Flaming Airliner Crashes; 37 Die In Plane Tragedy

Big Craft Struck High Tension Wire Near Fog-Shrouded Airport

Prestwick, Scotland, Oct. 21—(AP)—A flaming Royal Dutch Airlines (KLM) Constellation crashed in a cow pasture near here today, killing 37 of the 40 persons aboard. Nine of the dead were Americans.

The three survivors all were Dutch. One American, identified as Matilda Katherine Rohrs at a nearby hospital, died of her injuries several hours after the crash.

The huge four-engine plane, en route from Amsterdam, burst into flames after it struck a high tension wire while groping for fog-shrouded Prestwick airport. It crashed near Tarbolton, a few miles outside of Prestwick.

The pilot radioed the control tower at the field: "I have hit something. I am going on fire. Attempting to climb x x x."

Nothing more was heard from the plane.

Identification of the victims, some burned beyond recognition, had not been completed by mid-morning. The survivors were reported seriously injured.

Earlier it had been reported that the death toll was 34, but another name subsequently was added to the passenger list. The plane carried 30 passengers and 10 crew members.

Two of the 40 persons aboard apparently jumped out seconds before the plane plunged into the pasture. One body was found a mile from the wreckage.

One eyewitness said one dead woman clutched the body of a child. Both were burned almost beyond recognition.

Most of the dead were trapped in the wreckage. Others were thrown as far as 50 yards from the flaming remains of the plane.

John Adams, a miner who was one of the first of the rescuers to reach the scene, said the flames and heat prevented rescuers from reaching the trapped passengers.

"We had heard their cries as we were crossing the fields. Some of the bodies of both the living and the dead were thrown clear of the wreckage," he said.

Another eyewitness, William Burton of Tarbolton, said "at the scene I heard one of the injured crying 'kill me, kill me.' Most of the injured were terribly burned."

Burton said "there were flames and lights coming from different parts of the plane while it was over the village."

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to order Illinois to give Henry Wallace's Progressive party a place on the Nov. 2 election ballot.

Chief Justice Vinson announced the court's 5 to 3 ruling in the case. A brief, unsigned opinion was handed down by the Chief Justice on behalf of himself and the five other majority judges. Justice Douglas wrote a dissent in which Justice Black and Murphy concurred.

Two Foreign Policies Key To Russian Riddle Lies In Fact That Government Leads A Double Life; One Is Policy Concerned With Security, Trade; Other Is Communist Party Goal

By BELMAN MORIN

The real key to the Russian riddle, I believe, is in the fact that the Soviet government forever leads a double life.

Simultaneously, it is pursuing not one, but two foreign policies. One is a "plain" policy, concerned with security, trade, and all the interests that go to form the Foreign Policy of any nation. The other is the Foreign Policy of the Communist party.

These two are not always either parallel or compatible. The objectives are by no means the same. Sometimes, they seem to oppose each other.

At such times, gorgeous contradictions are succeeded by stunning paradoxes. The Russian line twists and turns and denies itself. It changes direction like a frightened dog on a football field.

Here is an example: From the appearance of Hitler to the outbreak of war the Soviets were fiercely opposed to Germany. The two governments fomented against each other, for years in such terms as "Fascist beasts," "Bolshevik, Mongolian savages," and similar pleasantries. The Nazis hunted down and ruthlessly destroyed Jews.

Beersheba Taken By Israeli Forces

Battle Raged Even As Israel's Cabinet Notified UN Its Troops Would Quit Fighting If Assured Egyptian Compliance

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 21—(AP)—Beersheba, Mother City of the Arab race, was occupied today by Israeli forces after a bitter battle, a Jewish army spokesman announced.

The battle rages even as Israel's cabinet notified the United Nations its troops would quit the fighting in the Negev desert area of Southern Palestine 12 hours after it was assured by the United Nations that the Egyptians also would cease fire.

The fighting will continue meanwhile, a spokesman said. He indicated Gaza, capital of the Palestine government proclaimed by the Arabs was among the goals of the Israeli southern offensive.

Egyptian planes bombed the Tel Aviv area today, only a few hours after Israel's decision to the cease fire.

Beersheba, in South Palestine, was the southernmost extremity of the Holy Land of Bible days.

The city is on the borderland of the southern desert area. The name means "seven wells." It was reported to be the scene of the digging of the wells by Abraham and Isaac, as recorded in Genesis. Abraham is called the father of the Semitic races.

Beersheba was one of the first cities occupied by the Egyptians in their invasion of the Holy Land, and had been reported by the Cairo press at the time as "captured."

Israel's seizure of the city opens the road to two Jewish settlements which were isolated since early in the year. They are Beit Eshel and Nevatim.

The Israeli air force raked Gaza and other southern towns held by the Egyptians. Their planes also struck at Beersheba ahead of Jewish ground forces, bombing and

Claims Russia Avoiding Setback Of Berlin Vote

Berlin, Oct. 21—(AP)—Col. Frank L. Howley, U. S. commandant of the Soviet commandant of conditions which must be met before he will agree to citywide voting.

The Soviet commandant, Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, laid down the conditions in a letter to Berlin's acting mayor, who had asked approval of election procedures similar to that already extended by the western powers.

Howley commented: "In the light of what he and the German Communists already have said, this is just his way of saying 'No.'"

"As for all the strings he attaches and the rest of his double talk, it's the same type of obvious soapbox oratory he has been giving us for years and it does not deserve comment. The people of Berlin will understand that very well."

"The Communists don't dare submit to an election and take the overwhelming condemnation the people of Berlin would give them. They would prefer rather to hire a few people to go down to City Hall and riot and beat up elected representatives of the people."

Kotikov's demands indicated he not only wanted the withdrawal of western-sponsored currency from Berlin, but that he wanted non-Communist leaders erased from the ballot.

Standing Firm On Milk Ruling

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 21—(AP)—The State Board of Agriculture is standing by a decision not to permit sale of milk in 10-ounce containers.

The board yesterday rejected a compromise proposal by Coble Dairy Products, Inc., of Lexington to permit use of such containers for milk to be consumed on the premises where delivered by a distributor.

Big Five Favoring Peaceful Settlement

Paris, Oct. 21—(AP)—The five big powers declared themselves today in favor of settling their differences peacefully.

While the Security Council's six neutrals polished their new formula for settling the Berlin crisis, the "Big Five" announced support of a Mexican resolution appealing to them to settle their differences.

Russia and France supported the idea conditionally, the U. S., Britain and China made no reservations at the beginning of the debate in the 58-nation Political Committee.

John Foster Dulles of the United States, in his first speech at this U. N. session, pledged "renewed efforts" to reach agreement with the other big powers.

