

Challenges Taft To Express View On Farm Prices

State Democratic Chairman Wayne Invites Reply In Wilson Tonight

By the Associated Press

As the "legislative high priest of the Republican party," Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) was challenged last night to "express himself openly" on the subject of farm prices during his talks today at Chapel Hill and Wilson.

State Democratic Chairman Capus Wayne issued a statement which said in part:

"I note that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio speaking in Florida, said, 'I don't believe the South wants the high prices, big spending and regimentation of the Truman program.'"

"Recently it was rumored hereabouts that Senator Taft felt that the inflation he deplored was due in part to the fact that the farmers have too much money. Are the high prices for farm production the high prices the senator thinks the South doesn't want? He is coming into North Carolina. He might express himself openly on this point while in the state."

"Senator Taft is the legislative high priest of the Republican party. x x x If he really cares to know what the South wants, somebody ought to tell him quite frankly. He is in a position to help, if he really wants to help the South. But he ought to know that he would have to break with the policies of his party to do so."

Taft was due to arrive at Wilson today by train from Florida. Tonight he is slated to discuss the Taft-Hartley Act and the Republican farm program in the auditorium of the Charles L. Coon High School.

However, shortly after his arrival in Wilson, he will drive to Chapel Hill for a luncheon and a speech sponsored by the Carolina Political Union and the Young Republican Club.

John A. Wilkinson of Washington, N.C., GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate, will accompany Taft and introduce him before both speeches.

President of Harvard University Discusses European Crisis And Clearly Defines General Conclusions As To Communist Offensive; Remote Contingency Seen

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, in discussing the European crisis, says he doubts if the Soviets will force the issue provided Britain, France and America are firm in holding just positions.

Mr. Conant expresses this view in his new book, "Education In A Divided World." He says he is "convinced that there is little or no analogy between the Nazi menace and the Soviet challenge," and continues:

"The former, to my view, had to be met by force of arms because it was an immediate military threat. The latter is an ideological and political thrust supported by military means; the Russian armies hidden behind the Iron Curtain are defensive troops to support political gains by the advanced fifth column within another nation; they are not to be used as the spearhead of the forward movement."

Commission Critical Of N. C. Public School Administration

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 15—(AP)—Sharp criticism of North Carolina's two-headed administration of its public schools was voiced by the State Education Commission in its report made public yesterday by Governor Cherry.

The commission, which has made a thorough study of public education in North Carolina during the past two years, accompanied its criticism with a number of recommendations for improving the public schools.

The report pointed out that the school system has two principal executive officers—the State Superintendent of Public Instruction as Administrative head, and the controller of the state board of education as fiscal head.

"This arrangement makes for confusion, duplication, and uncertainty of duties," the report said. "It is responsible for a lack of coordination not only in administering the public schools but also in promoting a program of school improvements. x x x The dual type of organization should be completely eliminated."

Major recommendations by the commission for improving the schools were:

1. A program to attract qualified teachers through higher salaries—a $2,400 minimum, and scholarship.
2. A $150,000,000 school building program, including replacement of 400 white and 1,000 Negro school plants which should be abandoned.
3. State aid for capital outlay and maintenance for school buildings and buses; more school supervisors; and enforcement of the compulsory attendance law.
4. Consolidation of smaller high schools into units enrolling at least 300 pupils, because larger schools do a little job of holding pupils and are able to provide more training in vocational education, guidance and health services.

5. More vocational education, for adults as well as children.

6. A broader program of adult education.

7. A reduced teacher load, not to exceed 27 to 30 pupils.

8. Programs for special education for handicapped and exceptional children.

9. Continued study of merit rating of teachers, curriculum, guidance, local administration, and other problems.

The commission was composed of 18 members, and its two-year study was financed by a state appropriation of $50,000 and an allocation of $150,000 from the Knapp foundation. It appointed 15 committees composed of more than 300 citizens to study

Council Chairman Asks Details Russian Terms

Western Powers To Furnish Security Council With Terms Of Accord Reached Aug. 30 Covering Problems

Paris, Oct. 15—(AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky broke his silence on the Berlin crisis in the Security Council today but only to say he wouldn't debate the issue.

The Russian Deputy Foreign Minister spoke up in response to direct questions from Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting council president.

Bramuglia asked for more information on the Berlin blockade at the next Council session and got promises from the United States, Britain and France that they would supply it.

Then Vishinsky arose. He said it was a "very skilled" maneuver, but that it was "naïve to believe that Soviet Union will swallow this bait."

Six lesser powers on the Council had appealed to the big four to settle the blockade by direct negotiations.

Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting council chairman, asked the four big powers today for details on the Aug. 30 agreement between Prime Minister Stalin and western diplomats and for the instructions given the four military governors of Germany to implement the accord. Under the agreement, Russia was to lift the blockade and the western powers were to recognize the Soviet mark as the sole currency for Berlin.

The American, British and French delegates said they were willing to answer Bramuglia's questions at the next Council meeting on Berlin. The "neutral" nations—Argentina, Belgium, Canada, Colombia, Syria and China—had tried without success for a week to reach a compromise formula which might dissolve the issue. The western powers have refused any settlement which does not include immediate lifting of the blockade.

Says Time 'Ripe' For Settlement

Bunche Believes Jews And Arabs Ready Accept Fair Offer

Paris, Oct. 15—(AP)—The interior Palestine told the United Nations today the "time is ripe for a settlement" in the Holy Land and he believes both sides would accept a reasonable U. N. proposal for peace.

"On both sides there is a desire and a need for peace," Dr. Ralph Bunche told the 58-nation political committee.

Bunche declared the state of Israel was "a going concern from the day of its birth, and could not be destroyed by any means other than force of sufficient strength to completely crush the Jews in Palestine."

He said Israel, from the day of its birth on May 15, has been "a vibrant reality."

He listed nine points as fundamental issues for the United Nations assembly.

A permanent peace in Palestine; the Jewish state; the boundaries of such a state; the future status of Jerusalem; guarantees of the rights of all Palestinians; repatriation and resettlement of Arab refugees; the machinery of U. N. intervention.

Bunche said his predecessor, Count Folke Bernadotte, who was assassinated Sept. 17, had been unable to get the warring Arabs and Jews together.

"The Arab representatives steadfastly refused to meet the Jews because they considered that a tacit admission of the existence of a Jewish state," Bunche said.

'Faith Holders' In Convention; Snakes Provided

Durham, Oct. 15—(AP)—"Faith holders" from four states were expected here today for the opening of their three-day convention.

Snakes will be provided for "those who feel the spirit," according to the Rev. C. H. Bunn, pastor of Zion Tabernacle, where snake handling has been practiced in the past.

Bunn also disclosed that several persons who turn bull torches on themselves are expected for the session. The convention is expected to draw people from North Carolina, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee, according to Bunn.

Legionnaires Converge On Miami For Big Convention

Miami, Fla., Oct. 15—(AP)—Thousands of former service men and their families, swarmed into Miami today for the opening of the 30th annual National American Legion convention here Monday.

Many thousands already had arrived for the biggest convention ever held in this city. Legion officials estimated close to 100,000 will be on hand.

The city took on a gay, mid-season atmosphere. Crowds jammed streets and hotels while musical units in colorful costumes paraded through the downtown area.

Two ships were enroute with large delegations. Special trains arrived almost hourly from all parts of the country. Hundreds more came by plane and many thousands by automobile.

In addition to the Legion, the Women's Auxiliary and the Forty and Eight Society, a score of other organizations will hold their conventions simultaneously.

Spade work for the serious side of the convention began yesterday when the Resolutions Assignment committee began work on 700 proposed resolutions. Rehabilitation leads the list with 257. More than 100 deal with employment, 80 with Americanism, 68 with national security, 54 with housing and 32 with congressional legislation.

The convention will be called to order by National Commander James F. O'Neill of Manchester, N. H., at 11:15 a. m. (EST) in the big dinner key Convention Hall, built of two Navy hangers.

President Truman will address the convention at 2 p. m. (EST) Monday.

Dewey Prepares Reply To Charge Ex-Isolationist

To Answer Truman With Statement Of Views On International Problems

Enroute with Dewey to St. Paul, Oct. 15—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey prepared today to answer President Truman's charge he is a "recent convert" from isolationism.

