and lost one the year. But WCTC is expected to be no more formidable than was Elton's Fighting Christians and as Coaches Johnson and Boone put it—"We should have beaten Elton."

Japs Seek Entry Into Davis Cup Play By Radio

Tokyo, Oct. 13—(AP)—Japanese have asked the United States Lawn Tennis Association to help them get back into Davis Cup play.

The Japan Tennis Association radioed a request for permission to resume competition "at the earliest opportunity." It appealed "for the special endeavors of the United States Lawn Tennis Association toward this end."

There seems little chance Japan will get back into international sports before the peace treaty—which is still indefinite.

Shoji Araiawa, president of the Japan Tennis Association, said the country's tennis is at least up to the level immediately before the war.

Foreign Entries Arrive To Race Citation Oct. 16

New York, Oct. 13—(AP)—Two European horses—the Aga Khan's Nathoo and Jean Nys' Belgian champion, Bayeaux—arrived yesterday to challenge Citation in Saturday's $100,000 Empire City International Gold Cup race at Belmont.

The two horses had a rough trip by air but Nathoo, the 1948 Irish Derby winner, came through it in fine shape, handlers reported.

Bayeaux didn't fare as well. The Belgian horse, nervous on the plane suffered superficial bruises and scratches but is expected to be ready for the big race.

Both colts—Nathoo is three years old and Bayeaux is four—have jogging exercises scheduled today.

At the beginning of this season, University of Alabama football teams had won 311 games, lost 109 and tied 23 for a .740 percentage.

By "BOO BOO" BUTLER

Coach Bo Farley sent his eleven through a rough workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for their encounter with Elizabeth City. He sent the Phantoms through a forty five minute scrimmage session and corrected mistakes that were made last Friday.

The backs ran back a few kicks and punts—They stressed their passing attack hoping to use it effectively against the Yellow Jackets. The Phantoms are going into the Park as underdogs by 21 points. But don't be surprised if the local High comes through with an upset.

Jimmy Cox, Greenville's High first string back, hurt his leg again yesterday in practice. We are all hoping he will be ready for the Friday night battle.

It will be introducing night on the E. C. T. C. campus Thursday night as the students will hold a Pep Rally and Burn a dummy. And at this time the E. C. T. C. Pirates will be introduced to the students. The public is cordially invited.

Going against the Pirates at a guard slot Friday night will be All Conference (2yrs) Billy Perrell. He weighs in at 206 pounds. Stands at 6-11 inches and hails from Lenoir, N. C. Perrell who is a Senior is having his greatest year with West Carolina's Teachers. Watch this boy to repeat for honors.

Manule to Tanner—Tanner Lewis—Lewis to Kovack. Say what's all this—O. That's out E. C. T. C. Pirates lateral the ball all over the field in yesterday's scrimmage. And I might add it didn't look so bad—but be careful fellows don't play around with hot ashes.

Question from Farmville, N. C. Did the University of North Carolina have the best punting average in 1947?

Ans. No. They were tied for third along with Lehigh. Duke nosed out North Carolina State for team punting honors. In the very last week of the season thereby preventing the Raleigh School from accomplishing a punting "sweep" as N. C. State's Leslie Palmer captured the individual booting championship.

Stengel Signed, 'Dull Days' Gone

New York, Oct. 13—(AP)—Punished days are sure to be ahead for the New York Yankees with Charles Dillon Stengel, the inimitable Casey, as the new manager of the club.

Stengel who gained big league baseball fame as a player with the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, and who later managed the Brooklyn Dodgers as well as the Boston Braves, was signed to a two-year contract yesterday. He succeeds Bucky Harris.

Although Stengel was a big league outfielder 13 years, starred in three world series and managed for nine years in the big time, he is best remembered for his laugh-provoking antics.

There was the time Casey, objecting to playing in semi-darkness, produced a toy flash light to summon Fred Frankhouse, a pitcher, from the bullpen. Although the spectators rocked with laughter, Casey drew a $25 fine.

Another time, Stengel was warned by Umpire Bill Klem to stop his heckling or he would be evicted. Klem called a strike on him, whereupon Casey bowed graciously, doffed his cap and out flew a pigeon. His greatest forte is said to be developing young players. It was Stengel who first saw greatness in Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn and who developed Gene Bearden into a star pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

Change Set-Up In Front Office Of 20th Century

New York, Oct. 13—(AP)—The Twentieth Century Sporting Club has announced several changes in the front office of the promotional organization.