Dulles agreed with the Mexican proposal that the great powers had a special responsibility to the world as a result of their strength and importance.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky and France's Maurice Couve de Murville approved the principles of the resolution but said it should be amended.

Vishinsky said the Mexican "wording is not quite satisfactory."

Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross said the big powers should give more than just "lip service" to the Mexican proposal. He pledged his country to show "good will, tolerance and patience" in efforts to reach a solution of "all the problems now before the world."

Informed sources agreed meanwhile that the neutral formula for solving the Berlin crisis had at least a slim chance of success.

An official American spokesman told a news conference the new com-

Census Workers Winding Up Job

Supervisor Uncertain Whether Figure Will Reach 18,000

Canvassing for the Federal census of Greenville, has almost been completed, Supervisor L. S. Bullington said today. "We have a few call-backs to make and a lot of checking to do, but we should know by next week just how many people there are in Greenville."

Blanks were distributed to all children in the city schools today to be taken home and filled in with the name of any member of the family which has been missed by the census takers. "These blanks are not to be filled out by persons who have already been counted," Bullington explained, "but there may be a few new names we will get this way that are not already on our lists."

Bullington would not estimate the population of the city at the present time, but stated that in some areas enumerators had not found as many people as city officials had estimated. "In other areas we found a few more people than the officials thought, but it's hard to tell whether the figure will reach 18,000 when we are through."

Bullington requested anyone living in the city limits of Greenville who feels he has not been counted in the census to contact the census office in the city hall.

Two Collisions In Same Area West Greenville

A fish truck driven by Charlie D. Harris and a Nehl beverage truck driven by William Flowers collided at Boyd Avenue and Board street last night about 6 o'clock, police reported today. Harris received cuts about the head which required five stitches to close at a hospital. Both vehicles were damaged.

Police issued a warrant against Harris, charging him with a traffic violation.

While officers were investigating this wreck another one occurred nearby. A car driven by Cullen Haddock and a pickup truck driven by Robert L. Harrell collided when Harrell made a left turn in oncoming traffic, police said. Harrell was arrested for a traffic violation. Both vehicles were damaged.

No Basis Found For Complaints Of Progressives

The One Applicant Involved Can Neither Read Nor Write Says Registrar

Yesterday's report from Progressive Party headquarters in Durham to the effect that "qualified Negroes" who want to vote for Henry A. Wallace are being denied registration in Greenville has been narrowed down to the name of only one Negro who has been denied registration and according to the registrar she could neither read nor write.

Information from Durham late yesterday was to the effect that Cornelius Simmons, local Negro CIO proponent, had reported by telephone to Durham that he was speaking in behalf of several Negroes who had been denied registration. Interviewed by a Reflector representative last night, Simmons could name only one person, allegedly denied registration, namely Louise P. Moore, Negro woman. Asked where she could be contacted for a statement, he said that at the present she was ill in a clinic. According to Simmons, the woman can read and write but that she cannot talk plainly. He said she told him that when asked by Registrar E. R. Conway to read and write she did both but that the registrar said it was "not good enough for him."

E. R. Conway, precinct four registrar, stated today that the woman in question could not read nor write and for that reason was not registered. He declared that no person had been denied registration by him who could even reasonably read and write.

Simmons said he knew of no other person who has been denied registration but that several Negroes who applied at the city hall were informed that they lived in another precinct and must register at the Centre Brick warehouse. He said they told him they could not find the registrar for that precinct at the warehouse. He said he did not recall the names of these parties who reported they could not find the registrar but said he had tried to get them to provide the names.

Simmons said the question of whether the Negroes intended to vote for Wallace was in no way involved and the only thing he had reported to Durham was the case of the Moore woman and the fact that several other Negroes did not find the registrar at his post when they went to the Centre Brick warehouse to register. He did not, however, state to whom he made the Durham report nor the purpose of the report.

J. Henry Harrell, chairman of Pitt county Board of Elections, yesterday declared that not a single complaint had been made to him by persons claiming to have been denied registration. A poll of local Negro business, professional, civic and religious leaders brought forth statements that they knew of no instances in which any qualified Negroes had been denied registration and branded the report as political propaganda.

Farm Bureau Has Signed Up 1,895

At a meeting of the community campaign chairman in the Pitt County Farm Bureau membership drive last night it was announced that the local organization has signed up 1,895 members in the current drive.

Wray Highsmith, spokesman for the group, said that the membership drive will continue until the middle of November. This year's drive in the Pitt county organization, he said, is 4,000 members, the same number of members as the organization had last year.

Advance Guard of Russia Are The Communist Parties In Every Country; Proof In Recent History; The Deal With Hitler; Communist Work In Western Europe

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—The shock troops — the advance guard — of Russia are the Communist parties in every country.

That's why, in part, the Communist party in this country has followed such a shifting, zigzag line. For example, go back to 1939 when German and Russia signed their non-aggression pact.

This deal between communism and fascism shocked many of the idealistic Communist-sympathizers in this country.

(They were the ones who forgot, or ignored, or didn't know what Lenin meant when he said that Communists, to gain their final goal, should if necessary retreat, compromise, or lie.)

But the 1939 deal made sense to the Communists. Russia wanted to get Hitler so it could keep war itself and leave Hitler to fight on Britain and France.

It did that, almost at once, and the country began to arm itself in its defense program. (That's its defense program.)

It's its defense program. (That's its defense program.)

Korean Army Closes In On Trapped Insurgents

Capture Of 1,300 Rebels In Southern Mountains Predicted In 48 Hours; Revolvers Sealed Off By Quick Action

Seoul, Oct. 21—(AP)—Korean army units closed in on insurgents in the southern mountains tonight as a high source predicted a quick end to the revolt.

Within 48 hours, the government source predicted, 1,300 rebels in the mountains will be captured. And in four days or less the cities of Yosu, southern springboard of the insurgency, and Suncheon, will be retaken by the government, he said.

The cabinet of President Syngman Rhee in a four hour session lifted martial law in all of the republic except northern and southern Cholla provinces.

A U. S. offer of additional material was rejected by the cabinet, the government source said, on the grounds that the situation is under control.

Loyal troops sealed off the rebels on the southern end of the peninsula by quick action. Army units moved on the insurgents from four directions and blocked escape by sea from the harbor of Yosu.

'Ultrafax' Unveiled As Milestone Of Progress

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—Ultrafax technicians gave themselves just two minutes today to copy and deliver to the Library of Congress every one of the 1,047 pages in "Gone With the Wind."

For the future, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America forewrote:

Letters flashing across the country at the speed of lightning.