Dewey's reply—planned in a major address in St. Paul tonight—was to be in the form of a positive statement of his views on international problems.

The Republican presidential nominee seemed unlikely to mention Mr. Truman's accusation directly in the talk, to be broadcast (ABC) from 9:30 to 10 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Paul Lockwood, Dewey's secretary said the New York governor will discuss "the creation of a vital realistic and firm foreign policy."

Lockwood added that Dewey also will talk about "the development of a prosperous agriculture, aided by price supports, soil conservation programs and rural electrification to feed the people of our country and help to feed the world."

But it was the foreign policy question that topped all others in interest as Dewey cut across Minnesota for first rear platform talks and off-train speeches at Owatonna and Mankato.

Dewey had the double-barrelled job of making not only his own views clear but of urging the election of Sen. Joseph Ball, who booted the 1944 Dewey-Bricker ticket but is back in the GOP fold this year.

Ball has seldom seen eye to eye to what the New York governor's supporters call Dewey's "internationalist" views on foreign policy.

In urging the election of Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis the Democratic senatorial nominee President Truman yesterday paid his respects to Ball as "the former Liberal who was converted to reaction."

Hopeful Of Less Expense In ECA

Paul Hoffman Says Progress In Europe May Slow Spending

Washington, Oct. 15—(AP)—Paul Hoffman said today that next year's European recovery fund may be less than this year's $5,055,000,000 because of the progress being made.

The economic cooperation administrator told a news conference that he cannot judge the size of needed new ECA funds until the council of European countries at Paris has finally drafted its next-year's program.

He added:

"I think recovery has gone on in the European countries to the point where we believe it will call for a smaller sum than we had this year."

"What the amount will be, I have no idea."

Hoffman also reported failure thus far to gain an agreement with France and Britain on a halt to the dismantling of industrial plants in the western zones of Germany.

Hoffman wants to hold up dismantling of plants until fresh studies are made of whether the best interests of recovery would be served by keeping the plants standing.

'Final Offer' On Wage Increases

New York, Oct. 15—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said today it had made a "final offer" of $4,000,000 in annual wage increases to 23,000 long line employees.

The offer was made at a meeting which began last night and extended into the early morning hours.

The CIO American Union of Telephone Workers did not indicate its stand on the offer, a company statement said.

New Polio Case

Another case of polio was reported in Pitt County yesterday. Bobby Brady, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brady, 151 West Eighth Street, who owns the Double Inn Restaurant, on the Bethel highway, was stricken and a local physician recommended that he be sent to Rex Hospital in Raleigh.

June H. Rose, chairman of the Pitt County Infantile Paralysis Foundation, arranged for the patient's transportation and admittance to the hospital yesterday afternoon.

A report from the hospital to Chairman Rose this morning stated that the patient was somewhat improved.

Bobby Brady was president of the Greenville High School Student Council last year, a member of the football squad and is now a student at East Carolina Teachers College.

Clay Sees Soviet Expansion Ending

Says U. S. Firmness Will Halt Tide, Then It Will Recede

Berlin, Oct. 15—(AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay feels "Soviet expansion will not only be halted, it will recede," if the Western powers continue their firm stand in Berlin.

The remarks by the American commander in Germany were in a speech made public last night by a responsible source close to Clay. The speech was made privately Sept. 28 to delegates of the British parliamentary conference who visited Berlin.

Clay said lasting peace in Europe could be attained if the Western powers refuse to yield to the Russians. He said the rise of democratic forces and economic recovery in Western Europe would create pressure against Soviet domination in the satellite countries.

He linked the rise of democracy in Western Europe directly with the maintenance of the Western powers' position in Berlin.

"We must be firm," he said. "By continuing this airlift indefinitely and maintaining our position in Berlin we will have assured people who do want freedom they will not be abandoned."

Discussing the Soviet blockade of Berlin, Clay said the Western powers tried to buy food from Poland and Czechoslovakia for the besieged former German capital, but were blocked by Russia.

The American military governor said "this was a definite indication the blockade was placed into effect as a starvation measure x x x to drive the allies out of Berlin."

Engine And Cab Of Semi-Trailer Damaged By Fire

A large semi-trailer owned by R. L. Gibbs feed and produce company of England was damaged by fire around noon today on the East Tenth Street extension.

City firemen extinguished the blaze in the cab and the gasoline tank after pouring water and chemical foam into the vehicle for about 15 minutes.

The driver of the semi-trailer said the blaze apparently started in the flooring of the cab and quickly filled the cab with smoke. "All I saw was smoke coming up from the left hand side, and before I could get out of the cab was full of smoke," he commented.

The semi-trailer was empty at the time; damage was confined to the cab and engine.

Story Of Education

How A Successful Businessman Decided The Classics Would Further His Knowledge And Why; A Plan Of Study; "Great Books Foundation," And How Started

By JAMES MARLOW

Chicago, Oct. 15—(AP)—This is the story of how to get to be a big shot in the book world and vice-president of a university.

Back in 1923 Lynn A. Williams, Jr., was vice-president of a company making heaters for airplanes. He was 34 then, and a successful businessman. He had had a good education. But still, he felt he didn't know enough.

He heard that a group of top businessmen here in Chicago were going to start studying the "great books"—the classics, like Plato's or Aristotle's politics.

Once every two weeks they'd meet at night around a big table and talk about one of the books and what it meant, or what they thought it meant.

A professor from the University of Chicago would sit in with them and ask them questions, and needle them, and they'd needle one another.

What was the idea? The University had been doing the same kind of thing with its students for years. The University heads had the idea that problems don't change; that ancient men faced the same problems we face today; that a lot of the problems were laid down in the ancient books, and—

Atomic Problem Brought To Fore By Campaigners

President Clashes With Dewey Saying Rival Favors Private Exploitation

Aboard Truman Campaign Train Oct. 15—(AP)—President Truman clashed with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey over the explosive atomic problem today with the claim his opponent has "a dangerous lack of understanding" of this vital subject.

The Chief executive headed into Indiana for the third time after a speech at Milwaukee in which he said the Republican nominee had brought the atomic program into their election controversy and made it "one of the key issues of the campaign."

Mr. Truman spoke last night to a police-estimated crowd of 15,000 in the Milwaukee ball park. He said Governor Dewey had "clearly implied a belief that there should be a private exploitation" of this tremendous atomic asset. He insisted it "must be kept under public control."

The President switched from atomic to "human resources" as he worked on the draft of another major speech to be delivered at 9:30 o'clock (EST) tonight in the world war memorial at Indianapolis. Rear platform talks en route were scheduled in several Indiana communities.

Mr. Truman's address was a reply to a speech Governor Dewey delivered at Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 23. Dewey had said atomic secrets and military developments must remain a government monopoly at all costs.

But beyond this security precaution, he said, atomic progress can not continue to be left exclusively under "the dead hand of government."

The President contended that his "blundered" into the subject, and brought it into "politics."

"I can assure you," Mr. Truman said, "that the civilian atomic energy commission has maintained the leadership and readiness of the United States in atomic weapons—despite the presence of what the Republican candidate for President is pleased to call the 'dead hand' of government."

Sit-Down Strike By French Union

Tomorrow's Garden By The Greenville Garden Club

We have in Greenville a steadily increasing number of garden lovers, real gardeners who enjoy all the processes of growing flowers as well as the rewarding bloom. Under the above heading there will be given at frequent intervals advice from many of these experts.

Because TOMORROW'S GARDEN will be lovely only as we plan and plant today, we hope these suggestions will serve as guides to new gardeners and timely reminders to all of us. For whether the garden is large or small the requirements are the same: a plan, preparation of the soil and planting at the right time.

Fall in Greenville is a wonderful time for planting and the fortunate person who uses it thus will never feel that fall is depressing. It is no longer a sad time of dead leaves and withered flowers but a golden opportunity for tucking away a myriad of bulbs and seeds ready to burst forth in glorious bloom when spring comes again.

This is the time to secure a supply of bulbs, to buy seeds of larkspur and poppies and other annuals which are listed in the catalog for planting in early spring. In the next article these will be discussed in detail.

Shrubs may be moved now and perennials divided. This is the time to remind the friend who promised to divide with you her daisies or phlox or lemon lilies.

It is not too late to plant your winter grass. A little money, a little time and you and your neighbors may enjoy a carpet of brilliant green. Above all, have some sort of plan in mind, try something new, learn its requirements for sun or shade and do it now. Only our efforts of today will bring us TOMORROW'S GARDEN, bright and fragrant.