Harry Markson, publicity chief, moves up to the position of managing director and will act with Sol Strauss in promoting fights. Strauss has been acting director during the two-year illness of Mike Jacobs.

Francis Albertanti, former publicity man for the rival Tournament of Champions, succeeds to Markson's old post.

Lew Burston becomes the European representative of the concern. Burston has numerous connections on the continent and brought Marcel Cerdan, the new middleweight champion, from France to fight Tony Zale for the T-of-C.

Only eight of the original 72 men invited to football practice this fall at Michigan State College are seniors. Thirty-five are sophomores.

Junior Varsity Downed Kinston

Greenville's junior high Phantoms Monday battled to a 7-0 victory over the Kinston junior high squad at Guy Smith Stadium.

The lone score of the ball game came in the second quarter when Eddie Farley plunged over the one to climax a 40 yard Phantom drive, in which he, along with Kent Lee and John Sideris did the ball carrying. End Wiley Gardner set the stage for the drive by recovering a Kinston fumble on the Red Devils' 40 yard line. Kent Lee scored the extra point on a reverse.

Kinston threatened in the second and fourth periods when its passing attack began to click, but on each occasion bogged down before making a tally.

In the third quarter Greenville's Kent Lee broke loose and scampered 85 yards to the Kinston goal line to have the play called back on a penalty.

Johnson was unable to make progress through the Phantom line and spent most of the time tossing passes which the Phantom secondary effectively broke up.

Coaches Willard Pendleton and Ellie Fearing of the Junior high team were well pleased with the performances of the charges in yesterday's encounter and had high praise for the outstanding play of the linemen.

The Greenville Juniors are scheduled to meet Roanoke Rapids Thursday afternoon, but the coaches said the game may be postponed until next week.

Ray Blades New Overseer Dodger Farm System

Brooklyn, Oct. 13—(AP)—Ray Blades, a coach with the Dodgers for the past two seasons, has been made overseer of the Brooklyn baseball club's sprawling farm system.

The former St. Louis Cardinals manager was named yesterday to the post held by Burt Shotton before the latter was called up to succeed Leo Durocher as manager in July.

The Dodgers recently announced renewal of Shotton's contract as skipper.

Blades' position on the coaching staff will go to Milt Stock, coach with the Cubs since 1944.

Some Of Indians To Relax By Playing More Baseball

Cleveland, Oct. 13—(AP)—With the toughest baseball grind in history finally behind them, some of the world champion Cleveland Indians are going to relax a bit by playing baseball.

That went today for such worthies as Bob Lemon, Walt Juddich, Steve Gromek and, probably, Bob Kennedy. Pitcher Lemon and Outfielder Juddich, both Californians, have West Coast barnstorming plans. Fitcher Gromek and Outfielder Kennedy figure on some exhibition games around Detroit.

Even Satchell Paige, who must have been throwing knucklers when Hans Wagner was a rookie, checked out shortly after yesterday's hysterical victory parade and headed east.

His parting shot: "Gotta keep my arm loosened up, so I'll probably do some throwing during the barnstorming season."

Bob Feller is going to have one final fling. It will be in the annual homecoming game Saturday at his home town, Van Meter, Ia. Then: "Fishing, hunting, golf and flying—that about takes care of my winter plans."

Most of the others, however, have seen enough bats and mitts for a while.

Joe Gordon, the old pro second baseman, will head later this week for Eugene, Ore., for hunting, fishing and spare time work in his hardware store. Third Baseman Ken Keltner plans to open a new bicycle shop in his home town Milwaukee. And Al Rosen, another third baseman, will sell insurance in Miami. Part of the time he expects to put in some turns as a radio sports announcer.

Outfielder Dale Mitchell isn't sure but he may return to the University of Oklahoma for further work toward a college degree.

Medical Checks

Philadelphia, Oct. 13—(AP)—The nation's boxing medical examiners will be asked to set up uniform physical tests if the suggestion of Chairman Leon Rains of the Pennsylvania Athletic Association is adopted.