Military intelligence pouring as many words into the Pentagon in a single minute as wartime communications systems could handle in 24 hours.

Sarnoff made these predictions in an address prepared for the first public demonstration of ultrafax—a new communications system that combines television, radio-relays and high speed photography.

Sarnoff termed ultrafax "as significant a milestone in the field of communications as was the splitting of the atom in the world of energy."

Material to be transmitted is "scanned" by a special television camera which transmits it at the rate of 30 pictures a second.

On the receiving end, an apparatus translates the televised signals into impulses of light that are recorded on motion picture film or photographic paper.

A war-developed system of high speed film processing is used to deliver a single frame ready for printing or projecting in 45 seconds.

RCA said the transmissions could be relayed any distance across the country by using commercial radio relay towers being erected for a nationwide television network.

A program of nuptial music was presented by the chapel organist and choir members.

The bride, given in marriage by Arthur C. Reynolds, wore a gown of candlelight satin trimmed with old-fashioned lace. She carried a bride's bouquet of white roses centered with orchids. Her only ornament was a necklace, an heirloom from her mother's family.

They were dressed in delicate green satin gowns and wore head-dresses of matching plumes. They carried arm bouquets of mums and snapdragons.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. John P. Kotinsky, Mrs. L. V. Millic, Mrs. Thomas L. Tinsley, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph Starkey of Washington City.

Mrs. Shotwell Hostess Chatham Book Club

The Chatham Book Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. L. T. Shotwell on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 at her home on Biltmore Street.

The house was beautifully decorated with fall flowers. Upon arrival the hostess greeted members and Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Mrs. Leonard Topping and Mrs. Edward Williams, invited guests.

After disposal of the business a delicious sweet course with coffee and nuts was served.

Following the social hour, Mrs. J. C. Lanier, program chairman, presented Mrs. E. W. Harvey, who is active in religious, educational, and civic affairs of the community, and a talented speaker in her own right.

Mrs. Harvey regaled her listeners with a most interesting and entertaining account of "Fashions, Old and New." Beginning with the year 1900, she pointed out the gradual change in women's apparel from the tight and impractical to the freer and more practical mode of the present day.

She explained that this change was due, in part, to women's invasion of fields of activity outside the home, previously reserved to men. Her talk was punctuated by many humorous references to her own part in the fashion parade. One of the highlights of the program was an exhibition of some of the articles of dress worn during this period.

Miss Muriel Shotwell and Miss Frances Bendall served as models for displaying some of the costumes.

After distribution of the books the meeting was adjourned.

Jane Harrison Becomes Bride Of Gerald Brewer Hilker

Miss Jane Barclay Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nathaniel Harrison of Greenville, and Gerald Brewer Hilker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil F. Hilker of Raleigh, were married Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville with the Reverend Leonard W. Toppins, pastor of the church, officiating.

Mrs. Guy V. Smith, organist of the church, rendered a program of wedding music and E. O. Parkinson, Jr. sang "At Dawning" and "Because" preceding the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" as the benediction.

The bride entered the church with her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory duchess satin fashioned with a net yoke applied in satin and embroidered with seed pearls. Her finger tip veil of imported bridal illusion fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. The bride carried a bouquet of starlike roses and fleur-de-amour, centered with purple throat-roses and tied with satin ribbon.

Mrs. Charles T. Marston of Greenville was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mesdames Edward Dixon of Wilson and Fred Saive of Greenville. The attendants wore American Beauty fiddle taffeta dresses with gardenias in their hair and carried cascade bouquets of gardenias tied with silver ribbons.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, James A. Hilker of Raleigh, as best man. Ushers were George B. D. Parker and Charles Allen Newcomb of Raleigh, and Charles T. Marston and Benjamin Harrison of Greenville.

Mrs. Harrison, mother of the bride, wore a gown of peacock blue crepe with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Hilker, mother of the groom, wore a beige jersey gown with red roses in her hair and corsage.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College of Greenville. Mr. Hilker, formerly a student at the University of North Carolina, is now associated in business with Hilker Brothers of Raleigh.

man's Club of Greenville. The club was decorated with greenery and mixed flowers. The bridal table was centered with the wedding cake and decorated with maiden hair fern, brides roses and candles, the punch table with ivy and colored frosted grapes.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Emil F. Hilker, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hilker, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. D. Parker and Mr. Charles Allen Newcomb of Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Mann, Miss Martha Mann, Miss Virginia Meade Mann, Mrs. J. T. Mann, Miss Janet Mann, Miss Betty Smith, Mrs. V. M. Halbert, Mrs. W. W. Doyle, Mrs. Gertrude Weber, Mrs. Roy Creasy and Miss Mary Gray Harrison of Petersburg, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Roberts of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Gills and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dixon of Wilson; Miss Barbara and Zeb Norman of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Schlem of Ahsokie; Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Boyd and Mrs. Euclid Adams of Laurinburg; Miss Ruth Buchanan, Miss Evelyn Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Kennett, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Marks, and Mr. William Bourne, all of Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilker will be at home after November 1st in Raleigh, 1236 St. Mary's Street.

Mrs. E. R. Browning presided over a short business session. Then Mrs. D. L. Moore had charge of the program. She introduced her guest speaker Miss Dora Clriot of the art department of East Carolina Teachers College who spoke on "American Art Galleries." Mrs. J. E. Winslow reported the news of the day after which the hostess served a delicious salad course assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Scales Gives Club Program

The Sans Souci Book Club met with Mrs. Frank Wooten at her home on Third Street Tuesday afternoon. The crisp autumn weather made the fires glow bright and cheerful. The home was most attractive with lovely arrangements of autumn leaves and berries.

Mrs. W. I. Wooten, president, welcomed most graciously all members and Mrs. Closs Hearn, a guest for the afternoon. After a short business session, Mrs. Fred Forbes presented Mrs. W. M. Scales who gave the program, her subject being "Superstitions."

She spoke briefly on the attitudes and reactions of many people to the common everyday superstitions of which we're all heard.

Her accounts of the black magic sorcery and influence of evil spirits in the lives of the people of other countries as well as ours gave us a few shivers down our spines.

Palm reading and astrology were discussed. After listening to the speaker's interesting and witty discussion of the supernatural we were inclined to believe that most people are just a bit superstitious and not too sure but that we ourselves are.

Following this most enjoyable program, the hostess served a tempting salad plate with coffee.

CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE SPELLED OUT

What should a Christian believe in order to qualify as a Christian? Christian faith is based first of all on the conviction that God is the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, that He is all-wise and all-powerful, that He has revealed Himself to mankind, and that He loves his children. He has revealed Himself partly in the natural world, gloriously in the Bible, supremely in Christ, the Word made flesh. Christ the Word has given us the food on which humanity must subsist. Christ is the perfect example to humanity. Christ by his death achieved for us, in a manner far beyond our ability to understand, the forgiveness of our sins. Christ in resurrection is man's hope of triumph over the flesh and death.

Basic to all Christian belief is the conviction that God is present in every aspect of life through the Holy Spirit. The Christian accepts the testimony of the Bible as God's Word, and the Church as the interpreter of this Word under God's guidance. Christ established a kingdom which will have no end.

The ultimate teaching of the Christian gospel is that life and personality persist after death. In the end complete justice will be accorded all, good and bad alike, and love will reign supreme.

Around Capitol Square

SIDEGLANCES — For a long time certain events will be dated with reference to President Truman's visit to Raleigh, just as in the Charlotte area the "Taft rain" and the "Wilson speech" are the determining dates for reckoning events of 30 or 40 years ago.

CROWDS — Perhaps not before had any North Carolina city had more people for a quasi-political occasion. Certainly not in many years had Raleigh had more people or more newsmen, or more secret service men and policemen in town at the same time. There were a dozen or so secret service men assigned to the presidential party; there were well more than 100 newspaper, radio and camera men and women accredited; every member of the Raleigh police force was on duty in addition to fifty borrowed from Durham and Goldsboro, and 300 highway patrolmen. They did an excellent job of handling traffic. In fact, some of the state newspaper folks said it was the best job they had seen on the presidential itinerary.

COFFEE — Simultaneous meeting of the N. C. bottlers convention jammed the hotels but helped out the newspaper folks. The bottlers' auxiliary Booster Club, made up of supply men, contributed to the press-radio group a substantial portion of the refreshments which many reporters regard as almost necessary after a day or night of arduous toil. There were only a few of the newsmen who didn't take one or more stronger drinks, but coffee was the mainstay. Robert I. Lee, manager of the Carolina Hotel, provided the press workroom with a many gallons of the black liquid as the reporters could use—but confessed he had no idea writers liked coffee to that extent.

ONE-HANDED—One casual press room visitor, not familiar with the habit of hardworking reporters, voiced amazement at the skill with which one of the fellows could peck out stories, shift typewriter gears, make pencil interpolations all with one hand and without interrupting the coffee handling by the other.

NOTES — Among the newsmen present were some of the country's top flight political reporters. Less experienced reporters from North Carolina newspapers (and the secret service expressed amazement at the number of daily papers in this state and the staff-coverage given the president's visit) wanted to see how the big shots work. So they peered over shoulders while the fellows were busily making notes on the margin of the sheets carrying advance copy of the president's speeches. These notes were interesting. They ran something like this: "Why no applause?" "Not as funny as he thought it would be." "Good stuff for this audience." "That's lousy." "Why in h— did he bring that up?" When the president referred to something said by Republicans as a "despicable falsehood," one reporter made the note: "Highbrow for damn lie."

REMARKS — Side remarks were as entertaining as the pencil notes.

When Mrs. Truman was presented first of all the visiting dignitaries as the fairground, a representative of one of the big northern papers, long noted for its anti-Democratic, anti-South attitude, quipped sotto voce: "Southern gentleman stuff," and started writing.

COURTESY—Newsmen who have followed the president all over the country commented on the courteous attitude of North Carolinians. They said the crowd was more orderly, more considerate of others, than anywhere they had been. At the same time, they noted it was less responsive and enthusiastic than most audiences faced by President Truman during his itinerary. One reporter who had never before been in this part of the country wasn't too courteous himself. When he was invited to the buffet luncheon provided for the press crowd, he said "I don't go for buffet lunches." A hard working member of the local entertainment committee quickly advised him what he could go for—and where. (A short time later he was observed apparently enjoying the luncheon of ham, salads, pickles, coffee and other accessories provided by the monument commission and the Democratic committee.)

We swam along together in silence for a while, and then she said: "Did you ever kiss a Mermaid?" "No." "Wouldn't you like to, big boy?" she said, brushing against me softly. Her scales felt smooth as silk.

I thought it over as I switched from a side stroke to an Australian crawl. Why not? Who would ever know the difference?

"Sure I would."

"Well," she said, "let's play tag. If you catch me, you can have a kiss."

She tossed her golden head and gave a flip of her shining tail. The race was on. The blue waves churned to white foam. I flailed the waves. I was gaining—gaining—gaining.

All at once the sky darkened and hid the sun. The gulls flew away with shrill calls of terror. A freezing wind sprang up. The sea grew icy cold.

The mermaid sank below the surface. Her golden tresses waved water. She held up her arms and looked at me with a mocking smile. I dived and swam after her. But I had no breath left and I was strangling—strangling.

Then I woke up. My face was wet and my arms were tangled in the bed clothing. Frances, my wife, was standing over me, holding a small glass of water in her hand.

"Wake up, Rover," she said, "you have to go out and earn us a living."

"But why did you have to drip water on my face?" I asked.

"To stop your awful snoring," said Frances. "I was desperate."

"Couldn't you just've made me turn over on my side?"

"Listen, Rover boy, I've been turning you over and over like a flapjack. Every time I got you on your side you flopped over on your back again. And the way you waved your arms around—why, a person would think you were swimming."

"I'll get up and go to work on one condition."

"What is that?" said Frances.

"That if I start snoring tomorrow morning you'll drip warm water on me instead of cold water."

"Why?"

"Never mind. I'll explain the whole thing tomorrow. And will you be surprised!"

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—This morning I was sleeping peacefully, and all of a sudden I started dreaming. I dreamt I was swimming again in the sapphire seas of the South Pacific. A light breeze dimpled the waves and the sun shone warm and fair. White seagulls wheeled overhead with faint clamorous cries, or rested on the surface, rising and falling—rising and falling.

A dim shape moved up through the waters before me and broke the surface. It was a mermaid—A beautiful Mermaid with tan cheeks and blue eyes. She had long wet golden hair, and there were crimson popples tangled in it.

"Hello, big boy," she said, laughing. "Have you got a pocket comb I can borrow?"

I reached for my comb and then felt embarrassed. For some reason—you know how silly dreams are—I didn't have any pockets along.

"I must've left my comb on the beach," I mumbled.

"How annoying," said my companion. "You shore people sure are useless."

Air Force Gives Pilot Tests Here

Young men in the Greenville area interested in an officers career with the United States Air Force may learn first-hand about the Air Force Aviation Cadet Pilot training program from a special traveling Aviation Cadet Procurement team which is scheduled to arrive here November 8.