The quilt for the box to be sent to one of the frontier missionaries is to be packed at Mrs. W. R. Smith's Friday afternoon at 2:30. Every member of the Missionary Society of the Baptist Church is given an invitation to attend. Plans for packing the box will be discussed.

About the next step now due in line of civic improvement and cleanliness for Greenville is to stop spitting on the new sidewalks. Big globes of tobacco juice leave ugly stains that are not ornamental.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. deeply appreciates the faithful interest in its cause as expressed by their late member, Mrs. E. B. Allsbrook. Though unable, because of illness in her family, to attend the meetings, it was a joy to her to help promote the work. The state convention will be held October 19-21 at the Edenton Street Methodist Church in Raleigh.

Those who attended the temperance meeting at Austin auditorium at the college last week enjoyed the beautiful baskets of flowers on the platform. For this public service we are grateful to Nobles, Cox and Greenville floral shops.

Some might say "I cannot affiliate myself with the dry forces because I have to make a living and because some who contribute to my salary are in favor of legalized liquor in North Carolina." To anyone having such an attitude let it be said that the same God that sent the ravens to feed Elijah, cared for John the Baptist in the wilderness and delivered the three men from the flames of the fiery furnace, is on the throne today, and regardless of what the forces of evil may say, think or do, He is keeping watch over His faithful ones. When one commits his way wholly unto Christ He will not forsake him. He who "considers the lilies of the field" owns the silver and the gold and "the cattle of a thousand hills."

The annual roll call meeting of the Greenville W. C. T. U. will be held the second Wednesday in November at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Announcements regarding the program will be made later. Let every member answer the roll call. If impossible to be there in person please mail or send your response!

Junior Women's Club 'Watson Memorial' Tag Day Big Success

The first annual Dr. T. M. Watson Memorial Tag Day, held on Saturday, Oct. 9th, was an outstanding success. The Junior Woman's Club well may be proud of the energies they expended in appropriating $414.95 toward their memorial to the late Dr. T. M. Watson in their first annual "Tag Day." This amount will be added to the memorial to be spent as the Watson Memorial committee sees fit, to better the medical care of Pitt County's underprivileged children. Members of this committee on this project were Mrs. V. I. Morris, Ways and Means chairman, and Mrs. G. P. Oakley, Watson Memorial chairman, and members of their respective committees.

The Watson Memorial committee has as their advisors Dr. M. G. Irons and Dr. F. B. Haar, pediatricians, and Mr. Claude Ward, Superintendent of Pitt General Hospital. This group, vitally interested in child health welfare, decides how the funds are to be spent, sometimes for needed equipment, and often for emergency operations and medications.

The Junior Woman's Club expressed appreciation to the following persons for their cooperation in the drive: Miss Barbara Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Conway, first prize for collecting $16.39. Dwight Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Edwards, and Hugh Duncan, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Duncan, were runners up collecting $15.33 and $14.54, respectively.

Other young people who participated in the street solicitation were Donald Conley, Picklen Arthur Jr., Alice Flye, Dolly Best, Francis Bradshaw, Preston Cannon, Mitchell Johnson, Abner Eason, Frances Cahoon, Billy Sermons, Katherine Tucker, Jo Roland, Donald Dewey, Patsy Flanagan, and Letha Mae Brewer. All of these future citizens gave from three to six hours of their only free week day to help those more unfortunate than they. Each of these children were presented passes to a local theatre in appreciation of their efforts.

Alumni Arriving On Campus Today For Homecoming

Alumni of East Carolina Teachers College will begin arriving on the campus today for the annual Homecoming celebration held at the college.

Events of the program will begin tonight at 8:30 o'clock with the football game in the Guy Smith Stadium between the local Pirates and Western Carolina Teachers College. The East Carolina band will play, and a large attendance from campus and city is expected to make the contest a gala event. The game will be the first played by the Pirates on home territory.

The YMCA and the YWCA will have a special vespers service in the Y Hut on the campus this evening at 6:45 o'clock. Visiting alumni will be guests and a program of interest to them has been arranged.

Saturday's events will begin with a program in the Austin auditorium, at which alumni will be welcomed to the college by President John D. Messick. An informal reception in the Alumni office will follow.

Other features of the program will include an outdoor production Saturday afternoon of "As You Like It" by the Teachers Playhouse, college dramatic club and a dinner in the North Dining Room on the campus in the evening.

Events for Homecoming have been arranged by a committee headed by Dean of Men W. E. Marshall with the assistance of Mrs. Ruth Garner, alumni secretary.

Autograph Fans Mob Crooner; Now In Hospital

Newark, N.J., Oct. 15—(AP)—Jack Carroll, 24, a crooner who won a nationwide talent show, was taken to the hospital last night suffering from internal injuries after being mobbed by autograph seekers as he left a broadcast in New York.

He collapsed in a taxi on the way home to Belleville and was taken to Columbus Hospital, where his condition was listed as serious. Ed Lee, associate producer of the Mutual Broadcasting System's talent jackpot show, said Carroll won the show for seven weeks in a row and had returned last night for a guest appearance.

Actress Resting In 'Quiet Place'

Hollywood, Oct. 15—(AP)—Actress Rita Johnson is in seclusion today after leaving St. Vincent's hospital where she spent five weeks following a brain injury.

Her physician, Dr. Lee Siegel, said only "she's at a nice, quiet place" and wasn't ready yet to talk about what hit her in her apartment Sept. 6. Police investigators said the injury apparently was caused when a 40-pound hair drier fell on the actress' head.

Slight Decline In Tobacco Price

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 15—(AP)—Flue cured tobacco prices raised slightly on the middle belt but dropped on the eastern North Carolina and old belts.

Yesterday's declines were the third successive days drop. Cross sales Wednesday on the Eastern belt totaled 5,436,156 pounds for an average of $52.23; the old belt sold a total of 5,467,212 pounds at $47.48, while a total of 3,170,143 pounds sold on the middle belt for $49.34.

Good-Luck Camel

Frankfurt, Germany, Oct. 15—(AP)—Clarence, the goofy camel, mascot of the U.S. Air Force's 88th Wing, is flying to Berlin Monday with goodies for the blockaded city's kids.

The derby-wearing camel has been taking donations of food and money at the Wing's football games. So now Col. C. T. Edwison, of Topeka, Kans., the Wing's commander, and Lt. Donald R. Butterfield will escort him to Berlin in a B-26 to pass out fruit, canned food and candy.

"Clarence will supervise the passing out of the gifts," says Lt. Butterfield. "He's in charge of the whole thing."

Lt. Butterfield spotted Clarence several weeks ago near Wheelus Field in Tripoli. A sharp Arab sold him for $45. Butterfield, whose home is at Montgomery, W.Va., hoisted Clarence into his plane along with Sam, a jackass, and flew them to Neuberg Field, Germany. It's the Wing's present base.

Now he's the Wing's official mascot and Sam is the assistant mascot. Clarence drinks condensed milk, and soon he'll have a special blanket tailored to his irregular contour and inscribed "Clarence 88th Fighter Wing Football Team Mascot."

"Clarence is a goofy camel," says Lt. Butterfield. "Why, on his first flight he went to sleep. That is, until Sam bit a hunk out of his leg. Then he let out a roar which drowned out the sound of my engines."

Butterfield adds: "Clarence likes everybody except Sam. And everybody likes Clarence except my wife who objects to being called the wife of the U.S. Air Force's camel trainer."

Flimflammers Get $200 From Negro Farmer Here

By CHESTER WALSH

Flimflammers worked their "pocketbook racket" with art and precision on William H. Dudley, Negro tenant farmer of near Grimesland, at the Centre Brick Warehouse in Greenville Wednesday morning and disappeared with $200 of his tobacco money, he reported to Police Chief Lester D. Page yesterday.

The victim's story was like this: Two Negro men, dressed like farmers and very friendly, accosted him at the warehouse, chatted for a while and then told him that they saw a Negro man find a pocketbook with $1,200 in it; that he had promised to divide with them if they would put up $200 cash for security. They promised Dudley that if he would put up the money they would split with him.

Dudley hired a taxicab to go to his home near Grimesland, got $200 from his trunk and returned here. He gave the flimflammers his $200.