Rains has made the suggestion to Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association. The Pennsylvania commissioner pointed out yesterday that an important feature of bringing the medical men together would be a series of panel discussions on brain hemorrhages, which have caused one ring death in Pennsylvania this year and serious injury to fighters in other states.

ward a college degree. Pitcher Sam Zolick will be job hunting in Elmira, N.Y. and Catcher Joe Tipton will be doing the same in McCaysville, Tenn.

Larry Doby, the Negro outfielder, figures on a nice rest back in Paterson, N.J. with some professional basketball possibly later on.

Center Richard Harris of the University of Texas football squad is the school's heavyweight boxing champion.

Drew Jail Sentence For Opposing School For Kids

Salisbury, Pa., Oct. 13—(AP)—Four Amishmen, wearing the traditional beards and homemade black garb of their religious sect, were sentenced to 30 days in jail for refusing to send their children to school.

Justice of the Peace Clarence A. Maust imposed the sentences last night after the four refused to pay fines of $30 each.

The Amishmen had been released from the Somerset county jail last Friday after serving a 12-day sentence for not sending their children, four girls and a boy, to the Amish-owned and Amish-controlled school in Elk Lick, Pa.

Insisting they were not violating the Pennsylvania school code, the four Amishmen said they feel school "is a waste of time."

"When young people are through high school they don't want to do anything unless they can do it sitting down," said one of the four, Amos Yoder, a well-to-do farmer. "It spoils them for farming. And when girls are out of college, they want to live out of tin cans. A man might as well marry a can opener."

Yoder and the other three—Ernest Mast, Menno Brenneman and Jonas Petersheim—appeared for their arraignment with packed suitcases which they carried as they walked from the courtroom to climb into the waiting automobile of a deputy sheriff.

Britons Advised Slow Up 'Run' On Health Bank

Folkestone, Eng.—(AP)—Health Minister Aneurin Bevan says the British people must use the national health service "sparingly" to keep from killing it. He said the medical insurance program, started last summer, will "break down because of the demands made on it" unless people use it "intelligently, sparingly and prudently."

"There was a great demand at the beginning but I believe it will ease down and the whole thing will find its proper level," he told a dinner conference of British hospital representatives.

Order Execution Of Jap Officers

Yokohama, Oct. 13—(AP)—An American trial court today sentenced two former Japanese navy officers to be hanged and six others to serve hard labor prison terms for murders and brutalities against allied prisoners of war.

An Eighth Army military commission ordered the execution of Warrant Officer Kakuzo Iida, commander of the nearby infamous Ofuna interrogation center, and Captain Jiro Akita, chief of the Yokosuka medical unit.

Iida was convicted of contributing to the deaths of five Americans and one Norwegian by failing to provide heat and medical care, and ordering the torture of many prisoners. Akita contributed to the death of the five Americans the court found, by neglecting to provide humane medical care or restrain subordinates from atrocities.

The Americans included William Zeimer, Toms River, N.J. The Norwegian was Anten Mindus, Fryden Berg, Oslo, Norway.

In the same case, Lt. Comdr. Mitsunari Yamaguchi was sentenced to life and Lt. Yoko Takahashi, 27 years, Comdr. Saburo Higashirashi received 32 years.

Capt. Hidechika Skuma and Lt. Toru Mizuno received terms of 22 and 15 years, respectively. Mizuno was convicted of contributing to the death of Ernest F. Peschau of Wilmington, N.C.

Unsteady Prices For Most Grades On Tobacco Mart

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 13—Somewhat unsteady to slightly lower average prices for most grades prevailed on the-cured tobacco markets yesterday.

On the old belt unsteadiness caused changes mostly of $1 to $3 per hundred pounds for most grades. Gains and losses were about equal. Most grade fluctuations were $1 and $2, while lugs and nondescript increased $1 to $3. Cutters were firm.

On the eastern North Carolina belt averages for many grades eased off slightly. Leaf and lugs showed the most losses. Most drops were $1 to $2, but some grades lost as much as $4. Other offerings were mostly firm.

On the middle belt, the downward trend continued. Smoking leaf and lugs were hardest hit.

Firemen Leave Stranded Dog To Rescue Herself

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 13—(AP)—The New Haven Fire Department says Celia can get out of that cellar by herself.

Celia is a small dog, taking a midnight walk with her mistress, ran down a plank into the cellar excavation of a new building. She couldn't, or wouldn't, come out.