Lt. Col. Ralph E. Keyes said today that the traveling team will be prepared to provisionally qualify immediately all men who meet the USAF requirements. The team will have its headquarters at the Administration Building, EOTC campus, and will interview non-students, at the nearest U.S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, by appointments only.

To be eligible for pilot training with the Air Force, men must be between 20 and 28 and 1/2 years old, in good physical condition and unmarried. The Air Force also requires an applicant to have two or more years of college, or be able to pass an examination to measure the equivalent. Non-college men will be able to take the educational qualifying examination when the Air Force team arrives here, Col. Keyes said.

Graduates of the 12-month Air Force pilot training course are given their silver wings and commissions as 2nd Lieutenants in the Air Force reserve, and assigned to active flying duty with the Air Force. Classes in flight training begin March 1st, July 1st and October 15th of each year, and top graduates of each class are offered direct commissions with the regular Air Force.

The speaker described the styles of type used by Gutenberg in the famous Bible and the influence of such famous printers as Aldus Manutius, Caslon, Baskerville, Caslor, and William Morris in the past and Rogers, Updyke, and Gaudy in modern times.

YMCA & YWCA End Membership Drives

The YMCA and the YWCA of East Carolina Teachers College have completed their membership drives for the 1948-1949 term at the college and have begun work for the year with an enrollment of approximately 300 students.

The drive was carried out under the direction of Jean Boston of Wilmington and George Morris of Winston-Salem, presidents of the two organizations; and Alton Gray of Bethel and Evangeline Baker, membership chairmen. Morris has announced a 20 per cent increase in membership for the college YMCA this year.

Georgia Tech Tops Field On Defense; State Fourth

New York, Oct. 21—(AP)—By holding Auburn to a net gain of 65 yards last Saturday, unbeaten Georgia Tech became the defensive standard among the nation's collegiate gridiron powers, the national collegiate athletic bureau announced today.

The Yellowjackets, who yielded 69 yards through the air but threw Auburn for a loss of four yards on the ground moved up from third place in the bureau's defensive rankings as North Carolina State dropped from first to fourth while losing to North Carolina.

With four victories in as many starts, Georgia Tech leads the country in defense against rushing as well as in total defense, against both ground and air attack.

Vanderbilt, Tulane, Washington and Lee and Auburn have hurled a total of 213 plays against the rambling wreck, which has yielded a total of 169 yards on 135 running plays and 321 yards on 78 aerials. That's an average yield of 42.3 yards per game on the ground and an overall average of 122.5.

Still, defenses continued to crumble all across the country's collegiate gridirons with unprecedented regularity. Such teams as North Carolina, Ohio State and Minnesota, for instance, were able to vault into the top ten despite yields of 100, 112 and 140 yards to their respective foes.

Penn State, which finished the season with the best defensive record in the nation last year, tumbled completely out of the bureau's total defense listings when West Virginia massed 285 yards in losing to the Nittany Lions, 157 of them by air.

'Old Moneybags'

Cleveland, Oct. 21—(AP)—For a fat boy, Billy Sheridan made himself a fair bundle of cash. Billy worked for the world champion Cleveland Indians this season and figures his earnings came to nearly $3,000.

He collected something like 1,003 as his World Series slice, a $1,000 check from President Bill Veeck, and the rest came in tips from the players.

So they're calling 16-year-old Billy "Old Moneybags" in his neighborhood. His regret: The Indians, according to custom, will get a new fat boy next year.

South Carolina moved from fifth to second in total defense and North Carolina came from far back to take over the third spot.

With Georgia Tech moving from fourth to first in rushing defense, Cornell stepped up a notch to second, replacing Penn State which slumped to sixth. Cornell's record, showing an average yield of 32.5 yards per game to four opponents on the ground, will be severely tested Saturday against Auburn.

On Basis Of His Work, Gilmer Is Highest Salaried

Washington, Oct. 21—(AP)—If you consider it on the basis of the work he has done, Harry Gilmer probably is the highest salaried player in the history of football.

The former Alabama star is the bedridden property of the Washington Redskins.

His exact salary has never been announced, but since he was one of the best of last year's college crop, Gilmer may have signed at around $12,500 to $15,000 a year.

Yet, because of an injured leg, he has been in only one National League football game, and is certain to miss at least four more.

And his one appearance was brief. Against Pittsburgh, Gilmer went in, called six plays. On five of the plays, Quarterback Gilmer called on Fasser Gilmer, which was a good idea, since he completed two, for 69 yards.

Gilmer's case certainly is unusual. He was kicked on the calf of his leg during a practice game, an injury that normally doesn't rate a second glance.

That was in August. Since then he has had two operations—one for a blood clot, one for an infection—and has been told by the Redskins' physician, Dr. Robert E. Moran, that he'll be out for another month.

If his leg heals on schedule, he will have only four games to play. "But the trouble is," complained owner George Marshall, "even if his leg is ready, he's laid off so long he won't be in any shape to play football. By the time he has worked out enough for it to be safe for him to play, the season may be over."

Wrigley Claims Responsibility

Chicago, Oct. 21—(AP)—Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs has taken full responsibility for the team's last place finish this season, but he said he will "devote much more time to baseball business next year."

The chewing gum executive said there was "a difference of objectives" between Manager Charlie Grimm and General Manager Jim Gallagher "but no real friction."

Wrigley said Gallagher's duties "will not be curtailed."

"Gallagher still will make the deals," Wrigley declared. "It will be up to Grimm to name the men he wants, or the positions he wishes to fill."

Only operational change for 1949, Wrigley said, is appointment of Coach Red Smith as contact man for possible player deals.

Wrigley said he thought both Gallagher and Grimm had done good jobs.

"We'll be better next year," he said, "and I'm confident we'll make a deal or two."

Waited 8 Years To Be Presented Coveted Trophy

Boston, Oct. 21—(AP)—After waiting eight years, Danny Miles former Northeastern University track captain and New England Interscholastic high jump record-holder, will be given his Alumni Association trophy here Saturday night.

When Miles was first named for that high track award back in 1940, he was serving in the Pacific with the U.S. Army. Later he became a Japanese prisoner on Bataan.

Since he did not return to this country until last year, the Northeastern alumni body had to delay its actual presentation until its annual meeting this week-end.

Goldsboro High Takes Honors In Council Voting

Henderson, Oct. 21—(AP)—Goldsboro High School swept the honors at the closing session of the North Carolina Student Council Congress.

The students yesterday selected Goldsboro for next year's meeting. They named Ashton Griffith of Goldsboro president.

They designated the student body president of Goldsboro as next year's host.