They told him to meet them at Star Warehouse No. 2 at 3 p.m. and get his share of the money. Dudley waited until 5 o'clock for the men, but they had disappeared. He reported his loss to his stepfather and they reported to the police 24 hours after he had been robbed. Police have no clue as to the identity of the flimflammers. The victim gave a description of them, but it was meager.

An Edgecombe Negro woman lost several hundred dollars to pocketbook racketeers in Tarboro about a week ago. Stories about the robbery were printed in local and state newspapers, and yet Negroes seem to be very susceptible to the temptation to foolishly invest their hard earned money with strangers. The chief said a Negro man he arrested several years ago for the pocketbook trick told him that he knew the law was against him, "but my conscience doesn't bother me when I 'skin' 'em out of their money, when they are just as gully as I am."

TAKE TIME TO BE SAFE

The loss of an arm or leg is a high price to pay for saving ten seconds. When operating power machinery, take time to be careful.

Your life will be safer if you...

Observe these simple rules:

- 1 Shut off P.T.O. before attempting to unclog corn picker, baler, etc.
- 2 Keep all shields in place when operating machine.
- 3 Don't trust defective hitch, brakes, clutches, seats.
- 4 Never mount or dismount from a moving tractor. Don't ride on drawbar.
- 5 Don't wear loose, floppy clothing around power machinery.
- 6 Think first. After the accident it is too late.

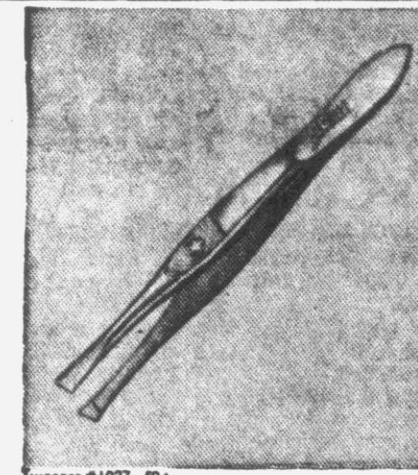

This year a disabling injury probably will strike some farm person every 19 seconds. Don't let carelessness put your name on that list.

BUNNING FOR THE CAVE
We read in the nineteenth chapter of I Kings that Elijah, after the trial on Mount Carmel, fled from the anger of Ahab's Queen Jezebel and sought refuge in a cave in Mount Horeb. There the word of the Lord came to him, "What doest thou here, Elijah?" He was hiding when he ought to have been fighting.

Then Elijah went on to explain why he had sought refuge in the cave. I am the only one, he said, who is still loyal to Jehovah. And the reply of Jehovah was, "I have 7000 that have not bowed the knee to Baal." Poor Elijah believed he was the only good man left in the world, so he ran for the shelter of the cave to spend his time in despair and self-pity.

We all run for that cave now and again. We think the world is going to the dogs and we alone are standing for what is right. Perhaps you may feel that you are the only businessman in your circle who really maintains high ideals of honesty. Or you may feel that you are the only woman who has not turned her home into a wretched drinking place in order to entertain guests.

Put these thoughts out of your mind. Come out of the cave, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah and young Elijah too. If you are standing for the right things you are one of a mighty host. There are always 7000 that have not bowed the knee to Baal.

Around Capitol Square

STEADFAST—The campaign caravan of Democratic party leaders and state candidates found evidence of more steadfast loyalty in the second district than they had been led to believe prevailed and naturally they were very happy about it. Congressman John Kerr recalled that in 1928, last time there was any notable defection from the ticket in Tar Heels, his district rolled up a majority of more than 20,000 for Al Smith, the neighboring first district gave the Democrats 10,000 majority while the rest of the state's 100,000 majority for Hoover led North Carolina into alien paths. The congressman and other local leaders pledged that this year the district would do better by Truman than it did by Smith 20 years ago.

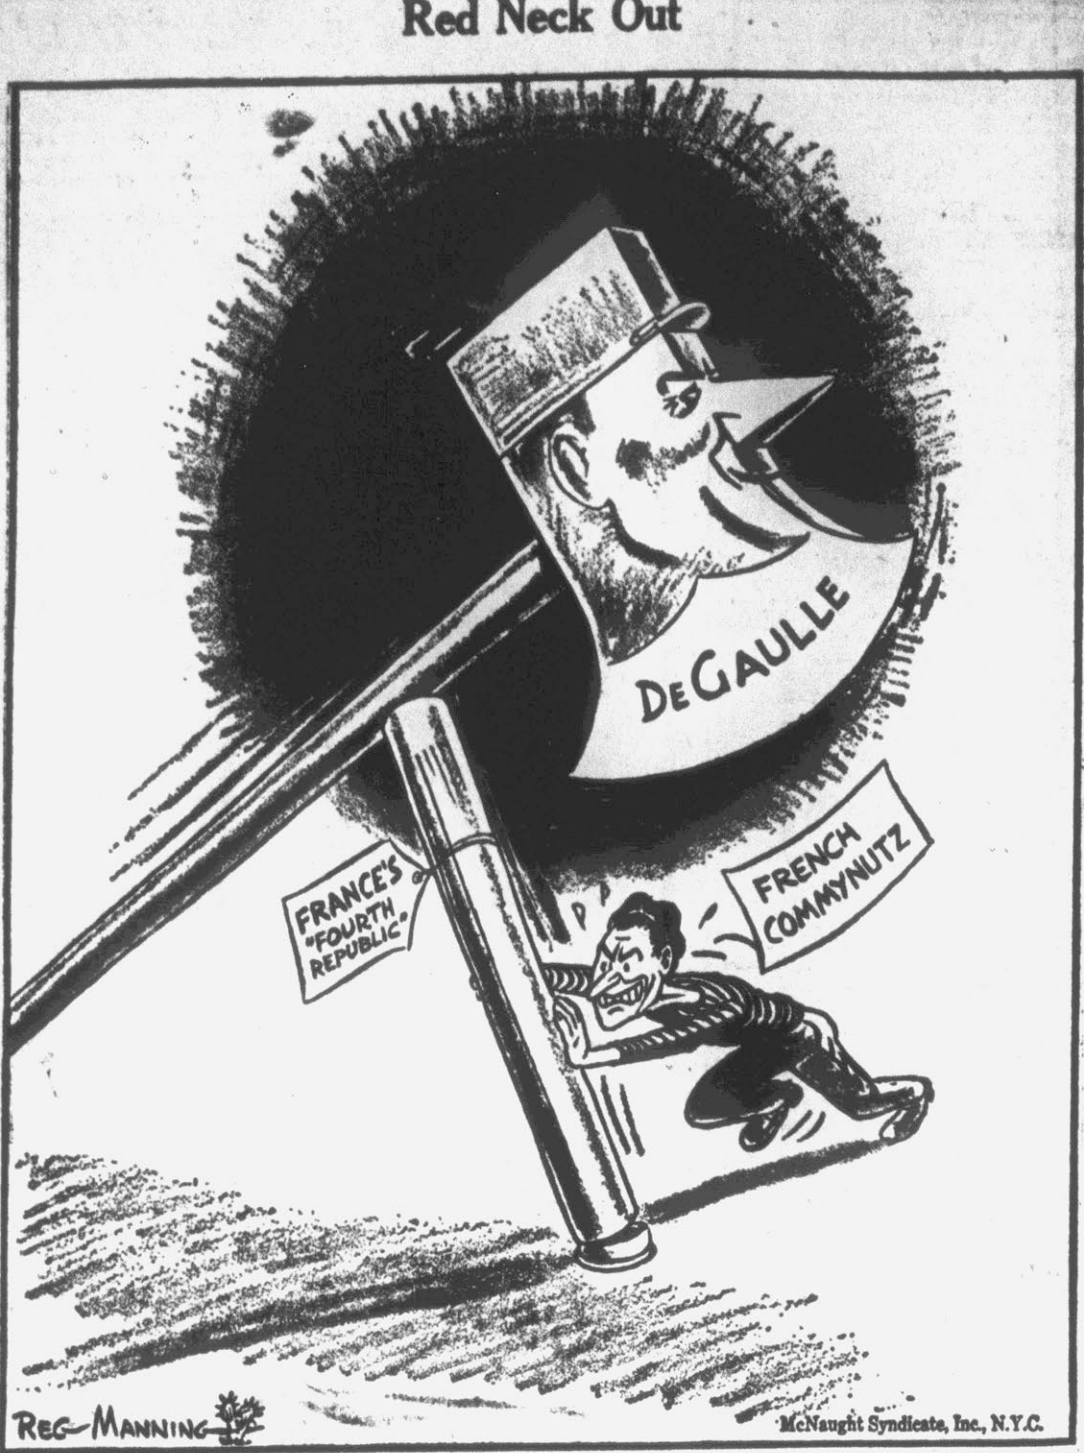

SUPPORTING—There was supporting testimony. Attendance at the second district rally was larger than at any others, except the first district last week. The Edgecombe county courthouse was beautified with trailing vines, longleaf pine and autumn flowers, first time on the literary such elaborate decorations had been noted.