At six minutes before midnight the fire department was summoned. Three firemen descended. When they ascended it at 1 a.m. Celia remained in the cellar.

Fireman Charles Bogen had to get a physician out of bed to take care of a bite on his hand.

Only The Wind Saved Life Of Negro On Train

Rocky Mount, N.C., Oct. 13—(AP)—Conductor J. E. Hyatt of a main-line diesel-powered passenger train says wind resistance saved the life of a drunken Negro Sunday night.

Hyatt said the Negro ascended the crew of Atlantic Coast Line Engine 91 by climbing across the top of the 75-mile-an-hour engine and crawling down across the broad windshield to motion to the engineer to stop.

There was nothing for the man to hold to as he clambered onto the windshield. Only the force of the air held him against the engine.

When the train stopped and the air resistance dropped, the Negro dropped, too. Hyatt said the man got aboard at Fayetteville and was jailed at Florence, S.C.

'Dim Your Lights' Is Advice Tendered By Patrol Commander

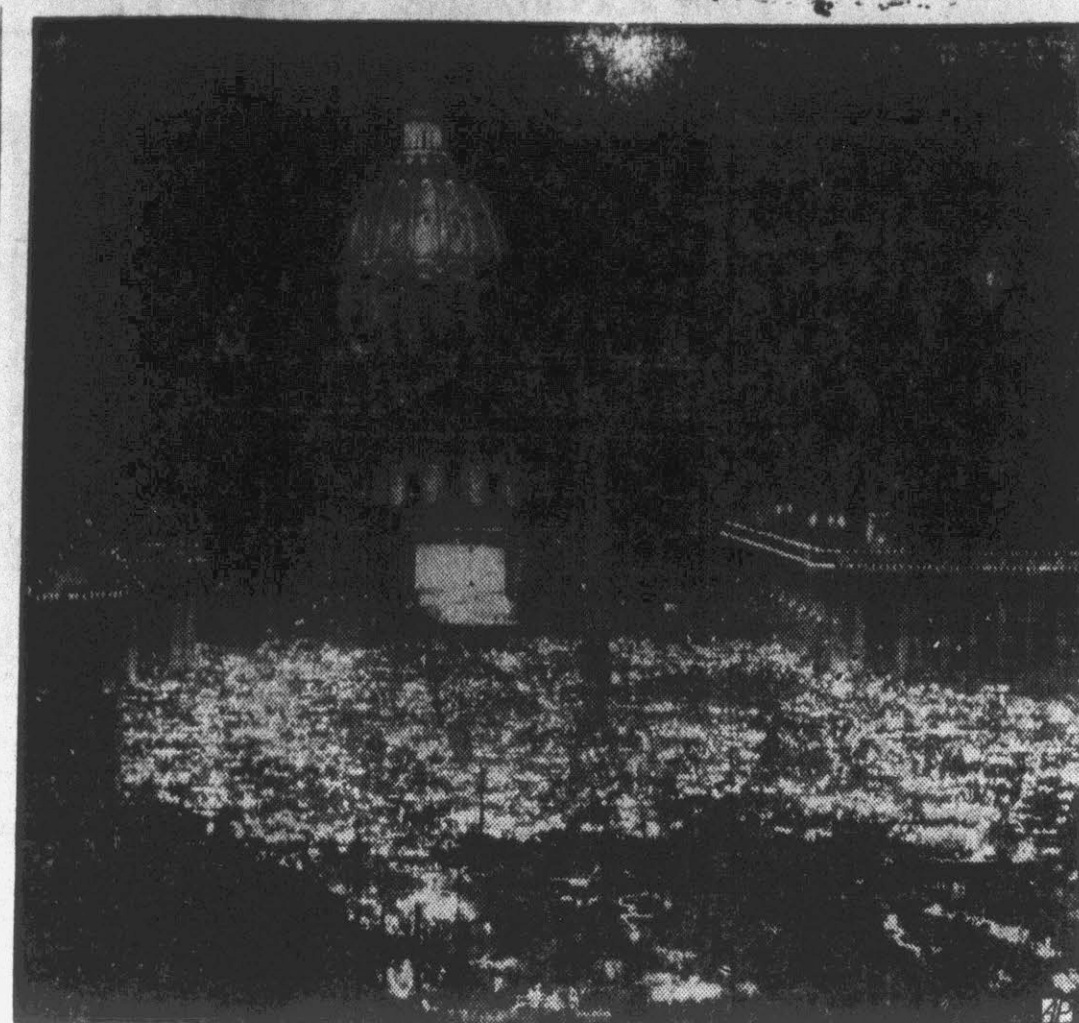

Motorists are thus urged to use their dimmers for safety's sake on the highways and on city streets, in the traffic safety program of the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles and State Highway Patrol.