Finally, they voted the student body at Goldsboro the state's most outstanding for the year.

Other officers named were Bobby Bradshaw, Greenville vice-president; and Elnor Wrenn, Greensboro, secretary.

Injuries Worry Pirate Coaches Planning For Apprentice Game

Garden To Back Jacobs' Program

New York, Oct. 21—(AP)—The sons of the Madison Square Garden are riding on Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting Club boxing war with the Tournament of Champions.

Full support to the limit of the Garden's resources—which are considerable—was promised the 20th century by Ned Irish, the Garden's vice-president.

The board of directors of the Garden lists some of the important business men in the city.

Irish's statement backing up a plan and sometimes co-partner not too surprising, but the timing was perfect. There have been hints from some sources that the Garden might be content to operate on its own after Jacobs' lease expires in two years.

"The Garden has no intention of returning to the promotion field in boxing," said Irish. "We feel it is in competent hands. We could not improve in any form whatsoever."

This statement of confidence in the new regime at the 20th Century was issued at a special luncheon of the boxing writers honoring Harry Markson, recently appointed director of promotion of the Jacobs organization.

Tonight the rival Tournament of Champions opens its indoor season with a Tippy Larkin-Charley Fusari 10-rounder at the Jersey City armory. Welter Champ Ray Robinson has said he'll meet the winner.

The Indian name for raccoon was "arakun," meaning literally "he scratches with his hands."

By EUGENE PRICE

Coach Jim Johnson, whose East Carolina Teachers College football squad bears the unwanted distinction of not having won a game this season, sent his Pirates eleven through passing drills yesterday as the squad settled down to preparations for its Friday night contest with the Newport News Apprentice at Newport News.

And there was much to worry the ECTC mentors with the game just two days away. First string center Joe Polilli, who gained the post when letterman center Buck Wilson was knocked out with a leg injury early in the season, is still suffering from an arm injury suffered last Friday night when West Carolina mauled the ECTC boys 39 to nothing. Polilli will see only limited action, Johnson said.

Polilli's injury leaves the Pirates with but one reserve center... Joe Frominski, a freshman. Coach Johnson said he would have to transfer Stielar and Stan Peel to the tippy tury slot for some of the Newport News game. Johnson said Wilson would see no action in the game.

Adding to Johnson's worries is Doug Bryant, ace fullback whose injured shoulder has not recovered as quickly as the coaches thought it would. Bryant, who scampered 70 yards in the West Carolina game on an off tackle play, will also be on the limited action list.

ECTC's coaching staff views the Newport News squad as one of their best chances to break into the win column but with the Pirate squad all banged up, they are forecasting a tough contest.

The Pirates edged the Apprentice seven to nothing last season. Coach Johnson, who saw the Apprentice play Atlantic Christian, reports that the Virginia boys will be boasting a better ball club this year than last.

"They won't be any heavier than we are—something we haven't been able to say about any opponent until now, but they have two fast backs that none of our boys can compare with," the coach said.

One of the backs, halfback Berber ran back the opening kickoff against Atlantic Christian for a touchdown. The Apprentice won the game 13 to 7.

The ECTC coaches are drilling their boys on single wing and short punt defenses, the type they will face Friday night. They are not under rating the Apprentice school team. Coach Dobson always has a scrapping team. Johnson pointed out yesterday. "We'll do our best to win but we're in for a tough scrap," he said.

Clemson Favored Over Gamecocks

Columbia, S.C., Oct. 21—(AP)—A favored pack of Clemson College Tigers faced the University of South Carolina Gamecocks in the state schools' 46th State Fair football game here today.

A capacity crowd of 25,000 was expected.

The Gamecocks, predictions ran, had to upset the Tigers to gain their 16th triumph in the series that has seen 28 Clemson victories and two ties, both scoreless. The kickoff was set for 2 p.m. (EST).

The water area of the United States, exclusive of the Great Lakes, is 45,250 square miles.

Lineman Yearns To Be Fullback

Fullman, Wash., Oct. 21—(AP)—The "Lineman of the Week" wants to be a fullback.

Laurie Niemi, 240-pound tackle for Washington State College, was thrilled today to be named the country's top lineman for the week in an Associated Press football poll.

But it would be a greater thrill for him to make a touchdown.

"That's been my ambition," he said. "In college and all through high school I wanted to play in the backfield, but I was too big and clumsy."

You'd never think he was dissatisfied with his job if you had watched him Saturday rearing up out of the line like a freight elevator to bat down University of Washington backs.

You wouldn't expect discontent in a lad described by Coach Phil Sarboe as "the inspiration and spark-plug of our team."

You might think the Cougar's top candidate for All-America honors would just want to concentrate on being a bigger and better tackle. But Niemi wants to make a touchdown.

What does it take to make a lineman stand out in a football game? "Mostly hard work," said Niemi.

California Star Ready To Travel All Afternoon

Berkeley, Calif., Oct. 21—(AP)—Jack Jensen, hard-running, pass-throwing University of California fullback, will be ready to travel all afternoon if need be against the University of Washington at Seattle

Saturday

The Bear star, out of rough practices in previous week because of minor injuries, worked hard in yesterday's scrimmage and among other things flipped two touchdown passes to Halfback Billy Main.

Coach Lynn Waldorf said Halfback Paul Keckley and center Bob Hileman should be recovered by Saturday from hurts suffered last week against Oregon State.

Waldorf schooled his Rose Bowl prospects on defense against the huskies. The Bears are 20-point favorites locally.

Fusari, Larkin Meet Tonight In Welter Fight

Jersey City, Oct. 21—(AP)—An All-New Jersey main go between Charley Fusari of Irvington and Tippy Larkin, Garfield veteran, opens the indoor season for the Tournament of Champions tonight at the Jersey City armory.

Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson said recently he would give the winner a crack at his 147-pound title.

Fusari scored a victory over Larkin when Referee Arthur Donovan halted their Feb. 14, 1947 battle in the ninth round. Larkin was down five times as Fusari chalked up his 48th straight victory. In his next start, Fusari was upset by Tony Pellone.

Larkin, a 31-year-old master boxer who has been fighting professionally since 1935, is eight years older than Fusari, a good puncher with both hands. The 23-year-old Fusari is the favorite to repeat.

Head Cold Has Elis Worried

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21—(AP)—A head cold had the Yale football camp worried today.

The cold belongs to Tex Furse, considered the best forward pass chucker the Elis have had since the day of Clint Frank, and it was had enough to keep him away from practice yesterday.

Robert L. Humber To Speak Sunday

An event of widespread significance and interest will be the union service in observance of United Nations Day next Sunday at Memorial Baptist Church. Dr. Robert Lee Humber, nationally known lecturer and leader in the World Federalist Movement, will speak.