FAILED—Interviews with several dozen folks from each of the counties in the second district led to conclusion that the Dixiecrat movement had completely collapsed—or rather that it just hadn't gotten underway. Representatives from communities in which a few weeks ago it was said to be difficult to find a man who would openly avow support of President Truman, report it is now as hard to find a person who does not expect to vote the straight Democratic ticket. This district has a larger percentage Negro population than any other area in the state, at least three counties having excess of Negroes over whites, and midsummer resentment against the Truman civil rights program was bitter. According to local students of political affairs, the voters have concluded that while they dislike the Truman program as much as ever, it is better than anything else offered.

SOLVING—Senator-nominate J. M. Broughton indirectly brought this question to the front. His statement that North Carolina is now rapidly and more adequately solving the race problem than any other state, and will solve it if outsiders do not interfere, got a big hand from the 500 or so men and women in the audience.

APATHY—The problem in all that part of the state is general apathy because of insignificant Republican strength. The primary vote is usually much larger than the general election vote. Apathy is less marked this year than usual, contrary to earlier predictions, and the vote is likely to be larger—though still far behind the ratio expected in the west. All speakers emphasized the Good Samaritan appeal, the fact that eastern Democrats have got to lend a hand to their western brethren who are in trouble.

GOVERNORS—Governor Cherry

made his first appearance during the rally itinerary, and made a humdrum of a speech in behalf of the full ticket. Governor-nominee Scott following him, complained that Cherry had copied most of his speech. However, Scott continues to make primary campaign speeches and had little to say about the rest of the Democratic ticket.

SIGNIFICANT—Significance was attached to one Scott statement. He has repeatedly said he would not appoint anyone to the highway commission who did not see eye to eye with him on country roads. At Tarboro he went one better and said he was seeking someone, either a man or a woman, who lives on a dirt road and who has capacity for service and will agree to serve on the highway commission. A woman highway commissioner would be just the kind of innovation Scott likes to make. As has been the case everywhere else, the Scott pronouncements in favor of school bus route improvement got enthusiastic applause.

Boyle's Column

New York—(P)—Some people used to believe the world was flat. Some still do.

Some people used to believe that if you plucked a filament from a horse's tail and left it overnight in a jar of water it would turn into a garter snake.

Some still do.

Some people used to believe that hairy men are more virile than bald-headed men.

And too darn many people still believe this hoary fable.

The ancient superstition cropped up again in Chicago, where 40 illustrators nominated the five "most virile men in America"—and didn't include one bald-headed man.

The snub was deliberate.

"We felt since the general impression of virility includes hirsuteness, we'd eliminate shiny pate," said Reno Blonli, director of the Artists' committee.

Who did they name? They chose Gov. Earl Warren of California, Actors Clark Gable and Victor Mature, singer Jack Smith and Lou Boudreau, Cleveland baseball manager.

No one could quarrel that these are virile men. But to leave baldies out of the list is to bow to outworn prejudice. It flaunts the facts of history, the findings of science and

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Less than a year old, The Woman Veteran, a news-magazine for service women, already has doubled in size. Red-haired Dorothy E. Lorne Tuttle, a veteran of more than three years' war time duty with the Coast Guard Women's Reserve, is owner and editor of the magazine, which she publishes here. A former wave "Jaygee," Alice M. Griffith, and an ex-spar lieutenant, Mary C. Lyne, complete the present staff, which just brought out the magazine's new eight-page edition.

With full time jobs on other publications, the three staff members work on the "exclusive news magazine for service women and women veterans everywhere" during their free evenings and weekends. WAC, WAVE, SPAR and women Marine veterans correspondents represent the magazine from Alaska to the Orient and from Europe to the Middle East.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Rep. Margaret Chase Smith, Maine's Republican senator-elect, are among the notables who have written letters to the editor. Articles have been contributed by Mrs. Douglas Horton, former WAVE chief and now president of Wellesley College; by Capt. Joy B. Hancock, present director of Navy women Col. Mary Halloran, WAC director; Capt. Nellie Jane De Witt, Navy Corps, and Maj. Julia Hamblet, director of the Women Marines.

The most recent issue of the magazine features "Women in the Air Force," with a lead article by Col. Geraldine P. May which describes the WAF training program. Other articles give details for enlistment of women in other branches of the service and a "bulletin board" which goes in for chitchat concerning service women all over the world and their doings—marriages, promotions transfers and so on.

Another feature is the "Correspondents' Corner" where letters from service women stationed in the world's far corners are printed. Editors of the magazine say they plan to expand it to 32 pages eventually.

Violent Death Ended Dispute

Cleveland, Oct. 14—(P)—The dispute between Edward B. Jacob, 37, who wanted to convert a barn into a home and officials of nearby Beachwood village, has been settled by violent death for Jacob's family.

Coroner S. R. Garber blamed "emotional instability" for the action of Jacob, an insurance broker, in shooting his wife, Eleanor, 34, and their son, Jeffrey, 7 and then himself.

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 14—(AP)—Some 300 highway patrolmen—nearly three-fourths of the patrol's strength—will be concentrated in and around Raleigh next Tuesday for President Truman's visit.

Col. H. J. Hatcher said today that the patrolmen would be stationed in Raleigh and along the highway to the Raleigh-Durham airport where the President is scheduled to land.

Murder Follows VA 'Run-Around'

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 13—(AP)—Bernard V. Lembits didn't like his disability rating, so, police said, he killed two employees of the Veterans Administration.

Lembits, a 47-year-old World War II veteran, was charged with murder. Police said he admitted that he shot Milton A. Jacobs, 41, chairman of the VA unemployment service rating board, and Emmett S. Crowe, 61, a guard last night.

"He said the VA had been giving him the run-around and he was sick of it," Deputy Police Commissioner Oscar H. Dabritz said.

The shooting followed a hearing on Lembits' application for more assistance.

The deputy commissioner said Lembits told him he suffered internal injuries while training with the Army Air Force, but had been told at the Veterans hospital in Batavia that he was a "crackpot."

Some facts on telephone voice recording

When you hear a "beep" like sound on the telephone, it means that the person with whom you are talking is recording your conversation on his own recording machine. This is in accordance with latest government regulations which permit recording machines to be connected to telephone lines, only if the "beep" signal is used to show that the conversation is being recorded.

If you do not want your conversation recorded, ask the person with whom you are talking to please disconnect his recorder.

It is now illegal to connect any recording machine to a telephone line without providing for the use of the "beep" signal over the line.

Mr. Weeks last week was the first speaker in the college lecture series for the current school year, and gave the students his outlook on "Books Against the American Horizon."

Farmers To Get A Smaller Share

Washington, Oct. 14—(AP)—The farmer may get a slightly smaller share of the consumer's food dollar next year.

His cut, the Agriculture Department said today, seems likely to average 50 cents, compared with $2 indicated for this year and the peak of 54 cents in 1945 and 1946.

The farmer's portion still will be above the pre-war average of 40 cents.

The department said charges for marketing and processing farm food products have reached new record highs and are expected to show little or no decline next year.

Labor costs were said to make up about one half of these costs, and further boosts in transportation charges were predicted.

The department said retailers' profit margins for meat appear somewhat higher than prewar on a cents-per-pound basis, but much lower percentage-wise because of the higher prices.

Registration Book Now Open

Registration books for the general election Tuesday, November 2, were opened at the 30 precincts in Pitt County last Saturday.

The books will be open each Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the various precincts until sunset, Saturday, October 23.

The registrars will be at the respective precincts on three successive Saturdays. However, they may register qualified voters on other days, Harrell said.