Blinding an oncoming driver with your headlights is one of the most foolish and unnecessary things a motorist can do," Colonel H. J. Hatcher, Patrol Commander said. "You are threatening your own life when you fail to lower your headlights for an approaching car. Only a few seconds of light blindness can result in tragedy."

"It's not only good manners to dim your lights when meeting another car. It's often a matter of self-preservation. And it's safer and more courteous, too, to use the lower beam when overtaking cars. Lights glaring into a driver's eyes from the rear-view mirror can dazzle almost as readily as when they are head-on."

ABC Officers Raid Still Near Belvoir; Arrest Two Men

Pitt County ABC officers J. M. Ward and Claude Manning arrested James Roy Hathaway, Jr., white, and Daniel Brown, colored, both of Belvoir township, yesterday afternoon and charged them with possession of illegal distilling equipment. The officers destroyed one 50-gallon drum type still, 50 gallons of mash, one copper condenser, and other distilling equipment. Hathaway provided bond for his appearance in court and was released. Brown was jailed in default of $200 bond.

The case will be tried in County Court next Tuesday.

Farm Income Is Setting Record

Cleveland, Miss., Oct. 13—(AP)—National Farm income will hit 30 billion dollars for 1948, the highest in history, the ranking Senate Republican and Democratic Agricultural leaders report.

Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) and Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) gave that figure here yesterday as they told a southwide session of cotton growers that farmers will enjoy continued prosperity.

Aiken, chairman of the Agriculture committee, is author of the 1948 farm support bill. Thomas will gain the chairmanship if the Republicans lost control to the Democrats.

Aiken said the Agricultural picture is good and that as long as support is given crops by the government, market prices largely will remain the same as support figures. The Oklahoma Senator said the nation prospers as long as the farmer prospers.

"When they fail, we shall have depression," Thomas added.

A cubic mile of warm or hot air may hold as much as 40,000 tons of potential rain, snow or hail.

Americans bought more than $31 billion of life insurance during 1947.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Deadly Weapon

By Wade Miller

Chapter 19
Somehow, the native phrase seemed odd on the elder man's tongue. Walter James nodded without speaking and moved toward the indicated door. He could sense Dar-mer and Little Steve coming up behind him. He opened the door and stepped into the vibrating heat of the patio.

A flash of reflected sunlight bit
the corner of his eye and he twisted.
The blade of the knife clipped the side of his neck instead of the back.
He threw a fist into young Lux's soft belt line and the Mexican staggered against the door jamb.

Walter James turned to run toward the gate in the high stucco wall, but Darmer's foot caught him in the small of the back. He fell, rolled over a stubby bush and staggered to his feet. His forearm stopped two of the beefy man's short jabs. The third blow got through—a long right that grazed metal knu-
of his face went numb.

"Little different without a gun?"
grunted Darmer. The Mexican was coming up again. He had left his knife in the doorway. Walter James ducked and pisted both fists against Darmer's heart. The beefy American gasped. In the pause, the slight detective broke and whirled.
The narrow edge of his hand sliced into Little Steve's throat and the Mexican sank to his knees.

The metal knuckles pounded mercilessly against his head. He drove a pointed toe into Darmer's kneecap, but he couldn't move his arms or his head fast enough to avoid the blunt metal rings. Walter James felt himself sinking; the sun had gotten inside his head somehow and was trying to burn his way out.
Blood was bright on his powder blue lapels.

He lay down. It was the easiest way and the grass was cool. Darmer was wearing heavy, high-laced shoes.
He could see one of them swinging back and forth methodically. There ends of his fingers and inside his was no feeling except in the hot skull. From the way his body was jumping, he realized he was being kicked. He remembered Clapp's objection to a finger in the kidneys and he wanted to laugh. How was it you laughed, now?