Regularly scheduled evening services have been cancelled in order that members of the various congregations in the city may attend the special United Nations Day service, according to the Greenville Ministerial Association. The Greenville woman's club and the Greenville Ministerial Association have worked together in planning and conducting the service.

Beginning at 7:45, there will be 15 minutes of organ music played by Mrs. East Y. Gilbert, musical director of Memorial Baptist Church. Mrs. J. Vance Perkins, president of the Greenville Woman's Club, will open the meeting following which the invocation will be given by Rev. Ralph Johnson of Pentecostal Holiness Church. A vocal solo, "One World," by Geoffrey O'Hara, will be sung by Dan E. Vornholt of the college music faculty. Rev. Richard E. Hardaway, pastor of the church, will introduce Dr. Humber as speaker of the evening. Following the address, a hymn will be sung by the congregation, after which the benediction will be pronounced.

Others for the evening will be Jack Kimbrell, Albert Edwards, Maynard Dean, Claude Altman, J. R. Owen and Pittsburgh Whitfield. The planning and arrangements committee for the service was appointed from the membership of the Greenville Woman's Club and included Mrs. George M. Renfro, Jr., chairman; Mrs. Dan E. Vornholt, Mrs. J. Vance Perkins, Mrs. Howard Mrs. Mrs. James R. Worsley and Mrs. R. R. Willmann.

Will Observe UN Day In Panel Discussion

Members of the social studies department at East Carolina Teachers College will observe United Nations Day, Sunday, October 24, by conducting a panel discussion on the UN in the Austin auditorium on the campus, according to an announcement by Dr. A. D. Frank, chairman of the department. The meeting, which will be open to the public, is scheduled for 3:15 in the afternoon.

Taking part in the panel will be five members of the department, Dr. Frank, H. A. Coleman, P. A.

Toll, W. E. Marshall, and E. C. Holbar.

We only have one month to make preparations for the conference and remember it is depending on us. Sunday, 9:45 a. m. Sunday school, W. J. Hester superintendent.

11 a. m. Message by the pastor, music by the junior choir. Special drive on general claims. The rest rooms are being installed and the work along all lines for the church is going forward, and for this reason your cooperation is needed at this time as never before.

Adjustments of Rural Rates Requested

This company has found it necessary to petition the North Carolina Utilities Commission to adjust its present schedule of rates for rural or multiparty telephone service.

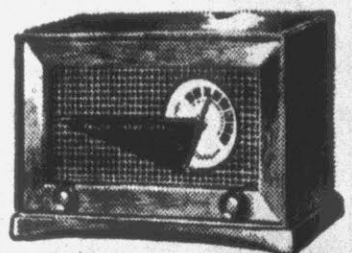

This petition, which was for an upward adjustment of 75c for rural residence service and $1.00 rural business service, was necessary because of the continued increase in cost of providing additional service, and maintaining present service. The present rates are substantially those which were in effect on July 1, 1936.

A hearing of this petition has been set for November 8, 1948, at 10:00 A. M. at the Utilities Commission office in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Chapter 26
The telephone kept ringing.
The strident bell notes sliced through the early morning stillness with mechanical regularity. He stretched his feet down to the rug and padded into the other room, feeling his way to the invisible instrument.
"Hello?"
"James? This is Clapp. You got the Gilbert girl there?"
"What's up?"
"She's got a body to identify. The papers on it says it's old man Gilbert."
"Dead? How?"
"We'll talk it over down here.
Don't break it to the girl until we're sure. For God's sake, James, if she's there, bring her down right away."
"Twenty minutes," said the slender man and hung up.
"Kevin?"
"What is it, Walter?"
"Listen. We're not sure yet, but Clapp wants you to take a look at a body. It may be your father."
She shook her head. "I don't understand."
"Clapp wants you to identify a body if you can. Your father may be dead."
Her face began to be nothing but white skin and shadows. She put out both hands and held onto his arms. "He can't be, Walter. He just can't be." Her voice was neither frightened nor sad, only puzzled.

"You're right," he said. "Clapp may have made a mistake. It may not be your father. But we have to go down to see."
Clapp rose clumsily when they entered his office. At the corners of his eyes were patterned tracings of blood.
"I'm sorry about this, Miss Gilbert. But we have to be sure."
"I understand, Walter explained to me."
"Do you feel all right?"
"Yes. I'm all right. I'd like to get it over with."
Stein nodded as they came into the peaceful room. The corners were lost to the shadows, but in the center, one low-hung light beamed unmercifully. Beneath it was an unmoving sheet-covered form on a wheeled table. Under the table were small puddles of water.
"Okay, Stein," said Clapp.
The medic folded the sheet back.
"Is this your father, Miss Gilbert?"
The old man's eyes were closed to the punishing light. His forehead was bruised and damp hair hung there protectively. But the lines in his face were not so deep now.
"The men could barely hear Kevin's voice. "Yes. That's my father."
Walter James gripped her arm.
"Let's go back to the office."
Clapp nodded to Stein as they went out. In his office, he cleared his throat.
"You know how sorry I am, Miss Gilbert. I don't want to question you at this time. Just take it easy."
"It's all right," she said. She pushed her fingers hard against her forehead. "I don't feel anything. I can't understand anything. How did it happen?"
Clapp hesitated. "We found your father in the ocean at the foot of Sunset Cliffs out past Ocean Beach.
He was between two rocks below the Sunset House."
Kevin's shoulder stiffened under Walter James' hand.
"He may have fallen from the balcony," Clapp continued, "or he may have slipped off one of the paths along the cliff."

"Walter!" she moaned. "We were there tonight. We were at Sunset House."
The big man wrinkled his forehead and looked at Walter James.
"We went there for dinner tonight." Walter James gave a frowning nod at the top of Kevin's head.

Clapp lifted the phone and said,
"Send up a matron." He regarded the girl gently. "There's no indication of anything wrong, Miss Gilbert. Apparently your father just went out there for some reason and accidentally fell. It was sometime this afternoon or tonight."
A soft knock at the door let in a broad police woman in a dark dress.
"This is Miss Gilbert, Mrs. Marsh.
She's had quite a shock. If you'll give her a sedative and let her lie down in Stein's office—no, make it the couch in the next office."
The matron took the girl's hand.
She stood up instead. "I don't want to be any trouble," she said.
"Maybe it would be better if I lie down a little. Will you come sit with me, Walter?"
He patted her hand. "I'll be there in a few minutes. Just take it easy for a while. I'll be right in."
"When did you find him?"
"About ten o'clock. Some couple that went down to the bottom of the path to fool around thought they saw something and reported it."
"Nobody saw him fall then?"
"Naturally not. Oh, Stein says there is one bruise across his throat that might have been caused before death. If somebody had hit him in the throat, he couldn't have yelled on the way down." He shrugged wearily. "Then again the noise of the ocean could cover up a scream.
Or he may have jumped on purpose. It's whatever you want to make it. What do you want to make it?"
Walter James sucked on the cigarette. "Murder, I guess. I talked to Gilbert this morning—a little. He was despondent. But he was willing to talk the situation over with me as long as it wasn't in his office.