Challenge Day will be Saturday, October 30. The registrars will be at their posts from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Tuesday, November 2, will be General Election Day. The polls will be open at 6:30 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m.

Any qualified voter who expects to be away on Election Day may apply to Chairman Harrell for an absentee ballot.

Any qualified voter who is physically unable to go to the polls may make application to the chairman on Saturday and Monday preceding the election.

Truman Arriving Monday Evening

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 15—(AP)—President Truman is expected to arrive here Monday night instead of Tuesday morning.

The President and his official party, it was learned last night, "most probably" will fly here from Miami 12 hours earlier than first scheduled.

Arrangements were made last night by a local hotel, the Sir Walter, for accommodations for the President and his party Monday night. Mr. Truman's plane, according to reliable reports, probably will arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport at 8:30 p.m.

However, his schedule for Tuesday will be followed with little or no deviation, as far as present plans are concerned.

The President is scheduled to make a dedication address on the Capitol grounds Tuesday morning, and the official opening address at the State Fair in the afternoon. He is scheduled to depart via plane for Washington before nightfall.

Ready To Name Newsmen's Killer

Athens, Oct. 15—(AP)—Athens newspapers said today the government will announce in Salonika Sunday that the Greek Communists killed CBS Correspondent George Polk.

The Ministry of Justice ordered legal action against four newspapers for violating a ban against publishing stories on the Polk case.

The conservative newspaper Embros said Justice Minister George Melas had requested that publication of the story be held up pending official announcement by Melas and Constantine Renis, the minister of public order.

However, three other Athens newspapers—Ol Karol, the organ of Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris; Acropolis and Eleftheria—carried virtually the same account of the killing. One newspaper carried an artist's conception of the crime.

For nearly two months Greek police have held for questioning, without charges, an avowed left newsman, Gregory Staktopoulos, and his mother. Embros reported recently that Staktopoulos met Polk before the CBS man's disappearance.

Polk's body, with a bullet hole in the head, was found floating in Salonika Bay last May 16.

No Pay Cuts For Bob Feller; Sees Big '49 Season

New York, Oct. 15—(AP)—Rumors to the contrary, Bob Feller will not be asked to take a cut from his $80,000 salary of last season.

Rapid Robert is the guy who says so and the one who should know. And if anyone is worried about the condition of his paycheck right arm, Feller says "my arm feels strong and I aim to keep it that way by not going barnstorming this winter. I honestly feel I'm in for a fine season in 1949."

"I'm not at liberty to give any details," Feller said at the end of the World Series, "but you'll not be wrong in writing that I won't receive any kind of a salary slash whatsoever. In fact some people might be surprised when and if my 1949 salary is made public."

The pride of Van Meter, Ia., said he had not yet signed his '49 contract. But the hint was there that it had been thoroughly discussed with Cleveland President Bill Veeck.

Although Feller experienced his poorest year since he joined the Indians 13 years ago, Boss Veeck has full faith in the former farm boy who became the greatest pitcher of his generation.

Veeck is so confident that Feller will regain his twilight form that he already has declared that the Indians' 1949 pitching staff once again will be built around the 29-year-old fireballer.

Following Cleveland's World Series triumph, Veeck remarked:

"We have a pitching staff that is good for five more years. Bob Feller still is the best pitcher in baseball."

Well Stitched

Boston, Oct. 15—(AP)—Sibby Sisti, Boston Braves' infielder, who is thinking of claiming the title of "baseball's most stitched player," will have his appendix removed today at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Sibby, who filled in so capably at second base as the Braves battled to the National League pennant, has had spike wounds stitched and has undergone leg and shoulder separation operations. He is a winter resident of Buffalo, N.Y.

He will prove that next year. He helped us tremendously despite the fact he lost two World Series games. Remember, he won seven straight during our stretch drive. Without him, we couldn't have won the pennant. Behind Feller we will have Bob Lemon, Gene Bearden and Steve Gromek.

That should spike any wild speculation that Feller has pitched his last ball for the Indians, and that the Tribe is ready to unload the highest paid pitcher in baseball.

Veeck's statement regarding Feller's great seven-game winning streak in the stretch drive heartened Feller considerably.

Strange Things Happen When Carolina And Wolfpack Meet

By R. W. MADRY

Chapel Hill, Oct. 15—They say that strange things happen when Carolina and State lock on the gridiron, and the prophets predict Saturday will be no exception.

There are a number of these games the old grads like to talk about when they begin reminiscing. There was the 1928 contest, for instance, when Carolina was trailing 6 to 0 with just seconds to go.

The score was 6 to 0 favoring State, Raleigh Publisher John A. Park, just as rabid about State then as now, was leaving the press box and was kidding me about the big street parade the State students would stage that night.

Carolina had just enough time for one last play. And then it came like the bolt out of the blue. Jimmy Mays shot a 30-yard pass to MacGraw who stepped across the goal line for a touchdown that tied the game. The whistle blew while the ball was in the air.

Since 1894 Carolina and State have played 38 games, with the Tar Heels winning 27, losing 5, and tying 6.

In their first meeting in Chapel Hill on University Day October 12, 1894, the Tar Heels won 44-0. The Tar Heels won a return game in Raleigh October 20 by 16-0.

Carolina's great 1922 South Atlantic championship team, led by Graham Crawford, had a tough time with the Wolfpack. After Long of State had kicked a field goal from the 50-yard line, "Monk" McDonald took the next kickoff and raced 95 yards for a touchdown. After missing one field goal attempt, the Tar Heels finally scored late in the final period to win 14 to 9.

In 1923, McDonald, now a Charlotte physician, personally escorted the Tar Heels to a 14-0 win, running for one touchdown, passing for the other and adding both extra points.

From 1924 through 1926 the Tar Heels won regularly, but in 1927 the Wolfpack, led by one of their all-time greats, Jack McDowell, took the Tar Heels' measure 19 to 6.

Jim Lalanne, now of Greensboro, starred in the 1940 game. Late in the fourth quarter the State players pulled a clever play that almost won the game. The score at the time was 13-7. The State tailback went back to kick, with the Wolfpack on their own two-yard line. Instead of kicking the State tailback threw a flat pass to a flanker who ran to the end zone.

Hogan was Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., with 68 and tied up with Ben at 69 were Ed Oliver of Seattle and Zell Eaton of nearby Montebello, Calif.

Junior Gridders Routed By 34-0

Greenville's Junior High footballers were overpowered 34-0 here yesterday afternoon by the Baby Yellow Jackets from Roanoke Rapids.

Heavily outweighed, the Greenville team Hogan were two touchdowns in the first half, but in the second and third periods, the Jackets took complete charge of the field and scored three more times.

The Baby Phantoms' offensive play was sparked by a passing attack with Eddie Farley tossing to End Sid Briley for several long gains. The drives, however, bogged down before the locals could reach pay territory.

For the Junior High team, the passing attack was a newly found offensive power, for in the last game with Kingston, the Greenville team did not attempt a single pass. As Coach Ellie Fearing commented, "We had that game won and didn't have to try passing."

Junior Coaches Willard Pendleton and Ellie Fearing were fairly well pleased with the showing of their charges despite the loss. "We were outweighed 10 to 15 pounds per man," Fearing said, "and our boys just couldn't do much with their big linemen and backs. We used all the tricks we had, but they just had too much power for us."

Go-Ahead Given New Gymnasium For Elon College

Elon College was this week given the go-ahead sign by the Board of Trustees to begin construction of a new gymnasium whose ultra-modern plant and seating capacity of more than 4,200 will make it one of the finest gymnasiums in the South. The announcement was made by Pres. L. E. Smith.

The new gym is to be built from contributions of Elon alumni "as a memorial to the Elonites who sacrificed their lives in World War II." Building cost is estimated at $200,000.

Will Not Break Gridiron Series

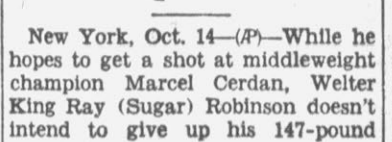

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—The 49-year-old football series between Notre Dame and Northwestern, says a spokesman for the Wildcats, will not be broken off after this year's game, although there may be a one or two year gap in the series.

The Wildcats and Irish are to meet Nov. 13 in their 28th game of a series which dates back to 1889. A Northwestern spokesman last night denied published reports that the game will be the last between the two schools.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the much publicized Homecoming encounter between the ECTC Pirates and WCTC will get underway at Guy Smith Stadium.