A voice murmured, "Enough, John." Then he was being dragged across grass and over neat rows of round stones and by low bushes. For a while it was pleasant being suspended in space, then there was beige dust all around him.

Walter James cushioned his face in the dust and stared at it. It was adobe-colored and alive with prancing red devils. He said aloud,
"This is the alley."

After a long time he managed to balance himself on his elbows and his knees. The red devils resolved themselves into dark, dusty globules of red. He spread his fingers among them and shoved up. The ground spun around and he nearly fell over.
His side was beginning to ache now,
in low rhythmic throbs.

He crawled and hoped it was in the right direction.
He felt it. Adobe. Was everything adobe in this damn town? He put his shoulder against the rough surface and forced his body up.

It was pleasant up here without the dust. His nostrils began to clear.
Looking back to see how far he had come, he saw the patio gate a yard away; he had crawled in a short semicircle into the wall.

Walter James felt for a cigarette, but the pack was empty. He said,
"Hell!" and threw it down. Probably walking wouldn't be so bad now. He still couldn't feel his legs and that might make it easy.

It did. He stopped at the end of the alley and straightened his coat. It was impossible to brush much of the dark red mud off it.
He drew in his breath and stepped into the street.

Kevin looked at him without recognition. Then she let out a short scream. "Walter!" She scrambled out of the car and ran toward him.
"It's your turn to drive," he said.
She was crying. "Walter, Walter!"
she choked. "I'll kill them! I'll kill them!"

He held onto her shoulder with one dirty hand. "Later. Let's go back to town."
She helped him into the car and tried to wipe some of the caked blood off his face. "Don't," he said.
His voice was out of control. Sobbing, she jammed at the starter and rumbled the car away from the curb.

He fumbled in her purse for a cigarette with trembling fingers. Somehow he lit it and dragged deeply.
"I'm sorry," he said. "I'm always like this afterwards. I'm all right while it's going on but afterwards
I get the shakes."

Kevin's fingers gripped his leg above the knee. He could see her hand making furrows in the cloth but he couldn't feel anything. "But they've hurt you, darling," she said.
"I can't stand to see you like this.
I love you so, Walter. I can't stand to see you like this."

"I'm not so bad off," Walter James insisted. "They won't like me at the border, but I'm still in fair shape." He ran cautious fingertips over himself. "Let's see. Three cuts in the head. Most of them are above the hairline so they won't show much. This cheek's a little

He put his hand under his coat and felt his back. "I'll be glad when my spine comes to life." He pulled out his hand; in it was a snub-barreled pistol.

"You had a gun?" Kevin said.

Hold Santa Claus Parade Nov. 19; Decorate Streets

By CHESTER WALSH

Seventy-one more shopping days until Christmas, and the Merchants Association is completing plans for an elaborate Santa Claus parade on Friday, November 19, at 2:30 p.m. Executive Secretary Cora S. Powell said today that arrangements have been made to have the streets illuminated with multi-colored electric lights at night and more attractive street decorations in the business section.

Plans are for having more pets in the Santa Claus parade this year—horses, ponies, dogs, decorated bicycles and boys and girls in costume on foot. A police escort and a band will lead the cavalcade of pets down Evans street and up Dickinson avenue to the Coast Line tracks. Other participants in the parade will be Boy and Girl Scouts, American Legion, Reserve Officers Training Corps, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Battery C of the National Guard and others.

Miami, Fla.—Oct. 12—The National Association of Letter Carriers today nominated all of its officers for reelection without opposition and selected Seattle, Wash., as the site for the 37th biennial convention in 1950. National President William C. Deberry of Cincinnati and the organization's top officers, with the exception of one retiring officer, were renominated and will be voted on tomorrow.

"The Santa Claus parade on November 19 will formally open the Christmas shopping season and we are hoping to make it the best we ever had," said William H. Taft, president of the Merchants Association. Taft expressed the hope that the stores will have their windows decorated for Christmas by the time the parade is held. The Christmas lights will be turned on the night of the parade.

Complications In Robbery Case Superior Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Superior Court yesterday, a jury found David and Earl Nichols not guilty of larceny and robbery of about $478 from Coy Evans. Testimony was that they had been playing pool and were betting; that later on they went to Frank Harrington's store on the Belvoir road beyond the State Prison Camp. Judge Peyton McSwain of Shelby, presiding over the two-weeks criminal term of court, ordered the sheriff to investigate Harrington's store. The place was raided last night and Harrington was arrested.