That was about eleven-thirty. I didn't see him again."

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals
YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous wa-

Hercules, the god of eternal strength bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains min-

Actress Did Not Know Of Cancer

Kingston, N.Y., Oct. 21—(AP)—Miss Landi, Italian-born actress and novelist, died of cancer today at the age of 43.

Miss Landi, reportedly the granddaughter of Empress Elizabeth of Austria, died in Kingston Hospital, where she had been a patient for the past 10 days. Her illness previously had been described by her physician only as a "chronic condition."

Dr. Kenneth Lefever, who announced the cause of death, said the actress "never knew she had cancer."

Her condition, however, had been known to her family for nine months, he said.

He said that her husband, Curtis

Joe Joyner Guesseed The Weather Right With Pet Groundhog

By CHESTER WALSH
Farmers are benefiting by the exceptionally fine weather of the past several days and are catching up in final harvesting of some crops after the long rainy period of the earlier part of October, when 4.90 inches of mostly drizzling rain fell in this territory.

The first frost of the fall season was last Tuesday night when the temperature dropped to 32 degrees (freezing). The first frost last year was on October 2, Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer here for the U. S. Department of Commerce, said.

Low temperature here Wednesday night was 34 degrees.

Last night the mercury dropped to 33 degrees, one degree above freezing. At 8 a. m. today it was 47 degrees, with clear sky and bright sunshine.

Joe Joyner's pet groundhog came out of hibernation from its cave at his home near Greenville, and the varmint paid no attention to its shadow on the ground, the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company functionary said.

Police Arrest Man For Driving Truck Across Fire Hose

By CHESTER WALSH
Excited motorists continue to interfere with the Greenville fire department at fires here by crowding too near the fire-fighting equipment and lines of hose, firemen complained last night at the fire which nearly destroyed Claude Gaskins' corn mill near the Greenville airport.

Police issued a warrant for Octavius Blount, colored, 603 Atlantic Avenue, after he drove his pickup truck over a line of hose on the Bethel highway. He will be tried before Judge J. W. Roberts in Police Court Friday morning.

Frequently, when the firemen are fighting a blaze motorists crowd their cars too close to the fire trucks and interfere with the firemen in their work. It happens that when the firemen have to move the pump or other truck, automobiles are so closely crowded around them that they are delayed in getting their equipment in action.

City ordinances provide penalties for interfering with the fire department. The law requires all vehicles to promptly go to the curb when fire equipment is approaching. Another trouble when fire alarms are sounded is speeding motorists following the fire trucks too closely and hindering the volunteer firemen in their efforts to get to the fire.

But in fact, as we now know, the Comintern simply put on a new, but not a cleaner, shirt, and became the Cominform.

Because of the venomous hatred of the Orthodox Communist for the capitalist nations, Lenin consistently frowned on any form of International cooperation. He was afraid of being out-voted in the Democratic processes.

Therefore, he called the League of Nations a "devil's kitchen." He referred to the system of counting votes as "idiotic."

Yet, in 1922, the Soviet government began participating in international conferences. In 1945, it joined the United Nations.

Why? Again, because of plain necessity in terms of ordinary security. In 1922, the Reds were only five years in their revolution. They dreaded an assault by the combined capitalist nations. So, temporarily turning on the Orthodox Communist line, they went into the League. For identical reasons, in 1945—because of being exhausted by the German occupation and the war in the East—they joined the U. N.

out against the program and the help. They did what they could to ruin it with slogans and action. They shouted the "Yanks are not coming." They said the war between Germany and France and Britain was no concern of this country.

(If those three countries knocked themselves out in the war, Russia would have been the strongest nation in Europe.)

But later, when Germany attacked Russia, the American Communists did a swift about-face and were all-out for war against Hitler.

That's just one little picture of the Communists at work within one country outside Russia, shooting the works for the benefit of Russia.

Right now you can see them at work in France and Italy, trying to weaken those countries from within by strikes and strife.

If the Communists can seize power anywhere—through regular popular elections or through force and violence—it is a victory for Russia just as sure and complete as an invasion, and far cheaper.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin FROM THE Rector Kitchens

A Bit of Autumn on Your Menu
Sausage, kraut and apples are a popular flavor team that needs no introduction. They were made to go together. When it's Wilson's Certified Pork Sausage the team's ever so delicious! On days when even your moments are crowded and kitchen-spent time is strictly budgeted, this is a delightful platter team to serve. Crisp autumn weather seems to enhance its savoriness. Better economize with Wilson's Certified Pork Sausages for supper tonight. Your family will enjoy this healthful autumn flavor treat.

Autumn Sausage Platter

SAUSAGE: Cut the links apart from:
1 lb. Wilson's Certified Pork Sausage

Then place in a cold, heavy skillet. If your skillet is a thin one, add enough cold water to cover the bottom. Cover with lid and cook slowly for 12-15 minutes. Remove cover, increase heat, pour off drippings as they collect and save them for other frying. Sausage should be cooked well done, that is, until it loses all pink color. Cook uncovered until browned on all sides, turning as needed. Serve piping hot.

KRAUT: Cook together until savory and lightly browned:
1 small onion, diced, (1/4 cup) and
1/2 cup sausage drippings.

Add:
1 can (3 cups) drained sauerkraut
2 tablespoons brown sugar and
1 1/2 teaspoons caraway or 1 teaspoon celery seed, optional

When heated through serve with the sausage, apple rings and mashed potatoes.

APPLE RINGS: Using small firm apples (like Jonathans, for example) wash and leave skins on. Cut in half and core each half, to form rings. Drop the rings into a large bottomed pan containing boiling sirup made by heating together until sugar is dissolved:
1/4 cup sugar and
1/2 cup water

When under side of apple is tender, turn and cook other side just tender. If you care to, a little cranberry juice or red food color may be added to sirup to tint the apples pink. The red skins, of course, are colored without coloring. Cranberries sauce is a fine accompaniment.

*These may be pan-fried in sausage fat instead, if you prefer