The Pirates will be dragging into the game a record of three defeats and no wins for the season while the boys from the mountains boast a 32-12 victory over Eastern Tennessee and a 14-14 tie with High Point, one of the strongest teams in the North State Conference.

Coaches Johnson and Boone have been pelting the Pirate offense in heavy scrimmages this week, and are expected to have a few surprises in store for their rivals from the west.

A large amount of time on the Pirate practice field this week has been spent devising means to stop the powerful single wing running and passing attacks of the Catamounts.

Mangrum Leads Glendale Field

Glendale, Calif., Oct. 15—(AP)—Dapper Lloyd Mangrum led the procession into the second round of the $15,000 Glendale Open Golf Tournament today, teeing off with a two-stroke lead over the field. He posted a 66 for the first 18 holes.

Hoping for continued ideal weather for this inaugural gamble in promoting major league golf, the sponsoring Glendale Junior Chamber of Commerce also looked for Mangrum to keep alive his professional feud with little Ben Hogan.

Favored Hogan toured the par 72 Oakmont Country Club course in 69 strokes in yesterday's opening round, once again signaling an early threat to be in on the top money when the tournament winds up Sunday.

Sandwiched in between Mangrum and Hogan were Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., with 68 and tied up with Ben at 69 were Ed Oliver of Seattle and Zell Eaton of nearby Montebello, Calif.

Probe Gambling

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 15—(AP)—Michigan State College prepared to act today on reports of student gambling on professionally operated football pools.

A meeting of college officials was called by President John A. Hannah.

Campus police picked up three students yesterday as "contact men" for a gambling syndicate. A number of tickets for a football pool of weekend collegiate games and a list of student customer names were seized, police said.

The pool was said to have taken several thousand dollars weekly from students.

Big Chance For Lee Sala Tonight

New York, Oct. 15—Lee Sala, a 22-year old knocker-out from Donora, Pa., goes into the show window tonight when he faces Vough Reuben Jones, of Norfolk, Va., in the feature ten-rounder at St. Nicholas arena.

The bout at the 5,000 capacity St. Nick's will serve as a dress rehearsal for the unbeaten slugger from the Pittsburgh area, spawning grounds of some of the best middleweights in fistie history.

If Sala, a good looking 160-pounder with a terrific left hook, clicks in his New York debut, the doors of Madison Square Garden will open wide for him this winter.

Veteran boxing men say he can't miss. He has won 42 pro fights, 32 of them via the Kayo route. His two round knockout victory over Charley (Affix) Zivic, a tough hombre, started the boxing boys here and he is the one reason why manager Bunny decided to bring him to New York.

Sala won't be facing a soft touch in Jones although the Kako kid will be an odds-on choice. The Virginia light heavy will have a six pound or so weight advantage—about 166 to 160—and is a game, willing mixer. His swarming style may bother Sala. Jones has been going great guns lately, too. He's had seven fights this year, winning six. He drew in the other.

On the Duke backfield side, Fearless Fred Folger is the big wheel. Even with a bum leg he averaged 8.7 yards against Navy. Coach Tatum recalls last year that Folger "bat us singlehandedly."

Pineapples, which are almost seedless, are grown from slips.

Elon College was this week given the go-ahead sign by the Board of Trustees to begin construction of a new gymnasium whose ultra-modern plant and seating capacity of more than 4,200 will make it one of the finest gymnasiums in the South. The announcement was made by Pres. L. E. Smith.

The new gym is to be built from contributions of Elon alumni "as a memorial to the Elonites who sacrificed their lives in World War II." Building cost is estimated at $200,000.

Chapter 21
Maslar broke the short silence. He looked at Clapp. "My jurisdiction," he said. "We're coming in."
"Okay," said Clapp. "Looks like the only way I'll ever get this Filpio killing off the consul."

"I'll check with the consul and call Mexico City. It shouldn't take more than twenty-four hours until the Mexican police can close in on the Lus bunch." He sighed. "And then afterward. You should see the paper work involved. This border stuff is dynamite."

"Don't forget this case is in my jurisdiction, too," said Walter James.
"Lus is only part of the setup. The man I want to see is Dr. Boone. You know my reasons."

Clapp pursed his lips. "Speaking of doctors—Boniface is clear. So is Rockwell. At least as far as our records go."

Walter James scowled at the floor.
"Maybe they don't fit into this case at all. I braced Major Rockwell last night."

"No answer." Maslar frowned. "But if one of them is Dr. Boone—"
"Let them run," Walter James said softly. "Give them plenty of rope. Dr. Boone isn't going to get away."

Walter James said and eyed Clapp sensibly. "I know this is a touchy subject, Clapp, but I want to warn Maslar."

"Warn me?" He turned to the F.B.I. man. "It's this: Lus knew the Atlanta report was in this morning."

Maslar caught Clapp's eye. "I'll check," said the big man. "I don't think Lus will get away. It won't go out of this office except with you. God, I hate to think of a stool in my own outfit!"

"I'm sorry," said Maslar. "I know the feeling."

Walter James started a new cigarette and flicked the match in the wastebasket. "I know all this activity isn't on my say-so," he commented.
"What was in the Atlanta wire?"

Clapp smiled grimly. "The Atlanta and Denver wires."

"Then there was something in Denver?"

"Was is right." He told all this thing is really beginning to open up."

Clapp grinned. "The East has been popping even after you left it."

James took Denver. On the seventeenth of September, the Monday before you got here, a man was strangled and burned. A druggist on Curtis Street named Melvin Emig.

"The connection?"

"Not much of his drugstore was burned. In the back room he had been wrapping our brand of marijuana for shipment to a post office in Atlanta. He was shipping it as reducing powder."

"Didn't he send to a name in Atlanta?" Walter James leaned forward.

"Yes," said Clapp. "The postoffice box he was addressing the stuff to belonged to Dr. Elliott Boone."

Walter James ground a pale fist against his palm. "The one man who can enlighten us is Dr. Boone."

"You got me off the subject," interjected Clapp. "What I'm trying to get around to is this: when the Atlanta cops opened Dr. Boone's box there wasn't any dope in it. There was just a gun—the 45 that killed your partner."

Walter James slammed to his feet.
"The registry?" he asked.

"No registry. No prints. It's just another automatic the Army reported missing some years back.
There must be a million of them
floating around the country."

"Oh." "I can guess how you feel about your partner, James. I wish we had more for you. But things are looking up."

"Atlanta have anything to say about Ethel?"

Clapp shook his head. "They're still looking and checking bodies.
Do you think she's dead?"

"I haven't any idea. If she's hiding out—why I don't know—she's had plenty of time to get in touch with me."

"And our girl Shasta." Walter James smiled without humor. "I thought I had that end closed off," he said. "But she keeps popping up."

"Yes, she does," agreed Clapp.
"Like the Gilbert family."

Walter James's lips tightened, then relaxed. "Maybe I'm just getting used to that dull knife of yours,
Clapp. If I had my way, old man
Gilbert would never get in this picture because I don't want his daughter hurt. But I can't have my own way because Hal got his belly blown out. Gilbert didn't do that, but it looks like he did business with the man who hired the gun. So he gets in the picture come what may.
There's a code—if your partner's gunned out, it's your baby to find the killer. Like cop killings."

Maslar said, "Very commendable, James."

"I'm going to visit Mr. Gilbert tomorrow. You won't haul him in for questioning until you've shut down the Devil's Bar outfit. He might tip off Lus himself—if Lus has a man in this headquarters. I wouldn't advise even putting a tail on him until you have Lus. After all, our good neighbor has at least seen Dr. Boone. That's more than we can prove for Gilbert."

"Keep in touch with us, James," said the big man, as they all rose.
"And avoid dangerous entanglements. I'll keep a guard on the Gilbert girl when she's not with you. I'll trust you to take good care of her." He grinned.

Walter James's voice was bitter.
"Yes, I'm proud of the way I've taken care of her interests at our meeting today. I'll collect my thirty pieces of silver on the way out."

Five Bombers And One Group Fighters To Guard All Alaska

Washington, Oct. 15—(AP)—The United States' air defense in Alaska this winter apparently will consist of five bombers and one group of about 75 fighters.