Other cases disposed of yesterday included the following:

Ernest J. McLawhorn paid court costs for speeding.

John and Otis Hawkins, charged with forcible trespass and being drunk and disorderly, pleaded guilty to trespass, and were each fined $10 and costs.

Louis Adams paid $10 and costs for being drunk.

Jim Freeman, charged with being drunk and damaging personal property, was given nine months on the roads after the cases were consolidated. Sentence was suspended providing that Freeman pay Miss Gladys Lanier $56.40 for damage by the time of the January term of court; that he pay court costs not later than the March term of court, and be of good behavior for three years. Judge McSwain gave Freeman a chance in passing sentence. He said he had a good face, but was spoiling his life with liquor, and reminded him that if he gets drunk during the next three years, a capias will issue and he will have to serve the nine months on the roads.

Two cases against William Dunn, one charging assault with a deadly weapon, the other driving while drunk, were consolidated. The court sentenced him to eight months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and he is not to drive for a year and must not violate any law for two years.

In the case against John David Allen and Fred Junior Wilson, charging larceny, a nol pros was taken as to Allen. Wilson was given 12 months on the roads, sentence suspended for three years on condition that he pay Walter Mills $175 and court costs by January 1, and was ordered to be of good behavior for three years.

Elmer Earl Davis was given four months on the roads for driving drunk, sentence suspended on condition that he pay $100 and costs, not drive a motor vehicle for a year and be of good behavior for 12 months.

Monday night was a big night for the Lions as approximately sixty of them met at the Woman's Club for a supper meeting.

Dr. John D. Messick, in an informal talk, discussed current happenings at the college and what was planned for the future. Welcomed as visitors to the club were Harold Blackmore and G. C. Frye.

Next Monday night will be Lady's Night, and all Lions were urged to be present and bring their ladies.

National . . .

Ferguson sees that a critic of his idea may say this:

This is a free country, a man can write his congressman or send a letter to the editor, stand up on a street corner or in a public meeting and say whatever he pleases.

To which Ferguson says: "The fact remains that with all their privileges the people are still crying in the wilderness; there is no system of direct communications between them and the major decisions of their national government."

In short, Ferguson argues: We have given over authority to a comparatively few people—such as Congress and government heads—to let them make for us important decisions in which we should have a direct voice.

A lot of Ferguson's thinking is built on hope: hope that a referendum would work and that the people would vote the right way, for the good of themselves and mankind.

But in order for the people to vote intelligently on any issue presented to them, they would, as a minimum, need to be well-informed. To be well-informed—instead of being content to act out of prejudice or some other motive that might color their thinking—they'd have to want to be well-informed. They'd have to look for information.

But would the majority of the people—with their own daily job of working and living—be as well-informed as the Congress they've elected to look out for their interests?

Congress is supposed to spend its time being informed before it makes a decision. And it has a better chance of getting information than the people as a whole.

Vishinsky's speech came after a broadside from U.S. Delegate Warren E. Austin in the U.N. Assembly Political Committee. Austin asserted that the Soviet battle cry in the world today is "wreck and destroy." He charged Moscow with duplicity.

Vishinsky, instead of trying to tear his opponent limb from limb as is his usual procedure, adopted an attitude of injured dignity. He complained that the western nations believe "whatever we do is wrong." He said to accuse the Soviet delegation of provocation would "be ludicrous if it was not so sad."

The Russian proposal for a one-third arms reduction and scrapping of atomic weapons was under consideration, and Vishinsky demanded dramatically:

"Can you deny that the Soviet proposal contains not an iota of a shadow of a hint of an attack on anybody?"

The speaker capped that by declaring that capitalist and Communist ideologies could live side by side in the same world "if both sides try to understand the other side. Hence our desire to cooperate." He didn't explain how this fitted in with the cardinal Communist tenet that capitalism must be wiped out.

All of which strikes me as meaning merely that Russia is under pressure and consequently is staging a tactical diversion. There is no real sign that she has changed her views in the slightest degree. She is merely responding to two-fisted methods, which are the only thing she understands.