Down at the other side of the American defense perimeter, the Panama Canal Zone, there presently is no organized air combat unit.

This came to light today in connection with an Air Force announcement that three five-plane flights of the new B-50 bombers will rotate on training missions in Alaska between November 1 and March 15. Under this program, only five of the bombers will be in the area at any one time.

The only other combat unit in the Polar frontier sector is the fighter group regularly stationed there.

However, Air Force defense planning is based on the idea that both fighters and bombers can be flown to Alaska quickly if a sudden military menace developed.

The forthcoming missions of the B-50s will be the first such bombers have made in organized units to any point outside the country.

The B-50 is a radically changed version of the wartime B-29. It has a top speed of 400 miles an hour, a 10-ton bomb capacity and the Air Force says, can reach targets "over 2,300 miles" from the take-off point.

While B-50s have been in use by the Air Force for several months they never have been flown under Arctic conditions. This, said the Air Force, is the purpose of the training missions to Alaska, including studies to get the longest range out of the planes through fuel-conservation technique.

Similar training was conducted last winter with the older B-29s.

Air Force officials told a reporter they are unable to discuss future plans for air defense of the Panama Canal. But available information shows that no fighter, bomber or troop carrier units now are based in the Canal Zone.

Women Molested On East Fifth Street

Complaints continue to be sent in to the police department about young white men accosting women—white and colored—on East Fifth Street at night. A complaint last night from a householder in that section was that a colored nurse had been accosted by young men while walking toward her home.

About two weeks ago two colored nurses, at Pitt General Hospital, on their way to work late on a Sunday night, were frightened by a young white man with a mask on and they had to run to a neighbor's house for safety.

Police are making a check on nocturnal prowlers in the East Fifth Street area, they stated.

Total reserves behind policies in force in U. S. life insurance companies totaled nearly $45 billion at the end of 1947.

Business Women Helping To Get Out Heavy Vote

By VIOLA BAKER

The Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club held its monthly meeting last night at Clark's, with the theme, "Use Your Vote in '48" as the topic for the meeting.

W. J. Bundy, of Greenville, was the principal speaker. He discussed the progress of women since England, in 1776, passed a law making it a felony and a misdemeanor for women to seduce the men into matrimony by the use of powders, rouge, false curls, perfumes, stays or high-heeled shoes. Since that time women have acquired the power to buy, sell and manage their personal property and real estate regardless of whether or not they are married. They now have the privilege of holding political offices and to compete in every field of work in which men compete, he said.

"The eligible women's vote today outnumber the men. It therefore is the fault of the women today if they are not satisfied with the government. We should wake up to this fact and get out the votes, and advise our representatives of the kind of legislation which we desire," the speaker said.

J. Henry Harrell, chairman of the Board of Elections of Pitt County, was the second guest speaker. He discussed the election and voting laws. He advised that the registration books will be at the four voting places in Greenville township: Centre Brick Warehouse, Third Street School, County Courthouse and the Greenville City Hall on Saturday, October 16 and 23, until sundown of the 23, for registration. If you are not sure you are registered and eligible to vote on November 2, be sure and check with the registrars at these places, Chairman Harrell said.

The Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club's slogan is "Let Us Use Our Vote in 1948."

The officers and members are working to get out an unusually heavy vote. In order to vote a person must register before sundown October 23. Mrs. Ruth Meeks is president of the Greenville club.

Charge Two Negro Girls Shoplifting

Yesterday police arrested Florence Hemby, 17, colored, 210 Cross Street, and Lelola Brewington, 18, colored, and charged them with shoplifting at Belk-Tyler's Store and Grant's Store. Some of the loot was recovered, authorities said.

Marriage Licenses

The register of deeds issued marriage licenses to the following couples this week:

White—Graham Baker and Agnes Harris of Greenville; William P. Cox of Wake county and Edith Mae Briley of Greenville; Gerald B. Hiker of Raleigh and Jane B. Harrison of Greenville; H. C. Haddock and Myrtle Garris of Vanceboro; Brian Parler and Helen P. Gurganus of Greenville.

Solored—Zeno S. Wilson of Greenville and Helen Small of Farmville; Vance Fleming and Dorothy Freeman of Bethel; Elijah Hollis and Lillian Mooring of Bethel; George Atkinson and Lena Ruth Tyson of Farmville; Leo Brown and Julia Nell Coppage of Bethel.

WILDLIFE CLUB TO MEET

The Pitt County Wildlife Club will meet at Respass' place on the Bethel highway next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. Supper will be served "Dutch" treat. President Jesse R. Moye will preside. A special program will be presented and some matters of importance to hunters and other sportsmen will come up for consideration. All sportsmen are invited to attend the meeting.

Story Of . . .

"I'm a graduate of Yale University, a graduate of the Harvard Law School, and a studied science and engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. But I need an education. I'm not bright or famous and all I have is the fee for the great books course."

Hutchins was graduated from Yale himself, and had a degree from PIE FACE—Ralph Tallberg, 9, his face smeared with some of three big blueberry pies he ate, is acclaimed contest winner at Ansonia, Conn., by Alderman James W. Morgan, Jr. (left).

Harvard, and at 27 was dean of the Yale Law School. Williams said Hutchins wrote him:

"Come on in. Anytime I meet a Yale man who admits he doesn't have an education, I'm more than glad to receive him."

Hutchins and Mortimer Adler, professor of the philosophy of law at Chicago University, were the big sparkplugs behind the great books program here.

(The idea had been started back in the early 1920's by professor John Erskine at Columbia University and also is used by St. John's College at Annapolis, Md.)

Williams joined the student businessmen and went to the study sessions every two weeks for years. He started similar study groups among the employees of his factory.

A couple of years ago Adler proudly told him, Williams says, that 1,500 adults were taking the great books course at night around the country.

"What you need," Williams said he replied, "is not 1,500 but 15,000,000."

But a lot of the great books are out of print or hard to get. And who, in out of the way places, could lead a discussion group? So they set up a "great books foundation" which would publish the books and help train instructors—by mail or in person.

Williams was asked to run the foundation. He was named president and quit his job as vice-president in the firm that made heaters. Since the University of Chicago backs the foundation. He was made a vice-president of the University.

want war—at least not now. It's clear that the Communists intend to push their offensive to the limit—short of precipitating war. Therefore if war should develop out of the present obviously dangerous situation it would be by accident, so to speak, rather than by premeditation.

However, there is one remote contingency which strikes me as almost certain to produce another armed upheaval. That is a sweeping muscovite success in communicating all western Europe and the Far East. Should such a tragedy happen there is small doubt that "capitalistic America"—bete noire of the Reds—would be attacked, in order to complete their conquest.

That, of course, is crossing a lot of bridges which we aren't likely to be called upon to cross.

The recent hardening of the policy of the western powers certainly fits in with Dr. Conant's "pattern for preventing another global war."

They recognize that the way to stop a bully is to stand up to him. They have no intention of letting the Bolsheviks continue expansion by aggression, although they are willing to negotiate any legitimate problem with Moscow.

various phases of education. Members of these groups visited the 100 counties, sent out 90,000 questionnaires, queried school officials and studied state records.

The report will be presented by the Governor to the 1949 General Assembly.

The commission disagreed on two points, the extent to which the state should assume responsibility for financing operation of schools and the burden the state should assume in a school construction program.

A majority of 11 members recommended that the state assume a 10-year school building program to cost an estimated $150,000,000 with $100,000,000 to be spent during the first six years for urgent needs. The funds should be allotted to counties on a basis of need and ability to pay, the majority said.

The minority said it favored retention of the present system under which responsibility for school construction left with the counties. It suggested that the state should use $50,000,000 of surplus funds to create a loan fund for construction.

The majority also suggested that the state should finance most of a minimum school program including capital outlay, maintenance and debt service. It recommended that the state pay 70 to 90 percent of the total with the remainder coming from counties on the basis of ability to pay.

This, the report said, would guarantee nearer equal opportunities to children of the state.

The minority asserted that the state should stick to the present system under which it is responsible for instructional salaries, transportation and current expenses while the counties take care of capital outlay, maintenance and debt service.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 15—(AP)—The stock market coasted along at a slightly lower price level today. Today's small stumbling block in the way of an October rally was regarded without much concern in the financial district. A sustained advance, it was explained, is rarely a one-way proposition and occasional setbacks must be expected.
